Salem, Oregon, Friday, March 12, 1954

No. 23

Two hundred and twenty students from twenty Oregon high schools are competing here today and tomorrow in the annual Oregon high school speech tournament.

Tournament Schedule

Registration begins this morning at 10 and the first round of competition will start at 1 o'clock. The first two rounds are divided into four parts, lasting intermittently until 5:45. Junior and senior division of debate will be held from 7 till 9:15 tonight.

Saturday's schedule begins at 7:30 a.m., with finals starting at 10. Debate semi-finals are at 1, finals at 2:15. The awarding of trophies will take place at 3:30.

Johnson in Charge

The tournament will be conducted by the Willamette forensic squad under the direction of H. Paul Johnson, administrative assistant in speech this year.

Johnson will be aided by Marian Rutledge, Gay Kent, Lewis Hampton, George Blille, Donald Laws, Karl Freerkson, Ray Owens, Larry Hall, Preston Butcher, Don Drake and Marian Putnam.

Individual events and junior division debate will be held in classrooms on the campus while senior debate will take place in the Presbyterian church in this year's annual tournament. Contestants are being housed off-campus.

Over 100 Willamette students have signed up to judge the events.

Linfield Trophy Won By Marian Rutledge

Marian Rutledge, sophomore from Portland, won the first place gold trophy award Saturday for impromptu speaking at the 24th annual Linfield intercollegiate tournament of champions, held in McMinnville. Miss Rutledge was rated first on a slate of speakers totalling 119 college women in an event run off over a period of three days. Her topic, on which she was permitted no time for specific preparation, was "What Is the Eisenhower Administration's Farm Subsidy Policy?" The contest is fundamentally a test of ability to think on one's feet.

Fenton Hughes, junior from Hillsboro, won third place in the men's impromptu contest.

Three Willamette debate teams were rated high among the 120 participating teams from 36 colleges and universities in seven western states. They were H. Paul Johnson and Fenton Hughes and Marian Rutledge and Gay Kent, and Ray Owens, debating in the one-man event.

T'nT at Ten

Edgar Smith, member of the state board of education, will speak during Tuesday convocation in the gymnasium on "By the Dawn's Early Light."

Thursday chapel, to be held in the First Methodist church, will feature Dr. G. E. Speake of the Moody Institute of Science in Chicago, Ill. The Institute conducts scientific research in a religious context.

Committee Outlines Blue Monday Plan

Song Writers, Leaders Ready for Glee

Who will win the Freshman Glee banner in '54?

Betting Underway

A steady increase in betting between members of the various classes indicates the nearness of the big event.

The seniors, who will be trying to set a record by winning Glee all four years, will sing "Fight for Willamette." Elizabeth Shields and Carol Emerson composed the music and Margie Leonard wrote the words. Don Morrison and Jim Hitchman will serve as song leader and formation leader, and accompanists will be Liz Shields and Jane Gray.

Bearcats in Junior Entry

The junior class, which has placed a close second for the past two years, will make their bid for the '54 Glee banner with "Bearcats—To Victory!" Music was composed by Keith Mirick, and Julie Mellor, Babs Jackson and George Chambers wrote the words. Keith Mirick will once again lead the song and Bob Alfred will direct the formation. Nancy Hanson will be accompanist.

Music for the sophomore song, "Beat 'em, Bearcats," was written by Ron Hershberger and the words are by Bill Bjorkman. Amy Girod will be accompanist. Bill Farr is formation leader for the class and Page Bailey is song leader.

Don Miller, song leader, and Volney Sigmund, formation leader, will direct the freshmen in "Mighty Bearcats!" Music was composed by Myrth Loring. Winnie Waltz and Tricia Gordon, and words were written by Sue Pratt and Flossy Hodge. Barbara Freitag and Winnie Waltz will be the accompanists.

Glee Gowns for '54

Caps and gowns to be worn by the class of '54 on Glee night will be fitted at the bookstore next Wednesday, according to Mrs. Delsia Larson. Cleaning expenses will be discussed at senior class meeting next Tuesday.

'Historic Temple' Not Official Alma Mater

Willamette university has never had an official alma mater song, according to Prof. Herman Clark, president of the alumni association. Ken Cooper reported to student council Wednesday.

Cooper heads a committee investigating the possibility of replacing "The Old Historic Temple," generally accepted as Willamette's alma mater. Prof. Clark explained that while the student body once voted to stand whenever it was sung the song was informally adopted through frequent use.

Prof. Clark was contacted to determine alumni reaction toward any change. He maintained there would probably be little opposition, but suggested that original alternatives be solicited from both students and alumni.

Cooper will place a notice in the May issue of the Alumni magazine requesting words and music for a new alma mater and will make a similar request to the student body. Past Glee songs will also be under consideration. No choice will be made before next fall.

Blue Monday suggestions for those who make glee bets were outlined by the Glee committee this week.

The payment of bets is to be confined to the Willamette campus, and they must be paid off by Monday night. None of the bets should conflict with university rules, such as smoking on the campus.

The committee also reminded Blue Monday participants that college students are always in the public eye and that good judgment should be shown to prevent impairing the standing of the University.

Faculty to Discuss Vocations, Graduate Work With Students

The faculty Counseling and Guidance committee presented results of its study based on the development of departmental seminars at the faculty meeting Tuesday.

The committee, headed by Dr. Charles Derthick, scheduled dates for meeting of major departments and made suggestions for the presentation of material.

Vocational Opportunities

The purpose of the gatherings is to acquaint students with advantages and opportunities connected with the various major fields at Willamette to show future vocational opportunities.

Experience and educational requirements, including possible graduate study for specific positions are to be discussed.

