The Woman's College—Its Past And Future.

The editors of the "COLLEGE JOURNAL," having kindly opened its columns to me for representing the interests of this new undertaking, I gladly avail myself of the opportunity. And though a stranger in Oregon, as yet, in point of time, yet hope by this means to come close to the hearts of all my readers who believe in education, and who are looking on the efforts toward the best culture for woman in this age of development, with intelligent sympathy. There is no phase of our present civilization more striking than the wonderful awaking of woman to her present opportunity,—to receive, and to give! to be, and to do! to become strong, that she may be helpful! Witness the stretched-out hands of the women of the Occident to emancipate the women of the Orient from their slavery of soul and body! In an eloquent appeal, at a great philanthropic anniversary a year ago, a woman crowned with the hard won honors belonging to a successful profession, exclaimed, "O for more of woman's friendship for women!" And I find, as I believe, one response to that earnest cry, in the organized effort which finds expression in what is known as the "Woman's College," of Willamette University, under the care of noble, self-denying, cultured women, who are in the midst of many difficulties and discouragements, building, perhaps, more wisely than they have realized; for certainly it is much to say of a new enterprise, and especially one with so modest a financial basis, that it has been carried through the year true to all the original intentions of the projectors in its essentials, and is clear of debt. We know that the friends of the movement will be glad to know this, and also that the outlook for the coming year is promising of still better and larger results. Under the care of the kind and efficient matron, aided by the efforts of resident teachers and pupils, we expect the Woman's College to become more and more the realization of a home—that which one so often sadly misses in an institution of this kind. Special lectures and "talks" will form an interesting and prominent feature of the moral and cultural training intended, the benefits of which will be shared by all the young ladies of the University.

The ladies expect to fit up the studio soon, in view of the arrival of Miss Curtis, Principal of the Art Department, who comes to us with all the prestige of scholarship and finish that Syracuse University insures to her graduates. A fuller impulse is hoped to be given in music than ever before, under the inspiration and teaching of the accomplished instructors in this department.

What, then, is needed? More friends and more money. The work was begun, and has been carried on thus far, by voluntary subscriptions, and it is good proof of the energy and liberality of its friends that this year of beginning shows, at its close so much of "fair accomplishment;" but the demand of the hour is, that the undertaking be placed upon a firm financial basis, subject to no fluctuating tides of varying regard. We want an adequate Endowment Fund; and believe that plans can be matured that will secure this, at no distant day.

As for my own share in the work to be done, it would, perhaps become me to let time speak. But this much I will say: as I have lingered under the silvery branches of the trees that ever wave kindly welcome at the entrance of this stately old mansion, hallowed in the history of Salem, and now consecrated to the holiest purposes,—deeper and stronger than ever have struck the roots of that love and faith for the ultimate uplifting of all Humanity which cries daily, "Thy kingdom come!" and hears undoubtingly, the answer, "Be of good cheer! I have overcome the world."

WOMAN'S COLLEGE, July 12, 1881.

ELIZABETH W. ANDREW.

EDITORIAL.

This number completes volume one, of the Journal and with its completion there will be a change in its management. Mr. Harrison who has so successfully conducted the paper during the past year, from necessity will remain out of school and Prof. W. S. Arnold will succeed him as publisher.

The success of the Journal has been such as to justify the following changes which will be made in the next, or Sept. issue, viz:—Better paper and smaller type which will give the Journal a more compact and finished appearance. Ten numbers, or one for every month except July and August, will constitute Vol. two, and more space will be given to local and general College news. Several good college papers are received in exchange for the Journal, aside from many of our best county papers; and honest effort will be made to make the Journal worthy, not only of the continuance of those exchanges, but also of the addition of many others. We thank all who have aided us by their subscriptions, by their contributions and support in various ways during the past year, and ask their continued support for the one to come.

PERSONAL.

Prof. and Mrs. E. A. Andrew arrived June the 23rd, and express themselves as highly pleased with the commencement exercises, the climate and Oregon generally. Mrs. Andrew will act as Dean of the Woman's College the coming year.

At the annual meeting of the trustees Prof. T. C. Jory, who has served as instructor in mathematics during the last half year was elected a regular professor.

Miss Harriet Curtis, the professor elect of art, was unable to be presented commencement, but will be here in time to take charge of her department by Sept., the 5th.

I hereby extend my heartiest thanks to the Freshmen for their beautiful serenade on commencement evening, I trust that their voices may ever be in as true harmony as when they sang "Good night to all" and shall be pleased to have them repeat it in "The sweet By and By." W. S. A.

The faculty desire to thank Mrs. C. S. Woodworth for the excellent reports of the commencement exercises furnished the Statesman by her.

Prof. Arnold left on the 6th for an extended trip to the East. During the next six weeks he expects to visit San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Omaha and Chicago. While in these cities he will thoroughly investigate everything relating to Business Colleges, and will give his students, next year, the benefit of anything and everything that is new or valuable in the line of a business training. He intends to travel nearly 7000 miles, and will keep a sharp lookout for specimens of mineralogy and botany for the museum.

