Y. M. C. A. HAVE BIG STAG MIX

Men Given "Warm" Hand Speeches and Talks

Students' Activities Presented by Representative Men

Were you there? If not, you missed a good lively time. Nearly a hundred men present and fully one-third of this number were new men.

During the early part of the evening everyone joined in playing good lively games under the direction of Schramm and the new men were given the "warm" hand. Later they formed in a large circle and listened to short talks from representatives of the various student enterprises. Gilkey acting as "toastmaster."

Blackwell, as captain of the football team, made a good talk, urging all football enthusiasts to turn out on the field and contribute their share in making football a success this season.

Following this Schramm made some spicy remarks on basket ball, urging the men to give it their hearty support and cooperation.

Hollingsworth spoke on bass ball telling of past achievements, such as the victory over Multnomah.

Mills made an enthusiastic talk in the interests of track.

St. Pierre and Shepherd each made a strong talk for "The Collegian." "The Collegian" is going to be a live wire in the University this year, and every student should lend it hearty support.

The Campus Improvement Association was ably represented by Flegel. Attention was called to the fact that every man is eligible to membership, and that once a member always a member.

Coach Sweetland delivered one of his characteristic speeches, urging more of the fellows to turn out for football.

Oakes gave one of his good, rousing talks in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. The Association is not for a few men in the school, but for all who have at heart the interest of Willamette University and Christian education in general.

The closing talk by Pres. Homan impressed all the men with the fact that he is in thorough sympathy with all student enterprises. He praised especially the work which Coach Sweetland has accomplished in athletics.

The evening was concluded by serving refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cookies and apples.

Credit for the success of the stag was largely due to Smith, as chairman of the social committee, and his Freshmen helpers.

FRESHMEN CHOOSE YELL.

The other day a Sophomore was wandering around the Campus trying to keep things in running order, when just around the corner he heard a shrill, pretty, boyish voice emerging from a green suit and exclaiming, "Now, fellows, all together; let's make this yell sound big:

Rah! Rah! Rah
Ma! Ma! Ma!
Pa! Pa! Pa!
H-E-L-P!"

Weeding Out.

The college loafer is oftentimes—in fact in most cases—a very likable fellow. He is the type of youth so numerous in many of our colleges and universities a few years ago—the lad who came to college for fun. He forgot that the college wasn't a country club. But his day is gone; he is being weeded from the colleges all over the country.—Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, of Chicago University.

OLD FOOTBALL STARS ARE BACK

THE GAME TODAY WILL BE A HARD FOUGHT CONTEST—ALUMNI MEAN BUSINESS

Roder and McKnight Play Against Varsity—Formidable Array of Officers Chosen for Protection of Alumni—Last Year's Defeat May Be Retrieved

This afternoon, Friday, at 3:30, is pulled off the first big football game of the season—the Varsity vs. Alumni. It promises to be an interesting game. Last year the Varsity put it over the "old" boys, score being 10-0. However, the Alumni have been working hard and are anxious to retrieve last year's defeat, so the Varsity will have to work hard if they repeat the victory of last year. Burgess Ford, '05, who has been assisting in the arrangements for the game, says they have a team which will make it hard for the boys to gain an inch.

As usual Dr. Sweetland is very dubious over the prospects for the University. He says the team has not yet buckled down like they should. He will not definitely announce the lineup until just before the game.

Center—Turner.
Right tackle—Pollard.
Quarterback—Miller.
Right halfbacks—Long and Ford.
Fullback—Rader.

For their protection and to guarantee fair play, the Alumni have chosen a formidable array of officers:

PHILODORIAN ELECT OFFICERS.

With a spirit and enthusiasm second to none, the Philodorian Society opened its initial meeting of the year, and elected officers on Wednesday evening, September 27. Many of the old members had not as yet returned to school, and their absence was keenly felt, but in spite of the depleted membership the meeting was conducted in true Philodorian style, with ginger and oratory to spare. As the meeting progressed, the onslaught of the gladiators of debate became so fierce that the atmosphere was in a state of violent agitation, while the fiery eloquence of the orators raised the temperature to an unprecedented height. When the last office had been filled and the smoke of battle cleared away, it was found that the society had entrusted its destiny for the ensuing term to the following officers:

President, Geo. T. Wilson; vice president, Frank O'Connor; secretary, H. C. Harter; assistant secretary, Geo. Winslow; treasurer, Geo. Van Devert; counsellor at law, Glenn Wells; sergeant at arms, Murten DeLong; reporter, Ray Smith.

This was but one round of the evening's entertainment.

The second opened with the impeachment of Mr. O'Connor on the charge of having usurped the office of temporary chairman early in the meeting. This was a signal for a renewal of hostilities, and those present enjoyed the treat of a genuine parliamentary war with all the spice and trimmings. After much maneuvering, the enemies of the impeachment succeeded in having all action postponed and Mr. O'Connor restored to the confidence of the society.

To the new students of Willamette, the Philodorian Society extends a hearty welcome and an invitation to attend its meetings. To those who are seeking practical training along literary lines and who are desirous of a good society home during their college course, the Philodorians will be glad to receive any such into membership.

Philodorians Make Debut

Suppose a Philodorian lady. You were, and your morals shady—Not a bit—but that to advertise. It seemed somewhat necessary, if you told a tale so very killing, would you just die of surprise?

Oh, maybe not; neither would I. But the fact is, now's the time to tell everything that's diplomatic about your literary society, and tell it quick. To be very plain, we're "talking" for the Philodorians of Willamette University. This worthy society, composed of representatives of the feminine persuasion of W. U., has for some years been actively engaged in literary work and, Providence and the Adelantes willing, confidently expects to continue so indefinitely. We have announced our platform, which is to develop literary powers, spread knowledge and encourage the social spirit, every time we have been asked and possibly a few times besides. We haven't announced it from the house top exactly, but we have gotten us far as the third floor of the Chapel building, where we have our halls. And we do most cordially invite the new girls to visit us there at their earliest opportunity or convenience. Once you have visited us, as it is gently pointed out to you at that dreadful place, the picture show, "if you like it, tell your friends; if you don't, tell us."

