The publications board also recommended Thursday that persons interested in becoming Darkroom manager next year, or working as photographers for campus publications, submit their names to the student body office for consideration.

A final report on May Weekend from Manager Bob McMullen, a report on the May 24 Awards Day by Ira Jones and the selection by the council of three candidates for the Colonel Percy Willis prize will be the business included in a meeting of the student council Monday night at 6 o'clock in the Gold Arrow restaurant.

1950-51 Requirements Accepted

New lower division requirements to go into effect in the fall of 1950 were adopted this week by the faculty. In making the announcement Pres. Smith emphasized, however, any students may elect to take advantage of some of the provisions next fall.

In First Two Years

Among the important measures is that most of the courses now required of all students for graduation will have to be taken in the first two years of school. These are the freshman composition, foreign language, social science, mathematics, natural science, religion, and physical education.

Students who fail to complete the requirements of these departments in their first two years will not be classified as regular students in good standing, except in certain cases where deferments are granted. A careful check is to be made at the beginning of the sophomore year to see that each student enrolls for courses necessary to complete his requirements.

Foreign Language Required

A significant change has been effected in the foreign language requirements, eliminating the possibility of fulfilling the second year of language with a year course in Western World literature.

A reading knowledge of either French, German, Latin or Spanish will be required with a proficiency test being given at the end of the second year.

Mathematics Changed

The previous six-hour mathematics requirement has been changed to four hours. Unless a year of algebra and a year of geometry were completed in high school, either survey of algebra or survey of geometry must be taken.

Social science requirement for students who have not had general European or world history in high school will be a year of general European or history of civilization, a new course to replace English history in this list.

Social Science B New

All students must take the requirement known as Social Science B which now includes six hours of economics, sociology, political science or American history. American history will be replaced in the list by philosophy.

An alternate to the present Bible requirement is history and development of Christianity and an upper division course that may be taken by special permission.

The present year of freshman composition, one or two years of natural science and four semesters of physical education remain unchanged under the new policy.

The new mathematics and religion courses will be offered next fall and students may elect to take them for their requirement at that time.

Six Week Grades

The deadline for six weeks grades to be submitted to the registrar's office by professors is today, Dr. Raymond Withey announced, and they will be made available to advisors sometime the following week.

Humor Publication Workers Collaborate

Artist Paulin Will Replace Mrs Huffman

A new head of the art department, Dr. Cameron Saint John Paulin, will come to the campus next fall replacing Mrs. Esther Huffman who has been the acting head of that department since 1947. Pres. G. Herbert Smith announced this week.

Paulin has a teaching background in ceramics, life drawing, graphic art, structural art, interior decorating, and courses in art theory, according to Smith, and will offer courses in theory and applied art.

Coming to Willamette from Iowa State Teachers college where he was assistant professor of art for four years, Paulin is highly recommended by Prof. H. G. Palmer, acting head of the art department at Iowa State, Smith said.

Paulin held the position of assistant curator of the Max Epstein collection at the University of Chicago art department for a time and has had practical experience working with pottery at Ontario College of Art in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. He is a member of the American Ceramic association, the College Art association and the Western Art association.

He received his bachelor of fine arts degree from Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., his M. A. at Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio, and his Ph. D. at the University of Chicago.

Pioneer Issue of Jokers' Pamphlet Set to Hit News Stands Wednesday

Willamette's own humor magazine will make its debut Wednesday, according to Russell Tripp, business manager of the new publication. The name of the laugh sheet is still a secret, but will provide "many a merry chuckle" he says.

The magazine will feature cartoons by Ed Fitzsimons, Dick Unruh, Warren Eckles, Gene Peyton and Dale Cleaver. A disc jockey column and a section of bridge hints will be included as well as "several cataclysmic surprises which will make the reader's hair turn purple." Tripp also announced plans for a special censored version for the board of trustees.

Published by Your Town, the magazine will cost 25 cents, "so have your quarters ready," says Business Manager Tripp and Editor Don Carpenter. "and buy extra copies for your aunts, uncles and grandmothers."

Pronounced "Sham-po'-egg"

Last Sunday, this editor, assembled with some 300 Oregon pioneer sons and daughters, heard much early Oregon history recalled at Champog state park in celebration of 106 years of government in this area.

We might have been mistaken, and we probably were, but there seemed to be quite a bit of sarcasm concerning Oregon government thrown into the recollections both by pioneers and speakers at the celebration. No doubt this same sarcasm has been carried down through all of the 106 years, we certainly can't testify to this.

Nevertheless, we are of the opinion that since the celebration is certainly to recall the good things that the early pioneers did in establishing the first government in Oregon, that the sons and daughters of today should thank those pioneers for those good things and not blame them for things that they think are bad in the government of today. The pioneers only established the government, they certainly have had nothing to do with present day government, or government 50 years ago—the people, the sons and daughters of those pioneers, made and make that.

For Champog's sake, and for Oregon's sake, let those pioneers rest in peace and blame only ourselves if we can't carry on the government for which they only fired the starting gun!

For Next Year, Your Votes

Following a nominations chapel Tuesday, ASWU polls will open for two days to elect next year's student officers and council members.

