Redding Receives Four Year Forensic Trophy; Collegian Staff Presented With Pins

The Class day awards will be made a week from this Saturday. This is the official manner in which the Student Body recognizes the services of those students who have done the required amount of work in the fields of athletics, debate and journalism.

Charles Redding, president of the Associated Students of the Willamette University, will preside, and the awards will be presented by "Speck" Keene, director of Athletics; Dr. J. O. Hall, of the Public Speaking Department; and Hugh McGilvra, editor of the Collegian.

Early Saturday morning, the Seniors will adjourn en masse to Sponges Landing where the breakfast will be given. At this time the annual parade of engaged couples will take place.

Paul Trueblood will begin the chapel program with the presentation of the Senior prophecy. This will be followed with stunts given by each of the classes.

The most outstanding awards are those given for four years' work in debate and athletics. Charles Redding will receive a silver loving cup for his consistent work in debate, and Robert Witte receives the prize for oratory. Louise Nunn, Ted Zeller, Buck Winslow, Willis Hathaway, and Kenneth Litchfield will be awarded with the official cardinal Indian blanket.

Every graduating Senior who has received an award based on any inter-collegiate activity will be presented with a bill fold which will entitle them to admission, free of charge, to any activities in which Willamette participate. Those receiving these awards are: Louise Nunn, Bernice Mulvey, Irene Breithaupt, Charles Redding, Robert Witte, Albert Herman, Henry Oberson, Ted Zeller, Royal Keener, Bernice Mulvey, Charles Redding, and Robert Witte.

The Collegian recognizes the faithful and punctual service of the staff by presenting them with a gold C. Those who receive the award this year are Sarah Poor, Dorothy Ellis, Everett Gardner, Beatrice Lockhart, Robert McGilvra, Louise Brown, Glynn Beckett, Helen Curry, Stephen Mergler, Paul Ackermann, Meredith Woodworth, Katherine Everett, Beatrice Hartung, Raymond Miller, Emily Brown, and Van Bateson.

The Senior class will present their gift to the University. This will be a series of pictures depicting the evolution of the written book.

STUDENT BODY MEETING CALLED BY VICE-PRES.

Action Involved the Reading of Important Amendments to the Constitution

A short student body meeting was held on May 24, with the first vice president, Mildred Mills, in charge. The only business conducted was the reading of five proposed amendments to the constitution for the first reading.

Two of these amendments are in the constitution and three are in the by-laws. The change in Article XII, Section 2 would have the Yell King and Song Queen elected by the student body in place of appointment by the executive committee, as the practice has been. Article XVII, Section I purposes to make the student body responsible for the Willamette University Handbook which the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. can no longer sponsor as they have done in the past.

Article II, Section 5 of the by-laws seeks to reward the Song Queen for her services. Section 3 of this same article would give an award to each student who has participated in one debate or oratorical contest. This is an important change; formerly, students received awards only upon participation in two losing or one winning contest. Section 9 proposes to give each graduate who has taken part in inter-collegiate activities a bill fold which would admit the owner to all Willamette inter-collegiate activities.

These amendments read: CONSTITUTION. Article XII. Yell King and Queen. Section 2. They shall be elected by a vote of the student body after a tryout before the students.

INTER-FRAT COUNCIL DRAWS PLEDGING RULES

Action Regarding the Breaking of a Pledge With a Frat Strictly Defined

At a meeting of the Inter-Fraternity Council committee on Pledging, last Monday evening in the library, a set of rules were drawn, seeking to do away with unpleasant difficulties and complications which have arisen in the past.

The rules, which follow, are as yet only tentative, approval of each fraternity being required to put them into effect:

Pledging: The act of pledging shall consist of a man wearing the official pledge pin of the fraternity and signing the official pledge card of that fraternity.

Time of Pledging: No man shall be offered the opportunity to pledge any fraternity until he shall have completed registration. Completion of registration means making final arrangements with the business office in regard to tuition. Any violation of this provision on the part of a fraternity will mean the forfeiture of the right to pledge the man in question for a period of thirty days.

Breaking of Pledging: No man may accept a bid from any fraternity until a period of ninety days has elapsed after breaking his first pledge, except on condition that he be given a release by the fraternity to which he was first pledged.