Last Friday occurred the first regular business meeting of the year. The attendance was good, and interest grew so warm that President Bradley found it necessary to have the sergeant at arms shut off the furnace heat.

Lastly, forget that in your infancy you were requested to "Watch Tacoma Grow." You can find something nearer home.

Improvement Association.

The Campus Improvement Association of Willamette University was brought before the attention of the students again this year at chapel, Monday morning, with brief remarks by Dr. Homan and A. F. Flegel, Jr. It was remarked by the Dr. that once a member always a member—membership is for life.

Dr. Homan spoke very highly concerning the work done last year, and said that the trustees needed but to be shown the work done by the students themselves, to decide unanimously to enlarge and improve the Gymnasium for this year. And along this line Dr. Sweetland told how one of the prominent business men of Salem had donated the material for building another much needed grandstand, in recognition of the splendid work done by the students themselves. He spoke briefly of the work done, for the benefit of the new students, telling how the track had been widened and topped with clay and carefully drained, how the football field had been given a good slope for drainage and subdrained with several thousand feet of tiling, and how the baseball field had been built in the east end of the field, being filled in where the field had been very low.

The Association asks that every man donate two hours per week for work on the field or in the stadium, or wherever there is need of such work. Every student can do this and the new Freshmen and Preps are expected to get in line, along with the old students.

In the near future a list of the members and of the non-members will be printed in "The Collegian."

HALF MILLION DOLLARS IN SIGHT

ALUMNI, OLD STUDENTS AND FRIENDS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF THE PIONEER INSTITUTION

Height of Enthusiasm Reached at Big Banquet in University Stadium—Victory Was Keynote of Many Speeches Made—Salem Citizens Loyal to Old Willamette

Endowment Campaign Creating Great Interest

Mr. Burgess Ford, the president of the Alumni Association, has just finished sending out the second series of letters to the members of the Alumni Association of Willamette University in regard to the raising of the $550,000 which, when raised, will give Willamette an endowment of $500,000 and a new building to cost not less than $50,000. Mr. Ford is a loyal supporter of Willamette, and his work among the members of the Alumni Association is arousing great interest, and they are responding in a splendid manner to his appeal to help put the "Old School" on a sure and firm foundation. Some of the members of this association believe that the alumni of the school should contribute $50,000 of the whole amount of this endowment and the way in which they are responding looks as though they were starting in to do this very thing.

The members of the Alumni Association believe that they owe it to the school to do this as they are debtors for their education to those who have stood behind the "Old School" while they were receiving their instruction in her halls. And then they realize that to raise this endowment means that they will have a diploma from a school which has a world standing. It means that their Alma Mater will be recognized everywhere, the world over, as a school which is entirely up-to-date and capable of meeting the severest tests which the modern standards of education can make upon it.

This desire to help in this great undertaking is not limited merely to the graduates of the College of Liberal Arts, but is general among the alumni of the several colleges; the deans of these schools realize that the standing of the affiliated colleges must rise or fall with the College of Liberal Arts, hence their great effort to see this battle speedily won.

The condition of the campaign is at present as follows:

Mr. R. A. Booth has offered	$100,000.00
Mr. James J. Hill has offered	50,000.00
These amounts are offered on condition that an additional sum be raised, amounting to	275,000.00
Of this amount there has been secured	80,000.00

Total amount yet to be raised

When this total amount has been raised it will, with the present, productive endowment, bring the grand total up to $550,000.00 of which $50,000.00 will be used in building another much-needed building. It would no doubt be of interest to all to know how the members of the Alumni Association have responded to this appeal; the following is a list of those who have subscribed up to this time, and the amounts which they have subscribed:

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Moores	$1000.00
Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves	1000.00
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Albert (Mrs. Albert is an alumna)	1000.00
W. T. Rigdon	1000.00
R. J. Hendricks (an old student)	1000.00
Westly W. Beckley, an alumnus, has joined with his father and brother in giving	1000.00
George F. Rogers	500.00
Fatton Brothers (old students)	250.00
Dr. W. H. Byrd	500.00
L. McNary (whose wife is an alumna)	500.00
Wm. Brown (whose wife is an alumna)	500.00
Dr. J. O. Van Winkle	200.00
I. H. Van Winkle	250.00
Mrs. Mary E. Reynolds	350.00
Lloyd Reynolds	250.00
Burgess Ford	250.00

As yet, very few of the alumni have had an opportunity of making a subscription to this fund; those who have been seen have been anxious to make a subscription and have subscribed very liberally, as the foregoing statement shows. Many of those who have not been seen yet are getting ready to get in on this, and before many days roll around will no doubt have their names affixed to the roll of honor. Many have expressed it as their opinion that this campaign can not fail for the simple reason that the rich and influential alumni of the University will not allow it to fail.

Perhaps the crisis of the campaign was reached, and passed on a wave of enthusiasm, at the great banquet given by the friends of the University to the citizens of Salem and to the visiting members of the Oregon Annual Conference and the Laymen's Association of the Methodist Church on the night of September 22, in the University Stadium on the campus. It was surely a great banquet; eight hundred and fifty people sat down to tables which were fairly groaning with good things. Enthusiasm ran high. Many were the speakers and the fine things said; so many, indeed that to mention them in this short article is impossible. Suffice it to say that the prevailing note was one of triumph; every speaker's message fairly tingled with the spirit of victory. Out from that meeting went forth people into every part of this state to carry the enthusiasm and to do earnest, solid work for the success of the campaign. There is no doubt that we will win. We must win; we will win.

