Returning Students To Prepare For Second Semester Early

Returning students will begin pre-registration Monday for next semester, when Registrar Harold B. Jory's office will open at 7:45 a. m. Registration books will be available at his office, and all books must be turned in by Friday afternoon, January 19, said Jory.

Books are to be signed by the professor of each class which will be taken during the spring semester. Professors may sign before or after class or during office hours.

Dean Regina Ewalt will be available to check and sign books. Tuition and fees may be paid in the business office. Books may be returned to the registrar's office as soon as completed.

When registration books are filled out, turned in, and money paid no further registration is needed. Incomplete books must be returned Friday and picked up Monday, February 5, to be completed.

However, said Jory, financial payments may be made after Friday. Fee slips are to be obtained in the office and payments are to be made in the business office.

Classes will begin Tuesday February 6. Because of the amount of work which registration involves and the short time in which to do it, Jory hopes to have as many completed pre-registration books as possible.

Willamette Raises Tuition; Still Under State Maximum

In view of rising costs of operation, an increase of $25 a semester in student tuition charges at Willamette will be necessitated starting next fall according to announcement by President G. Herbert Smith in a recent letter to students.

Since the Korean crisis and the resulting price increases occurred after the budget for this year was prepared in June, the expenses for the present school year may exceed the anticipated income by $60,000. The board of trustees, however, plans to secure the necessary additional funds in order that no immediate tuition increase must be made.

For the 1950-51 school year, Willamette had the lowest tuition and fees of the six private colleges in the Northwest, stated Smith, and the impending raise, which will bring tuition to $210 per semester, will still be under the maximum charged in Oregon this year.

Scholarships and grants-in-aids, which provide financial assistance to worthy and needy students and now amount to about $25,000 annually, will continue to be increased through the efforts of the board of trustees, Smith said.

The raise is not expected to affect the attendance next year due to the over all increase in prices in general.

Culture Films At 7:30 p.m.

The first in a series of motion pictures sponsored by UNESCO and the student council will be presented tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Waller hall auditorium. Admission will be thirty-five cents at the door.

The first feature will be "The Well - Digger's Daughter", a French pastoral comedy, starring two famous French comedians, Raimus and Fernandel. The second feature will present the incomparable mimic, Charlie Chaplin, in four selected short subjects.

Bob Kaplan, spokesman for the project, has presented the objectives of motion pictures on the campus in these words: "We are trying to bring to Salem a better grade of motion picture which is not available, now, to the general public."

meeting called by ASWU President Stan Aschenbrenner, three class presidents gathered to discuss the matter. Ringle and Kent Myers, for the sophomores and freshmen, declared that they would demand a special meeting of the student council to vote on the matter.

Jack Brown, social chairman of the student body, previously ruled that UNESCO should proceed with their plans because of previous scheduling. Ringle and Myers had wired him to request permission for the January 12 date while Brown was on Christmas vacation in California. Brown told the two to go ahead with their plans if there was no basketball game set for that night.

Aschenbrenner ruled that the jurisdiction in the matter was on the decision made by Brown. Would the council approve or disapprove?

A three to three tie in voting forced Aschenbrenner to cast the deciding ballot in favor of the UNESCO films when Jackie Chute and Jack Gunn abstained from voting.

Prepsters Interested in WU

Despite the unsettled situation prospects for Willamette's freshman enrollment are fair, said Admissions Director Charles Paeth, in view of attendance at Portland Christmas parties.

The parties were held in the Benson hotel December 27 and 28 for Portland high school seniors and their parents. About 350 Willamette students attended the parties the two nights.

According to Mrs. Alice Nelson, who was in charge of the publicity for the parties, the response was very good. The movie made of life at Willamette was shown to the guests and Dean Melvin Geist, Dean Robert Gregg, Dean Mark Hatfield, Nancy Stewart, Ed Armstrong, Coach Chester Stackhouse, Mrs. Alice Nelson and Paeth, talked to the prospective students, and explained life at Willamette and answered questions about the school. Refreshments were served at a mixer after the program.

Entertainment was provided by Ann Gibbens who played a piano solo, Betty Jean Mullin, who sang a solo, and John Peterson who also sang a solo and a duet with Miss Mullin.

Because of the success of the Portland affair, Willamette is planning another party to be held in Longview, Washington next Friday at the Monticello hotel at 8 p.m. This gathering is for all students from southwest Washington. All Willamette students from that area are invited to attend.

Council Sets Today for Film As Freshmen, Sophs Object

Amid a storm of freshman and sophomore disapproval, a measure to keep the frosh-soph party tonight at the cost of UNESCO's first foreign film presentation was defeated 4 to 3 by the student council.

Arguments presented by both sides were spearheaded by sophomore class President Phil Ringle and UNESCO President Don Carpenter. Ringle criticized the legality of not putting the date of the film presentation on the social calendar in the Dean's office, and said that the two classes had already paid a deposit on a hall for the night of January 12.

Nearly 40 students, mainly freshmen and sophomores, were present.

Carpenter argued that a publicity campaign had already been launched by his group, and that showing the films early, as suggested by Ringle, would cause the inconvenience of Salemites who planned to attend the movies.

The conflict began last Thurs-

Three Students to Enter Contest At Northwest Speech Tournament

Three students will represent Willamette university in the third annual Northwest inter-collegiate Town Meeting tournament to be held in Portland Monday and Tuesday. They are Wilma Aller, James Wood and Robert Schaefer. Each will speak on aspect of the tournament question: "What should be the responsibility of the federal government for the welfare of the people of the United States?"

The three speakers will appear on four programs with the representatives of other Pacific Northwest colleges. The audiences will be various civic and educational organizations in the Portland area. A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

Committee of Ten To Plan Union

A meeting of ten committee members will be held this Sunday afternoon to formulate plans for the proposed student union building, stated Rod Beals, chairman.

The new proposals will be presented to the students in Tuesday chapel. The following week the Collegian will take a poll on the student opinion.

Lost Books

Lost books which have been left on the campus since the beginning of vacation, will be located in the bookstore, says Mrs. Delsia Larson, manager.

Restoration of Fairness

The university is unfair in its attitude toward enlisting students.