It is desired, by the adoption of these rules, to make the pledging process certain and clear to all, thereby doing away with any difficulties which might arise.

No method seems to have been worked out by the fraternities whereby they can enforce these regulations even if they are put into effect.

FIVE MEMBERS OF CLASS OF 1868 STILL LIVING

J. L. Carter of Portland writes to Harold Eakin of the Alumni association and reveals the fact that there are five members of the class of 1868 still living. Besides himself there are Miss Ellen J. Chamberlain of Portland, Mrs. Angie Engle of Ashland, Mrs. Dora M. Everett of Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. Emma Dashiell of East Eureka, California.

ANNUAL DISTRIBUTION PLANNED FOR TUESDAY

Book Features Oregon Scenery In Attractive Reproductions of Scenic Views

ALUMNI GIVEN SECTION

Increase in Size of Book Among Improvements In Make-up of Book

The Wallulah will be released for distribution on Tuesday, June 5th. It is larger than that of former years and is of excellent quality in every feature. In accordance with the motif of Oregon scenery, most of the art work of this edition is of unusually effective photography of well-known Oregon scenes and familiar spots about Salem. Tall Oregon pines border the pages throughout. Another gratifying feature is the enlarged size of the book to the more accepted standard of 9x12 inches. There are two hundred fifty pages.

Financially, the Wallulah will just about break even this year. The total cost was $4500. The cost of engraving came to $1800, the covers were $200, and the photography, which was twice as much as last year, was $650. The student body funds contributed $3300, advertising $900, and organizations $300.

The sections, in general, have made little departure from Wallulahs of the past. The book this year is dedicated to the business men of Salem. Faculty pictures are of a more formal nature while class officers are more informally grouped than before. The Junior class is left unflattered with jingles and surnames, only, designate the pictures of the Sophomores and Freshmen. The Alumni is accorded a page with the other University publications. Debate, dramatics, and music are set in sections of their own. Satire, of course, amply repays anyone who has time to waste upon it.

All in all, the book is an attractive representation of the activities and aspirations of the University for the past year. The editor and manager and their staffs may well be congratulated upon their fine publication. It is well to remember that only those presenting Student Body tickets will receive their Wallulahs.

STUDENT ACT IN CAPACITY OF PUBLICITY AGENTS

Leave Today For Portland Where They Will Appear Before Eight of the High Schools

Information has been gathered from one of the notables on the campus concerning the newly incorporated idea of having the students appear before several of the high schools in Portland shows the idea to be of practical significance.

This practice has been carried out by other colleges with good results, and the entry of Willamette into the plan promises to aid in the placing of the name of the school in a new manner before high school students.

Those who were selected to make the journey to Portland are chosen from the campus as a whole. The list includes Willis Hathaway who goes in the capacity of chief mogul, Frances McGilvra filling the place of the fair young co-ed, Virginia Edwards, whom we are told is the chief attraction, Robert Witte, who is to carry the message, and Kenneth Litchfield in whatever role he chooses to take.

With this group will appear the varsity men's quartet who will sing a few songs and perhaps even say a few words.

Their plan is to visit eight of the high schools today.

HEWITT DELIVERS MANY COMMENCEMENT TALKS

Dean Roy R. Hewitt of the Law school is kept quite busy when the commencement season comes around, as is evidenced by the large number of commencement addresses which he has been making and which he is yet scheduled to make.

Beginning May 11, he made a commencement address before the graduating class of the high school at Colton, Oregon. On May 18 he spoke before a similar group at Gates, Oregon, on May 24 before the Woodburn High School Senior class, and on May 25 before the outgoing class of Klamath High school. Yesterday Dean Hewitt delivered a Memorial Day address at Silverton.

At present he is scheduled to make an address to the class of '28 of the Falls City High school. On June 1, he will address the graduating class of the Oregon Institute of Technology at Portland. Dean Hewitt is always in demand as a speaker.

STUDENT PREXY'S ADIEU

It has been the constant aim of the officers of the A. S. W. U. during the past year not so much to effect legislation, perhaps, as to make it possible for the student to effect such changes and enjoy such progress as they might desire. Our success then is proportionate to the degree in which we have been able to refrain from instituting changes not desired by a majority; the degree in which we have succeeded in fostering genuine student self government.

