

ALUMNI BOOK COMING OUT ON MAY FIRST

Tardy Attention to Be Paid to Alumni and to High School Seniors

TRUSTEES OFFER FINANCES

Bulk of Work to Be Accomplished During Spring Vacation; Staff is Rushed

Willamette's alumni magazine will be published in time to bring the alumni of the university and the seniors of Oregon high schools to the May Day Festival and Junior Week End. One thousand copies will be distributed.

This is the first attempt of the University to advertise itself outside of the Bulletin, and it will not be long until Willamette will find out whether or not "it pays to advertise." No doubt this first attempt will only be a beginning in accomplishing the results desired, but it will be a potential beginning if the ambitions and dreams of the staff are to be counted for anything.

The work of making up the contents of the pamphlet are outlined and distributed among the staff members as follows: Athletics are covered by George Atkinson; homecoming, drama, and tournament by Cornelius Bateson; Willamette history, glee clubs, and band are supervised by Wayne Crow; Alumni, May Day, and Commencement are assigned to Mary Gilbert; the freshmen glee, all publications and forensics are under the jurisdiction of John Helzel; and fraternities and sororities are in the hands of Wm. McAllister. The curriculum which will practically summarize the bulletin is being handled by Clarence Phillips, and all societies, literary, honor, social, departmental, religious, and discussion will be written up by Sadie Jo Read.

So far neither the cover nor the name of the publication has been selected, but the general wishes of the staff point to a warm, grayish-tan with contrasting ink or possibly a cardinal and gold combination. In either case a Willamette seal will be used on the cover.

Willamette has been in need of an advertising instrument such as this for years. In the past the alumni, illustrious and otherwise, have all been graduated and promptly forgotten. No more recognition was taken of their former services than of their former depredations. Efforts have been made in earnest.

CALIFORNIANS ARE COAST CHAMPIONS

Oregon Aggies Defeated in the Championship Series by Bear Team

O. A. C. won the right to vie with California for the championship of the Pacific Coast by defeating the fast University of Oregon team in a hotly contested, three game series. The first game, played at Corvallis, was won by the Aggies, the second, played at Eugene was won by the university boys. This necessitated the playing of a third and decisive game on the Willamette gym floor, and this last game culminated in a one point victory for the Aggies.

The next step taken by the Aggies to gain further laurels was to play two out of three series with the University of California quintet for the coast championship.

In the first game, it seemed as though the Aggies were going to have the games their own way, for they started the series by winning the first game, 32 to 25—a seven-point margin. This apparently meant that the Aggies were going to have a comparatively easy time in downing the California aggregation. But the California boys startled the Aggie boosters by romping away with the second game to the tune of 33 to 19. What had happened between the first game and the second? Something must be wrong to make such a change in the scoring of the two teams.

There are two explanations. First, the Bears were much heavier than the

MISSIONARY LEADER LIKES W. U. TEACHERS

As further proof that Willamette alumni are making good, literally all over the world, comes a letter from E. J. Winans in far away China. Mr. Winans is principal at the Hui Wen Middle School of Tientsin, China.

The school, established and conducted by the Methodist Church, offers a twelve year course, which starts with the first grade and continues through four years of high school. English is taught from the fifth grade on, and it is in this subject especially that the school finds itself inadequately supplied with teachers. As a result Mr. Winans, who is a member of the Willamette class of 1907, has appealed to Willamette to supply him with the needed teachers. As a result, Miss Esther J. McCracken, member of the Willamette class of 1923, has already gone to Tientsin and is at the present time assisting in the teaching of English under Mr. Winans. And Miss Thelma Mills, also a member of the Willamette class of 1923, will sail for China some time in the fall to add her name to the Faculty of the Tientsin Hui Wen Middle School.

This fact of Willamette's having three of its alumni engaged in teaching in one Chinese school brings a quite emphatic realization to the campus that Willamette alumni are really helping in world services that are of such a nature as to make for the internationalism which is the dream of all civilized peoples.

