

'The Mollusc' Opens Drama Season Tonight

Four-Person Cast Plays "The Mollusc"

"The Mollusc," a three-act play by Hubert Henry Davies, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the Salem high school auditorium at 8:30 o'clock by the university drama department. The first play of the season stars, as shown above, Carl Ritchie, Kathleen Scott, Shirley Dean and John Brown.

Brown, Dean, Ritchie, Scott Head English Comedy Cast of Neurotic Human Oyster

By Mary Louise Lee

"The Mollusc," Willamette's first theatrical production of the season, will be staged tonight and Saturday night in the Salem high-school auditorium. Tax tickets for reserved seats are being sold in the student body office.

Frequently revived by noted players, "The Mollusc" was produced first in London in 1907. It has played long runs in every civilized country, and given in many languages. In 1935, Willamette presented "The Mollusc" for the first time. Since then, no group in Salem has given it. With a small cast, a play is usually difficult to produce, for there is generally not enough action to suit most play-goers. "The Mollusc," on the contrary, is full of action and pure, unadulterated comedy; really well worth seeing.

Henry Davies Author

Hubert Henry Davies, the author, has written many fine plays, "Cousin Kate" being one of his best. Davies died so young that he did not achieve the importance and acclaim he deserved.

Rehearsals have been hectic these last few days. Jeans and sweaters set the theme for Tuesday night's rehearsal. Prop girls, Margaret Guice and Jo Anne Estey, were running about with everything from vases to negligees. Carl, on spying a borrowed sofa pillow with an embroidered camel, said, "I grew up with that pillow." "You've never seen it," said Miss Guice. "But I know that camel." Many laughs came when Ritchie tried filling three large vases from one small watering can. Cast and directors are worn out with all their regular work besides the play. They are taking their nervous breakdowns alphabetically though, Brown, Dean, Gibson, Ritchie, and then Scott.

Road Sets Made

The sets are arranged for the road if the opportunity arises, and for the first time, the sets are being set up and painted at the high school. The furniture is by the courtesy of Elfstrom's, and is in their ultra-modern theme.

Adult and town students' tickets are being sold at Miller's department store.

Chapel Notice

Kangaroo court for all freshmen will be held at chapel Tuesday in Waller hall.

Reverend H. W. Hebblethwaite, pastor of the Fremont Methodist church in Portland, will speak at Thursday's chapel in the First Methodist church.

Baxter, Chi Os, Sigs and DGs Capture Homecoming Honors

A very satisfactory turn-out for the annual Homecoming game was recorded. Various estimates place it at between 3500 and 4000 people, approximately 1000 of which were alumni.

The alumni luncheon, another feature of Homecoming, was also well attended. According to Russ Tripp, who was in charge of Homecoming, more than a capacity crowd was present. The luncheon was presided over by Ed Averill of Portland, who is the president of the Alumni association.

Oldest Graduate Attends

The oldest graduate attending the luncheon was Dr. Frank E. Brown of Salem, class of '98. He received a Stetson hat, the gift of Bishop's clothing store.

The eldest feminine graduate to attend was Mrs. Theodosia Bennett Martin, of the class of '11. She received a corsage, the gift of Breithaupt's.

At the luncheon a speech was given by Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, formerly of Willamette's faculty, now the president of the College of Puget Sound.

Team Members Here

Four old grads who attended the football game were players on the first team ever organized by Willamette. These men, class of '49, were Phil Metschan of Portland, who played half-back and end, Don W. Truitt of Seattle, who played end, Billy Evans of Salem, who was the half-back, and Dr. Harry Olinger, also of Salem, who played end.

Baxter Entry Wins

The annual judging of the signs was completed with Baxter winning the contest. Out of a possible 300 points, they secured a total of 294. They were followed closely by Phi Alpha with 290, and Sigma Chi also with 290. (See pictures, page 3).

The women's sign judging resulted in Chi Omega capturing first place, followed by the Pi Phi and Alpha Chi Omega.

Placing first in the women's division at the noise parade was Delta Gamma and top honors for the men were captured by Sigma Chi.

Honor Code Loses; Maudlin Heads Frosh

With only 14 more than the required 600 students voting in the week's election, the honor code was defeated by a vote of 362 to 252, according to Al McMullen, second vice-president in charge of elections.

A close race for freshman class president resulted in Lowell (Babe) Maudlin defeating Ted Loder, 120 to 105 in the final run-off.

Entries Needed In Story Contest Says Collegian

More entries are needed in the Collegian short-short story contest, Eric Bergman, Collegian editor, announced this week.

"Though several entries have been submitted," Bergman said, "our judges will be disappointed if they have to give the prize money to just the entrants."