FACULTY HAS BEEN ENLARGED

New Heads for English and Modern Language Depts.

Miss Magner Succeeds Mrs. Fuller in Art Department

Prof. Biddle, our new teacher of English and Literature, is a graduate of Northwestern University. He is exceptionally well qualified for his work, as he majored in English at the Northwestern University, and later had graduate work in the University of Chicago. Professor Biddle will also give instruction in oratory; he is a graduate of the Cummock School of Oratory.

Prof. Walsh, teacher of modern languages, is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and has studied in the German universities for two years. He has had wide experience in teaching the modern languages and is an enthusiast in his work.

Miss Chappel, matron of Lausanne Hall received her degree from Northwestern University. Her personality and experience fit her well for this position. She will also teach in the Academy.

Miss Magner, the instructor in art, began her work in the Minneapolis School of Fine Arts under Prof. Koehler. She then studied under the well known art critic Wm. M. Chase of the New York School of Art. After this she pursued her studies abroad under Mr. Henrlan, artist of international fame. Miss Magner has exhibited her work in the leading art societies of the nation, having a membership in the New York Academy of Design and the Philadelphia Art Society. Miss Magner is optimistic over the prospects for art in western scenery and life.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS POOR

Dr. Sweetland Discouraged With the Present Outlook.

Coach Says the Members of the Team Are Over-Confident.

"With three of our strong men gone and with no experienced men in the new material, we stand a very poor chance of keeping up the football record made last year," says Dr. Sweetland, the Varsity athletic director. Continuing, he says, "We have had a pretty good number of new men out, but with very few exceptions they are raw and green, and fall far short of filling the places left vacant by Rader, McKnight and McMechan. Practice has gone exceedingly slow, and unless there is a decided change from the present outlook, there will be some large scores run up against the University this season."

Dr. Sweetland seems to be very discouraged over football prospects. One criticism he makes very strongly against the old men is their over-confidence. He says there is nothing which betokens certain defeat more clearly than this overconfidence. Discussing the team personally he says not one of the old men, with the possible exception of Booth, the quarterback, is in as good form as he was a year ago. Among the new men Bolt a freshman from Marshfield has made the best showing.

The old men who are back are Blackwell, center and captain of the team; Booth, quarterback; Cummins, halfback; Bellinger and R. Homan, guards; Westley, tackle; Lowe and McRae, ends. The subs of last year are out working hard for a place on the regular team, P. Homan, Rowland and Gibson, as also are Hamilton and Doane, a new man from Ontario, and Curry of La Grande.

McKnight, the big right tackle, another Law graduate, will be greatly missed this year. He is practicing law in Oakland.

Rader, one of the football stars, is on a trip around the world this year, and he plans to enter Princeton next fall.

WALTER ST. PIERRE, Business Manager

We call your attention to the change in style and size of "The Collegian." This new departure is a trial only. If it meets with the approval of the students and readers, we shall continue. We invite your criticism, adverse or otherwise.

We regret very much to announce that the editor-in-chief of "The Collegian," Mr. Robert Shepard, elected last year, has found it impossible to be in school this year, or to take charge of the paper, even for the first issue. It has been left entirely in the hands of the assistants, so necessarily this first issue has not received the careful supervision and attention which it should have had. We trust that all mistakes in this issue will be charitably overlooked.

Well, school is here again and we are glad to see coming with those who are returning to resume their work, many new faces. Those who are familiar here all unite in saying "welcome" to those who are here for the first time. We wish you a happy year's work; we bid you welcome to our Christian Associations, to our Literary Societies, to our Athletics, and in fact, to every phase of student life.

If you feel that we are sincere in our welcome to you, let us say another word to you: Don't fail to let these organizations serve you; you will find the various committees of the Christian Associations ever ready to serve you in any way which is within their power; our Literary Societies are open to your needs along literary lines, and our Athletics are for your recreation and training, and while these are, of course, incidental to your main purpose here, you should remember that no college training is complete without some or all of these things. Again we say "Welcome" to our ranks.

With the resumption of the work of the Literary Societies of the University we feel that an early word on the subject may be expedient. Last year the meeting nights of the societies were changed so that both societies would meet on the same night, with the hope that a common night could and would be protected from other things and held open for this class of work; members of the faculty expressed themselves as being anxious to help in this undertaking; but notwithstanding all this, we were disappointed, for all through the year other things were allowed to interfere with the meetings on this night, and the consequence was that literary work was, to some extent, constantly demoralized; for it is inevitable that some of the members should have divided interests.

Now, we consider that there is no other single department of college life more important than "Literary Society" work. We doubt if there is any single study in our curriculum which is more profitable than a year's work in either of our excellent literary societies; if this is true, this work should be protected and given a chance to be at its best. As far as we know, all of the orators who have represented Willamette University and nearly all of its debaters have been products of our literary societies. This alone ought to cause faculty and students to give this work every possible encouragement and help. There are many colleges where "literary society night" is held sacred for literary purposes; nothing is allowed to take place on that night, which will in any way interfere with the work. Certainly such a standard is not too high for "Willamette"; we hope and expect that this year will prove that it is not too high, and that a new and unprecedented interest in this class of work will be the result of a protected "literary society night."

A WORD FROM THE Y. M. C. A.

Gentlemen, after you have made provision for the intellectual side of your natures by contributing to the running expenses of the school a part of your summer's wages, after you have taken precaution for your health by donning football suits and getting on to the signals, after you have obeyed the promptings of your aesthetical natures by making sundry inspections of Lausanne Hall, there is yet another duty before you have accomplished the best full measure of devotion to yourselves. That, namely, of aligning yourselves with some religious body. In regard to this matter, the College Young Men's Christian Association may well lay claim to your most careful consideration.

