

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY

THE FIRST UNIVERSITY IN THE WEST

STUDENT HANDBOOK

Dear Willamette Students:

On behalf of the Division of Campus Life, I want to extend to you a very warm welcome as you enter or return to the Willamette community. As a Willamette student, you are part of a company of students, faculty and staff deeply committed to the ideals of liberal learning: a belief in the power of reasoned inquiry, a tolerance for diverse points of view, integrity in the process of gaining and demonstrating knowledge, the active pursuit of understanding and the cultivation of civility in dealing with one's colleagues.

At Willamette we further believe that learning is not only the province of the classroom, the lab and the library, but that it is also achieved in the volunteer or political project, the athletic field or court, in conversations at the Bistro, in residence halls and in numerous other places. Active learning, both in and out of class, is part of the student culture at Willamette and this committed participation should be a basic component of your experience here. Just as you explore a variety of academic disciplines and areas of study, we urge you to explore the many opportunities to engage in, contribute to and learn from the co-curricular life of the campus. Moreover, we are strongly committed to the proposition that liberal learning is not simply an individual endeavor. A residential, liberal arts college such as Willamette depends for its vitality on the intellect, the energy and the enthusiasm of its students and faculty focused on the well-being of the whole community.

The goal of the Campus Life Division is to help sustain this community of learning. We aim to enhance and extend students' total learning experience at Willamette. The staff works closely with the members of the faculty and the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts to coordinate the curriculum and the co-curriculum. But, above all, we concentrate on connecting with Willamette students in ways that will enrich their lives both today and tomorrow.

I urge you to carefully read this student handbook, as it outlines Willamette's numerous opportunities for involvement and the resources available to students. Your rights and responsibilities as a student are also outlined, as well as the policies to which we all adhere.

I very much look forward to meeting and working with you during your Willamette experience!

Best wishes,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Robert E. Hawkinson".

Robert E. Hawkinson
Dean of Campus Life
Adjunct Professor of Politics

HISTORY OF WILLAMETTE

Missionary Jason Lee came to Oregon to begin a school for Native American children in the Willamette Valley in 1834. Within a few years the slowly growing group of missionaries felt the need for a school to serve their own children. Jason Lee organized a series of meetings in his home and, on February 1, 1842 – now celebrated as the founding date for Willamette University– bylaws were adopted and a board of trustees was appointed.

As the first university in the West, Willamette takes pride in its pioneer heritage, not just because it was founded in the early days of the Oregon Territory, but because, like those early pioneers, it has had an important place in the development of the West.

When Willamette was founded the cities of Portland, Seattle and Tacoma did not exist. Thus the University is closely associated with the beginning of law and government in this vast region, which now comprises Oregon, Washington, Idaho and parts of Montana and Wyoming. It educated many of the Northwest's first leaders, artists and business people. Not only was Willamette the first University in the West, but it established the first law school (1883) and the first school of medicine (1866) in the Pacific Northwest, which later merged with the medical school of the University of Oregon.

Originally called the Oregon Institute, the name was changed to "Wallamet" University in 1853. The original building (first occupied in 1844) was a three-story frame structure which served the community as well as the school since it was considered the most imposing edifice in the Northwest. It housed the first session of the legislature to meet in Salem and sheltered the first court in the territory under United States auspices.

During the University's first half-century, its land holdings were gradually sold to meet other needs, with the result that much of the present Salem downtown is built on former University land.

Willamette was one of the earliest coeducational institutions in the United States, and its first graduate was a woman. Women were attending the School of Medicine as early as 1877.

Today, Willamette University continues to push the frontier of higher education, always aware of the courageous leadership of its pioneer founders. Willamette now enrolls over 2,500 students in the College of Liberal Arts, School of Education, College of Law and Atkinson Graduate School of Management. The University's faculty has grown from one teacher in 1842 to 172 full-time professors. Ninety-three percent of the faculty have their doctorates, and all take pride in the learning environment fostered by a 11-1 student-to-teacher ratio.

