

February 12 Date Set For Freshman Glee

'Serenade' Theme Chosen By Council

By Ruth Ransom

February 12 is the date set for Freshman Glee by the student council who went on record Wednesday night with the decision that Freshman Glee should be this semester. Since many of the navy men who are former WU students will leave the campus at the end of this semester, it was thought better to have Glee this term because a larger number of students will be interested and know Glee work.

Of equal importance is the news that "Serenade" theme will be used for this year's Glee. Following an investigation of the schedule for the gym, Prof. Lestle J. Sparks reports that this is the only date open this semester and that the stage may be set up on Thursday before Glee. The faculty approved of this date at their meeting Tuesday, feeling that it will not interfere too much with semester finals starting February 21.

The "Serenade" theme was chosen this year, following the tradition of Glee that the four themes, "Alma Mater," "Fight Song," "Novelty" and "Serenade" rotate. Because of the insertion of the "Centennial" theme in '42 it is now time for a new Serenade song.

John Stockman, freshman representative to student council, was named as chairman of the general Glee committee of students to investigate the place for Glee practices, the theme, rules for writing songs and to see that the freshman class is well informed about the traditions of Glee and that immediate action is taken to elect the Glee manager.

The general committee will meet with the Freshman Glee manager following his election early next week and discuss the changes in the rules to fit the theme and to take into consideration the changes on the campus this year.

Besides Stockman the other committee members are Alice Rose, Wilma Froman, Winsor Acton, Louise Wrisley, Michael Carolan, Jack Glasse and Ray Short.

New Business Hours Set by Fenix

To the many students who have hopelessly wandered over to the business of office seeking information at the early hour of 8 or 8:30 or after 4 o'clock, we wish to pass on this little bit of news to you. From now on the business office will be open at 9 a.m. and will close at 4 p.m. On Saturdays the hours are from 9-12 noon.

Christmas Celebration Tuesday First Public Appearance of A Cappella Choir

Presentation of an all-campus Christmas program at 8:15 Tuesday evening in Waller hall will mark Willamette's official celebration of the holiday season and the initial public appearance of the university a cappella choir. Cancellation of the regular Wednesday chapel program to allow for the special service was announced yesterday by the administration.

The program arranged by the various religious campus and church groups with the cooperation of the music and speech departments will include group singing, instrumental solos and the telling of the traditional Christmas story and the familiar "Why the Chimes Rang." The choir, under the direction of Dean Melvin H. Geist, will appear in selections from Handel's "Messiah," and the anthem, "And the Glory." A smaller ensemble will open the service with a group of carols.

Townpeople are invited to attend the all-student service, the first of its kind to be presented on the campus in recent years.

Organizations planning the program are the YWCA, the Presbyterian Westminster group, the Jason Lee Methodist Youth Fellowship, Vespers, the Inter-varsity Fellowship, and the Methodist Student council. Rev. John L. Knight, director of campus religious activities, is advisor.

Committees in charge of the service are publicity, Bettlielen Payne; decorations, Loren Winterschied; worship center, Jean Fries; program, Mary Hougen-dobler, and arrangements, Catharine Thomas.

Holiday Leave Starts Wednesday

Navy men will be granted 48 hour leaves over the New Year's holiday. It was announced yesterday. No classes will be held on January 1. Christmas vacation will begin Wednesday afternoon and classes will be resumed Wednesday, December 29. Navy men must report back by 2200 Tuesday, December 28.

Compulsory Chapel Starts

Beginning Tuesday, chapel attendance will be compulsory with roll being checked. The assigned seats will be posted on the bulletin board of Eaton hall next week and students are held responsible for being in their correct seats on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The penalty for non-attendance has not yet been decided but it will be announced in the Collegian as soon as definite information is available.

Permanent excuses should have been procured early this semester but if not they may be secured through the office of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women or the Dean of Freshmen.

ASWU Matinee Dance Planned for Tuesday

An ASWU sponsored matinee dance will be held Tuesday in Chresto from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. Music will be furnished by a nickelodeon and all students are invited. Records for the dance have been donated by Leroy Hale.

Roberta Jean Yocum is in charge of the affair which is the first afternoon student body social function of the year. She is assisted by Phil Sorenson. The dance is being given as part of the ASWU social program, according to Marge Maulding, first vice president.

Campus Show Today Features Mighty Willamette Art Players

A special Christmas edition of "Your Campus Show" is slated for chapel presentation today, according to LeRoy Hale, student chapel chairman.

Today's "Campus Show" will feature the music of the Willamette band, under the direction of Maurice Brennan, with incidental comedy by the Mighty Willamette Art Players: Lois Phillips, Darlene Dickson, Jeanette Mack, Jack Watson, Leonard Steinbock and Walt Skron-dal.

And Speaking of the Weather, Clark Tells Why We Shiver

By Marion Cake

Perhaps you've been wondering why it's been so cold around these parts the past few mornings. Maybe you haven't wondered but have just shivered your way over to your eight o'clock.

For those of us who were here the year before last during the silver thaw episode, the frost on the trees nowadays proves an adequate reminder of that epic week. And then there's the snowstorm we had during mid-term finals last year.

Now that it is again permissible to talk about the weather, we went exploring to see why the sunken gardens are so white when we go to school in the morning. Prof. W. Herman Clark provided the information we were seeking. He said that since those light patterns of clouds are being blown from the northwest, there must be a high pressure area just off the coast which means that cold air is blowing in off the ocean and upon the land it stays cold, even inland here.

If this high pressure area should move east and north to northern Idaho, the weather would be colder and we might possibly have a "White Christmas." However, if a low pressure area comes in, the wind would change to the southwest and would bring rain.

Nothing can be safely predicted though, as it all depends on the location of these areas as to whether it would snow, rain, or get even colder than it has been recently.

The weather bureau ceased making daily printed reports when it was thought that it might aid the enemy, and so any information is apt to be rather sketchy, but Clark still makes predictions without governmental aid.

Commission Reelects Luther

Dean Chester F. Luther, was reelected to a three year term as member of the commission on higher schools at the annual meeting of the Northwest Association of Secondary and higher schools last week in Missoula, Montana. He has served also on inspecting committees for the group.

Cold Danger Points Told

Thirty students were absent from classes at the beginning of the week due to the cold epidemic which is now subsiding, according to Mrs. Minnie Mortimore, school nurse. By Wednesday the number was down to 21, although the length of the cases was unpredictable, she said.

Monday morning revealed four new cases at the Beta Chi house, one at Delta Phi, three at Kappa hall, one at Alpha Psi, three at Fredrickson, and one in a private residence. Due to crowded sleeping conditions in the houses it is quite possible for the women to be exposed, according to Mrs. Mortimore.

Any student with symptoms of a cold should report to the nurse immediately. Symptoms of the illness are sore throats, upset stomachs and diarrhea. Preventions include drinking lots of liquid, adequate rest and no over-exposure.

Mrs. Mortimore's office hours are from 10 to 12 in the morning and 3:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon. Between 8 and 10 she visits the living organizations.

One O'clock Closing Twice Each Term

Curfew time on Saturday nights for Willamette coeds will be stretched to 12:30 beginning tomorrow and continuing each Saturday following, according to Pres. G. Herbert Smith.

After a meeting with the student council Saturday morning, Smith compromised on the council's bid for a regular 1:15 closing with the 12:30 deadline, which decision was also passed Monday by a committee of university deans.

Two one o'clock closing hours will be permitted each semester, according to Dr. Smith, which leaves one more such closing time for the current semester, following the late per granted for last week's "Snow Ball."

An appeal for a suitable hall for social functions, also brought up by the council Saturday, was taken into consideration by Dr. Smith, and a more definite decision on this matter will be announced later. At the present time the only spot available on the campus is the cramped space on the first deck of Eaton hall. Smith expressed hope that the gymnasium could be available for at least one dance this semester.