The Association stands for the best that can be had in men. It holds for its ideal the well-rounded, representative man who endeavors to walk daily with the lowly Nazarene and who spells the word SERVICE with capital letters. It may have the go-easy, sissy-sissy kind among its members, but it has no desire to display them. That you may better know what is meant by well-rounded, representative men, please to inspect the Association's cabinet members, who they are, what their purposes are, and what they are doing.

You naturally ask and you have a right to ask what the Association's religion is. Its religion is a form of spirituality applied day by day. Its members spell it in a great number of ways, some of which are as follows: By giving you the glad hand when you step off the train; by having an expressman bring around your trunk without asking you to "divy up"; by helping you to find a home; by aiding you to secure a job; in short, by bringing you to know what it means to be helped yourselves, so that in turn you may help others.

The Association is not bucking the churches. It is hopeful that you will also align yourselves with them; but, since your more immediate interests are in the University, the Association is desirous that you stand by it in its effort most effectively to build up Christian manhood in the school.

PRESIDENT HOMAN'S MATRICULATORY ADDRESS,

Thursday, September 28.

President Homan gave some excellent advice in his matriculatory address to the students who were gathered at chapel on Thursday morning.

The President first spoke of the false ideals which are often held by those going to college for the first time; he said some students come to school with an idea that they must "start something" in order to really enjoy their college life; the President said that a college student has no more right to "start something" than any other young man or woman.

Among the false ideals which Dr. Homan said we do not want Willamette students to have are the following: Class wars or hazings in which other people's noses are made public property, and in which other people's property is often made "public property" and accordingly demolished. "A college young man or woman," said the President, "has no more right to destroy property than any one else, and I would take that view of it if I were a policeman."

The President also said that if the Freshmen and the Sophomores had it in their blood so bad that they simply could not get along together, they should each organize a football team and have it out on the gridiron under the supervision of Coach Sweetland.

The President also gave some very excellent advice in regard to the street conduct of the students, and called attention to the fact that the University will be judged largely by the conduct of the students.

Among the true ideals, the President mentioned respect for parents, the ones who are doing so much that we may have the opportunity of being here to get an education; a proper respect for authority and a proper respect for the upper classmen of the University. He said further that this respect of the under classmen should be reciprocated by all, to all. The President spoke at some length on the importance of having high literary ideals and called attention to the fact that the most emphasis in Willamette University is placed upon literary and scholastic ideals.

Our athletic ideals were also mentioned. "Our athletic ideal," said the President, "Is that every young man who engages in athletics shall be a gentleman; that he shall be so much a gentleman that he can give the other fellow a square deal whether he gets a square deal or not." Our athletes to be students and not ringers, was also emphasized by Dr. Homan.

In his summary the President said that Willamette University has just one rule, and that is that our young men and young women shall conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen. He also said that we should try hard to live up to President Foster's estimate of us, who said that he wished Reed Institute, of which he is President, to be an institution of the class of which Willamette University is the type in Oregon.

HOW THE FACULTY MEMBERS SPENT THEIR VACATIONS.

Prof. Von Eschen spent his vacation in Lake County, Oregon, making a special study of Lakes Alert and Summer, in the interests of a large corporation. He also inspected a number of mines and oil fields in Baker, Cal. The company for which he was working wished to retain him in their employ, but his loyalty for Willamette would not permit him to accept their offer.

Prof. Peck spent the first few days at Hood River and in the vicinity of Multnomah Falls, collecting material for the University herbarium. On July 5th, under appointment as agent of the United States Biological Survey, he started on a tour of inspection of the national bird reservations on the coast of Washington.

Prof. Cramer spent considerable time during the summer in visiting churches and attending religious meetings in Eastern Oregon.

Prof. Kirk remained in Salem most of the summer, with the exception of an occasional trip to Portland.

Prof. Matthews taught in the summer school as a part of his vacation. The remainder of the time was spent, he says, wishing for school to commence.

Miss Reynolds spent a very pleasant summer at home.

Dean Patterson was occupied with the office work of the University during the summer, and judging from the number of new students who have registered, it is safe to conclude that his time has been fully occupied.

Dr. Lisle was busy most of the summer with the work of the University library and in making an interesting collection of Indian relics. Notice on the west wall of the library his collection of Indian arrow points.

Pres. Homan and Vice Pres. Todd were boosting Willamette and the endowment fund all summer. The splendid Freshman class enrolled and the large amount of money already promised for the endowment fund, both amply testify that their work has not been in vain.

A blue line through this box means that we are sending you this first issue of the Collegian for your inspection and criticism. If you like the new size and general appearance tell us, if you don't like it tell us anyway. Incidentally, send in your subscription—the manager will appreciate it.

MEDIC NOTES.

The year of 1911 and 1912 promises to be the brightest in the history of the Medical Department of Willamette University.

The school work began Tuesday the 3d, and at that time over thirty Freshmen had registered. Last year the entire enrollment of the school was fifty-four. This year it bids fair to reach the eighty mark.

Last year the Senior class numbered only three. This year there are twelve hopefuls in the ranks.

The Faculty of the school is made up of the leading physicians of Salem. Dr. Thompson takes the place of Dr. Boyer as professor of chemistry; otherwise the Faculty is the same.

Dr. A. A. Soule, '11, is practicing at Central Point, Oregon.

Dr. P. W. Byrd, '11, is at the St. Vincent Hospital in Portland.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

From the first breath of life till the voice is hushed by the Angel of Death we are expected to observe, not only the laws of Nature and the Divine laws, but also we are subjected to the laws of man, or rules of human conduct. If in a municipality, a community or a nation, there must be a code of laws to govern the conduct of its people, there must be also able men, and in accordance with the twentieth century idea of progress and reform, able women at the bar of justice to intercede for their clients and interpret with science and logic, the laws bearing on each particular case.