The contest closes on December 10 at noon. Further details of the contest may be found on the Collegian bulletin board.

Only seven of the nine positions on the judiciary committee were filled, because the Law and Music schools submitted no petitions. They will be asked to send representatives, and no general election will be held.

Seniors Leonard Maurer and Gene Schmidt defeated Jim Nickel for committee seats, while Juniors Albert Miller and Kenneth Holmes won posts with no competition.

Also uncontested were Don Carpenter for the sophomore class representative to the judiciary committee, and Louis Prediletto for the freshmen. Dick Endsley defeated Grant Swanson and Robert Rhoads for Liberal Arts representative.

Interclass Rivalry Planned For Whip Whitman Banquet

Tickets On Sale

Student tickets to the football game Friday night with Lewis and Clark in Portland will be sold in Eaton hall Friday. They are 75 cents with student body cards.

Fusser's Guide Galley Proofs Arrive Today

Fusser's Guide proofs, to have arrived this morning, will be posted on the first floor of Eaton hall, Friday, Monday and Tuesday for students to check and correct if necessary.

It is each student's responsibility to find out if his or her name and address is correct. Otherwise, if no correction is made, they will appear as they are on the proof.

Married students are asked to mark an "M" after their names because there has been trouble distinguishing them.

Proofs will go to the printers Tuesday at 3:00 p.m. for the last time. Fifteen hundred copies are to be printed.

Rules for judging class spirit at the Whip Whitman banquet, which will be held at the Salem high school cafeteria November 10, were set up and adopted at a meeting of class presidents last Tuesday.

Competition for the Whip Whitman trophy will be between classes instead of living organizations as it has been in previous years. Each class will prepare an original yell to present at the banquet and judging will be as follows: 25% on originality and effectiveness of the yell; 25% on effectiveness of presentation; 25% on general school-directed spirit throughout the evening and 25% on originality of spirit throughout the evening.

Classes will hold final meetings Tuesday, November 9 to complete plans and practice for the banquet.

Tickets for the banquet will go on sale Monday, November 1 and will cost 75 cents for off-campus students and 50 cents for students living on campus. Tickets for all living organizations will be handled by the individual groups and tickets for other students will be sold in the "Cave" and Eaton hall with David Poindexter, ticket chairman in charge.

The Pep Cats will decorate the hall and take care of serving.

Payments Due

Robert Fenix, business manager, would like to remind the students that the time is approaching when the tuition, student body membership, and the second payment for board and room is due. If possible, these payments should be made by November 1. If there is a reason why they cannot be paid, students should see Fenix.

McCullough Field at Bush

Next year, after long delay, the new athletic field at Bush's pasture may be open for business. By the time it opens the field should have an appropriate name.

The Collegian suggests that the field be called Charles E. McCullough field, after a present member of the board of trustees and the largest contributor to the field's construction.

Some suggestions have been submitted previously to change the name of present Sweetland field and move the Sweetland name to the new field at Bush's pasture. This seems inappropriate, however, since Sweetland built much of the present field with his own hands and because we believe the field should never lose its identity.

McCullough field seems appropriate for the new park. We would like the further suggestions of the students on this matter.

To Beat the Band

The Bearcats may have had a little hard luck at the Homecoming game last Saturday, but surely to beat the WU band would have been hard.

Several alumni and visitors over from Oregon State College remarked that the Willamette band of this year surpassed anything they had seen on the coast.

Many favorable comments have reached the Collegian office concerning the perfect band performance last Saturday. We wish to congratulate Director Maurice Brennen for an incomparable musical organization this year.

Where's Our Alma Mater?

On those pre-game recordings over most networks and local radio stations we have heard the alma mater songs of most northwest colleges and universities. But we haven't had our ears treated to the Willamette alma mater.

This seems a worthy project for some WU organization. The organization should see that the alma mater song is recorded by the WU band and recordings distributed to Portland and Salem radio stations for those pre-game spirit broadcasts.

All in the Cause

It seems after last week's Ugly Man contest results were announced that university presidents must even wear such ugly titles in order to keep the machinery running smoothly.

We console the president with the fact, however, that his title was won in the interest of a most noble cause—that of erecting a memorial flagpole to the dead of World War II.

What it takes now-a-days to be president of a university is astounding.

Haek the Houseboy Savors Sorority Life

By Barbara Ann Garrett

Even at the tender age of six years, Henry had been utterly fascinated by WOMEN. He considered to be quite the wolf among his first grade acquaintances, his greatest accomplishment being his ability to whistle through the space where his two front teeth should have been.

