

FAYE BOLIN IS WINNER BY BIG LEAD IN EUGENE

Willamette Orator Secures Five of Six Firsts at I. P. A. Contest

TWO FOR WASHINGTON?

"The Test of Honor" is Title of Oration That Carries Away High Honors; Miss Bolin Trained By Professor Miller

Let the bell in the bell tower ring! Miss Faye Bolin, Willamette's representative, won first place in the State Intercollegiate Prohibition Contest at Eugene Friday night, by the decisive margin of five first places and one extremely close second in the six decisions.

Though the victory was not unexpected by those familiar with Miss Bolin's work, yet her superb oratory and power of composition excelled even the hopes of her admirers. The entire audience, even from rival schools, were unanimous in acknowledging her the victor.

Her oration was entitled "The Test of Honor." "America is bound by a solemn promise. She is pledged to devote every resource to the winning of the war. . . . She has not been idle. . . . But if the nation intends to keep her pledge, she should be utilizing every energy, straining every resource, to achieve that state of perfection which makes possible the waging of a victorious warfare."

Miss Bolin proceeded to show that of all destructive elements in our national life, none can be compared to the havoc wrought by alcoholic drink. In a striking and forceful manner she drove home the conviction that the liquor traffic was materially hindering America's best efforts.

Great credit is due not only to Miss Bolin, but also to the untiring efforts of Prof. Della Crowder Miller, the splendid coach of oratory and debate at old Willamette.

As the result of her victory, Miss Bolin will represent Oregon in the Inter-state contest in May, and if victorious there will have a place in the National contest this fall.

The other orators and orations in the order of their rank were: "The Time to Strike," Miss Mary Pennington, of Pacific college; "For the Defense of the Present and the Safety of the Future," Chris. J. Benny, of Eugene Bible university; "The Will to Victory," Clyde Thurston, University of Oregon; "A New Birth of Freedom," Frederick Parkes, McMinoville college.

Besides the orations the audience was entertained by pleasing selections by the E. B. U. male quartet, and the E. B. U. Girls' Glee Club.

A feature of the contest was the singing and yelling of the Willamette delegation, who succeeded in making themselves the center of attraction most of the time until the contest started.

Willamette supporters are now looking forward to a victory in the Inter-state contest, which if secured will give the university two orators in the National contest at Washington, D. C., this fall, which is held bi-annually. Last year Miss Margaret Garrison won both State and Inter-state contests for W. U.

Judges for the contest at Eugene were: Composition, Prof. R. W. Davis, Whitman college; Prof. Roy Glass, Cottage Grove; Prof. Frederick Berchtold, O. A. C.; and on Delivery, Norman Richards, Portland; G. Everett Baker, Portland; and P. J. Kuntz, Salem.

YOUR COLLEGE DAYS SHOULD HAVE

A healthful location and a beautiful situation.
A city which offers opportunities and encouragement.
A faculty which is both scholarly and Christian.
A student body of wholesome purposes and habits.
An equipment adequate for all work undertaken.
A spirit which is cultural and religious.
A real interest in the welfare of every student.
An unquestioned standing among other colleges.
A high degree of success attained by its graduates.
An enrollment small enough to give every student his chance.

STUDENTS RAISE $100 FOR WALK

Enthusiasm for Improvement Aroused At Call of Arlie Walker

May Day Committee and Greater Willamette Club Responsible for New Walk

"I'm going to ask you for $100 this morning and I'm going to get it, too," said Arlie Walker, Greater Willamette Club manager to the club members in open meeting last Friday. Walker had scarcely sat down before the money began to pour in from students and faculty at the apportioned rate of from 40 to 50 cents each.

This sum of money was raised to build a cement walk to extend from Waller hall to the northwest corner of the campus. Under the direction of Coach Mathews, the men students will construct the walk this coming Friday and Saturday. The coach is already getting a line on the work and it promises to go "On the hop."

The money raised will buy materials needed. The May Day committee is directly responsible for the walk.

Dr. Hall endorsed the idea and the spirit manifest and said that the students were putting their ideas into concrete form.

The new walk will be the biggest forward step taken toward a greater and more beautiful campus in many years. In the fall the freshmen built a much needed walk to join Eaton hall and Waller hall and that has set everyone to thinking what a beautiful a few more walks would be.

At present a slippery, splintery and absolutely treacherous two board walk spans the distance over which students can soon walk in safety at all seasons of the year.

WEBSTERIANS EXUDE PEP

Harry Bowers Gets Send Off and New Officers Are Elected.

Pep exuded from every square inch of every Websterian every minute of the meeting last Wednesday night. The program was excused to give room for a fitting farewell to Harry Bowers who leaves to join the colors.

Officers for the last term of the year were elected. Harry Bowers, president; Adolph Spiess, vice-president; Paul Flegel, recording secretary; Lawrence Davies, corresponding secretary; Harold Dimick, treasurer; Harold Eakin, critic; and Arlie Walker, sergeant-at-arms.