The Department of Law of W. U. is training young men and young women for that particular work. A survey of the students in that department shows that practically every important section of the Northwest is represented. The Junior class registration is greater than ever, while nearly all of the class of 1912 are making themselves conspicuous about the Campus.

It is well to note that the dean has decided to add to the Senior year an extra study on Domestic Relations, a change which will be appreciated by the benedict lawyers "in embryo," as well as their less fortunate classmates.

While the Juniors are delving into the mystic pages of Blackstone, the Seniors are framing up a case for moot court. The trial will be held in the Circuit Court chamber of the County Court house, where a feigned pathetic criminal will be charged with committing an atrocious crime.

The students of the College of Law desire to cooperate with all departments of the University for the good of the institution. Any assistance, moral or financial, will be cheerfully forthcoming from the "Laws."

PROF. MATTHEWS TO SPEAK.

Next Sunday the Y. M. C. A. will have the great privilege of hearing Prof. Matthews speak. No more interesting and pleasing speaker has the Association been able to secure, and no more profitable meetings have been held in the past than those under his leadership. The subject of this meeting will be "The First Touch-Down."

A special invitation is extended to all new students. There will be good music. In Websterian Halls, October 8, at 3 o'clock.

A casual review of the alumni roll of Willamette University by one not well posted on the history of the school, would probably bring a number of surprises at some of the names found there—not that the connection is inconsistent, but because the names found had probably never been thought of as associated with the University. Such a review would reveal no inconsiderable number of names closely allied with the development of the Northwest, past and present. In fact, no other college of this section can present a list which will at all compare with that of Willamette's notable graduates, and it is impossible to estimate the influence of this school on the history of this territory.

From out of the College of Liberal Arts have gone men who have risen to the first rank in all the professions and if to these be added the graduates of her professional departments, the number of graduates attaining success in the professions will be considerably swelled.

What school would not be proud to acknowledge as graduates such eminent journalists as Edgar B. Piper, editor of the "Oregonian," the outstanding newspaper of the Northwest, and B. Frank Irvine, the blind editor of that other great Portland paper, the "Oregon Journal," or what school would not gladly claim that most musical of western poets, Sam L. Simpson.

In public officials and distinguished citizens Willamette is well represented by such men as Circuit Judge William Galloway, '68, the Hon. C. B. Moores, '70, of Portland, Chief Justice Eakin of the Oregon Supreme Court, Chief Justice Allshie of the Idaho Supreme Court, of '73 and '91 respectively, and Hon. W. C. Hawley, Congressman from Oregon and former President of Willamette University.

The names of successful ministers and teachers are also to be found on Willamette's alumni roll. Among these are Dr. Carroll C. Stratton, '69, for years a prominent minister in the Northwest, and one time President of Willamette; Rev. Stanley O. Royal of Dayton, Ohio; Prof. J. B. Horner of the Oregon Agricultural College; Prof. W. A. Manning of the chair of mathematics at Leland Stanford University, and our own Prof. J. T. Matthews.

Since Willamette has so many alumni of whom she may well be proud, it has seemed highly fitting to "The Collegian" that it should run a series of sketches of the more prominent ones, both that the students of Willamette might be better informed as to the alumni of the school which they are attending, and that the alumni might become more interested in and cemented to the school which gave them their training. To this end the "Collegian" is collecting material for a series of fifteen or twenty sketches to be run at intervals throughout the year. The picking of subjects for these sketches will, of course, involve some arbitrary choice, for the series is not designed to cover every prominent graduate, but only representative ones.

The success of this series will in a large measure depend upon the responses received from those asked for information and from such we request prompt answers, as we have not nearly all of our material at hand.

To the students of the University, we wish to say that the alumni of this school are worthy of attention far beyond the bounds of these sketches. To the alumni, we wish to herald the news of a Greater Willamette, to assure them of our high regard, and to urge them to maintain closer and fuller relations with their Alma Mater.

HOW TO PUT UP A STOVE PIPE.

Putting up a stove pipe is easy enough if you only go at it right. In the morning, breakfast on some light nutritious diet, and drink two cups of coffee; after which put on a suit of old clothes—or new ones if you can get them on time—put on an old pair of buckskin gloves and when everything is ripe for the fatal blow, go and get a good hardware man who understands his business. If this rule be strictly adhered to, the gorgeous eighteen-karat, stem-winding profanity of the present day may be very highly diminished, and the world made better.

Everyone knew that school had really started when Waldo and Ada were seen strolling around the Campus. What would school be without them? But Emma seems lonesome. Why did Paul go to Stanford?

PUBLICITY BUREAU IS NOW ORGANIZED

Will Boost Varsity in Newspapers Thruout State

President Homan and Dr. Todd are working incessantly toward the realization of a greater future for "Old" Willamette. One of the greatest needs of the University is a means of letting the outside world know more of what is going on within its limits. All who come in direct contact with the school and learn to appreciate what is being accomplished express their surprise in the effectiveness of the institution. We are all aware of the great benefits and wonderful opportunities that Willamette extends to all of its students, but there are many outside who have little idea of any of its importance, and there are not a few who hardly know of its existence. This is not a fault of the public but of ourselves. We become energetic and enthusiastic over our own enterprises, and take it for granted that our accomplishments are generally known. Such is not the case, however, and it is necessary that the University in a modest way give itself more fame abroad, and proclaim its achievements with a louder voice, for the people of this age, while willing to listen have not, in general, time to investigate. To accomplish this end a publicity bureau has been organized which will require the cooperation of the entire student body, faculty and friends of the University.

