

Students May Pre-Register In Next Week

Second semester registration is drawing nigh. Harold Jory, registrar, reminded Willamette students. Regular registration will be on Monday, February 4, but students are highly urged by Jory to get it out of the way during the coming week of pre-registration.

During this week each student will secure his registration booklet from the registrar, obtain instructors' signatures as he fills out his class cards, submit the booklet to his advisor for approval and signature, complete the rest of the booklet and return it to the office of the registrar.

If the student has a question, Jory recommended that he talk to his advisor before making out schedules in his class cards. Teachers are asked to devote either the beginning or ending of one of their class periods to the procedure since most lower division students will continue with their present courses.

Arrangements for payment of fees can be made in the business office any time before 5 p.m. Monday, February 4. After that date a $5 fine will be imposed, Jory continued. When a student is ready to pay, he should pick up his fee slip at the registrar's office, preferably at the same time as his registration booklet, and take it to the business office to pay.

Students who complete registration, including payment of tuition, before registration day are not required to be present then. This does not apply if fees have not been paid, Jory emphasized.

Students are reminded that the Student Body fee raise of $2.50 goes into effect second semester.

Valletti to Sing Here Jan. 24

Cesare Valletti, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, is to be featured artist on the third program of the Distinguished Artist Series, held January 24 at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts auditorium.

A native of Rome, he began his career as a soprano chorister in the Church of the Gesu. His successful debut in "La Traviata" in Bari in 1947 brought a series of operatic engagements at Rome, Cairo, Covent Garden and Barcelona.

The same year in which he toured South America and Mexico, 1951, Valletti was invited to sing with the La Scala Opera company in Milan. For three seasons he appeared with the La Scala company, making guest appearances with the other major companies in Italy as well as a long series of broadcasts and recordings for the Italian radio.

Tickets for the Valletti concert are on sale at Stevens and Son Jewelers, or at the auditorium box office the evening of the performance.

First Issue of RO Paper Out Soon

The first semester's issue of the ROTC newspaper, Trim Tabs, will be distributed Monday and Tuesday in the Air Science Department, it was announced today by Bob Barker, editor of the publication. The paper will be four pages long and tabloid size just as it has been in the past.

Assisting Barker were Ken Renshaw, cadet Information Service Officer, and Major Kenneth Pennell, who was the advisor. The publication is being printed at the Capital Press and will include all news pertinent to the Willamette ROTC detachment.

Regional Conference of FTA To Convene Here Tomorrow

Representatives from four colleges will convene here tomorrow at the Future Teachers of America conference. Ted Primrose, regional director of the organization and organizer of the conference, together with Jim McDonald, ex-state FTA president, expects about 40 students to attend the all day meeting.

BEGINNING AT 8:45 a.m., students from Oregon College of Education, the University of Oregon, Oregon State College, and Willamette will meet in the basement of Waller Hall for registration and a coffee hour. A registration fee of 50 cents will be charged.

Following registration, there will be a general group meeting in the Fine Arts building little theater, after which Dr. James Lyles, head of the education department at Willamette, will speak on "Segregation and Education." His talk will be followed by a question and answer period.

DELEGATES WILL then be served a luncheon at Doney Hall at which a charge of $1 will be made. Following this conference members will return to the Fine Arts building where Cecil Posey, executive secretary of the Oregon Education Association, will talk on "Teachers of the Next Decade."

Merlin Moray, chairman of the Oregon TES Commission, will lead the conference discussion which will set a frame of reference for study of different groups of problems in teacher education and education in general.

PURPOSES AND achievements of the conference will be summed up by Dr. Dave Darland, Oregon Education Association consultant to Future Teachers of America in his remarks at the end of the conference.

Primrose strongly urged all members of the Willamette chapter of FTA and anyone interested in teaching to attend the conference. "Conferences like this one are extremely valuable," he commented, "in that they give us a chance to meet the people with whom we will be working someday and to hear new ideas on education."

Randall Phillips

Phillips Named Main Speaker For CR Week

Rev. Randall C. Phillips is the main speaker and chief resource leader who has been selected to help the Willamette student body answer the question "Why Christianity?" during CR Week, February 12, 13, and 14.

REVEREND PHILLIPS, who is in constant demand as a speaker, has served as the minister of the Deadline for entries in the CR Week poster and essay contests is February 5, the day after second semester registration, according to CR Week chairman, Ashley Rose. Both posters and essays must be based on the theme of the week, "Why Christianity?"

Posters should be submitted to Dr. Norman Huffman, and the essays, 500 to 700 words in length, will be received in Dr. Orcutt Frost's office.

First Methodist Church in Burbank, California since 1955. A native Californian, he spent 18 years in Hollywood where his father, now Bishop Glenn R. Phillips of Denver, was then pastor of the First Methodist church.

He received the B.S. degree from the University of Southern California and during his college career he served as president of the Religious Council, president of Blue Key, president of his social fraternity, and he was selected for "Who's Who in the Colleges of America."

DURING WORLD WAR II he was an officer in the Navy and after his discharge he enrolled in the School of Religion as U.S.C. and there received his Master of Theology degree.

One of his most remarkable achievements came with his first assignment as a minister. He was to start a new church in Sherman Oaks, in the growing San Fernando Valley. Beginning from nothing he organized a church that grew in six years to a membership of 900.

Wallulah Retakes Set for Tuesday In Baxter Lounge

Wallulah retakes for the individual mug shots will be taken next Tuesday in Baxter Hall between 11:30 and 5 p.m. At this time, all those contacted for retakes should appear, wearing the outfits previously designated by their living organization.

The following are to appear for retakes: Hugh Armstrong, John Arden, Mike Augee, Ann Bagley, Mac Baker, Sue Bartlett, Molly Boehm, John Bowker, Sharon Brister, Willard Bunney, Doug Card, Connie Clark, Gordon DeArmond,

Lo Anne Munding, Jim Myhre, Jan Nelson, Rhoda Peak, Helen Peters, Suzy Platt, Arlene Pohl, Harriett Randall, Louann Richardson, Carolyn Risley, Jean Snow, Carole Stone, Arta Lee Weber, Margie Wood, John Wood, Joan Wickstrom, and Bob Youngblood.

Anyone who has not yet had his picture taken for the Wallulah is to do so at this time. At present both the law school and town students have had taken a low ratio of pictures, reports Jean Martin, Wallulah editor.

