

FROSH WIN BAG-RUSH

Class Fight Results in Walk-Away for Frosh—Gregg, Spiess and Hayner Prominent in Fight.

The first annual bag-rush between the Sophs and the Frosh ended in a walk-away for the children.

This scrap, initiated by a joint committee from the two classes, is intended to systematize the rival conflicts of the under classmen. In order to do away with many sleepless nights and several superfluous coats of paint to bedeck the grand stand roof, the scheme was proposed as a safety-valve for infant class spirit. The regulations of the game are as follows:

1. Each team consists of twelve men.
2. Three bags of sawdust weighing twenty pounds each are placed on the fifty-yard line of the gridiron, the aim of the game being to carry the bags over the goal lines of the field. When once a bag has been carried over the line, it is then "dead," and the play centers about the other bag or bags.
3. The team which first carries two of the bags over its goal line is declared the winner.
4. All slugging and kicking are barred, and all men, who thus disqualify themselves, are eliminated from the game without chance of substitutes.
5. The play is continuous until one team wins, provided the time of play does not exceed one hour.

The Game.

When the game was opened by Coach Thompson's whistle, there was a grand rush for the center of the field. The conflict which ensued was a melee of arms, legs, torn shirts, and an occasional emergence of a muddy sack, in the close embrace of three or four grimy warriors. After two minutes of fierce fighting, Hayner broke away from one of the tusseling groups and made a forty-five yard run to the goal, thus giving the Freshmen the first point. Meanwhile Gregg, for the Sophomores, was the standing Laocoon rising above a mass of twisting, writhing forms, bearing aloft upon his shoulder a lifeless bag of sawdust, as did the pious Aeneas, the ancient Anchises.

Scattered over the field, away from the central contesting groups, were various minor conflicts. Cotton and Matthews participated in a mutual bear-hug stunt, each severing the other's communication with the main body of his army. McQueen and Steeves were locked in a death-like grip, performing a sideshow of their own. Spiess, the giant Frosh, was pleasantly employed in handling two of his opponents.

The massed groups swayed back and forth as the weight of the contending sides varied. Finally young Tobie was suddenly seen to disappear down the field accompanied by the second sack of sawdust, thus ending the game in favor of the Freshmen. The officials were:

Goal Referees—H. Irvine and Jory. Field Referees—Coach Thompson, Doane, Bolt.

Timekeeper—P. Irvine. The contesting teams were: Sophomores—Adams, Barnes, Gillette, Sherman, Gralapp, Reetz, Steeves, Flint, Chappler, Gregg, Cotton, King.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At the meeting of the executive committee Monday the transaction of routine business was the chief feature. Bills presented by the O. A. C. excursion committees and the football manager were accepted and ordered paid. The contract between the manager of the Collegian and the Associated Students was accepted.

The following committee members were present: Professor Walsh, Emery Doane, Walter Gleiser, Emma Minton, Warren Booth, Arlie Walker, Sam Russell and Leland Sackett.

TRIAL NEXT MONDAY.

Mr. Lander, of Marion county, has brought suit for ejectment against Mr. Tenant, also a resident near Salem. Mr. Lander claims that Tenant has wrongfully withheld certain lands from him and is asking the court to eject Tenant and give him a clear title to the premises.

Lander claims title under the will of his father, who died several years ago, and had divided the property between his wife and his son, the plaintiff in this action. The will, however, contained the provision that this property could not be disposed of unless it was necessary to use it for the support of the widow or for the education of minor children.

In defense Mr. Tenant claims that he received a deed from Mrs. Lander twelve years ago, and is entitled to a clear title under this deed or upon holding this property in adverse possession for this length of time.

This case has been set for trial in the moot court of the Willamette University College of Law for next Monday night. Attorneys Stroud, Mark and McCaddam will represent the plaintiff, while the defendant has retained Attorneys Ball, Miss Esther Carson and Ohling.