Smith expressed the administration's views on these matters in a letter to Sybil Spears, student president. This letter is published in its entirety on page three.

Faculty Sets Graduation Requirements

Interpretations of requirements in various fields for graduation were clarified and a new regulation made concerning recording of grades at faculty meeting Tuesday. The regulation states that grades can not be changed after being recorded in the registrar's office except in case of error.

Science courses filling requirements for graduation were specified in both the physical and biological science fields. A year's course in physical science, general physics, general chemistry or general geology may be used for the first group and a year's work in general biology, invertebrate or vertebrate zoology, general botany or plant biology in the latter. It was also voted that students who had two years each in two languages may waive the language requirement which states that unless three years of a foreign language were taken in high school, the student must take college work of that equivalent.

No Housing Units Open for Vacation

Dean Olive M. Dahl announced yesterday that the university would not keep open any of the women's housing units during the Christmas vacation. The halls will close on Thursday noon of next week and will not open until the following Tuesday night, December 28. The Kappa annex will be open and those women who are not going home for the holiday may contact either Mrs. Lucille Madison there or Mrs. Esther Little at the YWCA to inquire about housing during the vacation period.

Collegian Editorials and Features

A Step Forward

Establishment of more amicable student and administrative relations took a feeble step forward this week with a special council meeting with the president and another with the general manager, and a general airing of complaints all the way around. Through these meetings it can be seen that the main difficulty with student-faculty relations is the fact that the students are interested in the immediate problem, while the administration is looking toward the future. Making plans for things to come is fine, but the plans must be laid on solid foundations, and until the unrest that is evident on the campus has been quelled, the future looks black indeed.

At these meetings, questions of Collegian editorial policy came up. Editorial policy, like a university, is a thing built up through experience. We believe in the right of the student to express his thoughts and opinions without fear of censorship or ostracism. For that reason, the Student Opinions in last week's Collegian were printed exactly as written. For that reason the president's letter is reprinted today as written. These opinions were not just unfounded, sudden gripes, but the culmination of a growing sentiment on the campus. In a democratic country, the citizens have a right to question and to criticize the action of their leaders. So in a democratic university, the students have the right to question and criticize the decisions handed down and the policy formed by the administration.

The student council agreed wholeheartedly with the president on the arguments against using the university library as a place for social functions, and they are working with him to secure a place for social functions on the campus. His suggestion that it would be a worthwhile project for the student council to concern itself with helping to secure an infirmary seems unfair, for the council's duty is to concern itself with the building up of student morale through social activities and competent student government. Securing an infirmary is definitely an administrative problem.

Council members still disagree with the decision on smoking. Whenever smoking is suggested, the old story of "somebody won't give us some money if we do" is told. That may be true, but a large number of unhappy students can do more harm for the school than a few well-to-do men can do good. The view on this question taken by the council is not a purely selfish one, for well over half of the council members do not smoke. They were merely trying to secure something the students wanted. There will be smoking on the campus—authorized or not, and tradition be hanged.

Each member of the council feels that he has an obligation outside the duties of his elected office and that he is to try to make Willamette the school the students want and to try to secure the things the students desire.

The decision reached on closing hours granting an extra half hour each Saturday night and two special late pers each term, should take care of that situation and satisfy all concerned. If anyone is not satisfied with the new regulation, and still wants even later hours, we strongly recommend that he take a quick course in journalism and become editor of the Collegian.

School Spirit

What's the matter with our so called "school spirit" lately is a much discussed question of the day. We have some games, and even though they might be losers, the team is always there trying to win, not only for themselves, but for you and your school.

On several occasions members of the team have stated that they would certainly welcome some support from the crowd, when there is one. Boys from the secondary schools turn out for the games more than Willamette students. The fellows on the team appreciate and need the backing of the university.

Students complain that the relationship between navy and civilian on this campus is poor. Turning out to games, giving yells, and, above all, having everyone pull together with one purpose in mind, will do a lot for school spirit.

According to the Chiefs Trotter, McGuire and Carroll—they will do everything in their power to promote a better feeling among the students, but they cannot do it alone. They need your help and support.—J. R.

Byrd Culls at Eventide BEEFS and BOUQUETS

By Pat

I find now that my ruffled feathers are somewhat smoothed after the gratifying response to my column last week. In fact, I'm going to show you that I can write a column and not complain at all—not even about Dr. Lantz! This week's topic is "The Good Life as It Is Lived at Willamette."

First of all, let us admit that studies are not too much of a burden. Anyone can learn 413 poems by 22 poets with no trouble at all if he puts his mind to it. Dr. Oliver says so, and Dr. O. is always right, so we will just dismiss this factor.

Now let us consider the three usual requirements of Good Living—Wine, Women and Song. The first item is not even to be mentioned on the campus, of course, but just think of the wonderful substitutes the Cavern offers; delicious hot coffee with only 99 99/100% chicory, cokes practically guaranteed not to lower the body temperature during this cold winter weather, and a wide variety of vanilla sherbet. What more could one ask for?

Under the topic of liquid refreshments, I might discuss tobacco, that other vice and solace to the soul. I have just made a startling discovery. Here we are complaining because smoking is not allowed in one little old room in the spacious halls of WU—but why should we? What other school twice Willamette's size can claim a smoking room of the length and breadth of State street and Willson Park combined? And it's so light, airy and well-ventilated, too—sure protection against stuffiness and overcrowding.

The second item, "Women," I shall lump together with "Men" just to make it interesting for everybody. Just think, every Saturday night, we can all go out like big boys and girls and dance, and dance and dance in that great big C of C hall, and we don't have to get in till 12:30! Other students in other schools have to dance in drafty old gyms where you can dance all evening and never bump into your best friend. But Willamette students enjoy the homier, smaller, more intimate halls for our dances, don't we, kiddies?

As for the last category—that hardly needs any comment, for everyone has heard of WU's singing student body. We're known all over for our singing qualities, and it is only occasionally that we utter a squawk.

And so you see, dear readers, we really haven't a thing to gripe about. We have all the ingredients for the Good Life. But just to make the road still smoother for you, I am going to make a startling offer. Just tear off the scalp of your worst enemy and send it to me with a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I will send you absolutely free my newest booklet on how to get ahead at Willamette.

Nice Work! . . . And They Can Get It

Saturday, December 11, 1943, was a bright and shiny day, and the V-12 men were eagerly looking forward (as usual) to a pleasant but short weekend. The air was crisp and cool for Father Nature (Mother N. has taken the spotlight too long) had spread the word that winter was here. Yes, even for winter in Oregon, it was the setting for a perfect weekend.

But—soon a dark dingy cloud rose above the horizon and settled slowly upon the peaceful surroundings of the good ship USS Lausanne. As the mist whirled around the corners of the ship and filtered through the open ports, it seemed to whisper "The admiral is coming—you'll have to clean up the ship!"

And so it was, like a bolt of blue-white lightning (really only Chief Carroll), we heard that our weekend liberty would end at 1800 Sunday evening. Yes, the admiral was coming to inspect the ship, and this wasn't just any old admiral, for he is the head of all the V-12 units in the country. Well, we could lose four hours for one week end, but we only hoped the gal-friends would understand.

Six o'clock rolled around pretty darn soon and the fire bell summoned the crew to muster. Some men shivered in the cold while others panted breathlessly after a quick dash from a nearby sorority house.

The chiefs bellowed out the orders: we want this place spotless from top to bottom. Clean and polish the windows, sweep and wax the decks, and wash and dust the woodwork. In short, our rooms were to be "emaculate!"

A detail was assigned to clean up the grounds, a detail for sweeping and dusting the ladders, and a detail to see that the details did their job. And how one J.D.S. (Rocky, to you) always gets the soft job of "super-official supervisor," we'll never know. Maybe it's because he's got such good lungs!

