Seniors' College Days to End In McCulloch Field Exercises

Forming on the lawn of the Blind school, the class of 1951 will march to their commencement exercises in McCulloch stadium at 3 p.m., June 10.

This Sunday Rev. Brooks Moore will address the class at the Baccalaureate service at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist church.

Dr. Tracy E. Strevey, dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Southern California and a graduate of Willamette, will deliver the commencement address. Music will be provided by the Willamette university band and by Norvada Smedley, who will conclude the program by singing "Farewell Willamette."

The faculty moved Tuesday that those seniors whose names were listed as read then, who completed all the work in progress and all other requirements for graduation be recommended to the Board of Trustees for authorization of their degrees.

Bachelor of arts degrees will be conferred on 139 candidates, eight will receive bachelor of science degrees, five will receive bachelor of music degrees and eight will be granted bachelor of music education. The law school will grant 25 bachelor of law degrees and the music school will confer master of education degrees on three candidates.

An honorary doctor of laws degree will be conferred on Dr. Strevey, and honorary doctor of literature degree on Lawrence Davies and a doctor of divinity degree on Reverend Moore.

Hoover Report Vote Carries

All recommendations of the Little Hoover commission, as submitted to student vote May 24 and 25, have been accepted.

Of the five questions submitted to the vote, the new system of student council representation drew the smallest majority by receiving 420 yes to 70 no votes.

Other statistics gave the altered awards system a 424 to 67 majority; the student budget, 444 to 46; the activities coordination board, 466 to 23, and the financial board, 469 votes for and 21 against.

In order to pass, the constitutional amendments had to receive a two-thirds majority of the 477 votes needed for a quorum of the student body.

That portion of the newly passed amendments pertaining to social events are already being incorporated in the plans of the first vice-president. The remaining actions will be put into effect next fall.

Reserve Rooms

Forms for returning students who wish to reserve rooms in any of the living units for next year are available from the house managers in the respective quarters, Dean Mark Hatfield announced this week. Applications must be handed in to the dean's office by June 1.

Draft Deferments

All men who want an education deferment, whether they have filled out the old deferment application or not, must contact the secretary of the dean of students and make a new application. The previous applications are now invalid and are being replaced. It is absolutely essential Dean Mark Hatfield said that all men make the new application if they wish to continue their education.

Band Members Elect Officers

Herb Brower was elected president of the 50-piece Willamette university band, director Maurice Brennen announced this week. Bill Bissell was elected business manager. Mary Howe is secretary and Bill Covert, treasurer. The new officers will begin working soon on plans for future concerts and trips throughout the state.

Ratification Withdrawn For AWS Constitution

Ratification of the AWS constitution, which was effected last week, was withdrawn Wednesday by the Student council.

According to First Vice President Felix Calkins, who presided over the meeting, a clause in the constitution under the "duties of an officer" stated that the president of the women's organization would be on the student council.

The reconsideration came when it was discovered that the organization considered this to be a voting representative since this conflicts with the list of voting members on the council accepted by the student body in the election last week.

Calkins stated that the constitution will again be ratified as soon as AWS can change this clause.

The council appointed Tom Shiedel to the position of Tuesday chapel manager for next year but tabled the appointment of a Parent's day manager till next Wednesday when the council will again meet. Parent's day is to supercede Dad's day if the Dad's club approves of the proposal.

Also tabled was a request from the yell squad for $220 for uniforms.

In discussion of financial arrangements for the building of the student union, it was made clear that tickets for Freshman Glee will be charged for but no definite decisions were made on this matter.

Approval was given the nominations of Prof. Murco Ringnald and Dr. C. J. S. Paulin as faculty members on the publication board and Garold Meinke and Laura Lee Newton were approved as student members.

Action was also taken to eliminate the Whip Whitman banquet from the university calendar. The banquet, which was originated to incite spirit in the student body prior to the Whitman-Willamette game, was not held last fall.

Vets to See VA

Any veteran completing his undergraduate work and planning to continue in graduate work, must file his request with the veterans administration prior to the completion of his undergraduate study.

Council Names Chapel Head

Kent Lawrence was elected to succeed John Ambler as Thursday chapel chairman by the Inter-Faith council Monday. Dr. Arthur Maynard, adviser, announced this week.