Emphasis on opportunities Willamette offers in the way of scholarships, cooperative

Wednesday report from Stu Shaw, manager of the Distinguished Artist series, indicated that $881.58 was available at that time to meet expenses for Monday's appearance of the First Piano Quartet, the final program of the year.

Shaw said that sales for the concert, to be held at 8:15 at the high school auditorium, are coming along well.

Expenses Higher

However, added cost of bringing the four-piano group here and lagging sales in previous concerts have made student sales increasingly important, the manager indicated. Student sales are not included in the $881.58 reported.

To begin with, cost for the quartet itself is $400 more than the fee asked by the next highest performer, the Vienna String Symphony. Also, renting of four pianos has added $236 of expense.

If all available seating in the 1700-place Salem high auditorium is utilized (in other words, a sell-out), $2706.40 would be raised and the series could have nearly a $600 profit for this year.

However, if sales should fall low enough, the program could go into debt.

Student Support Stressed

Shaw's optimism was particularly heightened by the fact that his report did not include any student sales. Thus, the importance of student interest.

Over $300 could be added from student sales, Shaw explained.

This year, then, as in the last two previous years, the financial success of the series depends on the outcome of this final concert.

Members of Cap and Gown who help usher for the series have agreed to purchase tickets for the last concert, rather than accept free admission for their services. The two other ushering groups, Bags and Sax, were not available for comment.

First of Its Kind

The quartet has been described as the first musical unit of its kind in the world. All four members of the group have appeared as soloists with leading European groups.

They represent the countries of Poland, Italy, Austria and the United States.

plans with other schools, part time work and work in related fields should be stressed, according to Derthick. He also suggested that senior scholars and upper classmen in each major department participate in the meetings, along with the clubs and societies related in the field. Visual aid material such as graduate school bulletins should be displayed, he said.

All Departments Included

Dates for these conferences include March 22, art, sciences, (biology, chemistry, physics, natural science, and math), and sociology; March 24, home economics, speech, drama, journalism, and physical education; March 25, philosophy, religion, economics, foreign language, and English; March 30, history, political science, psychology, and music; and April 1, law education and military science.

How to Bring About a Bright Monday

Everyone likes to be on the winning team, and this is one time that the spectator carries the ball to score the touchdown.

The Distinguished Artist Series deserves to succeed. The time and effort already invested in such a positive contribution to Willamette and Salem can't be measured in dollars and cents. But the profit and loss ledger carries the more compelling and influential argument of practical business.

Monday night's concert can sell itself on its own merits. The First Piano Quartet will be one of the most enjoyable concerts of the series. If anyone insists upon getting his money's worth, here's a bargain of four for the price of one.

Glee practices will come to a halt for the concert, providing a pleasant and inspirational break in a busy week. The Quartet may even inspire the innovation of a four-piano accompaniment for Glee presentations.

The final push can be the most rewarding in any cooperative effort, the outcome meaning the difference between success and failure.

The concert itself will certainly be rewarding. The artistry of the First Piano Quartet is already familiar to America's record and radio audience.

Buy, don't beg, borrow or steal a ticket for the concert; and be sure to attend. Sell the idea to someone else as well. For your own sake, Willamette, you don't know what you're missing.

First-Time First Place for Lawmen

For the first time in the history of the College of Law, one of their legal teams won an athletic championship. The Law school team claimed first place intramural volleyball laurels Tuesday night.

Notwithstanding the merit of their unique accomplishment, the lawmen suffered only one defeat during the season, and that one during championship playoffs.

It was clearly another victory in court—this time of the volleyball variety.

Willamette Welcomes Two Tournaments

Willamette opens its doors to two high school competitive events on the campus this weekend: the annual Willamette high school forensic tournament and the state "B" basketball tournament.

To all the many visitors who will be participants or spectators, Willamette extends a sincere welcome. May the best teams win and may a good time be had by all.

Indian Problems Studied by Washington, D. C., Students

By Chuck Ruud

Washington, D. C. (Special to the Willamette Collegian)—His Excellency Gaganvihari Mehta, ambassador to the United States from India, gave us some idea the other day of the reason his country would wish to assume the role of a balance between the East and West in world affairs.

"Improvement of human material" is needed to develop India, he said, and in pursuit of this his country's leaders "hope that if we have a period of peace and stability for the next ten years it will put the nation on the road to progress."

Balance Upset

Ambassador Mehta spoke to a combined convocation assembly of American university and Washington Semester students last week.

His country has protested the recent announcement by the United States of military aid to Pakistan. The protest came on the grounds that arms will upset the peace in Asia. India and neighboring Pakistan have been feuding since 1947 over which country should have possession of Kashmir.

India was freed from British rule in 1947 and in 1950 a new constitution was adopted. The same year a planning commission was set up to balance the Indian economy by finding means to mobilize and utilize the country's resources. The biggest problem the commission found was to find enough jobs to go around, said Ambassador Mehta. The group is seeking to build up rural industries in order to create occupations for the predominantly rural population which is idle a good share of the year, depending on crop work. To increase the need for more jobs, the commission found that soon universities and technical schools would be spilling out new and greatly enlarged groups of graduates who would want work.

Work Wanted

Where no work is found, said the Ambassador, it not only leads to a great waste of talent but also a sense of frustration. A situation like this, he added, "provides fruitful ground for totalitarian seeds of discontent."

A long-range plan to make work for a people who have been accustomed to centuries of "enforced idleness" needs a tranquil world for its development, said Ambassador Mehta.

He pointed out the "progress of the country depends not on material and mechanical gadgets but on the men and women."

Lifting Standards

The most immediate task the country is faced with in the over-all plan, said the ambassador is to seek a raised standard to living. In illustrating the need for this he asked, "What is the point in a modern democratic government unless it can guarantee food, health and housing?" He said that at the present time the annual per capita earning that only 700,000 people out of a population of 360,000,000 can pay income tax. He said that the Indian people maintain the lowest average in the world for the consumption of calories. "Democracy cannot function," he added without first providing the elementary necessities of life for people.