We are aware, however, that little could have been accomplished without the whole-hearted support of the members of the organization which it has been our privilege to lead, the helpful co-operation of the faculty, the untiring efforts of the business men and townpeople—to all of these, we, the officers of the A. S. W. U., extend our heartfelt thanks.

We expect great things of those in whom you have placed your confidence for the coming year, may they enjoy unmeasurable success.

BOOKSTORE REPORTS TOTAL CASH SALES

Is Run On a Non-profit Basis. Oberson Chosen by Trustees To Manage Next Year

The Willamette Bookstore located in the basement of Waller Hall reports a total in cash sales from July 1, 1927 to May 28, 1928 amounting to $10,943.03. At the beginning of the school year approximately $8500 was spent for books and $1500 for supplies. Adding to this the various miscellaneous articles which have been added to the stock during the two terms, shows that the margin of profit is very small, thus being in keeping with the policy agreed upon by the Board of Trustees when the store was first established five years ago.

It was the aim of the Trustees to handle supplies necessary to the student during his term of studies at Willamette on a non-profit basis. Books are sold at list price; paper, writing material, jewelry for organizations and classes, fountain pens and other supplies are handled with a margin of profit.

Expenses of the Bookstore manager and of the rent and light for the room are included in the running expenses of the supply room. Any surplus after these items have been considered and the amounts for the adding of new equipment has been taken out, is taken into consideration when the prices are figured for the coming year. Thus giving the students the advantage of any profits which may accrue.

Books are not carried over during the summer months as is evidenced by the fact that just last week over one thousand dollars worth were returned to the wholesale house. Nor is it the policy to carry needless supplies during the school year.

Second hand books are not handled by the Bookstore, but are merely sold for the students as an accommodation to them and to those desiring of acquiring such books. Pictures which are to be purchased in this school store are handled for ten per cent, which merely covers the handling charges.

The manager of the store is chosen by the board of trustees in conjunction with the action of Dr. Franklin and Mr. Savage. During the coming year this position will be filled by Mr. Louis Oberson, one who, during the past three years, has very capably handled the business. Mr. Oberson finishes this year but is planning on taking graduate work under Dr. Sherman.

FRED J. LIBBY, WORLD TRAVELER TO TALK

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, will be in Salem to speak next Sunday. According to reports, Mr. Libby is able to give a vivid account of world conditions because of the many contacts which he has had all over Europe, coming into intimate contact with the people of France, Germany, England, Greece, and Italy.

His address on Sunday, in the morning at the First Methodist Church, and in the evening at the First Methodist Church, will be concerning the aspects of the peace movement.

The consensus of information available is that Mr. Libby is a forceful, interesting speaker.

Y WOMEN ANTICIPATE SEABECK CONFERENCE

Leaders of Discussion Include Prominent Educators and Outstanding Y Leaders

PERSONALITY IS THEME

Emily Brown Chairman of Local Campaign; Conference Held Ten Days From June 19-29

The annual student conference of the Young Women's Christian Association of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will be held at Seabeck, on the Puget Sound from June 19-29.

Among the leaders at Seabeck are some of the most prominent of educators: Professor G. W. Williams, Department of Psychology, University of Wisconsin; Rev. John Hahn, University Congregational Church, Miss Jolietta Thompson and Miss Pauline Schoeller, National Secretaries at New York; Mrs. Edward London, Seattle; Mrs. Annie M. Fertig, Dean of Women at Washington State College; and Miss Rhoda Foster, National Secretary for Rural Communities.

The theme of the conference this year is an understanding of the process which personality grows. Seabeck offers workable ideas as to how one can grow into a person of power, who is "at home" in the world, how to find a way out of perplexing questions about personal relationships, religious difficulties, campus life, community adjustments, and how to take hold of things to be righted in one's self, on the campus, and in the world. Seabeck gives one the chance to get a vivid, fresh picture of Jesus as a great personality who lived to his full measure.

The local Y. W. C. A. has a Seabeck Loan Fund. Money from this fund is lent without interest to students who wish to go to Seabeck.

For any further information about the Seabeck Conference see Emily Brown, Seabeck Chairman, Virginia Edwards, Bernice Newhouse or Elsie Tucker.