Concert Dated For Tuesday

Mahler's "Symphony No. 4 in G Major" with Brunetta Mazzolini, soprano, soloist, will be the highlight of the evening when the Portland Symphony Orchestra presents the second of a series of three concerts Tuesday at 8:15 in the Fine Arts auditorium.

Other works which will be presented during the evening will be "Exsultate Jubilate" by Mozart with Miss Mazzolini and the orchestra, and Moussorgsky's "Prelude to Khozantchina" and dances from "Galanta" by Kodaly, with the orchestra under the direction of Theodore Bloomfield.

Miss Mazzolini, now living in Portland, has studied at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, with Lottie Lehmann, and with Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Zweig in Los Angeles. She has sung with the San Francisco Symphony and has been on several "Standard Hour" broadcasts.

Following her Salem concert, Miss Mazzolini will go to Chicago to sing again with Bruno Walter in three performances of Brahms' "Requiem." Previously she has appeared with Walter at the Hollywood Bowl in the Mozart "Requiem."

In addition to the tickets which are on sale at Stevens and Son, Willamette students will have a chance to purchase tickets at the special price of $1 by showing their Student Body cards. The price will go into effect 8 o'clock the evening of the concert and will be sold at the door only.

Council Ponders Old, New Issues

The perennial problem of noise in the library and the entirely new question of how to pay for new Freshman Glee risers occupied most of the Student Council session Wednesday.

Most of the Council members felt that the problem of noise in the library was caused by the lack of a meeting place, but until a Student Union can be built, they thought that signs requesting quiet might help.

The question of Glee risers came up because of the purchase, or contemplated purchase, Council was not sure which, of new aluminum risers by University authorities. It was explained that an opportunity to obtain the risers at a comparatively cheap price of $2,000 had arisen.

After much discussion a motion to recommend splitting evenly the cost of the risers between the University and the Student Body was brought to a vote. A show of hands revealed 10 members favoring the motion and 10 opposed. President Causbie cast the deciding vote in the motion's favor.

12 Willamette Women to Usher At Governor's Inauguration

Twelve women from Willamette will get the opportunity to see the inauguration Monday afternoon of Governor-elect Robert Holmes. They will usher for the event, along with 36 other women, chosen from the University of Oregon, Oregon State, Oregon College of Education and Portland State. The colleges were asked to provide 48 usherettes by Sec. of State Hatfield's office.

The women, chosen by Dean Regina Ewalt's office, are Ann Notson, Flossy Hodge, Lou Ann Mergler, Sally Jones, Marilyn Isaak, Gail Davis, Jean Whiteside, Mary Beebe, Michelle Edwards, Shirley Ulinder and Kay Haberslach, with the twelfth usherette not chosen as the Collegian went to press.

Doney Hall will be the meeting place for the usherettes from the other schools. All are to meet at 12:30 at the main entrance to the House of Representatives. Each girl will wear ribbons of her school's colors, on which will be printed some sort of identification. Circular skirts, blouses, heels and hose will be the dress for the occasion.

Carr, Student Body first vice-president, announced.

Two exceptions will be made this year, Carr said. The Wednesday fireside featuring the Unesco clothing drive will take place as scheduled, as will the Distinguished Artists Series concert by Cesare Valletti on Thursday, January 24.

Other than these exceptions, absolutely no social events are to be planned for this two-week period, although meetings may and should be held as usual at the discretion of the organizations involved.

Dean Elmer Reick stated that the Student Council is responsible for the idea of a social dead week but, he added, "the faculty and administration heartily endorse and back the idea."

Students are urged to plan future activities so that they can allow plenty of time for study during the social dead period, Carr concluded.

Italian Influence Shown in Robert E. Huck's Vibrant Woodcuts

By LOIS MONK

ROBERT E. HUCK'S 19 woodcuts now being exhibited in the Fine Arts Gallery show glowing colors, and understanding without animosity. From Rome to Seattle, the swath of his awards and exhibits is impressive.

Granted a Fullbright, Huck spent 1954-55 in Rome, and this Italian influence is quite evident in both his colors—which are very subdued, yet vibrant and luminous—and in his choice of subject matter, from Roman ruins to button vendors.

A touch of the eccentricity found in many of Dicken's characters is caught in "Old Magician," (pictured below.) The dry old man is utterly nimble and alive, an effect heightened by the strong linear note in the cut.

More recent, but still showing the same vibrant vitality in black, is "Broom Vender." This sinewy old man is strong but resentful, and the tension involved is expressed in the many bold lines of his body and face.

"Earth People" is another monochrome cut with distinctive character. These people's whole lives have been spent on the land, till it and they are worn out. The plodding loyalty of their unimaginative life has a strength which is as timeless as the monotony of the long horizon.

Timeless too is the dusty "Button Vender" whose thousand dog-eared cards of buttons would not be all sold in a century. Dully colored, the futile patience is emphasized both by the lack of sharp contrasts, and the repetition of dots.

THE COLORED PRINTS are in a different category entirely. Their atmosphere is more dependent upon the colors used than the linear quality. "Trio" is daintiest and gayest of all, with its sparkley jewelled tone of purple and aqua. The whimsy of the flute lady, and the perceptible earnestness of the violinist is balanced by the somber vagueness of the other instrument.

Luminous with an unearthly blue light, "Entombment" is fascinating, with a mystery aided by the great expanses of black around the light.

Huck communicates iciness, as well as Mediterranean warmth in colors. An icy chill of both sky and eyes in "Fisherman and Catch," a cold sky in "Mountain Cat" (and notice the bony alert body) a brittle atmosphere in "Ice Fishing," all communicate a tone which is dependent again on line and color.

WARMLY COLORED, but not so distinctive are "Fish Weigher" and "Roman Ruins." "Hunter" is sinister, a mood carried by interwoven and vertical line throughout the work.

Functional aspects involving sizes of pictures are often incidental. Here one finds that Huck has suited shapes exactly to the mood he wished to convey quickest. The long linear "Magician," the wide horizon of "Earth People," the lengthy "Mountain Cat," the bulk of "Entombment"—these are consciously used devices for emphasis.

Technique looks elementary when viewed in the finished product by the uninitiated. For sheer enlightenment, the wall containing the printing process of "Italian Landscape" is highly significant. Five blocks, each with different colors are combined to form the finished product. The dominance of sunny golden tones comes from a whole block of yellow. The process itself is worthy of investigation too.