Ambassador Mehta, brown, stocky and quite clipped and foreign in speech, illustrated very ably that an understanding of the wants and needs of the Indian people is quite essential to grasping what the role of this budding democracy will be in world affairs.

The polished performance of freshman glee is all that any observer could ask to watch. Spirit is high, songs are professional, formations can actually be figured out and marching is in step. But what the casual observer fails to see is the hectic, frantic behind-the-scenes of freshman glee. The picture is something like this:

There are four figures huddled around a piano. "Yell-swell. Oh... team. One, two, three, four. Hey, we've only got four more hours to get these words done." "Say, fresh, you know there's only one word in the whole English language to rhyme with Willamette? And how are you ever going to put dammit in a fight song?"

Creative Genius

A group is gathered around a table in the library. "Now we could have a yell leader waving a pom-pom in one hand and Waller's bell in the other." "Only three hours to go." "What about a football kicking a player off the edge of the stage?" "That has originality."

"Bum, bum, bum de dah. Maybe a fight song in waltz time would go over." "Who do you think we are, anyway, the Bell sisters?" "I've got a crazy idea for a tune. Throw in parts of 'Fight, Bearcats, Fight' with 'I Love Willamette U' and add a chorus of 'Rub-a dub-dub.' 'We've got it!'"

Words, formation and music are finally thrown together and submitted to Dr. Martin's office. Then, the fun begins.

Attention Joe McCarthy

First of all, each class has a meeting of the Glee subversive activities committee. Plans 445-A and B, on how to capture a freshman president without damaging him are reviewed. Masterminds in the fields of hanging effigies, sabotaging parades, painting class year on sidewalks, Eaton hall, chapel slips and goading the rival class are contacted.

After the meeting is called to order, the group rises for a three minute hate session. Boos, hisses and screams are practiced. Those in the class who have committed thought crimes, or failed to have complete confidence in the capability of their class, are tried.

At This Hour!

Next, the class falls out at five a. m. for the first early hour glee practice. With eyes half-closed, they stumble thru their formation to the strains of "smile, two, three, four." The formation leader asks to be reminded to pass out the Pepsodent before the night of Glee. A few notes from the piano and the class is off, with "it's too early in the morning and who can sing anyway and besides, I haven't had my coffee" voices. Some enthusiastic soul cries, "Who's going to win Glee?" At this point no one knows, or cares.

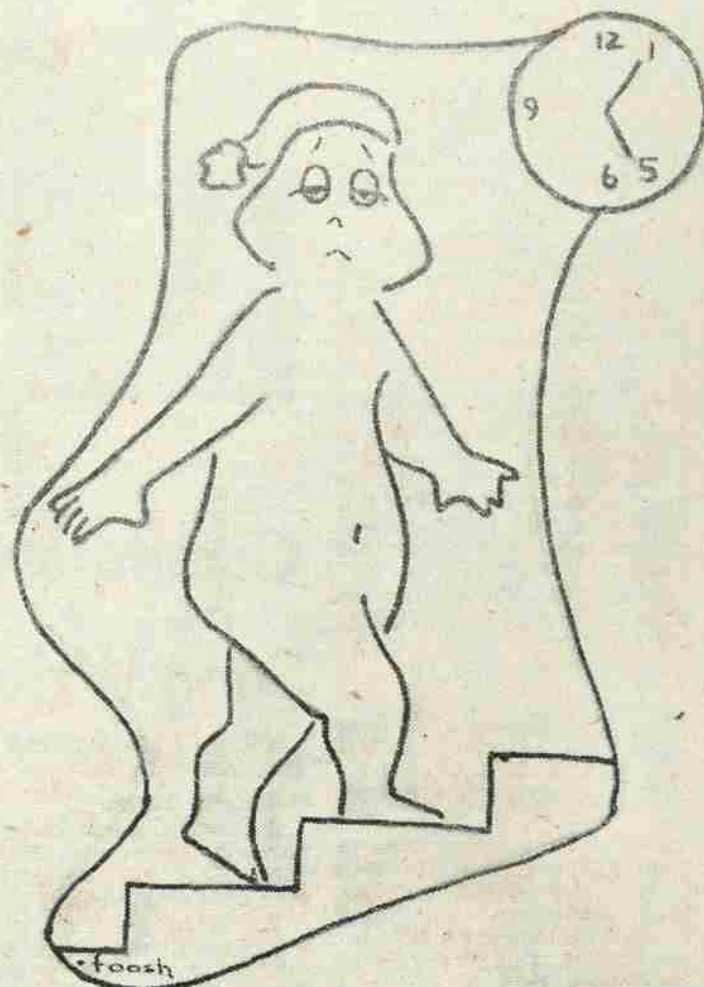

Soon, though, the class watches other class attitudes in practice. There are the young, burring enthusiasts, the old, worn-out upper termers with their professional casualness. The spirit rises. The work begins.

Sleep Marching

Students go marching, not walking through campus, humming their song, making wild bets, and forgetting that they haven't slept for a week. The last two days are devoted to a combination of doing the can-can, singing a resemblance to a glee song and trying to form a jet plane tearing through a block W.

Finally the night of glee arrives, and the classes go through a routine of studied casualness. Someone wins, someone loses. Parents and friends sympathize. The student shrugs, says, "It was nothing." Whoever said Glee was work?

A Bit About Bites, Broken Eggs

By Duane Alvord

The learning process can go on within the walls of the infirmary as well as within any of Willamette's hallowed halls and I learned one lesson the hard way this week.

Bound and determined that I wouldn't get any shots while in the infirmary, I would always pull the covers over my head and snore loudly when Dr. Purvine passed by. I thought surely I had discouraged him.