CAST OF IBSEN DRAMA SHOW UNUSUAL ABILITY

Character Work of Players Displays Through Work and Reflects Credit on Coach

It was a small but appreciative audience that witnessed a very commendable production of Henrik Ibsen's great symbolic drama, "The Master Builder," which was sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi fraternity at Elgie's Capitol theater Friday evening.

The play, which was the most serious and heaviest ever given by a group of Willamette young people, was presented with a depth of feeling and a finish that showed hard work and character study on the part of every actor. Each person was splendid in his role and every line and movement was typical of the character he was living on the stage. Frank Alfred as the Master Builder and Leone Marlett as Hilda Wangel deserve added credit for the manner in which they unfalteringly carried the theme of the whole play.

The plot of the play is symbolic of the author's life conflict in his art. This is delineated in the character of the Master Builder who is jealous of all who attempt to build magnificent structures as he has done. Fame had been attained to such a high degree that a turn was inevitable. The "dizziness" which brought tragedy to the Builder was the same sort of thing that had such a powerful influence on the greatness of the Norwegian dramatist.

Dr. John O. Hall coached the actors in a manner that made them live their parts. The heavy and gripping climax was achieved in an extremely effective way, and when the curtain fell on the final scene the spectators were in a state of tense and alert excitement.

The cast is as follows:

Hilda Wangel, Master Builder
Alfred Solness, his wife Leah Fanning
Doctor Herdal, physician
Frank Lombard
Knut Brorvik, formerly an architect now in Solness's employment
John Ramsgaard
Ruth Brorvik, his son's daughter
Herman Brorvik, his son
Miss Hilda Wangel
Leone Marlett
Vivian Marie Gribben
Alfred Solness
Donald Grant
Everett Faber
Earl Henry

Carol Pratt
Costumes, Lillian Scott, Ella Pfeiffer

ALPHA KAPPA MEMBERS ARE SELECTED

Nine Members are Chosen From the Senior Class. Tau Kappa Alpha Makes Choice

As a result of consideration of the faculty the selections for Alpha Kappa Nu scholastic fraternity have been released today. The choice is based strictly upon scholastic rank received with the stipulation that the candidates must have taken at least 80 semester hours credit at the University. The number of those selected must not exceed fifteen per cent of those graduating. These students were chosen from the class as a whole without any regard as to their respective majors and are listed without consideration as to order.

The following are those listed: Hugh McGilvra, Political Science; Clara Jasper, Education; Frances Lemery, Physics; Lura Morgan, History; Rosa Ricco, French; Irene Ritchie, French; Eugenia Savage, English; Robert Witte, Religion; and Bernice Newhouse, French.

The fraternity was established at Willamette in 1920 with the largest number being selected in the year 1922. At this time fourteen were admitted to membership. The number of those given the honor this year jacks but one of being the smallest group selected since Alpha Kappa Nu was inaugurated.

FACULTY ANNOUNCES NEW LAW COURSES

Library Will Be Still Further Improved. Teaching Staff To Be Enlarged

The Willamette University Law School will start next fall with increased facilities of teaching staff, courses, and library, which should greatly improve it over its present status.

One more full-time professor, yet to be announced, will add to the teaching staff. For Freshmen and Junior law students, classes will be held during regular class hours, instead of morning and evening as heretofore. This new schedule of classes will make it possible for Freshmen students to take twelve hours regular law coursework each week, which will be the minimum requirement.

Two new courses, one for Freshmen and the other for Juniors, will be added to the Law curriculum and the old courses will be extended in time material. The two new courses are "Common Law Pleading," for Freshmen, and "Wills and Administration," for Juniors.

By next fall, Dean Roy R. Hewitt expects to have the Willamette Law Library placed so as to be fully accessible to students. The prospects for augmenting the present library of 4,500 volumes during the summer is very promising.

With these improvements in faculty, curriculum, and reference resources, the Willamette Law School should be of greater service and efficiency next year.

LITTLE SISTER MOVEMENT SPONSORED BY Y. W. C. A.

All University Women Asked to Co-operate During the Summer as Well as Later

Next fall the Y. W. C. A. is again planning the Little Sister Movement. This is a movement which is gaining widespread adoption and usage upon various co-educational college campuses of the nation being on the whole sponsored by this organization. The local officers have expressed the hope that this idea may be more of a success during the coming year than it has proved to be during the year just passed. They feel that there is a real need for such a plan to be promulgated by all.