What could be more natural when Henry became old enough to go to college, he sent applications to Stevens, Vassar, Mills and even the Coon's County College for Curvacious Women. However, Henry's grandparents, who were financing Henry's education, sent Henry to Willamette.

Some of Henry's older brothers had been to Willamette and had told him that the best way to meet lots of interesting women was to get a job as a houseboy in one of the sorority houses. Henry thought that it should be just fine to have about 50 beautiful women around him most of the time and immediately applied for a job.

So, bright and early one fall morning, Henry went over to the Alfa Falfa house to report for work. He was shown the kitchen and told that his duties were to help prepare the meals, to serve them and to do the dishes. In return, he could eat all he wanted to. This seemed fair enough so Henry started to work.

Suddenly he heard a noise behind him and with a shriek of horror, he beheld a ghastly sight . . . a creature with a white, pasty face, old, faded socks hanging all around its head, a multi-colored, striped garment that looked like an oversized potato sack hung from its drooping limbs.

A high, squeaky voice came from the pale white lips . . . "My, my, you must be the new houseboy . . . I declare, I hope can make some good coffee for poor little old me."

This was Henry's first great shock . . . the sight of a beautiful woman the first thing in the morning. He survived it, although he sometimes shook his head and muttered to himself.

Henry finished his work right on time and was all ready to go to his 1 o'clock class when about 10 shrieking females swooped down the stairs and carried him off to the living room. "Why, Henry, you great big strong, handsome man, won't you just help us take this little old rug up and carry it out to the garage?"

After dragging the 50 pound rug out to the garage, Henry collapsed, a nervous wreck, and then discovered that it was time to start working on dinner.

It was really very interesting to serve all the different girls. Susy didn't like cauliflower, Maisie just turned green when cottage cheese was placed before her and Judy just giggled and said, "Why, Henry, you just know that I couldn't eat any potatoes, they are just too, too fattening."

And then there was Mary who had seconds, thirds, fourths, etc., until poor Henry was just worn out from running back and forth from the kitchen.

Finally, the meal was over and all the girls either hung hopefully around the telephone or the luckier ones went out. Then there were the girls who just stayed at home and washed their hair and studied, aloud of course.

Henry happened to be standing near the telephone when it rang, poor fellow, and was immediately knocked over by eight members and ten pledges who all dashed madly to answer it.

He slowly crawled to the kitchen and what a sight greeted his eyes . . . millions and millions of dishes. He started back into the hall . . . millions of giggling females . . . he gave a violent shudder, collapsed on the floor, stark, staring mad.

Question: "Which Witch Parks First?"
Answer: "Whichever Witch Whizzes Fastest!"

Condition Red!

People of West Salem spent a few hectic minutes last week when the wailing horns of Willamette's noise parade created the effect that an air raid was occurring. People living in the West Salem hills were cut off from view of the city by a blanket of fog and were led to believe that the city was in complete blackout. According to residents and visitors on the hill the effect was complete enough to give the citizens a good scare and make a number of the children cry.

Frolic Reigned in Old Days Despite Campus Restrictions

By Bill MacDougall

An occasional pleading "Moo!" and the irregular clanging of the chapel bell in Waller hall greeted the dawn one day just before the turn of the century, and Willamette professors, hurrying sleepily from their breakfasts to investigate the cause were astonished to find alone in the belfry, a sad-eyed cow telling the world that its tail was tied to the clapper.

Naturally, none of the approximately 250 students attending chapel that morning, as they did every morning, knew how the incident had occurred. Only during the study hours that evening, from 7 to 9, "attendance required," did the responsible culprits' names become known.

Fifty years ago, Willamette's campus presented a very different appearance. Visitors enjoying the modern comforts of the swaying, noisy electric street car rolling out State street toward the penitentiary saw, across the avenue from the frame capitol building and the luxurious mansions of state officials, the recently-completed Eaton hall standing sedately beside Waller hall, the brick medical building back near the mill stream, the dormitory on Winter street, and the wooden gymnasium toward the east.

Social life, with dancing and smoking entirely taboo, was limited to the girls' and boys' debating societies. Needless to say, the activities of these clubs were not limited to debating.

A typical winning and swift-moving football team of the Willamette of that era, supported by the small but enthusiastic student body, discovered that the University of Oregon had anticipated its fastness, and had plowed up the Eugene field the day before. Nevertheless, Willamette won.

Mill stream antics seem tame to the daring Gay Nineties graduates who tired of attending early morning chapels every day. They solved the problem one morning by removing the ball clapper and burying it in a box full of manure in front of the gymnasium.

P.S. Chapel was not held that morning.