All students will have a chance to select the candidates of their choice, after introduction of each in the nomination program. Major candidates will be allowed to outline their program in a speech not to exceed 4 and 3 minutes, thus giving voters a better look at the nominees.

Students thus vote next week for the program which they wish carried on by student officers and the student council during the next school year. To be elected the candidate must receive a majority over all other candidates for the office to be filled. It is important, therefore to select the best candidate the first time to eliminate run-offs the following week. See the candidates at nominations chapel!

A Metropolitan Daily

The Collegian's mother this week had another blessed event! For the first time in Salem history, the city has a seven-day-a-week newspaper—The Oregon Statesman, truly a pioneer newspaper of the Pacific coast in its 99th year (established 1851) dropped a Monday edition on the doorsteps of all its subscribers—and thus became the only daily in Oregon outside of Portland.

In step with the growth of the Salem metropolitan district, The Oregon Statesman's added edition brings us up-to-date locally, nationally and internationally daily and brings us the realization that Salem has advanced from city to metropolis.

Since the new state office building gets a tunnel for access to the Capitol building, Willamette, too, should put in a bid for a similar underground approach to the coffee shop. Or better yet, how about a smoking tunnel—one in which the lamp will always be lit?

By the way, the "Paris-Original-Lend-Lease-White-Barred" Collegian circulation box which made its debut last Friday will be filled with issues each week in Eaton lobby. It was built by the University to "keep Collegians off the floor and for an even distribution thereof," we learn from Mr. Fenix's office. (Also a scheme to boost circulation, no doubt.)

Keep Them in the Dark

By Jim Miller

Yes, business is thriving with a new, all-important, earth shaking project being furthered—compliments of the State of Oregon.

It seems that the distance from the new office building (still in process of construction) to the coffee shop would be too great and the danger in crossing the highway too increased for the fireless workers to trek over the ground, so facilities are being furnished by means of a subterranean tunnel to provide a direct contact between coffee pot and receiver.

After all, don't these little essential trips come way before such untimely little items as a new form of getting the train system figured out through Salem? Naturally, this tunnel is going to save increasingly large amounts of time as the days of office drudgery multiply. Of course, the menial amount of three hours or so lost each day in waiting for trains to rumble through one of the main drags of Salem is negligible when compared with this other all-important time-saving item.

This drawing card of convenience is bound to be a boon to potential state employees and should prove a definite novelty as a point of interest to tourists and visiting firemen.

Well, when these notables commute through the new tunnel, be sure and keep them in the dark as to the conditions of the local institutions for that might dampen their opinion of the great state.

Rolicking "Hearts" Wows 'Em

By Dona Adams

As the bare, unfeminine, coldness of a ship's cabin met the interested eyes of a responsive audience of over one thousand Friday evening, the stage of the Salem high school was filled with the gay, bubbling feminine antics of Sharon Currier and Colleen Schodde in their interpretations of Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough.

No play in several years produced during May Weekend has fit so completely into the spring mood of the festivities as did "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay". Director Edward T. Gibson's training had produced a talented cast all of whom seemed unusually well suited to their characterizations. Setting, backdrops and lighting were not as outstanding as previous productions under the Ritchie-Power direction, but the fast moving, humorous incidents of the comedy carried interest without elaborate background.

Bob Gwinn's portrayal of the middle-aged theatrical Skinner, with his pouching front was excellent as was that of Bernice Isham in her role as his wife. Though slightly over-accented, the English pronunciation and gaits of Ruth James and Betty Ferguson were a constant source of humor whenever they appeared upon the stage.

That smoothness of line and action thought so typical of the average American college man was accomplished by Dave Place and Phil Hammond in their roles of Harvard men.

Unlike so many dramatic productions in which half of the characters act only as background, the cast of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" each fully played his individual role which added to the success of the whole.

Every Year About This Time!

Illustrated here is our cartoonists' idea of what would happen should the Rubes put up a candidate for student body office. Joe Blurtz, having managed to forge 25 signatures on a petition, would immediately take advantage of all privileges connected with political campaigning, including the kissing of babes with or without student body cards, thus drawing attention from the more subtle campaigning of opponent Blurtz.

On The SOUTHard Side

By Wally D. Southard

Biology major Norman Stone and I were engaged in idle conversation the other day when a question popped into my mind, and I broached it to him as follows, "Norm, what do you think of honorary fraternities and sororities?"

Norman didn't answer for a few moments, and then he replied, "To be truthful, I just don't know."

"I don't either," I said. But later, when I was alone, with nothing better to do than to read 20 pages of German, 100 pages of psychology, and 150 pages of Bible history, I got to thinking about honoraries again, and I asked myself, "Well, what do you think of them?"

"That's still a pretty tough question," I replied. "Give me a few minutes to think it over."

"Take your time. You have plenty of that."

A few minutes passed. "Aha!" I exclaimed. "Listen to this. The honoraries are composed of scholars."

"Don't be ridiculous. You are a member of a freshman honorary, and you are no scholar."

"You're right there," I said. "Well, the honoraries are designed to promote scholarship."