The scoreless game at Albany last Saturday, when O. A. C. and U. of W. clashed, has somewhat upset the dope that the sporting editors had made. Washington has not lost a single game in seven years and with the tie existing between them and the Corvallis institution, there promises to be intense interest over the outcome of the coming Oregon-Washington and Oregon-O. A. C. games. Should Oregon defeat Washington, she would have a clear title to the championship, while if Washington should defeat Oregon, the result would depend on the outcome of the Oregon-O. A. C. contest.

RESEARCH INSTITUTE ELECTS

Scientific Research Institute Elects.

At the last regular session of the Willamette Institute of Scientific Research, Harold Jory tendered his resignation as president. "Peter" Pfaff was elected to fill this vacancy and Harry Rice was made recording master of the exchequer, which office was made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Pfaff.

Following the business meeting Prof. DeBra presented a splendid paper on "The Historical Development of the Internal Combustion Engine." This, it is said, was technically correct and still not beyond the grasp of the average scientific student, and was greatly enjoyed by the club.

Student Volunteers Clean House.

The prospective missionaries, otherwise known by the militant cognomen of "Student Volunteer Band," held a general house-cleaning in the band room in Science hall. The place was completely renovated and if the missionaries clean up the foreign lands in the way they went after their American abode, the gospel will surely sweep the globe.

SOME POLITICS FRIDAY.

The chapel was struck Friday morning by a political cyclone which resulted in bursts of eloquence from the representative party leaders. J. Read Bain started activities by rallying the Republican forces and announcing the proposed organization of the Willamette Republican Club. Following Mr. Bain's inclusive speech, "Roary" Mac upheld the honor of the Democrats, afterward acknowledging that he was an Independent. Mr. Dawe, Socialist, maintained that it were better to vote for what you want and not get it, than to vote for what you don't want and get it. The caucus would not have been complete without a speech from the suffragists, so Miss Barton came to their defense and ably upheld her sex, urging upon her fellow-citizens the necessity of exercising their right of suffrage. Mr. Francis spoke for the Prohis and the meeting adjourned amid much enthusiasm.

DR. RAYMOND ENTERTAINS

Quite a number of university students are congratulating themselves on the fact that they were enabled to hear Dr. Jerome Hall Raymond's stereopticon lectures before the Marion county teachers' association at the Christian church on Thursday and Friday. The lectures were timely, dealing with "The Underlying Causes of the War-Madness in Europe." By title they were:

1. Constantinople—The Long-Enviied Bone of Contention of the Great Powers.
2. Russia—The Giant Guardian of the Slavs and Their Ambitions.
3. Germany—The Death-Grapple of Militarism and Social Democracy.
4. London—The Anglo-Saxon Struggle for Twentieth Century Progress.

Dr. Raymond presented the civic conditions and scenic spots of war-invested Europe, in a very clear, forceful, logical manner and, aided by the beautiful slides, was very much appreciated.

MEDAL DUE FAIR CO-ED

A week ago last Tuesday afternoon a procession headed by the world-famous Mildred McBride sallied forth to study botany in Bush's pasture. All was peaceful, and a gentle running-brook-and-daisies-fair calm rested over the group until suddenly "Oh, girls," shrieked a Freshman lass, "there's a cow."

Immediately pandemonium reigned. Stout-hearted, militant suffragettes fainted. The slaughter was terrific. The aforesaid freshman maid "climbed the cap-ax," by running straight toward the monster, while visions of Horatius at the Bridge arose before her mind.

The redoubtable Mildred saved the day. Snatching a Tango hair-pin from the nearest head, she brandished it at the cow. "So-Boss," her pained feelings showing in every line of her features, stalked off, and comparative quiet was soon restored.

Y. W. C. A.

Breezes Brought Home From Cohasset.

Last Thursday an invitation was extended to all the girls to attend the summer conference in the rest room. The meeting started off with a hymn sung from above countless sofa pillows.

The sea breezes and the sights of ships far out on the water were brought from Cohasset by the Misses McBride, St. Pierre, Lent, Bartholomew and Van Winkle.

The songs sung were reproductions of those that rang on the beach and conditions true to those of the conference meeting place were brought home.