When, after what seemed to be two hours past meal time, I heard the nurse coming down the hall with what I was sure would be my meal, I couldn't help but raise up and greet her with a smile. "Over on your tummy," she said. Before I knew it I was inoculated.

Two other Willamette students were subject to the same treatment Wednesday. Freshman Carol Hinds was leaning out the window of her room in Lausanne feeding a squirrel that morning. The little fellow bypassed the filberts for Carol's finger. Senior Gay Weeks reported to the infirmary at the same time suffering a mouse bite.

In passing, both agreed that the tetanus shot was more painful than the bite.

Mrs. Ivan Lovell, wife of Willamette's history prof, had a problem to pose to last week's seminar at the Lovell home. She wanted to know how three egg shells—with only two egg yolks—got into her kitchen.

It was then that Mary Campbell told of Stu Shaw's collision with the egg carton on the floor of her car.

Four Nationalities Included in Quartet; Pianos Prove Deceptive to Audiences

By Margie Leonard
Collegian Editor

It all began in 1940, when American Edwin Fadiman combined four piano artists to perform simultaneously at four instruments and in time to become the nationally known First Piano Quartet. As far as they know, there never has been another such group before their own.

"United Nations" Quartet

Four different countries are represented in the quartet: Adam Garner from Poland, Glauco D'Attili from Italy, Frank Mittler from Austria, and Edward Edson from the United States. The "United Nations" musicians all carry an equal share of keyboard responsibility during their concerts.

"There is no hierarchy in our quartet; all parts are equally important," says Adam Garner.

Adds Edward Edson, "We need no leader, no conductor—nor have we ever had one."

Mr. Mittler adds, "We just know each other so well that it's now almost impossible for us to get out of time. We've often experimented by playing in four separate rooms—hearing but not seeing each other—and we never miss."

Few Four-Piano Works

The domain of four-piano music, as well as four-piano arrangements, is necessarily their own. Little distinguished music has ever been written for four pianos, with the possible exception of a little-known work of Bach, the "Vivaldi Concerto." It was originally written for four violins and then arranged by Bach for four pianos.

Today much of the Quartet's time between their NBC radio broadcasts is spent making their own arrangements of the classics.

"No single one of us does the arranging," Mr. Edson says. "Once we decide upon a particular selection, each of us makes a four-piano arrangement. Then we play and discuss them, and usually end by combining the best parts of all four."

Difference of Opinion

"People disagree about us," Mr. Garner commented. "Some say we sound like one piano, and some believe there must be a whole roomful of pianos to produce such music. The other day we played Sarasate's 'Gypsy Airs,' a violin composition, and one listener insisted that he heard violins playing with the pianos."

Willamette and Salem will have the chance to see and hear their sound and tonal techniques next Monday night, when four pianos and the four men who play them will appear on the stage of the Salem high school auditorium.

British Spy Investigations Free From 'McCarthyism'

By Bernie Morris
Collegian News Editor

While English racial and geographical close-knitness make any parallel with her American cousin hard to draw, it would seem that the British millions might offer a word of advice on how to treat that controversy, the subversive, and his most popular assailant, Senator J. C. McCarthy.

Sir Harley Shawcross, attorney general of the British Labor party between 1945 and 1951, summed up the unemotional British approach in an unemotional way recently as a speaker at Columbia university's second centennial observation. This speech, given under the general theme "Man's Right to Knowledge," is reported in the Harvard Crimson. (Unfortunately, the bulk of the popular American press ignored it.)

Hard Living Sobers

"It may be," comments Crimston writer Michael O. Finkelstein, "that years of hard living have somewhat soured Britain's taste for the televised fol-de-rol of subversive hunting, for her recently completed Civil Service investigation seems, in retrospect, to have lacked the drama of its American counterpart."

To begin with there is an old

British parliamentary tradition that legislative committees are appointed only under very special conditions.

Besides, the British have developed a policy that protects vital state secrets while at the same time interfering as little as possible with civil liberties.

"To do this," Shawcross, prosecutor of atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, reports, "a distinction is drawn between secret and non-secret posts.

Thus, under a policy of dismissing even doubtful cases, a recent British security check produced the following:

Investigated: One million employees in 17,000 "sensitive" posts.

Suspended: 143, of which 23 were dismissed, 69 transferred to non-secret jobs, 19 resigned and 9 left pending.

Parties Join in Policy

And, the significant thing is, this policy cuts party lines. "In Britain," Shawcross told his Columbia audience, "rightly or wrongly all parties have so far taken the view that the use of repressive measures against ideas which we dislike and are convinced are wrong would make the danger to our way of life the greater."

True, if we overlook the naive charge that English socialism (practiced by both labor and conservatives) is nothing more than communism by another name, it does look as if the British have a "good thing-gone-askew" attitude toward the Russian experiment.

Yet still, it would seem wrong to minimize British sobriety in the face of international communism. Their approach has been, more than anything else, an attempt to avoid the fear phobia.

Students Give Varied Opinions On McCarthy Investigations

By George Bleile

The recent investigations of the armed services by Sen. Joseph McCarthy has renewed interest in this controversial figure throughout the country.

Several Willamette citizens were asked their opinions on McCarthy's effectiveness and sincerity as well as his possible impact upon the coming elections. The consensus of the majority seems to be that he is sincere but not effective.

Support Summed Up

Walt Dauber, sophomore, summed up the opinion of McCarthy backers this way, "I am behind him 100%. When the final pages of U. S. history are written, he will, in my opinion, be among the great men of this country. He has fought courageously for what he believes is right. He has awakened people to the real dangers of communism in our country. McCarthy has been persecuted relentlessly by left wing press and organizations. He is truly a great man."