GLEE CLUB MEN HAVE SUCCESS AT PORTLAND

Concert in Sunnyside Church Is a Decided Success; Prospects Pleased

CLUB BEST ADVERTISER

Ten-Day Tour of Oregon and Washington Is Well Under Way; Fuzzy and Two-step Goes With "Squirrel Food."

Willamette's premier glee club is now absent from the university on a ten-day tour of Oregon and Washington. Spokane, Wenatchee, Colfax, Walla Walla, Athena, Echo, Hermiston, and Moro will be treated to college entertainment. From all reports that percolate to the campus each concert is a great success.

On Saturday the club gave two concerts at American Lake and one in Seattle and were well received.

Friday was spent in Portland and the concert Friday night in the Sunnyside M. E. church will long be remembered by every Willamette student, alumnus and guest there. Encores nearly swamped the men and the "Squirrel Food" as led by Fuzzy Emmel and Two-step Waltz nearly ruined the masonry of the church.

After the concert a reception was held in the church parlors and alumni and glee men spoke of greater things for W. U. Many high school students were in attendance and one of them said, "If the school is as good as that glee bunch it must be a goer."

Singing at the various high schools in Portland was the work of Friday morning and from the interest Portland people took in Willamette after hearing the quality of the glee club, much may be expected from that quarter for next year.

Warren Booth, an old quartet man and varsity athlete, was present at the reception Friday night and when the strains of "Take Me Back" reached him he said it was too much, that he would have to leave. There never was truer friend of Willamette than Toots but work in the city makes it impossible for him to return.

Today the club will sing at Colfax, at Walla Walla the 25th, and at Athena the 26th Saturday night, the 27th, the club will stage a concert at Echo. Next week concerts will be given at Hermiston Monday, Arlington Tuesday, and Moro Wednesday, May 1. There is a possibility of a concert for Thursday night also.

Several of the students motored down to Portland Friday.

'20 GETS NEW PAINTING

Sophomore Numeral Brightened Up With Brushes and Colors.

Last Friday afternoon the sophomores repainted their numeral on the grandstand. Under the able leadership of chief painter Doughton the numeral was made to shine like the sun.

Owing to the absence of Fuzzy there was no one to kick the brushes into the millrace and the work was accomplished in record time.

Mable Garrett Sings for Gillette.

Miss Mable Garrett, a senior, will leave May 6 for Lafayette, in Yamhill county, where she will complete the school term in the high school for Alpheus Gillette '17, who has joined the ordnance department and is required to report at Eugene.

WILLAMETTE IS LOOKING FOR A BIGGER FUTURE

Equipment Is of the Best; Faculty Leading Men and Women

PRESIDENT GREAT MAN

Students Rank High in Scholarship; Graduates Take Their Places Near the Top In All Lines Among the World's Workers.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, Willamette's all-star president, is now a Y. M. C. A. lecturer among the huts behind the lines in France. When next summer he returns this college will have a greater man with more stirring themes than was ever possessed before and students who can come to know him and get his spirit and enthusiasm will be truly fortunate.

At this time when a Greater Willamette is the all important topic there are many events in view, both past, present and future, that might be reviewed.

In able, learned, interested and helpful faculty the university is fortunate beyond measure. Men with long careful training and with years of practice as teachers vie with each other to give to all students the greatest possible benefit. The educational scientific and literary branches are all given with ample facilities such as reference books, laboratories, assistants, botanical collections, instruments and all equipment needed by a modern college. One example to show how complete is this equipment, Professor Peck has a collection of plants numbering many thousands that lacks a small matter of a hundred or so specimens of being the largest and most complete in the state.

With an excellent faculty it is natural to expect achievements in scholarship from Willamette men and women and the facts prove satisfactory to this expectation. Two men, for instance, have received the world famous Rhodes scholarships which give four years of study at Oxford, England and travel on the Continent.

From the department of education, under the direction of Dr. C. L. Sherman, two men, Errol Gilkey '14 and Sam R. King, '17, having shown exceptional ability were accepted for scholarships in New York university with unusual opportunities for study under great educationalists. There are only four of these scholarships given out each year for the United States.

In forensic work Willamette has always been a respected opponent among Northwest colleges. Past conquests are too well known to need mention. Having just now again won the Oregon I. P. A. contest by the work of Faye Bolin, it is possible that Willamette may have two representatives in the national contest at Washington, D. C., next year because Margaret Garrison is already eligible for that event and Miss Bolin has only to win the N. W. honors. Two orators from one college would be an achievement few colleges can equal.

"First in peace and first in war." That is Willamette. The seventy-five W. U. men under arms are proving to the world the practical value of the best college ideals. Men and women at home are not forgetting service to country; Liberty bonds have been bought, Red Cross work and knitting is a regular task and over $50 a month is spent for war saving stamps.

TENNIS MATCH HERE MAY DAY

Mary Findley, Clara Perkins and Hortense Harrild Will Play Oregon Coeds

Men's Tournament to Determine Varsity Team Is Now In Progress; Interest Is Keen.