So we turned to and began to stir up the ten-years' accumulation of dust left by the former residents. It was a sight never before equalled, with men hanging precariously from the ports, furiously cleaning off the thick layers of dirt from the win-

Dear Editor:

Much has been said unfavorably of Willamette's traditions . . . and said by those students who are not acquainted with those traditions.

Speaking as a senior who has spent the past three years on this campus, and now completing the fourth, it would be a great pleasure to introduce those students, to the TRADITIONS of Willamette. We who took our first look at this campus in the fall of 1940 were fortunate enough to be treated as the green freshmen we were . . . Kangaroo Kourt run by the upper-classmen, leaf raking at 5 o'clock on the morning of Homecoming Weekend, and those few days also brought the bag rush and defeat that meant rook caps, green ribbons, paper bags and umbrellas be carried for another month. Serenades live long in the real Willamette student's memory. But the greatest of all traditions is Freshman Glee . . . when the class spirit grows to such extremes that it causes 5 a.m. rehearsals, neglect of study, and the whole affair results in hoarse voices, cold swims, and hanging from any tree near or around the campus.

We who know and love Willamette's tradition ask you who criticize them to look into them, recognize them for what they are, and above all not to confuse them with mere narrow-minded ideas.

Yours truly,
LOIS PHILLIPS

Dear Editor:

All of the letters to the editor so far have been mostly gripes from various men on the campus, pertaining to one thing or another. Maybe this isn't the most perfect place under the sun, but there is an adage that goes something like this, "You get as much out of a thing as you put into it." Maybe if the men who were sent to Willamette from other colleges would come with open minds and with the attitude of trying to get as much out of it as possible they would be a great deal happier.

There seems to be more than the usual amount of griping on the fact that the women on the campus are cold and aloof. May I say the same about the men? Why are student body dances flops, as well as other social functions? It's certainly not because the girls don't cooperate. We hear the same story from every corner, why not more dances, etc. Then when a dance is held, the fellas come and stand in the stag line all evening, afterwards reporting that the dance was nil. Etiquette has the boy ask the girl to dance. If he hasn't got the nerve, then he certainly has no kick coming. Perhaps a little more cooperation on the part of the male members of the student body would make for better times on the campus.

Sincerely,
PEGGY WALLIN

We rubbed and scrubbed, swept down the cobwebs, made our bunks, put out a display of dazzling white towels, stacked the furniture, waxed and polished the decks, and "de-stacked" the furniture again.

About 2400, with everything looking ship-shape, we crawled into our sacks, a job well done! But did we get any sleep? No sir! On into the night, hour after hour, all we could hear was the steady drone of the polisher buzzing in our heads. The decks had to be finished!

Promptly at 0600 Monday, we were rudely awakened from a sound slumber not only by a clanging bell, but by the loud shouting of this J.D.S. person again, screaming for the polisher. Of course, we do appreciate him, for without his efforts, the first deck would have looked pretty poor!

We dashed off to class, with the words "Stay out of the ship so you don't get it dirty" ringing in our ears.

Monday rolled by and still no admiral. Tuesday and Wednesday—no admiral. We all were getting mighty tired of creeping around in stocking feet so as not to mar the decks, taking showers in the hold, and not daring to smoke lest a stray ash be left unnoticed in a tray. Thursday and Friday and no admiral in sight!

Then late Friday afternoon and at a hurried muster we learned that the admiral would be here for certain on Saturday. So, another field day, and more polishing, scrubbing, and dusting until late at night.

The admiral turned out to be a commander, but he inspected just as carefully and was just as pleased with what he saw.

Inspection—4.0 (perfect, in civilian language), and our reward—no Captain's inspection for one Saturday! The work will never hurt us, but the missed assignments aren't so easy to make up these days.

Just a word to the women: when the war is won and we fellows are free to get married, just remember that the Willamette V-12'ers will make some awfully swell "wives"—and mighty handy at house work too!

Clark Robb Wins First Place In State Extemp Contest

Clark Robb, Willamette university junior, by a unanimous vote of the judges was awarded first place in the annual extempore speech contest which was held on the Oregon State college campus Monday.

"Pan American Cooperation" was the general theme of the contest this year. Robb's winning subject was "Can We Tax Our Way Out of Inflation?"

Sponsored by the Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon, the schools represented were Linfield college, Oregon State college, Pacific university and Willamette. Pacific's Leroy Dillon won second place. Others competing were F. Dale Hoeker representing Oregon State and Frank McCray from Linfield.

In the women's division of the same contest, Jocelle Fulham of Linfield placed first and Betty Parson of Pacific was second. Other contestants included Joyce Feiden of Willamette and Marjorie Hamburg of Oregon State.

Prizes were awarded in each contest. Ten dollars were awarded for first place, five dollars for second place and honorable mention for third place. These prizes came from the Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon of which Darlene Dickson, senior in speech, is secretary.

Thursday Set For Student Conferences

Every Thursday afternoon will be set aside by Pres. G. Herbert Smith for student conferences of any size, shape or description or for the talking over of any student problem.

This matter of student conferences was brought up at the student council's meeting with Smith Saturday as a possible way of helping to bring about closer student and administrative relations.

"I have always wanted students to feel free to come in at any time," Smith said, "but now we've inaugurated a new plan whereby students may come in at any time Thursday afternoon to discuss anything in the world—personal affairs, student problems—anything. No appointments for others than students will be made that afternoon."

The new conference time will begin immediately after the holidays.

Hale, Phillips On Committee

As a result of the conference between the student council and Pres. G. Herbert Smith Saturday, it was agreed that a student committee should work with the faculty committee in planning the chapel programs, in order to help make them more what the students want.

LeRoy Hale, who is chairman of the Friday student chapel programs, was chosen by the council to serve on this committee, and Lois Phillips, senior scholar in dramatics, will be the second member.

Seniors File Petitions

All senior petitions for degrees were filed in the registrar's office this week. Wednesday was set as the deadline for the petitions which are necessary before degrees may be granted in June.

Seniors will be called into his office sometime in the near future to talk over their programs for the coming semester so that all who are planning to graduate will have their requirements completed in the coming semester. Walt Erickson, registrar, said yesterday.

New Assistants In Eaton Offices

New student assistants are working the offices of Dean Olive M. Dahl, Pres. G. Herbert Smith and Robert W. Fenix. Barbara Shirley, freshman, replaces Jean Rowland handling the mimeograph in the president's office and she also assists Mrs. Robert E. Lantz, the president's secretary, with typing and answering the telephone.

Ethel Christenson, freshman, is doing secretarial work in Fenix's office during the morning hours while Arvilla Brown, another freshman, is taking Lois Lewis' place in Dean Dahl's office permanently.

Sugarless Candy Made in Food Lab

Because professional concerns cannot obtain enough supplies to make a sufficient amount of candy for public consumption around Christmas, the women in the domestic science labs have decided to make their own candy. These sweets will be made with sugar substitutes such as caro, molasses, honey, saccharine, dextrose and other sweetening agents. Their recipes will be taken from magazines featuring holiday delicacies and from bulletins issued by the government.

Smith's Letter to Spears Tells University's Stand

(Editor's Note: The following article is a copy of the letter sent to student body president Sybil Spears by Pres. G. Herbert Smith after consideration was given the three resolutions concerning smoking on the campus, later closing for women's houses, and provision for a place for social functions presented last week by the student executive council. It sets forth the views of the administrative officers on these problems and is reprinted with Smith's permission.)

"Careful attention has been given to the requests of the student body which were presented to me as the action of the executive council. May I preface any discussion of these requests with the statement that I appreciate the difficulty under which student activities are being carried on on the Willamette campus. I am sure that we all recognize that this is part of the adjustment which must come during war times. We are fortunate in being able to carry on the regular activities of the university as effectively as we are operating at present, when one considers the demands that are being made upon young people of college age throughout the world. I hope that the students recognize that those responsible for the administration of the university have been called upon to make serious adjustments within the past year, and I believe these changes have been made with a minimum of confusion.