It has ruled that anyone who voluntarily quits school during a semester shall receive F's for every hour that he carried. This means, of course, that any Willamette student who enlists in the armed services and leaves while a semester is in progress will have, ordinarily, 15 hours of failure on his college record.

This, naturally, makes transfer to another school upon return to school, practically impossible. And 15 hours of F are not the best in an over-all average of a college grade point.

One university official says that this regulation is in accordance with a national recommendation of the Association of American Universities. Does this mean that every member college must follow it? We doubt it. If so, then Willamette should bring pressure on the group to change the ruling.

This imposes undue penalties on enlisting men, and possibly women.

That they should be penalized at all for joining the armed services is somewhat ridiculous. We do understand, however, the university's position on this matter, and their desire to keep students in school as long as possible.

We therefore recommend that no credits be given to the student for the semester in which he quits to join the services. This would eliminate the overly harsh automatic F system, and would give the university bargaining power on the matter. We have talked with enlisting students, and they agree that this would be highly acceptable to them.

Furthermore, we ask that the faculty act to change their ruling on this matter immediately. May they maintain Willamette's famous fairness toward the student cause.

Condolence of Swami Small Help; Eligible Males Frown at Future

By Jim Miller

"Today is the tomorrow we worried about yesterday." For many hapless teen-age and early twenty year old male students the worries of yesterday are still extant today in the presence of the accusing military finger, but preparation in theory for a better life continues.

Crystal gazing has not become a required course on the campus but still retains its place as an extra-curricular activity in trying to determine the predestination of our waning civilian life. Many of the fold will stray away, voluntarily or otherwise, before the new semester has hardly begun in February. Still, there remains the old guard to try and seek "peace in our time"

Adaptability of Women Astounding; Find Niche in Life Despite History

By Jane Fooshee

Women have always wanted equal rights with men, and they've fought hard to obtain them. They've succeeded pretty well, too, ever since Carrie Nation went around smashing bottles of various sizes and shapes. So, in April of 1951, American men decided to concede them another victory and a new law was passed giving women the right and privilege to enlist and be drafted in the fighting forces the same as men.

The draft board set up some new classifications for these fortunate women, which were as follows:

The 1-A would have two arms, two legs and one head (all these things being normal, of course); 2-A, two arms, two legs, one head and false teeth; 3-A, two arms, two legs, false teeth — and bifocals; 4-A, two arms, two legs, one head, false teeth, bifocals — and a hearing aid whereas the 4-F would have two arms, two legs, usually one head, false teeth, bifocals, a hearing aid—and six children.

As soon as the new law was passed, women all over America rose to meet the challenge. Of course there were the many unsung heroines who fought and died on the battlefield, but many famous names in the world of women made headlines.

Most notable was the appointment of Eleanor Roosevelt to the post of commander-in-chief of all women's armies. Hedda Hopper became a leading war news columnist, and very soon after the new draft law was passed, Emily Post published a new book, "Mess-Hall Etiquette." Dorothy Dix was placed in charge of psychotherapy for the new army. The popular dramatic show, "Portia Faces Life" became "Portia Faces the Proletariat."

The world of fashion also adjusted itself to the change. The famous Lily Dache began to design chic helmets, and French dress-designers styled exquisite lace-trimmed uniforms. Even perfumes were adapted to the new status of American women. For instance, "Evening in Paris" became "Evening in Seoul."

Perhaps the war would have gone on indefinitely if it had not been for the courageous deed of one American woman. One day, late in November of 1951, the world from the teachings of the masters and guiding hand of our noble faculty.

One of the first changes that would be a blessing on campus would be the elimination of the music hall from Waller during the morning classes. All apologies to Dean Geist if there exists in his domain a scarcity of practice rooms at this hour, but appreciation for the Kitten on the keys is lagging during such furtive endeavors as sociology, public speaking, and upper-division canoe paddling. Maybe this will, in time, bring about a sound-proofing of the Waller Hall chapel to fit the prevalent occasion.

With any luck at all, the sock divider may be replaced along with a new coffee bean for the improvement of this beverage in the Cat Cavern. Also, along with a Hearst sanction on the Collegian we may imagine that Doc Gatke will begin the summation of his second Chronicles to outline the progress of the University to potential throngs of the future; the better to qualify the $25 increase in tuition.

With the present trend of military necessity, 1970 may very well see the conversion of the campus to a retreat for nice old ladies and abandonment of the co-educational system as we know it today. About the only male we are reasonably sure will remain through this chaos is Schneebles and even his existence has been jeopardized occasionally.

The seriousness of the present state of national and international affairs has not been lacking in recognition on our campus. With the beginning of Fall semester, The Puritan was among the first things "to go" of its own volition and it can only be assumed that the editors no longer feel that Willamette is a very funny place. Could our staid way of life be conducive to the present lag in enrollment?

We'll drink another cup of cheer (WU cough syrup) to the hallowed halls and hope that this time next year will be a time of rejoicing and planning rather than that of veritable preparation for the inevitable.

Administration Policy

To the Collegian:

I understand that you want to know about men who volunteer. They do not receive credit for the work, but get failing grades. Furthermore, they sacrifice their tuition. So they have lost both financially and in scholastic credit for the semester.

We feel it is much better to await their call and to stay in college in the meantime. This is also the policy of many other institutions all over the country who are following the same policy as we are. In short, this is not a policy confined to Willamette.

The fact that the draft may be imminent in the case of a particular student and that he volunteers because of that fact does not alter the situation. If he does volunteer, he does not receive credit but gets a failing grade.

Actually, it is very difficult to predict when such a draft call will come. The whole situation may be changed within a few weeks, and it would seem the better part of wisdom to see what changes are made in the draft law, and in the meantime, to stay in college.

Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, was shocked to hear that Joe Stalin had denounced Communism forever, and furthermore had proclaimed the merits of democracy. At first the people of the democratic world could not believe their ears, but little by little the true story leaked out.

You've heard that history repeats itself? It seems that somehow a certain Rita Hayworth was smuggled into the Kremlin wrapped in a Persian rug, which was unrolled at the feet of the Premier himself. Stalin was so delighted with this product of democracy that he immediately called off the war.

