Neophytes Start Campus Life with Three Days of Exams and Talks

By EDYTHE GLAISYER

Heigh ho—and a whoop; the Frosh Registration week is over! The Freshman Class of 1936 is here in all its glory, plus some awkwardness and greenness.

The fireworks for them started Thursday morning when a meeting of new students was held in the chapel. In the afternoon they had their first exam. The general attitude test compelled them to file out of the exam room with flushed faces and tired wrists, while they sighed heavily and worried about the next test at 2:45. Judging from the sounds emerging from Eaton Hall after the English exam, it could have been easier. As always, though, there were those students who said that the exam wasn't bad. Then to top the events of Thursday evening, Dean Erickson gave a survey of the curriculum. Thursday evening Dr. Doney had his first appearance before the newcomers when he delivered his address on the "Spirit of Willamette."

Friday morning they all trooped into Eaton Hall for the "never-to-be-forgotten" math test. When they finished, gloomy countenances heralded the fact that the exam had been difficult.

Dean Dahl also welcomed the neophytes on Friday morning with one of her inspiring and humorous talks. Her speech was over all too soon for the Frosh for at 10:15 the "thundering herd" of squeaky brogues filed into Eaton Hall once more and took the final test for the week—the reading test. In the afternoon Dean Dahl and "Spec" Keene took

CHAPIN RETURNS TO VISIT CAMPUS

Leland Chapin, a graduate of W. U. in 1925, visited the campus during freshman week. In addition to his comment that "it was good to be back" and that "the campus looked better than it had for years," Chapin added some interesting information on his work.

After graduating Chapin taught in China for three years and then returned to teach here at Willamette in 1928. Since that time he has been debate coach at Stanford. This year 75 men have turned out for debate there.

Last year, the membership of the squad contained some outstanding people among whom were Roy Lyman Wilbur Jr., son of the Secretary of Interior, and Will Rogers Jr., who, according to Chapin, is an unusually witty speaker, following well in his famous father's footsteps. Two students from England and one from France were also on the squad.

Stanford is instituting the Oxford system of debate whereby there are no debates with other colleges, only debates among the students of the school. Alumni also debate with the present Stanford men.

"COME INTO MY PARLOR" SAYS COLLEGIAN TO HERB

Chicago isn't alone in its battles—in fact, there seems to be a gang war brewing under our very noses. From all indications, rivalry is reaching a critical point, and it will be only a question of time before open warfare may put in an appearance on the campus.

The freshmen don't know it, but last year the Collegian and Wallulal offices were a sight to behold. The plain cement floors were well carpeted with scuffed papers, mud, and clippings; the walls were streaked and initialed and monogrammed; the ceilings were a non-describable shade of dusty gray; and the windows turned blank faces to the campus, boasting no adornment save a liberal freckling of mud. The radi-

Success Attained By Choir in 2500 Mile Trip

With parting not a little saddened by tears, an exultant chorus was the Philharmonic Choir when the "gang" broke up after the final concert in Portland, July 17. A wholly successful tour of 2500 miles, taking four weeks to complete, with a total of 21 concerts is the record of this picked group of Willamette students.

In spite of the "repression" the concerts were well attended and the receipts were in most cases very gratifying. Prior to the trip extensive soliciting was done by the club members under the direction of Professor Cameron Marshall, in whose hands lies the greatest portion of honor for making the trip a success. Funds collected during the campaign went toward paying the expenses for the bus, which was chartered from the Union Pacific company in Portland. A home concert on June 20 was well attended and brought not only monetary gains but the best of send-offs—an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. Mr. A. B. Hanson, a member of the Salem Elk's Club, lent a good deal of his time and energy to the Choir's project, which certainly did not go unappreciated.

A concert in the First Methodist church of Portland on Sunday, June 19, and a short trip to Newberg June 21, helped to round off the concert and prepare the group for traveling, and when a crowd of 25 enthusiastic students plan to make one bus their home for a full month, a little preliminary training is needed to learn the secret of packing all the baggage so that there is room enough for everyone to sit down after every suitcase, bundle and coat is stowed away.

More than one person turned out to watch the Choir start their long trip Wednesday morning, June 22. A Greyhound bus leaving from Music Hall, took the group to Portland. After singing before the annual Methodist conference there, the songsters were free to "do" Portland until the next morning, when the Union Pacific bus was to start out. Accordingly the first lap of the tour proper was covered Thursday, with a concert that night in Chehalis, Washington, which was but the beginning of one of the most wonderful experiences ever made possible for college students.

During the time on the road the Choir gave four Sunday night concerts, which were perhaps the best performances, due, no doubt, to the fact that Saturdays were free from concerts and gave one night for rest. The Sunday night concerts were the best attended. The first at Cashmere, found 500 people packed into the church—an audience that was so sympathetic and responsive that the club did its finest work. The second was at Coeur d'Alene, which also had a crowd of five hundred. This concert, however, was strictly sacred, and the group was well received by the listeners. The feather in the Philharmonic cap was captured the next Sunday when, in Caldwell, the home town of one of Willamette's foes—the College of Idaho—the Methodist church held a capacity crowd of 900 people and turned away 100 more. Rev. C. O. Heath, a graduate of Willamette, made it possible for the Choir to have so successful a concert, in the face of none too happy traditions from the College of Idaho enthusiasts. (Incidentally and entirely editorially, some of the things Rev. Heath and his buddies did when they were in Willamette made fine listening, but would not bear printing.)