"Regarding the request for closing hours of women's halls of residence at 1:15 a.m. Sunday, I have taken the liberty to canvass the practices of other universities in Oregon on this point. It may interest you to know that at Oregon State college the closing hour for women on Friday and Saturday nights is twelve midnight. On this campus a 12:15 closing hour is given for the women's houses on nights when dances are given in the Memorial Union. The only closing hour later than 12:15 is the 12:30 hour once each year on the occasion of the Mortar Board Ball when the young ladies take the young gentlemen as their guests and escort them to their houses of residence following the dance. No late permissions are given beyond 12:30.

"At the University of Oregon, the regular closing hour is 12:15 and the only late permission beyond that hour occurs four times each year with the class dances when a one o'clock hour is established. Whitman college advised me that it gives no late permission beyond midnight. Closing hours on Friday are at 11 o'clock and on Saturday at twelve. I am sure that you recognize that the request of 1:15 a.m. hours is out of line with the practice generally followed in the state.

"May I point out that a college of the type of Willamette has greater responsibility for the attention and care given students than is generally exercised by the state universities. Withal, I recognize that there are some unusual conditions in Salem which must be considered. The schedule of the local movie houses makes it virtually impossible for a student to see the full feature and be in the house of residence by midnight.

"The administrative officers of the university have considered the convenience of the students and are willing to grant starting Saturday, December 18, closing hours for women's residences of 12:30. This extension to 12:30 may be regarded as meeting the present needs occasioned by present conditions with the anticipation that the closing hour will return to twelve o'clock after this situation has passed. It is further understood that all student functions including dances and other group activities shall be closed by 11:45 p.m. so that they will not run into the Sunday hours. It is further understood that this extension of the hour for Saturday night does not change the present closing hour of twelve o'clock on Friday night, nor the closing hour of ten o'clock on the other nights of the week.

"As has been the practice in the past, certain occasions will be granted late permission of one o'clock. These occasions are to be all student body functions not to exceed two in number each of the three semesters of our present calendar. In these instances, again, dances and other social functions of a group nature shall not extend beyond midnight Saturday night. I am in hopes that this change in regulation may make for a happier situation on the campus with regard to our social functions.

"The request that smoking be permitted in the Bearcat Cavern or that some suitable place be set aside on the Willamette campus where smoking may be permitted, has received consideration. I am sorry to advise you at this time that it is impossible to comply with this request of the student body. There are many factors that lead to this decision, which I shall be happy to discuss with you.

"In the first place, smoking constitutes a fire hazard which is generally recognized. The insurance problem of the university would be increased greatly if permission to smoke were extended. Secondly, the university feels no responsibility to provide such privileges. It is generally recognized that the best advice of the medical profession indicates smoking harmful from the standpoint of health and we all know the attitude on smoking in the training of athletes. If the university has any responsibility with regard to its students, it would be in the interest of restraining such habits which are not constructive to good health.

"With regard to our discussion on the responsibility of the university to provide adequate places for social life, I am in entire agreement with the point of view of the council. I am sure that if the council will plan its social budget sufficiently far in advance and in cooperation with other activities, that we will have no difficulty in making the gymnasium available for all student body functions, or in finding other suitable places for smaller affairs. If the student council so desires, I shall be happy to invite the administrative officers of the university to meet periodically with the council for a general discussion of student affairs and the welfare of Willamette university.

A suggestion made by the council for an advisory committee on chapel is appreciated. It occurs to me that this committee should have charge of the Friday program sponsored by the students and be advisory with the chapel committee of the faculty in planning the program for the other days of the week. Upon receipt of the names of those constituting such a committee, I shall be happy to contact them. I am sure we are all interested in but one aim—the most effective Willamette we can have. Certainly a constructive program of student activities is vital in the realization of this ideal."

Music Party Tomorrow

The band and orchestra party will be tomorrow at the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority house on Court street. All members of the band and orchestra and their guests are cordially invited.

Dancing and games will highlight the evening. Refreshments will be served. Special guests for the evening will be Mr. Lewis Pankaskie, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brennan, Mr. Bennett Ludden, and several soldiers from the 104th Cavalry orchestra.

Committees in charge of the affair are: refreshments, Earlene Gleason; entertainment, Wilma Froman and Chuck Thompson; decorations, Gladys Stone; and cleanup, Dick Adams.

VanSike, Lieser Married

At a simple ceremony read in The Crooks Memorial church of Yorktown, Virginia, Jean VanSike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. VanSike of Huntington Park, Calif., became the bride of Ensign Gil Lieser, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lieser of Seattle, Wash.

Ensign and Mrs. Robert H. Hamilton were the couple's only attendants.

Lieser is a graduate of Willamette university, class of '43, and a member of Kappa Gamma Rho. While attending Willamette he was sports editor of the Collegian and publicity director of athletics.

Mrs. Lieser was a Collegian reporter and social chairman of Alpha Psi hall. She was in her senior year.

Former WU Student Wed

Word was received here of the marriage of Miss Betty Marie Keller, former Willamette student, to Mr. Leslie Linus Chandler, United States Naval Reserve yesterday.

The services were held at 8:30 in the Rose City Park Methodist church in Portland.

Mrs. Chandler graduated from Willamette in 1942. She was vice president of Delta Phi sorority, a member of the Collegian staff and active in campus organizations.

New Year Opens With Intersorority Formal

Highlighting the holiday season and starting the new year off right, is the intersorority formal to be held in January at the Elk's hall.

January 1 was the tentative date set, but the final date will be set at a meeting of the intersorority council today.

No definite theme has been announced by the committee, but according to Dorothy Hoar, chairman of the decoration committee, it will be centered around New Year's Day. Assisting Miss Hoar with the decorations are Louise Wrisley, Ruth Farmer, Barbara Belt, Polly Anna Shinkle, Viola Jacobson, Veta Shinn, June Nichol, Janet Blake and Maxine Wagner.

Planning the dance programs are Virginia Hobbs, chairman, Arlene Schwartz, Doris Holmes and Thyra Currey. On the refreshment committee are Margaret Hughlett, chairman, Phyllis Haight, Opal Scheuerman, Myrtle Meier, Beth Nordean, Marian MacMillan and Virginia Barber.

Rosella Bell, chairman of the committee inviting the chaperones, has as her committee members Jane Findley, Pat Lamb and Janrose Blake. The pledges from all three houses will handle clean-up, which will be headed by Miriam Oakes.

Assisting Mary Bennett, chairman of the group making arrangements for the hall, are Jan Patterson, Emma Lou East and Betty Provost. Heading the orchestra committee is Eleanor Todd. On her committee are Kay Wilson, Glennera Harnsberger and Betty Jean Smith.

Home Ec Classes Bake

Spicy, steaming and fragrant fruit cakes just popped out of the oven—these are enough to tempt even the strongest of us. But the women who made the cakes in the home economics classes have no choice in the matter—they are not even tempted to get tempted, for their teacher, Miss Lois Lamiter, rushes all the cakes into metal containers where they are left to gain the age and flavor that is necessary to produce good fruit cakes.

When Christmas vacation rolls round, the women bakers will be given the cakes to take home to their families or relatives as presents and as tangible and delectable proof that the women have learned something this semester.

Surprise Set For Kappas

On Sunday Kappa hall plans to have a Christmas party, the details of which are to be a surprise, according to Lorraine Nelson, general chairman of the event. Assisting her will be Elaine Cloudy who has charge of music and Ruth Van Orsdel who will handle the distributing of gifts.

Holiday Season Starts With Informal Parties

Informal parties are being held tonight by Alpha Psi hall, Delta Phi and Delta Tau Gamma in honor of Christmas. These will be the last social functions before Christmas vacation.

Delta Phi

The Delta Phi's and their dates will celebrate in a festive Christmas spirit tomorrow night an evening of dancing and singing of Christmas carols at the chapter house.