Mr. Winans is strong for Willamette and writes:

"I have been thinking much of Willamette and wishing that we could establish some permanent relationship between my old college and my field of activity in China. We feel that what Willamette can do is to help us supply the teaching staff. We have found that much English can be taught by teachers who do not know the Chinese language, and incidentally, they can be learning the language with the idea of becoming permanent teachers." ## PHI KAPPA PI TRY MOVING

Change to House on 14th Street—Will Move Again in the Spring

The Phi Kappa Pi fraternity have just completed their participation in one of the most popular of our door sports—that of house moving. Over the week end the fraternity changed residences from the old 1020 Center street residence to a temporary residence on Fourteenth street.

One of the features of the movement was the part taken by St. Louis Si procured for himself a bicycle and placing all of his extra stuffs on his back and stuffing his extra socks in an overlarge pair of shoes, wrapped his famous bass horn around his frame, mounted the bicycle and proceeded to gravely peddle his way to the new house.

The moving started Friday morning and was carried on continuously till the work was completed Saturday evening.

STATISTIC HOUNDS DISCOVER LONG- SOUGHT 700TH

Another statistic hound has been let loose on the Willamette campus, and he has discovered the seven hundredth student. Yea, verily, the seven hundredth student has really been found, whereat there is great rejoicing in the Willamette student body.

And the why and the wherefore is this. For several years our enrollment has been hovering between the six and seven hundred mark. Last year it was 698. But now the missing one has been discovered—so says Dean Alden—and all in gladness in the hearts of the cataloguers and in the souls of the 699—excuse me, I was forgetting that it is now 700.

The only medical school in the world for women is the Woman's Medical college of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The awards and dispensaries of the Philadelphia general hospital are available for clinical work. Faculty members of the college are both men and women.

LEE CHAPIN TAKES SECOND IN STATE ORATORICAL MEET

Eugene Bible University Takes First Place—Pacific College Third

At the State Oratorical contest held in Monmouth Friday, March 13, Leland Chapin—representing Willamette University with his oration entitled "The Greater Justice"—was awarded second place. He was defeated for first place by Earl Ladd, a student at the Eugene Bible School, whose subject was entitled "Beyond the Fog." Competition between the two men was comparatively close, for of the possible 300 points, Mr. Chapin received 285 points against Mr. Ladd's 295 points.

The winner of the 1925 contest was awarded a silver statue of Abraham Lincoln, while Leland Chapin will be awarded the local Keyes Prize consisting of $15 offered for participation in variety oratory.

There were nine student orators who took part in the annual contest last Friday, and their order of wards was as follows: Eugene Bible University, first; W. U. second; Pacific College, third; P. U. fourth; M. of O. fifth; Normal School, sixth; O. A. C. seventh; Linfield, eighth; Albany, ninth.

Rev. Parker of the First M. E. Church of Portland, Rev. Long of the Salem First Presbyterian Church, and Judge McBride of the Supreme Court acted as judges of the contest.

Warren Day was elected vice-president of the State Oratorical Association at the meeting preceding the annual oratorical contest. Robert Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural College was elected president of the association while the secretary and the treasurer were chosen from Monmouth and Linfield respectively.

The morning was devoted to a meeting of the executive council which determined the policy of the association and the immediate business. The afternoon session was then concerned with the election of officers and other matters of business. The class delegates from Willamette University were as follows: Seniors, Rawson Chapin and Percy Hammond; Juniors, Hugh Bell and Ross Anderson; Sophomores, Joel Berreman and Wayne Crow; Freshmen, William McAllister and Gladys Amburn.

McCormick Speaks About Meaning of Being a Wesleyan

Dr. J. D. McCormick gave an address on "What It Means to Be a Wesleyan" at the meeting of the Willamette Wesleyans last Wednesday. He laid great stress on the fact that the organization was founded as a fellowship, a simple and sincere fellowship. Personal development is the main aim of the organization, the aim also is to help to get a true perspective between studies and activities. Finally, he said the great aim is growth, development and realization.

The thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of Washington State college, will be celebrated March 28, by a special assembly and a Founders' day radio program. Alumni all over the United States will hold reunions March 28 and will listen in on the radio program.

DEBATERS LEAVE ON LONG CIRCUIT THRU THE WEST

Redding and Berreman Chosen To Uphold Negative For Willamette

Joel Berreman and Charles Redding, composing Willamette's Men's Debate team, left Tuesday evening, March 17, for an extensive debate tour. The team will have their first debate with the College of the Pacific at Stockton, California, March 19.

Berreman comes from Philomath, Oregon, where he attended Philomath College for a year. Here he won the Weatherford Gold Medal for debating. Mr. Berreman represented Willamette against West Virginia and O. A. C. Mr. Redding comes from Iowa. He has had four years work on high school teams of championship fame. He was a member of the team debating West Virginia.

On this tour the team will meet the University of Denver, at Denver, Colorado, in the only open forum, no-decision debate of the trip. Willamette will debate as a negative team.

This team will debate University of Southern California, March 24, upholding the affirmative side. March 25, the team meets University of Redlands, at Redlands, California. Willamette will debate on the negative. On March 30, as a negative team, Willamette will meet University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyoming, College of Idaho, Caldwell, Idaho, meets Willamette on April 2. Willamette will argue the negative.

The final debate of the trip is the debate with C. P. S., April 4. Willamette as a negative, will meet C. P. S.'s affirmative. The same night C. P. S. will have their negative team. (Continued on page 4)

CAMPUS IS BARELY CHEATED OF THRILL

WALLER ALMOST BURNS

Firemen and Students Enjoy Pseudo Conflagration to the Utmost

Students hastening—on account of weather—across the campus sniff, and look and point. Others look and shout. Doctor Franklin hurrying from Eaton Hall with both hands full of papers freezes in horror while the breeze snatches the papers from his nerveless fingers—then recovers, and leaving the papers to the mercy of the elements, dashes back. A wall rises down the street and up dash hook and ladder, chemical, and big pump. Students pour from doorways, and line all the windows of Science and Music Halls. Gallant young gentlemen dash about seeking to rescue damsels in distress—or perfect safety. State Law Library and City and Klumball and all the other haunts empty forth their occupants. The gallant firemen swarm nimbly to the roof accompanied by a score of willing volunteers—while over it hangs a heavy pall of smoke, reinforced every moment. On top of it all, the Victory Bell booms, once, twice—and is silent.

And what may be the cause of it all? No red holocaust of flame is to be seen, no belated maiden shrieks while the licking tongues creep nearer—indeed there is a marked air of levity in the air. Quantities of sarcastic advice are lavished on the enthusiastic volunteers and even the gallant firemen. Oh, Music Hall is burning at last! No, gentle reader, not even that. In fact that was just the trouble. Nothing was burning—nothing tangible, that is. In one last effort to get the library up to the standard outdoor temperature of the hour, Dean Clark exulted himself and set the chimney afire. So black was the ensuing smoke and so low did it hang that it looked for the moment as though Waller Hall were burning for the third or fourth time in its eventful history. Jubilantly the plumber who had been working on the radiator remarked, "Well, I got em hot once, anyway."

But the firemen put out the fire in the chimney and the fire soiled, and the few survivors of the prevalent epidemic of the semi-flo and general lassitude, went home to their suffering fellows, disappointed of even a thrill. Four more days till vacation!

MISS FRANCES GILL PRESENTS VERSE

On last Thursday evening Frances Gill, Portland poet presented her verse to an appreciative audience in Waller Hall. Miss Gill came as the guest of the University. Her program was divided into three groups, the first included a number of western poems, the second, short characteristic lyrics, the third, a collection of children's verse and the Sonnet Sequence on Divorce.

During the first intermission Eugene Savage gave piano numbers, Campbell Tipton's Memory, and Torgensen's "To the Rising Sun." Elizabeth Silver sang "There are Fairies in the Bottom of our Garden" during the second intermission, and thereby delightfully introduced Miss Gill's children's verse which is characterized by fairness of all sorts.