Mary Findley, Hortense Harrild and Clara Perkins are in line to meet the Oregon coeds in tennis matches here on May Day. These girls recently won out in a free for all girls tennis tournament.

As she is a wearer of the tennis "W" Miss Findley has represented Willamette before and has always made a strong showing. The other two girls are also strong players although the game is newer to them. These tennis matches will be a big feature of May Day.

The men of the university are now entered in a tournament which shall determine the two leaders in each class and then inter-class and other matches will be played. It has already been determined that Sparks and Nichols are to represent the juniors. Every afternoon the bithulic courts are full of players.

As a final outcome of the tournament and inter-class matches three men who prove themselves to be the top racquet swingers will meet outside teams from as many colleges as can be scheduled for games.

PURPOSES, PLANS, ACHIEVEMENTS OF NEWLY ORGANIZED GREATER WILLAMETTE CLUB MEAN PROGRESS

The Greater Willamette Club is Willamette's booster organization. It has but a single purpose and that is to boost Willamette and secure new students. Every member of the student body and faculty belong to this organization and believe in its work because they believe in Old Willamette.

For some time a need has been felt for some organized effort in securing new students and advertising the university. Several letter writing campaigns have been conducted and while the results have been good they have not gone far enough. So this spring when a Greater Willamette organization was suggested it was welcomed by the students as the thing which was needed.

The president of the student body is the president of the club but the real work is left to the manager who is elected by the club. The manager is assisted by a committee which has

HOE QUEENS ARE COMING

Dedication of New Walk; Athletics; Cadet Drill; Junior Play; May Breakfast; Tennis and Crowning of Queen

With plans completed for the most unique program in the history of May festivities, the annual Junior weekend, May 3, 4, promises to be the greatest ever held at old Willamette. Manager Bartholomew says that there will be something doing positively every minute.

Bright and early Friday morning everybody is going to work on the campus. Yes, the campus is to be cleaned. Every man in the university is going to rake, sweep, and mow until the "grass with dew gleam" is of proper length and thickness. And every girl with college spirit will bring her knitting and smile or, in these war times, use the shovel herself. There is just one Queen-o'-May, but every girl can be queen of the hoe.

Promptly at 12, noon, the new Greater Willamette Club walk will be dedicated and formally presented to the university. At 12:15 the student lunch will be served prospective students. The senior class of Salem high school will be special guests. During the noon hour, a band concert, Indian club swinging and surprise stunts will afford entertainment.

Immediately following the lunch the cadet company from Salem high will give an exhibition drill on the athletic field.

The afternoon's attraction will be a thrilling game between the varsity nine and an all-star alumni team on the local field. Manager Bartholomew waxes particularly eloquent concerning this event and declares that no one can afford to miss this the greatest athletic event of the year.

Friday night, Prof. Miller will stage the clever farce comedy "The Juniors" in Waller hall.

I BELIEVE IN WILLAMETTE.

I believe in Willamette. I believe in my fellow students, and while I am on the register I'll try to make even the faculty glad that I belong. I believe in Willamette. I believe in her lovely campus and great spreading maples, good buildings, and athletic field.

I believe in Willamette. I believe in her class rooms, chapel, laboratories, library, reading room, pipe organ, and gymnasium.

I believe in Willamette. I believe in her athletics, her Greater Willamette Club, May Day, debates, oratorical contests, literary societies, Freshman glee, Collegian, Wallulab, Christian Associations, Student Volunteer, and Bible study classes.

I believe in Willamette. I believe in her ideals, her traditions, her future, her standards, her expectations, her faculty, her trustees. I'll boost. I'll not drag. I'll not knock. I'll boost, boost for myself and for Willamette.

I believe in Willamette.

THE WHY.

Modern business recognizes that the satisfied customer is the best advertiser. The best advertiser because service that gets across counts. The Greater Willamette Club was formed on the satisfied customer idea. Students of a college are customers. They pay and expect to receive value in return. Money is paid for an education and it is up to the college to send them away enthusiastic with their bargain.

When a business organization sets out to find how great is their success they must of necessity go to their customers and see if they are pleased. Pleased customers pay big dividends and big claims that do not rest on fact pay for ruin.

Willamette students are pleased with their value received for money and time expended and what is still more important Willamette graduates have a high regard for the training given in their Alma Mater. Satisfied customers come again. Witness the Packenhams, Peringers, Goltras, Walts and many others. The fathers and mothers remember for twenty years and more and then send their children.

The Greater Willamette Club was organized that the students now here might tell others that desire to benefit by a college education that the claims made by university on the outside are true on the inside and that students and faculty alike are willing as satisfied customers to recommend to anyone Willamette university as a highly desirable place to invest time, money, and energy.

MONEY VALUE OF EDUCATION.

An investigation by the Massachusetts State Board of Education shows how one's value as a money earner increases with his education. Persons who left school at fourteen began at $4 per week and at the end of the twenty-fifth year were receiving $12.75 per week. Those who finish the high school received $10 per week to begin and at twenty-five were getting $31 per week.