Of course Americans felt the deepest gratitude towards Rita and would not be content until she had consented to be the next president of the United States. Prince Aly Kahn, out of inexpressible gratitude for this honor to his wife, paid off the national debt. America entered a new era of peace and we all lived happily ever after.

BEEFS-BOUQUETS

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to try to clear up the confusion and mis-information that has been circulated in regard to the controversy connected with the scheduling of class parties.

Class parties were originally scheduled by the social chairman for January 6. During Christmas vacation, representatives of the freshman and sophomore classes asked for and received permission to change the date of their parties to January 12 because of the difficulty of securing the hall of their choice. When school convened, the junior class also asked for and received permission to change its party to January 12. On January 4, the classes were told that there had been a mistake in the scheduling and they would not be able to hold their parties on January 12 because of a student body-sponsored and promoted UNESCO movie. The underclassmen protested, and the matter was submitted to the student council for arbitration.

Discovering that a compromise was not feasible, the council decided that the movie should have precedence over the class parties, for they felt that the movies could not be postponed because of their arrangements regarding the procurement of their film, nor compromised because the change of time would greatly affect the attendance of the movie.

We would like to point out the following discrepancies made by the council in regard to this decision:

(1) The Law school representative, Tom Anderson, was not notified of the meeting.

(2) According to the minutes of the student council of December 11, "This (the movie) is tentatively scheduled for January 12."

(3) The UNESCO movie was not scheduled on the master calendar in Dean Ewalt's office.

(4) From the Willamette university Student Handbook, page 32, quote: "The month of January will be designated as 'dead month,' during which time there shall be no social activities, except for class parties to be held on one designated weekend of the month."

(5) The council made little effort to re-schedule the parties at another date.

We do not wish to dispute the cultural value of the UNESCO movie, or to appeal the decision made by the council regarding this issue, however, we do feel that a principle is involved that should have the attention of the entire student body.

In the interests of strengthening student government so that conflicts of this type do not occur in the future, we suggest the following:

(1) The council notify all its members before it meets.

(2) The council either follow or revise the Student Handbook.

(3) The council make available a master calendar where it can be consulted and kept up-to-date.

In closing, we would like to thank Jack Gunn for his efforts in securing the permission of the faculty to allow us to have our class parties on January 19. Also, we hope that this incident will not keep the student body from wholeheartedly supporting the UNESCO movie, which is underwritten with student body funds.

Students, Prof In Legislature

Mark Hatfield took his newly-won chair in the House of Representatives this week, and other Willamette students and professors were also present as the state legislature convened for its 1951 session.

Hatfield gave the nominating speech for John Steelhammer, another Willamette graduate, who was then elected unanimously to the speaker's post.

Jack Wilson is pageboy in the House, and freshman Bob Peterson is working for his father, Representative Peterson of Ione. Bob Ulrich is assisting Hatfield in research work.

Petitions Due

Petitions for the editorship of the new combination of the Rook Bible and the University Student Handbook will be due Thursday, January 18. It is necessary to submit petitions now, because of the extensive material that must be gone over before publication next fall. Petitions may be turned in to Dr. Schulze.

Law School Faculty Members Attend Association Meeting

Dean Seward P. Reese and Prof. Edwin W. Butler of the Willamette Law school attended the annual meeting of the Association of American Law schools held at Chicago, Illinois, December 28 through 31.

Highlighting the four-day session were a series of round table discussions on such topics as eliminating racial and religious discrimination in the selection of law students, pre-law training, law curriculum, use of films in teaching law, commercial law, trade regulations, introduction to law courses, library problems, teaching practice courses and others.

Dean Reese is a member of the association's committee on law school administration. Earlier in December it was announced that Prof. Charles A. Jens of the Law school had received an appointment to the association's committee on legal aid clinics for the coming year. He did not attend the Chicago meeting, however.

Besides the many different subjects that were being discussed at the conference, Prof. Butler pointed out, the one which drew the most interest concerned the national situation and its present and future effect on the law colleges of the country.

A total of 670 law professors from all over the country attended the convention.

Music Recital Scheduled For Afternoon Performance

The third of the student recital series for 1950-51 will be presented today in the College of Music recital hall at 3 p.m.

Beginning the program will be "Song", and "Minuet" by Bach, and "France" by Thompson, played by Robin Roach, pianist.

Jodie Johannaber, contralto, will sing "Der Tod und das Madchen" by Schubert, and "Love Has Eyes", by Sir Henry Bishop, accompanied by Gladys Blue. John Kaemmer, baritone, accompanied by Harriet Aller, will sing "Wohin" by Schubert. Virginia Benner, pianist, will play "Saraband" and "Courante" from Bach's "Partita in B flat."

Norvada Smedley, soprano, will be heard in "The Dream", by Edward Horman, and "Voi Lo Sapete", by Mascagni. She will be accompanied by Gladys Blue.

Art Dimond, tenor, will sing "An die Ferne Geliebte", by Beethoven. He will be accompanied by Patty Jo Hammond.

Called Beethoven's greatest song cycle, "An die Ferne Geliebte" was composed in 1816. Alois Jetteles, the author of the words, was a young man of 21, who was studying medicine in Vienna at the time. He was a musical amateur, and it is thought that he handed the poem to Beethoven in person.

The cycle is dedicated to Prince Josef Franz Maximilian Lobkowitz, to whom Beethoven also dedicated his third, fifth, and sixth symphonies, and six string quartets, op. 18.

Concluding the recital will be "Allegro con brio" from "Sonata in B flat, op. 22" by Beethoven. The first movement will be played by Jane Fooshee, pianist. Beethoven himself said of this sonata when he sent it to his publisher: "It will wash." He meant that it would withstand superficial changes in musical style and taste because of its perfect classical form.

Publications Board Approves Handbook, 'Bible' Combination

A combination of the Rook Bible and the University Student Handbook was approved Monday evening by the Publications Board.

The action was brought to the attention of the board by Stan Aschenbrenner, who stated that both handbooks were of little use separately, and by combining them contradictions in university and student policy could be eliminated, initial cost of publication would be cut down, and students would have a handbook which would be of use to them for their entire stay at Willamette.