The whole Choir was treated royally during the four-day stay at Caldwell. The third Sunday concert was at the Rose City Methodist Church in Portland, and was the finale, and after the last "Old Historic Temple," the students who had been so closely associated

Internat'l House Improved for Fall

Many Nationalities Represented at International House This Year

Starting as a new campus organization last year, International House has become not only a power in the school but a convenience to many students as well. This year there are nine persons living at the house on Oak street and two more who board there. More are expected when the students become settled to the campus life and activities.

Among those present may be found Japanese, Russian, Indian, Negro, and American nationalities. Some others are represented in the club membership.

Headed by Eugene Smith, the International House has made many improvements in the living quarters this past summer. Painting and decorating has been done in several of the rooms and more is contemplated as soon as possible. Cleaning has been done about the house and several donations have been made by the church organizations of the town.

This year letters have been sent to about 300 Salem and Portland people inviting them to honorary membership in the club. Open House has been announced for Friday, October 28, from the hours of eight to ten o'clock.

HOWARD MAPLE TO RETURN SOON

That Howard Maple, former star quarterback for Oregon State and last year's assistant athletic coach at Willamette will again report here for duties on September 29 is good news to all campus students. Maple, who has been a catcher for the Washington team of the American baseball league during the past season, stated in a wire to Coach "Spec" Keene that his standing with the Washington club would be greatly enhanced if he could remain with it as long as possible, and asked that he might come to Salem the last of the month. Although Keene would prefer an earlier date, this request has been complied with.

Decision to bring Maple back for a second year as assistant athletic coach was reached some weeks ago at a meeting of the athletic council and later the executive committee of the board of trustees placed its approval on the action.

According to Coach Keene, plans have been completed for the entire athletic program for the year, and Maple will be able to fit into arrangements immediately upon his return.

PHILHARMONIC CHOIR TO SING AT FAIR

Willamette's Philharmonic choir will sing at the Oregon State Fair at 5 o'clock on Wednesday evening, September 28, Salem Day. The same group that made the choir trip during the summer will repeat by popular demand, some of the numbers of the repertoire used on the trip.

Campus Improved By Needed Repairs

September Finds School in Good Shape; Lone Fountain Still Dry

By Madeline Schmidt

O tempora, O Mores! Who would recognize our beloved campus after the hand of time and Dean Clark (mostly time) have wrought their decisive changes on the dear old landmarks. The scratches left by the boots of many a student body president have disappeared from the floors of Eaton—for those floors have been sanded, varnished, and polished to perfection. Evidently the investigating committee sent out by the board is going farther than the first floor this year, for the halls on the second and third have received treatment similar to that of the lower.

Another innovation which has obliterated the signatures and frat insignias of many a famous or infamous alum is the new tops on the old tables in the zoology labs. Climbing higher, we find that the well-known "oil cans" atop the roofs of Eaton and Waller have been re-silvered till they look like the money we wish we had.

The recorder has been glassed in and the files have been classed in, as have been light, inquisitive, and sticky fingers. Students will be kept up to time by the diminutive but handsome Hamilton electric which was placed above the bulletin board by the class of '32.

The freshmen were apparently so puffed up at coming to college that it was necessary to widen the cement sidewalks. But the frosh aren't the only ones who will benefit thereby, since it will no longer be necessary for anyone to wade in the mud. A board walk has also been laid from Twelfth street to the gym sidewalk. There's nothing like getting an endowment.

The general manager's office has been rearranged to such an extent that it is almost beyond recognition. A new counter has been added immediately inside the door, thus facilitating business.

Resurrection day has come to the "bone pile" of debris left in the wake of the erstwhile music hall, since the remains are slowly being removed, and the site is being

BIG SISTERS HELP FRESHMAN GIRLS

When enrollment was concluded last Thursday, the Willamette freshman girls soon discarded their green appearance and assumed the air of "one who knows." In the meantime they had annexed big sisters who began immediately to tell them the ways of campus life; and shortly merry new families of sisters dashing about, attracted much attention and admiration from bashful freshman boys.

Last spring, the Willamette Y. W. C. A. selected 20 sophomore and junior girls for the position of big sister, under the leadership of Margaret Purvine, vice-president. These co-eds have made themselves available on the campus during freshman days, acquainting the new girls with various phases of campus life, and assisting in solving the numerous problems of every rook girl.

Miss Purvine announces that the success of the big sisters is revealed in the ease in which the freshman girls have entered curricular activities.

First Contest of Year Hits Early in Season

By David Johnson

The Willamette University Bearcats, under the generalship of Coach "Spec" Keene, will open their gridiron offensive the night of September 24, when they meet the O. S. C. Beavers at Corvallis. The university here is eagerly awaiting the outcome of the contest, for coming as it does at such an early date, it will show to a great degree the various abilities of the squad. This first battle of the season, which will be preceded by about five days of actual scrimmage drill, will bring to light the evidences of teamwork, skill, fight, and backfield organization that the boys will be able to produce in such a short time, and will greatly reflect the later possibilities that the team can develop.

It is the current opinion on the campus that the rigid drilling in fundamentals, exclusive of scrimmage, that the squad has been undergoing since the beginning of last week, will lend a greater display of teamwork and spirit than that which was given in several of the games last season.