The council, composed of a representative of each student religious organization, also appointed Jack Kiekle, president of the Calvary Baptist youth fellowship, and Bill Jessup, president of the Canterbury club and regional representative of that group, to work with Lawrence in obtaining chapel speakers.

Marg Aldinger, campus YWCA president, was chosen as the Inter-Faith council's member on the social activities board of the student body.

Mellor Heads AWS Group

Sue Mellor was elected as president of the newly formed Associated Women Students of Willamette university last Wednesday. Vice-president will be Mary Ellen Phillips. Second vice-president will be Doris McCulloch. Jean Stewart was elected secretary and Shirley Dean, treasurer.

The senior women will be represented by Jo Oliver, juniors by Shirley Helweg and Nancy Lumijarvi and sophomores by Carol Emerson and Joyce Frost.

Nominations were made by Cap and Gown and from the floor at an assembly open to all women. The ballots of 186 women were turned in at the polls conducted in Eaton and all women's living organizations on Wednesday.

FTA Book Here

Recent additions of the NEA Journal and the FTA yearbook are available in the office of Dr. George Martin for members of the Future Teachers of America.

Summer Session Registration To Start June 18; GI Bill Ends

Registration will begin Monday, June 18, for the eight-week summer session at Willamette university which will begin the following day and end August 11.

This session will be the last opportunity for veterans to begin an educational program under the GI bill according to information released to the Collegian this week. After July 25 no veteran may begin or resume such a program if he has not been enrolled during the spring semester.

An advanced coaching clinic will be led by Coaches John Lewis and Chester Stackhouse during the first four weeks of the session. In addition to this course, 46 other courses will be offered in biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, history, mathematics, political science, physical education, psychology, speech and drama and the college of music.

Two visiting professors, Dr. A. Weston Niemela, director of special education and pupil personnel in the Salem public schools, and Mr. Dick Sarick, supervisor of secondary schools from the state department of education, will be present and 28 of the present faculty and the administration will remain for the session.

Classes will run for one hour. Three hours credit will be granted in classes meeting five times a week and two credit hours for classes meeting four hours per week.

Japanese Girl To Enter WU

Miss Keimi Yokoi, of Uwan, Shionomisaki, Nishimuro-gun, Wakayama-ken, Japan, has been granted a scholarship to Willamette for the fall semester. Pres. G. Herbert Smith announced today.

Miss Yokoi, a graduate of Aoyama Gakuin college and Japan's Girls' Theological college, will study educational courses at Willamette, preparatory to opening a Christian school in Japan.

With an extensive background in religious work, she plans to combine the two fields of theology and education to better equip herself for the founding of a Christian kindergarten and primary level school in her native land.

The Willamette UNESCO chapter, under the chairmanship of Eldon Heiser of the foreign student board, will be responsible for Miss Yokoi's transportation to the United States and will also assume expenses from the port of entry to Salem.

The organization is further arranging for Miss Yokoi's living accommodations, her incidental expense account and vacation periods funds while here. She will live at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

The Salem council of church women has granted a scholarship to Miss Yokoi which will cover tuition and books for the 1951-52 college year.

Appointments Approved for Publications Staffs

This week's Collegian, the last for this semester, inaugurates the first in a series of 31 issues of Willamette's campus weekly under the editorship of Mary Louise Lee.

Seven new appointments were made by Miss Lee to Collegian posts. Don Scarborough has taken over the news editor's position formerly held by Miss Lee. Kent Lawrence is the new campus editor. Keith Lawrence stepped into the position of associate news editor.

Society editor is Shirley Helweg who is being assisted by associate society editor Harriet Booth. Stan Nelson is continuing as sports editor for his third semester. Rewrite editor is Ann Klindworth and Darrel deChaby is the new copy editor.

Appointment of Armond Rivness to be business manager of the Fusser's Guide was made this week by Editor Keith Lawrence. A staff of 15 students will publish the booklet next fall following registration. Nancy Lawson will design the cover.

Two positions were filled this week on the Wallulah staff when Editor Cliff Gregg appointed Betty Howat to be layout editor and named Jane Notson to the post of art editor.

The three associate editors of the Willamette university Student Handbook, Marie Deetz, Betty Howat and Shirley Helweg, have completed their work and all material for the publication will be turned over to the Oregon Statesman today, according to editor, Kent Lawrence.