I have taken these figures as a basis for making some deductions concerning their total, future earning capacity and what it might have been had they been better educated. The sum of the earnings of the elementary school boy in the twelve years was $5,722.50. While those of the high school boy in the eight years was $7,377.50. The difference in the total incomes would pay the high school boy $2.29 per day for every day spent in the high school. It is fair to assume that their wages will continue at about the same figure thereafter and that they will be able to work for forty years more, or until they are sixty-five. The pupil who quit school at the end of the eighth grade will receive $633 per year or $26,520 for forty years' work. The one who finished high school will receive $1,612 per year or $64,480 for forty years' work. In his earning period of forty years, the high school graduate will receive $37,960 more than the public school graduate. This means that it was worth $52.72 per day to the former for every one of the 729 school days spent in his high school course.

The college graduate earns on an average $2,100 a year during his earning period. This is rather less than one would suppose, but it is explained by the fact that a large number become preachers and teachers where their salaries are comparatively small. But at $2100 a year, the college graduate will earn $84,000 in his forty productive years which is $19,520 more than the high school graduate earns in his life time, or an amount equal to $27.11 a day for every school day he spends in college.

If you are tempted to quit school at the eighth grade, just remember that if you go on to finish a high school course your education will be worth $52.72 a day for every day you are in school. And if you think of stopping with the high school, remember that if you finish a college course, that education will be worth $27.11 a day for every day you are in college; or an average of $29.91 for every school day above the eighth grade.

SOCIETY

A rattle of cups around the lemonade can, the popping of sizzling hot weenies, and fat buns begging to be eaten were some of the signs of picnic days that lured the Chresto brothers and sisters to the woods last Friday. At the close of the Chresto-meathean meeting the girls found the Chrestophilians waiting outside their halls and all started for Bush's pasture.

A jolly informality was started by the familiar Honk! Honk! of Bill's car and continued throughout the evening. Bashful violets hid their faces under leaves and buttercups turned yellow with envy as the shouts of merriment arose. Every specimen of flowers from dandelions to lamb tongues were secured by diligent hunters. Monstrous appetites seemed as plentiful as spring beauties. A bonfire was started by half of the crowd while the other half hunted weenie sticks.

Prof. and Mrs. Peck proved ideal chaperons, especially during the bisecting of buns and sterilizing of weenies and marshmallows. After lunch the time was passed by splashing and fishing in the creek and singing college songs until the final Honk! from Bill's car broke up the crowd.

Sunday, C. A. Poole entertained the H. K. Klub at his country home north of town. Chicken dinner and a stroll in the woods were the order of the day.

Profiting by the suggestions of the Greater Willamette Club, the Adelante society entertained the seniors of the Salem High School at their regular meeting last Friday afternoon. The theme of the program was moving pictures, a subject which was of interest to both the high school and university students. The program was opened by a piano duet by Miss Caroline Sterling and Miss Vesta Mulligan. A paper entitled "People of the Movies" by Miss Averil Harris gave some interesting insights into the public and private life of some of the most prominent movie actors and actresses. Miss Beth Briggs discussed "The Movies and the War." In this discussion she revealed some of the various methods for obtaining pictures of the men in the trenches when in action. Introduced as Madam Margareta of France, Miss Margarette Wible delighted her audience with two of her beautiful vocal selections. The last paper was treated from an industrial standpoint as well as that of pleasure: The movies of the United States were compared with those in South America and other foreign countries. The last number of the program was a stunt by several of the Adelante members. This was a thrilling love tragedy in which two deaths and one suicide occurred. It clearly demonstrates that the real dramas are far more thrilling than pictures. At the conclusion of the program, the Adelantes enjoyed a short social hour with their guests,

FRIVOLOUS FABLES

A future president of the United States was recently interviewed for the Collegian. The man is now seven years old and his name must be withheld lest it disturb future political dope. The interview was as follows:

"Do you work at home?"
"No, by George, I hate it."
"Do you remember when you were a baby?"

"Yes, my mother has some shoes that I used to wear when I was a little baby."

"You are not much more than that now, are you?"

"Yes, I am. I'm seven years old."
"That is not very old, do you think?"

"Yes, but just wait till I'm seventeen."
"What are you going to do then; get married?"

"No, I have one good girl already, and she loves me too. She told me. And she lives in a red house."

"Do you go to see her?"
"No! I don't know where bouts she lives."

"Do you ever get spanked?"
"Most every day."

"Do you ever get spanked on Sunday?"
"No."

"Why?"
"Because. Does your mother ever whip you?"

