New Girls' Dean Joins Staff

"Making it easy to do the right thing." This was a remark new Dean of Women, Miss Del Chenoweth, made to some returning students who adopted it, and told all their friends. This statement has now become the unofficial motto of Dean Chenoweth.

"I WOULD like to mention a major point, one that I will be emphasizing: Willamette students are adults and will have an opportunity to take responsibility, and I believe and hope they will demonstrate the ability to accept this responsibility," Miss Chenoweth states.

Since arriving on campus, Dean Chenoweth has been meeting with officers of various women's organizations and plans have been formulated that will result in a number of changes concerning the Willamette coed. Before changes are officially announced, they will be discussed and voted on in each individual women's living organization.

"By doing this, each individual group will be able to assume as little or as much responsibility as it chooses," Dean Chenoweth adds.

DEAN DEL CHENOWETH

Willamette's Convocations program has undergone a revamping this year. Eight of the Convocations will be of a religious nature and will be held off campus. The other Tuesday and Thursday 11 a. m. hours will be filled by outside speakers, class meetings and programs by campus groups.

Attendance at the Convocations will be compulsory, as in the past, with eight cuts allowed for the school year. Under this system students whose personal or religious convictions will not allow them to attend the formal services of worship may use their cuts on the chapel dates.

"As traditionally done in years past, we hope the members of Alpha Lambda Delta and Beta Alpha Gamma will continue to take role for our Convocations programs," remarks Dean Walter Blake, "but we have not completely decided on the method of role taking."

Scheduled for the first Convocation date, September 26, are class meetings, and Pres. G. Herbert Smith will speak September 28 concerning the new Convocations program.

Five noted outside speakers have been scheduled so far for Willamette appearances. Donald Grant of London, an authority on international affairs and a world traveler, will speak October 3. His topic will be "Africa—Conflict or Cooperation?"

Next noted lecturer will be Con-stantin Boldyreff, a man whose adventures in Russia have given him first-hand knowledge of the country. The purpose of his speech on November 7 is to acquaint the American people with the true facts of what is going on in Russia.

One week later, on November 14, Jaqueline McKenzie, young British comedienne, will appear. Miss McKenzie, described as "The Clown Princess of Television," has also been characterized as a highly impressionable reporter with a gift for telling about her experiences.

Lesley Frost, daughter of poet Robert Frost, will appear January 11. Miss Frost was the first woman sent to Latin America by the State Department's Cultural Division.

The final speaker will be Ernest Kehr, journalist, who will appear March 13. A linguist with knowledge of five languages, Kehr has covered stories from Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America.

Rooks Follow Schedule; Now Feel at Home

By this time Willamette's new crop of freshmen has begun to feel at home, having attended various assemblies, and such activities as exams, meetings with advisors and consultation at the Health Center. However, there is more to come for the rooks.

Today began with a meeting in the Fine Arts Auditorium to discuss "College Level Study Skills." Following this are meetings with student's respective advisors. The student-faculty picnic will be held from 2:30 to 6 p. m. at Bush's Pasture.

Saturday will be registration day for all new students. Signing up for classes will take place in the library from 8 a. m. until 2 p. m. From 2 to 4 p. m. the YMCA is holding an open house at 685 Court Street. Free swimming will be the featured entertainment.

Fraternity rush functions will be taking place from 3 until 5 o'clock that afternoon. Women interested in rush are to meet at 3:30 in Waller Hall with the Panhellenic Council. Rush functions will continue after a dinner break from 5 to 6. At 6:30 Saturday evening, the YWCA is sponsoring a Big and Little Sister party for women students, giving them a chance to become better acquainted.

Orientation Week draws to a close with the activities of Sunday. At 7 p. m. the Fine Arts Auditorium will be the scene of Willamette's Church Night Orientation. Students will be introduced to the various youth groups of the Salem churches.

Campus Welcomes 13 Faculty Members

Ex-University of Oregon football star, Norman L. Chapman, is a recent addition to the University faculty in the position of assistant football coach and physical education instructor.

Chapman received his education from the University of Oregon and has been a football coach and classroom instructor at Springfield, Oregon, high school.

In addition to his football experience he was a lieutenant in the Army and served as a member of the military police force.