Members of the board urged that an editor be chosen immediately so that work could begin on the extensive project. The editor is to be given a representative student committee to work with Dean Ewalt and Dean Hatfield in formulating a fair book of university and student rules.

Anyone wishing to petition for the editorship of this new handbook should submit his petition to Dr. Schulze before next Thursday, January 18.

Publication budgets were approved at the meeting. The Wallulah asked $4200, and the Collegian asked approximately $1700 from the ASWU. Publications receives 35% of student body funds. It was recommended that Doug Stearns, Wallulah editor, expect only $1800 in advertising, thus cutting the Wallulah an additional eight pages.

An advertising policy was approved by the board and sent to President G. Herbert Smith for approval before it goes to the student council for ratification.

Willamette Faces Pacific Tomorrow; Meet Top Ranking Pioneers Tuesday

Back from their annual jaunt to Walla Walla, Washington, and Caldwell, Idaho, where they suffered two out of three beatings, Willamette's hot and cold basketball team will attempt to provide a better account of themselves against Pacific university here tomorrow night in their conference home opener and against Lewis and Clark on the following Tuesday night in Portland.

The defending champion Bearcats will go into the Saturday night encounter with a one-two conference record in wins and losses against a Pacific team that hopes to take advantage of the slipping Lewismen. The Badgers, though losing their only conference start so far, successfully stopped Willamette on two out of three occasions last year. Their ball-control methods slowed down the fast breaking Bearcats and landed them in second spot.

Rooney Sidelined

Willamette may get a big break they never counted on as Pacific's all-conference center, Ed Rooney, is sidelined with an extremely painful boil under the arm and is expected to be absent from tomorrow night's clash. Otherwise, the rest of the Badger squad, which boasts 11 returning lettermen, will be in top shape for the battle. Coach Hal Wolf is expected to replace the injured Rooney with one of two 6½ footers, Ed Ball, junior, or sophomore Clint Agee.

Tuesday night's fray with Lewis and Clark in Portland will be with the darkhorse team of the conference. The Clarkmen are minus the services of five men from last year's squad including another all-conference pivot man, Bob Pollard.

Pioneers Young Squad

Only two seniors are on the present squad, Bob Misley and Jack Henry. Otherwise Coach Eldon Fix is relying on sophomores and juniors mainly for the coming season.

The Pioneers have had unexpected success so far this season including a win over Pacific in their only conference start. This success is due largely because of the great improvement over last year by forward Ed Reid and to the services of forward Ken Servas, a freshman. Reid and Servas rank one-two in the Pioneer scoring column.

Lewis and Clark has already suffered some good shellackings by some of the better clubs such as the ones handed them by the powerful Portland Pilots. On the other hand, the Pioneers have been surprise winners showing that they won't be anybody's set up in the coming conference race. Unexpected wins were registered by the boys from Palatine Hill over Seattle Pacific, Pacific Lutheran, and Oregon College of Education, Central Washington and Clark JC.

By comparison, Willamette has played only one team that either Pacific or Lewis and Clark has. Both the Badgers and the Bearcats lost to COP by wide margins. Willamette made a much better showing against Portland however, than did the Pioneers in their two games with the Pilots.

Cinder Turnout Set

Coach Chester Stackhouse announced that practice for the 1951 track squad will officially begin this coming Monday, January 15. Cinder team aspirants will work until about three times a week until the beginning of the second semester when daily workouts will be in order.

AA's Lead 'A' Loop Race as Betas Upset Baxter

The All Americans found themselves atop the A League intramural basketball standings this week by virtue of a 33-25 win over the Phi Delt and the Beta's 30-20 upset victory over previously undefeated Baxter.

Dick Mase with 13 points led the AA's to their fourth straight league triumph over a stubborn Phi Delt crew. Bill Bissell scored nine points for the losers.

The Betas put on a sensational last minute rally to knock Baxter from the undefeated ranks. They dumped through eight quick points in the last two minutes while holding Baxter scoreless. Duane Denny won scoring honors with eight counters.

The Sigs moved into a tie for second place as they downed Bishop 32-24 for their third straight win. Babe Maudlin with 10 points led the Sig attack. The other A loop game saw the Hoosiers tip the SAE's, 17-15.

Sigma Chi was the only undefeated team in the B League after the second round of play. The Sigs scored a one-sided win over the Sweat Sox, 52-22. The only other game found Baxter edging out the Betas, 22-20. The victory moved the winners into second place.

The C loop completed their second week of play with the Betas and the SAE's downing the Law School and Little All Americans 27-21 and 20-18 respectively.

OSC Rooks Outclass Freshmen 70-49; Tangle With Pacific Tomorrow Night

Willamette's freshman basketballers have a couple of tough games slated for themselves in the next four days. Tomorrow night they meet Pacific's frosh in a preliminary game starting at 6:30 p.m. with the varsities taking over at 8:00.

In Wednesday's game with the OSC Rooks, the Bearkittens met up with some classy hot-shots from the cow-college and were dumped 70 to 49. It was a combination of too much height and shooting ability which broke the backs of the frosh. Bob Franz, an ex-Hillsboro ace, canned 22 for the Rooks. Ray Williams was high for Willamette with 13.

The Rooks were hitting from all sides with Franz leading the way. Whenever the Bearkittens got within shooting distance the Rooks poured on the steam and the outcome was never in doubt. The Frosh fought all the way and never let down for a minute, but they just didn't have it against the fireballs from Corvallis.

During the past vacation the freshmen kept in the swing of things by playing three games. They were defeated by West Linn and trounced the Capitol Business College and Tillamook.

Bearcats Lose to Whitman Twice; Bounce Back Against College of Idaho

The Willamette Bearcats climbed into fourth place with Linfield in the Northwest Conference standings as the Bearcats thumped the previous unbeaten College of Idaho 66-62 last Monday on the Coyotes' home floor. Coach Johnny Lewis' Bearcats opened their conference play in Walla Walla last Friday and Saturday as they suffered two defeats at the hands of the Whitman Missionaries by the scores of 48-47 and 47-40.

The Bearcats were forced to come from behind to notch the win against the College of Idaho after the Coyotes marched to a 35-29 halftime margin.