Located on the edge of downtown Salem and across the street from the Oregon State Capitol, Willamette's campus now encompasses 61 acres and has 37 buildings. Recent additions to the ever-growing campus include the F.W. Olin Science Center, the Hallie Ford Museum of Art and the Mary Stuart Rogers Music Center.

FIGHT SONG AND ALMA MATER

Fight Bearcats Fight

Fight Bearcats fight;
A victory for WU
The card'nal and gold
Victorious of old
Shall give us a spirit ever new.
Fight Fight Fight
Card'nal courage shows,
And gold is our faith so true
We shout our war cry to you
Come on and fight, fight
Fight, fight, fight

Ode To Willamette

There's an old Historic Temple
Rising grandly through the years,
Where the oaken-hearted fathers
drew their strength for strong careers;
Down the years its portals open,
gather wise ones to its fold.
Breathe the spirit of the Westland
Card'nal emblem 'bossed with gold.

Dear old School! How strong we love thee!
'Round thy mem'ries how we cling!
Gladsome hearts beneath thy shadow,
Loyal hearts to thee we bring.
Old Willamette how we cherish
All thy legends and thy lore,
Born up on the calm Pacific,
Guides us onward ever more.

Spirit of the Golden Westland breathing through our father's tears;
tells the story of the temple,
bids us hope a'down the years.
Sing, oh sing, of old Willamette,
Sing, while hearts are young and true,
Sea to sea the chorus swelling,
dear Old School of our W.U.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The purpose of student organizations at Willamette University is to provide opportunities for the enhancement of academic, cultural, social and recreational aspects of student life through participation in group programs and activities. Every Willamette student has the opportunity to become involved in campus organizations, and, as the following list indicates, there are a variety of organizations from which to choose. Student organizations fall into one of these eight classifications:

- Academic honorary
- Educational and service
- Greek
- Media
- Multicultural
- Performing arts
- Religious
- Social and support
- Sports and recreational

In order to utilize facilities and resources, student organizations must register with the Office of Student Activities. New student organizations are reviewed by the Committee on Student Organizations and approved by the Associated Students of Willamette University (ASWU); all student organizations that plan to remain active in the following academic year must re-register with Student Activities in the spring semester.

Student organizations and their leaders are expected to abide by University policies, including but not limited to those addressed in the Standards of Conduct and Student Handbook. Organizational violations of University policies will be addressed by the Campus Judicial Office.

Approval Process

Campus departments, administrative offices, student organizations, groups sponsored by campus organizations and off-campus nonprofit organizations may post information or publicity in University residences on a space available basis. Individuals need to bring or send the posters to the Office of Residence Life. The material will be reviewed, and if approved, our staff will stamp each poster with the date the poster will be taken down. Door hangers will be limited to two per month for each community. The organization/individual wishing to put up door hangers will need to come to Residence Life to stamp their own door hangers before hanging them. If a registered student organization wants to solicit area businesses for in-kind (goods and services) or monetary donations, they must meet with a representative from the Office of Annual Giving. If a student organization wants to solicit alumni for in-kind (goods and services) or monetary donations, they must meet with a representative from the Office of Annual Giving and will be expected to follow certain procedures for securing the mailing list, writing the letter and posting the gifts secured. Each student organization must cover all costs related to the mailing (stationary, postage, etc.).

Raffles

Willamette University policy permits raffles to be held on campus within the parameters of state and local law and the University maintains a Class A state raffle license. Any staff, faculty, or student organization responsible for the planning and production of a raffle must submit a completed Application to Conduct a Raffle form to the Administrative Services Office at least two weeks prior to conducting the raffle. To request an application form, contact Cece Quanbeck at 503-370-6112, or get a form online at www.willamette.edu/dept/osa.

"Raffle" means a form of a lottery in which each participant buys a ticket for an article or money designated as a prize and where the winner is determined by a random drawing. A raffle includes the elements of consideration, chance and a prize. Consideration is presumed to be present unless it is clearly and conspicuously disclosed to prospective participants that tickets to the drawing may be acquired without contributing something of economic value. Tickets for a raffle are usually sold outside of the event. For more information on raffles, go to the State of Oregon website at http://arcweb.sos.state.or.us/rules/OAR_100/OAR_137/137_025.html.