The audience showed its admiration by ripples of applause and laughter throughout the evening; never for a moment did it lose interest. The university is to be congratulated on having the privilege of presenting Miss Gill.

TOURNAMENT FOR COAST TITLE AT SALEM IS LIKELY

Rathbun Has Acceptances From Yakima, Oakland, Cal., and Salem

Whether Willamette will have the interstate tournament which Coach Rathbun has been highly instrumental in planning, will depend largely on whether or not the Idaho championship team will accept the invitation to compete in the tournament. Rupert High School won the championship of Idaho, from Moscow Monday night, and will be invited to come to Salem to vie for Pacific coast and northwest honors.

Yakima has definitely won the High School basketball championship of Washington by defeating all comers, including the fast Clark High outfit from Seattle.

The interstate tournament was originally planned to be merely a northwest affair, taking in Washington, Idaho, and Oregon, and with that impression in mind, the coach from Yakima High, in a long telephone conversation with Coach Rathbun, indicated that his team would not care to compete if only three states were represented. He gave as his reason the fact that his team is planning on journeying to the national tournament to be held in Chicago, April 1, 2, 3, and 4, and that he must have his team in good shape for the meet. He implied, however, that if California should enter its championship team, and if the dates of the tourney should be such as to allow him ample time for the Chicago trip, that his team would in all probability play here in the interstate tournament.

In California high school basketball conditions are in about the same fix as they were in Oregon before the organization of the present state board of athletics. There are several organizations in the Sunshine state, and they do not get together to play out actually to see which team shall be declared champion of the state. It is generally conceded throughout the state by those who are in a position to judge that the logical team to represent California in a coast meet is Piedmont high school of Oakland. As no team has protested against Piedmont's right to represent the state, it is safe to say that it is, indeed, the logical team. And Coach Rathbun is in receipt of a telegram from Sam Moyer, athletic director of Piedmont high, accepting Willamette's invitation to take part in a Coast and Northwest meet. So, if the tournament materializes, California's participation is assured.

With California definitely in it, then, all indications are that Yakima of Washington will participate. So the whole question of whether or not Willamette will stage the interstate tournament hinges now upon the acceptance or rejection of Willamette's invitation to the winning team in Idaho. If that team accepts, then the tournament is practically assured. It is perhaps needless to say that Salem will play in the tournament.

The only objection which has been raised to this tournament to be held in the Willamette gymnasium is that the dates might interfere with the national tournament which will be held in Chicago the first part of April. In order to cope with this objection, the interstate tournament will be called for the first of next vacation!

WEST VIRGINIA LEADER WRITES

Professor Rahschopt is in possession of a letter from Hugo Blumenberg, one of the members of the West Virginia debating team which lost to Willamette. Mr. Blumenberg thanked the forensics council of Willamette for the courtesies and pleasures extended to them during their stay in Salem. West Virginia sent its sincerest wishes for a successful debating trip for Willamette.

The West Virginia team traveled nineteen days, covering 8,500 miles, and visiting 21 states. The tour represents one of the most strenuous undertakings in the history of American college forensics. The route lay across the northern states to Tacoma, down the Pacific Coast to San Francisco, and back to West Virginia through the southern states.

One of the most spectacular debates West Virginia participated in was that with Washburn College in Topeka, Kansas. The letter states: "This climatic clash took place in the House Chamber of the Kansas State Capitol building, with Governor Ben S. Paulsen of Kansas, presiding. Since the legislature was in session, many of its members attended the contest. This novel setting had its effect on the speakers, for the result was the most fiery and hotly contested debate of the entire tour. At the conclusion of the argument, Chief Justice Wm. A. Johnston, and Associate Justices John Marshall, and J. S. Dawson of the Kansas State Supreme court rendered their decision in favor of the West Virginians. At Willamette University the team was greeted with their own fight song, "Hail, West Virginia," sung by the Girls' Glee Club."

