Varied Concert Includes Two 'First' Works

Two first performances will take place in the Fine Arts Auditorium when the Willamette Orchestra presents its final concert of the season Wednesday evening at 8:15.

According to conductor Willis Gates, "Concerto Grosso" by Locatelli has never been performed in Salem before. It was written especially for four solo instruments and string orchestra by the early eighteenth-century composer.

The second "first" of the evening will be the performance of Page Bailey's "Dreams." Bailey, who is a senior in the College of Music, approached Mr. Gates last year about the possibility of composing such a number for the orchestra. He finished the composition early this

Oregon Educator to Address '56 Grads

Alum Day Plans Announced for June 2

Alumni Day, Saturday, June 2, will bring back the old grads of Willamette. Special reunion classes for this year are 1906, 1911, 1916, 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936, 1941, 1946 and 1951.

At 8:30 a.m., things will get off to an early start with the Alumni Association executive committee meeting in the Library. Following the committee meeting will be registration at 9:30, in the Fine Arts building.

A special course for grads at 10:00, entitled "English and the Humanities at Willamette University," has been arranged by Dr. Paul Trueblood, professor of English, '28. This will be the first alumni class to meet in the Fine Arts building lecture rooms. At 11:00, Dr. Darrell Chapin, '26, and Gerald Pearson, '27, will address the alumni on "Electricity from the Sun." Chapin and Pearson are the creators of the Bell Solar Battery.

At twelve noon, alumni with the numerals "6" or "1" in their graduation date will have special class reunion luncheons to celebrate their five-year anniversaries.

Following the luncheons, the W.U. band is to provide "pop" music in the Fine Arts colonnade, weather permitting. At 6:00 the Alumni Day banquet will begin in the Gold Room at the Marion Hotel. Class members celebrating their twenty-fifth and fiftieth anniversaries will receive their Matthews Medallions, named in honor of James T. Matthews, professor of mathematics at W.U. for 49 years, from Dr. Smith.

Dr. Robert F. Anderson, '38, president of the Alumni Association, will be toastmaster. Mr. Warren A. McMinimiee, attorney at Tillamook, Oregon, who will receive his Matthew Medallion for his twenty-fifth reunion, is slated to be the keynote speaker, his topic being "The Independent College Today."

Following the presentation of awards, Dr. Robert Anderson will announce the new executive officers, which will be elected by ballots sent to the alumni by mail.

Woolery, Geer Oscar Winners

Theater awards were meted out at the annual banquet of the Willamette University Players, Wednesday at the Colonial House.

Clarine Woolery received the best actress award for her performance in "The House of Bernard Alba." Taking honorable mention were Sheila Laue for her performance of Lady MacBeth and Beth Church as Bianca in the recent "Kate" production.

The trophy for best actor went to Dick Geer who had the lead in Macbeth. Tom Larson received honorable mention for Petruchio in "Kiss Me Kate." Barbara Ruhlle was chosen the best supporting actress while George Nelson received the best supporting actor award. The theater production award, which is given to a non-drama major was given to Margie Wood and Frank Dobbins for their service to the drama department in printing posters and programs. The most promising freshman title went to Beth Guilbert. Wayne Harris and Ruth McCormick were given the Theater Service Award for their technical assistance in productions.

Honored guests were Prof. and Mrs. Robert Putnam, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Runkel, Dr. and Mrs. Smith, Dean and Mrs. Gregg, Dean Ewalt and Dean Hatfield.

Concert Series Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the 1956-57 Distinguished Artist Series went on sale this week at Stevens and Sons Jewelers. Student tickets will not be sold, however, until the first week of school in the fall.

Adult season prices are $7.20 and $6.00. Student tickets for the season will be $4.50.

Leading off the series will be the Kovack and Rabouviski classical ballet company, on November 15. Several years ago the founders of this dance company escaped from behind the Iron Curtain.

Jose Iturbi, one of America's most well-known concert pianists, will appear on the stage of the Fine Arts Auditorium December 13.

Third in the series and first on the agenda for 1957 will be a lyric tenor from the Metropolitan Opera, Cesare Valletti. His concert will be January 24.

March 7 or 8 will see the Vienna Choir Boys arrive in Salem for their performance that evening.

DR. WILLIAM C. JONES

Council Names Two Managers

The two final major manager positions for next fall were filled by Student Council. Dean Bishoprick was chosen to be Campus Chest manager and Chuck McClure will head Homecoming Weekend.

Bishoprick advocated in his petition a closer personal contact with town students during the Campus Chest drive and handling faculty contributions through student solicitors. One of his major ideas to create more interest in the drive is a kick-off rally for solicitors.

McClure proposed changing the location of the Homecoming dance to the gym instead of Crystal Gardens.

Convo Choice Goes to Adlai

Adlai Stevenson and Stuart Symington were nominated president and vice president respectively in last weekend's Democratic Mock Convention here.

Stevenson's victory came late on the fourth ballot which turned out to be a fight between he and the Missouri senator who was nominated as his running mate.

Symington's victory came on the second ballot after a first ballot led by Senator Wayne Morse.

Appreciation to Willamette by the more than 250 delegates who attended the affair was shown by a standing ovation at the conclusion of the convention.

Paula Preuss to Manage Next Year's Chapels

Paula Preuss, sophomore from Vancouver, Washington, was chosen Chapel Manager for next year by Religious Life Council last week.