On the SOUTHard Side

By Wally Southard

A couple of Baxter Hallites, Jack Farrell and Al O'Mara enjoyed themselves a few days ago at the expense of other student visitors to their room (all in good fun, however). It seems that the two gentlemen would lure somebody into their room, get him to opinionize on some very delicate topics, and then surprise him by playing back his conversation from a wire recorder.

I was drawn into the trap, and all I can say is that if certain responsible persons around the university had secured possession of my recording, the chances are pretty fat that I would now be playing hard to find somewhere north of the arctic circle. . . .

One of the most sensible suggestions I have heard to date came from two Willamettesmen, Redge Waters and Earl van Lydegraf. Their idea is to build a sidewalk from the campus to the capitol coffee shop, tunneled, of course, at the State street crossing. I agree. With both the traffic across State street and the game of "pedestrian polo" between motorists and students what they are, somebody is going to lose one of these days—and I think it will be the students.

Incidentally, there are many unknown football prospects at Willamette. One has only to watch the student exodus from campus to capitol at coffee time to see some very good broken field running. The hip movement is out of this world. . . .

Bob Ross said something the other day which in my opinion is very timely and should be given a lot of thought by all. His statement, in response to the question, "What weapons do you think the next war will be fought with?" was, "I don't know what we will fight the next war with, but I do know what we will fight the one after with—just sticks and stones."

Republicans Will Baby-Sit While Democrats Watch Polls

By Al Ladendorff

If the Young Republican club of Willamette university has anything to say about it, mothers in Marion county will not be able to fall back on the time-honored excuse of not being able to leave their children alone while they go out and vote.

Baby-sitters will be provided by the club, according to Jim Ragland, chairman of the campus group. The baby-sitter idea will be the climax of a hectic election period for the local club. Also the club plans a telephone campaign election day.

Enthusiasm among the members of the local club is at a high pitch, according to Ragland, especially among the many women members of the club. However, Ragland said he feels that their enthusiasm is well-founded, for in a recent non-partisan poll it was found that the Dewey-Warren combination polled nearly nine times as many votes as their nearest rival.

News from the other front has been comparatively quiet, and according to Art Dow, secretary of the Young Democrat club on the campus, business at the regular meeting on October 27 was concerned with discussion of the general policies of the club. As to immediate plans for the election, Dow said that the club is going to provide poll watchers in the sixth precinct in Marion county and will endeavor to rouse out all eligible voters in the precinct.

Rabbi Appelbaum Tells WU Chapel Of Jewish Faith

Rabbi Saul Appelbaum, formerly of St. Paul and now of Portland, appeared before the freshmen in Tuesday's chapel speaking on the theme "Judaism as a Living Faith."

He presented his views of the status of the Jewish peoples in the world today and explained to some extent the basis of Judaism. He compared the fundamental concepts of the Christian and Jewish religions and gave a brief idea of the Jewish concept of creation.

Art Newsletter Makes Debut

Under the editorship of Sheila Ryan, Bill Smith and Al Laue, the Willamette University Arts Newsletter made its initial appearance this week.

Planned as a bi-weekly publication, the newsletter will cover dates and descriptions of forthcoming plays, recitals, exhibits and other doings of the drama, music and art departments. Co-operating on the project are Department Heads Edward T. Gibson, Esther Huffman and Melvin H. Geist.

"It is our hope that through this publication the people of Salem will be brought into closer harmony with Willamette university and its fine art endeavors, and that they will consequently patronize our dramatic productions, art exhibits and musical programs more frequently," stated Miss Ryan.

Salem Community Orchestra Forms Under Prof. Fisher

A community orchestra, under the direction of Frank Fisher, Willamette University orchestra conductor, was formed here Wednesday and plans were made for weekly practices each Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the future.

Open to all local talent, the orchestra is intended to afford musicians the opportunity to enjoy musical expression, with no immediate plans for concert appearance considered as yet.

Those on the campus interested in participating are invited to attend the next rehearsal which will be held in the University rehearsal hall south of Sweetland Field. The group will have no affiliation with the WU symphony orchestra.

Arm Chairs Ordered

Two hundred and twenty-six steel, tablet arm chairs have been ordered to replace the plain chairs that are now in the class rooms, according to Business Manager Robert Fenix. These chairs will be in all classes except those where they are not needed.

SB Financial Report Shows $523 Balance

The ASWU financial report released by the business office this week showed $1,245.58 less balance for the 1947-48 fiscal year than for the 1946-47 year.

The breakdown was as follows: (Year ending June 6, 1948) Balance July 1, 1947 $1,768.86

Receipts:
Student fees	22,662.67
Miscellaneous	9,337.72
Total	33,769.25
Disbursements	33,245.95

Balance June 30, 1948 523.30

The above expenditures include the cost of the new band uniforms, $2,097.84, the business office said.