Something is found here in these prints, which no amateur can either absorb or communicate effectively. Beyond the verbal attempts at analysis and appreciation, there is a depth conveyed in Huck's woodcuts, which inspires the depth of imagination beyond all possibility of mere fact. The obvious remains in the end as it was in the beginning: Robert E. Huck's woodcuts are lovely indeed.

Juniors Journey Eastward For Washington Semester

Brushing shoulders with the "big-wigs" will be the chief duty of the four Willamette participants in the Washington, D. C. Semester Program, Dixie Ruud, Bob Campbell, Joyce Hill, and Dean Short. Classes at American University will take up only a small portion of their time in the semester in the capital city.

Preparing their papers on their chosen projects they will spend many hours in the houses of Congress, in smoke-filled rooms, and even in the streets talking with, discussing over, and perhaps even arguing the merits of their project with Senators, lobbyists, janitors, and experts. In the next few months the four juniors will prepare projects comparing with the graduate thesis.

For instance, Joyce Hill will study the problem of the integrated schools in the area. Since debate on the matter will be a major activity of the 84th Congress Joyce will spend a large portion of her time listening to the debates in the Senate and House. She also plans to continue in government work in the east during the summer as an employee of the United Nations.

Joyce and Dixie Ruud are Willamette's first female representatives in Washington. Dean Robert Gregg explains that this was not due to prejudice or discretion but rather to plain chance!

BUT DUTIES for the social science students will not end with the semester. Speaking engagements upon their return are often on the agenda.

The American University itself where the four will study has both a downtown and suburban campus so the Oregonites will not be submerged in the city entirely. Like Willamette too, the American University was established and is under the jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

Several trunks and bags of the students are already in the capital awaiting the arrival of the students around the end of January. As Salem awaits the arrival of the 1957 legislature, Washington contemplates more questions and new life in her midst.

Campus Salutes Former Dean in State Office

MANY WILLAMETTE faculty members, students and alums were included in the 1200 guests who extended good wishes to Mark Hatfield as he stepped into the position of Oregon's Secretary of State Monday afternoon.

A graduate of the University, and its dean of students for several years, Hatfield's political progress has been marked with interest by his friends across the street. At 34 he becomes the youngest as well as the 26th secretary of state.

Members of Willamette's faculty were included in the reception lineup. Mrs. G. Herbert Smith and Mrs. Robert D. Gregg were co-chairmen of the occasion and both his college major and minor professors, Robert Gatke and Ivan Lovell helped preside. Other Willamette names appearing were Mrs. Regina Ewalt, Mrs. Clorinda Topping, Mrs. Jerry Whipple, John Lewis, E. F. Althoff, A. Freeman Holmer, Howard Runkel, and Ralph Purvine.

STUDENTS GREETED Hatfield in great numbers, and five officially assisted. Mary Beebe and Dixie Ruud passed the guest book, and the other three were Wayne Carr, Pat Farley and Bud Mull.

Hatfield has long been active in Republican politics, most recently as Marion County state senator, a post he held last year. In the election last November he defeated Democrat Monroe Sweetland for the state office which was vacated by Republican Earl T. Newbry, who was ineligible to re-election.

Among the reception visitors Monday was Governor-elect Robert D. Holmes, Democrat who will take his office Monday. Many other top Democrats in the line demonstrated the absence of party distinctions among Hatfield's well-wishers.

A NOTE OF INTEREST was added when the outgoing No. 1 state official, Governor Elmo Smith, presented the bright blue No. 2 license plate to Hatfield. Governor Holmes will use the No. 1 license after Monday.

SECRETARY OF STATE Hatfield took his oath of office from Justice William McAllister of the Oregon Supreme Court. The brief ceremony also included scripture and prayer by the Rev. Joseph Harding and Dr. Lloyd T. Anderson, both Salem pastors. Rev. Harding also teaches part time at Willamette.

The citizens attending the reception Monday afternoon at his office in the east wing of the capitol, formed an almost-solid line for three hours. The waiting line at most times filled the east corridor of the capitol's first floor.

HATFIELD'S TOP staff assistants were with him as well-wishers passed through during the afternoon. Among them were two newly appointed aides, Assistant Secretary of State Warne Nunn, and Administrative Assistant Travis Cross. Miss Leolyn Barnett will become Hatfield's secretary after 14 years in the governor's office.

Hatfield took the oath of office on a Bible given to him by his mother and father during World War II. It accompanied him through Iwo Jima and Okinawa invasions and when he served as temporary chaplain.

WHEN HATFIELD first worked at the Statehouse in 1943, as a capitol guide, just before he entered his wartime Navy service, Justice McAllister, who swore Hatfield in Monday, was then speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives.

As the new Secretary of State, Hatfield is now head of the divisions of auditing, accounting, buildings and grounds, elections fuel tax, member of the Board of Control, Land Board, Banking Board, official filings, vehicle and notary. He has 245 fulltime employees.

Lytle's Mexico Succinctly So

This dirty little Mexican with his foolish little way of life. What right has he to love the sun through the holes in his pants, or the earth under his finger nails? I tried to tell him to fix the leak in his roof so his family wouldn't have to see the stars through it at night, and to send his children to school so they could learn all bout the Suez Canal. But he just smiled and finished the base of his pot.

So, I threw a couple of tantrums screaming something about his duty to fellow man. Acknowledging my earnestness, he put a rim on the pot. And, he said through his sparsely populated gums, "I'm happy making pots. What are you happy doing?"

Oh, the rain falls hard on my old Willamette home,

'Tis winter, and I have a sun tan. I am most happy here. I sit and make earthen pots all day long.

Library Displays Geologic Wonders In Scenic Photos

Photographs of "nature's climax," the Dinosaur National Monument, from a collection of scenes taken by Philip Hyde, nationally famous photographer, are on exhibit during the month of January in the library.

The scenic pictures represent views of the famous monument on the Utah-Colorado border, photographed from boat, pack horse, motor and airplane trips and even from the top of some of the monument's formations.

Dinosaur National Monument is the floor of an ancient lake or inland sea, which through the centuries has been arched into a great dome-like structure. It was once the home of prehistoric reptiles, the bones of which are now being excavated from several areas in the monument and used for many museums.