Decorations will be centered around the Christmas theme, with a finely trimmed Christmas tree, holly branches and mistletoe around the living room where the dancing will be, according to Miriam Day who is in charge of decorations.

Bette Burkhart is general chairman of the dance. Committee heads helping her are Miriam Day, decorations, and Betty Bruckman, refreshments.

Those attending the dance will be, Betty Bruckman, Verne Summers, Hazel Hoffmaster, Chuck Strong, Ruth Saffron, Dave McClain, Bonnie Jean Watson, Dick Adams, Coralee Nichols, Doug Baker, Kay Wilson, Bob Hess, Bette Burkhart, LeRoy Hale, Helen Zimmerman, George Ottum,

Delta Tau Gamma

A line party at the Grand theater will entertain Delta Tau Gamma members and their dates tomorrow night, followed by refreshments in Chresto.

Entertainment is in charge of Teddy Nelson, Beverly Cox, Rosalie Hoover and Helen Cooley. Refreshments are being planned by Doris Dough-ton and Marion Carter.

Willamette Grad Accepts Job In Islands

Miss Dorothy Cutler, graduate of Willamette and former cataloguer at the Salem public library, has accepted an offer to become district supervisor of army libraries on one of the Hawaiian Islands. She has been assigned to Camp Adair where she will observe army library procedure while awaiting further orders.

Miss Cutler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa B. Cutler of Portland. She graduated from Willamette in 1940, and was a member of Beta Chi. She took her library training at the University of Washington.

Kappas Have Xmas Party

Kappa hall women started the Christmas celebration with a tree decorating party last night followed by a sing around the fire. Virginia Peterson was in charge of securing a Christmas tree while Barbara Olmstead headed the house decorating. Eileen Eperlie provided the refreshments for the evening.

Alpha Psi Hall to Have Christmas Dance

A gala weekend will be in store for the women of Alpha Psi hall with the house Christmas party at midnight tonight and the informal Christmas dance scheduled for tomorrow night.

A Christmas tree, gifts and decorations will carry out the holiday theme for both affairs. Barbara Horton and Vicki Schultz are planning the house Christmas party. The women who eat at the hall but don't sleep there will spend tonight at the house.

Following the tradition established by the men of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity last year, the Alpha Psi hall women are inviting members of the student council and presidents of the houses to the dance tomorrow night. These special guests are Sybil Spears, Ed Ferguson, Jan Patterson, Darlene Dickson, Dorothy Estes, Ronny Runyan, Wilma Froman, John Stockman, Mary Acheson, Virginia Routson, Mary Bennett, Mary Jean Huston and Eleanor Todd. Three members of the council who belong to Alpha Psi hall are Marge Maulding, Margaret Pemberton and Nadene Mathews.

Patrons and patronesses will include Prof. and Mrs. Murco Ringnald, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Tschudy and Mrs. Helen Goodenough, housemother. Committees have been appointed by Miss Mathews as social chairman. These include: refreshments in charge of Lucille Randall, with Gloria Wunsch and Marion Cake assisting, Margaret Pemberton heads the clean-up with Gloria Brough, Eleanor Dayhoff, Audrey Gary and Maxine Miller.

Placing decorations around the house will be Helen Thomas, Barbara Diefendorf, Marge Maulding and Delores Rodie. Gifts will be handled by Ruth Ransom, Verna Stocks and Pat Philley. The committee on programs includes Barbara Shirley, Mary Kanoff and Melva Williamson. Doris Holmes is in charge of the invitations.

Festive Christmas Parties Planned for Next Week

Plans for festive Christmas parties have been scheduled by the campus living organizations on the Monday and Tuesday nights of the coming week.

Beta Chi

The Beta Chi pledges will entertain the sorority members at the chapter house Monday evening with a Christmas party.

Christmas will be the theme carried out through the evening. Gifts will be exchanged, followed by games and stunts planned by the pledges. Refreshments will be served later in the evening.

Barbara Pierce, pledge president, is in charge of the party. Serving on other committees are Georgia Hull and Kate Griffith, invitations; Virginia Covert, Jean Newman and Eileen Bontrager, refreshments; Betty McGee, Jean Rowland and Mary East, entertainment; Maryanne Wittliff, Paula Smith, Dorothy Symes and Marjorie Luzader, clean-up.

Guests will be the sorority members and the housemother, Mrs. J. A. Davidson.

Delta Phi

Delta Phi sorority members will hold their annual house Christmas party next Tuesday evening. The party will take the place of the regular house meeting.

The evening will be spent around the Christmas tree. Popcorn and other refreshments will be served. Vicky Jones and Jeanette Mack are in charge of the entertainment for the evening.

"TNT"

The women from the TNT house (formerly the PNT house) are planning an informal Christmas party Monday night.

There will be exchanging of gifts and all the members of the house will participate in the entertainment.

Ice cream and cake will be served as refreshments later in the evening.

Those attending will be Barbara Horton, Betty Brock, Gloria Wunch, Mary Houg-

Frederickson's

Plans are being formulated for a formal dinner and Christmas party at Frederickson hall on Tuesday.

Marjorie Beadles, freshman, has been chosen general chairman for the affair. Other committee members had not been selected when the Collegian went to press. There will be special music and carol singing by the group. Christmas decorations will be used on the tables and about the hall.

For the Christmas party following the dinner, Betty Louise Sinkola has been chosen chairman.

Alpha Phi Alpha

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree, red candles, holly, and firelight, will be the theme around which the annual Alpha Phi Alpha Christmas party will be centered Tuesday evening, at the sorority house. Gifts for the house will be given by the different classes at that time. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen

By Puck

Lovely da . . . oops . . . nce. Little crowded tho' . . . so many people. What? Well, if you untangled your neck from the crepearies you could hear me. Ouch! Oh, of course . . . it's not your fault I brought that part of me along. I really should keep it out of the way.

Oh, look! Ultra-sophistication! Shirlee Morgan in black crepe . . . straight lines, double straps across the shoulders . . . rhinestone pin at center bodice and pink rosebuds atop an upswept hairdo. Do you have a pencil? Yes, a pencil, it's not my fault if I'm a journalist and unnormal.

Everyone's going out for it . . . no, not the punch! Sophistication. Look at Thyra Jean Currey! Turn me around . . . oops! Habby, I didn't see you! Black velvet . . . drop shoulders . . . and narrow shoulder straps . . . AND GARDENIAS! Did I complain? But the least you could do was go out and pick me something.

Tan? Where? Oh, oh, don't rub against her . . . good make-up job . . . leg make-up does the darndest thing. Hi, Fin!

Hello Virginia . . . pencil, quick . . . flowing white silk crepe . . . gold lact trimming the round neckline and short sleeves, touched up with a gold belt and beautiful talisman rosebuds. Virginia Barbour . . . hey! Come back . . . I won't buy you a hamburger! That's a sweet boy.

Here comes Jeannie—Huston, dope! You know her . . . if wishes were horses you'd be one. Adorable is the word

Faculty Tea Holiday Fete

Faculty wives will hold their annual Christmas tea at the home of Mrs. G. Herbert Smith at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon will be spent singing Christmas carols with Prof. T. S. Roberts playing for them.

Mrs. Robert M. Gatke is general chairman of the affair. Helping her will be Mrs. Herbert Rahe, Mrs. Chester Luther, Mrs. Otto Skopii, Miss Lorena Jack, Miss Gayle Currey, Miss Constance Fowler, Mrs. E. Richards and Mrs. Herman Clark.

APA-Beta Chi Have Fireside

The annual firesides begin tonight when the Alpha Phi Alpha and the Beta Chi sororities will have their first meeting. The fireside will be at the Beta Chi house on State street. The gathering is for members and pledges of the two sororities.

Special guests for the affair will be Mrs. Wm. Kirk and Mrs. Joseph Davidson, Alpha Phi and Beta Chi housemothers, respectively.