Veterans' Tips

Veterans in college under the GI bill will be held legally liable for repayment of tuition for classes they do not attend, according to word from the Veterans Administration this week.

A recent VA ruling holds that veterans who drop from school before the end of the semester for which the VA has already paid tuition, must refund the unused amount of tuition or sacrifice an equivalent amount of GI training entitlement.

Disabled veterans, as well as non-veterans, are now entitled to aid from the Oregon Handicapped Re-education Office. The agency offers partial or full payment of tuition, books and room and board in special cases. A disabled vet is not eligible if he is already receiving federal aid under a public law, but he may receive help after his eligibility time has expired.

The US Naval Reserve is now offering 1949 college scholarships to 2300 students, according to the commandant of the thirteenth naval district. The scholarships are for four years and cover full tuition and subsistence. Candidates may apply at any local recruiting office.

Band Practices Marching, Schedules Year's Events

By Pat Paddock

The group which has been toiling relentlessly on the football field for the last couple of weeks is not comprised of hopeful athletes but is the Willamette U band. Under the baton of Maurice Brennan, the sturdy 45 have already performed ably at several of the WU functions.

When the Bearcats move into Multnomah stadium for their tilt with the Lewis and Clark pioneers tonight, the band, resplendent in new, dark blue uniforms, will be there to cheer them in. They will also entertain during the Linfield game here.

During the past week, the band has been active as usual, playing for the Rotary club and the Breakfast club and meeting the Michigan State football team when it arrived here from East Lansing for its game with Oregon State at Corvallis tomorrow.

On the agenda for the remainder of the year are a short concert for the Oregon Music Educators conference, the concert tour in March, concerts at Sherwood and Mt. Angel, and a possible Tuesday chapel concert in the latter part of the term.

Conference Leadership at Stake As W U, L & C Vie There Tonight

Jerry Lillie will pit his charges against a powerful undefeated team from Lewis and Clark at the Multnomah stadium in Portland at 8 tonight. The Bearcats, out to avenge the 7-6 Homecoming setback from CPS, can expect a tough battle from Joe Huston's title hungry Pioneers.

Thus far, Lewis and Clark gridmen have hustled 14 wins, two of them in conference play, and will be desperately trying for number three against Willamette. Their wins are over Vanport, 20-0; Oregon Vocational School, 48-0; Whitman, 14-13 and Linfield 20-19. Both Willamette and Lewis and Clark have clean slates in league play and tonight's contest will be a very important hurdle in the Bearcat's fight for the crown.

The locals will be minus for rest of the year, the services of scabback, Ray Osuna, a Clark L. C., transfer, who suffered a torn cartilage in a scrimmage last Tuesday. Captain Gene Allison has his ankle cast removed but will not be able to play for some time yet. On the brighter side, Herb Johnsrud, a veteran guard, will don Willamette colors for the first time in three games. Herb has been suffering from a separated shoulder.

The Pioneers will be at full strength for the battle and will be running out of the "T" handed by capable Freddie Wilson. They also sport four ace receivers in Art Bakke, Hal Ellmers, Pete Hahn, and Lee Meisen and are expected to take to the air to stop the favored Willamette eleven.

Tonight's contest will be the first game played between the two schools since 1938 when Lewis and Clark, then called Albany college, dropped out of the conference.

Cats Bow to CPS, 7-6, To Break 20 Year Homecoming Win Streak

By Dale Reynolds

One of the largest Homecoming crowds in Willamette's history saw a 20-year win streak come to an end last Saturday when Jerry Lillie's charges lost a heartbreaker to the Loggers of Puget Sound 7-6.

With the Cats apparently riding safely along on a 6-0 margin, a 45 yard Logger pass and a follow up two-yard buck for touchdown and a booted conversion gave the game to Puget Sound in the third quarter.

Hedges Bucks Over

The Puget Sound score came after the ball was placed on the Bearcat 47, when John Slanchik got off one of his few poor punts, a 21 yarder. CPS Quarterback Joe Hedges then tossed the Loggers' only completion of the day, a 45-yard one, to end Dick Brown who was forced out of bounds on the two-yard stripe. From the two, Hedges went over on a quarterback sneak. It was Guard Warren Wood's skilled toe that split the uprights for the cincher and the final 7-6 margin.

Except for the lone Logger score the visitors never passed the Willamette 20 yard marker.

Burleigh-Ewaliko for Six

Willamette scored their TD on a pass early in the first frame. The pass-tally, from Quarterback John Burleigh to Halfback Bill Ewaliko, was for 20 yards. The pass capped a 41-yard drive to the paydirt. Al Minn missed the crucial conversion. His attempt was high enough but a few inches wide.