A FORMER public school principal from Sitka, Alaska, is now a member of the Willamette faculty serving as an instructor in the English department. Miss Sarah J. Fernald, originally from Illinois received her education at Monmouth, Illinois, and the University of Maine.

She has traveled extensively in Europe and Alaska and held various executive positions in education groups.

THE NEW assistant professor of mathematics, J. Howard Hafferkamp, comes to Willamette from Colorado State College.

A native of Chicago, Hafferkamp is married and the father of six children. He received his education from Baldwin-Wallace College, Ohio; Bradley University, Illinois; and has done extensive work on his doctorate at the University of Kansas.

DR. NORMAN JOHN HUDAK, new assistant professor of chemistry, comes to Willamette from Haverford College. Originally from Lorain, Ohio, Hudak obtained his education at DePauw University and his doctorate at Cornell.

At Willamette he will be instructing general chemistry and organic chemistry.

Dr. Maxwell Shaw Jones will be teaching one class on this campus in 1961-62: Seminar in the Therapeutic Community, a sociology department offering. Dr. Jones, noted psychiatrist, is with the Oregon State Hospital in Salem.

WILLAMETTE CLASS of 1957 graduate, F. Donald Laws, will be a political science instructor on campus this year. A native of California, Laws obtained degrees at Willamette and UCLA, where he is presently working on his doctorate.

Before coming to Willamette, Laws held the position of Management Analyst for the State of Oregon.

NEW ADDITION to the philosophy department is Joe Lawrence McCullough. Born in Alabama, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Wake Forest College, Illinois, and his Master of Arts degree from Emory College.

TIMOTHY McDONALD, Willamette Class of 1952, will be a new instructor in the history department on campus. In addition to Willamette schooling, he has attended Washington and Lee Universities, receiving his Master of Arts degree from Vanderbilt.

He comes to Willamette from the University of Washington, where he has done extensive work on his doctorate.

MISS ELAINE C. RODDY is a new instructor in the English department. A native New Englander, she received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Linfield College and her Master of Arts degree from the University of Colorado where she held a teaching assistantship. She comes to Willamette from Central Oregon College at Bend.

Miss Roddy has done extensive work for the government as a teacher of health and education to rural villages in Greece and Mexico.

A NATIVE Oregonian, Miss Clarine L. Shemwell, comes to Willamette as an instructor of German. She attended the University of Oregon and also did graduate work there.

A Fullbright fellowship recipient, Miss Shemwell attended the Free

University in Berlin in 1959-60. She will be living at the Alpha Phi Annex the first part of this school year.

THE NEW assistant professor of economics will be Laurence D. Shifel. A member of the Ohio Bar, Shifel received degrees from Harvard University and a Bachelor of Law degree from John Marshall Law School in Cleveland.

Shifel comes to Willamette from the Philippines where he has spent the last year studying on a Fullbright Fellowship. Shifel has traveled extensively in the Asian countries and spent time there doing free-lance writing.

MRS. ELIZABETH Yocom will be a part-time instructor in the biology department, teaching one class this school year. Mrs. Yocom is the wife of R. A. Yocom, Willamette Registrar.

Lyle Wilhelmi, science teacher at South Salem High School, will be teaching one class in the education department, Methods of Teaching Science.

Frosh to Elect Soon

All freshmen are urged to attend their class organization meeting Monday at 10 a. m. in the gymnasium. ASWU President Tom Hemingway will conduct the meeting. The freshmen will elect a class president and secretary pro-tem.

Lower right: These two coeds posed a moment for the photographer before attempting to find their rooms in Doney Hall.

Upper right: Being indoctrinated into the Willamette family and the familiar teas known to all students, Kathy and Kathleen had the opportunity to meet their new house-mother, Mrs. Olive Brooke. (Photos by John Ryan).

Iron Curtain, French Alps Lure Two Willamette Profs

The lure of Europe took two Willamette professors as far as the Iron Curtain in Austria to the Chateaux country in France this summer. Aided by a grant from the Atkinson Foundation, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Runkel spent two months touring seven European countries: England, Germany, Austria, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland and France.