According to Miss Preuss, the key words in relation to Thursday chapels are variety and vitality. She feels that the worship should be presented in such a way that these elements are always present and that chapel may be meaningful to the students.

She feels that only one worship service can reach everyone and that a variety of programs is therefore necessary to suit the individual needs of the students. Her proposed

Dr. William C. Jones, dean of administration at the University of Oregon, has been selected to speak at the Willamette University Commencement June 3, at McCulloch stadium.

Dr. Jones served on the Willamette faculty as assistant professor of public administration from 1929 to 1941. He became head of the political science department at the University of Oregon in 1944, advanced to the position of president of Whittier College, and in 1951 assumed his present post at the University of Oregon.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in 1900, Jones obtained his B.A. at Whittier College in 1926, his master of business administration at the University of California in 1929, and his Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota in 1940.

He has served as merit system supervisor of the Oregon State public welfare commission and is affiliated with the American Political Science association, the American Society for Public Administration, and the A.A.U.P.

Commencement will begin in McCulloch Stadium at 3 p.m., with the procession of faculty and students forming at 2:30. Ushers for the event will be members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Beta Alpha Gamma and Sigma Alpha Chi, scholastic and service honoraries.

The last duty of the year for the Concert Band is to provide the procession and recessional for commencement.

Baccalaureate services for robed and gowned seniors will precede Commencement by a week, being held at the First Methodist church Sunday, May 27. Dr. Eugene L. Smith of the Board of Missions of the Methodist church and a 1932 Willamette graduate will address the seniors.

Senior Scholars Named

This past week, President Smith has released the rest of the senior scholars for the year 1956-57.

They are Barbara Murch in the economics department; Tom Murdoch and Douglas Houser in political science; and Sharon Laverty for sociology; Dollie Cummings and Dan Feller, physical education.

Named as departmental assistants for the coming year are Barbara Morgan and William Wheat in economics, and Dale Greenlee in sociology.

Trio Goes to Portland

Professors Ralph Dobbs, Willis Gates, and Allen Gove will participate in the Northwest choir conference program at the First Methodist church in Portland this Sunday evening beginning at 7:45 p.m.

The trio will play several selections with Dobbs at the piano, Gates playing the violin and Gove playing the cello.

CHARLES PETER

fall. Because Bailey's right hand was injured in an accident, students in the orchestra and music school met nightly for several weeks in the basement of the music hall and copied every bit of the over 5000 bars of music by hand.

Bailey received the inspiration for the piece from a poem concerning the condensations of three philosophies. As the piece begins a person who cannot face the harshness of reality is pictured and this person turns to dreams as an escape. The second incident shows him awakening from his slumber to take advantage of his youth and in the third incident the person realizes that neither in dreams or unabandoned pleasure can one find peace, and so he turns to Jesus Christ. The orchestra will present only the first two dreams in this concert. The number will be narrated by Tom Carr and be directed by Bailey.

Charles Peter, senior, will be featured in Mozart's Horn Concerto. Peter has played first horn in the orchestra for four years. The final number of the concert, "Symphony No. 5 in B flat Major" was written by Schubert for a small sized orchestra and has very unusual instrumentation. It contains no trumpet or clarinet parts.

All interested people are urged to attend. No admission will be charged.

Beach Trip Signup Today

Seniors are reminded of today's deadline to sign up for the beach trip to Oceanlake May 24-27.

There are sign up lists in all living organizations and all town students are being telephoned. However, it would be appreciated if all interested townies would contact Bob Ellis.

Fees for the weekend are $3, $5, and $6 for one, two, and three nights respectively. Payment must be made to organizational representatives by Monday at 4 p.m.

Cars will be leaving both Thursday and Friday, and anyone needing a ride should contact Jerry Kangas. Chaperones for the weekend are Sgt. and Mrs. Walter Gratton and Capt. and Mrs. Robert Hale.

Dear Ed: Conventions

Dear Sir:

The intercollegiate Mock Convention which was held on our campus last weekend was a complete success.

I know that all those who participated in it have had an experience they will not soon forget.

While it is a recent topic of conversation, I want to express publicly appreciation for the tremendous effort by a great many people without whom the convention could not have run so smoothly.

I hesitate to list any name or names because I do not want to give the impression of overlooking any of those whose contribution was acknowledged by a standing ovation at the close of the convention.

A major debt however, is owed to Dave Barrows, who got the ball rolling and to Don Laws who carried the burden the rest of the way.

Sincerely,
A. FREEMAN HOLMER

To the editor:

This weekend the students at the University of Wisconsin held a mock Democratic National Convention. Some of the students from Oregon suggested that the results would be of interest to you.

All the major candidates were in the field at the beginning of the first ballot for the presidential nomination, but at the end of this first ballot and before the final result was to be announced, state after state swung over to Adlai Stevenson. A resolution to make the nomination of Stevenson was passed.

Then the Stevenson group spearheaded a move to name Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse the vice presidential nominee, and on the second ballot, after a stiff fight, Sen. Morse was nominated.

Sen. Morse was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and we hope the students of Willamette university will be pleased to know that his name and policies are still very much a part of the Wisconsin tradition.

Sincerely yours,
PHILIP EBERSOLE
Univ. of Wisconsin

Student Government, Apathy

As the school year draws to a close, retiring officers, graduating seniors, and various other members of the campus family are filling the air with nostalgic little bits of "remembrances" and "advices." It would be inappropriate for The Collegian to set out on any rampaging editorial campaign. Besides it's spring.