"You could be right, but in your particular case, you're wrong. I pity the poor student who looks to you for inspiration, unless, of course, he or she is interested in the delicate art of controlled breathing while learning to play ping pong."

I had to agree with myself. Another few minutes passed. Then I jumped to my feet. "I have it! The honorary membership is something to be noted on your transcript so that it will make you look good later on in life."

"Hmm. Could be. Especially in your case. You will certainly need something like that to help you along."

I walked over to a mirror and looked at myself. "Don't be so sarcastic," I said.

"Sorry," I replied. "Do you have any more ideas?"

"Yes. Just one. Since we can't seem to agree definitely on anything concerning honoraries, let's get together and hit those books. Otherwise I shall find myself on the outside looking in, where the least of my worries will be, 'What do I think about honoraries?'"

Of Course He Denied Everything

--Particularly Everything!

By C. E. Wallace

She had kissed on the campus! The campaign manager was frantic. He pulled his hair and wished he could pull the hair of his candidate. It was catastrophic. Worse! It was the most awful thing that could happen. His candidate would be disqualified! And if she wasn't, she was sure to get the short end of the vote counting.

The Kanta Katcha Me girls had definitely indicated that they would withdraw their support.

The Idonwana Evenifu Du girls did not, as yet, understand what had happened. But they would. And when they did! The only thing worse would be if it had happened to one of them. Heaven forbid!

The campaign manager bit a hang-nail and ripped a finger off his left hand, without even noticing. Nothing could penetrate his agony, except perhaps the sight of his candidate; fried in butter, with Hollandaise sauce . . . with maybe some melba toast.

He hated her. He hated her with the hatred of a betrayed lover. He had been gentle and subtle and painstaking. No candidate at Willamette had ever had a more wily and thorough campaign manager. He had gone about it with a devotion. And success had been in sight when . . . ! He was proud of what he had done for her. As proud as only the rejected can be proud. And his exaggerated pride made him hate her the more; hate her bitterly.

It had not been easy to get complete agreement on one candidate. The fraternity boys weren't too difficult. Except the Sigma Chi's. They feared it would be used as prima facie evidence to take away their privileges. And they planned a marshmallow roast!

But the girls! Getting them to agree was like selling a standardized hairdo or a size 62 girdle or a sensible hat. They're so jealous of each other anyway! They wanted to know all about the candidate. Did she date? Smoke? Park in lonely places? . . . Everything. And of course he had denied everything . . . particularly everything.

Now the jig was up! The girls for sure wouldn't vote for her. They couldn't! If they did, it would be the same as condoning what she had done. And they couldn't do that. It would make for too many complications!

And the men. Some might still vote for her. But mostly they would be against her. Willamette develops character. Even in its men students. They could never reward her conduct publicly. Some of the younger, more gullible ones might feel sorry for her. But they would be in the minority. The real Willamette men would cast a vote of righteousness!

After thinking it all over, the young campaign manager borrowed Dr. Smith's six-shooter and blew out his brains. Not Dr. Smith's brains. The campaign manager's brains. This was just a little blow out.

The moral of this story is: If you are going to run a squirrel for office, run a boy squirrel. They run faster.

Me Give Blood? Consult the Record!

The solicitors for WU blood at last Tuesday's chapel were at the door when chapel was over, drumming up some additional corpses. Seeing a bright young Bearcat walking out with the crowd, one of the attendants asked him if he wouldn't like to donate for the good of the cause. Without a minute's hesitation the Rube answered, "Sorry I can't. I'm on probation."

Rain Fails to Daunt Success Of 43rd Annual May Weekend

Maypole Dancers Faultless; Break Long Standing Custom

By Bill MacDougall

Though old men weather was shaking a wet fist at Willamette last week, May Weekend in its forty-third year proved to be fully worthy of its fame throughout the Northwest.

From the inter-sorority sing, won by the high scoring Delta Gammas and the fraternity songfest which was captured by Beta Theta Pi, to the formal dance Saturday night, observers termed the affair a "big success."

Unlike Maypole dancers of previous years, the junior women executed their routine without a mistake. This break with tradition brought favorable comment from the crowd.

Aid Appreciated

Bob McMullen, who had the back-breaking task of putting the Weekend activities in shape, congratulated Bob Muir for his help in setting up the grandstands in front of Eaton, and also Burnell Ambrose who completed the cleanup work with volunteer aid the day after the dance.

The almost miraculous change of location in the coronation which was the result of Saturday downpours was attributed by McMullen to volunteer help from dormitory men who set up a stage for the Queen, raised the paper roof over the gym floor, and set up seating for the gay crowd who attended the occasion, undaunted by the rain.

Large Dance Crowd

Another large crowd which flocked to the formal dance Saturday night, was conservatively estimated at 600 in number. Gowns for the girls and bow ties for the boys were exhibited not only by the student body, but also by a large group of prospective pledges and guests of the campus houses.

The barbecue and entertainment which followed was interspersed by bursts of rainfall, though the entertainers and spectators would not allow this to dampen their spirits.