The photographs take full advantage of the cliffs, rivers, canyons, and rock strata to express the mood of a changing world of nature. The different views and the same views under different meteorological conditions serve to add emphasis to the main features of the monument.

Particularly impressive are the photos of the spring storm over the Echo Park formations and of Steamboat Rock, a huge cone-shaped stone on the flat plain in Echo Canyon.

Aerial photographs of Hell's Canyon show the erosion-sculptured rocks and cliff strata hanging over rivers and streams of the area. Another featured picture shows an outside formation of the monument, the Great Syncline, where the rock strata has tilted, faded and then faulted.

Second One-Act Play Series To Be Given Thursday, Friday

The drama department is presenting the second group of one-act plays next Thursday and Friday, January 17 and 18, at 7:15 in the Little Theatre on the second floor of the Fine Arts building. The series of seven plays ranges from delightful comedies to very serious productions.

George Nelson, Lois Wickersham and Maggie Magone will direct plays on Thursday evening. Nelson's play, "He Who Got Hooked," features himself in the leading male role. It is a charming comedy about a young couple who fall in love while trying to resist the efforts of a matchmaker. It also includes a female demonstration of fishing. "The Terrible Meek," a play which takes place at the foot of Christ's cross at Calvary on the first Easter morning, will be directed by Lois Wickersham. The cast consists of two Roman soldiers and Mary, the mother of Jesus. Maggie Magone will direct William Saroyan's "Hello Out There," the tragedy of a young man in prison.

Mac Baker, Fred Chambers, Jean Snow, and Ken Renshaw will direct plays on Friday evening.

Prizes Awarded Contest Winners

Something new in the history of the Distinguished Artist Series concerts was tried this year — a contest was held among the students who sold tickets for the series.

The contest was originated by series sales manager Wayne Carr to encourage the students to sell as many tickets as possible and to reward them for their selling efforts.

A minimum of 30 tickets had to be sold for the ticket sellers to qualify for the contest. A grand prize was awarded for the person selling the greatest number of tickets, then a prize for the man and the woman selling the highest number of tickets, excluding the grand prize winner.

Sandra Edwards, freshman, sold 45 tickets to win the grand prize, a $30 gift certificate from Meier and Frank's. Men and women's division winners were Darr Johnson, junior, with 39 tickets, and Rosalie Reddekapp, freshman, with 34. Each received a $15 gift certificate. The awards will be presented to the winners at convocation Tuesday.

Todd Holmberg, assistant sales manager, was in charge of the contest, and both he and Carr said the contest is worth continuing.

American Novel Listed

Dr. O. W. Frost of the English department has announced that a new upper division literature course, American novel will be offered spring semester. The three-hour course is scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and will be taught by Dr. Frost.

During the semester one novel from the works of Hawthorne, Melville, Dreiser, Sherwood Anderson, Sinclair Lewis, Wolfe, and Faulkner will be read.

Ex-Gangster Turned Evangelist Jim Vaus, to Speak at SAE

Jim Vaus, one-time gangster who received national fame as the "Wiretapper" and now head of an evangelistic movement bearing his name, will be on the Willamette campus Monday. All students are invited to hear him speak beginning at 6:15 at the SAE fraternity.

Seniors Proofs Due

Senior cap and gown proofs for the Wallulah must be returned to McEwan's Studio before finals, announced Jean Martin, Wallulah editor.

Early this week the studio reported that out of the 153 senior pictures already taken, 55 sets of proofs have yet to be returned, while 20 have not even been picked up. If proofs are not returned before finals, the studio will use its own discretion in choosing poses for the Wallulah, Morrell Cray, photographer, emphasized.

All seniors who have not had cap and gown pictures taken should do so immediately.

Egyptian to Speak To Pi Gamma Mu

Mrs. Naguida K. Mahmoud, an Egyptian school teacher, will be the speaker at the Pi Gamma Mu meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in Waller Hall. Mrs. Mahmoud will talk on Nasser and the Suez canal question.

Headmistress of a secondary school for girls in Cairo, Mrs. Mahmoud is visiting in Salem with a group of five educators who are in Oregon under the 1956 international teacher education program sponsored by the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. She will be a guest at South Salem high school for a month.

All students are invited to this meeting Pi Gamma Mu president, Doug Houser, stated, adding that he felt that Mrs. Mahmoud's topic would be of vital interest to everyone. There will be no admission charge.

Law Students Use Honor System for Exams

"Fall semester final examinations for Willamette Law students will begin Monday, January 21 and continue through Thursday, January 24," according to an official College of Law announcement.

The examinations will be from one hour in length to a maximum of four hours for one course. The announcement states that test periods begin at 8 a.m. unless otherwise scheduled by an instructor.

"One can take the test to the coffee shop, if he wants," comments

Seward Reese, dean of the College of Law, referring to the school's complete "honor system," whereby a law student may take the examination anywhere he chooses. Also, a student is allowed to type the examination paper, if he desires.

"The honor system has been in effect for ten years at the Willamette College of Law. It would be intolerable to return to the former method of testing," says Reese. "Any suspected infringement is brought first before the Student Bar Association committee. The student committee recommends the action that it believes should be taken by the faculty Honor Committee. Although the faculty is not bound by the recommendations of the students, the dual relationship works quite satisfactorily."

The Dean stated that only a few cases have come before the Honor Committee. "These have been dealt with immediately and effectively," he concluded.

In conjunction with the law school honor system, the school conducts its grading of examinations anonymously. The secretary of the Law School allows the law students to choose a number beginning with 101, 201, 301, depending on the class. This number is placed in an envelope, sealed, and put into the school safe. The law student then uses only this number to identify his examination paper.

Bookstore Filled With Student Aids

As students enter the last weeks of the semester, the staff of the Bookstore reminds them of the study and organizational aids that are in stock which will help them to do a better job next semester.

College outlines on all subjects, vocabulary cards for language students, review books, data guides, and verb wheels as well as student files, file folders, index cards, file boxes are on display.

Helps for neater, faster, and better work include erasable typing paper, erasers, and study stands.

For those who have time to write a few letters there is a full supply of the new Barney Bearcat stationery, greeting cards, a stamp machine, and even a mailbox.

Dr. Kohler Returns

Dr. Henry C. Kohler, who suffered a broken right ankle in a fall on a slippery sidewalk December 7 and was confined to his home until the first of this year, is back at school, teaching all his classes. His ankle is still in a cast and he walks with the aid of a cane, and because climbing stairs is still difficult, he is holding all his classes in the library.