One thing has, however, been bothering us for some time. That is the problem of apathy in student government. This seems to be a universal problem on college campuses. No one yet has come up with a satisfactory, all-inclusive solution.

Our problem here at Willamette, whether settled or not, has at least been experimented with and has been the object of much concern by the student body officers. What one wonders, however, is: did they make any headway with the problem at all? And we believe that the most optimistic answer would have to be, "they tried."

The method utilized was to create a problem, create a difference of opinion, create discussion, and then meet to create a solution.

It seemed quite evident to us that this was not solving the apathy situation by the lack of interest among the Council representatives in taking the "problems" back to their organizations and reporting back the "sentiments." The lengthy Council meetings were mainly taken up by explaining the problem and the solution to the Council members.

Questioning of this problem-creating process certainly is not a criticism of our incumbent student body officers. The very fact that such a process was undertaken is proof of their sincere concern with the problem of apathy. But we do wish that you would stop to appraise the results.

Student government is just like any government. It's just so much excess baggage until it is really needed to do a job. Government, it would seem, should always be ready to fill a need when it arises. But to find needs to feed student government seems indigestible.

The real solutions must come, we believe, in finding an avenue whereby problems come from the living organizations to the Council rather than the other way around.

SB Roundtable . . . Anticipated Headaches

Next Tuesday at the Awards Assembly the old officers are officially "hung up" and the newly elected brought in. The gavel is turned over to Neil and the other officers can pick up where we left off. These officers you have elected are all capable and interested. In electing them you have pledged your support to them. However, as we go out of office there are certain questions that have been asked us that warrant giving you our impressions of this year.

The first question people usually ask is, "if you had it to do again, would you do it?" The answer to this is most definite. This year our respective student body officers have been a growing experience for all of us that we wouldn't trade. In the course of the year there are many headaches to be faced and at times you question whether or not it is worth all the time and effort that goes into the position. But looking back in perspective, it's easy to see that it was.

Many times students have expressed the sentiment that student government and all the activities are a waste of time. True, our social calendar is crowded, but this does not disprove the value of the ideas of programs of entertainment and social development. It is my opinion that if the work idea would be overcome and the activities seen in their real meaning and purpose that all students would find the program better.

Another typical question is "do the students actually have the leeway to do what they want or is the administration controlling everything they do?" The answer to this is that we do not realize that we have the freedom to do most anything we please through our student government. This is not to say that there are not limits, but where they are put is usually reasonable and understandable if all the facts are before you. The administration this year has proved themselves concerned and willing, but often we fail to utilize them where we could.

"Can student government be effective?" This question is actually rhetorical because the answer depends on each individual. If everyone did their minimum part, took time to be well-informed, and choose those activities that they are most interested in for active participation in, student government would be very effective. The government will be exactly what you want it to be. Student body officers can knock their heads out trying to make it effective but unless they gain the support of the entire student body, their jobs are very difficult.

There are many other things that deserve mention but time and space won't allow me to go into detail on them.

We have been fortunate this year in the managers of activities who have been very efficient in carrying out their specific responsibility. Many of these positions are unsung and do not gain the deserving recognition which they should have. The smaller and the larger positions are alike in their category. So to all of you people who have worked so conscientiously, the officers this year and the student body are indeed grateful.

The student body is also indebted to Dave Lewis and Professor Clarence Kraft for the many hours they have devoted in our behalf. A thank you is perhaps insufficient but we mean it in all truthfulness.

Unfortunately, it is impossible to go right down the line and publicly thank each one, but we owe a lot to all of the people who have shared the responsibilities this year.

To be A.S.W.U. president has been a wonderful and gratifying experience. To evaluate the record of this student administration is beyond most of us as student body officers, but I can say we all tried our best.

The people that did the work this year do deserve the credit for it. They are Neil Causbie, Dale Greenlee, JoAnn Benard, Marian Rutledge and Dale Patton. Each one of them did an excellent job, and it was my pleasure to be closely associated with them.

DAVE FINLAY
A.S.W.U. President

Metal Shows Animal Integrity

To the inquiring mind, "How?" becomes as important a question as "What?" and "Why?" in the act of understanding the pieces of metal sculpture by Tom Hardy in the art gallery this month.

THE EUGENE sculptor exhibits a complete knowledge of his medium, yet the technical virtuosity has remained as a means to the expression of the animal reality of the creatures portrayed. To ignore the goatness and cowness of the animals, is to see no meaning, to have nothing but wiggly soldered metal and mere hunks of useless iron.

High upon a craggy ledge, the king goat stands, blown by a bitter winter wind. Powerful grace is caught in the long sweeping curve of his horns. Delightfully ornery, the creature is so real that one dares not put his finger in its mouth, though the cobwebs in his skull are disarming.

OF BROADER planes of light-weight metal, the cunning fox is far too charming to be wicked. His slightly Disneyish air is enhanced by the play of shadows on the wall.

Several watercolors show again Hardy's conception of animal character. Soft, sleek, snarling otters look dishonest, yet cutely harmless. The poor tired tiger is gently senile and beautifully fluid. He would hardly spring at anything bigger than a mouse. The artist has surely shown the integrity he finds in animals with clarity, yet portraying their entire essence whether in heavy metal, pen and ink, watercolor or clay.