MISS GRACE LOUCKS MEETS Y. W. GROUPS

In the interests of trained leadership for student discussion groups, Miss Grace Loucks, National Summer Conference Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., spent three days of last week on the campus. Her object was two-fold, and in pursuance of it, she met for an hour each evening with a selected group, speaking on the methods and purposes of the Discussion Plan. The hour following this class, Miss Loucks held a formal discussion group whose chief subject was "A Real Student Religion—Its Implications and Complications."

In the present transition of student thought such leaders as Miss Loucks bear an important part in guiding that thought along constructive, international lines.

SALEM HI WINS DECIDING GAME FROM FRANKLIN

Scallon, Franklin, However is Rated as Best Player of the Series

SCORE FINAL GAME 20-12

Medford Fails to Show Up to Advance Report—All State Team Selected

The Oregon State basketball tournament held here last week end was won by Salem High by defeating Franklin High of Portland in the final game by the score of 20-12. Salem and Franklin played in four games each, including the final game. The four teams that reached the semi-finals were Salem, Franklin, McMinnville, and Eugene.

In the first two games of the series played Thursday evening, Salem scored an easy win over Willows by the score of 25-10 and Franklin upset the dope by swamping the Medford team, winners of last year, to the tune of 32-16. This left 8 teams as possible contenders for the title, Salem, Franklin, McMinnville, Arago, Astoria, Eugene, Hood River, and Pendleton.

The elimination contests were started again Friday afternoon. In the first game Salem eliminated Astoria by the score of 22-12. McMinnville followed Salem by taking in Arago by the decisive score of 37-16. Friday evening Eugene scored an easy win over Hood River by the most one-sided score of the tournament, 39-6. Franklin managed to nose out Pendleton in the following game by the score of 18-13. Pendleton gave the Portland team a good run for their victory, however, leading the Portland men by 5 points at the end of the third period.

In the first of the semi-final games Salem had an easy win over McMinnville by the score of 33-12. The Salem team led McMinnville consistently throughout the entire contest and held them scoreless during the desperate efforts of Miller and Green, McMinnville forwards, to score. The scores at the ends of the periods were as follows: first quarter, 9-8, second quarter, 15-10, third quarter 23-10, and final score, 39-12. By winning this game Salem had the privilege of playing in the final game.

The second of the semi-final

DATE IS FIXED FOR ICEBOUND TO SHOW

Theta Alpha Phi Play is to Be Ready April 21

"Icebound," a play written by Owen Davis, will be presented by the dramatic department of Willamette, April 21. Prof. Rahschopt is coaching the play. Wallace Griffith will act as manager.

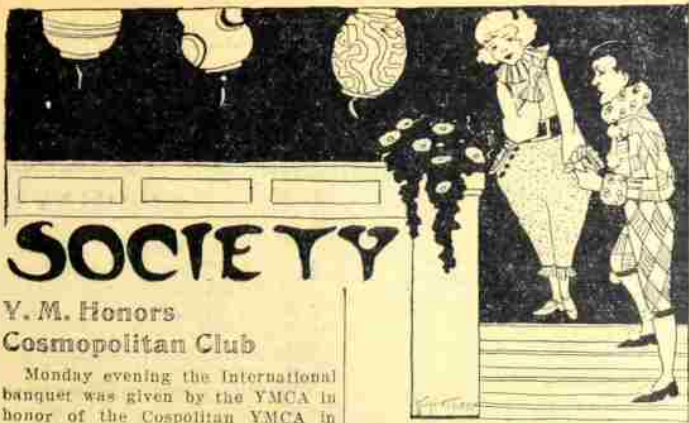

Realizing that the first interest of a dramatic fraternity is the development of dramatics and dramatic talent in the University as a whole, Theta Alpha Phi has invited several students of the Public Speaking Department who are not members of the fraternity to participate in this production as guest players. It is hoped that this policy will prove successful that it will be continued in the future, making Theta Alpha Phi the center of dramatic work.