Some excellent material has been produced already in this season's practice, and a fine squad is on the field to work with. Forty-eight men have drawn suits, and the full group answers to practice every night.

Somewhat of a pall of mystery surrounds the actual starting lineup list, but a fairly good idea of what it will be can be drawn from a short survey of some of the outstanding members of last year's squad, and of the regular veterans.

Walt Erickson looks better than ever this year. Erickson has the rank of being the leading halfback of the conference, and of having had honorable mention in the All-American lists as half-back. He is hard-hitting, and a good man to play safety.

Keith Jones is back. Keith was last year's captain, and all-conference tackle two years ago. After three years at tackle, "Oregon" has now been shifted to right half.

Wenzel Kaiser, a regular end of last year's squad, who came into his own in the Whitman game of last season, can be sure of a regular berth again this year. Kaiser is speedy, and gets behind the opposing lines with deadly precision.

Loren Grannis, last year's all-conference center, will be probably shifted to the position of end this year. He is good on defense, being a blocker and tackler of exceptional ability.

Bob Houck, a reserve center of last year, is now working into the position of regular center. Good things are expected of him.

Jack Connors, a star end of last year, is going into the position of tackle this season. He weighs 210 pounds, and can hit a ball-carrier with great force.

Manfred Olson is back. He is a regular fullback, a good line plunger, and a hard-hitting man to have backing up the line.

Carl Weisser, one of the promising men showing up at spring practice, can be expected to do his share of playing this year. He weighs 215 pounds, and can kick a ball farther than any other man on the squad.

Dave Drager, outstanding guard, will be back at his old post of keeping the opposition out of the backfield.

Ed Franz, a regular quarterback, will probably start in the coming game. He is one of the best of hard-hitting backs.

George Cannady is also in uniform again. He is the fastest man on the field, and is a real asset to the backfield.

Fred Paul, one of last year's regular quarters, is doing fine in

Enrollment Decreased Noticeably; Depression Hits Student Pocketbooks

Enrollment at Willamette this year has noticeably decreased from that of 1931, according to available figures. Almost a hundred less students than last year's bumper crop are in school at present, a condition most probably due to the lack of student finances.

A large number of students who depended upon summer work and who were unable to find employment during the past three months were unable to enroll last Monday. Opportunities for self help are not as plentiful as in the past and this fact has also helped to decrease the registration figures.

According to the figures at the close of second day's registration, there were 432 students enrolled in the school of Liberal Arts and 18 in the law school. Of this number 233 were women and 199 men. This number will probably be increased by at least 50 students by the time this paper is published, for there are an unusual number of late registrations this year due, in most cases, to last minute decisions to enroll.

According to class registrations, the freshman have 79 men and 75 women, an almost even balance. However, the sophomore women number 71 to the 59 men in the class. The juniors have 32 women and 29 men and the seniors 40 women and 23 men. There are 17 special students and six graduates enrolled for work this year.

BUDDING SCIENTISTS ORGANIZE FORUM

The Science Forum, composed of W. U. students and Alumni interested in the promotion and development of the physical sciences on the campus, was organized shortly after the close of school last June.

Perry Spellbrink, a graduate of June '32, was largely responsible for the organization of this group of chemistry, physics and mathematics majors who have been outstanding for their work in the physical sciences.

With Mr. Spellbrink, the other charter members include Robin Moser, Kyozo Arjama, Kenneth McKenzie, Roscoe West, Rufus Franz, and Vernon Bushnell. Since the organization John Adlard, Robert Halliday, Luman Noy, William Gahlsdorf and Richard Upjohn. A limited number of new members are to be admitted from time to time.

Some of the members of the Forum have gone elsewhere for study this year. Mr. Spellbrink to O. S. C., Mr. Moser to O. S. C., and Mr. Arjama to U. of Minn. An active correspondent with these members keeps them in touch with the work of the organization.

In cooperation with the science department, the new Forum is expecting an interesting and successful future. The year's activities will be started by a special meeting, Friday evening, September 23, at 7 o'clock in the Science Hall, at which all members are urged to be present.

S. H. S. GRADS TEMPORARY PILOTS OF '36

Temporary officers of the freshman class were elected last Saturday to serve until organization of the class is performed formally. Charles West is the acting president, with Helen Renner as secretary. Both are from Salem high school.

There is a large demand for second-hand copies of the texts for sociology, history of economic thought and anthropology courses. All students wishing to sell their old copies are requested to turn them in to the University book store for sale.

LOCKENOUR TO HEAD LAW SCHOOL

Dr. Roy M. Lockenour has been elected dean of Willamette university college of law. He fills the position left vacant by the resignation of Roy R. Hewitt, who is a candidate for the supreme court. Dean Lockenour has taught in Willamette law school for the past four years, previous to which he was for four years a member of the political science department at Oregon State college. He holds the degrees of A.B. and LL. B. from Washburn college, and the degrees of J.D. and LL. M. from Northwestern university. Dr. Lockenour practiced law in Kansas and Wyoming for seven years, during which time he was United States commissioner, city attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, as well as attorney for a number of large oil and mining corporations.