The large attendance of varsity girls was augmented by a number of town ladies and high school girls. It's not every day that the charm and beauty of a summer sea is brought inland on a winter's day, but last Thursday was one of those exceptional times.

It has been suggested that Master Clarke Walsh dreamed that the pony, the harness, and the rig were all his own. Have you helped to make the boyish vision come true?

FOOTBALL!

Next Saturday Pacific College, of Newberg, meets Willamette on the varsity field. This is the first time in a number of years that the two institutions have clashed on the gridiron and a lively contest is anticipated. The game is called for 3 o'clock. Everybody Be There!

No Definite Glee Club Plans.

Plans for the organization of the glee club have not matured as yet, but Dean Mendenhall expects to make a definite announcement in the near future. The club needs second tenors especially this season and it is hoped that the Freshmen will produce the much-needed warblers to uphold that line of notes. Several baritones and basses will be needed, but at this writing it is impossible to verify the supposition. The dean says that no trip will be taken during the Christmas holidays, as for Easter vacation plans, time will tell.

A complete reorganization of the ladies' club will occur soon. Preliminary practices have been held and the future looks encouraging. The dean says not to pad this story "unduly," so here seems to be the "psychological" moment to quit.

ELECTION RETURNS

The following seem to be some of the results of yesterday's election: For Representative—W. C. Hawley. For U. S. Senator—George E. Chamberlain.

For Governor—James Withycombe. The vote on the prohibition amendment seems to be very close, with a slight advantage for the dries. The wets seem to depend upon Multnomah county for a large majority to offset this, but early today it seems that Portland's county will fail to do this for the wets. Reports from outlying counties give the dries a small lead. Indications are that Washington will go dry, and California wet.

At present no returns have been received on supreme judges or other state officers.

OUR TARDY SCHOLARSHIP.

The indisputable fact that our schoolboys of sixteen and over are two full years behind those of the same age in Europe continues to excite comment. The situation is intolerable. Few wish to confess that our youth are less bright than those of Germany, France and England. Their backwardness must be connected in some way with the public schools. Somewhere in the system there is a lack of efficiency.

Dr. Charles L. Dana, of Cornell, believes that some improvement might be effected by lengthening the school day. This is more feasible in the higher grades than in the lower, but even the youngest children might profitably spend more time at school than they do. The common belief that they exercise their minds too freely is a silly myth. The trouble with most of them is that they do not exercise their minds enough. What with coddling at home and pampering at school it is a wonder that they learn anything at all.

We should not be surprised considering how unwisely the ordinary American parent treats his children, if they were five years behind European scholars instead of two. Taking all the circumstances into account it is greatly to their credit that they do so well.

Our school year is too short, we have too many vacations, and the summer vacation is far too long for the pupils' good. Students of the subject are also coming to believe with Dr. Dana that the school day ought to be longer than it is. The sessions should

U. of O. DEFEATS WILLAMETTE

All Willamette Men Worked Hard, But Were Outplayed.

Outweighed twenty pounds to the man by the State University huskies, the Willamette football team suffered a 61-to-0 defeat on Kincaid field last Friday. No cry of "hard luck" or "raw deal" goes up from the defeated team, but rather the sons of Jason Lee are "dreaming dreams" of a 6 to 3 score and have learned from Oregon's experience of a year ago that excuses for a defeat are of no avail.

Oregon's gains were made around ends, the splendid backing up of the Willamette line by Flegel making line plunging impracticable. Bezdek's men attempted seventeen forward passes, completing only two, one of which gave a gain of less than two yards. Willamette did not try the aerial method, her only tactics outside of the "old-fashioned" football being in a line shift formation which failed to gain yardage. The Willamette boys were unable to make first downs at any time.

In the punting duel, Doane slightly bested his rival.

The scoring commenced within the first four minutes of play when, in punt formation, a bad pass, nearly two yards over Doane's head, rolled across the goal line, Doane fumbling, and Mitchell recovering, for a touchdown. Cornwall kicked goal.