The Willamette University Publicity Bureau is first, last and all the time a boosting organization. Its one aim is the realization of better things for the school. Its work is not to be definite but general, always looking toward the future. At present it is barely organized and it will require time to develop. At the beginning and perhaps for all time its greatest mission is to extend the name and fame of the institution. To do this successfully the school must be progressive, for we can not always talk of the same subjects. Improvements of all kinds in every department of the University will be heralded by the bureau as valuable boosting material.

The bureau also expects to foster personal work among all connected and also will require the cooperation of everyone. Just what is expected of each and everyone will be definitely stated later. It is needless to say that the slogan, "On to Victory!" in the $500,000 endowment campaign now being pushed throughout the state, is one of the fundamental articles in the constitution of this organization.

This bureau has been placed under the able direction of Dr. Sweetland, with Paul Todd, George H. Currey, Jr., F. D. Hawley and H. B. Critchlow as assistants.

Y. M. C. A. "KICK OFF"

Lively Meeting Starts Year Right

On Sunday was held the "Kick-off" meeting for the University Y. M. C. A. About seventy-five men gathered in the Webstorian Halls at 3 p. m.

Mr. J. B. C. Oakes, president of the Association, outlined the trend of thought to be pursued. Both old and new students responded freely and spoke of their summer experience and plans for the future.

A very live interest was displayed, which speaks for an exceptional year in the Association work.

Especially pleasing is the fact that nearly all the new men seem to be determined to cultivate the spirit which is fostered at the Y. M. C. A. meetings.

We extend a cordial invitation to all men from every department to aid in making the Association a beneficial factor in the life of the entire University.

Come out and spend a pleasant hour next Sunday afternoon.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Tuesday morning at Chapel the Student Body held their regular election for the executive committee. The following were elected: Miss Margaret Graham, W. E. St. Pierre, Wilford Booth, Ross McIntyre, Lloyd Westley. These with the officers of the Student Body constitute the Executive Committee, which has general supervision of Student Body affairs.

CUPID BUSY THIS SUMMER

Many Old Willamette Students Succumb

Miss Mae Emmel and Mr. George Forbes were married on June 16, 1911, at the bride's home in Sherwood, Oregon. Both were well known students of Willamette. Miss Emmel graduating in 1909. They are now living at White Salmon, Mr. Forbes occupying a position in the High School of that place.

Miss Atha Dimick and Mr. Winfield Emmel, former students of Willamette, were married on September 10, 1911, at the bride's home in Salem, Oregon. They are living in Salem at present.

The marriage of Miss June Patty to Mr. Roy Shields was solemnized on September 20, 1911, at the bride's home in Amity, Oregon. Miss Patty is a graduate of the Oratorical Department and Mr. Shields of the Law School. The latter is now practicing law in Salem.

Miss Frances Newcomb, a former Willamette student, was married to Mr. Leroy Burdick, early in the summer. We have not been able to learn where they will take up their residence.

On July 12 Hazel Allen of Vancouver, Wash., was married to Daniel Dupertius of Adna, Wash. Miss Allen was a student at Willamette during the year 1907-1908. Since then she has been attending U. P. S. at Tacoma. Mr. Dupertius was a student at the University of Washington last year, and represented that state in the prohibition contest at Los Angeles.

Probably a great many old students will be surprised to learn that Miss Josephine Randall, who was at Willamette 1909-10, and part of last year, and who stayed at Lausanne, is now Mrs. Guy King. Their home will be at Grants Pass.

Altho most of the weddings have been of graduates or of former Willamette students, yet those in our very midst are not immune, as was shown in the case of Milton A. Marcy. Mr. Marcy was married to Miss Nellie Rickson at the bride's home in Sellwood, Oregon, Rev. J. K. Hawkins of the Methodist Episcopal Church officiating. They are now living in Salem while Mr. Marcy is finishing his college work.

Y. W. C. A. Girls Entertained at Chestnut Farm

On Saturday afternoon, September 30, the annual "Chest-Farm Meeting" of the College Y. W. C. A. was held. For many years it has been a custom for the mistress of Chestnut Farm to entertain the members and friends of the Y. W. C. A. The occasion is always a delightful one, for not only does the big old fashioned farmhouse, with its wide windows, easy chairs, and unexpected little corners, breathe home and hospitality, but genial and kindly is the welcome with which one is met. Each lassie was first presented with her own name by the busy secretary, that she might get acquainted with her fellow-visitors the better. "Drop the handkerchief" and "Laugh," two games which appeal peculiarly to Her Ladyship's soul, began the festivities. A pennant prize given for guessing the names of certain Faculty members was won by Miss Ruth Young. Then out on the wide lawn a number of group pictures were taken by Mr. Harter, who, it can safely be said, was the most popular man present. When all the games were over, the entire company was invited to the big porch to eat plums, peaches, apples, nuts and candy.

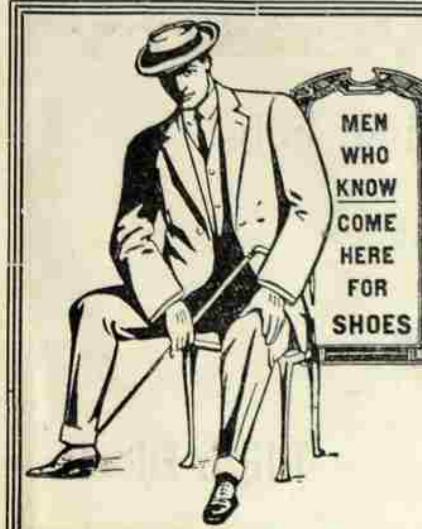

At 5 o'clock out from the low door, down thru the trees and across the grassy spaces, passed again the group of girls, silent this time, and thinking perhaps of the pleasant hours and hearty welcome, at "dear old Chestnut Farm."