Freshmen Victors

Power-packed freshmen were the victors in the tug-of-war with sophomores, due to a split in the rope which allowed the frosh ample opportunity to "dig in" on the south bank of the mill stream, as the sophomores had done before the first pull.

Sophomores came back to a victory over the freshmen in the greased pole climb in the next event. The experienced shoving and pants pulling of the second year boys proved too much for the frosh, who retired exhausted but happy over their previous win.

British, French Manuscript Shown

Koo, World Student Officer, To Speak as World Citizen

By Pat Jones

Dr. T. Z. Koo, secretary of the World Student Christian Federation for the past fourteen years, will be speaker at chapel Thursday in the First Methodist church.

Dr. Koo is currently serving as a guest lecturer in the School of Religion of the State University of Iowa.

A graduate of St. John's university in Shanghai, Dr. Koo worked for nine years in the Chinese railways. In 1919 he became a YMCA man and for ten years he served as associate general secretary and student executive secretary of the national committee of YMCA in China. He became secretary of the WSCF in 1934, with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. In this position he has been in constant touch with students all over the world, and has been a leading figure in world Christian gatherings such as the Oxford conference on life and work, 1937; the Amsterdam conference of Christian youth, 1939; the Madras conference of international missionary council, 1938; and many others.

In US Before

Dr. Koo has made numerous trips to the United States. He came in April, 1945, as adviser to the Chinese Delegation at the San Francisco United Nations conference. Following this experience, he represented the WSCF in a speaking tour of the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, and South America.

Suffers Near-Starvation

On December 7, 1941, Dr. Koo was in Hongkong waiting to fly from Hongkong to San Francisco. For three months before being taken to Shanghai, he and his wife suffered near-starvation. In September, 1944, he set out on a hazardous journey to Chungking disguised as a peddler. The suffering and destruction he witnessed and the personal hardships he endured have deepened and made his previously challenging messages more moving.

World Citizen

Thursday chapel speaker will be Dr. T. Z. Koo, who received his formal education in Shanghai and afterwards did a great deal of traveling for the YMCA and the WSCF.

Loewen Finds Work Colorful, Enjoys Tending Gate Chain

By Paul Dally

To tend the chain gate at the southwest corner of the campus at the little watchman's house would not seem to be very colorful to many people, but according to John A. Loewen, gate tender, he likes his work and thinks it rather interesting.

His duties are mainly to permit business traffic to enter the campus and to prevent loafers from crowding the grounds. He also tends the gates when there are activities such as the football and basketball games, after regular work hours. The driver of each vehicle that goes on the campus must be questioned concerning his purpose before entrance is granted. Work hours start at 8 a.m. and end at 5 p.m.

Since early fall when Mr. Loewen started working at Willamette, only one person has refused to advance a reason for entrance. Loewen stated that by being prompt in lowering the gate, courteous and friendly, the maximum amount of mutual cooperation may be attained.

During winter months, he was comfortable in his watch house, but he asserted that the kerosene heater and lamp are sometimes quite nauseating—he thinks electricity would be more comfortable and cheaper in the long run.

Loewen said that this work offers him something to do that keeps him busy. He likes visitors as they make the work hours go by pleasantly and he enjoys meeting and talking with people mingle toby nowis with s—h b—his hobby now is to mingle with the various people associated with his work. Scoring five runs in the second inning to overcome a first inning uprising by Pacific university, the Willamette baseball team won its third conference game of the season last Friday 14 to 10 from the Badgers of Pacific.

The win gave the Cats a three win one loss record in the conference and plunked them on top of the heap.

Cats Play Today

Today the Bearcats meet Pacific in a double header with the first game starting at 1:30. On Tuesday the team meets Lewis and Clark in twin games at Portland.

On Wednesday Lewis puts his team against University of Oregon, the Northern division leaders in the Pacific Coast College conference. It will be a night game at Waters Park, game time being 8.

Games Cancelled

Two other games were cancelled because of the weather. Portland university was to have played here last Saturday, and on Tuesday the Bearcats were scheduled to play the Linfield Wildcats.

Pacific jumped on starting pitcher Larry O'Dell in the first inning for three hits and three runs and what looked like a commanding lead.

Five-Run Inning

Matile led off the top half of the second by flying out. Catcher Roy Harrington was then hit by a pitched ball, advancing to second when third baseman Gordon Lenz singled to left. O'Dell walked to fill the bases.

Center fielder Bob Douglas flied out to the shortstop, and Bruce Barker walked to force in Harrington. Pacific starter Jim Hudson through a wild pitch, allowed Lenz to score and the other runners to advance. Ray Pointer singled to deep short to score O'Dell.

Markoskie Hits

With Barker and Pointer on, Brouwer walked to fill the bases again. Right fielder John Markoskie, hitting more consistently every game, singled home both Barker and Pointer. George Matile grounded out to end the inning, the Cats having scored five runs on three hits.

Lenz Gets Four for Five

Harrington, Lenz and O'Dell, who were responsible for scoring eight runs and driving in four in the afternoon, teamed up in the fifth after Matile had walked to score four more runs. Harrington singled to right and Lenz and O'Dell hitting to left.