Other more adverse opinion was expressed by Don Drake, a senior, "He would like himself to be the key issue in the coming election, but his methods are causing more embarrassment than benefit to the Republicans. I believe that he is sincere but that he wants power."

Margie Dawson, also a senior, said, "I think he is using the same tactics as the people he is fighting and therefore is not effective. It is hard to tell whether he is doing more good than harm."

Bob Batchelder had this to say, "McCarthy pretends to be the savior of the United States, but his drawing of intolerant conclusions from insufficient facts and half-facts is causing his effectiveness to diminish. The damage he does is not as important as his attackers claim. He is over emphasized."

Yvonne Grosser, a junior, "I don't like the way he does things. It is surprising to me that he has such a following in the midwest."

Dale Harris, junior, gave this opinion, "I believe he is sincere but I disapprove of his methods which seem to abridge civil rights of the people. Probably he does more harm than good."

Created Aura of Fear

Lewis Hampton made this comment, "He has created an aura of fear of investigation. I think he is sincere but not competent to investigate cases of this sort. The F.B.I. should do it."

Sophomore Gay Kent theorized this way, "He is fighting communism in the name of democracy, but is making political capital out of a war of ideology."

12 Freshmen Get OK From ROTC Board

Twelve freshmen were tentatively selected for advanced ROTC at the last meeting of the ROTC selection board.

The board, which consists of representatives from the Air Force and members of the faculty, chose the twelve pending results of aptitude tests and physical examinations.

'B' High School Tourney Here

The twentieth annual State Class "B" high school basketball tournament is now being played in the Willamette university gymnasium.

The single elimination tournament started yesterday afternoon and will continue until tomorrow night when the champion is decided.

This is the fourth straight time the tournament has been held in the Willamette gym. Also the Exchange Club of Salem is again the sponsor of the tourney.

Yesterday afternoon in the opening round, Harrisburg played Heppner and Powers met Knappa. Last night Elgin went against Talent and Mill City played Ione.

This afternoon at 2:30 the first round losers play and the two losers of these games drop out of the tournament. The winners play tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 for fifth place in the meet. Tonight's action, starting at 7:30, has the first round winners meeting together. The losers tonight play tomorrow night at 7:30 for third place with the loser taking fourth. The winners tonight play for the championship tomorrow night starting at nine o'clock.

The "B" tournament is being held at Willamette to keep it on a paying basis. Ever since the "A" tournament outgrew Willamette's gymnasium and moved to the University of Oregon's MacArthur Court, the "B" meet has been held as a separate meeting. The two were separated in 1946 and since that time the B's have been held in different Oregon cities until it was moved to Salem in 1950.

In this year's tournament there are only three returnees. They are Elgin, Knappa and Heppner. Elgin finished in second place behind Echo last year and is tabbed as one of the pre-tourney favorites this year. Heppner defeated Knappa last year for fifth place after both teams lost out in the first rounds. Both of these teams also rank high in choosing a pre-tournament favorite.

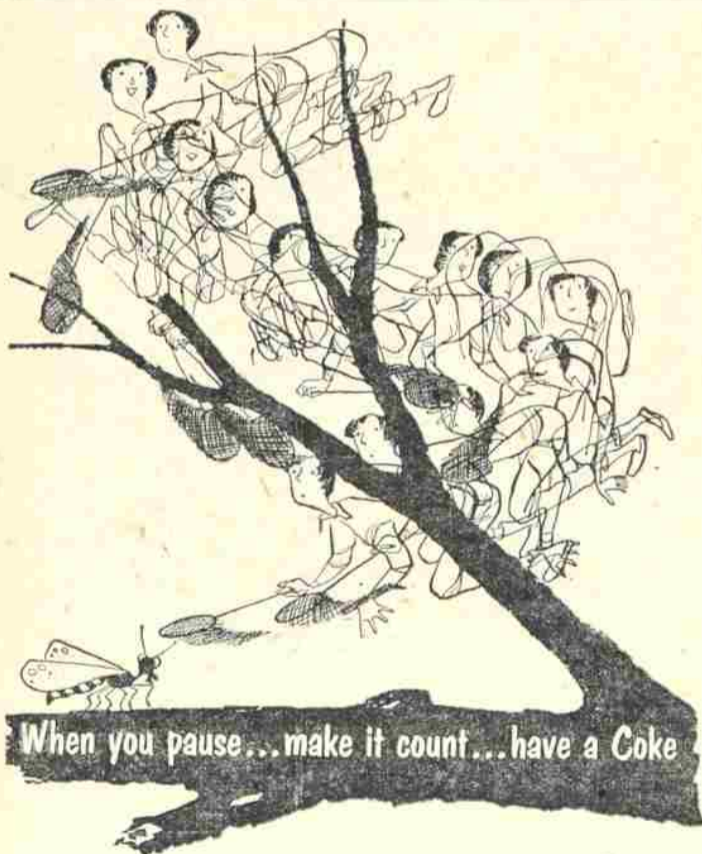

The local choice is Mill City who won the district two title last Saturday night by defeating Corbett in the Willamette gym. This marks Mill City's first appearance in the State Meet since it came to Salem four years ago. It is also the first showing for Harrisburg and Talent.

The "B" tournament is by no means any less colorful or exciting as the "A" tourney. The main difference is the ball players come from schools with enrollment of less than 150 students and some schools even have less than 15 male students.

Law School Club Wins Volleyball Tournament

Coming from behind, the Law School A's won the intramural volleyball championship for this year by downing the Beta "C" team last Tuesday night in the gymnasium.

The Law School was undefeated going into the championship round, but lost to the Betas 2-1. This sent the final round into an extra series. The Betas won the first match, but the Law School came back and took the final two and the volleyball championship.