(The interviewer registers confusion and departs.)

at which time light refreshments were served. Miss Genevieve Yanke presided at the punch bowl. A short but important business meeting followed.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Faye Bolin entertained at her home all those delegates who accompanied her to Eugene last week and all others who have been of especial assistance to her in her oratorical work. Clever entertainment was furnished by the hostess, but the surprise of the evening came when the guests entered the dining room where a large birthday cake crowned the beautifully decorated dining table. The scheme of decoration was carried out in pale pink, blue, and white. A royal birthday celebration followed at which time delicious refreshments were served, carrying out the color scheme. The guests were Misses Margart Garrison, Fay Wells, Evadne McCully, Myrtle Mason, Mrs. Della Crowder Miller and Messrs. Adolph Spiess, Homer Tasker, Raymond Rarey, Otto Paulus, Ralph Thomas, Paul Doney, and Prof. E. A. Hancock.

CHRESTOS BOOST TOO

Program Full of a Greater Willamette Fight and Purpose.

Entering heartily into the spirit of a greater Willamette, the Chrestophilians put on a program last Wednesday night, the theme of which dealt with the enlargement of W. U.

The law school was first discussed by Gordon Sammons. He emphasized the advantages derived especially from its location. Millard Doughton ably presented the subject, "Kimball College In Its Relation to the University." Keith Lyman comprehensively reported on campus current events. Paul Doney, versified rather extensively on "Who's Who At W.

IVAN H. CARNER, Prop.

Misses Elizabeth and Charlotte Tebben

The first spring days have been duly celebrated with picnics and parties which are appropriate for the spring season, but the next week and a half will be devoted to concentrated work for making the Junior week-end and May Day the greatest Willamette has ever had. Everyone will do their bit in order that our guests may be royally entertained. Now is the time to start to make this event the greatest of the year.

The Websterians and Adelantes not being able to resist the call of the beautiful spring evenings, enjoyed a delightful picnic supper on the bank of the Willamette river last Saturday night. Fifty hungry looking individuals left the campus laden with bundles of good things and a healthy appetite. While the girls arranged the lunch, the boys amused themselves with a game of baseball, but at the call of dinner, baseball was soon forgotten. Such a feed would hardly be approved of by Hoover, but to the famished crowd it was wonderful in these days of hard times. Everything in the way of eats for a real picnic were available in generous quantities.

At the conclusion of the picnic supper, the junior and freshmen girls challenged the seniors and sophomores to a game of baseball, the latter being the winners of the one inning which was called off on account of darkness. Mrs. R. L. Mathews acted as umpire and proved herself very efficient in that line. Such pep and rooting has never been surpassed at any of the inter-collegiate games.

Gathered about an immense bonfire, a lively song fest made the woods ring for some distance. At the sound of the curfew, Mrs. Mathews and Mrs. Schramm gave the signal for departing, and the happy crowd slowly wended their ways homeward. The inter-society committee who arranged for the picnic were Misses Blanche Baker, Elizabeth Tebben, Marguerite Wible, and Messrs. Arlie Walker, Russell Rarey, and Paul Flegel.

Professor J. T. Matthews spoke to the Philodossians last Friday afternoon on the subject "Mathematics and the War." He explained in an interesting and simple way how ships are enabled to find their locations at sea, and how the range is determined for the big guns. He showed in various ways how mathematics is an essential factor in the waging of successful warfare. The Philodossians are always glad to welcome Professor Matthews to their meetings, and they found this talk especially interesting. Preceding the address Evelyn DeLong played a piano solo, "Isola," and Grace Sherwood concluded the program with the song "Bird Lullaby," by Wilfred Sanderson.

Last Thursday the Fates intervened with the weather man and scattered sunshine promiscuously over the campus and Bush's pasture. The glee committee of the freshman class, realizing that this favor was meant especially for them, met at the former place and adjourned to the latter for one final picnic before the departure of the glee club the following day. One-Of-Cat and roasted wienies formed the major diversions of the evening, the minor ones consisting of botanical, ornithological, and zoological explorations and discoveries. Those who survived the mosquitoes were Anna Pakenham, Evadne McCully, Mildred Garrett, Evelyn DeLong, Fay Peringer, Ivan Corner, Lawrence Davies, Raymond Rarey, Lester Day, Paul Day and Dan McGrew.

The Misses Vera and Ruth Wise entertained at Sunday evening lunch the Misses Lola Cooley and Mary Notson.

Miss Elizabeth Briggs spent the week-end at American Lake where she visited her brother.

Misses Helen Rose, Gladys Nichols and Elizabeth Briggs celebrated their birthdays with a delightful dinner party Thursday evening. The invited guests were the Misses Lyra Miles, Ruth Lawson, Margaret Goodin, and Mr. Harold Nichols.

Misses Maude Maclean and Ruth Green enjoyed an all day's outing in the woods north of town Saturday.

Miss Fannie McKennon was the guest of Miss Esther Cox at the Feeble Minded school Sunday.

Miss Sybil Smith spent the week-end at her home in Vancouver.

Miss Caroline Sterling drove to Portland Saturday for a business and pleasure trip. Sunday a trip on the Columbia Highway was of special interest to those in the crowd. Besides Miss Sterling, Mrs. Cramer, Homer Tasker and several other Wenatchee people enjoyed the trip.