EATON CLUB POPULAR.

The Eaton Club, alias "The Starvation Club," alias "The Beanery," alias "The Sign of the Dirty Spoon," started to feed the "animals" last Thursday noon. There is a great change in the membership of last year. We still have a good, jolly crowd, tho.

We wish to congratulate our last year's manager in his matrimonial adventure. We hope that our present manager, Mr. Snider, may be as successful.

Hans Christensen was duly installed as head "hash-slinger"; he will be assisted by Percy Stoute and Will Marsh. Louis Hepp is presiding at the money changers' table. King James, alias "Jimmy," still waves his scepter.

LOCALS.

The position of "manager of basket ball" is vacant on account of the resignation of Manager Zimmerman. Those who desire this position will please send their applications to the Athletic Council in care of the president of the Student Body. These applications should be sent in at once.

Paget, '15, has been appointed assistant manager of football. Paget graduated from Lincoln High School last year, where he held various student body offices. He managed the soccer football team there, and has been making good in his new office here.

There are many changes in Lausanne Hall this fall. Not many of the old girls are back, so not many of the old boys will be seen loitering around. The eight "old" girls who have returned are Jessie Young, Pearl Bradley, Gertrude Reeves, Armored Sutcliffe, Mable Fraley, Ethel Lewton and Ada Mark. However, Emma Loughridge, altho not at the hall last year, is one of the "old" girls. Some of the new Lausanne girls are Lela Heul of Washington High School, Portland; Washington High also sends Ruth Young and Helen Wastell; Edith Lewis comes from Lincoln High; Anna Brice and Lula Hollenbeck come from St. Johns; Ruth Cooper from Underwood, Wash.; Lillian John from Ontario, Oregon; Miss Mahon is from Ridgefield, Idaho; Gertrude Allen from Forest Grove.

This seems to be a bumper year for Liberal Arts Freshmen, there being over 70 already. There are more registered so far than the total enrollment of any year previous. Salem High sends a goodly number this year. Among the arrivals from S. H. S. are Miss Gertrude Eakin, sister of Robert Eakin, '09, who was president of last year's Senior class. Others are Eunice Miller, Valeda Hoxie, Alice Fields, Naomi Runner, Ruth Mitchell, Hulda Beckley, Grace Thompson, Ruth Steiner, Nancy Skaffe and Florence Page. Nor are the boys lacking. Robert Minton, last year president of the Student Body, is at Willamette, as also Paul Smith, one of Salem High's debaters; Paul Manning, Earl Brunk and Harry Savage.

Altho every one has been busy welcoming new students, yet there has been time to notice the absence of some of last year's most popular students. Florence Dunlop is at Stanford this year, staying with her grandmother; she will be greatly missed here, as she was a good booster for Willamette. Mildred Bartholomew, one of last year's most popular Freshmen, is unable to be in school this year; she hopes to be back next year, however. Vivian Grimmels, another of last year's Freshmen, is out of school this year on account of ill health; we hope she will be with us again. Paul Blanchard, one of the prominent varsity fellows for the past two years, is also down at Stanford; we wonder if he can find another Emma down there. Winfred Hopkins is teaching this year; it seems too bad to lose both the Hopkinses at once. Laura Strong is not back this year, either; she is certainly missed by her large circle of friends, and will be a loss to the Ladies' Glee Club.

Someone wondered if it were just a mere coincidence that two of our last year's Sophomores went to Stanford this year. We will have to judge by the conduct of the two left here, probably.

Miss Minnie Chambers, a graduate of Eugene High School, is registered in Liberal Arts here.

Miss Austin, who for the past six years has been a missionary in India, is assistant matron at the girls hall. She is also taking some special work in the University.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS ON VARSITY CAMPUS

Gymnasium Enlarged—Stadium Improved—Cement Walks Put Down

The old students returning to the University are more than pleased at the changed aspect the many improvements have given the Campus. The sum and total of the work done along these lines far exceeds that of the past several years. These improvements seem to be in harmony with the rapid advance of the institution along all lines.

The lawns about the Campus are, as the result of much labor and a considerable expenditure of money, made more beautiful than ever. In the vicinity of Lausanne Hall, along the race and street, a great deal of filling has been put in and leveled. Work has been started upon dismantling the old wood shed to the south of the building, and this will be completed in a few days. Another story of rooms has been added to the girls' dormitory in order to partly accommodate the rapidly increasing number of students.

About the College of Music there have been many changes for the better. All the yards are now graded and smoothed, requiring a great deal of dirt filling, while several hundred feet of new concrete walks complete the beautifying of this corner of the Campus.

A great deal of plumbing and carpenter work has been done in the chapel building, making this more modern in every way.

The Stadium building east of the Gymnasium has been raised and all of the leaning posts straightened and supporting beams to the number of several rows have been put in across the structure. The building is now supplied with gas, water and electric lighting. These changes will serve to aid indoor athletics greatly, and assist the track and base ball teams materially in their training.

The interior of the gymnasium has been given a thorough overhauling, and greatly enlarged; now it contains a full sized basket ball floor in addition to plenty of room for the spectators. The gymnasium annex is already proving of great service. The new locker, dressing and store rooms and big bath rooms are of great satisfaction to the students and friends of the University. The athletic field has been further improved by a continuation of the filling upon the football field.

The expenses for all these improvements have been heavy, but the advantages more than over-balance all expenditures.

GLEE CLUB.

The Varsity Glee Club started very auspiciously last Monday evening, the 2d. Most of the old men were there, and a great deal of important business was transacted with the usual promptness and dispatch. Schramm presided with his accustomed dignity, and Jimmie Oakes, Paul T. Anderson and others made several humorous speeches apiece, each one sparkling and scintillating with native wit and spicy humor. The simple, unaffected manner in which they were delivered fairly captivated the audience, as it were.