Dr. Kohler asked the Collegian "to express his deep appreciation to the many members of the administration, library, faculty, and student body for their kind visits and thoughtfulness during his confinement at home."

Chemists to Hear Yale Professor

The Oregon section of the American Chemical Society will meet in Collins Hall tomorrow, it was learned in an interview with Drs. Charles Nichol and C. H. Johnson of the Willamette chemistry department.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at Lausanne Hall at 6 p.m. Cost of the dinner will be $1.50 and reservations must be made by today.

The business meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by an address by Dr. William Von Eggers Doering, professor of chemistry at Yale University, outstanding in chemistry circles. Dr. Doering's address will be attended by professional chemists as well as students from various cities of western Oregon and Washington.

After the instructor has graded the papers and recorded them by the numbers, he is then allowed access to the master sheet showing the students' names. Reese comments that it is a "violation of the Honor System for a student to reveal his number by any method to a law school instructor prior to test time."

The College of Law contends that the Honor System is not only a fair and efficient method of examining students, it is a way by which mature students develop a more personal responsibility in law school academic pursuits.

Free Sock Hop Tonight

The Pepecats are sponsoring a sock hop tonight in the gym immediately following the Willamette-Linfield basketball game, announced Jo Heald, Peecat president. No admission will be charged for the dance which all are urged to attend.

Legal Fraternity Elects Officers

Richard Q. Quigley, a third year law student, is the newly elected Magistor (president) of Phi Delta Phi, one of Willamette Law School's two legal fraternities.

William C. Paulus holds the position of fraternity exchequer, Gino Pieretti is historian, and Ronald Ricketts is clerk. All three men are second year students.

According to Quigley, Phi Delta Phi's immediate activities center on an examination-writing seminar for first year students, scheduled to precede their first law exams. "The seminar," he adds, "is one of Phi Delta Phi's methods of encouraging high standards of law study within the Law School Student Bar Association."

In late February the fraternity will initiate their pledges in a ceremony in the chambers of the Oregon Supreme Court. This will be followed by an alumnae-active member banquet that is tentatively scheduled at the Hotel Congress in Portland.

MYRNA HOY

Christmas presents in the form of diamond rings were popular gifts both to give and to receive among several members of the Willamette student body.

A demitasse spoon in her sterling pattern with the inscription "Myrna and Bud" on the back was presented to the Pi Phis at their chapter meeting Monday evening, announcing the engagement of Myrna Hoy and Joel Royal.

MISS HOY received her ring Christmas Eve at her home in Newberg. She is a sophomore education major and a member of Pepcats and Pi Beta Phi.

Royal is employed by the Northwestern Mutual Insurance agency. His home is in Portland.

The couple is planning a fall wedding.

BARBARA PFAFF handed out "insurance policies" at the door of the Pfaff home in Portland December 22 which announced the engagement of her sister Carole and Patrick Hibbard.

Miss Pfaff is a senior scholar in the psychology department and president of Cap and Gown. She is scholarship chairman for her sorority Pi Beta Phi.

Hibbard is a graduate of Lewis and Clark and a partner in the Wayne T. Hibbard and Son insurance agency.

JUNE 7 is the date set for the wedding.

An engagement ring frozen in a half-gallon cake of ice was the unusual method of presentation chosen by Skip Wilcox when his engagement to Beverly Aahl was announced Christmas Eve.

Miss Aahl is a junior speech education major at the University of Washington. Her home is in Seattle and she is a member of Alpha Phi.

Wilcox is a junior philosophy major and a member of Sigma Chi.

A nosegay of white carnations and violets and a poem revealed the engagement of Pat Payne to Arthur Drake at the Chi Omega house Monday evening. Miss Payne then passed the traditional box of candy and showed her diamond to her sisters.

A '56 graduate from Willamette,

POLLEY DOUGHERTY

Miss Payne majored in English and is now a first year law student. Her home is in Salem and she was active in band as a clarinetist and held the offices of chapter secretary and correspondent for her sorority.

DRAKE is a member of SAE and Phi Mu Alpha music honorary and is majoring in French. His home is in Bend and he plays the clarinet in the band.

The couple will be married in early September and will continue their studies at Willamette; Drake will graduate and Miss Payne will complete her second year law studies.

The engagement of Carrie Gillanders to Bernie Roberts was announced when an oversized letter and envelope were removed from the fireplace mirror at the Chi O house.

MISS GILLANDERS attended Willamette for two years prior to attending Sacramento State where she is a junior majoring in Biology. While at Willamette Miss Gillanders was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta scholastic honorary and Chi Omega.

Roberts served in the marines and attends Sacramento State as a senior economics and business administration major.

No date has been set for the wedding.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Yvonne Poole to Kenneth Coons was announced New Years Eve at a family gathering.

A freshman town student, Miss Poole is studying voice. After finishing the year she will enter the Modern Beauty College.

Coons is a senior at South Salem high and is on the track team. He has participated in the Willamette Relays for the past two years and after graduation will attend college.

CAROL FREY

NO DATE is set for the wedding.

At the Phi Delta Theta-Lausanne Hall fireside December 19 Paul Edwards told the group that he had found an engagement ring and asked if anyone had lost it. It was claimed by Bob Withers and Polley Dougherty, thus announcing their engagement to the group.

Miss Dougherty is a sophomore English major and was on the Varsity Ball court last year. She has been active in Varsity Varieties her freshman and sophomore years.

WITHERS IS past president of Phi Delta Theta and a senior economics major. He is an AFROTC officer.

The wedding is planned for next Christmas.

Carol Frey announced her engagement to Donald Munro by passing a box of candy topped by a sprig of heather and ribbons representing the Munro tartan colors.

MISS FREY is a sophomore English major from Oakland and a member of Delta Gamma where the announcement was made.

Munro graduated from the University of California and now attends Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey.

No date is set for the wedding.

The Social Scoop
By FLOSSY HODGE

The men of Oregon Gamma of Phi Delta Theta have chosen the following officers for the second semester. Paul Edwards of Woodburn is president; Lewis Bright of Medford, reporter; Earl Pajari of Reedsport, warden; Ron Taylor of Corvallis, treasurer; Keith Driver of Hubbard, assistant treasurer; Bill Long of Myrtle Point, secretary; Dean Bishoprick of Woodburn, rush chairman; Del Cummings of Los Altos, Calif., social chairman; Jack Jones of Beaverton, student council representative; Bob Fudge of Berkeley, librarian; and Herb Talabere of Walla Walla, chaplain.

