CONGRATULATIONS NOW IN ORDER

Culmination of Willamette Made Matches.

The List of Weddings Which Took Place During the Past Summer is a Long and Interesting One. Read Here for the Name of a Friend Now Lost Forever.

An unusual number of Willamette's alumni and students have departed from lives of single blessedness to lives of double blessedness during the past summer.

ELLIOTT-CORNELIUS.

At the home of the bride, in the twenty-first of June, Bessie Cornelius of the Class of 1908, and John Elliott of 1907, were married. The bride is well-known in the musical and university circles of Salem. The groom is a civil engineer, and employed in Seattle, where the couple are making their home.

FORD-COOPER.

Mabelle Cooper, a former student of Pacific University, and Burgess Ford of Willamette University, '05, were married at the home of the bride, in Portland, where the groom is employed as a merchant. Mr. Ford was a popular student while attending Willamette and is a true-blue Alumnus of his Alma Mater.

MILLER-JOHNSTONE.

Henrietta St. Clair Johnstone of Arlington, Washington, and Kinney Miller, Willamette, '05, married at the home of the bride, August fifteenth. They reside at Tacoma, Washington, where Mr. Miller is secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mrs. Miller was a nurse by profession.

MOSER-SWAFFORD.

At the home of the bride, in Salem, on August twenty-fifth occurred the marriage of Miss Lila V. Swafford to Mr. N. D. Moser, of Tacoma, Washington. Mrs. Moser is a member of the Class of 1905 of Willamette University and since her graduation was employed in the Salem High School as a teacher of German, and she has retained an intimate connection with the university. Mr. Moser is a student of Willamette. They are now residing at Tacoma, where Mr. Moser is in business.

ANKS-BOOTH.

Collegiate representative, at the home lines. In Lebanon, Oregon, the marriage of Miss Booth to Mr. Murry Shanks. Over one hundred friends and relatives gathered at the wedding. Mr. Robert Eakin of Salem played the wedding march. Mr. Shanks is a graduate of the Willamette College of Law, finishing with the Class of 1909. The bride finished the regular college course the same year. Mr. and Mrs. Shanks live at Fossil, Oregon.

NELSON-WINSLOW.

At the home of the bride, a few miles from Salem, on June 29, Miss Elva Winslow, '09, and Mr. Clyde Nelson, '09, of New Kamilche, Washington, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. The ceremony took place in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The couple reside on North Church street. Mr. Nelson is employed as a guard at the penitentiary.

THOMPSON-EMMEL.

Miss Nora Emmel, Class of 1910, and F. H. Thompson, medical class of 1909, married at the home of the bride, at Sherwood, Oregon, on September eighth. Dr. and Mrs. Thompson are living at Stayton, Oregon, where the doctor is practicing.

THINGS LIVELY ON THE GRIDIRON

Everybody Out for the Alumni Game Today.

Prospects for the Year's Squad are Good. With the Old Men and the New Ones Who have Come in This Year.

Alumni game today. Prospects for squad are good.

Next to the registration office the busy place on the campus is Dr. Sweetland's abode, the gymnasium.

Manager Bellinger and Dr. Sweetland have been working for the last two weeks preparing for the opening of school and the beginning of football practice.

A very needed change has been made in the gymnasium. The partition between the physical directors office and the adjoining dressing room has been taken out, thus making a large and well lighted dressing room for the use of the first squad.

The main gym floor has received one of Dr. Sweetland's thoro scrubblings at which occasion the students are asked to relax their superfluous energy.

One is forcibly impressed with the good judgment and care used around the gymnasium. All goods were thoroly cleaned, put away at the close of last season and now each player is required to sign for each piece of paraphernalia that he uses belonging to the Athletic Department. All members of the student body may feel assured that as long as Dr. Sweetland and Manager Billinger hold forth no money will be lost thru equipment and that each player will receive the best of attention.

Most of last year's players have returned and with the increase of some good new players a large squad is working hard for the coming games. Old Willamette has good red blood flowing in her veins, and although she may not be champion of the State, her team will be one of players who rank high as men off and on the gridiron. A team that will receive the support of every student and be a credit to the historic institution and the community. There is a spirit of harmony between coach, manager, captain and players which foretells that each individual will put forth their best effort for the school represented. Up to the time that this article was written the following men had reported for practice: Blackwell, Paul Homan, Ralph Homan, Bellinger, McNight, Westley, Rowland, Reeves, Lowe, W. Booth, Rader, Capt. McMechan, Cummings, McRae, Flegel, Shepard, Hamilton, Booth, Pfaff, and a number of new men whose names have not been given to the reporter.