. . . Spanish black lace scarf and full length velvet wrap topping a full turquoise chiffon formal . . . you're right there!

Who's who? Bonnie Jean Watson . . . good looking . . . black silk crepe skirt topped with white crepe short sleeved blouse with wild red applique around the shoulders . . . and a halo of red and white carnations in her hair. You know, sometimes these freshmen really show . . . but look at Betty Ann Swanson . . . that's really brass doorknobish (did I tell you Dr. Oliver's hunting for the brass doorknob? He misplaced it . . . quite upset he is, too) . . . black and white check taffeta modeled after the Victorian Era . . . full skirt of the check with a black inset . . . midway around the skirt . . . high neck ruching, and buttons up the back . . . upswept hair befitting the costume. Do you have a pencil sharpener? Now what's the matter? I did not call you a classroom!

Who? Where? Quick turn around . . . go the other way . . . maybe he won't see us!

Over there? Bernie Elgin. Tired, I guess . . . in pink net, very formal . . . with wide net shoulder straps, full skirt . . . ouch! Must you get so excited playing that slide trombone!

What now? It's only 11:30 . . . no, one tonight.

Sorry, I'm sorry . . . here let me help you up . . . What? Well, he's under that pile somewhere . . . he must've fainted!

Birthdays at Hall Honored

By candlelight, Wednesday night members of Frederickson hall, gathered in their Sunday best for a birthday dinner. Honored guests were all the men and women who eat there having birthdays from August 15 to December 15.

The tables were decorated with tall red and white candles in crystal holders. Holly was also used.

Either Anxious or Prompt . . . APA's Fastest on the Phone

By LeRoy Hale

"Here's your party, go ahead." Sharp as a tack—that's Alpha Phi Alpha. And coeds with the black and gold shield can take three graceful little curtsies for being the most prompt young ladies on the campus.

The Collegian statistician called each of the six women's houses on the campus to see how many rings were necessary before someone answered. Trailing behind the fasties in the house on Court street were Beta Chi, Fredrickson hall, and Alpha Psi hall, each with two rings.

After getting the "busy" signal for too long, from 8823, our young man with the phone numbers gave up, chalked the whole deal up to the fact that the Kappas MUST be the most popular women on the campus!

We shouldn't even mention the Delta Phis—such tardiness! Five rings it took the little lady to come to the phone! Maybe they're working on the "make-'em-wait and they'll appreciate you all the more" theory.

The apprentice seaman on watch at the USS Lausanne jumped to the phone after one and a half rings—to inform us that compulsory study hours made it impossible for anyone to dribble over the Ameche after 1900.

"Your three minutes are up, sir!"

35-Piece Band In Full 'Swing'

Anything from jazz to symphony can be heard at the school band jam sessions which have been taking place in the music hall under the direction of Prof. Maurice W. Brennen, leader. Through cooperation of civilian and naval students who find time to participate, the present 35-piece band is in full swing.

Brennen says there is much musical talent on the campus at this time, but other studies and activities keep the band personnel at a minimum. A number of instruments are needed for the band, among them saxophones and trombones. Any idle talent would be greatly appreciated.

While the band hopes to schedule a concert for the first of the year, the students may get a chance to hear it play in today's pep assembly during chapel hour. This first appearance—if it takes place—will give everyone a perspective of the size and ability of Willamette U's wartime band.

Smith Speaks At CPS Chapel

Pres. G. Herbert Smith left the campus Wednesday afternoon to speak at a College of Puget Sound chapel program yesterday morning in Tacoma. At noon, Smith was scheduled to speak before the Tacoma Rotary club. He returned to the campus this morning.

Second of B Wins Rough Game . . .

Second platoon of B took a big stride toward the playoffs when they measured the same platoon of Company C in last week's feature game. The fracas was nothing but rough all the way with bruisers like Mel Samuelson, Lloyd Kinsey, Bob Donavan, Jack Hannam and Clint Ferguson committing mayhem at every opportunity. Elbows were a dime a dozen under both baskets in this no quarter asked or given battle.

Although both teams had plenty of height neither of them were very effective in canning close in shots. It was long shots by Samuelson, Ferguson and George Blake which brought victory to Company B's representative. Blake was especially effective with his long one-handed push shots. Their opponents also had an ineffective zone defense which enabled the winners to get set time and again. Both of these teams will no doubt force their way into the post season playoffs in which the top four platoons will participate.

Second platoon of A showed a much better ball club than the preceding week although they bowed to the powerful first of A quintet. With Bob Ratcliffe pouring them in the losers got off to a quick lead, but this was shortlived when Andersen, Blade and Cate started operating. The winners were handicapped by the loss of their captain, Chuck Niemi, out with an injured foot but showed they are still to be reckoned with although losing their first game.

Varsity Stiff off on Shooting . . .

Still looking like anything but a college basketball team the Navycats lost both ends of last week's twin bill for the simple reason that they just haven't got their shooting eyes in focus. They hit a new all time low in Saturday night's closely contested game with the Music Makers when in the first half they dropped in four goals out of 39! This figures up to an average of a little over ten per cent.

The Musicians weren't exactly on the right key either and it was a hot streak by Rankin, lanky forward, that really won the game. Starting the second half he poured in 12 points in three minutes to give his team a good sized lead. The Portland team was comprised of players not too young but too old and the local speed burners should have taken them.

Pdul Folquet, definitely first five material, proved to be the 'Cats' top offensive threat and just missed making a hero out of himself in the last minute when he tossed a couple in and out shots with his team two points behind.

Important Games on Tap . . .

This afternoon's intramural schedule finds the undefeated first and second platoons of B taking on second and first of C respectively. First of B has lost several first stringers and will not be at top strength but will give their taller opponents a good battle. Claude Pearce, only six footer on the B team, is expected to do most of their backboard work and will find tough competition in the rangy C team. Most of the offensive punch will be taken care of by Pearce and Keith McGillivray with Loren Arnett, Jack Woods and Bob Donavan doing the same for the opposing team.

This corner will not venture a prediction, (being a member of one of the teams), on the above game but calls second platoon of B in a hard fought game over first of C. This promises to be another rough game and a busy session for the referees.

Rough Weekend Ahead . . .

Anything can and does happen in sports, but it looks like a tough weekend ahead for the Willamette aggregation. Their opponents, the 6' 7½" "Slim" Wintermute led Albinas, are the hottest team in the northwest, while the best that can be said about the Cardinal and Gold is that they are a team. On paper it goes way out of the realm of possibility when you figure that the Pacific Packards who split with the 'Cats, were beaten 94-52 by the Fort Lewis Reception center and the latter team in turn lost to the Albinas 51-44 with the winners hardly even pressed.

However, if the navy boys ever get hot they'll make it interesting for any team. They have everything to win and nothing to lose in this week's game and will thus be shooting the works. It's a cinch both games will be high-scoring affairs.

Guest Star for the Week Is . . .

Shared by Mel Samuelson and George Blake, mainstays on Company B's second platoon. Captain Samuelson, former Lewis and Clark performer, led his team to a well-earned triumph and it was Blake's spectacular archers which kept their record clean. Blake did his hooping for Gonzaga university before coming to Willamette.

Navycats Go After Win Tonight In Game With Albina Hellship

The Willamette Navycats will attempt to break their five game losing streak here tonight when they tangle with the highly-touted Albina Hellship five at 2000. The two teams will also meet tomorrow night in Portland.

Albina has yet to taste defeat, their most recent victory being over the powerful Fort Lewis Reception Center, led by Gail Bishop, ex-all American from Washington State college. In Portland's highest independent league, they have won five consecutive games.

The Hellship's attack is built around Urgel "Slim" Wintermute, huge six-foot eight-inch center who was an All-American at the University of Oregon. Other prominent members of the squad include Jack Butterworth, a smooth ball-handler from George Washington university, Maury Stremich, former holder of the prep scoring record in Portland, Red O'Connell, at present the most improved player on the squad, and Morrie Helser, experienced veteran of the independent circuit.