Following the business, the club turned its attention to music, and many of the new girls at Lausanne Hall shivered as they heard the vibrating air waves strike the trees and buildings upon the campus. After sufficient damage had been done, the club adjourned en masse to "The Spa" to have a banquet in honor of the "Founder of the Constitution." Each member indulged heartily in a "lemon sour" and felt that the banquet at 50 per had been highly successful.

H. B. Critchlow, who has been associated with the Portland Y. M. C. A. recently, formerly of Dallas College, is here for regular work. Guy Johnson and J. A. Dutro also come from the Portland Y. M. C. A.

R. W. Stearns comes from Iowa. He graduated last year from Webster City H. S.

W. S. Bourne comes from Beatrice, Nebraska.

W. C. Raines is from Seattle, where he attended Adelpia College.

H. C. Bryant is registered as a Junior. He was at Monmouth College, Ill., for two years.

Auta Anderson, a former student and member of the Adelante Society, has returned to school this fall.

RAH! FOR WILLAMETTE

Old Varsity is Better Than Ever

The outlook for Willamette University for 1911 and 1912 is vastly encouraging. During the past years, Willamette has been steadily growing both in power and prestige, and this year promises to be from every standpoint by far the best we have ever known. Just what W. U. has gained throughout the Northwest in the past year is, of course, impossible to determine, but the place which it has made for itself among our Salem people is surely surprising.

Here and there we see battalions of old students charging enthusiastically upon each other. The girls are kept in a continual shiver of uncertainty, wondering whether they ought to shake hands with the old boys, or should just smile rapturously and murmur "How-de-do." The boys invariably unscrew their caps, bucket-lid fashion, and worry with their collars, under the impression that such maneuvers lend them a certain air of poise and balance. But these old students, leal and loyal to Willamette, bring with them the life and energy of the University.

And then the new names and faces—new blood and new ambition, as well as new styles of hair-arrangement. Never before has registration begun so early, continued so heavily and remained so picturesque. Promise of speedy introduction to the three most eligible gentlemen in the U. is a common price for an old girl to offer a new one for her seat in line.

Both as to good looks and numbers the manager reports that the standard of Eaton Club has been perceptibly raised. Lausanne Hall is brimful and a number of applicants have even failed to secure rooms, although the whole third floor has been finished for their accommodation. The plots invented by the Literary Society membership campaigners never before disclosed such intricacy and pure daring. If you see a new man duck suddenly around a corner, change his hat, and double-reverse his smile, know that he discerned, somewhere upon the high seas, a Web or Philodorian under full sail and with guns ready for action, bearing down upon him. The new girls would do the same were it not that they rather enjoy the sensation of being bombarded from both sides at once.

Attendance at classes has been better than the as yet unsettled conditions, due to the heavy registration could require. Another item which presages well for 1911 and 1912 is the prevailing hilarity in which the professors return. In fact, they are all wearing from ear to ear that smile which the advertisements credit only to Pears' Soap and Pabst's Egg Dyes.

And the "new" Gym! Wha-check about that? But in another column is skillfully told what the new gym and all athletics are to accomplish in Willamette this year. You will find that if Mother's Willie has come to college bravely determined to get out and practice with the squad, even though he does skin his little knees and have to spread mending tissue upon his classic forehead, he will be given a chance and encouragement to do so.

Then if out of pure joy, you want to yell again for Willamette, so that the nervous lady on the floor above will collapse upon the air-plant instead of on the clothes-rack, as she had intended, just read elsewhere about the glorious prospects for the Schools of Law, Medicine, Music and Theology.

In order that credit may be given where credit is due, and that the tireless and unselfish labor of certain persons may be fully appreciated a thorough understanding of the splendid financial prospects of the University is necessary.

But remember: This is the year of the "Greater Willamette."

CRITERION LITERARY SOCIETY.

For many years some of the members of the two college literary societies have recognized the fact that, for the good of both college and preparatory students, there should be literary societies for Academy students. Nothing was ever done about it, however, until last year just before the close of school when the Criterion Literary Society of the Oregon Institute was organized by the election of a staff of capable officers; this society is, therefore, ready for business, and will begin work at once. All academy boys are invited to attend the first meetings of this society as visitors, but are more earnestly invited to become members of the same.

ENDOWMENT IS PUSHED

Big Methodist Episcopal Conference Leads Its Support.

The fifty-ninth annual session of the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church closed in this city on the 25th of September. This was a memorable Conference in many ways; the Lay Electoral Conference which elects the delegates to the General Conference, was in session and the Laymen's Association of the Conference had the largest attendance of any session.

Many important items of business were transacted, among which the students will be glad to know, was a very strong resolution endorsing the endowment campaign which is now on in behalf of Willamette University. The members of the Conference who have been responsible for the maintenance of Willamette University through all these years are always worn supporters of Willamette.

Another important action of the Conference was the resolution which was passed asking President Taft to use his influence against Secretary Wilson's acting as honorary president of the brewer's congress which meets in Chicago next month.

ADELPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Adelpian Literary Society will hold its first meeting Friday afternoon, October 6th, at 3:30, in the Chapel, and we most cordially invite all of the new Academy girls to be present. We want to get acquainted, and we don't want you to miss our program. We are sure you'll enjoy at least the last number!

SENIOR LAW DOINGS.

An election of class officers for the ensuing year was held with the following results: Glenn Y. Wells, president; Geo. Hopkins, vice president; Dora Stone, secretary and treasurer; F. N. O'Connor, reporter; Geo. T. Wilson, sergeant-at-arms.

Mosher was a College Boy himself. That's why he knows what College boys want in the line of Clothes.