In the eighth Willamette scored three more, after adding one in the sixth, on singles by Markoskie and Harrington, and a double by Lenz, his last of four hits in five trips to the plate.

Larry O'Dell won his third game against one defeat.

Cat Netters Post 3-1 Record With Oregon, Pacific, Linfield

Bearcat racketeers came through a very busy week of net play to chalk up a record of three wins and one loss. Only one more match, with Linfield here on Tuesday, remains to be played before the Northwest conference tournament here on Saturday, May 14.

Last Friday the Cat netters traveled to Forest Grove to administer a 4-3 defeat to the Badgers. Winners were Dave Bristow, Bill Bonnington and Tom Warren in the singles and the doubles team of Warren and Cece Connors.

Starting off a week of busy play, the locals played host to the northbound Oregon Ducks last Monday afternoon and went down to defeat, 5-1, in a match interrupted by frequent showers. Tom Warren was the only victor for Willamette, taking the number four singles. Howie Lorenz was tied 8-8 with the Oregon number five man in the third set when rain halted the match.

On Tuesday the Bearcats entertained Pacific's Badgers and sent them back to Forest Grove with a 7-0 whitewashing. Only the second doubles team of Ray McCoy and Al Miles and number five man Howie Lorenz dropped a set.

Another 7-0 victory was hun-up by the Cats when they traveled to McMinnville to whip the Wildcats on Wednesday. Number one man Cece Connors had the toughest battle of the afternoon, finally topping Bill Lybarger 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

The Bearcat golf squad is definitely on the comeback trail, downing Linfield by a substantial margin of 13½ to 4½. Bearkitts Lose To Salem, 15-5

The freshman baseball team suffered its first loss at the hands of a high school nine last Friday, when the Salem high school squad handed the Bearkitts a resounding 15-5 defeat in a seven-inning encounter.

Salem scored three runs in each of the first and second innings on five hits and three Willamette errors. The Bearkitts made a total of six errors, while Salem committed four miscues.

The game was a hard-hitting affair with the winners collecting 15 safeties and the losers nine. Sherm Bliss hurled the first five innings for Willamette, with Mike Glenn finishing the game.

Duval of Salem led the hitting with three for five, while Rock collected two for five including an over the fence home run. Pitzer hit two for two, and Girod of Willamette garnered two safe hits in four times at bat.

The Betas and Sheiks in the "A" league, and the Sigs in the "B" loop remained the only undefeated teams after the third week of play in intramural softball action.

This week's "A" action saw the loop-leading Betas wallop the Law school 13-6, and the second-place Sheiks walk over the Phi Deltas 14-2.

The Sigs protected their lead in the "B" loop with a smashing 11-1 win over the Argyles, while the Faculty squeezed past Laurel 5-4 in the only other game.

SAE, Phi Deltas Lead Touchers

With first round action completed in intramural touchball, the Phi Deltas and the SAE's hold the edge with one win and no losses each in the double elimination playoffs, as opposed to no wins and one loss each for the Rubes and the Betas.

Last Tuesday the Phi Deltas pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season when they vanquished the powerful Rubes 13-0. Jeff MacDougall passed to Rog Adams for the Phi Deltas first score on a play that covered 70 yards. The second score also came as a result of a MacDougall pass, this time to Ron Coffel. Jeff passed to Dave Card for the extra point.

The winner of the Rubes-Betas game will play the Phi Deltas next week.

Lewis and Clark 14-4 for a season total of 2 wins and 3 losses to date.

The Bearcat No. 1 man, Vince Aleksa, hit his stride again and captured medalist honors with a steady 73 and pocketed 3 points in the process.

Tuesday the Linfield outfit will play a return match at the local country club and the locals will make their bid for a 500 percentage rating.

Following Tuesday's play, the Willamette squad will make a return engagement to Vanport at Vanport on May 13 and on May 14 the Northwest Conference Golf tourney will be held again at the Salem Country Club.

Linfield scores: Aleksa 3; B. Johnson 2½; J. Johnson ½; A. Dow 2½; D. McMaster 3; Southworth 2.

After being tied all season SAE finally forged ahead of the Baxter "A" team to claim full right to the league leadership. Baxter "A" will have their last chance next week when they will meet SAE to decide who will win the second half of the bowling league.

SAE put Sigma Chi out of the running this week by taking three straight games from them. The victorious were led by Don Barkley who gathered 146-205-210-561 pins which was high series for this weeks bowling. Ken Bartlett was high for the vanquished with a 469 series.

The only other whitewash of the day was scored by virtue of a forfeit. The Phi Deltas were forced to yield to the Betas when their team failed to show up.

Rog Halliday and Dick Briggs led Baxter "A" to a two out of three game victory. High man for the defeated Baxter "B's" was Gil Davies with a 431 series.

Next week will be the final round of competition before the playoffs. This round will find pitted against each other SAE and Baxter "A", Baxter "B" clashing with the Phi Deltas, and Sigma Chi meeting the Betas.

Lillie Calls Spring Ball to Quick Halt

Word has been received from Coach Jerry Lillie that due to extenuating circumstances the spring version of football has been terminated. Low grades, and the rising cost of living which makes college a little tougher on the pocket book forced a good share of the possible players to stay on the sidelines.