Other new members of the Willamette law faculty, announced by the board of trustees, are William P. Ellis, Victor R. Griegs, Walter E. Keres, E. M. Page, L. J. Page, Guy O. Smith and William H. Trindle, all prominent practicing attorneys in Salem Willamette college of law is entering its 50th year, and is the oldest law school in the northwest.

'36 Shows Good Results in Tests

Fewer Out-of-town Students; Salem High School Treks to Campus

Fewer out-of-town students and a larger proportion of resident students, mostly Salem high school graduates, differentiated the class of '36 from that of former years. According to custom, Freshman week was the occasion for a number of tests.

Classification, according to capacity of one hundred fifty-five Freshmen into segregated English classes was accomplished Thursday, September 15, by the English examination which is annually administered to the incoming class.

The test covered fundamentals in grammar and usage, distinguishing subjects and predicates, identification of clauses and phrases, forms of the sentence, and agreement were divisions of the exam.

As a result, twenty-eight students won coveted places for themselves in the "Honor A" section. There are forty-four freshmen in the "A" English class.

The highest grade received was 98, while other grades ranged as low as 35.

DALETH TETH GIMEL GREETS CLASS OF '36

Prominent on the Willamette campus is the organization of Daleth Teth Gimel. It is composed of young women united in order to form closer bonds of friendship and mutual understanding among the college women on the campus. Daleth Teth Gimel is a national organization comprised of chapters at the University of Idaho, at Moscow, the Washington State college, at Pullman, and a potential chapter at the University of New York, at New York City.

The Willamette chapter was established in the spring of 1929. One of the early presidents of the organization, Miss Marion Morange, is prominent on the campus. This year Miss Elizabeth Bishop will guide the activities and policies of Daleth Teth Gimel. The Willamette chapter is expected to be hostess some time during the coming year to the delegates of the National Convention.

Daleth Teth Gimel extends greetings to the class of '36.

"YES, WE ARE COLLEGIATE—"

Another year. Another Freshman class. It makes us feel a whole crop of gray hairs coming on to realize that only yesterday we were gleefully writing and yelling "33" or "34," years that were so far in the future that we could go to school forever and not catch up with them. Now, as we see the words, "The class of '36" written here and there, we realize that our yesterday, when we first started to college, is a yesterday of several years ago, and soon we will have no "tomorrows" or "next semesters" so far as college is concerned.

Even though the new class acts as more or less of a thermometer to measure the remainder of our college life, we are more than happy to welcome you all. Some of you may not like Willamette at first—there are any number of you who are coming to Willamette merely because you are financially unable to go to a larger, more sophisticated institution. Of course, "36" brings many who have looked forward to coming to college on this campus with eagerness. These students, we know, will be happy and spend a wonderful four years—four years that they will never forget. The others—well, we wager that if you lend yourself wholeheartedly to your work and the activities which you have opportunity to enter, you will reach a day when you feel that the depression did you a great favor when it forced you to come to Willamette.

"FOOLS NAMES AND FOOLS FACES—"

By this time, it will have become apparent to everyone that a great many improvements have been made on the campus during this vacation. It is not necessary to enumerate them here—that has been mentioned in another article, but it would not be out of place to mention here the fact that we can only keep the buildings in their present state of neatness by considerate use of them.

We are not junior high school students, neither are we in high school, and any college student should have outgrown the habit of more or less artistically drawing his initials and fraternal association emblem on the broad chair-arms, or running pencils down the soft grains of the wood in the library tables. A great deal of this scribbling is habit, and a great deal more is done without really realizing that one's pencil is tracing triangles, monograms, or gouging little holes on the writing surface of the furniture.

No small sum of money has been spent this year in repairing the buildings, furniture, and campus, and the results are gratifying. Willamette is gradually becoming better equipped to meet the increasing demands of the student body for finer administrative facilities. We can be proud of the improved appearance of our school, so every one of Willamette's 500 students should contribute to its improvement by doing their scribbling on paper—you might be able to get a grade for it there—and not on the walls, chairs, and tables.

No list of reporters is given this week because most of the new reporting staff has not yet been chosen. We wish, however, to thank all the contributors to this week's news for so heartily cooperating when the work is yet so poorly organized.

THE WHISPERING CAMPAIGN

Hello, freshmen, are you as scared as you look?

(Without apologies to Mr. Lucky Strike.)

Freshman class is here again. Lausanne is full of cheer again. Hearts are full of fear again. Freshman class is here again.

Come on freshmen, let us sing. There's no more fun again till spring. You'll have to learn the ink to sing.

Freshman class is here again. Our gay vacation is gone—There's only work from now on. For,—etc., etc.

Well, freshman days are over, but freshman days continue.

When you came to college, you thought you were coming to Willamette, but if you'll look at the card envelope in the back of almost any library book, you'll see that you're attending Willamette.

And if you'll gaze at the seal on a catalog that's old enough, it'll surprise you that the name apparently is Willamette.

After all, a rose by any other name has just as many stickers.

What's in a name, anyway?

It occurs to us that Portland-ers let slip by a fine opportunity when they failed to take the population census during the American Legion national convention. And yet they say, "In Portland We Do!"

"Roar With Gilmore" shrieks an ad on a passing automobile. Huh, most of the campus cars roar without Gilmore.

Perhaps you noted the high-sounding publicity the Statesman gave to the football shoes, numbers 12 and 13, which are sported by Bob McKerrow and Jack Connors, respectively—or collectively.