Bolt kicked off to Monteith, who returned 30 yards. Short end runs soon advanced the ball into Willamette's territory where an incomplete forward pass over the goal line gave Willamette the ball on her own 20 yard line. Doane punted to Sharp who ran through a broken field for a second touchdown.

Again Willamette kicked off, the ball was advanced by the Oregon backs, and then lost by an incomplete pass on Willamette's 20-yard line. Doane punted out. The ball was advanced by Bigbee, Monteith and Hendricks for another touchdown.

During the second and third quarters Willamette played such an uphill game as is seldom played by a light already defeated team. Bezdek continually sent in fresh men and during the game used more than a score of men.

Near the end of the third quarter seven men were sent in at one time. Bryant, one of these, tore away for gains of from ten to thirty yards, the Willamette men not being able to get hold of him. Time after time he got back to the secondary defense, and although Booth and Doane tackled hard, the gains were long.

On the whole the Willamette line held well. Oregon made no gains by line plunges. Splendid interference made long end runs possible and it was by this method that the Oregon bunch advanced. Forward passes were broken up by the Willamette backs, and the only one on which Oregon made any considerable gain was when Doane attempted to intercept, fumbled, and an Oregon end caught it before it touched the ground.

But one opportunity for a touchdown was offered to the missionaries. With an open field before him, Doane assumed his customary position just where the Oregon forward pass was coming. Although he broke up the pass, he failed to hold the ball and Nobody needs to fear that the children's health would suffer. It is not work that injures them. Both brain and muscle could do a great deal more without the slightest ill effect. It is injudicious diet, late hours and the excitement of those "social pleasures" in which little boys and girls are encouraged by their fond parents to indulge that do the mischief. If they were in bed at 8 o'clock every night and made to live on a simple diet of bread, milk and vegetables they could study and play all day long without suffering any injury.

Of course, proper playtime is as essential as study time. It is our lack of adaisical habits in regard to both that keep our children behind in their school work.—Portland Oregonian.

THE PRESIDENT'S CHARGE.

As the terrible war in Europe continues, Americans cannot keep from discussing its frightful progress. Already our public speakers must talk about the war to get a hearing. The people of New York say that it seems that the war is at their very doors for every one is so thoroughly agitated. There the news is flashed upon the Times building almost as soon as it happens.

In every hamlet of our country are representatives of every nation that has been drawn into the contest. If each American citizen were to side with the land of his fathers, a civil war too stupendous to contemplate would be made possible.

An event that seemed to be but a personal matter was the occasion for the war. In all our debates and discussions, let us carefully preserve the true American attitude which President Wilson placed before his people in his neutrality proclamation. If you have forgotten its terms, read it again, and then carefully guard your words and your actions in accordance with it.

On the second of October, the nation prayed for peace. On this day let the individual pray for peace; for that peace which will bring the first trial of that greatest system of morals and religion—Christianity.

STUDENT CONTROL.

Last year the Junior class presented to the Board of Trustees a petition asking that direct control be given to the students of the university. The board has been considering the matter, we suspect. But do the students want control? Are they ready for it? If they were given control, what benefits, that they do not already enjoy, will be acquired?

On the face of the proposition it seems that the trustees will be as kind to the students as is the American government to the large number of them who help to elect United States senators and who have the privilege of voting "332 X Yes."

If the college students of America cannot be trusted to rule themselves aright, then what hope will there be for the republic in a few years when this great army of incompetents will be the chief law-makers and law-enforcers of the country?

"Student Control," "The Honor System," and kindred topics offer a broad field for profitable discussion. The columns of The Collegian are open for you to use in the discussion of these subjects as they relate to Willamette.

THE PRICE OF AMERICANISM.

When Harvard refused to accept the resignation of Professor Munsterburg in the face of the threat that a legacy of $10,000,000 would be withdrawn if the professor was not discharged, the proud institution displayed before the world the fact that she still values the principles of true Americanism more than the added power which the millions would bring.