Also intramural sports which take place in the afternoon hampered a good spring turnout.

Men that could have turned out but were too lazy missed some good chances to learn about the grand old game from the three coaches: Jerry Lillie, Ambrose D'Eagle and Jim Johnson.

Stout-Martin Duo Take Birdie Title

After a pardonable delay the badminton birdie can leave the WU campus with no thoughts about doing an incomplete job. Wednesday night the finals were played off with the due of Martin-Stout emerging victorious over their opponents, Mary Anne Hall and Al Minn 21-6 and 21-11.

Dr. Martin and Helen Stout can point with pride to their unblemished record, for they met and conquered all the opposition that managed to climb the badminton ladder to meet them.

Al Minn and Mary Anne Hall best the Macy-Hagelstein combo 21-12 and 21-14 to be able to challenge Martin-Stout for the title.

Cat Chats

By Dale Reynolds

It looks a little brighter for the Bearcats every time they meet with a conference opponent this spring. The track squad has fared pretty well against their conference opposition, although they were dumped by Portland university Tuesday. The baseballers now rest on the top of the conference ladder with three wins to one loss. The golfers crushed their last two league opponents by impressive margins: Lewis and Clark, 14-4 and Linfield 13½-4½.

Netters Pull First Blank Since '43

And to add to the excellent showings of the spring sports, the Jason racketeers blanked Pacific, Tuesday, for the

the first time that the locals had whitewashed an opponent since 1943. The netters couldn't settle for one blanking so they blanked the Linfield Wildcats at McMinnville 7-0 the next day.

In the initial track meet at Bush, the times, which will go down on the books as Bush records, were very slow due to the cinders not having been packed yet and the rain loosening them. For example, the mile was won by Jim Jolley of Portland while Bearcats Wes Stauffer and Lowell Weese trailed 10 or 12 yards behind at a slow time of 4:59. Jolley has previously registered times of around 4:40. All the other events where cinders were a factor were faced with the same problem, and the times were slow.

The track will probably settle due to the use it is getting and should be in top shape before too long, however. The practicing on the loose cinders of the new track may prove advantageous to the Cats since the conference meet is going to be at Lewis and Clark and they have a new track which hasn't completely settled.

Archery Women High in Nationals

Shirley Allen can now claim to be the "Little Gold and Red Robin' Hood of Willamette" since she received word that she had tied with Mary Plavnicky of University of Connecticut for the highest individual score in the National Intercollegiate Archery Tournament. Shirley shot 60 arrows at 20 yards and accumulated a score of 526. Shirley shot five perfect ends during her archery matches. While speaking of perfect ends three other Willamette women hit this column when Joyce Kelly hit six and Helen Takayama and Diane McLaughlin collected two and one respectively. As a team the Jason women shot a total score from three matches of 5964 with 720 hits to place fourth.

Phi Delt's Have Orchid Dance Tonite

Although the fraternity officially joined the social whirl of the campus some three weeks ago, Phi Delta Theta has not made its social debut before tonight when its members will entertain their dates at their spring formal, "Tropical Orchids."

The evening will open at 8:30 with a smorgasbord at the chapter house which will be a large "spread" in the words of chairmen in charge, Chuck Patterson and Don Benson. After the glorified buffet supper the couples will leave for the VFW hall where the formal dance will be held in an atmosphere of tropical splendor. A gilded tree will be featured in the center of the room with palm trees and pools enclosing the walls. Ray Yocom is general chairman with Rog Adams and Harry Summers assisting.

In keeping with the theme each date will be given a large orchid. Unique programs with original spatter painting designs on the covers were ordered by Dick Unruh and Bob Skirvin. Kurt Kenyon's orchestra will provide danceable music for the formal affair. Cole Stevens is in charge of lighting arrangements for the dance.

Something new in the way of punch bowls will be featured when the punch is served from a 200-lb. cake of ice cut as a champagne glass.

Intermission emceed by Ray Yocom will star Edith Fairham and Larry O'Dell. A complete list of sponsors for the formal has not been made.

Indep, Beta Beach Trips Tomorrow

Planning beach trips this Saturday are the Independents and Beta Theta Pi.

The Independents will leave from Lausanne hall at 8 a.m. by car and will spend the day at Otter Rock. Playing softball, wading in the ocean and eating hot dogs and potato salad will comprise the day's activities. Helen Johnstone, social chairman, is in charge of the trip.

Approximately 50 Betas and their dates will go to Neskowin for their beach party, which is being given by the pledge class, headed by Rod Beals. The group will leave at 7:30 Saturday morning by car and will return early in the evening. Hiking, swimming and eating will keep the party well occupied.

Phi Delta Theta Chooses Officers

New officers were elected by Phi Delta Theta at their meeting Tuesday night.

Chosen were Bob Hearn, recording secretary; Bill Bissell, chorister; Dave Card, reporter; Jack Weisser, social chairman; Dick Hartley, rush chairman; Bob Skirvin, warden; Mike Glenn, librarian; Don Phillips, historian; Jack Miller, treasurer; Ron Coffey, chaplain; Jeff MacDougall, pledgemaster, and Don Benson, scholarship chairman.