Bellinger Leads Way

Willamette moved into a 40-40 knot with five minutes gone in the second half, but the Coyotes pulled ahead this time by a score of 48-43. The Bearcats scored a quick eight points to three for the Coyotes to make it 51-51 with eight minutes to go.

Bearcat Hugh Bellinger, whose 20 points were high for the game, hit three buckets in close order and the Cats jumped into a lead which they never relinquished. It was 59-51 with five minutes remaining and the Coyotes never got closer than four points the rest of the way.

Lloyd "Neb" Neville, Dave Hawk and Dick Weist Ted the Idahoan's efforts with 17, 16 and 14 counters respectively. Ted Loder with 13 points and Doug Logue with 11 markers followed behind Bellinger for high point honors for the Bearcats.

Whitman Uses Ball Control

The Whitman Missionaries threw a slow, deliberate offense at the Bearcats. The Missionaries, who pulled a double victory over the 'Cats, had to come from behind both nights to come out on top. Friday night the Bearcats led 21-17 at halftime, but the Missionaries with their ball-controlling game pulled away from the 'Cats after the two teams were tied at 30-30.

Whitman's Dick Fain captured high point honors for the first encounter with 19 points, Larry Smith and Chuck Robinson led the Bearcats with 11 counters apiece.

The Saturday night affair was decided in the last 30 seconds when Bud Kight stole the ball away from the Bearcats and dropped in a lay up giving the Missionaries a 48-47 victory.

Lewis' Bearcats led 25-20 at halftime and with eight minutes remaining were on the long end of a 45-33 score. But Bob Burgess' Missionaries wouldn't be denied and pulled up to 46-47 with 30 seconds left in the contest. Then came Kight's steal of the ball and the clinching bucket.

'Cats Break Even in Yuletide Outings; Pre-Season Play Ends With 3-6 Slate

Coach Johnny Lewis' Willamette Bearcats broke even in their yuletide games as they dropped a 61-45 decision to College of Pacific Monday, December 18, 1950, in the Bearcat hoop pavilion.

The 'Cats edged Southern Oregon College of Education 61-60 Wednesday, December 27, in Ashland and divided a two-game series with the Chico State Wildcats Thursday and Friday, December 29, in Chico. The Wildcats dropped the Bearcats 59-51 in the first game, but the Bearcats came back the next night with a convincing 78-67 victory.

The College of Pacific Tigers, who were as hot as the proverbial firecracker at the outset, caged five successive baskets in as many shots while holding the Bearcats to a single point. From then on the Californians were never threatened by the Bearcats.

With Hugh Bellinger's last minute free throw the Bearcats gained revenge over a previous 66-57 setback from the Southern Oregon College of Education Red Raiders as the 'Cats edged the Raiders 61-60.

Willamette Red Hot

The Bearcats, enjoying a 32-24 halftime lead, unleashed a torrid spurt early in the last half which carried them to a lofty 53-27 margin. Keith Wade, whose 32 points spelled defeat in the previous game between the same two teams, brought his team up to a 56-56 tie with only few minutes remaining in the game.

The score was again tied at 58 and at 60 before Bellinger stepped up to the free throw line and sunk his game-winning point. The Raiders desperately tried to overcome the Bearcats, but the 'Cats put on an effective stall in the last minute of play.

Wade Leads Raiders

Wade was high point man for the evening with 25 points and Ted Loder's 18 counters placed him second. He was followed by Bellinger who had 14 points.

Ted Loder cut loose with a 27-point performance to lead the Bearcats to a 78-67 win over the Chico State Wildcats after the Bearcats had dropped a 59-51 contest the preceding night to the Wildcats.

'Cats Turn Tables

The second contest was just in reverse of first game. In the Thursday night encounter the Wildcats jumped to an early lead and lead most of the way, but they had to stop a late Bearcat rally to snatch the win. On Friday night Willamette enjoyed the lead all the way, but a determined Chico team narrowed the margin to 50-48. From there the Bearcats ran away from the Californians to a 78-67 victory.

Loder led the scoring for the second game with his 27 points. Bearcat Larry Smith and Wilson of the Wildcats each notched 17 counters apiece. Wildcat J. P. Lincoln led the scoring the previous night with 16 points.

STAN NELSON

We bet that coach John Lewis and his Willamette basketballers are glad that their annual inland trip to Walla Walla, Washington and Caldwell, Idaho, is over. The long trip is hard on the players. After dropping two straight tilts to Whitman, it must have been pure determination that carried our men through against College of Idaho. Especially after trailing by six points at halftime behind a team that had twice whipped Linfield.

Funny thing, while Willamette was taking it on the chin twice by Whitman, Linfield was having the same troubles with the College of Idaho at the same time. Then when they traded places on the following Monday evening, they both came through with wins. They must have summoned every available strength in saving face on Monday night. Maybe the teams sent out scouts in advance.

Rugged Road Trip Over

Looking at it one way, the two out of three beatings suffered by our Bearcats is definitely not a good thing to happen to a champion and expected repeater. However, now that the rugged jaunt inland is over, things should be easier for the local casaba crew.

The eastern outfits, Whitman and College of Idaho, have two invasions to make into the Willamette valley. Those could easily put both clubs out of title contention. Neither did Willamette lose ground on Linfield who could easily make a strong bid for the title. The Wildcats definitely seem to be more powerful than last year.

All Kinds of Contenders

Speaking of title contenders, every club looks like a threat to the Bearcats' title this year. They're beating the drums down at Pacific in hopes that the Jasons' early season skid will continue downhill so they can walk in with the title. Lewis and Clark has come to be a definite contender with their pre-season surprise wins and their initial conference triumph over the Badgers.

As we mentioned, Linfield looks definitely stronger this year as their many freshman varsity members of last year have had a year to season. Add to that the fact that both Linfield and Willamette were beaten two out of three by Whitman and College of Idaho. Could be a real mad scramble in the Northwest conference this year.

Eight Frosh Letter

Six four-year lettermen came out of the 1950 football campaign for Willamette. Maybe this is only an average number, but only two three-year men will be back for the 1951 season to try for their fourth letters. It might be significant to add that eight freshmen earned stripes this year.