Bob and Jack have nothing on us. We'll bet we Mudslingers can stir up more dirt than the two put together.

But you'll notice that we're not telling you the size of our sturdy brogans.

Speaking of the extent of Bob's and Jack's shoes—now we know the reason why soft carpets were laid in the library.

"World Still Flat, Declares Voliva" was a recent headline that interested us.

Tut tut, Mr. Voliva, you don't have to tell us—we just tried to pay our tuition.

Mud in your eye! —The Mudslingers.

Fred Paul: Do you go to Whitman?

L. Grannis: No, I always part my hair this way.

W. U. GRADUATES MADE ASSISTANTS TO PROFS

For the first time, two Willamette graduates have received appointments as assistants to members of the faculty. Rosalind Van Winkle, '31 in Sociology, will assist Dr. S. B. Laughlin in the department of sociology. Pearl Swanson, '32 in Education, will work with Dean F. M. Erickson. Rosalind Van Winkle returned from a year of study at Columbia University where she earned her Master of Arts degree in sociology. Her thesis entitled "Social Problems Arising in Legal Aid" dealt with the history, problems, and solutions of cases handled by the Legal Aid associations. As Dr. Laughlin's assistant she will do research and help with student conferences.

Pearl Swanson, who was the senior scholar in education in 1931-32, is helping Dean Erickson in his office, departmental, and personnel duties. An important part of the personnel work is to test the incoming students in reading, English, mathematics, and general aptitude. The results of these examinations enable Dean Erickson to aid the many students who come to his office for advice.

practice. He is rated as the best passer on the squad.

The returning reserves of last year are being looked on as the foundation of next season's team. They have an excellent chance to do their share of playing this year. They are McCrae, Woodworth, Felton, Emmel, Tull, Feathers, Haley, Hartley, and Worrel.

Prominent Graduates Wed Sunday

Unusual beauty prevailed in the wedding ceremony Sunday, September 18, at 4 o'clock, in the Leslie Memorial church when Miss Maxine Ulrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ulrich of Salem, became the bride of Mr. Stearns Cushing, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stearns Cushing, Sr., of Oregon City. Rev. S. Darlow Johnson read the impressive service.

In the bridal party were the maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Clement; bridesmaids, Miss Doris Ney, aunt to Miss Ulrich, Miss Dorothy Eastridge, Miss Benetta Edwards, and Miss Helen Hanke, sorority sisters of the bride; flower girl, wee Miss Beverly Joan Satchwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Satchwell. Mr. Satchwell is a Willamette alumnus. Mr. Charles Campbell, fraternity brother of Mr. Cushing, served as best man.

Ushering at the wedding were Mr. Harold Cushing, brother of the groom, and Mr. Bliss Leslie, Mr. Clair Miller, and Mr. Arthur Fisher, fraternity brothers of Mr. Cushing.

The bride was lovely in her white gown of flat crepe that boasted of dainty tucks at the waist which lead to a long full skirt. The sleeves were tucked to give a capelet effect. Her veil was of white embroidered net caught by blossoms in a cap about her head. Long white kid gloves and white pumps completed the costume. She carried a shower bouquet of cream-white roses and white sweet peas with an orchid corsage in the center which the bride wore with her going-away ensemble.

The girls in the bridal party were beautifully dressed in organdy frocks with full tip-toe length skirts. Miss Clement wore delicate pink and carried a bouquet of orchid sweet peas and pink roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned in the colors of peach, blue, orchid and green. They carried arm bouquets of orchid sweet peas and pink roses. The flower girl was daintily dressed in yellow and carried a basket of pom-pom marigolds.

The processional from Lohrengin was played by Mr. Robert Magin. Miss Bernice Rickman, a sorority sister of the bride, sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Mr. Magin. "I Love You Truly" was beautifully rendered by the Willamette quartet as the bridal party left the church.

A reception was held at the Ulrich home on Saginaw street following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing, Jr., left Portland Tuesday for Evanston, Ill., where they will attend school on the Northwestern university campus. Mr. Cushing will study at the Barrett school.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cushing were popular members of the class of '32. Mr. Cushing was a member of Sigma Tau fraternity and during his senior year was president of that organization. Mrs. Cushing was vice-president of her class during her senior year, and was affiliated with the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority.

A number of delightful pre-nuptial courtesies were extended to Miss Ulrich during the past summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doney of Pennsylvania spent a portion of their vacation with the parents of the former, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney.

Faculty Compliments Freshmen

The faculty of Willamette university complimented members of the freshman class with its annual informal reception at Lausanne Hall Friday evening between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock. It was a colorful event and was marked with a very large attendance of freshmen.

In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Dean and Mrs. Frank Erickson, Professor and Mrs. Roy M. Lockenour, Dean Olive M. Dahl, and Dr. and Mrs. George H. Alden.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Herbert Rahe, Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mrs. Egbert Oliver, and Miss Virginia Melton. Mrs. C. R. Monk and Mrs. W. C. Jones presided at the punch bowl for the first hour followed by Mrs. E. T. Brown and Miss Lois Latimer.

The committee in charge of the entertainment were Miss Alida Gale Currie and Miss Marion Morange.