A thrilling moment came for the Runkels when during an ocean voyage between Sweden and Switzerland the ship on which they were sailing rescued two stranded fishermen who had been floating in the water for days. While in Holland, Dr. Runkel was the guest of the Rector Magnificus of history of the University of Utrecht, one of the world's oldest universities.

"A CRISIS hit us the first week of camp," states Dr. Curry, "when several children came down with the mumps. From then on, a new outbreak of mumps occurred every two weeks until it got to be a joke!"

Every week the campers and their counselors took an excursion. One day they all were the invited guests of the Chateau of St. Bernard, the home of the 13th century monk who first made use of the St. Bernard dog in rescue work. Dr. Curry remarked that the castle, owned by distant relatives of the monk, was, surprisingly enough, still livable.

JUST A WEEK before an airliner crashed into the air cable cars going up the mountain to the Mere du Glace ice caves, killing six, Dr. Curry and a group of campers traveled by the very same airlift.

The boys and the girls of the camp got together for meals and activities such as folk dancing. "I was always surprised to hear the French children call time and time again for the Virginia Reel," stated Dr. Curry. "They got so they would put more life into the dance than the American children and would even go so far as to correct the Americans if they were doing the dance wrong."

SINCE THE camp was similar to American summer camps, the children each had duties to do every day before they could begin their activities. Dr. Curry noted, "Some of those children had never once made a bed or swept the floor, but they soon learned."

A number of distinguished people visited the camp, stated Dr. Curry. "Some parents would fly in from Rome or Paris just to visit their children, and then would fly home again that afternoon."

Hail, the Gang's All Here

Willamette voices may sound like a broken record to the incoming freshmen by this time as they have been submerged by a hail of welcoming words from everyone including the squirrels. The COLLEGIAN would like to follow the crowd and add its greeting to the clamor.

Welcome to college life, frosh. "Opportunities Unlimited" might be the fitting phrase to title the beginning of a college career. The college record book is blank; it's time to make good resolutions concerning studies and those other facets of college existence.

It's really worth it, returning students will testify, even though life looks bleak just before term paper and finals time. The rose-tinted picture of college as a round of football weekends and social functions will start to dissolve Tuesday when classes begin, but the smart freshman will rise to the challenge presented and start to learn about the concrete aspect of higher education.

That "rose-tinted" picture has already faded for the returning students, but they are back to further their goals and make new resolutions. Welcome to the returnees too.

Another welcome must be extended to the new members of the academic staff. We wish those additions to Willamette an enjoyable and worthwhile year also. New professors and students alike will soon become an integral part of Willamette, absorbing its traditions and purposes along with the tests and papers.

TRAVELING alone rather than in a tour group, Dr. Runkel stated that he and his wife were blessed with sunny weather every day of their trip. "A frightening experience happened to me while approaching the Iron Curtain in Austria," commented Dr. Runkel. "A Russian sentry leveled his rifle at me and told me to back away from the barbed wire."

An audience with Pope John XXIII was granted to the Runkels during their stay in Italy. They met him in the Vatican along with 100 others in the audience. "I was surprised at the lack of rules and restrictions which I supposed one had to follow during an audience with the Pope," said Dr. Runkel. He went on to say that after the Pope was borne in on his throne, he gave a short speech in Italian.

ALSO while in Italy the Runkels viewed a presentation of Verdi's opera "Aida" and were deeply impressed by the performance. "Two live camels and four live horses were included in the stage props," exclaimed Dr. Runkel.

Greeks Prepare for Rush Week

Rush week plans for Willamette's national sororities and fraternities will be in effect beginning this weekend and will continue until formal pledging has been completed. Participating sororities are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma and Pi Beta Phi. Fraternities are Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Chi.

PERTINENT Panhellenic rules include the following:

1. Women who rush must be regularly enrolled as Willamette University students.
2. Silence begins 12:01 a. m. September 17 and must be observed until the time of formal bidding, 9:30 p. m. September 24.
3. Only invitations to parties issued through Panhellenic are valid.

4. A rushee may not accept two consecutive party invitations in one day with the same organization.

5. Both rushees and sorority women are expected to abide by Panhellenic rules and any infringement may result in penalization of the sorority and/or rushee.