The Jasons made two other heavy threats to score again but were each time denied by the potent Evergreen league team. As the half ended the Lillie crew had just been held to downs on the CPS 15.

Hall Blocks Punt

The other threat was when Guard Bob Hall broke through to block a punt on the 45 which bounced to the 23 where it was downed by Don Aasen, Hall and Art Beddoe. Bobby Douglas first tried a pass which fell incomplete. Don Ranis then carried the ball twice to the 15 and Aasen dropped a touchdown pass from Burleigh to give the foe the ball on downs.

Statistically, the Bearcats held the edge, but the Loggers held when they needed to. The first downs stood 11 to 7 in favor of the locals.

Third Win Grabbed by Jayvees With 13-6 Triumph Over Reed

Willamette's Bearkittens ran their season's record to three wins against one loss with a hard-fought 13-6 victory over Reed college at Portland last Friday afternoon.

The Bearkittens had to come roaring out of their lair late in the third quarter to break a 6-6 deadlock, scoring the winning touchdown after a 70-yard drive. Two long, completed passes, one tossed by Jeff MacRae and the other by Dick Taliaferro, took them most of the way, and halfback Bob Taylor climaxed the drive by hitting paydirt from two yards out.

Willamette had taken a 6-0 halftime lead by shoving across a score after another 70-yard march downfield in the first canto. Taliaferro plunged five yards for the score on a quarterback sneak. The attempt to run the extra point over was halted by the strong Reed line.

In the third period Reed showed a spark of life, blocking a Bearkitten punt and recovering it on the Willamette 20. A series of plunges took them down to the 10. Reed passed from there to gain what turned out to be their score of the season. Willamette ruined Reed's hopes of going into the lead by stopping them on the defensive front, along with Don Hosford and Newt Keeheo.

The next Bearkitten game will be played at Portland against the tough Lewis and Clark agragate next Friday afternoon. Yesterday's Bearkitten game with the Portland frosh was played too late for the results to be included in this issue.

Lewis Calls Maple Aspirants To First Hoop Turnout Monday

Head Basketball Coach John Lewis will call his first casaba session to order next Monday at 6:30 p.m., in preparation for the 1948-49 maple season beginning December 1 against University of Oregon at Eugene.

Nine lettermen are expected to be back with Lewis this season, eight of whom will probably turn out Monday. The three Johnsons, brothers Jim and Bob, and Astoria Ted and Tom Warren will lead the pack as last year's first-stringers. Pete Bryant, Bruce Barker, Dick Allison and Bob Baum are the other '47-'48 letter winners.

Six upperclassmen, including '46-'47 lettermen Al Fedje and Bob Jewell, are expected to add more depth to the Bearcat chances this year. Reg Waters, a junior from Centralia J. C., Fabian Nelson, up from last year's jayvees, Neil Richardson, from Clark J. C., and Ray Pointer, a transfer from Vanport, are the other four.

Something like 15 freshmen, including five ex-Salem high stars will also turn out. The

In a hard-fought game Monday, the Lausanne Hotshots emerged victorious over the Fredrickson A team 26 to 15.

Nan Wilcox, Hotshot captain, caught fire in the second half to rack up seven ringers giving her individual scoring honors of 16 counters for the game. Freddy captain Ruth Hagelstein tallied a close second in total points, 13 marked to her credit.

First game of the tournament last week went to the Fredrickson A's over the Alpha Chi Omega team 16 to 5.

At a meeting of the directors of physical education from a number of independent schools of Oregon last week, chairmen of various joint activities were named.

W. A. A. organizations under the directors will sponsor play days for the activities in which all the schools will participate.

The following are a few of the calendar dates so far planned: November 3, at Marylhurst, swimming, table tennis and volleyball; November 16, at Linfield, volleyball and sport day; December 7, at Forest Grove, the association meeting.

Accolades, corsages and what have you, to that Willamette university band and Director Maurice Brennen for their dandy performance given at last Saturday's Homecoming halftime activities. Their rendition of "Chicken Roost March", arranged by student Alan Robertson, "The Music Goes Round and Round", "Auld Lang Syne", and Willamette and Puget Sound fight songs were superb.

In fact not only ourselves but many old grads felt it was the best band performance given in many years by any band in this part of the country and we hereby lay claim to having the best college band in the Northwest until proven otherwise. Incidentally the marching and snare drumming was big time stuff too. And if you at heart are a music fan instead of a football roofer, better come up to Multnomah stadium tonight to see another top notch performance.