Few times does an artist find more creative possibilities in animals than people, but this is quickly discovered as one compares the one lone man with any of the metal animals. This bubble-gummy man, is artfully constructed, as he sits twisted on the edge of a cliff, but he has not the personality and genuine character of the majestic goat nor the gentle humor of the fox. He is simply a body, well designed and meaningless. Of all the creatures, he is the least real.

Cat's Tail

SAYS DUANE

Some people stare into a crystal ball for inspiration. Me, I am staring into two boney knee caps. I have joined the Bermuda shorts gang which popped up one hot day this week. I think they're "real cool."

Dean Hatfield made a special point of rolling up the window of his office to make a comment as I passed by. It was not the kind I had expected (or the kind I had been used to hearing). He said that he approved and could hardly wait until he could wear his around campus.

That will probably be after today's election, at least!

Which brings me around to another subject. Actually it is the same subject. Why can't girls wear Bermuda shorts to class? It seems idiotic to think that girls look any less disrespectful in Bermuda shorts than we men. I've seen very few girls who didn't look better in them than men, really. Most girls' knees are much more attractive and certainly less hairy.

This is beach trip weekend. For most of you, this will be your last big social outing of the year before you settle down for the semester exams. It is always so much fun to try and study as you peel your sunburn off.

Which reminds me of the story about the Sigma Chi who was so stingy that when he took his girl to the beach he didn't buy her a parasol; he just told her shady stories.

The craze for Bridey Murphy jokes has hit the college campuses too. The following quips were selected from Weldon Payne's column in the University of Alabama Crimson White. They are passed along without comment:

"They say Morey Bernstein (the author) greets his friends with 'How were you?' and they reply 'Search me.'"

"The latest developments on the reincarnation theory came from a professor the other day. Commenting on whether horses have souls or not, he said, 'Sure they have. Why the last time I was hypnotized, I won the Kentucky Derby.'"

"And recently a Bridey Murphy fan, distressed over the pressures of the day exclaimed: 'Oh, that's what I get for coming back.'"

Voter apathy at Willamette has nothing on the University of British Columbia. This rather discouraging report on a student election is reprinted from the Antioch College "Record":

A French poodle recently captured 405 votes and ran third in a student council election at the University of British Columbia. The dog was entered as "Kiki Graham" by a student who wanted to prove that voters do not investigate the backgrounds of candidates.

From the Miami Student, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio:

Girls who give up all their time
To write a stuffy thesis
May have to give up love and joy
And be content with nieces.

From the Michigan Tech Lode:
Down the street his funeral goes,
And the sobs and wails diminish.

He died from drinking shellac
they say,
And he had a lovely finish.

Members of a fraternity at the University of Oklahoma are still looking for the pledge who was instrumental in the night they spent in jail. Seems the members were busy depositing pledges around the countryside when the police received an anonymous report that four hitchhikers had stolen a car of the description (even to the license plate) of the member's car. Four patrol cars cornered the fraternity members and they spent the night trying to explain the situation.

Best Actor and Actress Named

Dick Geer and Clarine Woolery were Wednesday night named best actor and actress by WUP's. (See story on page one.)

Psycho-Social Class Offers Great Variety

Case histories can be interesting, no one can deny who is in the psycho-social dynamics of human behavior class.

Throughout the year Donald Miller and the twenty-odd students have discussed everything from laughter as a form of cruelty to what to do with and for a juvenile delinquent.

Mr. Miller, who is head of placement at MacLaren School for Boys, commutes to the class three times a week. With him he often brings actual cases for the class to analyze and suggest therapy for.

Although the course does have a text, most of the work is in actual discussion and analysis of pertinent situations.

At the first of the semester a feedback procedure was used in which a non-participant observer recorded reactions of the group and of individuals in the class. Then at the next class session, the notes would be read and discussed.

The course, which is a senior sociology class, is usually taught every other year by Miller but due to the popularity of the course it will be taught again next spring semester.

President Smith to Preside Over Annual Awards Assembly

President Smith will preside over next Tuesday's annual awards assembly. The assembly will feature awards given in the fields of athletics, music, forensics, scholarship, and the tapping of new members for various honoraries.

The new members of Sigma Alpha Chi, Beta Alpha Gamma, Omicron Delta Kappa, Cap and Gown, and Theta Alpha Phi will be announced. Recognition will also be given to the new members of Alpha Kappa Nu, senior scholastic honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary, and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary.

There will be many individual and group awards. Among these are the Alpha Chi Omega award to an outstanding music student; the Mary Love Collins scholarship; three forensics awards; the Roy H. Simmons psychology award; the George Putnam and Charles H. Sprague journalism awards, and the scholarship trophy to the sorority with the highest G.P.A.

John Lewis will present all of the athletic awards and honor one of the outstanding athletes with the J. H. Booth award. Dave Finlay will introduce the new student body president, Neil Causbie, and present the student body awards.

Hoteling New RLC President

Last week, the Religious Life Council elected officers and selected next year's chapel manager. Kent Hoteling is the new president and he will be assisted by Lucy Myers who will act as secretary.

Paula Preuss stated that "variety and vitality" must be the core of every chapel service in the petition which won her the chapel manager position. Miss Preuss has selected Dave Steward to assist her as chapel secretary in the big job of contacting speakers. They will meet with Dr. Thomas Bennett for tentative planning and scheduling before the end of the school year.