Last week's double defeat at the hands of Oregon State and Fee's Music Makers left the Navycats with a season's record of one win and six losses. The same trouble that has been plaguing Willamette all year once more proved their downfall. This, of course, is their inability to connect with a good percentage of their shots. In almost every contest, the 'Cats have taken more shots than their opponents but haven't been able to attain even a fair degree of accuracy.

They will have to be hitting tonight and tomorrow night if they expect to get anywhere with the Hellships, for this will probably be the toughest game of the year for the locals. Willamette will once more go into the conflict with the handicap of facing superior height.

Not once this season has Coach Trotter started the same lineup for the Navycats, and this game will probably be no different. Trotter is still looking for "that" combination but has so far been unable to find it. Most members of the team have played spotty basketball and it is difficult to pick the five who would all be hot the same night.

Folquet and Runyan made nine points each in Saturday's tussle to lead Willamette scoring. The team appeared to have improved in this affair and came within two points of winning. The men are eager to meet Albina and score a major upset, for they will enter the game as definite underdogs.

Willamette's Losing Streak Runs to Five Straight Games

Willamette's Navycats ran their losing streak to five straight Friday and Saturday, losing 28 to 23 to Oregon State at Corvallis, and 38 to 36 to Fee's Music Makers on the home floor.

In the Oregon State tussle, the 'Cats ran up against a defense that left them with a total of only 41 shots, about half the usual number they take. Of these 41, they connected on but nine. The Beavers used a close, shifting man-to-man defense against the zone of the locals. At the half it was 13 to 7 for Slat's Gill's squad. Jim Caterall, the game's leading individual scorer, dropped in the first point after nine and a half minutes of play. Caterall, an all-stater from Pendleton, ran up 18 counters before the evening was over.

The Beavers, with a lineup consisting of mainly freshmen, held the Navycats to a lone field goal the first half. Handicapped by the loss through injury of two starting men, Oregon State nevertheless had enough left to tip the Red and Gold, who, as usual, simply couldn't hit the bucket.

Willamette's starting lineup of Oberst, Director, Stroud, Warner and Frank did as well as any other combination that followed. Oberst, moved to forward in his first starting game, topped the 'Cat point-makers with a total of seven.

A Navycat rally, led by Runyan, Brownlee, Folquet and Adams, narrowed a big Beaver lead to four points late in the conflict, but two quick baskets cinched the affair for the men from Corvallis.

Willamette showed some signs of improvement in the Saturday battle against Fee's Music Makers, a league-leading independent outfit from Portland. It was anybody's game until the final whistle, the winning goal being made with only two minutes to play, breaking a tie score.

The game was a thriller all the way, but sloppily played. In the late stages of the second half, both teams began playing wild basketball, and numerous fouls were called. A grand total of 23 were tatted on the 'Cats. This proved to be the downfall of the locals. They made 14 of 75 attempts from the field, as compared to Fee's 10 out of 58 tries, but couldn't keep up with the visitors on the free throw line.

At the half it was 14 to 12 in favor of the Music Makers, as they overcame a 10 to 5 Willamette lead at the 10-minute mark. During the second half, Fee's switched their set-em-up style to a fast break and gradually pulled away from Coach Duke Trotter's charges. Their biggest lead at any one time in the game was nine points.

Rankin led all scorers with 18 counters. Folquet and Runyan headed the Navycat scoring with nine each. Coach Trotter inserted a lineup consisting of Browne, Folquet, Stroud, Runyan and Director late in the affair and it seemed to click better than any previous combination.

The double loss left the once-victorious Navycats with a record of six losses against their single win over the Pacific Packards. Worse than this, the competition from here on will be still tougher, with the power-laden Albina Hellship five scheduled for two games this weekend. The Hellships are reputed to be one of the strongest teams in the northwest.

WU V-12 Unit Inspected

The Willamette V-12 unit was inspected Friday and Saturday by Commander A. S. Adams, representative of the Bureau of Personnel in Washington, D.C. Adams is inspecting all V-12 units west of the Rocky Mountains and left for Seattle following his stop here.

No official report as to his rating of the Willamette unit was available, according to unit officers. Unofficial reports claimed that the school stood well in comparison to others on the coast and that the unit received a perfect rating at inspection.

Adams arrived by navy plane and was accompanied by Lt. M. L. Stone and Lt. Commander Hoyt, pilot of the plane.

Brewster, Oliver Accept OSC Offer

Dwaine Brewster and James Oliver, senior chemistry majors, this week decided to accept the fellowships in science offered them at Oregon State college. The two will leave for Corvallis at the end of this semester and there they will carry on graduate work in chemistry.

Storekeeper Change Made

Thomas J. Scanlon, storekeeper 1/c, has taken over the duties as storekeeper of the navy unit. He replaces Russ Hannaman who left last week.

Scanlon, a native of Chicago, has been in the navy 20 months, 18 of which were spent on active duty in the Aleutians aboard a supply and repair ship. The lights in Salem aren't quite as bright as those of his native Chicago but it is great to be back in civilization and the duty here is wonderful, he stated.

B2 Defeats C2 to Become Contender for 'Mural Crown

The B2's showed the reason that they are one of the leading contenders for the intramural crown by pushing past C2 in a rough and tumble game by the score of 22-16 Friday.

The winners held a half time lead of 11-8 after Samuelson had dropped in six points and C. Ferguson five. In the second half George Blake got his eye and hit the hump for four field goals to decide the game. Flery Rees Williams paced the losers with six points, followed by rough Donovan with four. Big Jack Hannam was expected to dominate the play, but was swarmed under everytime he had the ball.

The A2's had their second defeat of the season chalked up against them as the A1's dropped them 17-12. In the second half the losers were held to two points.

With Bill Cate scoring six points in the first half and Davidson four, for the A1's, and Radcliffe scoring six points for the A2's, the half time score was a 10-10 deadlock. In the second half, however, Howard was the only A2 to find the baskets, but only once. Both games were handled by Doc Peters and Pop Oslund.

Debate Interests Seven Students

Among those indicating their interest in participating in debate this year are Edwin Coulter, Beverley Cox, Ernest Dietrich, John Pike, Clark Robb, Dave Teeter and Richard Wicks.

Two Heroes Added To Willamette Roster

Another record was set recently. The official time for first place was 45 seconds, with all honors going to that likeable character, Winsor Acton. No, it wasn't a record for the floating tests or for underwater swimming at the Y. It was just Acton in action under the mistletoe at Fredrickson's last Saturday evening. Runner-up for second place was "Ludwig" Van Liew in 6 seconds flat.

War Council Starts Work

The Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders has organized a war council federation comprising the colleges and universities in Oregon, with headquarters for the federation located at Oregon State college. The plan opens the way for a consolidation of all war activities on the various campuses of Oregon and it is hoped that a full program of war activities will be organized by each school. Jean Rowland is Willamette representative.

A mimeographed paper will be printed monthly with contributions from all the member schools. The paper will include the activities, problems and suggestions from all campuses and will be compiled at Oregon State. Schools pledging their support at the conference were Lewis and Clark college, Linfield college, Oregon College of Education, Oregon State college, Marylhurst college, Mt. Angel college, Portland university, Pacific university, and St. Helens Hall.

Willamette proved to be one of the most active universities at the conference in reference to a war program. This activity was based on the Victory Drive of the summer semester.

Patterson Lists Ad Solicitors

A staff of eight students has been selected by Jan Patterson, publications manager, to assist in the soliciting of advertising for the Collegian. In addition to Margaret Hughlett, Miss Patterson's assistant, the new solicitors are Bob Batdorf, Albert Christensen, Horace Coulter, Dorothy Hoar, Virginia Pope, June MacMillan, Ruth Saffron and Phyllis Haworth.

Sports Shots...