The tournament which was played in two days had the top two teams entered from each league. In the "B" and "C" circuits three-way ties developed and the teams played in sudden-death playoffs to pick the respective league's entries in the double elimination tournament.

Monday night in the opening rounds ten games were played and three teams were dropped. The SAE's had both of their teams eliminated as was the Sig "B" team. Then Tuesday, the Betas defeated the Sig "C" team and won the right to meet the Law School for the championship.

Also this week the intramural all-stars were chosen for volleyball. The teams were picked from the all-opponent squads submitted by each of the teams in all three leagues. There were only three unanimous choices in the entire selections. Professor John Paulus of the Law School was the single "top" pick in the "A" league.

INTRAMURAL POINT STANDINGS

Betas 133 1/2
SAE's 130 1/2
Sigs 106 1/2
Phi Delts 91 1/2
Law School 58
Baxter 49 1/2
Wits 40 1/2

Betas Lead in Points; Three Sports Remain

The Betas still maintained their lead in the point race for the intramural sports trophy at the completion of the volleyball tournament.

The leaders were only a point and one-half ahead of the SAE's, but picked up 15 points in the tournament while the SAE's made 13 1/2.

There will be no more intramural activities which will count in the race until after spring vacation. There will be a track meet Saturday, March 27, but a trophy is given to the winner and no points are counted for the sports award given at the end of the year.

Only three more sports remain to be counted in the race. They are badminton, tennis and softball. Because of the fact that the gym is not available for two weeks because of the State "B" tournament and Freshman Glee, these sports will not be started until after spring vacation.

The Law School made the biggest jump in the standings as they went into fifth place after occupying the cellar since the start of the year.

SAE Teams to Share Top Basketball Honors

The SAE's won the 1953-54 intramural basketball championship although the final game was not played.

The SAE's had two teams entered in the three-team playoff and both of them remained after the Sig "C" team dropped out of the double elimination playoff. The SAE B's were unbeaten until the other SAE team stopped them 39-30 in what was supposed to be the last game of the playoff, but the upset over the "B" league team brought the need of another game.

The final game for the championship would have been played last Tuesday, but the teams agreed to call it off and co-championship titles went to the teams. This still gave the SAE organization the intramural basketball championship which they won last season.

Willamette Selects Servas, Hubert, Owens, Parker, French for Honors

Every team in the Northwest conference except Linfield placed a man on the Willamette basketball all-opponent squad for 1953-54 season.

The first team included forwards Ken Servas of Lewis and Clark and Norm Hubert of Pacific, center R. C. Owens of College of Idaho and guards Danny French of Pacific and Don Parker of Whitman.

Bearkittens Win Finale For 11-6 Season Total

The Willamette Bearkittens finished out their basketball season last Friday night with a 69-53 win over the Lewis and Clark Frosh in the Willamette gym.

The win gave Coach Jerry Frei's squad a 11-6 season's total for the year. Bill Turley sparked the Bearkittens with a 17-point performance.

The second team choices included forwards Don Robinson of Whitman and Ray Olson of Linfield, center Clint Agee of Pacific and guards Ray Carrow of College of Idaho and Gary Jackson of Lewis and Clark.

The first team choices included three members of last year's conference all-star squad. They are Servas, Hubert and Owens. Dick Fain of Whitman who injured his foot at the start of the season and Dick Mase, Willamette graduate, were the other two members of the all-star team of the Northwest conference.

This is Servas' third appearance on the Willamette all-opponent squad. The Lewis and Clark senior led the Pioneers in scoring and set a new four-year scoring record. Another repeater from last year is Owens who looks like a four-year choice if he finishes his other two years at College of Idaho.

Willamette Bearcats Finish Season Play With 63-54 Victory Over Lewis & Clark

The Willamette Bearcats finished out a so-so season in fine fashion as they dropped the John Lewis squad was out of contention at the finale of the basketball season. Since Lewis' arrival on the Willamette campus, the Bearcats have won four titles.

The Pioneers jumped to a quick 7-1 lead in the opening quarter and it looked as though the Pioneer hope of taking a share of the league championship might come true. But the Bearcats fought back and trailed only by three, 14-11, at the end of the first quarter.

Lewis and Clark Pioneers 63-54 last Friday night in the Willamette gym.

The win gave the Bearcats a fourth-place tie with College of Idaho, but at the same time knocked the Pioneers from a possible first-place tie with Pacific and Whitman. This was the first year in seven that a

In the second quarter the Bearcats began to hit and passed the Pioneers and went on to a 33-26 halftime lead. The third quarter both teams held their own, scoring 13 points each. The Pioneers managed to close the gap to three points, 57-54, with a minute and a half to go in the game. But from there the Bearcats pulled away to the 63-54 victory.

Bill Colvard, the lone Willamette senior, played his last college game and gave a fine all-around game; although the top performance by a Willamette man was Tom Gooding who led all scorers with 26 points.

Fourth Tonight

The Mitchell Marchers, Willamette's ROTC drill team, will make its fourth appearance of the year tonight in the first basketball game which starts at 7:30.

Varsity Baseballers Begin Practice; To Open Play Against Oregon State

The Willamette university baseball squad opened drills this week for the fast-approaching 1954 season opener against Oregon State in Corvallis Wednesday, April 7.

Coach John Lewis' Bearcats are the defending Northwest conference champions and will open league play Monday, April 12, against the Pacific Badgers in Forest Grove.

There are seven lettermen returning this season to serve as a nucleus for this year's squad. Three of the returnees are pitchers. They are Mickey Coen, Andy George and Dave Gray. Another monogrammer is catcher Harvey Koepf and the others are Pete Reed, first baseman; Bill Nelson, infielder, and Lefty Shield, outfielder.

One problem for Coach Lewis is filling the gaps left by such talents as Elmer Haugen, Dave Perlman, Tex Kirkendall, Denny Elsasser and Lester Akeo.