In order that the movement may succeed the Y. W. C. A. asks all of the University women to co-operate by writing to their little sisters who have already been selected during the summer months. With this also goes the suggestion that they enclose a snapshot of themselves if possible. This would aid materially in establishing a contact which would prove of infinite value. And further, they are asked to give particular attention to the "Little Sister" after she arrives on the campus. The Little Sister movement will fill an extremely large and valuable part of the Freshman Week here at Willamette next fall. The establishing of acquaintanceships between old and new girls cannot but aid materially in assimilating all of the Freshman girls into the life of the campus.

KECK IS CHOSEN AS HANDBOOK EDITOR

At the last meeting of the Executive Committee for the school year Wendell Keck was elected editor of the Willamette Handbook and Harold Tomlinson was chosen manager.

Mr. Keck is prominent in journalism, being the managing editor of the Collegian. He is a member of Beta Chi Alpha, has worked on the Wallula for two years, and is associate of the college annual for next year. He is also an active member of Coffee House, Harold Tomlinson is well fitted for the position of manager, having been manager of the DeMolay convales at Salem this year. He was also manager of Freshman Glee.

The publication for the coming year will be the first sponsored by the student body.

FRESHMAN CLASS WIN INTER-CLASS BASEBALL

The girls interclass baseball championship was definitely decided Monday when the Freshmen players won easily from the Sophomore girls, 18 to 3. Poor support and inability to hit the ball was the reason for the Sophomores defeat. Mildred Pugh, pitching for the rooks was invincible and was never in serious danger. Florence Powers, for the sophs, at times pitched clever ball; however, wildness in the pitcher, and lack of support accounted for the fresh runs. Kathleen Garrison, Dorothy Pemberton, and Rosalie Burch, bit the ball hard for the rooks, while Camilla Gates, and Bonnie Zeller, played well for the sophs.

OUR FACSIMILE ATTEMPT

A short time ago the death of one of the most prominent men in the field of Journalism today occurred. This man was Edgar Piper, editor of the Oregonian. He had built around himself an organization of men and women which was publishing one of the largest papers in the nation. His death was mourned by hundreds and felt by thousands; his contact over the state and nation had been wide and his influence great. His was a magnificent personality. Yet with his death the publishing of the paper at whose head he had been for several years did not cease. In spite of the importance of Mr. Piper his death did not cause the disruption of the Oregonian nor of its policy. Don't misunderstand us, the absence of his influence was and will continue to be felt by the readers of this daily, for some time to come, but the paper is an institution with a policy and individuality and the change of captain did not cause any radical change in the nature of the organization.

And so it is with the Collegian. The heads and the personnel of the staff may change, but the paper as an institution goes on. It has been going for twenty-nine years when we take over the editorship and prophesy as to how long it will continue to exist after we leave would be but idle prattle. Hence those who are looking for any great change in the paper during the coming year are doomed to disappointment.

To deal in personalities is not the purpose of this column, but may we give more than a passing word to the editor, Hugh McGilvra, and those departing from the staff. Due to the results of their labors the Collegian has gone far in the capacity of the news organ and in the medium of moulding student opinion on the campus, and we realize that the example set for us is a high one. Nor do we purpose to deal lightly with it. We feel that the Collegian is one phase of Willamette which carries the name not only to other campuses as does any forensic or athletic contest but to other fields as well. This brings us to the question, why enter if you can do no good, and if entered, why not excel? We have entered and we will try to excel.

A man adapts himself to the conditions to the office under he is subjected, and in a measure is moulded to conform to those conditions. Yet this relationship cannot be carried on without some effect being felt by the organization. And so it will be with the tide. Further, there are some things which the paper will incorporate into its policy from those connected with it and it is our hope that these may be worthy ones.

So to the past—adios, well done, and to the future—Hello!

With this, the last issue of the Collegian now going to press, and with the end of the school year but one week hence, we cannot refrain from dwelling a bit upon some of those who have contributed so much to the student life of Willamette this year, and who are leaving to follow separate paths in life. When these men and women step out it is then that we who are left realize just how much they have meant to us, and the place they have filled.