The Statesman is printing the book and has agreed to store the type for reprintings in order to cut down on publication expenses. The University signed a contract early this week in which they agreed to pay half of the price of the book which is a combination of the Student Handbook, which until now has been printed by the University, and the Rook Book, which was printed by the Associated Students.

Included in the book will be the newly changed constitution, revised rules for women, on which the women's living organizations have been working for several weeks, and a complete and enlarged section dealing with student activities.

Collegian Begins New Year

While everyone else is thinking about finals and summer plans, the staff of the Collegian begins a new year with this issue of the paper.

We have enjoyed working with Bill MacDougall this year, and fortunately, many of his staff will be on the staff again next year.

Bill has tried to present the news impartially, giving both sides of interesting problems which have come up during the year. This inter-play of ideas is the biggest responsibility of a college paper, and one of the best ways for students, faculty, and administration to work together for a common purpose.

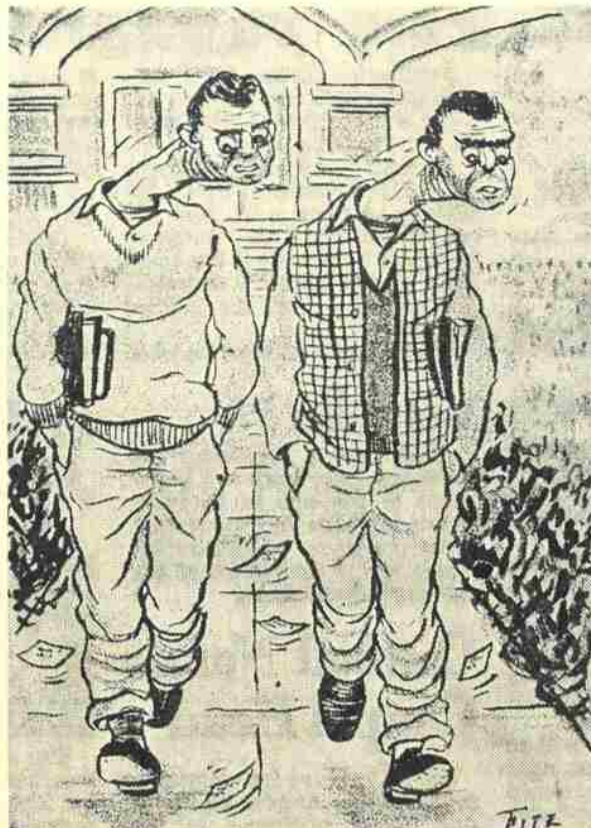

Thank you, Bill, for your guidance and judgment this year in helping to make the Collegian one of the best college newspapers in the United States. M.L.L.

Yearbook Staff Deserves Credit

Janet Stark, second semester Wallulah editor, has accomplished a near miracle. The 1951 Wallulah is coming out before graduation! Few of us realize the handicaps Janet and her staff have been working and worrying under. Classes and professors, comps and orals were neglected so the book could be edited, and Janet is a graduating senior. Doug Stearns, first semester editor, graduated in February, leaving the staff with the bulk of work to be accomplished in one short semester. This week, tired but happy, Janet announced the completion and publication date of the Wallulah. Congratulations, Janet, we recognize the work that has gone into this book.

143 Take Draft Tests

Dr. George Martin, supervisor of the college draft deferment tests at Willamette, set the official number taking the examination last Saturday at 143.

Martin couldn't say when grades would be available at local draft boards but was certain that they would arrive before the start of school next fall.

In connection with the college deferment program, Registrar Harold Jory pointed out that "military grade averages" for deferment will be sent to each student. If addresses have been changed or information is to be mailed to another address, students should supply the Dean of Students office with a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If a student wishes his grade standing in his class sent to his local board, he must make request to the Dean of Students office. Dean Hatfield will be available in his office throughout the summer to answer questions concerning the draft.

Pre-Registration Incomplete

Statistics from the registrar's office show that 286 of the 464 registration booklets handed out last week during the pre-registration period have been returned in completed form.

"All books still out should be brought back immediately," Registrar Harold Jory emphasized.

A breakdown of the 286 books returned shows 14 upper division music students and six lower division music students registered. One hundred seventy-five upper division students have completed the pre-registration process for courses in the College of Liberal Arts while 91 lower division students are signed up. Breakdowns by classes were unavailable.