According to Oregon Administrative Rule 127-25-310, the following information must be printed upon each ticket sold or otherwise provided to each purchaser at the time of the ticket sale:

- The date and time of the drawing
- The location of the drawing
- The name of the organization conducting the raffle
- The price of the chance
- A full and fair description of the prize or prizes to be awarded
- The retail market value of each prize to be awarded, and the total number of tickets, which may be sold

If there are no special raffle tickets printed, it is required that you have at all ticket sale locations a flyer/poster listing the required information. The Student Activities Office can assist you in developing and printing custom raffle tickets.

According to Oregon Administrative Rule 127-25-310, a report must be submitted after the raffle. The raffle report form will include:

- The total amount of proceeds received from the sale of tickets for each raffle game
- All expenses relating to the conduct of each raffle game (other than prizes)
- Total amount of cash prizes awarded (cannot exceed $750.00 per raffle)
- Total cost of no-cash prizes awarded
- The winning ticket stub
- The names, addresses, and signatures of the winners of the first three prizes must be provided to the Administrative Services Office. Also for all prizes valued at $100 or more, the name, address and signature of the prizewinner must be obtained.

Completed raffle reports are used to compile an annual report for the State of Oregon in order to maintain Willamette's Class A raffle license. If your student club or organization is planning to conduct a raffle, please contact Cece Quanbeck at the Administrative Services Office at 503-370-6112 for the required forms and assistance.

ACADEMIC POLICIES FOR STUDENT LEADERS & PARTICIPANTS

At the conclusion of each semester, the academic records of all students working for undergraduate degrees are reviewed by the Academic Status Committee, a standing committee of the undergraduate faculty that considers matters related to a student's academic planning and progress.

The Academic Status Committee determines what action will be taken regarding various academic deficiencies, including semester GPA below 2.0, cumulative GPA below 2.0, completion by a full-time student of fewer than three credits, or other serious academic difficulties.

If academic performance falls well below expected achievement, the student may be placed on academic probation or dismissed. While on probation, students are ineligible to represent Willamette in any public performance, including varsity athletics, debate, sport clubs or musical ensembles. They are also ineligible to hold any campus office and their financial aid status is subject to review by the Director of Financial Aid if their aid comes from the University. For more information about this policy, see page 342 in the 2005-2007 CLA Course Catalog.

All students serving in elected or appointed positions of leadership shall maintain a 2.5 cumulative GPA. At the beginning of each semester, the Office of Student Activities will confirm that the contact person for each registered student organization is in compliance with this policy. If a person does fall below the requirement, the student organization will be expected to name a replacement within two weeks of notification. If a student wishes to appeal, they should contact the Director of Student Activities.

Plagiarism/Cheating Policy

Among the issues related to academic standing are those of plagiarism and cheating. Such practices undermine the trust among students and professors and are antithetical to the ideals to which we aspire. Consequently, these offenses are taken very seriously and may have direct effect on eligibility for positions of student leadership.

The official policy on plagiarism and cheating, adopted by the faculty of Willamette in 1992, is as follows: Plagiarism and cheating are offenses against the integrity of the courses in which they occur and against the college community as a whole. Plagiarism and cheating involve intellectual dishonesty, deception and fraud, which inhibit the honest exchange of ideas. In accordance with Willamette University Standards of Conduct, students are entitled to notice of what constitutes plagiarism and cheating, and the right to appeal penalties. Plagiarism and cheating may be grounds for dismissal from the college. Examples of plagiarism and cheating, and penalties associated with them, shall appear in the student handbook. When appropriate during the semester, such as in conjunction with assignment of a class project or review for an exam, faculty members are encouraged to discuss plagiarism and cheating and how to avoid them.