Bill and Paula Harmer Cranor, '56 graduates, became the parents of a seven pound, six ounce baby boy in December. The couple is living in the Bay Area.

David Thomas Gooding, an 8 lb. 2 ounce baby boy made his initial appearance December 26. His parents are Tom Gooding, 2nd year law student and Jill Gellerman Gooding, '56 graduate.

Pepcats are sponsoring an after-game sock hop this evening in the gym. THE DANCE IS FREE!

Willamette Well Represented At Mark Hatfield's Reception

By SHIRLEY McCauley

The Willamette family was well represented at the public reception for Secretary of State Mark Hatfield Monday afternoon. Mrs. G. Herbert Smith and Mrs. Robert D. Gregg co-chaired the affair and students Mary Beebe, Dixie Ruud, Pat Farley, Wayne Carr, Bud Mull, Don Peterson and Doug Houser assisted, passing the guest books, programs, and seeing that the little but necessary jobs were done.

A long line filled the east corridor as many people came to pay their respects. During this reporter's call Willamette people seen in line were Dean Regina Ewalt, Dean Robert Gregg, Dr. Robert Gatke, Dr. Paul Beal, Lou Ann Mergler, Mrs. Henrietta Althoff, Mrs. Delsia Larson.

Mrs. Clorinda Topping greeted the callers at the entrance to the secretary's "inner sanctum," (private office). Introducing during our call was Warne Nunn, new assistant secretary of state and former head of motor vehicles in whose department I worked last summer.

The line then led to the deputy's room adjacent to our former dean's new office. Punch was served from large crystal bowls at opposite ends of a long table which was covered with a pale blue satin cloth centered by a large pink, blue, and white floral arrangement.

Willamette Runnerup In Far West Tourney

COACH JOHN Lewis' Willamette Bearcats had very little rest over the Christmas vacation. They played a rigorous five game schedule and picked up four wins while dropping one. The Bearcats opened their holiday festivities by dumping Chico State twice on December 21 and 22. Willamette then traveled to Reno where they captured second place in the eight team Far Western Invitational Tournament.

The Lewismen won their tournament opener when they made it three wins in as many starts in a week over Chico State. Willamette ran wild in the second half and took an 80-54 victory. The two teams opened in high gear, the lead changing hands eight times during the first half, and Willamette ahead at that point 35-30.

THE SCORING was well divided among seven players during the first half, and 6-7 center Neil Causbie collected the majority of rebounds off both boards.

Chico State opened the second half by hitting the hoop with three consecutive field goals to take a 36-35 lead. The lead changed hands eight times on the following eight field goals. With the score standing 43-42 in favor of the Chico Wildcats, the Jasons lowered the boom. With Ed Grossenbacher and Causbie setting the pace with 14 points between them, the Bearcats scored 21 consecutive points to break the contest wide open and take a safe lead, 62-42.

IN THE final quarter of play, Don Hoy hit 10 and Terry Ziegelman netted six. Eddie Grossenbacher, 5-11 freshman guard from Milwaukee, was top man for Willamette with 20 points, and big Neil Causbie took runnerup spot with 14. Causbie hit the majority of his shots from the corners and not from underneath.

Both teams were assessed 14 fouls, and both received 23 chances from the free-throw line. However, Willamette flipped in 18 successfully, while Chico converted only eight, to further add to the difference in scores.

THE SECOND game of the tournament saw the Bearcats utilize defensive backboard control to slap down a slick Sacramento State squad 59-56. The coach of the Sacramento team is Harv Roloff, who was head basketball mentor at Pacific University last year. Roloff had his squad using a well worked set-offense, but they couldn't hit the bucket despite the many shots that were set up by screens.

Phenomenal accuracy on the part of both teams was displayed from the charity stripe. The Lewismen tanked 27 out of 31 free throws, the Hornets hit 18 for 22. This gave Willamette an 87 percentage and Sacramento 82 pct. Willamette hit 16 of 55 from the floor for a 29 pct., and the Hornets 19 of 56 for 34 percentage.

DURING THE first half the score was tied 10 times, Willamette leading seven times and Sacramento five. At half time Willamette led 39-35 and never relinquished the lead thereafter. Neil Causbie, Vic Backlund and Tom Johns did yeoman work on the boards for the Lewismen. Each time the Hornets shot and missed, these men were ready to pick off the rebound. Don Hoy was very effective with two-handed jump shots from the key, while Ed Grossenbacher hit five baskets from in close under the baskets.

The final half saw the Bearcats running ahead of the Sacramento Staters due to the terrific foul shooting. Willamette was outscored from the floor by the Roloffmen. With ten minutes to go the Hornets trailed by 10 points, but a rally in the last five minutes closed the gap to three points.

In the final championship game Willamette met the strong University of Nevada Wolf Pack. Nevada, the host team, lost two games earlier in the year to the University of Portland by only a single point. Playing before a near capacity crowd, the University of Nevada jumped to an early lead over the Bearcats in much the same fashion that had swamped earlier rivals in the tournament. Somewhat off guard, the Bearcats began to fall behind. Big Stan Summers, Nevada center, began hitting his favorite hook shot, and forward Jim Lyon, was truly the "king of beasts" on the maples in this game, as the big forward hit from 25 to 30 feet out in consistent fashion.

THE SECOND half Willamette came back much stronger and outplayed the Wolf Pack, but the margin was too great to overcome. At the close of the game the all-tournament teams were picked. Willamette placed Ed Grossenbacher on the first team and Don Hoy on the second team.

Cats Tangle in NWC Opener

THE WILLAMETTE University Bearcats will lift the lid off the 1957 Northwest conference basketball season tonight when they tangle with the Wildcats from Linfield College. When the two teams meet on Willamette's maple tonight it will mark the initial conference start for both teams.

Coach Johnny Lewis' cagers are well rested after their jaunt to Reno last week, and are eagerly awaiting their first contest with Linfield. Ed Grossenbacher suffered a slight ankle injury in the early part of the week, but should be ready to go by tonight. The only doubtful starter for the Bearcats is Vic Backlund.