Homecoming Game Draws Various Opinions

As for the football team's performance last Saturday, there seems to be many points of view presented by the Monday morning quarterbacks. It was a tough game to lose all will agree, but how to have avoided it is where they vary.

To us, Puget Sound didn't live up to advance expectations which may have been caused by the loss of their ace quarterback Dick Mansfield. But with an average of 15 to 20 pounds per man weight advantage over us we would say our line held up well and seemed to get tougher as the game progressed.

'Cat Passer Protection Faulty

However, the big downfall appeared in taking out those Logger ends on attempted pass plays. With eight minutes to go, many wondered why the locals didn't take to the air.

The answer seemed to be the inability of 'Cat blockers to take out the incoming ends who seemed to get in there with no trouble at all, and when John Burleigh or Bob Douglas did get the ball away it was usually a rushed, wobbly pass that had interception written all over it. Oh well, what's past is past, but we hope those mistakes don't appear tonight.

Sports Department Incriminates Bruce

Seems the Collegian sports staff has unwittingly taken part in several small crimes inflicted on footballer Bill Bruce. Bill informed us last Wednesday that he was listed as a freshman in one of our stories way back when and ever since he has been in danger of being thrown in the drink, the Mill race that is, by Willamette's muscle-bound Lettermen's club.

So we herewith declare that Bill is not one of those "low creatures" but rather a bonafide transfer from Eastern Washington College of Education and we also ask the boys to lay off.

New Figuring System Installed

In case there are any mathematicians in the crowd, our figuring in the Conference standings is not incorrect, that is by a new way of figuring devised by Dale Reynolds with approval by Prof. Murco Ringnald. Instead of giving no credit for ties, we are giving them half credit which is in line with the Conference's method of giving two points for a win and one for a tie. For instance, in this week's issue British Columbia with no wins, two losses and a tie, gets .167 percentage instead of the .000 they would have received under last year's system.

A pretty good bet for team high scorer this year is Left Half Bill Ewaliko, who seems to be making his quota with considerable ease to date. With a total of five TDs or thirty points at present, he seems to be a sure thing to beat Keith Sperry's last year high of six touchdowns, what with five more games to go.

Sophs Seniors Grab Final Spots in Interclass Playoff

A hard-fighting Sophomore team turned back a spirited bunch of Frosh Beetle Bums by one point Wednesday night to gain a spot in the finals of the interclass basketball playoffs. The Sophs and Seniors tangled last night at seven for the championship, but the results were too late to make this edition.

One of the best games of the current intra-mural basketball season was played Monday in the opening round of the round-robin tourney, with Frosh Beetle Bums edging the Sophs, 38-31. The Beetle Bums held leads of 9-6, 18-12, and 26-18 at the quarter marks, but the fighting Sophs came battling back in the final period to make a close game of it.

Seniors Drop Two Frosh Squads

The Seniors rolled to a 42-29 win over the Frosh Mustangs in Monday's other game, taking an early lead and holding it throughout the game. Jim Johnson of the Seniors scored 13 points for high scoring honors.

Johnny Lewis watched his first string varsity team run through a practice game Tuesday night as the Seniors walloped the Frosh Beetle Bums, 58 to 34. In the first game of the evening the Sophomores won easily from the Frosh Mustangs, 41-28, eliminating the rooks from the title playoffs.

Jim and Bob Johnson led the upperclassmen with 16 and 14 points respectively in the evening's finale, while Dick Allison topped the scorers with 17 for the Sophs in the opener.

Sophs Nose Beetle Bums

The high-powered Soph hoopsters nosed out the Beetle Bums in Wednesday night's single contest by a slim 43-42 decision, to eliminate the frosh from the title fight. The Beetle Bums powered to a 11-9 first quarter lead, but the Sophs gained a 27 to 25 upper hand at halftime.

Radio Workshop Plans Euripides, 'Trojan Women'

"The Trojan Women", by Euripides, will be presented over KOCO Monday night at 10:30. The cast will feature Robert Scott as narrator, Addy Lane, Louis Ramos, Kathleen Scott and Marion Spann.

The modern adaptation has been written by Mr. Scott. One problem in presenting this play has been the use of the Greek chorus which has been retained in Scott's script. There is much dialogue between the chorus and characters which is "parallel" to the narrator's words, and kept in the background.

The following week, a synthesis of Romeo and Juliet will be presented with script by Carl Ritchie.

Commentary on the Week's News

AN APOLOGY: We used the word pogrom last week. Somehow, in printing, it came out program; hence the talk about butchery. The UN merely wants to make mass murder illegal. The idea has some merit, don't you think?