Larry Stocks was chosen president of Phi Delta Theta earlier in the semester. All officers will serve until the second semester of next year.

"Sigma Chi Album" To Be Theme of Spring Formal

Featuring a musical theme with "Sigma Chi Album," members and guests of Sigma Chi will dance in the atmosphere of a Hollywood night club at their spring formal Saturday night at the Sigma Chi house.

The entrance to the house will be covered with a canopy, and guests will be ushered through hotel doors into a nightclub setting of three rooms. First room upon entering, the Chequered Room, will be decorated with woven crepe paper forming checks. The walls of the room will be spotted with phonograph records with the names of couples attending the dance on each one. Shadowed musical notes and flickering lights will also be featured. Backing the bandstand will be a large sheet of music bearing the score and words of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." A "Mythical Garden Room" massed with flowers and greenery will transform one part of the house into a Spring garden ballroom, while a patio extending off from the main dance floor will feature a miniature wishing well and lawn furniture in a garden setting. Working on decorations are Jack Brown, Cobert Nevin, Bill Ross, Don Humphries and Bob Witham.

Hors d'oeuvres and punch served in the "Keynote Room," upstairs lounge, are being planned by Sherm Bliss. The bubbling Sigma Chi punch bowl will lend an authentic night club atmosphere to the refreshment room.

Small phonograph albums with a record that slips out for each dance have been ordered for dance programs by Gordon Ferrell. Bob O'Neill has secured Wayne Meusey and his orchestra for the affair. Special intermission entertainment is being planned by Don Yunker and Johnny Lester.

Favors of small phonograph records which open up revealing a picture of the couple will be given to each guest. In place of a guest book a huge five foot phonograph record will be placed on the wall, and guests will be asked to autograph it.

Sponsors invited to the formal dance are Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gatke, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Schulze, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Derthick, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lewis, Mrs. Nan Fermin, and Mr. Thomas Cowen Bell, Sigma Chi alumni from Miami university.

Corsages of spring flowers will be brought from the Farmers Market in Portland.

APO Initiates Eight Pledges; Elects Officers

Eight pledges were initiated into Alpha Phi Omega, men's honorary affiliated with boy scouts. Those initiated were Bill Laidlaw, Bill Hansen, Charles Martin, Jerry Coen, Russell Tripp, Bud Holmes, Leo Reed and John Connet. Officers were elected for the group and Ed Gottfried was chosen president; Homer Hadley, vice president; Bill Laidlaw, secretary; Chuck Martin, treasurer; Russell Tripp, alumni secretary.

Caricatures to Form Art Gallery for SAE Dance

Careful scrutinization of the masterpieces in the art gallery covering the walls of Sigma Alpha Epsilon chapter house at their dance tonight will reveal a close resemblance between the portraits and members of the fraternity. Utilizing caricatures of the members drawn by the nationally known caricaturist Pancho, the informal dance will be strictly a sport affair, with couples coming in the attire in which the artist has drawn them. Chairman of the dance is Howard Lorenz.

Dancing will be to the music of records. Howard Olson is ordering cokes and cookies for refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beal, Dean and Mrs. Robert Gregg and housemother Mrs. Elizabeth Higbee have been asked to be sponsors by Gordon Pratt. He spent the day Monday at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house drawing the portraits.

PHI DELTA PHI HAS BARBECUE

Professor York of the Law school entertained the Phi Delta Phi fraternity last week at his home outside of Salem with a barbecue. Refreshments of hot dogs and accessories were served and the men played volleyball and badminton.

A business meeting was held and Walt Foster was elected delegate for the Phi Delta east coast national convention in Canada.

Professor York, who is leaving Willamette to teach law at University of Southern California, was presented with a pipe in appreciation of aid given to the fraternity.

Sororities Hold Informal Spring Rushing May 4 to 14

An informal rush period for those girls interested in rushing this year with the desire to move into the sorority house next year upon their return began May 4 and will continue through until May 14. This extra rush period has been established due to new dormitory regulations so that the upperclass women who have pledged a sorority won't be forced to live in the dormitory one full year before moving into their respective houses.

Each house will have one night for dinner dates and the remaining time will be open for coke dates. It is to be stressed that there is no difference in importance between the dinner and coke dates. Neither show any particular choice or preference. They are equal means for getting the rushees and sorority members better acquainted before the bids are filled out.

All girls are urged to see Mrs. Nelson if they are interested and it has been announced that their grades must be above probation status. The houses will make out their bids on the morning of May 14 so that the girls may receive them and turn in their preference by 4 that day.

Miss Andresen Sets August Date

A rooster delivered to the Chi Omega chapter house during a midnight fireside last Friday proclaimed the wedding date of Marjorie Andresen and Bruce Barker. The rooster had a tag around his neck asserting, "Here's something to crow about," and naming the wedding date of the couple as August 27.

Scene of the wedding will be St. Luke's Lutheran Church in Camas, Washington, home of Miss Andresen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Andresen, Dorothy Ann Hobson, Ginny Atkinson, and Joan Thomas will be brides maids, while Francis Andresen, sister of the bride elect, will be maid of honor.