Weddings of Early Summer

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schreiber of Portland, was the scene of a beautiful service when Mr. Schreiber gave his daughter Margaret in marriage to Mr. Enoch Dumas on Monday afternoon, June 13.

Miss Ruth Schreiber was the maid of honor, and Mr. Stanley Walker served as best man.

Mrs. Dumas graduated from Willamette in '31, and was affiliated with Daleth Teth Gimel. Mr. Dumas is a senior at Willamette and is a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity. They are now making their home in Salem.

On the same day as the Schreiber-Dumas nuptials Miss Ellen Jean Moody became the bride of Mr. Leonard Heisler. Mrs. Heisler graduated from Willamette last spring. They are residing on the Claude Heisler farm at Waconda.

Sawyer-Wells Wedding An Event of the Summer

At a charming garden wedding on Friday evening, July 8, Miss Irma Sawyer became the bride of Mr. Wilmer C. Wells. The wedding service was read by Rev. W. Earl Cochran.

She was attended by Miss Loree Barham, and little Miss Jean Barham, flower girl.

Mr. Irwin Smith of Portland, served as best man. Mrs. Wells was prominent in Willamette musical circles and was a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority.

Mr. Wells was recently graduated from the Salem Business college.

Miss Frances Richards of Berkeley, sister of Professor E. C. Richards, visited this summer at the home of Prof. and Mrs. E. C. Richards. Miss Richards was formerly dean of women on this campus.

Summer Rushing Delightful

Complimenting maids who are entering Willamette this fall, the sororities entertained with a series of delightful affairs this summer.

The Alpha Phi Alpha sorority honored a group of girls on Friday, August 12, with a picnic at Bauer's Lily Gardens near Dayton. The guests and active town members of the sorority found amusement in boating, swimming and various games.

A charming formal dinner on the evening of September 10 in the Green Gate Room of the Spa constituted another rush party of Alpha Phi Alpha. Following the banquet a theater party was enjoyed with several additional guests. Miss Bernice Rickman was in general charge of summer rushing for that sorority.

Miss Gwendolyn Hunt cleverly arranged the Delta-Phi affairs in honor of freshman girls. The first was a buffet supper held at the chapter house on Tuesday evening, July 26.

The large club room of the Ilhee country club, colorfully decorated, formed a delightful setting for a gay sports party for which Delta Phi was hostess in the early part of September. A golf suggestion was cleverly carried out in the program and decorations.

The Beta Chi sorority, with Miss Ruth Fick in charge of summer rushing, entertained with a formal luncheon Saturday, July 9, at the Spa.

On Wednesday evening, August 17, the Alumnae Association of Beta Chi sponsored an informal reception for the Salem maids. Miss Eva Roberts, president of the Alumnae was in general charge of the arrangements. The active Beta Chi members assisted in receiving the guests.

Bishop-French Nuptials At Leslie Memorial Church

On Sunday afternoon, August 14, Miss Henrietta Bishop became the bride of Mr. Curtis French at the Leslie Memorial church at an impressive service read by Rev. S. Darlow Johnson.

Her only attendant was Miss Gertrude Oehler. Mr. Alfred French, brother of the groom, served as best man.

A lovely reception at the Mason Bishop home followed the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. French are recent graduates of Willamette. Mrs. French was a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority, and Mr. French was affiliated with Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

They are making their home at Bandon, where Mr. French is teaching school.

Big Sisters Hold Annual Jolly Jaunt

The "Jolly Jaunt" sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. for all new girls on the campus was an especially gay and delightful event of Wednesday afternoon. The affair is an annual one especially designed for the Big Sisters to become better acquainted with their little sisters and as a general get-together for all the girls on the campus.

The girls all gathered at the Chestnut farm where games of various sorts were played. An appetizing lunch followed, served in delightfully informal manner.

Miss Naomi Hewitt was in charge of the affair.

Farewell Tea Honors Jean Peterson

Miss Jean Peterson was the inspiration for an informal tea on the afternoon of July 29 at the home of Miss Eloise White. Miss Peterson left for Portland August 1 to start nurses training at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Guests for the afternoon were the Misses Peterson, Helen Boardman, Caroyl Braden, Lila Catton, Gaynell Beckett, Ruth Fick, Savilla Phelps, and Dorothy Dalk.

Sigma Tau fraternity entertained at a dinner honoring the parents of freshman students. Tuesday evening, September 21, among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Potter, Mrs. D. J. Bowe, Mrs. C. A. Gies, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Doughton, and Mrs. M. G. Eckman.

Guests for the evening included the Misses Gertrude Oehler, Jennie Delzell, Benetta Edwards, Rosalind Van Winkle, Edith Clement, Dorothy Eastridge, Elizabeth Clement, Bertha Babcock, Marian Bretz, and Mrs. Grace De Harport.

Mr. Barney Cameron Married in Los Angeles

Of interest to a large number of Salem people is the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Barney Cameron, of Los Angeles, to Miss Betty Fordick, of Portland, Sunday evening, July 24, in a beautiful mission church in Los Angeles.

Mr. Cameron attended Willamette for a time. During the past two years he has been holding a responsible position with the Los Angeles Examiner.