TOMORROW afternoon at 3:30 p. m. there will be a pre-rush meeting for all sorority rushees in the Panhellenic office, Waller Hall auditorium. This meeting enables the rushees to meet the Panhellenic delegates and counselors. The rushees will have the opportunity to participate in small discussion groups so that all questions about rushing procedure will be answered.

WOMEN'S RUSH begins Sunday at 1:30 p. m. and the afternoon's parties end at 5 p. m. Rushees will be divided into five groups and each group will visit each sorority house. The houses will feature open house tours which will give the rushee a chance to view each house "from top to bottom." Dress for this day is school clothes, hose and flats.

Rush parties Monday run from 3 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. These parties are invitational and each girl may attend five parties. Dress for this day is also school clothes, hose and flats.

Tuesday through Thursday there are no scheduled rush parties and silence will be enforced. Sorority pins may be worn by the women, however.

RUSH IS continued Friday, September 22. Again, the functions are invitational and the rushees may attend four parties. Dress for this day is also school clothes, hose and flats. Parties September 23, Saturday, begin at 1:30 p. m. and terminate at 5 p. m. At this time rushees may accept three invitations from sororities and dress in school clothes, hose and heels.

Preference parties are scheduled for Sunday, September 25. There will be two parties, each of equal importance, set for 2:30 p. m. until 3:30 p. m. and from 4 to 5 p. m. Proper attire for this last day of rush is afternoon dress or suit, hose and heels.

Immediately after the parties, rushees will return to the Panhellenic office to declare their preferences. Bids will be issued at 9:30 p. m. that evening, and new pledges are then invited by their respective sororities to spend the night.

Dan Cupid Visits Willamette; Couples Tell Engagements

News of the engagement of Jim Close, senior, to Michelle Monte, former Willamette student, was recently announced to Salem friends by the couple.

MISS MONTE is presently completing her senior year at the University of California. While attending Willamette she was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Beta Alpha Gamma and Mortar Board, and served as feature editor of the Collegian.

Close, a senior journalism-social science major, has served the Collegian as sports editor, news editor and editor; and was elected last year as Publications manager.

The couple plans a fall 1962 wedding.

Recently announced on the Willamette campus was the engagement of Henrietta Nickels to Howard "Tyke" Smith.

MISS NICKELS is a 1961 graduate of Willamette University, with her Bachelor of Arts degree in English literature. While attending Willamette she was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and the Honors program. Miss Nickels is returning to Willamette to work on her Master of Arts degree in education.

Smith, a senior, came to Willamette last fall from Birmingham Southern College, Birmingham, Alabama, where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He is a philosophy major and is presently Orientation Week Manager.

Bearcats Prep for Crown Defense

By BOB WOODLE

The sound of slapping pads and thumping helmets again echoes from McCulloch Stadium, as Coach Ted Ogdahl sends 52 gridmen through their paces in preparation for defense of the Bearcats' Northwest Conference crown.

AMONG THE grid aspirants are 27 lettermen, giving Ogdahl and new assistant coach, Norm Chapman, a good nucleus from which to build another stout Bearcat team. Three-fourths of the backfield from last year's undefeated team are back in smooth handling quarterback, Tommy Lee; hard charging fullback, Larry Miller; and sharp cutting halfback, Jim McCaffery.

There are a few holes to fill in the line, especially at the end positions, but the 'Cats' strong secondary unit from last year is still intact in three-year vet Stu Hall, two-year vets George Douglass, Jiggs Burnett and Bob Bowman, and one-year men Dexter Maust and Rich Litchfield.

OGDAHL'S OPENING day scrimmage noted the absence of little All-American Stan Solomon for the first time in four years. Even though the returning lettermen swooshed to a 67-0 win over the rookies, someone will have to step into

COACH TED OGD AHL

Stan's shoes before the first encounter with the University of Puget Sound, September 23. One-year men Tom Toombs or Doug Chan could possibly get the nod, although no definite decisions have been made for a first unit.

Stu Hall has been ticketed for offensive end duties, with sophomores Jim Booth and John King also vying for the position.

OGDAHL, BEING the same pessimistic coach he has been for years, claims that small injuries have been plaguing the daily double workouts, making it a little difficult to bring the team along as he would like. He also noted that his charges may be a little depth shy this year.