Miss Mary Parounagian entertained Miss Gladys Nichols and Miss Ruth Green at dinner Friday evening.

Most informal and unique was the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Thursday. The World's Fellowship Committee was in charge and Miss Virginia Mason, chairman of the committee, presided. Ginting college, in China, was the topic of the afternoon study and short talks by Mildred Haworth, Evelyn DeLong and Gladys Nichols brought forth many new and interesting facts concerning our sister college. A piano solo by Fay Pratt and a vocal solo by Gladys Hensel were pleasing additions to the program. At the close, a short social hour was enjoyed.

Friday afternoon the Chrestomatheans were taken far away to old Hawaii. Everyone was brought into the spirit of that interesting little land, not only because of the nature of the program, but by the manner in which it was given.

The program was opened by a piano solo "Aloha Oe," by Marie Largent. The next number was a Hawaiian selection given by a quartet composed of Allene Dunbar, Virginia Mason, Rose Martin and May Mickey. Mildred Haworth gave several legends of old Honolulu. She told of the origin of many of the strange beliefs which prevail there.

A paper "The Hawaiian Islands, Past and Present," was given by Eva Love. She gave many interesting facts concerning the geological formations of the islands and the customs of its people. The last number on the program was another selection by the quartet.

The home of Homer Tasker was the scene of the junior's formal party last Friday evening. The rooms were prettily decorated with baskets of spring flowers lending a spring time atmosphere for the occasion. The guests were met at the door by Mr. Robert Tasker. Miss Mary Parounagian introduced the juniors to those in the receiving line which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tasker, Miss Clever entertainment was planned as indicated on the dainty hand painted program cards. Games of conversation, songs and grand marches were thoroughly enjoyed. On account of a special lacking of men, a peculiar feature was added to the fun when a number of the girls enacted the role of men. At a late hour, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Chace were the chaperones for the junior party. The vice-president of the class, Miss Gladys Nichols, was responsible for the pleasant entertainment of the evening. The members of the class departed unusually happy at the news of Miss Bolin's victory in Eugene.

If there is one thing which students like to do a little bit better than anything else it is eat, and therefore a Dutch treat dinner was hailed with eagerness and anticipation. Admitted by the new butler, Russell Rarey, who was picturesquely attired in a blue calico apron, the ambitious cooks and their guests assembled in Mrs. Steeves' kitchen. In this case too many cooks did not spoil the broth and every part of the dinner was excellent. After the last olive had been eaten and the dishes had been washed, the party adjourned to the Oregon for a picture-play. The hostesses were Muriel Steeves, Charlotte Croisan, Hortense Harrild, Mildred Garrett, Evadne McCully, Anna Pakenham, and Fay Peringer; their guests were Robbin Fisher, Paul Day, Raymond Rarey, Lester Day, Lestle Sparks, Russell Rarey and Paul Flegel.

Mr. Lester Day entertained Miss Anna Pakenham last Wednesday morning during the chapel hour. Refreshments were served in the book store immediately after the exercises.

INVITATION
To the Alumni and Friends of Willamette:
The students and faculty of Willamette have co-operated by organizing the Greater Willamette Club to boost Willamette and to secure a larger student body next fall. In order to make the Greater Willamette Club the greatest possible success we must have the co-operation of all the alumni and friends of the university. In the first place, we want good suggestions—they are always welcome and do not hesitate about sending them to us. Secondly, we want the names of any one that you believe might be interested in attending Willamette. We will do all that we can to persuade them to come if you will only send us their names. Many of you are teaching—won't you send us a list of the students that you consider prospective; and also, please urge them to attend our May Day festivities?
Won't you all make a special effort to "come back" May Day? Make it a real home coming time. We will promise you the biggest and best May Day that Willamette has ever had.

ever designed to tempt the appetites and drain the purses of unwary youth will be served Saturday morning on the campus by the Y. W. C. A. Everything will be properly Hooverized so that it will be perfectly patriotic to eat as much of the good things as one chooses.

A co-ed tennis tournament with the university of Oregon, will be held during the morning.

At 1:30 the frosh, under the leadership of Robbin Fisher, will formally bid farewell to their green caps. Just exactly how they will perform the rite is a deep and dark mystery, but it will no doubt be in keeping with the dignity characteristic of the class of 1921.

On the afternoon of Saturday at 2:30, the all important ceremonies in connection with the coronation of the May queen will take place. Preceded by dances of unusual merit, the crowning will be one of the prettiest and most unique ever staged. The decorations for this event will be particularly beautiful carrying out the idea of a real May festival. The program is decidedly different from those of previous years and is bound to please everybody.

The soph-frosh tug-o-war will be pulled off at 5 o'clock on the banks and in the waters of the old mill stream.

As a fitting close to Willamette's official guest time, the junior's prom will be given in the queen's court on the campus, Saturday night. This will be made unusually attractive with special music and electrical effects.