THE WORLD AT PEACE: Fighting was still going on this week in Korea & Greece—and of course in China. . . . The Arabs in north Palestine are reported to have recognized the UN truce, but fighting still goes on in some parts. . . . The Pope wants Jerusalem to made an international city with its shrines open to all. . . . The Panama government says it nipped a full scale revolt in the bud. . . . The rebel leader in Paraguay has surrendered, but the rebels fight on. . . . Army sources claim that Russian troops are being massed at the border to the US zone of Germany. . . .

Election Year: Dewey is still leading all the sample polls, but it looks like the popular vote could be close. . . . Wallace is still polling 2 to 3 per cent, except New York state. Been scoring over 7 per cent there. . . . It seems a shame to us that they insist on playing political football with issues like the loan to Israel. . . . The Portland City Club has gone on record as being against the liquor-by-the-drink and vet's bonus initiatives and removal of the 6% tax limitation, all on the ballot November 2. . . . We are keeping our fingers crossed, if the state reforestation bill is passed. If the state system is as corrupt and one-sided as the federal program is now, small operators are apt to be extinct in a few years. It seems that the more money you have the more land the government gives you to reforest and log—and, strangely, the more land you control the more money you have. By the time you repeat that a few times, you have a few big operators, no small operators, and a lot of loggers with hungry kids. It should be interesting to watch the state's program, if it's voted in.

Drinking Must Be Reported At Once, Smith Tells Sponsors

Clarifying various issues of University policy, the President's office this week addressed a letter to the Willamette faculty and staff.

In referring to the dismissal of certain students last spring for violation of the University regulation in regard to alcoholic beverages, the letter stated that "a majority of the students felt that the particular students disciplined had asked for the penalty and so had received just treatment."

However, Pres. G. Herbert Smith disclosed, "a number of students came to me and expressed the point of view that they thought action should have been taken earlier in the year and specifically mentioned a number of social events in which they claimed that the chaperones should not have failed to notice the influence of alcohol on the part of a few students in attendance."

In asking sponsors of social events to be alert to their responsibilities, Smith hopes to handle all cases of this sort immediately so that "there will be no occasion to feel that such infractions are being tolerated."

Other matters included a request that classes be held on schedule and for the full 50 minutes.

Turning back the calendar to the early '30's, the Pi Beta Phi's will celebrate the night traditionally filled with trick-treating, witches on broomsticks and black cats, with a hard-times party at the chapter house tomorrow evening at 7:30. Geri Bowles is general chairman for the event.

Prizes will also be given for the best hard-times costumes. Pi Phi's and their dates will search Salem on a scavenger hunt, following which they will return to the house for dancing to records, arranged by Barbara Miller.

A spot light will shine on a "visitor from the beyond" in the solarium. Kay Stark and the refreshments committee will serve candied apples, cokes and popcorn.

'Bev and Bud' Reveal Troth

At the Alpha Chi Omega and Beta Theta Pi exchange dinner and fireside last Wednesday night, the news of an engagement was revealed when two flower hearts with "Bev and Bud" arrived at the AXO house. Indeps Schedule Hallowe'en Fun

Games, refreshments and dancing await all those who attend the Independent's Hallowe'en party to be held Monday evening at 6:30, according to Shirley Dean, social chairman.

Spooks and jack-o-lanterns will create the traditionally eerie atmosphere in Chresto Cottage, where the event will be held. Dean Regina Ewalt will chaperone for the group.

The Amen Corner

Wesley fellowship will hold a fireside Sunday evening at 7:30 in the parsonage of the First Methodist church with Mrs. Brooks Moore acting as hostess.

The evening's program will consist of a worship service under the direction of Sophia Guyton. Betty Thompson will furnish background music for the service and Mary Jo Wigginton will play a flute solo. Others taking part in the program are John Kaemmer, Bud Corner, Wendall Hall and Phil Phipps.

The Young People's group of St. Joseph's Catholic church has invited the Catholic club to participate in a mixer at the parish hall, November 4 from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m.

Dancing and refreshments will be part of the combination business and social meeting.

Marion Sparks was re-elected president of Westminister fellowship at their meeting last Sunday evening. Glennis Allen replaces Martha DuRette as vice-president and Sharon Carrier replaces Phyllis Bain as secretary. Other new officers include Marilyn Brooks, faith and life commissioner; Sam Barker, stewardship commissioner; Barbara Bates, outreach commissioner; Scotty Washburn, fellowship commissioner and Lois Gottwold was appointed to take charge of refreshments for each meeting.

The Willamette Canterbury club will join the Canterbury clubs of the University of Oregon, Linfield college and Oregon State college this Sunday in Corvallis for a discussion meeting. Members will leave the parish house here at 4 p.m. and will return by 10:30 p.m.