Norm Chapman, a side-line pacer in his first year for the Bearcats, noted that the squad consists of a "good group of guys, but they are out of shape." And from reports from the players, Chapman has continued the "Blood, Guts and Feathers" tradition of former coach, Jerry Long, now at Oregon State.

A BIG HOLE in the Bearcat line will be filled by huge Ernie Nihi, talented tackle from Hawaii. Big 290-pound "Ernie" just arrived Tuesday morning and his presence will really "beef" up the Bearcats.

Also anchoring the line will be Willie Hartman, 230-pound Little All-Coast center; 230-pound tackle, Dee Crooch; 220-pound veteran tackle, Don Green; and Mike Weinstein and Jim O'Hair at 235 and 215 respectively.

FRESHMAN RICHARD Takei from St. Louis High in Honolulu is a very promising guard candidate. Other freshmen who have looked good in early drills are Dan Kessler, end from Parkrose; Jim Schmidt, guard from Milwaukie; and Pete Ruotsi, quarterback from Washington High in Portland. Hard working tackle, Norm Lee, a sophomore from Woodburn, has also received praise for his efforts in early season workouts.

When asked how he thought the league would shape up this year, Ogdahl gave this order: "Linfield, Lewis and Clark, College of Idaho, Pacific and Whitman." Bearcat fans will have to place Willamette themselves, as Coach Ogdahl never tabs his own teams. If they do as the four previous Bearcat teams have done, fans will be inserting them above Linfield, a large order for this year, according to Ogdahl.

COACH NORM CHAPMAN

Thinclads Nab Track Diadem

After going through the football season without a loss, Coach Ted Ogdahl almost followed suit with his thin-clads by compiling a 5-1 conference record and bringing home the Northwest Conference track championship.

The only loss was to Whitman by one point, 66-65 in a dual meet, but the Bearcats avenged this loss by running past the Missionaries and the LC Pioneers in the NWC track meet at Walla Walla.

Individual winners for the Jasons were Ken Ashley in the high jump, with a 6'6" conference record leap; Bob Roy flipping the discus to a new record of 152' 10"; Don Green pushing the shot 46' 4"; and Ted Foxley hurling the javelin 210' 7". The Cats also earned a number of seconds to push their point total past all challengers.

Divotmen Win Tenth Straight

Bearcat divoters again garnered the Northwest Conference golf crown, extending Willamette's domination of the sport to ten years. Compiling an 8 win, 4 loss, 1 tie record in dual meets, the 'Cats eked out a narrow two stroke win over Whitman in the Conference meet at Walla Walla last May for the crown.

The Bob Prall-coached golf team was composed of sophomores Bob Woodle, Bob Elder and Mike Laughlin, and freshman Chuck Eison. With such a young team, the "turf-choppers" figure to be capable of defending the trophy which continues to collect Willamette dust.

Racketmen Lose Conference Title

Whitman College finally succeeded in dethroning a Les Sparks-coached tennis team, 8 wins to 7 in the May Conference meet at Walla Walla.

Getting the luck of the draw, three Whitman players drew byes in the first round, a decisive advantage in the 100 degree heat at Walla Walla. Senior Dale Daniel really earned his conference singles crown, the only individual to bring back a trophy for the Bearcat netmen.

The team composed of Daniel and freshmen John Mistkawi, Mike Wayland and Fred Fogg, won all conference dual meets leading up to the championship play.

Athletes' Feats

By BOB WOODLE, Sports Editor

Under the auspices of the above column head (we'll try to keep the fungus out of it) the sports staff kicks off a new year. We hope to give you straight and complete sports coverage on the Bearcat front, and then perhaps add a few tidbits in this column now and then. Any interesting sport shorts will gladly be accepted for possible use.

"LINFIELD IS LOADED," was a comment heard the other day, and truly they are. Coach Paul Durham's Wildcats garnered no less than 9 Shrine ball players, and if they should blend in with 30 returning lettermen, Linfield will be formidable indeed.

Willamette's Ken Ashley had quite a summer. He nabbed the NAIA national high jump crown at Sioux Falls, S. D., with a career high leap of 6' 9". His effort was good enough to defeat well known Tennessee A & I jumper Ralph Boston, who owns the world's broad jump record, as well as being a fine high jumper.