Gridders to Be Honored Tomorrow; Banquet, Speaker, Awards Slated

The 1950 Willamette university Bearcat football players, coaches and staff will be honored at a banquet tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 p.m. in Lausanne hall. Robert Notson, editor of the Portland Oregonian, will be the principal speaker.

Also on hand for the banquet will be the Trustee Athletic committee, the Trustee Stadium committee, the Faculty Athletic committee, and the Board of Athletic Control. C. E. McCulloch, Salem's Mayor Al Loucks and the press will also be present.

Dr. Robert Fenix, chairman of the banquet, said the squad is being honored because "it was a good team and they did a good job." Fenix added that the banquet comes at a "time when a long cherished dream of a new athletic plant has been accomplished" and it "should lead to future banquets."

That evening, during the Willamette-Pacific basketball game, the football players will sit together and will be introduced at halftime. Other guests will also be introduced at that time.

Earning letters on the 1950 football squad were four-year lettermen: Captain Chuck Bowe, Al Minn, Bill Ewaliko, Keith Sperry, Art Beddoe and John Burleigh; three-year lettermen: Burnell Ambrose, Jim Noa, John Markoskie and Bob Hall, two-year letter winners: Bob DeBord, Charlie Nee, Bob Taylor, Don Hosford and Joe Bonawitz; first-year winners: Don Humphries, Bob Shangle, Ray Osuna, Ed Jarman, John Skimas, Jim McHale, Paul Jewell, Wally Richartz, Dick Petzoldt, John Leeper, Dorrance Noteboom, Buz Oerding, Rick Bingham, Art Cofer, Charlie Koani and Bill Van Horn. Receiving managerial letters were Howard Payne and Gene Peyton.

Several weddings are planned by Willamette students in the near future following recent announcements of wedding dates.

Lorene Rossiter of Salem will be married to Verne Shangle February 3. The 3 o'clock ceremony will be at the First Congregational church in Salem. The couple will make their home in Salem and Shangle will continue his schooling at Willamette.

February 2 the marriage of Donna Lou Lambert and Eldon Caley will take place at 8:30 p.m. at the First Congregational church in Salem. Miss Lambert is a junior and a member of Delta Gamma, and Caley, a junior, is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The couple will make their home in Salem. Caley a major in political science, will continue his schooling.

Aberdeen, Washington will be

Senior Class Holds Party

With simple decorations centering around the theme of past Glee songs, seniors danced to the music of records at their annual class party Saturday, January 6, held at the West Salem Legion hall. Candlelight and a fire in a huge stone fireplace provided an informal atmosphere for the "stag or drag" affair.

Italian spaghetti, salad and garlic bread made up the menu for the late supper. Working on the food committee were Alice Adams and Ellen Reynolds.

Jim Garrett New Phi Delt Prexy

Jim Garrett is the new president of Phi Delta Theta following installation ceremonies Tuesday evening. Elections were held the previous week.

Other officers include Bob Hearn, reporter; George Buland, warden; Jack Wiesser, treasurer; Harry Summers, social chairman; Bob Skirvin, alumni secretary; Bob Hilmer, librarian; Mark Cotton, chaplain; Bill Bissell, chorister; Charles Gutzler, secretary; Dick Unruh, historian; George Collins, rush chairman.

Baxter Hall Elects Officers

Bob Kaplan has been elected to serve as president of Baxter Hall for the coming term, it was announced recently. His supporting officers are Carl Blanes, vice - president; Jim Wilcox, treasurer; Wes Stauffer, sergeant-at-arms; Ben Collier, secretary; and Stewart Shaw, chaplain. Second floor representatives include Dave Perlman and Bob Petzoldt, while those from the third floor are Bill Wittenberg and Darrell Brown.

the scene of the wedding of Ruth Manley and Bill Hallin February 2 at 4 p.m. in St. Andrew's Episcopal church. The couple will make their home in Salem and both will continue their studies at Willamette. Miss Manley is a freshman, Pi Beta Phi pledge, and Hallin is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and a junior in the College of Law.

The marriage of Jean Estey and Jim Miller has been set for 8 p.m. February 3 at the First Methodist church in Castle Rock, Washington. The couple will make their home in Salem and both will continue school at Willamette. Miss Estey, a junior, is a member of Pi Beta Phi and attended the University of Washington during the last term. Miller is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta and is a junior majoring in journalism.

The wedding date of Joan Klindworth and Herb Carlson was revealed at the Delta Gamma chapter house Tuesday evening. The ceremony is planned for February 18 at the Rose City Park Methodist church in Portland. The couple, both seniors at Willamette, plan to return to Salem to finish their studies. The bride-elect, who is president of her sorority, is a sociology major. Carlson is majoring in chemistry and is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi.

February 9 has been announced as the date of the marriage of Beverly Tribble and John Markowski. The ceremony will be at the First Congregational church in Salem, and Joyce Knoll will act as the bride's only attendant. The bride-elect is a former Willamette student. Markowski is a junior on campus majoring in physical education and history.

With the return of Willamette students to the campus has come news of many holiday vacation engagements.

Nancy Phillips surprised her Delta Gamma sorority sisters recently with the announcement of her engagement to Earl Killifer. The betrothal was revealed following the dinner hour when a Delta Gamma cream rose and a pink rose, the flower of Beta Theta Pi, were delivered to the chapter house.

Miss Phillips will receive her degree in psychology this June and Killifer will graduate in business administration. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi.

A cartoon of Father Time and the New Year baby on the front door of the Chi Omega chapter house reading "Look what the New Year brought!" was the first clue to the engagement of Claribelle Easton and Bill Ross.

Miss Easton, a junior, is majoring in English literature and education. Ross is a pre-medical student. He is affiliated with Sigma Chi and is president of the senior class.

A box of chocolates, topped with a poem, told of the recent engagement of Eloise Rohn and Roger Shannon. The betrothal was revealed at the Alpha Chi Omega chapter house during the dinner hour.

Miss Rohn, a former Willamette student, is now employed in San Francisco. Shannon is a senior on campus and is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta.

The engagement of Dolores Fisher and Don Phillips was told Friday evening, following dinner at the Chi Omega chapter house.