The cast for the play is:
Henry Jordan ..... Walter Welton
Emma, his wife ..... Marion Wyatt

SOCIETY

Y. M. Honors Cosmopolitan Club

Monday evening the International banquet was given by the YMCA in honor of the Cosmopolitan YMCA in table decorations were very appropriate for the occasion. The evening was very much gladdened by the honorable presence of both Miss Sumie Yama-moto of Linfield and Professor Laughlin of W. U. All who were present gave a short talk on the personal impressions and interpretations of American life and those of the other countries represented other than U.S.A. From the many frank speeches, there were many points worthy of consideration. One voiced the thought that the American people can be divided into three groups: the enlightened, the middle, and the ignorant. General enlightenment of humanity has set the first group practically free from racial prejudice and pre-conceived biases; the second group is quite friendly, if the strangers make themselves approachable; but the last group is hopeless, as those who belong to this group are well-satisfied in seeing the infinite features of the skies by looking into a well.

The campus life of W. U. was thought to be satisfactory and the students who came from other lands are grateful for this. Perhaps, the pressed-for-time activities on the American campus and the business-like attitude of the people outside of the campus are responsible for the indifference existing among the students who have no claim in the famous "Nordic Complex."

Another thing worthy of thought is that the foreign students on American camp do not expect the superficial kindnesses from the natives, nor do they wish to be patronized. The skin-deep goodness is quite annoying to the students who come from the lands where there is a deeper sense of fellowship.

Covers were laid for twenty-five guests at the banquet.

Miss Gill Is Honor Guest

Juanita Henry and Ann Silver were hostesses for a delightful tea at the Alpha Phi Alpha house in honor of Miss Frances Gill, the poetess. The table was centered by a lovely bowl of daffodils, and the color scheme was carried out by the yellow candles.

Juanita Henry presided over the tea table.

Merry Party Is Held

The home of Marguerite De Vore on the Pacific Highway was the scene of a jolly St. Patrick's Day party. Gay green streamers and verdant shamrocks were vivid reminders of the Irish holiday. During the evening the group played rook, popped corn, and later partook of delicious refreshments.

The wearers of the Green were Hazel McMorris, Kathryn Rossman, Grace Jasper, Clara Jasper, Ian Melver, Herbert Jasper, William Patty, and Bill Tweedle.

Jennelle Vandevort Entertains Beta Chi

One of the most attractive affairs of the week was the dinner party for which Jennelle Vandevort was hostess. The guests were all sorority sisters of Miss Vandevort. The dining room was colorful with greenery, while the table was appropriately centered with a charming St. Patrick's Day motif, which was carried out in the dainty napkins and favors. After the delicious dinner, served cafeteria fashion, the guests gathered around and delved into Jennelle's hothead.

Clonians Have an Interesting Program

An original program was planned for the Clonian meeting last week. A very interesting original composition, written by Lorraine Fletcher, was read by Mary Keefer. Thunelda Koehler ended the program with a charming piano solo.

Chrestos Honor National Heroes

The last weekly meeting of the Chrestomathean Literary Society was given over to a patriotic program in recognition of the birthdays of our two great statesmen.

Glady's Fletcher spoke on "Love of the King in Old England." A reading, "America for Me" by Van Dyke was given by Mary Martin. Nora Peterson gave a short sketch on "Our Patriotism Compared with Russia's." Betty Siddall played "The Stars and Stripes Forever" as a closing number.

At the annual banquet of the Northwest Poetry society, Friday evening at the Hazelwood in Portland, Mrs. Viola Price Franklin was duly installed as third vice-president of the society.

Leslie Novitt has been confined at the Deaconess Hospital since Sunday with a very severe attack of the flu.

Polly Bartholomew has been at her home in Portland since Thursday where she has been suffering from an attack of la grippe.

Dorothy Owens was called to Portland, Sunday, to attend the funeral of her uncle.

Lola Taylor has become a house member of Beta Chi for the week.