Students who have completed their books may pick them up on registration day for returning students next fall—September 17—and take care of the financial end of the process, Jory indicated. Non-completed books can be finished then. Incoming freshmen will register September 15 and classes will begin the 18th, he said.

Fenix Slates Repairs

Plans for repairs and redecorations around campus were announced Wednesday by Dr. Robert Fenix, along with plans for the use of the lumber from Sweetland field grandstand.

Dr. Fenix has just returned from Santa Barbara, California, where he has been attending a three-day conference of Western Association of College and University Business Officers for 11 western states. He was elected vice-president of the organization and will be in charge of the conference for next year.

An agreement has been made with Doug Olds, a former Willamette student and now superintendent of schools in Jefferson district, to use the lumber from the grandstand to build a high school grandstand in Jefferson. Previously the lights from the field had been sold to the high school.

All the lumber from the north grandstand and part of the lumber from the south grandstand has been used to construct the warehouse behind the gymnasium to store the materials removed from under the old grandstand.

There are no big projects planned for this summer, but rooms in Lausanne and Baxter will be repaired and redecorated. Some classrooms will be redecorated and the roof of Collins hall and the library will be repaired.

Church Plans Yearly Session

Willamette university will be the meeting place for the annual business session conference of the Oregon Methodist church June 12 to 17.

Dr. J. Richard Sneed, the Los Angeles First Methodist pastor, will address the evening services.

The conclave draws together ministers and laymen from every Methodist church in Oregon, announced Dr. Arthur Maynard, who is in charge of arrangements at Willamette.

Presiding over the 9 a. m. business meeting, Bishop Gerald Kennedy will also lead the morning worship services beginning at 8:20.

Sigma Chi's Initiate 12

Sigma Chi's initiated twelve men into their fraternity last weekend.

The new members include: Paul Karshnia, Merlin Schulze, Don Hosford, Bill Whittenberg, Harry Eckley, Tony Kalez, Ken Cooper, Tom Pickles, Gene Timms, Jack Hande Ted Jacob and Dick Petzoldt.

'Vast Majority of Campus Population Favor an AROTC Unit' States Author

By Jack Brown

There is a vast majority of students on campus who favor an ROTC unit, not because they are warmongers, or militarists, but because they believe that such a program will provide an opportunity for continued education during the present emergency.

They feel that the AROTC program is not a war program, but a defense measure. They recognize, as does the Association of American Colleges, which represents the major portion of Christian colleges, that "national welfare takes precedence over other interests," and that by accepting the air force program the University is performing a patriotic service to our nation.

Those opposed to this program hope to convince the Methodist Church that it should intercede and terminate the contract Willamette holds with the government. They quote the Methodist "Discipline" which states, "The opinions of individuals sincerely differ on the question of war." Those viewing the "Discipline" as a whole know that the Methodist Church neither condemns nor condones war.

Willamette has been one of the few campuses on which opposition to the ROTC has arisen. On other Methodist campuses: Emory, Northwestern, DePauw, Evansville, Allegheny, Lawrence, and Puget Sound, there have been no signs of dissension. That also goes for Boston, Duke, and Southern Methodist, all of which provide an ROTC in addition to those mentioned earlier.

In three previous major wars Willamette and its students have entertained military training. During the Civil War a Student Cadet Program existed. A student Army Training Program was carried out during the First World War and throughout the Second World War Willamette offered its facilities to a Navy V-12 Training Program.

The American Council of Education which represents the greater majority of American colleges went on record "pledging the strength of American colleges to the strength of our country." They also recommended an expanded ROTC program.

Failing to disagree with the nation's educators, the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the University instructed President Smith to investigate opportunities of service. At its mid-year meeting the Board of Trustees voted to make application for an ROTC program.

With this background in mind and respecting the right of a person to speak his "peace," the major portion of students will continue to go along with the ideas expressed by America's educators, and those of our own Board of Trustees, who would be the last to denounce Christian principles.

BEEFS-BOUQUETS

(Editor's Note: We received several letters favoring the AROTC unit on campus. Due to lack of space, however, the Collegian can print only the letter by Chuck Massey.)

To the Editor:

I have recently viewed a petition containing some 35 names prepared by the Christian Social Action Committee, which states proudly their objections to the AROTC program, which is coming to Willamette. I am very happy for the opportunity to see this document, because heretofore I questioned that their feelings were crystallized enough to be positively stated. Now it appears they are and we are privileged to see just what they are.