Miss Fisher, whose home is in Portland, is a sophomore at Willamette. Phillips is a senior in business administration and is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta.

The wedding is planned for June.

A sign on the front door of the Delta Gamma chapter house proclaiming, "The cat's out the bag!" and a box of candy topped with a poem, told Delta Gammas of the engagement of Pat Farnes and Vance Yung.

Miss Farnes is a sophomore at Willamette and Yung is a junior. Both are pre-medical majors.

The engagement of Bo Brook and Jeff McDougall was told recently at the Chi Omega chapter house. A large red heart in the center of the dinner table, supported on either side by two cupids, was the first clue to the coming event.

Miss Brooks, a junior, is majoring in history. McDougall is a senior in the psychology and business administration, and is also past president of his fraternity, Phi Delta Theta.

Small Easter place-cards with the words "What's hatchin'" were the first clues to the engagement of Diane Proctor and Doug Stearns told during the dinner hour Tuesday at the Pi Beta Phi house. A puzzle found inside a large Easter egg centerpiece revealed a picture of the couple.

Miss Proctor is senior scholar in the art department and president of Pi Beta Phi. Stearns will graduate in economics this semester and is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi.

The engagement of Shirley Olson of Eugene to Harold Silke was revealed to friends of the couple recently. Miss Olson is a freshman at the University of Oregon majoring in pre-nursing. Silke, a freshman on campus, is a pre-medical major and affiliated with Beta Theta Pi.

Janyce Baker announced her engagement to Al Miles at a party for a group of friends in Salem December 23. The engagement ring was delivered by special messenger and small ring boxes with simulated diamond rings were given as favors to all the guests. Miss Baker is a former student at Willamette, and Miles, a junior majoring in business, is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A record played during the dinner hour December 14 at the Pi Beta Phi chapter house revealed the engagement of Rita Lancaster and Joseph Albrich. The wedding has been planned for 10 a.m. March 26 at St. Joseph's church in Salem.

Miss Lancaster is a freshman on campus and is a pledge of Pi Beta Phi. Albrich is attending the Portland Advertising Art School.

Announced during the Christmas holidays was the engagement of Marian Carson to Robert Havenick of Everett, Wash. Miss Carson, a former Willamette student, is now attending Everett junior college.

The engagement of Jane Widmer and Alan Goudy was announced to friends of the couple on campus recently. Miss Widmer is a junior majoring in science at Oregon State college and is a member of Delta Gamma. Goudy will graduate in physics at the end of this semester. He is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi.

Announced to members of Lausanne hall January 3 was the engagement of Pua Turner and Phil Gallo. Miss Turner is a freshman on campus. Gallo is a junior majoring in mathematics.

Bliss, Small Bound for East As Washington Plan Begins

Launching Willamette on the Washington semester plan are Bob Small and Sherman Bliss, who will leave for Washington, D. C. near the end of the month to begin their social science and political science studies at the American university.

These men were chosen by a committee composed of the dean of students, the dean of Liberal Arts, and the heads of the political science and history departments.

Although there were many who submitted their names as candidates, the pair were chosen for their "interest, intellectual capacity, and qualities of leadership," which the committee believed to be superior. Their status as Willamette students will not be changed. Credit for their course will be received through this school.

Study will be composed of four types. They will attend seminars with government officials on American government in action, regular courses in the schools of social science and public affairs, individual research projects carried on with the aid of government officials, and special events including social invitations to some of the embassies.

Small and Bliss are both juniors. Both attended San Juan high school in Sacramento, Calif. Small went to Sacramento junior college for two years and is now a political science major while Bliss spent his entire college career at Willamette university and is taking a double major in political science and history.

Willamette is the only school west of the Mississippi to be selected as a member institution of the Washington semester plan of the American university at Washington, D. C. Under this plan second semester juniors who are majors in social science go to Washington to receive first hand information on government procedure.

Pair Studies Geiger Device

By Cliff Jensen

Under the direction of Dr. R. L. Purbrick, associate professor of physics, research is being carried on by students Lawrence Cherry and James Carpenter concerning the design and characteristics of Geiger counters.

The main purpose of the research project has been to make the Geiger counter more sensitive by reducing the background

Research Reduces Count
Background count, which is similar to the static on the radio, is caused by cosmic rays from outer space. Most commercial Geiger counters have background counts of 30 to 40 counts per minute. Results of the research have shown that the background count can be successfully reduced to eight counts per minute with increased sensitivity of the counter.

The application of these results would be the construction of counters which are more sensitive than those in use at the present time. This would greatly increase the practicability of using carbon-14, a radio-active isotope of carbon, as a tracer in biology and medicine.

Tracer Finds Cancer

One of the most important applications of a tracer is determining the location of tumorous or cancerous growths in the human body. Carbon-14 is one of the most useful tracers used today.

Another use of this type of counter is to determine the age of ancient wood and other carbon containing structures by counting the radiations due to the carbon-14 remaining in the fossils.

Research is being continued at the present time with the hope of making further refinements in the design and construction of Geiger counters.

Sign Up Now!

Members of Willamette University Players who as yet have no activity points or have not signed up for some activity with the production of "Murder in the Cathedral" are urged to do so immediately.

Bishop Kennedy To Speak At Religious Week Chapels

Dave Poindexter, chairman of the 1951 Religious Emphasis week, announced that Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the Methodist church will be the principal speaker at the chapels on February 13, 14 and 15.

"We Hold the Key to Tomorrow" has been chosen for the theme of the week as well as the accompanying essay and poster contest, stated Jeanne DuBuy, contest chairman.

Gloria Nandie, publicity head, Mary Howe, in charge of hospitality to the resource speakers, and Chuck Harris, who will arrange program details are the other leaders of this annual student activity sponsored by the Interfaith council.

The program this year will present adult resource leaders in various academic fields from several Oregon colleges and universities, rather than only in the religious field.

"In the relationship between religion and other phases of life lies the key to the future of each of us as individuals and the society to which we belong," stated chairman Poindexter.

Social Security Available To WU Employees Says Fenix

By Lois Brinks

"Almost all employees of Willamette university are now eligible for social security", announced Dr. Robert W. Fenix, financial vice-president and business manager. The necessary two-thirds majority of all the present employees have applied for benefits, so the program goes into effect as of January 1, 1951.