As long as America is America, that great right of her citizens, freedom of speech, must remain intact. As long as the republic and her institutions prize liberty more than gold, so long will the nation prosper. But if the time comes when American rights and privileges are turned into licentious liberty, then the fate of the nation will be sealed. Freedom of speech, used aright, is one of America's mightiest values; freedom of speech, prostituted is one of her deadliest menaces.

TO ADVERTISE WILLAMETTE.

The annual Freshman Glee has given to Willamette a collection of original college songs that equal or surpass that of any other college in the Northwest. Here is an opportunity to make the "Glee" songs of more practical benefit to our university.

Publish a few of Willamette's best songs in attractive covers with Willamette pictures of "the charm of her shadows cool," and "the glory of her sunshine." Then advertise that a copy of these selections will be mailed free to any one desiring it. As these songs are scattered broadcast, the delightful music and the winning words cannot fail to make the thoughts of all who hear them turn toward the "New Willamette."

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT DEBATED

The Epworth League of Leslie M. E. church held an interesting session last Sunday evening from 6:30 to 7:30. The topic for the meeting was "The Root of Murder." The good-sized audience present received entertainment and profit from the splendid debate upon the question, "Resolved, That Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished in Oregon." The affirmative side was upheld by Sam Russell and Joe Gerhart, and the negative point of view was maintained by Spiess and J. R. Bain. Ten minutes were allowed to each speaker. The very fact that each one of the debaters was earnestly and honestly in favor of the side for which he was speaking added weight to his words. The opinion of some of the voters in the audience was changed probably, as a direct result of the excellent discussion of this important subject.

The Leslie Epworth League aims to make its activities interesting and profitable. The league desires all W. U. students to know that they will be welcomed at its services. "Come and see."

Salem Preachers Exchange Pulpits. As a grand finale for the "332 X Yes" campaign in Salem, the pastors of the city churches exchanged pulpits last Sunday evening, each not knowing what pulpit he was to fill until the assignments were made in the rooms of the city Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock.

PEOPLES' Editorials

Yes, fellow students, the present Senior class has broken the record for speedy slapping of paint on the bell-tower roof according to the agreement between the four classes of previous years. The last thing we heard of comment on the solemn compact was J. Read Bain's immortal satire, "Let the old boy ring," and that was in March. Now, however, that the pace has been set, it behooves the Juniors and Sophomores to follow suit if the iron herald of victory is to be spared a ducking from a somewhat porous roof.

To the Editor:

I crave a minute's attention on the subject of "Attitude" on the part of the student to the instructor. The number of times a student is hampered in his earnest endeavor to get the point under discussion is startling, if he or she will tarry by the way in the "flowery path of knowledge" and recollect the number of disturbing influences of a single week—or a day, for that matter. The seemingly over-present "semi-audible" whisper or "under the breath comment" of yourself or the student at your side is permissible at times, but when it becomes a battery of steady mutterings and plannings about the "next joint," or "he said this and she said that," it is I say time to call a halt.

Just the other day when Professor MacMurray was proving a very good point in a certain argument, a similar disturbing element was present and he was forced, for the good of the class and for the sake of the important matter under discussion, to spend five minutes in repetition. Now time is priceless, for does not the great man say, "Dost thou love life? Then, if so, why dost thou waste time for that is the stuff life is made of." We, your fellow students, are here for business and we mean it and we seemingly have been laboring under the impression that you are here for a like purpose. We want to meet on a plane of equality with liberty and justice for all. Fun has its place. Say a few more whisperings to her at the front gate some night and be less free with them in the class room. I thank you. M. E. B.

Rhodes Scholarship

A feeling that the present system leads every so often to a loss of interest in the Rhodes scholarship plan is undoubtedly the dominant force behind the determination of the trustees to make a change in the method of choosing the scholars from this country. Hereafter there will be elections from two-thirds of the states every year and the old idea of elections from all the states two years out of three will be abandoned. This new plan will insure to Oxford an uninterrupted flow of American students and should put an end to the lethargy that prevails here whenever a so-called lean year is upon us. At best the trustees seem to be having their troubles maintaining a continuous interest in Cecil Rhodes' vast enterprise and they are on the alert to popularize it. It was only last year, it will be remembered, that the Oxford relations were relaxed to the extent of excusing American candidates or scholarships from entrance examinations in Greek.—Boston Transcript.