In our student body president have we found a man who has been capable, one who mwe were glad to see on the platform calling the meeting to order and directing student affairs. In the editor of the 27-28 Collegian we have found things which have lain dormant but which have from time to time come to life making his influence and judgment felt in campus affairs, and his personality known to all.

Then those now up for election to the Willis prize, exemplifying all types of activity combined with scholarship, and one who during his four years at Willamette has been known in the fields of oratory and debate—these all have contributed to the student life of the past semesters. Nor can we omit those who have participated in athletics and who are now graduating. Four years participation in athletics culminating in graduation is no easy job.

But to go on enumerating would be an injustice. We know the mindfully, these members of the senior class and are better able as individuals to measure the places which they have filled. So when they come up for their diplomas, the sign of the completion of four years work, congratulate them heartily. They deserve it.

Some of us have seen the new Wallulah. Most of us have not, but ere another week has rolled around the latter cannot be truthfully said. To the editor and manager, together with those associated with them, much credit is due. The job was started and finished, and the product is good—one which we as students will be proud.

Misfits

With the beginning of his junior year the student should be able to undertake his more vital work with the enthusiasm of the true scholar. If poorly maintained entrance requirements and low standards in the initial years allow an indifferent soul to slip through into the advanced courses, such misfits will quite probably dispose themselves according to their just deserts. Certainly, it cannot be fairly expected that the best efforts of the college should be lavished upon a host of intellectual sponges, only to yield it up a modicum of wisdom from the flowing stream, only to yield it up again under the press of the instructor's hand.—The Bates Student.

YOU CAN EXPECT TO FIND THEM ANYWHERE

Many of the members of the present Senior class seem to be rather uncertain in their plans for next year. However, there are a few who have already signed contracts for teaching and the names of these follow:

Jay Hills is "going to indicate some Latin into young America in the Salem High school next year." Mildred Mills will teach History and Civics in the Marshfield High school. Rosa Rice has a position teaching Latin in the High school at Umatilla, Ore. Cynthia Pier will teach Mathematics at the Chehalis, Wash. High school. Margaret Arnold will be in her glory next year teaching music in Ashland, Ore. Virginia Merle Crites will teach history, economics and sociology in the High school in Cheney, Wash. Liletta Leighton has a position in the Madras High school, teaching Latin, shorthand and typewriting. Claudine Gerth will teach Latin, music, English and history in the Lostine High school under Wayne Crow, principal. Frances Lemery will continue her studies at the University of Washington where she has a scholarship.

Hugh McGilvra will continue his career as a newspaper man. He will probably work in the country weekly field. Robert Willy will attend Boston Theological Seminary.

Evangeline Heinbeck and Genevieve Junk are going to have a profitable time doing nothing for a while.

Charles Redding is going to practice law if he can find someone to practice on.

Louise Findley, Louise Nunn, Mary Martin, Doris Klindt, Ella Pfeiffer, Phoebe Smith, Clara Jasper, and several others intend to join the ranks of teachers next year. Eugenia Savage expects to attend the Northwest Training school in Seattle to train for the Missionary field.

Earl Pemberton is undecided but he will probably teach.

Paul Trueblood will continue his studies in the University of Minnesota.

Henry Oberon has been admitted to the Harvard Medical school where he will begin the study of medicine next year.

Louis Oberon will probably do advanced work in an Eastern school or at W. U.

The other Seniors have not decided what they will do or were not to be found for an interview.

BEARCATS PLACE FIFTH IN CONFERENCE TRACK

Last Friday at Whitman, Willamette placed fifth in the annual Pacific Northwest conference track meet. Whitman won the meet with a score of 56.6 points with College of Puget second. College of Idaho, Pacific, Willamette, and Linfield, finishing in the order named.

Fred Rodgers scored five of his team's points when he captured a second in the shotput and a third in the discus. Fred's shot put heave was within two inches of the conference record, and with another year's experience it is likely that he will set a new record for the event.

Hathaway ran a good race to finish second in the 2 mile. The race was fast throughout and very good time was made. French made a creditable showing in the 440-yard dash and managed to cop fourth. The other points were scored in the relay, Willamette placing third in this event.

Those men who have officially won their track letters for this year are: Rodgers, Hathaway, McCormick, Gull, French and Tweedie. Action by the awards committee upon the earning of a letter by placing in the Multnomah club meet, will determine whether Frank VanDyke is eligible to receive his award.