Miss Andresen is a senior major in history. Mr. Barker, member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will graduate with a degree in physical education this spring. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Barker of Ocean Lake, Oregon. The couple will be at home in Falls City where they will teach in the local high school beginning September 19.

The engagement was announced May 3, 1947, at the May Weekend luncheon given at the Chi Omega house.

The Amen Corner

A Mother's Day musical program in honor of the Women's Society Christian Service organization who will be guests, will be given by Wesley Fellowship, Sunday, May 8, at 6:45 p.m. at the First Methodist church. As part of the program, Willamette assistant music professor Ralph Dobbs will play the piano. A planning conference for the old and new cabinets of Wesley Fellowship will be held at Schramm's cabin on the Little North Fork of the Santiam. Those who will attend will leave Fredrickson hall at 7:00 Friday evening and return Saturday night.

Pres. Smith, University Band Take Part in Champoeg Day

By Eric Bergman

"Education free of government control," and which "permits every race and every creed" in remarks by Pres. G. Herbert Smith and patriotic music by the WU band under direction of Maurice Brennen were two of the highlights lent last Sunday to the 106th anniversary celebration of Champoeg Day at Champoeg park.

Dr. Smith, in a principal address to the pioneer group assembled for the occasion, recalled the history of Willamette in the growth of Oregon and reminded hearers that "Willamette has kept up with the development pace."

Speaks to Pioneers

WU President G. Herbert Smith, is shown last Sunday above as he addressed 300 Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers at Champoeg State park, the spot where pioneers gave Oregon a government 106 years ago on May 2. (Dilpix.)

Rain fell most of the day, but didn't prevent some 300 Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers from gathering at the historic spot to hear speakers and entertainment recall the signing of papers by pioneers who gave Oregon the first government in 1843 which eventually led to statehood in 1859.

The theme which dominated the whole occasion, insofar as speakers were concerned, seemed to center around a statement made by master of ceremonies, Vice-Admiral Thomas Gatch, retired, now a practicing attorney in Portland, when he interspersed between speakers, "Remember—a strong Oregon shall not be overshadowed by a centralized government." Gatch's grandfather was a former president of Willamette.

"The Lesson of Champoeg"

Main speaker on the program was Historian and Writer Robert Ormond Case, whose "The Lesson of Champoeg" also led to the conclusion that "we should treasure the liberty that the early pioneers fought to give us" and that "we wonder what the pioneers would think if they could come back today to see the $180,-000,000 Oregon tax program."

Gatch reminded citizens gathered, however, that Oregon still has the lowest taxes of the three Pacific coast states.

Many Personages

The other program consisted of invocation by Rev. W. G. Eliot, jr.; pledge to the flag led by Gen. Thomas E. Rilea; introduction of master of ceremonies by Ormond R. Bean, Portland city commissioner; presentation of Mary Elizabeth Meek, Miss Oregon; presentation of VIPs, Ben Olcott, former Oregon governor, State Treasurer Walter Pearson and British Consul James MacDonald; address by Gov. Douglas McKay; presentation of oldest pioneer present, C. C. Chambeau, 90 and closing benediction by Dr. Robert M. Gatke.

Entertainment was furnished by the Centennials, piano and violinists from Pacific university and by the WU band which played the national anthem, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "Oregon, My Oregon," and the "Daughters of the Legion March."

Lost and Found

A BAG pin without initials was found on campus last week and is now at the student body office in Waller hall.

Many other items are also on hand in the student body office. They have been turned in over a period of several months.

Students are asked to call to enquire for lost items.

State Department Wants WU Internes

The state department has announced that there are two Intern Programs for students interested in entering some field of government service, or those who desire to enter the Foreign Service.

The first type of State Internship is open to all college graduates or post graduate students, and will run for a one year duration, beginning July, 1949. This particular program involves special assignments in professional and administrative work in the Department of State and training at the Foreign Service Institute. The starting salary for those selected is $2520 per year—promotable to $3240 during the internship period. This particular program offers opportunity for permanent appointment to the Department of State upon completion of the work.

The second program is open to those who have completed at least two years of college work and will run for an eight week duration beginning July 11, 1949. As such, it will be the equivalent of a summer school session. This program is concerned largely with special assignments in the United Nations Secretariat, and in addition to providing the program itself, there will be a $300 subsistence for the eight week period. The purpose of it is to promote better understanding of the United Nations and World Affairs.

Both of these programs are open to students of outstanding ability. All those interested are urged to make application with Dr. Withey at the Office of Dean of Students.

Donations of Blood Tuesday at Church

All who signed pledge cards for Red Cross blood donations are asked by Chairman John Christenson to appear for donation anytime Tuesday, at the First Methodist church.

The blood donations are in connection with the present national drive by the Red Cross to obtain blood plasma of all types for use in case of emergency, Christenson said. Those who did not sign pledge cards and who still wish to donate blood, Christenson reminded, may also donate Tuesday at the same place and any time during the day. It is hoped by officials that at least 150 Willamette students will appear for donations.