Manager Flegel of last season's baseball team, is out exercising at the position of half in a squad of veterans who are seeking wind for the Alumni game September 30. It is hard to state what will be the result of the game on Friday. No doubt out of respect to the Old Students the first team will not defeat them, and judging from the appearance of the old veterans, the old heavyweights will have it their way. Willamette has a strong Alumni in all sports and walks of life. The game will be one of interest because of the exhibition of the new rules.

Discovered—Do you know, I was going down State street a day or so ago, wondering where I could get a good hair brush. I dropped into the Capital Drug Store and found a swell line of brushes. Also found Z. J. Riggs, an old Willamette student conducting the store.

Tom Cronise, the up-to-date photographer, calls to your attention the fact that he is still giving satisfaction in the line of photography.

LAUSANNE HALL ALREADY FULL

Many Good Old Faces at the "Dorm."

Prof. and Mrs. Keller Have a Jolly Flock of Willamette Girls to Help Them Pass the Time—Applicants Turned Away.

Lausanne Hall, September 28: This part of the campus is especially beautiful. New sights are constantly being seen by the wide-opened eyes of newcomers. Little twitterings are heard ever and anon by the ears finely attuned to nature. Sometimes squealing and laughter and cries of "How glad I am that you're back" and "Welcome" resound through the ancient and sacred precincts of the Hall. If one judges from weather indications, the place looks better than ever to the old girls, and rather interesting to the new. All look forward to a successful, pleasant year under the supervision of Professor and Mrs. Keller.

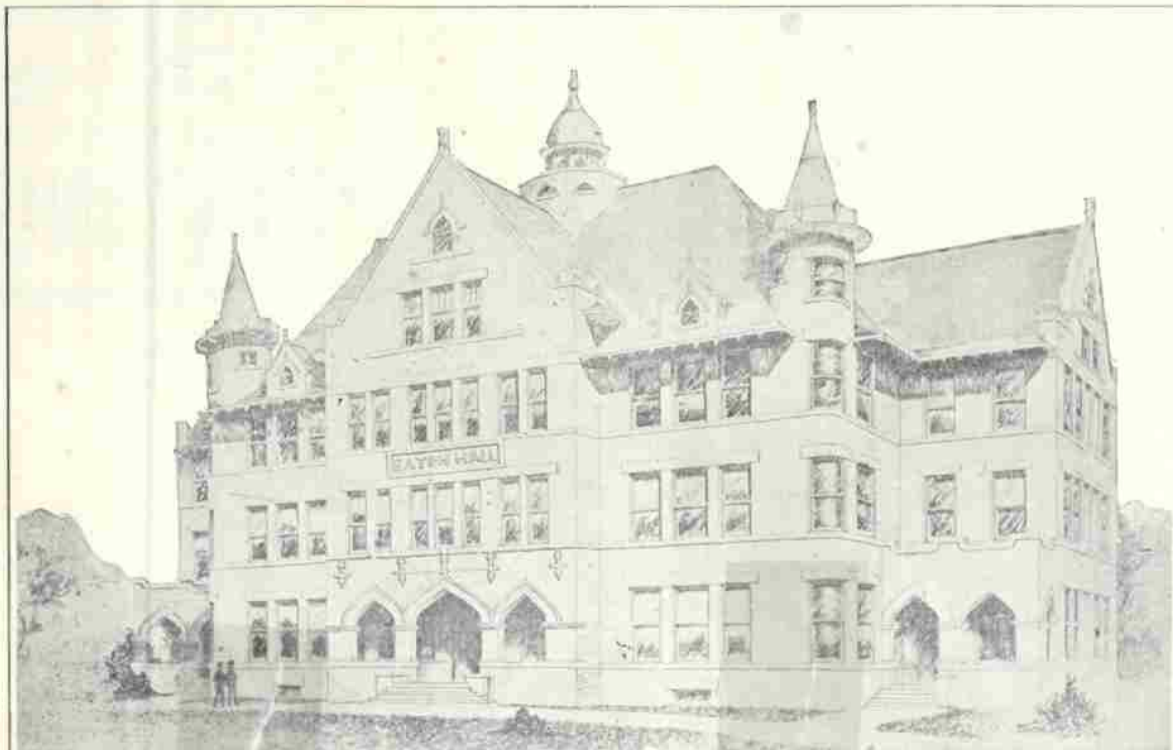

In order to allay further anxiety as to "Who's Who" without someone's having to suffer the fate of the cat that was killed by curiosity, it might be well to add that Pearl Bradley, Elva Bartlett, Jennie Edington, Edena Clarke, Florence Dunlop, Ada Mark, Gertrude Reeves, Josephine Randall, June Samson, Irma Shumway, and Jessie Young are students left over from the years that have rolled away, and that Alma Ashly, Lois Ashley, Mildred Bartholomew, Grace Edgington, Lima Hancock, Mildred Hutchinson, Maude Meyer, Ethel Proctor, Armored Sutcliff, and Ethel Lewton are fresh. To these last the school extends a warm welcome.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

The Prospects Are Fine for a Good Year at the College of Music.