The biggest job of the Religious Life Council will be to aid in the evaluation of the last Christian Resource week and to start planning next year's religious emphasis week with their findings in mind.

Competition at AWS Auction Nets Money for Scholarship

Competition was high at the AWS Auction on Tuesday as living groups battled it out for Dean Hatfield, 1 a.m. late permissions, and pretty freshmen housegirls.

It seems that there had been some scraping together of loose change, for when the bidding began for the 1 a.m. late pers for one women's living organization the price kept rising until the D.G.'s finally won with a near record bid of $13.25. The highest price this year of $13.75 was paid by the Chi O's for the four singing waiters. Apparently they really wanted those singing waiters from the Sig 12 man chorus.

Another sensation was caused with the appearance of Dean Hatfield and Dave Lewis as prospective houseboys. The bidding was started with the kind offer of a Stevenson button, but the Alpha Chi's eventually were the victors.

The eight Sunday suppers cooked by Dean Ewalt were quickly snatched as were the services of many freshmen housegirls.

With the kind aid of these people plus the fine dinner entertainment and dancing and tennis lessons which were sold, the AWS seems well on its way to the $100 scholarship goal it has set.

Conference Track Meet at Stadium Saturday

First Place Honors Picked for Lewis and Clark, Whitman

Saturday afternoon marks the opening of the annual Northwest Conference track meet. The scheduled starting time for the meet to be held at McCulloch Stadium is 1:00 for the field events and 1:30 for the running events.

All six members of the conference, Whitman, Willamette, Lewis and Clark, Pacific, Linfield and College of Idaho, will be represented at the meet.

Officials for the big affair Saturday will include Ken Brofy of North Salem as Starter; Jerry Long of Willamette as Head Finish Judge; Dr. George Martin of Willamette as Head Timer and Brazier Small as Head Finish Judge.

Following is a rundown of the different schools entering the meet and the order which they may finish according to their season record and team strength.

Lewis and Clark - The Pioneers seem to have an extremely powerful and well balanced track team this year. They would more than likely be the experts number one choice for first place honors. Even with Caley Cook, one of Lewis and Clark's greatest track athletes, gone this year, the Pioneers have a good man in each one of the running and field events. Leading the strong Pioneers will be big John Martin, the defending champ in the shot put.

Whitman - Whitman seems to be a probable choice for second. It should be a close race for second between Whitman, Willamette, Linfield and Pacific. With Ed Parrot, a defending champ from last year, entered in several distance events and a few other outstanding names to balance out the squad, Whitman stands as good a chance as anyone for top honors.

Willamette - Willamette doesn't appear to be as strong as they were last year. They should however be in the top three with the top performances of Dale Hartman and Dean Benson, defending champ in the hurdle events. Willamette seems to lack the depth to really be a threat to L-C.

Pacific - The Badgers are probably the dark horse of the meet. Whitman, Lewis and Clark and Willamette all seem to look stronger on paper, but the Whits have enough first place performers to make first place a possibility. With Bob Gayatas in the running events and Don Adams in the field, Pacific will be a real threat to the rest of the field.

Linfield - Linfield, like Whitman, is another dark horse. They don't seem to possess the strength that Pacific does, however, although they have the same possibilities the Badgers do. With a little help from some of the running events the Wildcats could go a long way.

College of Idaho - Not too much is known about the Coyotes. They never have been a strong contender in the NWC meet in recent years, although they probably stand a better than even chance in what appears to be a very close race this year.

Six to Defend NWC Crowns

Six defending champs will be competing to hold on to their crowns when the Northwest Conference track meet gets underway Saturday afternoon at McCulloch stadium.

Willamette's Dean Benson holds the championship in both the 220 lows and the 120 highs. Benson has been timed at 14.2 in the highs and 23.8 in the lows for the conference course.

Other conference champs in their respective events are: Gary Fowler of Whitman in the 440; Bob Gayatas of Pacific in the 100; John Martin of Lewis and Clark in the shoe, and Dan French of Pacific in the javelin.

The events stack up with the top threats opening in the mile with Dale Hartman of Willamette and Bob Mitchell of Lewis and Clark. Hartmann holds the school record of 4:26.6 in that event. In the 880 Hartman again and L-C's Lynn Roumagnox. In the two mile, that event finds Bob Mitchell of the Pioneers and Whitman's Ed Parrot the top threats. Mitchell runs the long distance in 10:05.

In the sprints defending champ Bob Gayatas will be pushed hard by L-C's Rish Neal and Sid Tate in the 220 will have a whole host along with him, including Lewis and Clark's Pete Hopkins and Rich Neal and Pacific's Bob Gayatas. All four of them run the 220 around 22.5. In the 440 defending champ Gary Fowler will be pressed hard by the Pioneer's Jack Abdie and Whitman's Don Poe.

Discus men will be Loren Michelson of L-C and Willamette's Dale Greenlee. The javelin will have champ Joe Boutin, Vince Hienrich and Dan French, who all throw the spear around 180.

Tennis, Badminton Open Play; Softball Swings Into Action

Intramural sports head down the home stretch with all teams from the living organizations straining for the annual trophy.

Last week the tennis and badminton double elimination tournaments got underway with four sets played in tennis and six in badminton. Softball was scheduled to get underway Wednesday, but no results were available at the college at press time.