Under the recent law passed by Congress, students are exempted from the plan—since most of them are not planning to retire as yet. However, all other employees who earn fifty dollars or over every three months will be eligible for old age and survivors benefits. All future employees will be required to apply.

Such a plan is identical to that used by commercialized business except for unemployment compensation and taxes. This means that the employees pay one and one-half per cent of the taxes, and Willamette pays an equal tax. In order to meet the added expense to the university, the trustees have agreed to raise the money outside.

The revised plan would provide a pension for the employee when he retires at the age of 65. If he dies, the pension will go to the wife if she is over 65 or has any children under 18 years of age.

Spanish Students Attend Fiesta

Spanish students enjoyed a Sigma Delta Pi-sponsored fiesta in Chresto last Friday night. Games were played in Spanish, including a pinata which Professor Kraft succeeded in breaking. Entertainment was provided by Lois and Lawrence Monk singing the Venezuelan National Anthem and by Joanna Hirtzel doing a Mexican dance, after which refreshments were served. Those attending were dressed in Latin American style, with Professor Kraft's Chilean cowboy costume being particularly outstanding.

College Life Burlesque To Be Aired

"A burlesque on W.U. life" is the theme of the Willamette Firesides to be broadcast this Sunday evening at 9 o'clock on KOCO. "Dates," "Class meetings," home activity and loafing are some of the typical scenes depicted in this radio presentation.

Director Jim Jackson and his assistant, Audrey Bliss, have prepared this W.U. Revue with the assistance of Charlie Nee's Combo, Tom Scheidel, Jim Gay, Rollin Cocking and Jack Brown. Don Carpenter is included by virtue of his ability to speak French.

The feminine element is represented by Shirley Dean, Martha Benard and Ann Stackhouse. The Beta quartet is also on the program.

"We're trying to prove that old adage, 'No use crying over spilled milk,' came the students' reply. 'When we get all the milk spilled, we're going to laugh! It's for our philosophy class.'"

Students wishing to attend the recording of the program must be in their seats in Waller hall at five minutes to 4 p.m. this afternoon.

Mercer Assumes Frosh Glee Post

Freshman Glee manager Harold Silke announced the appointment of Dick Mercer to the post of assistant Glee manager this week.

Silke stated that the tentative date for the annual musical event is March 10, though the student council has not officially verified it as yet. Committee heads for the various minor Glee positions will be chosen soon, he said.

This year's Glee will be based on a novelty song theme.

Carnival to Be Offered Tonight

A Carnival has been planned for tonight by the College Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian church. To be held from 8 to 11 p.m. in the social hall of the Presbyterian church, Chemeketa and Winter streets, the carnival will offer 11 booths for the enjoyment of its patrons, including fortune telling, a House of Terror, and movies.

Conference Condones the Military; Background Would Include Women

Delegates Shirley Ambler and Bob Bain said that consensus of opinion at the Northwest Conference on higher education held at Reed college December 18 and 19, was that there is a need to Revolt, intellectuals! Above is Maryjane Stewart, Willamette version of the Associated Press photograph of Marilyn Monroe, Hollywood starlet, who was recently quoted as saying she preferred philosophy to posing as "Miss Cheesecake" "but it buys no cheesecakes." (Photo by Phil Wimer)

Starlet Poses New Philosophy On Cheesecake vs. Intellect

By Philip A. Shaw

Wha' happen here! When a pretty gal is wasting time posing for pin-up pictures when she would rather be reading a philosophy book, the intellectual revolution must be here!

Not only was the above verified by the Associated Press early last week, but they recruited Miss Marilyn Monroe, the voluptuous starlet from Hollywood who speaks so affectionately of the higher activities of the human mind, to pose — as we have done in like manner above (courtesy of Maryjane Stewart). As the caption notes, "Miss Cheesecake" might enjoy great thoughts, "but it buys no cheesecakes!"

This obvious indication of the infiltration of the "learning process" into Movieland might result in some interesting films. Such changes in popular titles as the following into philosophical terminology might include "Cheaper by the Dozen" into "Virtue Rewarded," "One Foot in Heaven" transformed to "Transcendental Unipedestrian," "Petty Girl" to "An Introduction to Plato's Perfect Forms." As I said, it might happen!

Back to the realities of W.U., we are reminded that we have not long to wait for our own intellectual infiltration, or, with the threatening clouds of final exams approaching I should say, professorial interrogation. For older acquaintances of this Willamette "tradition," it brings to mind memories of dead week, burning the midnight oil, No Doze, books and more books, and then . . .

The "learning process," as it has affected "Miss Cheesecake," was not detrimental to her recognized "talents" (viz, picture). Thus it seems logically safe to assume that parallel activity on the students' part would not produce any reaction worse than allowing new ideas to disrupt resting minds.

Any compensation which final exams offer comes in the familiar "hang-over attitude": "This next semester is going to be different!"

Second Semester Officers To Be Chosen by Law School

Members of the Law school student body association will elect a new set of officers Tuesday who will take over duties for the second semester of this year and continue through the first semester of next year.

Commencement To Be February 8

Commencement exercises for seniors graduating early this spring will be held February 8 during Thursday chapel in the gymnasium, Harold B. Jory, registrar, said this week. This is the first year in which mid-year graduates have not observed commencement with the June class.

The convocation will be held in conjunction with Founders' and Benefactors' day which was observed for the first time last year. Names of the speakers and graduates were not released.

inating petitions; the Dicky-Bird, supporting Dave Swart for president, Bill Hughes for vice-president, Lorren Dobbs for secretary-treasurer and John Vandervall for representative to the student council; and, the Lily-White, headed by Robert Jones for president, with Ross McCormack, vice-president, Don Buss, secretary-treasurer and Charles Cloudy representative finishing up the slate.

Petitions for the respective offices required at least five signatures of the members of the law student body to secure nomination according to the constitution of the association.

Slurp, Smoke, Scram!

Willamette students have been asked to cut down the time spent in the Capitol Coffee shop for the duration of legislature to help alleviate crowded conditions.