Registration at the College of Music is going on briskly. Old students are coming in again, as well as a fine lot of new ones. The percentage of enrollment will be much larger than last year. Dean Mendenhall assures us that the Glee Club, Ladies' Club and Choral Society will all be carried on as last year, only more elaborately.

Thursday afternoon, September 29th, Pacific University held a memorial service in honor of the late Harvey W. Scott, who was an alumnus of that institution.

SALUTATORY.

When, in the course of college events, it becomes necessary for a new editorial staff to take up work on the Weekly Willamette Collegian, however well the retiring staff may have done its work, however fine a paper may have been the one of the preceding year, it also becomes necessary to say some very well known and oft repeated truths regarding the publishing of a successful college paper.

At the head of this column you may read these words,—"Published every Thursday during the college year by the Student Body of Willamette University." To put it bluntly, "This means you!"

We desire and purpose to make the Willamette Collegian a paper fully representative of all departments of the university—a true exponent of all life on the campus. This cannot be done by the Student Body through reporters and voluntary contributors. We are optimistic enough to believe that it will be done. We appreciate our own responsibility and are ready to do our part to the bitter end. But words not words are what will tell in a case like this.

ABOUT THAT COPY.

A few words regarding the mechanical details of the material you hand in for publication.

Use paper measuring about six by nine inches, with lines running the long way. A supply of suitable paper will always be kept on hand in the Collegian office. Come in and use it if you have none of your own. That copy should be on paper of uniform size is very important.

Write as legibly as possible. (If your hand writing is positively hopeless use a typewriter.)

Place the number of words in each "write-up" at the top of the first page.

Number the sheets.

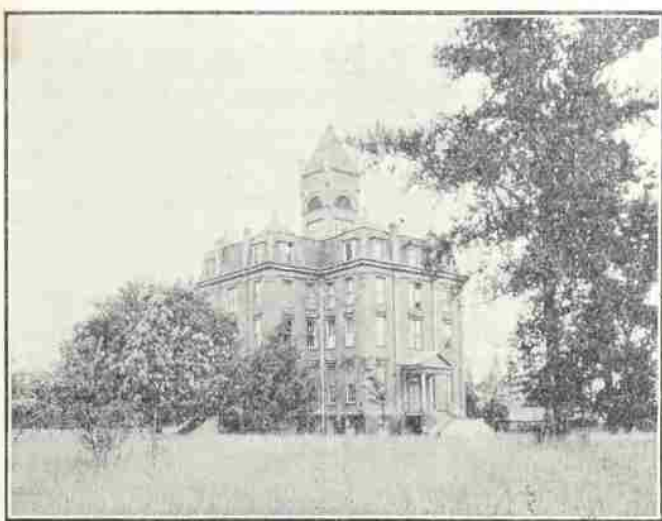

Write on one side of the paper only.

Spell, punctuate and paragraph correctly, as far as in you (and Noah Webster) lies.

Hand copy to the editor or put it in the "contribution box." Such box will be located somewhere on the first floor of Eaton Hall.

All copy contributed by others than the regular reporters must bear the name of the contributor. The name will not be published unless so desired.

All regular copy must be in by Tuesday noon of each week.

OLD COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

WATCH THE PREPS

And last year they told me the Academy was dead, but as the students are registering this year, the Academy, along with the other departments of the university, shows a marked increase over the enrollment of last year. Many of the former students have returned and these together with the many new students, will make the Academy stronger not only in attendance but also in spirit. The Academy has always been prominent in student enterprises, furnishing last year some first football men and many second and also one or more men on every other athletic team.

As not all have registered as yet it is impossible to give the exact enrollment. It is certain, however, that the spirit will run high. The "Preps" are going to make themselves felt in the social and athletic life of the university this year. They "will bear watching."

My Choice.

It ain't no use to grumble and complain,

It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice;

When God sorts out the weather and sends rain,

W'y, rain's my choice.