ASHLEY COMPETED against John Thomas in New York during the June National AAU meet, but he didn't fair quite so well. Upon his return he noted that he tried to copy Thomas' style of jumping closer to the bar on the takeoff, which resulted only in knocking the bar off on his way up. With another year of basketball and track remaining for 6' 8" Ken, Willamette may well expect big things from him.

Any and all basketball players are encouraged to make a few trips over to the maples before the season officially starts in November. A slate of inter-class teams will be drawn up soon to provide round ball players a chance for early season conditioning.

FRESHMEN ARE encouraged each year to support the traditionally strong Bearcat athletic teams. Support the teams this year by attending games, learning the yells and following the rally squad. Also, buy a program and learn the names of Willamette's star performers.

Interesting social note: Injured Bearcat footballers were seen resting under the trees around Doney and Lausanne during first day moving chores for freshmen women. We shall soon see what kind of therapeutic value our new women have.

Germans Express Anxiety

(Editor's note: In future issues the Collegian will run a series of articles and personal interviews concerning the German observers on campus, their opinions of Willamette, America, Berlin and Germany in general.)

"I think Nehru's recent speech on the Berlin situation was very unfortunate, especially his mentioning two Germanies instead of one, and I feel he was badly informed by the East Germans with regards to our German situation." Such was one of the many opinions given by 12 Germans who arrived on campus this week for a semester of study.

AFTER THEIR five months at Willamette, the 12, 11 men and 1 woman, will be in this country another 18 months to observe on a managerial basis the American way of business. Their stay here is sponsored by the Carl Duisberg-Gesellschaft Society, a non-profit organization whose goals are to arrange for visits abroad by young Germans who want additional professional training and experience through temporary employment in businesses abroad as trainees or visiting employees.

They arrived in New York three weeks ago, traveled across country by bus and spent the week before school in Portland. While at Willamette they will be housed in various men's living organizations and apartments.

INTEREST IS running keen in the group in regards to the coming German elections. Because of the Berlin crisis all Germans have a much higher interest in elections than before, according to statements

Choir Seeks New Voices

Auditions for the University choir conclude today in Fine Arts 145 W for new students and transfers. The schedule of hours for the tryouts is posted on bulletin boards in all dormitories. Returning students wishing to audition for the choir may see Don Gleckler, director, during registrations on Monday.

Vacancies exist in each section of the choir, with greater need in baritone and second tenor sections. Students with choral experience who would like to continue this activity will be welcomed, according to Gleckler.

Chapel, a pre-Christmas tour and the longer spring tour are highlights of the choir's year. Next spring's ten-day concert trip will be in Washington and British Columbia.

by the group. They feel the election will be interesting because "the opposition, after three unsuccessful attempts to win power from Konrad Adenauer has put forth a very good candidate in the person of Willy Brandt, Mayor of West Berlin. Brandt is much younger than Adenauer and is also a very strong anti-communist.

"All of us are a bit afraid of another war; Germans would like to save what we have and not lose anything we have gained," they added. "Instead of attacking with weapons we would like to attack with new ideas and proposals."

WITH REGARDS to the possibility of an internal revolt by the East German people they are afraid such an attempt would end only in "a lot of dead people . . . another Hungary."

All of the twelve have finished the American equivalent of junior college and some have master's degrees. They will have a weekly seminar with their advisor, Dr. Howard Bunkel, and will carry a normal class load this semester.

Students Glimpse New Dorms

For returning Willamette students and entering freshmen there are many new scenic views present on the Willamette campus. The new dormitory behind Baxter Hall is the main new entry to the campus this year. A tennis court and an intramural field are under construction behind the Fine Arts building. The kitchen in Baxter Hall has been completely changed, adding more modern conveniences for Saga food service.

THE NEW dormitory will house a total of 240 male students at a cost of $1,200,000, and is almost completed. In the northeast wing the Kappa Sigma fraternity will be found, and in the southeast section the overflow from the fraternities will be staying. The middle section, known as Matthews Hall, will house incoming freshmen, and the western wing will take care of independent men and will be called Belknap Hall. Construction problems have caused just a minor delay in the finishing touches on the new dorm, but these should be taken care of very soon. The financing of the new dorm was covered by government loans paying two-thirds of the cost and private gifts the other third.