College Social Life

The Adelantes entertained in their halls Saturday evening in honor of the new girls. The butterfly motif was graceful and unique. The guests were met at the door by two daintily costumed little butterflies in the persons of the Misses Rosalie Buren and Josephine Albert. Mrs. George Alden and Miss Pearce greeted the ladies at the door while the Misses Ada Ross and Dorothy Pearce presented them with charming little French boutonnieres. The halls were decorated with evergreens and nasturtiums, with baskets of marigolds suspended from the corners and archways. Fairy-like butterflies were seen hovering about the lights or resting upon a twig of flower. The centerpiece for the serving table was of marigolds and smilax. Ices were cut by the Misses Pearce and Lent. Gertrude Eakin presided at the punch-bowl. A very clever program was arranged. Miss Dorothy Pearce played. Miss Gladys Luthy read a Riley poem; Miss Margaret Hodge sang beautifully; Miss Flora Cone rendered piano solos and an original farce written by Miss Helen Pearce was given.

The success of the evening was largely due to the following committee: Miss Ruth Boyer, chairman; Miss Aetna Emmel, Miss Lila Dougherty, and Miss Grace Thompson, with their many helpers.

The Misses Van Winkle, McBride and Mulkey were hostesses at a slumber party after all the other festivities were over Friday evening. Evidently sleep was not the purpose of the "slumber" party as alarms woke the guests each hour. The following

Campus Notes

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday last has been pronounced the finest meeting of the year, at least in point of interest. It was strictly a student meeting, led by Tinkham Gilbert. The subject, that of the Trinity, was a deep one, and provoked much profound discussion in which Tobie, Irvine and Gilbert figured prominently. Near the close of the service plans were proposed for increasing the membership. Professor Morton then invited the Religious Work Committee to meet at his home next Thursday evening to discuss ways and means for more efficient endeavor.

Republican Club.

The organization of the Willamette Republican Club was completed last Friday noon, with Charles Ohling as president; Harold Miller, vice-president; Kate Barton, secretary; J. R. Bain, treasurer. The loyalists of this club appeared in the Republican rally Friday night, greeted Congressman Hawley as an alumnus of W. U. and his brother Philodoriens gave him the glad hand. Altogether much enthusiasm was manifested and the club bids fair to become a permanent organization.

A small but intelligent audience listened with marked attention to the first public appearance of the Comparative Politics class in the chapel of Waller hall on Saturday evening. Vital measures of timely interest to the voters were discussed pro and con by Paget, Irvine, Bolt, Savage, Mark and McDaniel in a manner worthy of aspiring young politicians.

Professor Morton was unable to meet a number of his classes last week on account of an impaired throat.

Why does Sam King blush at bag rushes anyhow? There's a reason.

Professor Sherman—Greece helped to make the Greeks famous.
Brilliant Student—Modern women use cold cream.

The Websterian quartet, consisting of Messrs. Jory, Chapler, Gillette and Steeves, rendered two selections at the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Oregon State Penitentiary last Sunday.

LAW NOTES.

The Junior law class is exceptionally small this year on account of the change in the course from two to three years. Most of last year's Juniors are endeavoring to finish the work this year, leaving only five of last year's beginners who are taking the three-year course.

Mrs. E. K. Page, who began the course two years ago, but was forced to drop the work last year on account of illness, has resumed the work as a Senior.

Paul Smith resumed his studies the middle of last week. "Pinky" is a member of the Junior class. He spent his summer in Washington, working on the government geological survey.

The Seniors meet with the Juniors twice a week in the Evidence class. This makes it necessary for them to have evening classes in Feudal Procedure, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Registrar A. Hall estimates that the University of Michigan enrollment figures for this year will show an increase of 250 over last year, bringing the total registration to 6,500. The law school is behind last year's registration, but the loss was expected in consequence of the increase requirements for admission. All other departments of the university show a slight gain over last year's attendance.