Prof. Van Scoy will take a trip to Tillamook, Mt. Hood, and various other points during vacation. He will be present at conference in East Portland, and will look after the general interests of the University wherever he goes.

UMPQUA ACADEMY.

The academic year which closed on the 17th instant has been unusually prosperous one. The honors of the Institution were conferred upon Miss Anna Cooper, a most promising young lady, who had completed the prescribed course of study. The closing exercises were rendered more than usually interesting by two most excellent lectures delivered by Bro. Carol. C. Stratton, D. D., on the evenings of the 16th and 17th. The subject of the first was "Eden Restored;" and of the second "The Practical Advantages of Higher Education." Both lectures were highly appreciated by large and intelligent audiences.

We most heartily recommend this school to the citizens of Douglas county as a safe place to send their children, as Prof. H. L. Benson and his assistants, form an able corps of instructors. The patronage the school has received since they took charge of it shows they are appreciated. There were enrolled during the year, ninety-one, and the average attendance for the year was sixty-five. The prospects are very favorable for a large increase next year. The faculty for next year stands as follows:

Principal, H. L. Benson, A. M. Vice Principal, F. W. Benson. Teacher of Primary Department, Miss Emma E. Benson. Director of Musical Department, F. W. Benson.

The next term will begin September fifth.

La Creole Academy.

The first graduating exercises of this Institution took place the 17, of June. The Society exercises the evening previous were very creditable. Miss Nellie Collins, and Miss Allie Richmond finished the course of study, and received the honors of the school. Their essays were very excellent, and delivered in a fine manner.

Miss Witten, the music teacher, evinced the culture she has given by the music rendered on this occasion. In the evening Prof. Van Scoy delivered the annual address to the students in a crowded house at the M. E. Church. Prof. Randell and his assistants may well be congratulated on the success they have had in this school.

The people seem to be taking more interest in the cause of education, and some important improvements are contemplated on and about the building.

TO SHERIDAN.

Early on Saturday morning the 2, of July, in company with Rev. F. P. Tower, the writer left Salem for Sheridan and thence for Tillamook. The morning was fresh and bracing, and we drove into the face of an ocean breeze. The wheat fields, everywhere spread over hills and valleys, rolled in waves before the wind. Shadows of clouds moved over the scene. After traveling four miles, the summit of the Polk county hills was reached directly south of Spring Valley, which lay at our feet a perfect map. Here and there a clump of oaks, and through the middle flows a brook. These give variety and beauty. On we went—passed through the southern border of this beautiful plain, then up the hills, when, at once, stretched away in the distance for fifteen miles the Yamhill Valley. On the bosom of the valley amid the green fields at a few miles interval from one another, are little villages whose white houses clustered together, shine in the bright sunlight. Immediately below us, and behind is Zena; as near and in front, Bethel, and beyond two miles on the west side, McCoy, and still farther, Perry, dale, situated on the Narrow Gauge. Ralston, Sheridan, Willamina and to the right at the foot of the hills, Amity, all of which, and the before mentioned are located in a valley, not more than fifteen miles wide.

Sheridan is the seat of Sheridan Academy, a frame structure, two stories and about 36x60 ft. It is a new building, and in charge of Prof. J. H. Skidmore. He has given a touch of life to every school with which he has been connected. One young man finished an academy's course in this school the past year, and expects to enter the Willamette University next year. We learn that Rev. Mr. Adams of Salem has had much to do in founding the Sheridan Academy. It was a noble enterprise, and is located in a most beautiful and fertile part of the valley. Prof. Skidmore and the students have planted many fine maples about the Academy; and other improvements which have been made, give a new and more beautiful appearance to the surroundings. We were guests of Rev. Mr. Butt, of Mr. Foster and the Professor. Miss Minnie Butt is one of the teachers. She is also preparing for the University. Thus may these academies with courses correlated to that in the University, become a great aid in giving students and influence to the college. Sheridan expects soon to have a large flour and lumber mill, which will give thrift and business character to this town.

Rev Mr. Tower held Quarterly meeting on Saturday and Sunday, in which, notwithstanding many were away at the Coast, State Fair and at Portland, was manifested much interest.

The Entertainment.

A larger audience than usually greets a company of amateurs, gathered on Monday evening at the Opera House, to witness the drama of "Cast Upon the World," given by the Alka and Athenaeum Societies.

THE CENTURY CO.

(Formerly SCRIBNER &amp; Co.)

The name of the corporation formerly known as Scribner & Co. (Publishers of Scribner's Monthly, St. Nicholas, "The Spiritual Songs Series" of hymn and tune books, "Songs for the Sanctuary," etc.) has now been changed to The Century Co. The title of Scribner's Monthly will become The Century, with the next volume. St. Nicholas is slightly changed as to its sub-title, being now St. Nicholas, an Illustrated Magazine for Young Folks. The July numbers of these magazines are the first to bear the new corporate imprint.