In this existence, dry and wet

Will overtake the best of men

Some little skiff o' clouds'll shet

The sun off now and then;

They ain't no sense as I can see,

In mortals sich as you and me,

A-faultin' nature's wise intents,

And lockin' horns with Providence.

It ain't no use to grumble and complain;

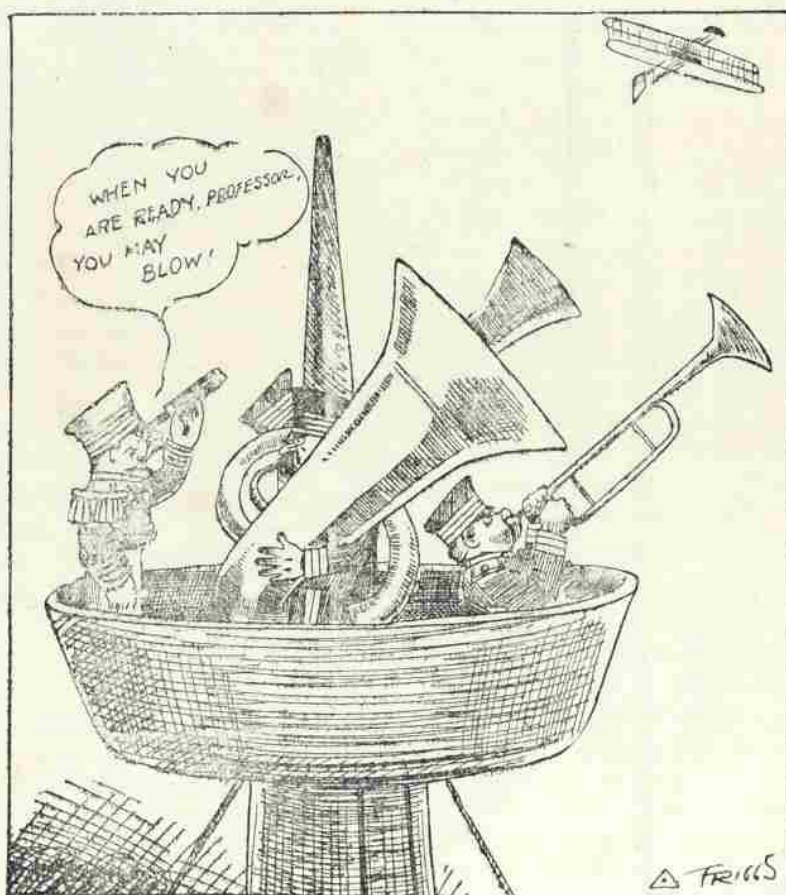

It's jest as cheap and easy to rejoice;

When God sorts out the weather and sends rain,

W'y, rain's my choice.

PHILODORIAN SOCIETY

With a large number of the substantial workers of the Philodorian Literary Society back in school again and with so many new students who are expressing a desire to become members of the society we prophesy one of most successful year's work that the society has ever enjoyed.

The Philodorian society which was organized so many years ago and has enjoyed so many years of uninterrupted success is surely a good place for a young man to cast his lot as far as literary society work is concerned. We say without contraens in him dormant possibilities. Many a literary genius and eminent speaker point to their first attempt in debating in a literary society as the beginning of their successful career.

Furthermore the literary society furnishes a splendid opportunity for social intercourse. Students become better acquainted with each other through its associations. The Adelante literary society is a first class organization for college women. Both Senior and Junior members are enrolled. Its standard is high. The aim is mutual help, both intellectually and socially.

Splendid work has been done in the past. But the future is exceedingly promising since the

MEDICAL COLLEGE

Mr. Sidney Graham is in the city and will continue his course in the College of Law.

Miss Nora Emmel is employed as a doctress in the home of Dr. Thompson, of Stayton, Ore.

Miss Eleanor Colomy of the '10 class is at home in Salem. She is employed to play for Miss Majors who is a vocal teacher of the city.

Miss Frances Newcomb, a member of the '12 class, is attending the Behnke-Walker Business College at Portland, and will not return to Willamette this year.

The Collegian has been unable to ascertain as yet the whereabouts and occupations of the remainder of the class which has just left us.

diction that this class of work is worth more to a young man than any one, or probably than any two studies in the entire college course. In many respects the literary society is the school at work; the abstract made concrete in practice. This being the case, one ought to be very careful about choosing a literary society home and we feel safe in advising a young man to join a society which in the past has held within its ranks such men as Congressman Hawley and Supreme Judge Eiken and up to the present time has continued to send out our champion debaters and winners of state oratorical contests.

The society met on Thursday night for election of officers to begin the year's work. A full report of this meeting will be given next week.