In tennis action the SAE's and the Phi Deltas opened league play with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon netters dropping the Phis 2-1. The SAE's next dropped the Baxter hall team as they continued along their winning way.

In the other half of the tournament, Beta dumped the Law School 2-1 in a toughie. The Betas were soon dropped by Sigma Chi who had drawn a bye. Both the Sigs and the boys from the southeast corner of Baxter hall stand at the top of the league with no losses.

Baxter, Beta, Phi Delta Theta and the Law School have now all lost one game, but can come back to take the tournament via the losers bracket.

In the Badminton side of Intramural play, Beta and the Phi Deltas started out with a bang as they topped Baxter and SAE in respective meetings 3-0. This action took place Tuesday night.

Wednesday night Sigma Chi, Law School, Beta and Baxter took to the floor of the gym. The Sigs continued in the pattern set the night before as they topped Law School 2-1 and Beta came back to duplicate their feat of Tuesday with a 3-0 win over Baxter.

In Thursday nights action, Sigma Chi again won as they stopped SAE for their second straight meeting 2-1. The Phis finally had their one match winning streak snapped as they dropped a closey to the Law School 2-1.

The schedule in Badminton for next week is as follows: Tuesday night, Beta vs. Phis, SAE vs. Law; Wednesday night, Baxter vs. Sigs, SAE vs. Phi Deltas; Thursday night, Beta vs. Sigs, Baxter vs. Law School.

Lewismen Split With Pioneers

The Willamette University Bearcats and the Lewis and Clark Pioneers closed out their 1956 Northwest Conference baseball season last Saturday afternoon, as they split a doubleheader. The Pioneers won the first game by a 3-2 score and the Bearcats nabbed the second one 2 to 1.

Both clubs collected four hits in each game and each club produced the winning runs in the late innings. The Pioneers scored two runs in the sixth inning to win the opening game and the Bearcats scored two runs in the last of the seventh for their win.

Gary Stickleley doubled home Lewis and Clark's first run in the second frame and the Pioneers added the next two runs in the first of the sixth inning.

In the second of the two seven-inning games, the Pioneers scored in the third frame and then the Bearcats tallied twice in the last inning after two were out.

Brad Lucas and Terry Ziegelman walked, Tom Moore singled to bring home Lucas and Frank Caruso drove another long single to score Ziegelman. Lucas was the winning Bearcat pitcher.

Netters Close To PU Victory

It was a touch and go situation for the Portland University tennis squad and the Willamette Bearcats last Saturday, as the Pilots had to push hard to run their win streak to 80 consecutive victories despite the determined efforts of the Jasons strong net team that forced two matches into extra play before bowing 4-3 in the afternoon play.

For the Bearcats it was defeat number four for the year. All of their defeats being at the hands of the Pilots (two games) and the Oregon State Beavers (two games).

L-C Crushes Jason Harriers

Willamette traveled to Lewis and Clark's Griswold stadium and got thrashed at the hands of the Pioneers 91-40 last Saturday afternoon.

The meet, a more or less warmup affair before the Northwest Conference track meet here in Salem this weekend, found six new records being set.

Dean Benson nabbed the lion's share of record ribbons as he skipped his way to victories in the 120 yard highs and the 220 lows. Benson, pressed by L-C's Clarence Duke, placed a 14.2 in the highs and a 24.4 in the lows. Benson's new record was one second faster than the old record of 15.1 set almost three years ago.

Dale Hartman also set a new record for the dual meet in the mile and the Pioneers Jack Abdie broke the old mark in the 440. Hartmann ran the mile course in 4:26.2 to better the old mark set by Radar Heller of Lewis and Clark in 1952. Abdie broke Francis Cox' record set in 1949 with a swift 51.3.

Lewis and Clark nabbed the last two records of the day with big John Martin breaking Willamette's Jim Hitchman's mark in the shot with a heave of 46 feet 1 1/2 inches. The Pioneers relay team set the last mark with a 3:30.6.

JO ANN BENARD

Dave Johnson was elected president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in voting last week. Tom Murdock will serve as vice president while Darr Johnson will be recorder. Other officers include Steve Nason, treasurer; Don Blensly, warden;

Jim Layport, chronicler; Dick Simpson, correspondent; Art Christianson, herald; Jim Fiske, chaplain; and Dale Hartman, publications manager.

After a torrid tennis match on Tuesday afternoon Bob Joseph bested Dave Finlay for the first in a series of "grudge" matches. Finlay then ate dinner at the Sigma Chi house where he delivered a speech on the merits of Sigma Chi. A badminton match is to follow in the near future. Finlay was heard to remark that evening, "Now I know I'm a has-been!"

Varsity Ball pictures can be picked up at the student body office, according to photographer Dick Artz. The pictures are $1.50 for two, or 75 cents apiece.

Jo Ann Benard was named Coed of the Month by the AWS council in a recent vote. Miss Benard was selected for her leadership in campus activities, particularly in the office of secretary of the student body.

The May Coed is a senior biology major and was Freshman Glee secretary in 1953. She has served on the Student Affairs committee and was recently nominated by the Council along with two other students for the Colonel Percy Willis prize. She is noted for her cold efficiency. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Benard will be presented with a gold cup in convocation on Tuesday.