Keene Will Recommend 11 men for Baseball Awards

Last Sunday about twenty-five members of the "W" club, spent a most pleasant day at Otter Rock, near Newport. Roller skating, indoor baseball, swimming and hiking along the seashore were the activities of the day, with the dinner and supper, perhaps being the most enjoyable. Near the close of the day the supposedly "iron men" of the school, were sufficiently tired to willingly start for home, which capped climax of a fairly successful athletic year.

Four members of the Freshman Tennis team received their numerals for participation in matches representing their class. The men to receive awards were: Bob McGilvra, captain; Chester Ring, Cecil Harmon, and French Hageman.

Although the indoor baseball league has not been officially finished, Red Denman and his bunch of law school players, have shown enough, to definitely put them in a class by themselves. The law school has scored by far the most runs of any team in the league and hold victories over most of the other teams entered. Their latest triumph was a 16 to 1 victory over the Alpha Psi team. Earlier in the season they won from the Sigma Kappa 18 to 7, and this fact, plus comparative scores, gives them the title without dispute.

Competition in all athletics in the Northwest conference next year, looks to be the closest it has been for several years. Whitman, College of Puget Sound, and College of Idaho, have a dearth of veteran material for all the major sports of the year and unless the other schools make unexpected showings the honors will be divided between these schools. Willamette seems to have their best chances in basketball and tennis.

One cannot help but notice the success of the Whitman teams in athletics this year. In the five major sports, Whitman has copied four championships and placed second in the other sport. Whitman has won her championships in baseball, basketball, tennis, and track and placed second in football. College of Idaho was the only other team to win a major championship; they won the football flag with a record of five games won and no defeats.

During the summer vacation it is a very good policy for Willamette students to keep in touch with the University Athletic head in regards to new material which may enter Willamette in the fall. It is the practice of other colleges to line up the best prep athletes of the state and this is perhaps the only way of bettering athletic conditions.

Willamette, with a few years of good new material, will soon become one of the leading athletic schools in the conference, and in fact they must secure good new material to keep step with the other colleges. By keeping in touch with the coaches, places to work, living quarters and other arrangements may possibly be made for the incoming men, which will go a long way in showing them the University is interested.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE PROMISES HOT GAMES

Outlook For Next Year Appears To Give Additional Strength To Conference Teams

With the ending of spring athletics at Willamette for this year, thoughts turn to the prospective football season in the fall. From all indications, Willamette fans can look forward to one of the best seasons since organized football has been represented at Willamette.

"Spec" Keene, Willamette coach predicts that every team in the Northwest conference will be a greatly strengthened organization, and that it will be but a short time until football teams of this will rank well with the larger schools on the coast. College of Idaho is again the favorite team according to dope. They lose but one man from their championship team of last season, and have at present four eligible all-conference men ready to begin the 1928 season. C. P. S. is sure to be much stronger in the coming season. They as well as College of Idaho, lose but one varsity man. Also they have several new men who will be eligible for next year, which will strengthen the squad considerably.

Whitman loses several veterans, but with Nig Borleske on the job, fans can rest assured that Whitman will again be well represented on the gridiron. Pacific and Linfield both have championship aspirations. Linfield especially looks strong, and coach Wolfe will undoubtedly have his bag of tricks in all readiness for a successful season.

The situation at Willamette seems to be less favorable than at the other schools. McKenzie, Zeller, Winslow, DePoe, and Woodworth are lost to next year's squad, and will be hard to replace. Zeller, Winslow and Woodworth are all experienced men who have played for four years. McKenzie, all conference guard was a man, whose position it will be hard to fill. Mack's aggressiveness and his defensive ability, made him one of the most feared men in the conference last season. Cranor, fast halfback, will return and is counted on as the main cog of the 1928 backfield. Eaton, Lang, DePoe, French, Waddil, Kellow, Hauk, Kauffman and Dietz are other backfield men who are expected back. Lettermen upon whom "Spec" is counting to build a forward wall, are: Rodgers, center; Mort, two year guard; Propp, tackle; Ruch, tackle; Haldean, end; Mumford, end; Ackerman, center; and Emmons guard. Other men on the 1928 squad who show promise of becoming varsity material are: Satchwell, guard; Beck, guard; Flock and Klindworth, tackles; Cardinal, end; Gull, VanNise, and Betts, ends; and Bateson, guard.