We hope every young man in school will at once get into one of the societies and extend a cordial welcome to every one to become a Philodorian.

ADELANTE SOCIETY

One of the activities of college life a student cannot afford to miss is that which a literary society offers. It not only gives the student an opportunity to put into practice what he learns in the class-room but also awak-society is in its new and neatly furnished halls. These halls are the southeast rooms on the third floor of the Chapel building. Regular work will begin Friday, October 7th. All girls are invited to affiliate themselves with this society and enjoy its pleasures and profits.

Young Men's Christian Student Gymnasium Class A.

Y. M. C. A.

At this the beginning of the school year we find a great deal to occupy our time and attention, nevertheless a little time spent in thinking of the year's work will be well spent.

We have tried to make you feel at home in our midst and assist you in getting comfortably located. If this has been well done we are thankful and some of you, at least, are glad that we have an organization to do such work.

Such a large number of new men in school this year makes us feel that we have something to do to maintain a properly working association under the new conditions.

We are glad to welcome you. And if you don't feel as though we all knew each other come out to the Best Social of the year, the "Stag", Saturday evening at the Gymnasium, and we will produce some smiles that will last throughout the year. Other socials and jolly-ups will be pulled off in the near future. In all seriousness, fellow students, you can't afford to miss the joint reception given by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. next week, for everyone, including old and new girls will be there. Co-education in all its phases has always been popular here so please fall in line by attending these opening events.

As you are planning your school work be sure and leave some time in your daily schedule for Bible Study and Missionary reading. Our committees will start to work at once and we hope to invite every man in every department to line up with us. You will be treated fairly so do not dread to see a Y. M. C. A. man approach you. We are planning a good meeting for next Sunday afternoon and extend a general invitation to each and every man in school to attend. Come and bring someone who, perhaps, would not come without you.

May we all together have the best and most profitable year in our school life.

Y. W. C. A.

First meeting Sunday, 3 p. m., October 1.

Opening reception Saturday afternoon, at Chestnut Farm.

The Y. W. C. A. is a Christian organization for young women, and with the Y. M. C. A., represents the religious life of the institution. It stands for that which goes to build strong characters, and one of its chief purposes is to see and meet needs. The main features of the organization will be presented at the first meeting, and an opportunity to join will be offered. This meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, in the Philodorian Halls. The meeting will be led by Alma Haskin, the president, and will be semi-informal in nature. Special music will be provided. Let us help you keep the "homesick germs" out of your first Sunday away from home, by coming out to this meeting.

An opening reception, given in honor of the new girls will be held at Chestnut Farm on Saturday afternoon. All Willamette girls, old and new are cordially invited to attend.

Websterian Literary Society.
The Websterian Society will hold its first meeting of the school year Friday evening. The membership consist of enthusiastic men who take a large interest in literary work and debating. Last year the society was handicapped for lack of a meeting place, but this year they will hold forth in their new halls on the third floor of the Chapel building. The cost of improvement done last year amounted to over six hundred dollars, which account, with the exception of the hundred and twenty odd dollars given out thru the office, was born by this society and sister society, the Adelante. This speaks for the earnestness of the members.

We extend a cordial welcome to all men interested in society work, and trust that you will do yourself the justice of visiting our meetings before becoming a member of any organization except the Student Body.

New students, do not forget that your collegiate training is not complete unless you acquaint yourself with parliamentary law and that literary work and debating will add to your gray matter and make you more effective in speech.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Although registration has not been completed, prospects seem bright for a large and representative Freshman Class. Students have been registering from all over the state with a number from Washington and Idaho, and, at the present rate, by the end of next week the Freshman class should number well beyond that of last year.

As soon as officers are elected and class organization completed, the Class of '14 expect to keep things lively and will be loyal, as a unit, to the "New Willamette" spirit.

Already three members of the class, Ralph Homan, Harley Blackwell, and Paul Homan are on the varsity football squad and there are other members of the class who, in High School, have distinguished themselves in various branches of athletic and intellectual work who will make good at Willamette.

PHILODOSIAN SOCIETY

The Philodorian will be ready for work Friday with an interesting program and some especially interesting stunts for all new girls.

To the new girls who are not acquainted with the Philodorian society let us explain that we are the oldest literary society in the university, that our aim is to cultivate a taste for the best literature and music and also to put into practical use the parliamentary laws.

Our society does not believe in all work and no play by any means and some of the best times spent in ones college life are spent in the literary societies.

So we should say to all new girls, go in for a jolly, as well as profitably time, and join one of the literary societies. Visit the Philodorian Friday at 3:15.