Sunday morning a joint service will be held in the chapel by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Committees in charge of various features are: Decorations, Paul Flegel; Work and Program, Harold Nichols; Student Lunch, Helen Goltra; May Morning Breakfast, Mary Findley; Junior Prom, Gladys Nichols.

ALUMNI ACTIVITY REVIEWED

Let us review quickly and briefly what the alumni are doing in hopes of answering all questions at least partially.

A surprising number fling themselves into service as teachers and preachers. Addie Tobie '17 well expresses the teachers idea. "In the prosaic life of a dignified school marm what can there be that is unusual unless it be that we have no bad boys nor girls in our school this year?" Rev. Thomas Yarnes '16 will represent the ministers, "We are enjoying life as well as we deserve, and probably somewhat better. We are among a fine lot of people, and, in the main, feel that we are in safe hands." Then there are the many who rush into matrimony, and a little notice in the paper says "The happy couple will be at home to their friends after"—then we usually hear no more of them.

There are some who are doing work out of the ordinary, however, and the extremes represented in these cases are indeed very different. Mabel Magness '12 has had various experiences in New York, and in the Southern border states. She has seen and heard much of national interest. Quite opposite are the many adventures of Mabel St. Pierre '16, who is doing a man's work as overseer of a large fruit farm. Sam King '17 is taking a post graduate course in New York university, and in answer to queries as to his occupation assures us that "Being a cloistered student my life here is not near so romantic as you may imagine."

There are many alumni now connected with our school who seem to be a part of the institution. The Dean of the College of Law, J. H. Van Winkle, got his B. A. in 1898 and L.L.B. in 1901. Professor Matthews, friend and wise counsellor, graduated in '88 and received his M. A. in '92. His brother, W. P. Matthews '85, is principal of the high school at Klamath, Washington, and is evidently very successful for one of his assistants says, "I could wish for a pleasant principal to work under. He dislikes mathematics as much as his brother likes it. I do believe, but I should like to see you stump him on history or English." Miss Mary Reynolds, who taught in the academy for twenty-three years, got her B. Sc. in 1880, and her M. A. in 1916. Dr. B. L. Steeves '91 is a member of our board of trustees.

Among the present members of the student body are several weighted down with the responsibility of living up to the reputation established by mothers and fathers. The mother of Grace Bagley, Mrs. Edith F. Bagley, was a member of the class of 1897. Helen Goltra's mother and father are both alumni of Willamette. J. F. Ailshie, L. B. and Ph. B. '91, and present member of the supreme court of Idaho, is the father of James Ailshie II, '21. Virgil Peringer '90 is a successful attorney and the father of two of our popular co-eds, Ruth and Fay Peringer. The father of our fair orator, Margaret Garrison, is a member of the class of '66. M. M. Waltz, Ph. B. '84, and his wife, B. A. '88, are the parents of Roswell Waltz '20; they are now living on a dairy ranch. Muriel Steeves is the last of a whole family to attend Willamette, her mother graduated from music '97. Rev. A. S. Mulligan '88 is the father of Vesta Mulligan '19. Mrs. Mary E. McKinney, the mother of Birdene and Venita, graduated from music in '93.

Naturally, there are a number of missionaries from our school. J. J. Patton '94 has been stationed at Fairbanks, Alaska, since 1913. May Lilly '95 was for six years a missionary in Starbuck Settlements. China is a favorite field for our missionaries. Mrs. Susie Harvington Cas-land is at Singapore. Esther Plumer Schreiber '14, R. Mae Hopkins '17, and David Cook '16, have all gone over quite recently. Chas. J. Weed '98, is a missionary and the author of text books used in the Anglo-Chinese schools. Edward J. Winans is a missionary teacher in Peking university.

Many of our alumni are in the army or navy. Oliver Matthews, the son of Professor Matthews, is in France with Company M. Bruce McDaniels is with 18th Engineers Corps, Company E, in France. Laban Steeves '17 has joined the medical corps and will be on duty on one of the battleships next year. James Crawford '11, former attorney general of Oregon, is serving in the army. Errol Gilkey '14 is sergeant in the army. Paul and Ralph, the sons of Rev. Fletcher Homan, are both in service. The former enlisted in Y. M. C. A. work in the British army in May, 1916, and just recently while in Paris he joined the aviation corps of the American Expeditionary Force; he hoped to get his license by March 1. Ralph is in a training camp in Virginia. Captain Percy Willis '90 was major during the Spanish-American war and is now an officer in the regular army. Eric Bolt '15 is in active service in the Y. M. C. A. work among the soldiers. J. R. Bain '16 joined the navy in November, his version of his situation is "I'm leaving school here to enlist in the navy as a private—so I can gain all the more honor if I should become an admiral."

Among the more prominent alumni are represented a variety of occupations and interests. Edgar Piper, B. A. '86, M. A. '92, and D. D. '09, is editor of the Oregonian. Austin Price, B. S. '08, is in the U. S. Reclamation service, since 1909 he has had charge of the hydrographic work of the Boise Project. Robert A. Miller, B. S. '18, was appointed a member of the national supreme court in 1895. W. C. Hawley, B. S. '84, B. A. and L. B. '88, is a member of congress from Oregon. John B. Horner, B. S. '83, and M. A. '85, is an author and educator of some note.