Definitions and Penalties

Cheating is any form of intellectual dishonesty or misrepresentation of one's knowledge. Plagiarism, taken from the Latin word plagiarius, or "kidnapping," is a form of cheating in which someone represents another's work as their own. According to Diana Hacker, "three different acts are considered plagiarism: (1) failing to cite quotations and borrowed ideas, (2) failing to enclose borrowed language in quotation marks, and (3) failing to put summaries and paraphrases in your own words" (A Pocket Style Manual, Boston: Bedford Books, 1997, p. 92). All members of the Willamette University community are expected to be aware of the serious breach of principles involved in plagiarism. Ignorance of what constitutes plagiarism shall not be considered a valid defense. If students are uncertain as to what constitutes plagiarism for a particular assignment, they should consult the instructor for clarification.

A faculty member may impose penalties for plagiarism and cheating ranging from a grade reduction on an assignment or exam to failure in the course. A faculty member also may suggest that the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts initiate further action. Multiple violations of the plagiarism/cheating policy constitute a separate offense, the penalty for which may be academic suspension or dismissal from the college.

Initial Determination and Penalty

A faculty member who has reason to believe that plagiarism or cheating has occurred shall:

1. Immediately meet with the student(s) involved, provide evidence of cheating or plagiarism, discuss the matter, determine whether an infraction has occurred, and decide on a penalty. If the faculty member suspects plagiarism or cheating during a final exam period, and timely resolution is not possible, the professor shall assign the student(s) involved a grade of "T," and provide the student(s) with a written explanation. The faculty member shall meet with the student(s) no later than the first week of classes the following semester to complete the steps outlined in the paragraph above.

2. Within five work days (excluding holidays) of meeting with the student(s), place in a confidential file with the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts a form that details the incident, provides documentation, and indicates the penalty.

Upon receiving the form, the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts:

1. Shall provide the student(s) a copy of the form filed by the faculty member, noting on the form the date on which it was delivered to the student. All forms in a student's file shall be destroyed at graduation or after seven years of filing, whichever comes first.
2. May initiate a hearing by the Academic Status Committee if the Dean believes the report of plagiarism or cheating sufficiently egregious to warrant a hearing on whether the student should be suspended or dismissed from the college.
3. Shall, after allowing time for an appeal, determine if there have been multiple violations. If the student's file contains two forms, the Dean shall initiate a hearing by the Academic Status Committee to determine an appropriate penalty, which can include placing the student on academic suspension for a period of time or dismissing the student from the college.

Student Right to Appeal Initial Determination and Penalty

A student has the right to appeal the findings of plagiarism or cheating, or the severity of the penalty imposed by the faculty member, to the Academic Status Committee within five work days of the date on which a copy of the form was delivered by the Dean to the student.

Academic Status Committee Hearing

The Academic Status Committee shall hold a hearing on the appeal by a student or initiative from the Dean within five work days of receipt of the notice of appeal or initiative. The hearing shall be confidential; the student, Dean, and faculty member, as appropriate, may testify and present evidence.

If the Academic Status Committee finds that plagiarism or cheating did not occur, then the Committee shall ask the Dean to remove the form filed by the faculty member from the student's confidential file. If the Status Committee finds that the penalty should be changed, then the Committee shall determine a procedure that is fair to the faculty member and the student for changing the penalty. If the Academic Status Committee upholds the decision of the faculty member, the chair will record the decision on the form and return it to the Dean to be placed in the student's file.

If hearing an initiative, the Academic Status Committee shall determine an appropriate penalty. The Chair of the Academic Status Committee shall provide written notification of its action to the student, faculty member, and Dean. The decision of the Academic Status Committee shall be final.

Examples of Plagiarism and Cheating

Blatant examples of cheating include using books, notes, or other sources not expressly allowed during exams; copying on homework, in-class, or take-home exams; using any form of assistance if instructed to produce work individually; and knowingly assisting another student to engage in any of these behaviors. Examples of plagiarism include failing to cite written material that is directly quoted or paraphrased from another source, or failing to give credit for use of others' ideas, pictures, graphs, diagrams, or figures. Plagiarism can be avoided by following the rules for citation provided in writing handbooks and standard style manuals. Both are available in the Willamette Store, the Writing Center and in the reference section of the library.