I have many objections to their statements, but the one outstanding contention they present seems to stick in my minds as being highly illogical. I refer to the fears which they express that the Willamette campus will become militarized. This, they say, is a danger to be avoided, and I am inclined to agree with them, but would like it explained just how this militarization is to come about when the men in the program have only 20 hours spread over four years.

Further, in their inconsistency, these individuals state that the program is considered advantageous because it will bring men to Willamette when they might go to another institution if such a program were not offered. The CSAC's then say that this can be answered by the fact that in a few years veterans will be returning to the campus and make up for the enrollment lost by eliminating the program. Obviously, the university will seek enrollment of these veterans on the GI bill.

Here, then, is the inconsistency; we are asked to believe that AROTC will militarize our men by spending 20 hours in four years indoctrinating their minds, yet the arrival of veterans trained 24 hours per day will do us no harm. I, of course, feel the implication that either will produce such an evil is absurd, but the inconsistency in thought also puzzles me.

One more word about this militarism which such training will instill. Are we to believe that two hours a week will be so predominant in its influence as to overshadow all the rest of a different character which the curriculum offers? Is it to be assumed that minds of college age are incapable of accepting more than one idea per year, or cannot evaluate to a degree that information presented to them? In what way will the addition of two hours per semester so overshadow the rest of the curriculum that it will defeat Willamette's purpose of training men in the Christian tradition.

I should like to say further that I am proud of my University for filling a need of our nation at this time, and I think those responsible for the adoption of the program should be commended for giving her the chance to take part in the nation's defense. The opposition to me is paraphrasing Voltaire's famous statement, somewhat in this manner:

"I wholly disagree with what you say, but you may defend to your death my right to say it."
Chuck Massey.

To the Editor:

I find myself with the commonplace state of mixed feelings as this year closes. Cooperating with many of you on the various activities and functions has been a real pleasure. The deepening of old friendships and the forming of new ones has also brought me high joy.

I look with anticipation to the coming year in which I hope that some of the seeds planted this year may come to full blossom. With unflinching interest, wholesome cooperation, and a continuous vision of some high goals these possibilities can be realized.

There are some feelings of another type which I find in this mixture. I regret that we were unable to realize more of the possibilities of student life than we did. I would like to have worked with many more of you than I did.

But this is water under the bridge now. I do hope then we can think more of what student activities should be seeking to achieve; that we can work more concertedly in the achievement of these.

To the rest of the officers, to the administration, and to the various faculty advisers we all owe a great deal of appreciation for the effort and time they have given in serving us.

I am grateful for the opportunity to have associated and worked with you. To your new officers I wish the best year which the ASWU has seen.

Stan Aschenbrenner,
ASWU President.

SAE Bounces Beta 4-2 to Win 'Mural Softball Crown; DeBord Hurls Victory

By Don Empey

Scoring two runs in the top half of the seventh inning, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, behind the five-hit pitching of Bob DeBord, walked off with the intramural softball championship Wednesday, defeating a stubborn Beta nine, 4-2.

The game was much different from Monday night's 25-4 Beta victory over the SAE's which forced the double elimination tournament into the extra game Wednesday.

The SAE's entered the tournament with only an outside chance of reaching the finals according to the regular round robin results. But they proved they had a winning combination right off the bat with a 7-3 victory over the highly touted Sigs. Behind DeBord's fine chucking, they went all the way.

Also a cinderella team, the Betas surprised everyone by their dash to the finals. After finishing last in the round robin, they whipped the AA's twice, and the Phi Deltas to get a crack at the SAE's.

Bob Riordon was the "fair haired boy" for the winning SAE's Wednesday. With the score tied 2-2, the diminutive second sacker rapped out a solid double to drive home DeBord in the top half of the seventh with the winning run after two were down. "Yo" Carroll clinched the verdict with a single to left that scored Riordon to give the SAE's their two-run bulge.

In the final half of the seventh the Betas made a gallant try, but failed. With one out, Don Carpenter walked and Felix Calkins singled to left. But Ken Adams and Bob Seamster were set down by DeBord to end the contest.

Carpenter Singles

The Betas took an early lead with single runs in the first and third innings. Carpenter singled in Karl Schmidt for the first-inning tally. They scored in the third on two errors and a timely blow by Charlie Nee.