Farewell Party At Clement Home

PETERSON RETURNS FROM INTERESTING TRIP ABROAD

Andy Peterson, star pitcher of Willamette, has just returned from an extended baseball trip in the Orient. Leaving Seattle, Washington on the 28th of May, and after making a short stop in Victoria, he sailed for Yokohama. His first four days out were not so pleasant, for he was seasick during that period. On the fifth day the lower section of the Aleutian Islands were sighted and remained in view the whole day. The islands are mainly composed of snow and ice and have no human habitation whatsoever.

Upon reaching Yokohama, the seaport for Tokio, he saw more boats than he had ever seen before. He was greatly impressed by the majestic beauty of Fujiyama whose snows glistened in the brilliant sunshine, and by the noisy hustle of the tiny sail boats crowding around the large steamers.

From Yokohama, he motored on to Tokio, where he met the members of the team on which he was going to play. Andy was about the only American on the team—the rest were mainly Japanese. Since English is taught in all the schools, however, Andy was able to understand all the boys. On the same afternoon that he arrived in Tokio his team played a game in which he was very successful—the first time he was at bat he made a hit—the second time he knocked a home-run. In this game Andy played left field.

Andy stayed in and about Tokio for three weeks, during which time he visited such scenic points as Kegon Falls, Lake Chuzenji and Nikko, the site of many of the most famous shrines. No Japanese thinks he has seen Japan until he has visited Nikko. Games were played in Magi, Sungai, Waseta, and Hozie universities. Andy's team, the Deans, won 21 games out of 30 during this part of the trip—they won the last 14 games straight—they defeated the Tokio All-Stars, the best team that Tokio could produce. As yet, there are no professional ball teams in Japan.

Andy stated that the Japanese schools remain open ten months a year and are attended mainly by the aristocrats and wealthy, who spend their summers vacationing. In order to facilitate travel by students the railways allow students 1-3 of the regular charge.

Andy believed that the Japanese are great mimics for he saw many structures and forms of architecture that had been most accurately copied from occidental models. In Tokio there were many cars mainly of American and English make, but they were all coming and going on the left instead of on the right as in our country. The Broadway of Tokio is known as the Ginza. This famous thoroughfare is broad and straight and is lined on each side with great stores and business houses. Along the curbs are innumerable bazaars, concessions, and vendors.

Andy said that the Orientals were very slow and easy—that if a Japanese said he would be back in 15 minutes, he might show up in an hour—that the only things that moved swiftly were the taxis, which were very numerous.

Keene Likes Squad Spirit

"Spec" Keene's Bearcats, if advance predictions are correct, will have an opportunity to show what sand mixed with student support can do in winning football games.

"Spec" is not kidding himself at all about the prospects of the Willamette squad this year. Admitting on the one hand that the season looks tough, "Spec" affirms with enthusiasm that the spirit of the turn-out is all of 100 per cent superior to last year. At Willamette where athletic scholarships are not offered and where deserving athletes work at legitimate jobs, the crop of promising men varies with the availability of self-help.

This season Coach Keene will be without the ability and experience of such veterans as Arens, Allen, Lorenz, Gribble, who are unable to return to school, and Faber and Carpenter who were lost by graduation. On the other hand, "Spec" has no end of spirit in a squad composed of the following: Grannis, Jones, Paul, Erickson, Houck, Connors, Cannady, Kaiser, Williams, and others.

which seemingly is of ample capacity. The Associated Student Body office will be private insofar as the Collegian gang is concerned, for the room hitherto given over to reporters and news editors belongs entirely to the executive committee. Who said there's a depression?

By all means, we must not overlook the new metal hymn-book racks on the backs of the chapel seats. Not only is the size and shape more convenient, but they won't tear socks, nor can one scratch matches thereon. (Perhaps some we could mention would consider the latter a doubtful improvement.) However, with the aid of a pencil you can use it for a drum in accompanying "Holy, Holy, Holy."

In spite of all these improvements, you'll still know you're at Willamette, for the outdoor fountain has not yet gone democratic!

amazing results from the two above ingredients for some years, but this time it was a masculine member who worked out its possibilities.)

Both offices, as well as the Student Body office, are scrubbed, brushed, swept, and painted. Nice new white lights have taken the place of the light globes, and even the desks have been varnished. The Collegian office, you will notice, boasts brand new cretonne curtains, a cushion for the editor's chair, and desk ornaments, while the Walluliah office as yet has not been "rigged out."

It is about those curtains that our budding gang upheaval clusters like peanuts around chocolate. The manager of the year book is rumored to be getting jealous and has uttered threats to the effect that "No measly

SPORTORIALS

Willamette is going to have a "fundamental" team this year, for Spec is starting from the simplest fundamentals of the game and showing the boys just how to block, tackle, kick, and carry the ball.

So customary has become the annual excursion to Corvallis for the game with O. S. C. that the Willamette team is beginning to wonder if it isn't time that a few changes be made in the routine—such a change as giving the Oregon State boys a real fight is being seriously considered.

We hope the freshman class will support the team as well or even better than did last year's freshman class. This hope holds true in regards to the rest of the classes as well.

If Loren Grannis can play and as well as he played center we can be sure that at least one end of the line will be plenty strong.

We're glad to see Gordon Williams back from California and rarin' to go again for old Willamette.

As usual there are several freshman out for positions on the team who will make things pretty hot for the veterans. Come on you Bearcats!

If the rain keeps up (up in the sky) very much longer the old timers out on the field will feel like they are missing something—something like soaking shirts and shoes, muddy water, and drenched hair.