By Bob Deagle

Robert Richard Warner, the third member of the basketball squad to be interviewed, further gives proof of the fact that this year's team is made up almost entirely of native Oregonians. Bob was born in Portland, where he has lived ever since, until, of course, his recent "removal" to Salem.

As for physical stature, he is an even six feet tall and weighs 165 pounds. Bob says he is eligible to vote for Roosevelt at the next election since he became 21 years old last October.

Warner attended Jefferson high school in Portland where he played basketball for two years. He was better known for his baseball ability, being a member of three consecutive prep championship teams, as a star pitcher.

Bob went to Oregon State college for a year, then transferred to Lewis and Clark in 1942. He played the casaba sport for the latter school last year. He has started several games this year for the Navycats and is noted for his lightning-like passes to set up plays.

Warner was offered a scholarship to Willamette upon graduating from high school but already had planned to attend Oregon State. Ironically enough, he was destined to come to the Salem institution. He will be sent to midshipmen school in March if present plans go through, as a deck officer candidate. Bob would like to get into the Physical Education department (right now that division is pretty well filled).

Dick Maxwell

Dick Maxwell becomes the first out-of-state hoopster on our list. He comes from Colfax, Washington. Dick, like most of the other team members, is "of age," or 21. He is approximately six feet "up and down" and tips the scales at 180.

Maxwell played three years of basketball at Colfax, then moved to Washington State college where he was a starter on the frosh team. He plays either a guard or forward position for this year's edition of the Willamette squad. Dick is a good ball handler, an excellent shot and has the added advantage of experience.

He believes Willamette has good basketball material but will take a couple more games to get started on the right track. "From then on," says Dick, "we'll be hard to stop. We can't keep on missing that hoop like we have been forever."

Blue Key Elects Today

Blue Key members will meet this afternoon for the first time this semester to elect new members to fill the ranks of this national honorary fraternity. At the present time only five members are on the campus and the normal complement consists of ten seniors and five juniors, making a total of 15 members.

Established in 1926 on the Willamette university campus, Blue Key serves a dual purpose; that of promotion of student spirit through the change of ideas and by functioning as a place of contact between student and faculty members. It is composed entirely of junior and senior men outstanding in scholarship, character traits and school service.

Members now on the campus are Gordon Kunke, Ronald Runyan, Jack Glasse and Richard Wicks, all juniors, and Jay Oliver, a senior.

Week's News Feature of Speech Class

"It's the News of the Week"—filmed by members of Doctor H. E. Rahe's fourth period radio-speech class, under the combined direction of students Darlene Dickson, Betty Bentley, Beverly Wells, Jack Watson and LeRoy Hale.

All the WU news that's fit to be aired—and some that isn't—is given a working-over by the big five every now and then, with statements, dramatized events and editorial comment dominating the class's time for ten solid minutes.

Direction is by Dickson, Bentley, Wells, Watson and Hale, while Hale, Watson, Wells, Bentley and Dickson take over most of the dramatic episodes. Narration is by D. B. W. W. and H. (It's sort of a co-op affair—and must we add that more than one egg is laid during the program!)

More Free Advertising For the Bookstore

Good news to those individuals who call in at the bookstore every day asking about the arrival of pennants and Greek letters. They really are here now and the pennants are in four sizes, suitable to anyone's pocketbook. Sorry, still no stationery but just be patient, we didn't have pennants or Greek letters for a while, either.

8 Upperclassmen, 30 Frosh In School on Scholarships

Scholarships from several sources have been awarded to 38 students now on the campus. Eight of these scholarships were presented to upperclassmen who had completed certain requirements to make them eligible for the award and two are the freshman Rotary club scholarships. The remaining 28 have been awarded to freshman students entering Willamette this fall, according to Walter E. Erickson, chairman of the scholarship board.

The Mary E. Collins scholarships, which are awarded annually to two sophomore women and two men who have a high

133 Studying Applied Music

The ever-expanding College of Music now lists 133 students in applied music, according to figures released yesterday by Dean Melvin H. Geist. Since the music school won national recognition during the last school year by receiving full membership in the National Association of Schools of Music, enrollment there has increased so that it was necessary to add two new full time instructors and many new courses.

The addition of Ralph Dobbs as head of the piano department has raised the total of students taking piano to 74, studying with Dobbs, Bennet Ludden and Miss Helen MacHirron. Dobbs himself has ten more pupils this year than studied in the entire department last year.

Voice claims the next largest number of pupils, with 41 studying under Geist and Miss Evangeline Merritt. Seven are studying violin with Mrs. Mary Schultz Duncan; seven, organ with Prof. T. E. Roberts, and four, orchestral instruments with Lewis Pankaskie.

Old Tradition Broken When Chresto Used Intellectually

By Pat Tracy

Chresto Cottage has gone intellectual! You all know what meeting at Chresto used to mean, but do you all know that Dr. R. I. Lovell holds his seminar class there on Thursday evenings now? Yep, it's kind of inconvenient for everybody concerned, but that's the way it has to be.

In previous years Dr. Lovell has held seminar in his own home, making it a comfortable, informal gathering with a homey atmosphere, and... we'll never forget the luscious hot chocolate and cookies that Mrs. Lovell used to serve. But this year the majority of the class is made up of navy men who can't leave the campus in the evenings, so they have to meet at Chresto.

Dr. Lovell's seminar groups usually consist of not more than 12 selected senior students majoring in history, social science, economics, or journalism. At each class meeting a report on some subject concerning history is made by one of the students, followed by informal discussion on the topic.

Primary object of the seminar is to prepare students for their senior comprehensive examinations and orals. "The reason being that most students do too much listening and not enough thinking or talking," said Lovell.

Seminar meets once a week and discussions are followed by refreshments. Dr. Lovell furnishes cider while the women students provide the food. The men divide the expenses between them for their share.

The class is made up of eight navy men, four coeds and one civilian this semester. They are Jack Hanman, R. B. Harris, Douglas Heath, Dick Maxwell, Don McClain, Stan Skillcorn, Leonard Steinbock, Walt Yaun, Sybil Spears, Marge Maulding, Marion Cake, Nadene Mathews and Dick Tatro.

So now that you all know why the lights are on in Chresto on Thursday nights, I'll sign off with a special bit of information to the students enrolled in the seminar. We hear that Dr. Lovell may replace the cider he has been serving with some of Mrs. Lovell's hot chocolate and that is something to look forward to!

Hathaway Wins Award For Oration Manuscript

Barbara Hathaway, former Willamette student who won first place in the State Peace contest at Pacific university last year with her oration "These Things Abide," has been awarded national honorable mention on the basis of her oration manuscript submitted to a national speech committee. The gist of her oration lay in the fact that in the midst of turmoil and destruction, our fundamental principles of life will remain with us, and that our everyday commonplace pleasures and activities form a definite background for our fundamental principles.

Miss Hathaway is especially remembered on the campus for her interest and participation in the speech and dramatic activities. Last summer she attended the Stanford Radio Institute, which consisted of three days a week spent in laboratory work at San Francisco stations KPO and KGO, under the direction of NBC staff members, and involved a thorough study in the principles of radio, and studio procedure, covering script writing and program direction.

Miss Hathaway has been a member of the staff of KGW in Portland for the past three months. Her script work there consists of one 15 minute dramatic script weekly, a continuity for a 15 minute Sunday Serenade at 12 noon, and the script

Fee Payments Come on Time

Robert Fenix, business secretary, reported this week that the second half of the semester tuition payments are coming in according to schedule. Indications are that no student will be late this semester with their fees.

In years before lists of students who had not paid their fees were sent around to professors and students were not allowed to report to class until their fees were paid.

Fenix changed the system last summer so that payments come in on three set dates. It seemed to work very well in the summer, he stated, so it is being tried again for the fall semester.

The first payment was due on registration day, the second on Wednesday and the third and last, a payment of board and room fees, on January 15.