The fine arts have their devotees, also. Frank E. Churchill, B. M. '05, is a popular Salem music teacher. Mrs. Mamie Parvin Brown, B. M. '89, has won gold medals for her original work in art. Mary Eva Foster '93 is author of "The Dream Life and Other Poems." M. Evelene Calbreath, B. M. '07, is a musician and composer. Such a brief sketch does not tell half the tale. If you would know the full glory and influence of Willamette through her alumni, you must look more carefully through the annals of time than present circumstances permit.

Urush for Justice of the Peace.

G. E. Urush, member of the class of '09 both Liberal Arts and Law departments. After graduating he began the practice of law in Salem, Or., February, 1910, and is still practicing here. He was a member of the Philodorian Literary Society. He took a prominent part in athletics and besides participating was general manager two years. He was also business manager of the Collegian one year. He is now aspiring for the nomination, upon the Republican ticket at the coming primaries, for Justice of the Peace for Salem District. He is now serving his fourth year as a member of the city council. Paid Adv.

TAKES WALK ON A RUN

Baby Carriage Is Over Grown But Walk Is No Hindrance.

A Ford carried out the idea propagated by Lyle Bartholomew, manager of May Day, one morning in the Greater Willamette meeting when he spoke of baby carriages perambulating up and down the two-board tight rope walk that rots on the northwest of the campus.

The car was seen to leave the west steps of Waller hall and go down the walk to State street and greatly surprise some faculty members and the passers-by.

INVITATION

The student body of Willamette university extends a cordial invitation to the alumni and all friends of the university, to attend the annual May Day Festivities to be held on the Campus May 3 and 4. The student body and faculty are doing their utmost to make this the biggest May Day Willamette has ever had. Come and help us crown our Queen of May.

—Lola Cooley, Vice-Pres. of the S. B.

FACTS

Historical.

Founded in 1844 by Jason Lee and associate pioneers, Willamette university is the oldest institution of higher education west of the Rocky mountains.

Her graduates number over a thousand persons and about ten thousand others have been her students.

The graduates include a large percentage of notable men and women—ministers, missionaries, judges, congressmen, professors, editors, merchants, physicians—successful persons in all vocations of life.

Her influence has pervaded the Northwest and has been an honorable factor in the nation's development.

Today.

Willamette university has six buildings, a campus of eighteen acres opposite the Oregon state capitol, a library of 11,000 volumes and 130,000 additional volumes in convenient libraries, laboratories in chemistry, physics and biology, an excellent athletic field and the equipment of a standard college.

Instruction is offered in the College of Liberal Arts, College of Law, and School of Music, all of which are located upon the one campus.

For two years the freshman class has been the largest ever entering the university, last year being 52 and this year 111. The enrollment in 1915-16 was in College of Liberal Arts, 230; in College of Law, 32; in School of Music, 72; a total excluding all duplicates, of 294. The corresponding enrollment for 1916-17 is 285, 49 and 101—a total, excluding duplicates, of 386.

The faculty in the Arts College numbers 13, in Law 8 and in Music 4.

Standing.

In scholarship, Willamette is fully approved in every particular by the University Senate, is approved by the United States Commissioner of Education and meets the requirements for certification of graduates to teach in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Credits accepted in the best graduate schools.

In influence Willamette holds a leading place because of age, rich tradition, strong alumni, location, facilities and moral character.

High school students, alumni and friends of the university, you are cordially invited to attend the fourteenth Junior week-end and May Day fete of Willamette university held May 3, 4 and 5.

The student body will see that your every need is attended to.

—Lyle P. Bartholomew, Manager of Junior week-end.

Kindly let us know when you will arrive by communication to the manager.

FAY WELLS IS I. P. A. PRESIDENT

Salem Will Be Place of the Next Annual State Convention and Convention

Plans Made for Ratification of National Prohibition and in Oregon; Seven W. U. Delegates.

Fay Wells was elected state president of the I. P. A. at the convention held at the Eugene Bible university, April 19. The other officers are: Vice-president, Rex Dallas, Eugene Bible university; secretary, Clyde Thurston, University of Oregon; treasurer, Iri McSherry, McMinnville college.

The whole convention was permeated by a spirit of earnestness and enthusiasm and many plans for the coming year were made.

The contest was followed by a banquet at which Mr. Moon, an African missionary, presided as toastmaster. The following toasts were given: "Our Southern Sister," Pres. Pennington, Pacific college. "Over the Top for Oregon," Iri McSherry, McMinnville college; "Everybody Happy," Mr. Myers, University of Oregon; and "Here's to the Victor," Ralph Thomas, Willamette university.

Those present from Willamette were: Fay Wells, Myrtle Mason, Evadne McCully, Ralph Thomas, and Adolph Spiess. Prof. Miller accompanied Miss Bolin and the delegates.