Now is the time to think of your Xmas gifts. Parisian Ivory is a nice, pleasing gift. Capital Drug Store has just received a nice line of sets and single pieces.

L. Steeves and Mrs. Findley cut the ices and Miss Pearl Holt, Miss Ruth Boyer and Miss Valdeca Hoxie assisted in serving.

The guests included the members of the Senior classes of Liberal Arts and Kimball College, the Faculty and their wives and the board of trustees and their wives.

"MY THOUGHT IS OF AMERICA."

"My Fellow-Countrymen:

"I suppose that every thoughtful man in America has asked himself during these last troubled weeks what influence the European war may exert upon the United States, and I take the liberty of addressing a few words to you in order to point out that it is entirely within our own choice what its effects upon us will be and to urge very earnestly upon you the sort of speech and conduct which will best safeguard the nation against distress and disaster.

"The effect of the war upon the United States will depend upon what American citizens say and do. Every man who really loves America will act and speak in the true spirit of neutrality, which is the spirit of impartiality and fairness and friendliness to all concerned.

"The spirit of the nation in this critical matter will be determined largely by what individuals and society and those gathered in public meetings do and say, upon what newspapers and magazines contain, upon what ministers utter in their pulpits and men proclaim as their opinions on the streets.

"The people of the United States are drawn from many nations and chiefly from the nations now at war. It is natural and inevitable that there should be the utmost variety of sympathy and desire among them with regard to the issues and circumstances of the conflict. Some will wish one nation, others another, to succeed in the momentous struggle. It will be easy to excite passion and difficult to allay it.

"Those responsible for exciting it will assume a heavy responsibility; responsibility for no less a thing than that the people of the United States—whose love of their country and whose loyalty to its government should unite them as Americans all, bound in honor and affection to think first of her and her interests—may be divided in camps of hostile opinion, hot against each other, involved in the war itself in impulse and opinion, if not in action.

"Such divisions amongst us would be fatal to our peace of mind and might seriously stand in the way of the proper performance of our duty as the one great nation at peace, the one people holding itself ready to play a part of impartial mediation and speak the councils of peace and accommodation, not as a partisan, but as a friend.

"I venture, therefore, my fellow-countrymen, to speak a solemn word of warning to you against that deepest, most subtle, most essential breach of neutrality which may spring out of partisanship, out of passionately taking sides.

"The United States must be neutral in fact as well as in name during these days that are to try men's souls. We must be impartial in thought as well as in action, must put a curb upon our sentiments as well as upon every transaction that might be construed as a preference of one party to the struggle before another.

"My thought is of America. I am speaking, I feel sure, the earnest wish and purpose of every thoughtful American that this great country of ours, which is, of course, the first in our thoughts and in our hearts, should show herself in this time of peculiar trial a nation fit beyond others to exhibit the fine poise of undisturbed judgment, the dignity of self-control, the efficiency of dispassionate action; a nation that neither sits in judgment upon others nor is disturbed in her own counsels, and which keeps herself fit and free to do what is honest and disinterested and truly serviceable for the peace of the world.

"Shall we not resolve to put upon ourselves the restraint which will bring to our people the happiness and the great and lasting influence for peace we covet for them?"

"WOODROW WILSON."

ATHLETIC SIDELINES.

Owing to the Marion County Teachers' Institute being held in Salem last week, varsity students were afforded the rare opportunity of seeing several "kids" teams from the grammar schools in action on the local grid-iron.

The regular gymnasium classes for girls started last week. The work consists of usual gymnastic exercises followed by basketball. It is the purpose of Athletic Director Thompson to have folk games and when the weather permits, tennis and hikes will supplement this list.

The Oregon-Washington game occurs at Seattle November 14 and the Oregon-O. A. C. game at Corvallis on November 21.

Ward's Drug store has again shown its interest in the university by supplying just what the students need. They have recently received a line of Willamette stationery, with embossed lettering. There are several styles to select from, so every one can be satisfied. Call and investigate on your way up town.