Prospects coming up from last season's junior varsity team included catchers Jerry Kangas and Dale Patton, who will probably switch to the outfield; outfielder Bill Frederickson and Mike Munz and pitcher Gino Pieretti.

Among the freshmen who may help a great deal are Dan Feller, outstanding prep hurler from Cascade Union high school; Jim Scott, outfielder from Milwaukie; Gary Shugarts, infielder from Olympia, Wash.; Gary Burdig, infielder from Sheridan; Hugh Armstrong, infielder from Newberg; Harvey Neffendorf, infielder up from Portland's Roosevelt; and Terry Ziegelman, an infielder from The Dalles.

The Bearcats last season won the conference flag with an 8-2 mark and had an overall record of 16-5.

Fifteen Golfers Begin First Qualifying Play

Fifteen men, including four lettermen, responded to the first call for golfers put out by Coach Jerry Frei this week.

The returning lettermen from last year's Northwest conference champions are Kent Myers and Ellis Von Eschen, two-year lettermen, and Dan Callaghan and Jim Gilliland, one-year "W" winners.

Other aspirants include Ron Hoxie, Verne Zeuske, Dick Brockway, Bill Bjorkman, Rod Adams, Ward Sligh, Gary Parker, Bob Withers, Dick Moore, Tom Loree and Bill Lasswell.

No ladder or rating system has been set up yet pending 72 holes of qualification medal play. This qualification will be completed in time for the first match Monday, March 29, against University of Portland in Portland.

The first official 18-hole round toward qualification is scheduled for today and tomorrow on the Salem Golf course.

Dancing on Weekend Agenda

Dancing—semi-formal, costume and sport clothes—is on the agenda for this weekend, as Bishop Manor, Delta Gamma and BAG's and SAX will hold their spring dances.

Bishop Has Hawaiian Setting

"The Beachcomber's Ball" is the theme of the Bishop house dance, to be held at the Court street manor tomorrow evening from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Following the Hawaiian theme, the decorations, planned by Helaine Lung, general chairman, will resemble the beaches of the Islands. Orchids, shipped from Hawaii, will form trees for the scenic background.

Music will be from records, and refreshments of assorted pineapple dishes will be served.

Entertainment for the dance will include songs by Sophie

Goritsan, a piano number by Sue McMullen, and pantomimes presented by Gordon Chang.

Admission to the "Beachcomber's Ball" will be something one would find on a beach. A prize will be awarded for the best object.

Chaperons for the dance are Dr. and Mrs. George Hocking, George Edwards and Arthur Gravatt.

Honored guests for the evening are Dean Regina Ewalt, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Purbrick and Mrs. F. C. Wissenbach.

"Hannahs at Random"

Characters from "Alice in Wonderland," "Cinderella" and "Peter Pan" will be among those seen at "Hannahs at Random," Delta Gamma's costume spring house dance, to be held tomorrow evening from 8:30 to 11:30 at the chapter house, announced Carla McKeen, general chairman.

Decorations, planned by Lorelei Lantz, were inspired by books from the Random House Publishing company.

Gingerbread men and punch planned by Augusta Krause, chairman, will be served.

Miniature story books will comprise the dance programs, designed by Paula Harmer and Patsy Williams.

Entertainment, planned by Nancy Hanson will be an "Uncle Jasbo" record-logue and a reading "Little Hood Redding Ride," by Gayle York.

Chaperons, invited by Gloria Greison, are Mr. and Mrs. Don Gleckler and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Derthick.

Honored guests for the dance are Dean Regina Ewalt, Dean and Mrs. Robert Gregg, and Mrs. Pearl Ramaker.

Bags-Sax to Dance

"Spring Fever" is the theme of the Beta Alpha Gamma-Sigma Alpha Chi joint-sponsored spring semi-formal desert dance, tonight at Lausanne hall from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Decorations, planned by Duane Alvord and Ray Owens, will carry out the spring motif of the theme, and the chairmen promise an added "treat" in their decorating scheme.

French pastry and coffee, planned by Jill Gellerman, will be served. Bob Kaufman and Yvonne Bowles have arranged the music for the dance, which will be from records.

Entertainment, headed by Gino Pieretti and Gay Kent, will consist of community singing. Bill Freeman and Dave Finlay will render a pantomime of a reading written by Lorraine Landrud, and Coralie Doughton will sing.

Invitations have been issued to all BAG and SAX alumni on campus to attend the dance, and admission for all members will be 50 cents. General chairmen for the evening are Coralie Doughton and Bill Freeman.

Chaperons invited by Charmalee Allen are Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Williams and George Edwards. Honored guests are Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith, Dean Regina Ewalt and Dean Mark Hatfield.

The Social Scoop

By JULIE MELLOR, Editor

Along with all the singing that comes with Freshman Glee, the Sigma Chi members also have done their share of warbling.

For the third straight year Willamette's chapter of Sigma Chi captured the first place trophy at the annual province conference song contest. Leading the twelve man chorus was Page Bailey, who directed the group in their three numbers, "Without a Song," "The Sigma Chi Marching Song," and "The Sweetheart Song."

Participants in the chorus were Paul Ackerman, Skeet Shepherd, Gay Weeks, Gino Pieretti, Don Stoffer, Rich Butler, Ron Butler, Bill Nelson, Dave Townsend, Ken Cooper, Bill Wheat and Tom Carr.

Drake to Lead Betas

Dick Drake was elected president of Beta Theta Pi this week. Assisting him will be Wayne Frederickson, vice president; Tom Loree, recorder; George Chambers, pledge trainer; Bob Kaufman, house manager; and Bill Farr, corresponding secretary.

Grand Company Coming

News of Engagements Revealed

News of the engagement of two former Willamette students was revealed on campus this week.