In the course of preparing a paper, doing a homework assignment, preparing for an examination, or participating in a class activity, you may have questions about whether certain practices or conduct could be viewed as plagiarism or cheating. If you have questions, ask your professor! Faculty will respect your integrity for clarifying uncertainties and showing interest in avoiding these problems. It is dangerous to engage in practices or conduct that could later be called into question. Ignorance of what constitutes plagiarism or cheating will not serve as an excuse for the behavior.

The following examples are provided to further your understanding of plagiarism and cheating. These examples are illustrative only and are not intended as a complete description of the intellectual dishonesty, deception or fraud that are prohibited under the plagiarism/cheating policy.

E.g. 1: Student A and Student B are scheduled to take an in-class examination. Student B is not doing well in the class and fears flunking the course if unable to earn at least a C on the exam. The professor announced that students would not be allowed to use notes or books on the exam. Student A writes notes containing key concepts and formulas and affixes them to the bottom of a shoe that will be worn to the exam. Student A then sat in a location and position that allowed Student B to read the notes and formulas during the exam. Both Student A and Student B would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 2: In accordance with the professor's instructions, Student C consulted ten sources while preparing a term paper, and listed all ten sources in the bibliography. Student C also consulted two other sources, and relied on them substantially in developing the thesis of the paper and its structure, but failed to provide citations or to list them in the bibliography. Student C would be subject to penalties for plagiarism and cheating.

E.g. 3: Professor X assigned a set of homework problems and instructed students that they should neither give nor receive assistance completing the problems because professor X wanted to use the responses to evaluate student understanding of certain concepts. Student D was unable to complete three of the problems. Student D's roommate, Student E, also was in the class and completed the problems without difficulty. When Student E was out of the room, Student D looked at Student E's class notes and paper, and then copied two answers. Student D would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 4: Student F was enrolled in two classes that required preparation of term papers on topics of the student's choice. Without approval of faculty teaching the courses, Student F submitted a copy of the same paper in both classes. Student F would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 5: Student G found the following statement while doing research for a paper about law school: "The best way to prepare for the law is to come to the study of the law as a well-read person. Thus alone can one acquire the capacity to use the English language on paper and in speech and with the habits of clear thinking which only a truly liberal education can give." (Felix Frankfurter, "Advice to a Young Man Interested in Going Into Law," in Ephriam London, ed., The Law as Literature (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1960), p. 725). Student G wrote in the paper that "only a liberal education can give a person the habits of clear thinking required for law school," and did not cite Frankfurter. Student G would be subject to penalties for plagiarism for paraphrasing without citation, which is as unacceptable as word-for-word copying.

E.g. 6: Student J was working on a programming assignment in the computer lab and was unable to complete a portion of the program. Student H accessed the account of another student in the class who had successfully completed the assignment. Student H's study of the other student's solution made it possible to complete the assignment, which Student H then represented as having been done without assistance. Student H would be subject to penalties for plagiarism and cheating.

The Campus Judicial Office (CJO) promotes student rights and responsibilities by educating students about Willamette University's Standards of Conduct and other relevant policies, and responds to incidents and behavior which may be considered a violation of these expectations. The goal of this office and its associated programs is to facilitate communication, foster the development of integrity and personal responsibility, and enhance Willamette community life. CJO resolves conflict through a variety of means. Ideally, individuals and communities discuss concerns and settle disagreements directly and informally. In other circumstances, students may meet with Residence Life administrators, campus judicial officers or a student-run judicial board (j-board) to determine a suitable response to the given issue. Regardless of the particular judicial course of action, each provides accused students with the opportunity to play an active role in the determination of appropriate sanctions.

LEARNING ENHANCEMENT RESOURCES

TIME AS AN INVESTMENT

The college years can be considered a full time job in which you invest your 40 hours per week (and usually more) to get a profitable return at the end of four years. Unlike going to work from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, the student must learn to manage many diverse activities throughout the week, relax, have fun and squeeze in studying from time to time.

Time cannot be managed if you don't know what you are doing with it.

Time Commitment Analysis

Step 1: What are my time commitments?