Backlund pulled an Achilles' tendon and has been keeping off his feet as much as possible.

THE BEARCATS showed themselves to be a very talented and aggressive ball club throughout the Far West Tournament last week, and Coach Lewis hopes they will continue to play the inspired type of ball which enabled them to win second place in the tournament.

Coach Roy Helsler of Linfield brings a much different ball club to town tonight than he did last year. Last year the Wildcats boasted two of the best big men in the conference, Don Porter and Dave Sanford. Porter was named to the NAIA All-American first-all-star team. Sanford, while not always a consistent scorer, was one of the best rebounders in the business.

THE STRONGEST position on the Wildcat club this year is undoubtedly at guard, where sharpshooting Bill Machamer will lead the offensive attack. A couple of freshmen who could help the Wildcats this year are Jack Riley from Grant high of Portland, and Caryll Goetze, 6-8 center, from Hillsboro.

Tomorrow night the Bearcats travel to McMinnville where they again meet Linfield. The preliminary to each game will feature the Willamette Bearkittens against Linfield's JVs.

Tuesday Clubs In Playoff; 1 Round Left

INTRAMURAL basketball entered into the final rounds of competition as teams fought for the right to enter the playoffs. The Tuesday night league ended its play officially Thursday night with a playoff game between the Sigs and the Law School to determine the runnerup in the league.

Last Tuesday the Phi Deltis grabbed first place honors, when they defeated the SAEs to the tune of 32-19. Bob Withers led the winners with 18 counters, followed by Duane Baird with six. George Nelson was high man for Sigma Alpha Epsilon with nine.

THE LAW SCHOOL earned the right to play off with the Sigs for second spot when they dumped the Betas 26-21. The scoring was evenly divided on both teams as Johnson and Stevens led the victors with six apiece, and Gerbing and Beaton were high for Beta Theta Pi with four counters each.

IN THE OTHER game of the evening the Sigs downed the Independents 26 to 15. Osterlund and Klindworth topped the Sigs with 10. Woddele led the losers with four.

The Wednesday night league fell behind a game due to interruptions in the pre-holiday week. The Wednesday night league played a make-up game last night but Collegian had gone to press before the outcome was decided.

Tomorrow the Saturday morning league resumes play and finds the undefeated Betas meeting the Phi Deltis, the SAEs tangle with the Sigs, and the Rinky Dinks meet Independents.

Saturday Morning Standings

	W	L
Beta Theta Pi	4	0
Sigma Chi	3	1
Rinky Dinks	2	2
Independents	1	1
Phi Delta Theta	1	2
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	0	4

Foul Shoot Ends

INTRAMURAL foul shooting came to a close this week with the completion of the final round of competition. Phi Delta Theta nabbed top honors as they compiled a record of four wins and one loss. The Independents and Sigma Alpha Epsilon tied for second spot with three wins, one tie and one loss.

Outstanding individual performances turned in during competition were recorded by Brad Lucas of the Phi Deltis, Dave McClard of the Independents and Dale Shumway of the Independents.

Final Foul Shooting Standings

Independents	3	1	1
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	3	1	1
Law School	0	5	0

Ed Grossenbacher, who was selected to the All-Far West Invitational Tournament's first team, promises to be one of the finest freshman players in the Northwest conference. Grossenbacher, all-league selection from Milwaukee, set an all-time free-throw record in the Oregon A-1 basketball championship tournament.

Thus far this season, Grossenbacher is tied for second place in field goals and ranks third in total number of points scored for the Bearcats. He has demonstrated uncanny shooting ability, along with an excellent knowledge of basketball fundamentals.

Model UN Set For Stanford

The sixth Model United Nations, to be held at Stanford University beginning April 10, will draw 10 delegates from Willamette along with 790 other student-delegates from 79 schools in the western United States and Alaska.

PURPOSE of the MUN, begun 5 years ago at Stanford, is not to try to solve any world problems, but instead to gain an understanding of the structure and functioning of the real United Nations and the problems it meets by as close an approximation as possible of its workings.

Each participating school is assigned a country which is a member of the United Nations, and its delegates are expected to familiarize themselves with information about the country, so that they understand its problems and its attitudes well enough to act in the Model UN as it would act in the real UN. Willamette was assigned Bulgaria.

Last spring the MUN was held at Oregon State College, with about 800 delegates attending, many of them foreign students and graduates holding doctorates.

THE MUN IS sanctioned by the United Nations, and the Secretary-General of the MUN goes to New York City to receive training for his post.

Willamette's 10 delegates will be selected by student council Wednesday. Interested students are reminded that petitions for would-be delegates are due in the Student Body office by noon Monday.

WILLAMETTE'S delegates will be charged only a registration fee, probably $10 or $15. Student Council voted to give $150 of student body funds toward the delegates' expenses, and the rest of the needed funds will be earned by the campus YWCA group and by Unesco, the organizations that sponsor Willamette's attendance at the MUN.

Lou Ann Mergler and Joe Stewart urge all interested students, whether chosen to be delegates or not, to attend MUN Wednesday noon meetings in Lausanne's basement, because there is a great deal of research to be done on Bulgaria.

Fireside Features Clothes Collection

The clothes drive committee has completed the organization for the fireside Wednesday evening, and the social chairman of the living organizations are in charge of assigning cars to specific areas of Salem to collect clothes, according to the drive chairman, Lucy Myers.

Ross Miles, the Salem representative for the American Friends Service Committee, which is in charge of shipping the clothes overseas, asked Unesco not to designate a specific country for the distribution of the clothes because the Friends Committee wishes to serve immediate emergencies. However, he added that the Austria-Hungary area would probably receive them.

Churches, service organizations, newspapers, and radio stations have been contacted by the assistant, Dick White, and other committee members, Paula Preuss, Mary Anne Schoessler, and Diane Dennis.

Members of the Salem Hi-Y will do the packing in the basement of the YMCA where the clothes are to be delivered.

Scholarships, Fellowships Offered Graduates

Several graduate fellowships and scholarships are being offered for the 1957-1958 academic year, according to news releases received from various sources.

Stanford University is now receiving applications for graduate scholarships in journalism which carry stipends from $1,200 to $2,400. Requests for particulars should be addressed to the Executive Head, Department of Communication and Journalism, Stanford University, Stanford, California. February 15 is the deadline for completing applications. Two of the scholarships will be awarded to Asians studying in this country and preparing to work in the Orient.