Scribner for July contains a paper of special and timely interest, "The People's problem," in which the writer takes the ground that the time has come for the people of this country to exercise their right to "alter the government."

Besides a wealth of literary and illustrated matter, there are also, in this number, the concluding chapters of two brilliant novelettes, "Madame Delphine," by George W. Cable (begun in May), and "A Fearful Responsibility," by W. D. Howells (begun in June). The May, June and July numbers, containing these two complete novelettes, are offered for $1.00.

On the 25th of June will be published the July number of St. Nicholas, containing many brilliant features for vacation-time, including chapters of two capital serials for boys by ROSSITER JOHNSON and W. O. STODDARD; "How to Stock and Keep a Fresh-Water Aquarium"; a full-page portrait of Dongremont, the boy-violinist; "Stories of Art and Artists," with some exquisite reproductions, etc.

Price of Scribner's Monthly, $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. St. Nicholas, 3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Sold everywhere.

Commencement Day.

A sunny, cloudless sky and a gentle breeze blowing, made a day of perfect beauty for the last and most important day of commencement week. The exercises of the morning opened with an instrumental duet by Misses Frankie Jones and Mary E. Woodworth, whose musical status and abilities are too well known to require further comment than that they rendered the difficult selection with taste and skill.

After prayer by Bishop Haven, Miss Laura Adams executed a solo with the skill and delicacy of touch that characterized her style, bringing out the tones of the melody with exquisite taste.

Mistresses of the White House was the subject of Miss Mattie A. Jory's essay, who commenced with the importance of the position of the "first lady of the land," giving a sketch of Martha Washington, whose sweetness of disposition and loveliness of character left a shining example of the highest type of womanhood. Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Madison, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Lincoln, each in turn were mentioned with their mental and social qualities, making a list of fair and noble women of which our nation may well be proud; to our own day and period belong Mrs. Hayes, whom many of us have met, and whom the world respects and esteems as a lady of fearless championship for the right, and ever foremost in works of benevolence and reform. Mrs. Garfield has yet her record to make as "mistress of the White House," the result of which no one doubts, her accomplishments eminently fitting her for the high position.

Miss Isabel W. Prescott, those "Untrodden Paths," as her theme, commencing with the one leading from the Garden of Eden, touching upon the passage of the children of Israel toward the promised land, and the pathless forests upon which the early pilgrims entered after reaching the shores of the new world; comparisons were made to the paths of knowledge, science and art: possibilities can only become realities by following the paths marked out. The essay was full of good thoughts, and clothed in the best of language.

Midnight Past, Morning Dawns, was the well chosen subject of S. A. Randle's oration. The rainbow of promise, the burning bush, were neat types of light, the ladder reaching from earth to heaven, the darkness of the earth dispelled by divine command, all showed a careful study of Scripture, both old and new; darkness disappeared and light appeared, when arose the Star of Bethlehem.

Miss Nettie Piper sang a "cuckoo" song, Miss Adams accompanying. Miss Piper sustained fully her reputation of our leading vocalist. Others among us may possess voices of equally good quality, but cultivation has made the best of a voice naturally sweet and of unusual compass.

The Master's oration was delivered by Miss Mary E. Strong, of class 78. The pursuit of knowledge is the only legitimate pursuit of man, of which schools are the result. In early times a learned man drew about him adherents, these forming themselves into faculties who established colleges and universities, these having two objects, mental discipline and the imparting of instruction. The title of "bachelor" was first conferred by the Conservatory of Paris. In our country it appears to be merely honorary. Her closing tribute to the Alma Mater was clothed in most beautiful language. Miss Strong has the advantage of a well modulated voice, a perfect enunciation and a commitment of her oration to memory that is the chief charm of public speaking. The oration was a masterpiece, interweaving thoughts in the choicest and most finished language, a mere abstract of which fails to do justice.

Miss Leona Willis sang a solo in sweet voice and correct taste, after which the degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred by President Van Scoy upon Miss Mattie E. Jory, Miss Isabel M. Prescott and S. A. Randle. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon T. C. Jory, Miss Mary E. Strong and Charles A. Johns.

Bishop Haven made a few remarks, embracing his acquaintance with different institutions at the east, saying he had never heard a better master's oration than the one delivered by Miss Strong to-day. It contained thoughts he had never heard advanced before. He prophesied a great future for the Willamette University.

A solo by Mr. G. H. Nickerson, whose singing we always enjoy, and, benediction by Rev. Mr. Starr closed the exercises of commencement week.

A. W. KINNEY.

Myself and wife jointly weigh 490 pounds, and for many years I have endeavored to find a mattress that could be relied upon for durability. I have had in use the EDES & DURKEE'S Woven Wire Mattress for some time, and can say that I consider them the easiest, cleanest and most durable and comfortable bed that we have ever had in the house.