Visitors last weekend on campus included Pat Gentle, 1955 graduate and Dave Barrows, distinguished member of the class of '57. Miss Gentle, who is now a probation officer in Yreka, California, spent the weekend visiting with her Pi Phi sorority sisters and especially Julie Mellor, Willamette's director of information. Barrows, former Mock Convention manager, arrived for that event.

Semester's Last House Dances Are Baxter, Betas, SAE, Phi Delts, and Sigma Chi

Half the campus will migrate to the coast this Sunday after a busy weekend of five men's house dances. Beta Theta Pi and Baxter Hall will hold their dances this evening, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi have planned their festivities for tomorrow night.

A side entrance resembling the door to a speak-easy will lead SAEs and their dates to "Hijackers' Hideout," tomorrow evening from 8 o'clock until 11:30 p.m., in the basement of the Crystal Gardens by the swimming pool, according to Max Folsom, general chairman.

Suitable costume for the prohibition and roaring '20s atmosphere will be gangster and gun moll outfits. Landscape murals will be used by the decorations committee. Music will be played by the Blue Notes.

Steve Nason designed the programs which have covers resembling a speakeasy doorway, complete with peephole. Punch and cookies of clubs, spades, hearts, and diamonds will be served by Willard Bunney's committee.

Chaperones are Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Gravatt and Prof. and Mrs. Robert Putnam. Honored guests are President and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dean and Mrs. Robert Gregg, Dean Mark Hatfield, and Dean Regina Ewalt.

Lincoln Beach is the site chosen for the SAE's beach trip Sunday.

PRECEDING THE Sigma Chi house dance tomorrow evening, a Swiss fondue dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion club. Don Sommer is chairman for the dinner which is planned around a Bohemian atmosphere.

The costume dance will be held at the chapter house from 9 to 12 o'clock, where the theme will be "Abstraction." Dick Brockway is general chairman for the evening and a Portland combo will play for the evening.

Appropriate costumes may be impressionistic, futuristic, or modernistic.

Tom Holland is responsible for the decorations of mobiles and altered shapes of rooms and doorways. Bob Joseph is in charge of programs which will carry out the theme.

Black punch and "abstract" doughnuts will be served by the refreshments committee which is headed by Bill Seawell.

Invitations were sent by Jim Wells to honored guests President and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dean and Mrs. Robert D. Gregg, Dean Mark Hatfield and Dean Regina Ewalt. Chaperones include Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mader, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gatke, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Schultze, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Trueblood.

The Sigma Chis will travel to Neskowin on Sunday.

AN AIR OF mystery envelopes the theme of the Phi Delta Theta house dance as members have pledged themselves to secrecy until the night of the dance. A steak dinner will precede the dance, planned for tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the American Legion hall.

Gerry Ackerson, general chairman for the event has planned the program and the menu. Don Bunse has planned the art work entailed in the decorations, while Duane Baird heads the construction crew.

A trip to Seaside is planned by the Phi Delts on Sunday where they will make the home of Pete Leveton headquarters for the day.

"BLUES IN THE NIGHT" is the theme for Beta Theta Pi's annual spring formal, which will be held this evening in the chapter house. A buffet dinner, planned by Bill Freeman, will precede the dance at 6:30 p.m.

Decorations, planned by co-chairmen Carlyle Johnson and George Hoyt, will be designed to give a spring-like effect and will be enhanced by blue lighting.

Bill Weaver has invited Sgt. Robert Hartman, Dr. and Mrs. Noel Koestner, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Runkel to be chaperones for the evening and honored guests will include President and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dean and Mrs. Robert Gregg, Dean Mark O. Hatfield, and Dean Regina Ewalt.

The Betas are also planning a beach trip on Sunday.

"ISLE OF CAPRI" is the theme of Baxter Hall's formal dance to be held this evening from 8:30 until 11:30, announces Don Klindworth, general chairman. Wayne Meusey's combo will provide the music.

Decorations by Frank Dobbins include a blue grotto cave, a lobby scene, and a street scene. Capri blue is the predominating color.

Colored fish net covers the programs which were also designed by Frank Dobbins. Punch and pizza are the choices of the refreshments committee headed by Ed Manley.

Invitations were sent by Walt Dauber to the honored guests and chaperones, Dean and Mrs. Robert D. Gregg and Dean Regina Ewalt are the honored guests, while chaperones are Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Lovell and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grattain.

The men of Baxter Hall and their dates will travel to Nelscott on Sunday.

Province Selects Ron Butler Most Outstanding Sigma Chi

Ron Butler, senior psychology major, was named outstanding senior member of Sigma Chi in his province this week. He will compete with 23 other senior members of Sigma Chi, all province winners, for the Balfour award, the highest undergraduate honor given in the fraternity.

Requisites for the Balfour award include scholarship, personality, fraternity service, and student activities. Upon the basis of recommendations and a chapter report, the Balfour winner will be selected and honored at the fraternity workshop in August at DePauw University. This award was originated by fraternity jeweler, L. G. Balfour, an alumnus of Sigma Chi.

President of his fraternity, Butler also was a member of Psi Chi, Omicron Delta Kappa, was on the tennis team four years and won the conference doubles for two years. He played A.A.U. basketball for three years, and he appeared in Varsity Varieties, the campus talent show.

The last Willamette chapter senior to win the province award was Sherman Bliss, '52, who was runner-up to the national winner.