Weisser-Engelhart

Kites on the front door, with the warning that "March winds bring news," told members of the Chi Omega house of the engagement of Dorothy Engelhart to Jack Weisser last Monday evening during dinner.

Miss Engelhart graduated last year, where she was a psychology major, senior scholar in that department and a member of Psi Chi. She is presently employed as a social case worker in Salem.

Weisser is in his junior year at Willamette law school.

An early fall wedding is planned.

Smith-Sloan

A telegram from Palo Alto, California, announcing the engagement of Barbara Sloan to Barry Smith, arrived last week at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Miss Sloan was a member of the class of 1955, and served on various committees for Freshman Glee. She was secretary of Pepcats, a YWCA member, and was active in Unesco. She is now majoring in education at San Jose State college, in San Jose, California.

Smith is a senior engineering major at Stanford university, and is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega.

March 19 Deadline

March 19 is the deadline—no names will be added to the list following that time. Friday, these tickets may be picked up upon presentation of the ASWU card at the student body office. Deadline for picking up these tickets will be 5 p. m. Friday.

(2) A list will be posted in the Law school for law students only. The same deadline will apply to the students who sign this list.

5. One ticket will be provided for each house mother and will be distributed by the chairman of the ticket committee.

The Willamette chapter of Delta Theta Phi, national legal fraternity, pledged 14 men in a ceremony Tuesday evening at the circuit court room.

New pledges include Bernard Bednarz, Burlington, Vermont; Warren Cover, Anchorage, Alaska; Tom Cooney and William Whitney, both of Portland; Jim Ellis, Ronald Hoxie, Luther Jansen, Elton Laftke, and Walter Stauffacher, all of Salem; Harold Lance, Paramount, California; Bob McCrea, Weiser, Idaho; Maurice Orona, Bend, Oregon; Bill Sunstrom, San Carlos, Calif.; and Alan Hollowell, Vancouver, Wash.

Conducting the ceremony were Tom Huffman, Dayton, dean of the senate; Dave Wheeler, Salem, vice dean; Joe French, Heppner, tribune; and Jim Anicker, Tigard, master of the ritual.

Oratorio Society to Begin Spring Concert Practice

Salem Oratorio Society will begin rehearsals Tuesday in preparation for their spring concert, scheduled tentatively for some time in May. The program will consist of two parts, the longer number to be the "Requiem of Faure" oratorio and the shorter, Kodaly's "Te Deum."

The first rehearsal is set for Tuesday evening from 7:30-9 in Waller hall. In following weeks practices will be held on Monday nights.

The Salem Oratorio Society is a community-wide project, open to all interested in singing. For ten successive years the group has presented Handel's "Messiah" at Christmas time, but decided this year to vary the program and have it in the spring.

Tardy Hotaling Sets Challenge As Quips Accompany Replies

By Barbara Jackson

Kent Hotaling, freshman class president, appeared in baggy pants at Tuesday convocation to deliver the challenge for the 46th annual Freshman Glee.

Hotaling Arrives Late

Hotaling was late for convocation, as he had been captured and held by men of the junior and sophomore classes.

Accepting Hotaling's challenge were Bill Nelson, Chuck Seagraves and Larry Pritchett. Nelson, who spoke for sophomore class president Dale Patton, stated that the sophomores were giving free swimming lessons behind the gym this year.

Juniors, according to Seagraves, have the words, formation and song this year, so it is senseless for the other classes to enter. Pritchett complimented the other classes on their fine spirit and ability, and stated that the seniors were terribly busy this year.

Sops Leave Lamp Behind

Convocation opened with only the freshman and junior classes present. Sophomores entered the gymnasium to inquiries of, "Where's your lamp?" Last to enter the gym was the senior class.

During a spirited exchange of comments among the classes, the juniors kept repeating, "55 has got the drive." This motto even appeared stamped on the chapel slips, as well as on a banner unrolled during the program. Reaction to this slogan was, from the freshman section, "55 has got the drive—hydromatic—they're shiftless."

Traditional Parody Sung

Leading off on the parodies was the senior class, singing the "traditional" "54 will win the Glee." Led by Don Morrison, the class of 54 gave a reserved rendition and politely applauded for themselves at the finish.

Juniors, led by Keith Mirick, (who didn't sing all four parts), and sped on by Ward Sligh, delivered a medley of songs as their parody.

Next to sing their parody was the sophomore class, who delivered "Oh Dear What Can the Matter Be."

The boisterous freshmen were last on the program, and with their song leader perched on the balcony rail, got in the swing of the fight theme with a parody about "Hot Dogs."

Total damage: none. Surprises: two. Kent Hotaling was there, and the senior class really acted humble.

Varied Numbers Set For Student Recital

A variety of numbers will be presented in the student recital this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Music hall.

Gary Monical, pianist, will play a group of waltzes by Chopin. These will include "Waltzes, Op. 69, No. 1 and Op. No. 2." Tricia Gordon will play "Ondine" by Ravel.

Lisbeth Shields will accompany Lollie Coffey, soprano, in two numbers, "Until" by Sanderson, and "La Girometta" by Sibella. Tom Larson, baritone, will sing a group of songs accompanied by Helen Piazza. These include "Woeful Heart With Grief Oppressed" by Dowland, and "The Ash Grove" and "Oliver Cromwell" both by Britten.

Barbara Young, soprano, accompanied by Ron Hershberger at the piano will sing "Chants D'Auvergne" by Camteloube.

Carolyn Burr, pianist, will play "Valse-Caprice Op. 74" by Scott. Rounding out the program, Ted Jameson, tenor, will sing "Spirate pur, Spirate" by Donaudy and "Lungi dal caro bene" by Sarti. He will be accompanied by Barbara Freitag.