We hope that Dwight Adams won't forget himself and try to shoot the ball into a basket.

Keith Jones seems strangely out of place in the backfield but we know he can play any position well.

Hope to see everyone up at Corvallis Saturday night to cheer our boys in that game against O. S. C.

best clothes and went to the faculty reception at Lausanne Hall which was given in their honor.

Saturday, however, was the day of days. Registration was the reason. The library was jammed with people having conferences with faculty members, and the profs were seen carrying around packages of cough drops to cool their over-worked throats, which had become hoarse in their efforts to be heard above the din. During the morning the mysteries and tangles of collage were settled so that at 3 o'clock all were ready and glad to go to chapel to use their voices without exerting their brains, too.

Walt Erickson, the Willamette student body president, acted as the chairman, and the Frosh elected Charles West and Helen Benner as their temporary officers. The first yells and songs were weak, because both were unfamiliar to most of the students. By the time the song fest was over the chandeliers were swinging, and pep seemed to fill the whole chapel room.

The final event of the Freshman program was a big social evening at the city Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. A refreshing plunge in the pool following a run around in the gym ended everything—almost. Later the refreshments were served; and by that time every Frosh was ready to go home to his inviting bed.

Campus Improved

coming effectually obliterated.

We still believe in Santa Claus. The new rubber carpets in the library will not only promote study but will be a blessing for the janitors, since they won't have to oil the floor underneath. As a pertinent reminder to refrain from library conversation, there are letters bearing a plea for silence distributed about the various tables. It is hinted that after three disturbances, a library culprit will appear before the honor code committee to answer for his conduct—and this means business. A new typewriter for the use of students repose, an do students, in a side room.

It is purported that henceforth the Muddlingers must refrain from playing their art in the Collegian office, since the walks and floors have been repainted and refurbished until they are spotless—what a chance! Colorful curtains grace the windows, and dollies to match decorate the desk—not to mention the plump and ornamental cushion on the editor's chair. Another typewriter has been installed for the use of reporters. Not to be forgotten is the prepossessing wastebasket weekly is going to outdo the noble Walluliah." It is thought that he will make an effort to appropriate enough of the Annual fund to enable him to afford real velvet hangings in his office, as well as purchase a davenport and a couple of overstuffed chairs. He insists that the Collegian office isn't so hot, and that the curtains make it too dark. Now, now, Herb, wait until you get in your office—you may wish you had the windows veiled just a little. Be that as it may, it is thought advisable to set a guard around the paper office in order that the chance of some sturdy Walluliah henchman making off with the new drapes will be lessened. There seems to be no prospect of open shooting, but nevertheless, students, beware your heads! You may need them before the year is over.

Success Attained

for a whole month said their farewells and disbanded. Many lived in or near Portland, others were graduates who were not returning to school, consequently the parting was none too easy.

The personnel of the Choir included Miss Helen MacHirron, chaperon, Elizabeth Ogden, Bernice Rickman, Benjett Edwards, Elizabeth Clement, Marjorie O'Dell, Harriett Adams, Barbara Barham, Sarah Jane Dark, Edwyna Boardwell, Lois Wilkes, Marguerite Cox, and Ruth Schreiber in the Treble Clef Club. The Men's Glee Club members were Cleo Seely, Earl Henry, Gus Klempe, Melvin Crow, Ronald Hewitt, Maurice Dean, Vern Wilson, Louis Magin, Al King and Bob Houck. The two clubs sang a group of numbers each and several groups of ensembles.

The string quartet appeared in every concert and did notable work. Cleo Seely played first violin, Al King, second, Vern Wilson, viola, and Donald Haefflinger, of Portland was cellist. Mr. Haefflinger also played a cello solo which always brought a demand for an encore. Solo work on this instrument is rather rare, and the audiences were quick to appreciate his efforts.

Robert Magin, the pianist who can very conveniently transpose any number of piano key sticks, as was the case in Enterprise, accompanied the group. Mr. Magin found many requests for impromptu concerts in every church which had a pipe organ.

The last members of this notable group occupied two significant vantage points in the good bus "Rosemary." H. H. Beckett, the driver, and Professor Cameron Marshall found it on their shoulders to do most of the "herding" and maneuvering. "Beck" was always up front, of course, and back there, right in the back seat by the door, sat Prof., his panorama hat getting darker each day, but under the brim were a pair of eyes that missed nothing—rather discomfiting sometimes.

A final get-together banquet in the tea rooms of the Bedell Building Saturday evening and the singing of favorite songs commemorated the finish of a wonderful trip, a wonderful month, and a wonderful gang.

For those who were on the trip and care to ellp the Collegian articles which are written in reference to it and any others who may be interested, we print a complete itinerary of the tour.

NEED A WORD? LITTLE RED BOOK HAS 'EM

Although it is but a half inch thick, a little book entitled The Students' Dictionary contains enough useful words to help anyone struggle through themes and all papers in the best and quickest way possible. This handy-sized volume of synonyms and antonyms is published by Noble and Noble, of New York, and a list of other books printed especially to aid the college student by this company is being sent to the bookstore and library.

A copy is on the editor's desk in the Collegian office, and while it is primarily for the use of reporters and struggling "head writers," the book is at the service of any writer in need of help.