The following arrangement of games gives Willamette fans five home tournaments, and it is hoped that team and spectators both will have a successful football season for 1928. A little enthusiasm and support will go a long way in making this a possibility. Let's get behind our team.

FRESHMEN IN PROMINENT ATHLETIC ROLE

Football, Basketball, and Track Find Prevailing Prevalence of First Year Men

Willamette this year has been quite successful in first year athletics. In football, basketball, and track, Freshmen have played important roles, and have done much to keep Willamette teams near the top.

In football C. Dietz, Eaton, Haldean, Rodgers, R. DePoe, Ackerman, and G. DePoe won their letters. These men with more experience should continue to improve and form a nucleus for the coming bearcat eleven.

In basketball, two rookies won fame in conference play, by their remarkable ability. Ed Cardinal was the pivot man of the squad, while Dwight Adams was equally important in the forward position. Both these men were mentioned on all-conference teams. In baseball, John Traschel, Ed Cardinal, and Dwight Adams again represented the Freshman letter winners. Adams played second base, Cardinal in the outfield, and Traschel played in Utility positions, with his favorite position at third base.

Fred Rodgers was the lone letter winner on the track squad, however, Fred's ability on the cinders and behind the weights, was good to have the class well represented. French Hageman, playing third man won his letter in tennis as a Freshman.

If Willamette can continue to develop good first year men, it will be but a short time until her athletics are on par with those of any other college in the conference.

MEN'S TENNIS SEASON PROVES AVERAGE

The Willamette net team composed of Ivan White and Jack Minto emerged second in the Northwest Conference Tennis meet last week end at Tacoma.

White entered in the singles and won his first match from Wilson. College of Idaho, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 10-8. White lost in the finals to Worth Oswald of Whitman, 6-0, 6-0, 6-1.

The Bearcat team lost to the Whitman team of Oswald and Penrose in the first round of the doubles but defeated the Idaho pair in the consolation match.

This marks the end of another average tennis season. The Bearcats played ten matches and won five of them. The Willamette men conquered Pacific University twice, Linfield once, Reed College once, and Monmouth Normal once. The teams which took the Bearcats for a beating were Oregon State, Reed College, Whitman and Washington State College.

Ivan White played first position all year for the third year and will be back next year to try and win the conference title. Jack Minto, playing number two, showed some brilliant tennis at times but was unable to play enough to become consistent. Kenneth Litchfield captained the Bearcat team and showed more improvement in his playing than any other man on the squad. Al Harwood was the fourth letterman from last year to repeat. Al has two more years of competition ahead of him and should be a valuable man.

French Hageman was the only new man to win a W sweater this year. French started the season at fifth man but by the end of the season was playing in third position, and if he continues to improve by next year he will make it hard for the three year men now on the team.

A Flin has been written on the pages of the 1928 Northwest baseball season and Willamette, by virtue of Pacific's double defeat at the hands of Whitman, has ended in a tie for second place. Whitman was undoubtedly the class of the league by reason of its two one-sided victories over both Pacific and College of Idaho.

Willamette undoubtedly had one of the strongest hitting aggregations in the league but its pitching staff was comparatively weak and its fielding average was very low. Without scholastic mishap Willamette will have its entire baseball team back next year but it is sadly in need

WOMEN IN CONFERENCE TENNIS TITLE

With only two of the championship women's tennis team graduating, prospects are very bright for another winning team next year. The two to graduate are Louise Nunn and Louise Findley.

Louise Nunn was captain of the women this year and played number two in all the matches. Louise Findley played third position on the team, and won matches from Pacific U. and Puget Sound.

The two other members of the team will be back. Pauline Findley played number one on the team and won the four singles and the three double matches that she played. Margaret Morehouse played her first year on the team and won from Pacific and Puget Sound.

Of the two Seniors graduating Miss Nunn receives a "W" blanket as a four-year award for her activities in this sport having made her letter four consecutive times. Miss Findley forfeited her right to this recognition by finding it impossible to turn out for tennis during her Junior year. These two women receive their certificates on Class day and Miss Pauline Findley and Miss Morehouse their "W" sweaters.