How many hours per week do I:

Attend Class _____

Study _____ (multiply number of class hours by 2, recommended)

Work _____

Exercise _____ (a minimum of 3-5 is recommended)

Religious Activities _____

Organizations _____

Relationships _____

Family _____

Other _____ (Athletes, don't forget practice, games, travel)

Step 2: If I have committed over 40-60 hours, what is going to be left out? _____
(OR) What is going to happen to my stress level? _____

Step 3: Is there anything I can eliminate, change? _____

Step 4: Do I need help balancing my time? _____

Time Management Self-Determination Plan

A behavior or plan cannot be modified if you don't know what is happening. It is helpful to use a form such as the one on page 83 or any other system that is easiest for you.

Step 1: Take a baseline. What do I do with my time. For one week, write the class schedule, work schedule, etc. under "Plan."

Step 2: Include planned study time as well.

Step 3: Under "Actual," keep track of what I actually did.

Step 4: At the bottom, total the number of hours "planned" to study that day and number of hours "actually" studied.

Step 5: Analyze and make adjustments.

Step 6: Do I need help balancing my time, setting boundaries, being motivated, etc.?

HOW TO TALK WITH YOUR PROFESSOR

One of the many reasons you have selected Willamette University is the availability of the faculty for dialogue. So, just how do I talk to my professor?

Remember: Professors are People First

Living to a person's optimum cannot occur without effective communication whether it is with a parent(s), sibling, friend, roommate, authority figure such as professor or supervisor, or with a spouse/significant other. Rules of courtesy and etiquette apply whether it is a peer or a professor. In a campus community the size of Willamette, there is opportunity for greater communication between faculty and student; staff and student. In fact, the congeniality of such a campus may have been one of the deciding factors in your choosing Willamette. Considering that the college experience is that final stage of preparation before the stepoff into life, understanding and practicing these tips will be invaluable.

1. Talking with a professor is no different from talking with any other person; respect all people as though they are the most important person in your life. A sign of respect is preparation and attention.
2. Be sincere in your interactions. Jocularly has its time and place but needs to be considered carefully.
3. Discussions are a two-way communication; listening to others is as important as expressing your thoughts.
4. Learn to discuss points of differences with assertiveness, not aggressiveness; avoid arguing.
5. Give the other person the option of disagreeing with you. Be open to their viewpoints.
6. Make periodic appointments (and keep them) to touch base with your professor.

10 DAY EXAM CRAM

BEWARE: WAITING UNTIL THE LAST 10 DAYS COULD BE DISASTROUS
BUT...IT IS BETTER THAN NOTHING!

Day 10: Organize

- List a) dates of exams, b) material covered for each exam, c) type of test
- Talk to professors if you don't know the type of test (multiple choice, essay) or the exact grade you need to get on the exam to get the grade you desire in the course
- Connect with www.willamette.edu/cla/ler and review ways to study
- Connect again www.vark-learn.com to see your learning style
- Assemble all of the chapters, handouts, notes and mark with post-its; color-coordinate (See if there is an old exam in the library)
- Prioritize a time plan for what you are going to study and when (see page 83)

Day 9: Attack Mode

- Review the syllabus for the goals to be met in class
- In science classes, review the outlines, summaries, charts and graphs in chapters to be tested
- Review notes and handouts that are to be tested
- Write down any unfamiliar concepts or words and make flash cards
- Go to www.willamette.edu/cla/ler (Memorization: secondary to comprehension)
- In humanities courses, review notes and the first and last paragraph of each chapter
- If you are clueless, ask for help: the professor, a friend, and/or reread chapters
- Follow your best learning mode as discovered above

Day 8: Follow Through

- Using your time plan, continue studying each course as to the time allotted
- Allot more time to courses with lower grades unless you are pretty low in all courses; then, you might want to seek assistance from your advisor, Bishop Wellness Center or a mentor
- Set goals for yourself and stick them on your mirror

Day 7–Day 3: Consistency

- Stick with a routine of study, exercise and sleep (see pages 88–89)

Day 2: Think Positively

- Focus on your goals, don't panic, one last review

Day 1: Night Before

- Go to bed early thinking confidence, confidence

Day 0: You Are Ready – Almost

- Eat a good breakfast with protein
- Avoid caffeine
- AND, THINK POSITIVE

Reward yourself for a good job!