The SAE's came right back after this early Beta lead to knot the score up with runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Olwyn Davies and Kent Myers teamed up to bring about the fourth-inning run. Davies tripled to deep left field and Myers smashed a one-bagger to left, scoring Davies.

The tying run was batted in by Riordon, the game's hero. He clouted a high fly to center field scoring catcher Earl Eshelman, who tagged up at third after the catch.

Adams Loser

Neither team scored in the sixth frame to set the stage for

AA's Cop Plaque; SAE's Runner-up

It was a hot race to the finish, but the powerful All Americans annexed the intramural point plaque over the SAE's.

With only the tennis slate to play out, which the AA's are leading now, the independent group has racked up a total of 154½ points to the SAE's 141. The SAE's cannot possibly score enough tennis points to catch them.

Points:

All Americans	154½
SAE	141
Betas	126
Sigs	106½
Phi Deltas	96
Baxter	90
Law School	45

Freshmen in Net Win; Down Grants Pass 4-3

Freshman tennis players topped off a very brief season Saturday when they downed Grants Pass high school, 4-3 on the local courts.

The frosh started play on May 5 when they defeated Dallas, 5-4, were beaten by Salem, 4-3, on Wednesday, May 23, and ended play with Grants Pass Saturday.

Playing for the freshman squad were Bob Bell, Don Drake, Don Morrison, Stuart Shaw, Bob Packwood, and Dick Blakney.

the SAE's two-run outburst in the seventh.

Eshelman and Davies were the top hitters for the winners, each garnering two-for-three at the plate. Ken Adams was the losing hurler for the Betas, going all the way and giving up ten hits.

Monday night's game, as the score indicates, was strictly a Beta show. The hard hitting Betas knocked four SAE pitchers out of the box in establishing their 25-4 win.

The winners scored 10 runs in the first inning, four in the fourth, four in the sixth, and six in the final frame to amass their gigantic total.

Pitcher Ken Adams hurled four-hit ball for the Betas. The winners collected 16 hits off of five SAE chuckers.

The highlight of the game was Ted Mertz' seventh-inning grand-slam homer. Seamster was the game's leading sticker, banging out four hits in five trips to the plate.

Score:	R	H	E
SAE	000	110	2-4 10 3
Beta	101	000	0-2 5 3

AA's Win 'Minton Three in Second

The All Americans won the intramural badminton race this year by a very short margin as three teams placed second just one game behind them.

SAE gained one of the runner up spots with a victory this week over the Betas by forfeit. Sharing second place with the SAE's are the Phi Deltas and Baxter. The Sigs are in fourth place and last went to the Betas.

Tennis will be finished up by the end of this week, according to intramural director Les Sparks. At the present time, the All Americans are leading the muddled slate.

Badminton standings:

All Americans	4	1
Phi Deltas	3	2
SAE	3	2
Baxter	3	2
Sigs	2	3
Betas	0	5

Golfers Place Second; Vokes Views Future

Sam Voke's Willamette golf team finished the season with five wins as against three losses plus second place in the conference meet.

The team registered double wins in the conference over Pacific and Linfield and lost two to Lewis and Clark. They split a home-and-home match with Portland in non-conference play.

It was definitely a building year for the squad this season and Vokes has his eyes on next year when greater things can be expected.

Linksters are now looking forward to the time golf is recognized as a sport in which letters are given. As it is now, only awards are given to divotmen.

Stackhouse Ends Workouts With Scrimmage; Team Next Year to Be Faster and Stronger

Changing their attitude from a pessimistic to an optimistic view, coaches Chester Stackhouse and Sam Vokes will run the 1951 Willamette football team through their last practice of the spring drills tonight at McCulloch stadium. A scrimmage is on tap for tomorrow night at 5:30 p.m. on the McCulloch turf.

"Although the squad is small in number, it is great in spirit and leadership," states Stackhouse, "and the team will probably be better than last year's squad when they travel to Spokane to meet Whitworth next September."

The backfield for next season will be fast and very strong. Charlie Koani, 200-pounder from Hawaii, is showing great running and ball handling ability at his fullback spot. Mark Cotten has been converted into a quarterback and is doing a fine job there. Rick Bingham, who played in the quarterback slot last year, has been shifted over to the halfback position, but will probably still see action as a signal caller. The remaining spots in the backfield will be filled by Ralph Clarno, Bob Hanauska, Don Humphries, Bob Shangle, or Bill Van Horn.