Book Store Offers New Self-Service

The bookstore's new self service system is designed to save students much of the time formerly spent in the book line.

A catalog posted in the hall outside the store lists books according to year, department, course number, course title and publisher. In the store the books are placed on shelves in alphabetical order according to course, course number and professor's name. With registration card in hand the student finds his own books.

In order to make this self service system possible, the bookstore now includes the space formerly allotted to the Collegian and Wallulah offices in Waller Hall basement.

The bookstore is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Katharine Zitzewitz, the new manager, will be very happy to meet Willamette students and assist them. Others on the staff are Mrs. Eleanor Courcy, Mrs. Tressie Sanders and Mrs. Millie Barrington, full time clerks, and four student helpers, Judy Mills, Jerry Baker, Chuck Akers and Mike Foster.

Stats Instruction Uses Machines

Instruction in the elementary statistics class this fall will utilize teaching machines as an instruction supplement. "The course is ideally suited to learning methods," says Dr. Noel Kaestner, instructor for the course. Dr. Kaestner maintains, "The automated approach encourages more active participation, and it allows each student to progress at his own rate."

Rook Lid Future Dark

"As you know, right now the Lettermen's Club is defunct, but we are working on reinstatement and as soon as this is officially done we plan to have traditional frosh activities this fall, which will include the wearing of rook lids," states Stu Hall, president of the defunct club.

"We are in the process of writing a petition of reinstatement and ordering enough rook lids for freshman class members," Hall adds.

Whether Willamette frosh, 1961-62, would be wearing the traditional cardinal and gold "lids" was a popular subject of discussion last year after the Letterman's Club was disbanded.

"As of Tuesday of this week we have received no petition of reinstatement from the Letterman's Club and until this is received and the club is reactivated, there will be no rook lids," comments Dean Walter Blake.

News Office Clean-Ready

Early visitors to the Publications Building saw the Collegian and Wallulah staffs dodging desks and stumbling over mop buckets as moving arrangements were completed.

Due to a need for expansion of the bookstore, the Collegian and Wallulah offices and the darkroom were moved from their location in the basement of Waller Hall to the frame building near the Mill Stream in the southwest corner of the campus.

Any student interested in working on either publication or as a photographer should contact the editors: Marilyn Sparks, Collegian, and John Ryan, Wallulah. The phone number for the Publications building is EM 4-9092.

Yocom Alters Registration; Booklets Given Wednesday

"Saturday, September 16, will be registration day for freshman and transfer students," says R. A. Yocom, Willamette Registrar. "This year, these students were given their registration booklets on Wednesday, earlier than we have done in the past. By doing this, we hope the students will take more time in filling in the required information," Yocom adds.

ALL FACULTY members will be in the library Saturday and will at this time sign students' registration booklets. The hours will be from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 until 2 p.m.

After all the necessary signatures are acquired, students can pay their fees; this will be done in the second floor of Eaton Hall. The hours will be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

RETURNING students who have not pre-registered will register Monday, September 18, also in the library. The hours will be from 8 a.m. until 12 noon only. These students will also pay their fees in the second floor of Eaton Hall and this office will be open all day for that purpose.

Yocom also reminds students that a late registration fee of $5 will be required of any students who do not complete their registration by 5 p.m. September 18.

All schedule changes may be made free of charge until September 26. After this time there will be a $1 charge per drop or addition of a course.

Lots Ease Park Problem

The former parking problem here at Willamette seems to have been solved. A parking lot behind the new dorm, parking facilities between the tennis courts and Brown Field and the parking lot across the street from Lausanne Hall offer more chances for students and professors to find a parking place.

Only students living in the new dorm or Baxter Hall will be allowed to use the parking lot behind the new dorm.

Both professors and students will be able to use the parking lot across from Lausanne at any time after obtaining stickers from the business office. People using these facilities are asked not to park their cars in such a way that they block access to and from the parking lot.

Students again are reminded that there is no on-campus parking except for service vehicles.