Landrud Accepts Scholarship

Stanford University has awarded a graduate assistantship in counseling to senior Lorraine Landrud.

As a resident assistant, Miss Landrud will participate in an in-service training program in counseling and administrative work along with 17 other women throughout the United States.

Besides taking courses in counseling, Miss Landrud will work toward her master's degree in education with specialization in the elementary field.

While at Willamette Miss Landrud was president of Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary, Homecoming Hostess, Unesco president and a member of the May Court. Her sorority is Delta Gamma.

Roberts Given Estarl Award

Arla Roberts has been awarded the Estarl award, presented annually by the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of Oregon.

The scholarship, based on high grades, need, and the plan to enter a church related vocation, carries a stipend of $500.

Miss Roberts, who will accept the scholarship at the Grand session at the Shrine Auditorium on June 6, is a Willamette freshman honor scholarship recipient from Sweet Home.

Article Printed In Quarterly

Featured in the spring issue of "Social Science," quarterly publication of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary, is an article on education by Dr. Kenneth Lottick, professor of education at Willamette University, entitled "New England Leadership in Ohio Educational Legislation."

The same issue of Social Science mentions senior Joann Pym of Seattle, one of six Pi Gamma Mu scholarship winners, who will use her stipend to attend the graduate school of social work at the University of Washington.

Dr. Chester Kaiser, professor of history, was appointed deputy of the fraternity and will install chapters and initiate new members in the Oregon area.

Wono Lee Gets $4000 Grant

Wono Lee, exchange student from Seoul, Korea, received a telegram Tuesday telling him that he has won a 21-month $4,000 fellowship to the University of Michigan School of Journalism. The wire was sent by Dr. Westley H. Maurer, chairman of the department of journalism, at the Ann Arbor, Michigan university.

The fellowship awarded annually by the University Press Club to a promising foreign exchange student interested in furthering his education in the field of journalism. It will enable Lee to spend his first year in classroom study of journalism and social sciences and the second year he will serve an internship working with various newspapers in the state of Michigan.

Lee received his first taste of journalism during the Korea Police action when he acted as an interpreter, secretary, and investigator for the United Nations troops while working as an assistant press secretary to president Sygman Rhee.

He attended two colleges in Korea, Honik College and Chosen Christian University, before coming to Willamette a year and a half ago.

Full Insurance Available Now

Full insurance coverage will be available for the summer months. Graduating seniors are also eligible for coverage. Summer insurance will cost $5.00, and will run from June 5 to September 17.

UW Visitor Expected Here

Mrs. Robert Pittman, Panhellenic advisor at the University of Washington, will be on campus May 26 to confer with Panhellenic delegates about setting up a new quota-limitation system for Fall Rush next year.

Mrs. Pittman has been instrumental in planning similar systems for other colleges and has consented to help Willamette with its new Rush system, according to Margi Wood, Panhellenic president.

The new system will entail the gathering of statistics from a five-year period to use as reference when setting up the number of pledges each house may take next Fall. The quota-limitation plan is based on the number of rejections each house has over a five-year period, plus the number of returning members.

Coffee Clique Set for May 26

Annual coffee clique sponsored by the Willamette Valley Panhellenic Association is scheduled for May 26 at the home of President Smith.

Attending the clique will be a representatives from each women's fraternity on campus and the Panhellenic president and representative. Women from the sororities at Oregon and Oregon State will also be present at this party to familiarize graduating senior women with college life and sorority living.

Honored guest of the clique is Mrs. Robert Pittman, Panhellenic advisor from the University of Washington.

Display Features Metal Work By Oregon Artist, Tom Hardy

Metal work creations of animal subjects in mass and minute detail by Tom Hardy, Oregon metal sculptor, will be on exhibit in the art gallery in the Fine Arts Building through June 3.

Mr. Hardy's choice of animal subject matter reveals the influence of his childhood on a farm near Redmond, Oregon. One of his sculpture objects titled "Heifer" is made up of planes of metal, the lines of which are formed by areas of wire, curved just as it came off the coils.

Hardy's use of analytical perception and sensitive treatment of subject matter are revealed in the moving planes and decorative forms of animal replicas.

Tom Hardy graduated from the University of Oregon in 1942 and received his master's degree in art in 1951, working chiefly on metal sculpture. He now teaches in the University extension department and conducts a weekly art class at Coos Bay.

Fellowships Offered Now

Fellowships given by a private donor are available to graduate students for study or research in Spain, it was announced by the Institute of International Education. The fellowships are for the academic year of 1956-1957.

Candidates must be United States citizens under 30 years of age. They must also possess a bachelor's degree by the time of departure, have a good knowledge of Spanish, have good moral character, personality and adaptability, good health, and ability to provide for any dependents.

Applications may be obtained from the Institute of International Education, U. S. Student Department, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

M&F Job Open

One place is open on the college board of the Meier and Frank Company of Salem. Anyone interested in applying for the job should contact Dean Ewalt personally.

Position Taken By Patterson

Jerry Patterson, senior mathematics and physics major, has accepted a position in the research departments of North American Aviation Company in Los Angeles after graduation.

Concentrating mainly on research, development, and testing of rocket engines and jet planes, Patterson is the third Willamette graduate in two years to be interviewed and hired by the aviation company. Last year Ray Crittenden and Farrell Winkelblack, both of Salem, also joined the staff in the research department.