The line for next season will be sparked by center Wally Richartz, guards Humberto Lopez and Don Hosford, tackles Bob Miller and Jim Hitchman, and ends John Markoskie and Layton Gilson. Dorrance Noteboom, Greg Smith, Ray Williams, C. R. Smith, Buz Oerding, Mervin Brokke, Jim Gay, Mike Tavener and Ken Cooper, a transfer from TCU, will add strength to the Bearcat forward wall.

Freshman players next season are expected to fill out the squad and will be counted on greatly.

Coaches to Hold Clinic

Coaches John Lewis and Chet Stackhouse will conduct a coach's clinic during four weeks this summer for any coaches in the area that are interested.

Lewis will teach basketball and baseball coaching methods for the first two weeks and Stack will take football and track for the remaining two weeks.

WU Men in NPI Meet Held in Portland

Ted Mertz, Larry Standifer, Bob Hall and Stan Neperud will represent Willamette in the North Pacific Invitational track meet in Portland tomorrow on the Roosevelt high school oval.

Mertz will run the dashes and hurdles; Standifer the hurdles, and Hall and Neperud will compete in the javelin.

The meet will see the best that schools from the Northwest and Evergreen conferences, junior colleges, and the University of Portland, the host school, have to offer.

Hall and Neperud are slated to show their javelin talents in the NCAA track meet in Seattle June 15 and 16.

Wedding Bells Ring as Students Trek To Altar; June Dates Prove Most Popular

Wigginton Engagement

A trumpet and flute surrounded by a large ring of carnations used as a center piece on the dinner table at the Pi Beta Phi chapter house Wednesday evening were used to announce the engagement of Mary Jo Wigginton and Loren Ranton.

Miss Wigginton will graduate in biology, and Ranton is a sophomore on campus.

Nautical Decorations Tell News

Small navy ships used as nautical decorations revealed the engagement of Jodelle Parker and William L. Craycroft at a party held recently at the Parker home in Salem.

Miss Parker is a junior majoring in music education and Craycroft is serving with the U. S. navy. No date is set for the wedding.

Summer Weddings Planned

Jo Ann Richardson will become the bride of Roger Adams Sunday at 2 o'clock at the First Congregational church in Salem. Miss Richardson is a sophomore on campus and Adams is a 1950 graduate. They will make their home in San Francisco.

Dolores Spelbrink and Harvey (Chris) Christensen will be married at the First Congregational church June 9 in Salem. Miss Spelbrink is a junior at Willamette. The couple will make their home in Salem.

The First Methodist church in Albany will be the scene of the wedding of Nancy Philips and Earl Killifer June 11. The couple will graduate in June and will make their home in Salem.

iors and graduate students, (2) out of state students not returning, (3) students not living in the Portland-Salem area (4) students living in the Portland-Salem area, (5) students who have not paid special assessments except graduating seniors, graduate students and those not returning.

Delivery of the annuals will be made in the office as follows: Group (1) from 2 to 2:30 p.m.; group (2) from 2:30 to 3; group (3) from 3:30 to 4; group (4) anytime at the bookstore or at Abbott Kerns and Bell Publishing company, 338 N.W. Ninth Ave., Portland; group (5) after 4 p.m. providing the special assessment is paid.

3 Profs to Get Doctorates

Three Willamette professors, Kenneth Lottick, Charles Derthick and Alfred Sheets, will receive doctorates early next month.

Lottick, of the department of education, will receive his degree of doctor of education at exercises at Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass., next month. His thesis was on "History of the development of education in the western reserve in its national and philosophical setting."

Derthick, professor of psychology, will receive his doctorate in education at Oregon State college Monday. His thesis was an "Interview manual for the student."

Sheets, sociology professor, will receive a doctor of philosophy degree at exercises at the University of Southern California. His doctorate's thesis was written on "Social factors involved in the success or failure of consumer cooperative in the United States."

Willamette Dean Judge of Royalty

One of the judges of the Portland Rose Festival princesses was Dean Regina Ewalt of Willamette university. "All of the girls were so lovely", Dean Ewalt commented, "it was a very difficult decision."

There were three women and four men on the judging committee. None of the members were aware of the identities of the other members until the voting was completed.

Dean Ewalt said she believed that judges were selected who had no connection with the princesses and who were entirely impartial.