A fellowship for graduate study and research at the University of Sao Paulo and the Uniao Cultural in Brazil is available to an American student, it was announced by Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York City, where applications may be secured. Closing date of the competition is January 23. The period of the fellowship is from March 1 to December 15, 1957.

The University of Ceylon, Peradeniya, offers two fellowships to American graduate students for the academic year beginning June 1957, it was announced by Mr. Holland. Awards cover room, board and tuition. Grantees should have funds to pay their own travel and incidental expenses. Closing date for applications, to be made to the Institute of International Education, is January 15, 1957.

Competition is open for one fellowship to be offered by the government of Israel through its Ministry of Education to an American graduate who wishes to engage in a research project. The research fellowship carries a stipend of approximately $900 to cover maintenance and incidentals. Free tuition has been offered by the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, the Hebrew Technical Institute in Haifa, or the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovoth. Closing date for applications, also to the Institute of International Education, is February 28, 1957.

Dean Reese to Take Leave

Seward Reese, dean of the College of Law, has accepted a visiting professorship next semester at the College of Law at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Invited by the chancellor of the California school and approved by their law faculty, Reese will teach courses in evidence and federal jurisdiction. The appointment came as the result of a leave of absence granted to James Chadbourne, co-author of four books on law, who will leave UCLA law school for one semester.

Reese, who has been dean of the Willamette College of Law since 1946, is a former faculty member at Syracuse University and Tarkio College. He received his BA from West Virginia Wesleyan College, MA from the University of Michigan, JD from Indiana University, and LLM from Duke University.

He has been admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court and the Court of Military Appeals as well as in the states of West Virginia, Indiana, and Oregon. Reserve colonel in the judge advocate's department of the air force, the law educator is the author of one publication, "Cases on Code Pleading."

Collegian Reminisces, Reviews Top News Stories for 1956

In a reminiscent mood, the Collegian staff searched back copies of the paper and came up with the following as the top news stories of 1956.

January: Revelation of plans for Christian Resource week with its importation of a team of religious experts and the acceptance of a bid to go to the Model United Nations assembly at Oregon State were important stories the first month of the new year.

February: Dr. George Martin announced his decision to leave Willamette for a post with the Salem school system and the city council added to student parking woes with its decision to widen 12th street. Royal Keith, Jim Cain, Doug Houser, and Dean Benson became presidents of the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes respectively and at the same time President Smith revealed the decision of the Board of Trustees to hike salaries and tuition.

March: This busy month first saw the selection of Dan Dearborn to head May Weekend and then a storm created over the decision of the University to discontinue financial backing of the Weekend. Tension heightened as Glee approached with the sophomores finally marching to victory over the stunned juniors. At the same time, the campus began to ready itself for the Mock Democratic Convention and students rocked with laughter at faculty capers in the first "Faculty Follies." Concluding the month, Dr. Umphry Lee presented the first of the Willamette Lecture Series.

April: The Distinguished Artist Series was given a renewed lease on life as the Student Council unanimously approved continuation of concert series and the replacements of Dean Mark Hatfield and Dr. George Martin were revealed in the persons of Dean Elmer Rieck and Dr. James Lyles.

May: Neil Causbie, Wayne Carr, Doug Houser, and Flossy Hodge became new Student Body officers while Margaret Huson was elected May Queen and Lewis Beatty, Peggy Cope, Willard Bunney, Jean Martin and Margie Wood became publication heads. The Mock Convention picked Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential candidate with Estes Keefauver as running mate, and once again finals threatened.

September: School opened with the new food service announcing a policy of seconds on everything except steak to the nearly 400 new students, and the University announced that polio shots would be given at reduced cost.

October: With the political heat becoming intense, the Collegian began its five-article series on political question. Tom Loree, Vick Backlund, Larry Willingham, and Ted Cook were elected fall class presidents as preparations rolled on for Parents Weekend directed by George Nye.

November: Homecoming presented its usual packed schedule and Hostess Jeannine Graber was kept constantly busy, but spirits were somewhat dampened by the Hungarian and Middle Eastern crises. In a competition held with Lewis and Clark, Portland State and Portland University, Willamette, with 375 pints of blood donated won the trophy offered by the Portland American Legion.

December: Passage of several constitutional changes, one of which raised the Student Body fee $2.50 per semester, and the election of John Bergstrom as Freshman Glee manager were two important events. Outstanding musically was the production of Mozart's "Requiem" by the combined choir and orchestra, and on the spiritual side, President Smith announced the appointment of Dr. Harley Zeigler as University chaplain. Academically, student protests were raised as the faculty moved to abolish academic dead week. With the election of Al Siebert to the new post of half-time entertainment manager and revealing the theme and speaker for Christian Resource Week, 1956 was brought to a close.

Three Petitions Due

Three different petitions for campus positions are due Monday at noon in the Student Body office, reminds Doug Houser, student body second vice-president. Petition forms may be picked up in the student body office at any time.

The petitions are for the student body office manager for the spring semester, for 1957-58 Distinguished Artist Series concert manager, and for students wishing to be delegates to the Model United Nations assembly at Stanford University beginning April 10.

Information for these posts may be found in the student body office, from Bill Strand for the concert manager's job, and from Lou Ann Mergler or Joe Stewart for the Model UN representatives.

Student Recital Tuesday at 3

Three pianists and a vocalist will participate Tuesday at 3 in the first student recital of 1957. The performance will take place in the recital hall at the music school.

Joyce Ambler will begin the new year by playing "Square Dance Time" by Cowell. She will be followed by Mac Baker who will play "Ragtime Bass" by Thompson.

Swinging from the contemporary, Tricia Gordon will represent the impressionists as she plays "The Sunken Cathedral" and "General Lavine," both by Debussy.

Concluding the program will be Nancy Groth, soprano, who will be accompanied by Barbara Freitag. Her selections will include "A Report Song" by Ireland, "Under the Harvest Moon" by Naginski, and "Five Eyes" by Gibbs.

Bills Must Be Paid

Tuesday is the deadline for paying delinquent accounts Richard Petrie, financial vice president, announced. All unpaid bills, including infirmary charges, may be taken care of at the business office, he said.

Students whose accounts remain unpaid after Tuesday will not be permitted to attend classes, he warned.
