

RALPH BARNES, famous war correspondent and Willamette alumnus, who was killed in the crash of a British bomber in Yugoslavia.

"Great Reporter . . . Dearly Loved Friend"

Students and faculty of Willamette are this week mourning the death of Ralph Waldo Barnes, distinguished alumnus of Willamette and head of the London bureau of the New York Herald-Tribune. Barnes was killed Nov. 18 when the British bomber in which he was a passenger crashed in the southern mountains of Yugoslavia, killing all occupants.

The plane is believed to have been engaged in a raid upon Italian forces in Greece and, upon crossing the border over Yugoslavia, to have drawn the fire from Yugoslavian batteries, acting under international law in an attempt to protect that country's neutrality. The bomber was fully loaded, and in the crash the explosion of its bombs scattered debris for hundreds of feet.

Ralph Barnes was born in Salem, June 14, 1899, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes of this city. In 1918 he was graduated from Salem high school and in 1922 received his B.A. degree from Willamette university. While at Willamette he was active in sports and held a number of important offices in campus organizations.

Barnes received his M.A. degree from Harvard in 1924, and was married in the same year to Esther Paroungian, also a Willamette graduate. When he took his foreign assignment his wife accompanied him. Two daughters were born to the couple while they were abroad, Joan, aged 11, in Rome, and Suzanne, aged 10, in Paris.

Mrs. Barnes and the children are now living in Salem with Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes. They returned from London in August. Following completion of graduate work at Harvard, Barnes accepted a position with the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, and in 1926 joined the staff of the Herald-Tribune. His first service on the foreign staff was in Paris; then he was transferred to Rome and, later, to Moscow, USSR. Here he remained for four and a half years, after which time he was stationed in Berlin.

In 1939 Barnes was appointed chief of his paper's London bureau. In March, 1939, he was ordered to Berlin to reorganize the Herald-Tribune bureau there. From here he expected to return to London, but his plans were changed by the German invasion of the low countries. He remained to cover this development.

In September word was received that in retaliation for the frankness of his articles, German authorities had ordered Barnes to leave Germany. The letter went on to state that since escape to London was impossible, he had gone to Rumania, thence through the Balkans and Palestine to Egypt, from where he desired ultimately to return to London.

The Oregon Statesman comments on Barnes' "strength of character, fine sense of justice, loyalty and dependability, and certain engaging traits of personality . . . and finally, his remarkable ability to comprehend and to interpret national and world trends and situations which enabled him to fulfill the important news assignments which fell to his lot."

The editor of the New York Herald-Tribune refers to him as " . . . one of the foremost correspondents of Europe. . . . It is as a great reporter and a dearly loved friend that the men and women of the Herald-Tribune think of him and grieve for him. . . . Beyond the technical ingenuity and the burning fire of energy which inspired this able gatherer of facts, there stood a character of patient industry and unswerving integrity."

High tribute was also paid to Ralph Barnes by the New York Times, by Raymond Gram Swing and by other newspapers and news commentators, in addition to the praises of his colleagues among the foreign correspondents now serving American newspapers and press services.

Come and Get It!

Come and get what? Doughnuts and coffee, a delicious lunch or a mid-afternoon snack.

And you don't even have to cross the street! Just propel yourself due east on the campus walk and amble up the steps and through the doors of Chresto cottage next Wednesday for the annual Cap and Gown social.

From 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. you may find coffee and doughnuts, pie, cake, ice cream, cakes et al. From 11:00 to 1:00 a special plate lunch will be served.

The social is conducted annually by the senior women's honorary to raise funds for the improvement of Chresto. Cap and Gown members will be assisted in serving by YWCA women.

Speech Squad Wins High Honors in Western Tourney

McWain, Waters, Russell, Olds
Place In Los Angeles Contest
With Over 30 Schools Entered

By DIX MOSER

The forensic squad was home again this week after once again taking high honors in the Western States Speech tournament, this year held in Los Angeles. Adding to laurels gained by Willamette's forensic squads in previous years, the group of nine students, coached by Dr. Herbert Rahe, returned from the California city after having participated in the finals and semi-finals of several divisions of the tournament, which included over 30 schools.

First place in the junior division of college after-dinner speaking was won by Wes McWain, who also reached the semi-finals in impromptu. Marjorie Waters and Emogene Russell, the only women's team entered by Willamette, tied for second place in the senior debate division. Glenn Olds, who last year won second in the Pacific Coast Forensic League extemp contest, tied for second in the senior impromptu division.

Semi-Finals Reached
Olds and Miss Russell also participated in the finals of the extemp division, after emerging victorious from three preliminary contests and a semi-final. The final results of this contest have not yet been received. Zeral Brown, another member of the squad, reached the semi-finals of the junior extemp division.

After the conclusion of the tournament, Dr. Rahe and four students remained in Los Angeles for the convention of the Western Association of Teachers of speech, held the last three days of last week, where they attended a number of interesting sessions. Among these was the first showing of a new color film of the action of the larynx, which was presented by Dr. Joel Pressman, husband of Claudette Colbert, who also attended the session.

The group also enjoyed a demonstration of radio broadcasting put on by the staff which broadcasts the Richfield news. Other interesting programs included a speech by Mr. Sheldon Hayden, president of the Toastmasters International, and a brief talk by Arlene Harris of radio fame.

Debaters Plan Further Meets

With the successful trip to the Los Angeles tournament fresh in their memories, the forensic squad is looking forward to participation in two more debate meets. The first will be held at OSC Dec. 7, and the second, in which all Willamette debaters will participate, is to be at Linfield Feb. 20, 21 and 22.

Tentative debate partners, as announced by Dr. Herbert Rahe, are Ralph May and Glenn Olds, Wes McWain and Bob Hamilton, Ancil Payne and Pat Lytle, Don Burton and Hall Simons, John Hobson and Zeral Brown, Wade Bettis and Clarence Wicks, Bob Woodburn and James Wilson, Helen Newland and Marjorie Waters, Emogene Russell and Marjorie Wootton, Barbara Compton and Doris Laney, Dorothy Moore and Beverly McMillin.

WU Publications To Be Discussed

A comprehensive reorganization plan, with the goal of better publications for Willamette, will be discussed by students interested in journalism and advertising in a meeting at the home of Prof. Murce Ringwald, 1841 Fairmount street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The larger part of the group will consist of members of the Journalism classes, taught by Professor Ringwald, and members of the Collegian and Wallulah staffs, both business and editorial.

W. U. Ski Club
Selects Officers
At a recent meeting of the ski club selected as its officers: president, Amadee Smith; vice-president, Betty Ann Kellar; secretary-treasurer, Peggy Reinhold; trip manager, Stewart McElhinny; and publicity manager, Bob Root.

Hon. Angus McNab, Gentleman, Scholar, Missed on Campus

Have you noticed a strange feeling lately that "something is missing?" Have you felt that somehow things were not quite complete? (Before we go further, we might say that we are NOT referring to local national guardsmen away on "vacations").

For those who have not already been saddened by the news, it is our painful duty to inform you that the Hon. Angus McNab, better known as "Mac," is dead. The scotty, belonging to Bishop and Mrs. Bruce R. Baxter, was nine years old when he was admitted to pup paradise.

Run-of-the-mill dog tricks, such as sitting-up and "speaking" were far beneath his dignity. His chief accomplishment was his "adjustable" hearing. It was simply uncanny the way his auditory organs would fail him when he was told to lie down! But how keen his hearing when voices were lowered to a secretive pitch!

It may be truthfully said that Angus McNab was a gentleman and a scholar.

More Wassermans Will Be Given This Afternoon

268 WU Student
Tested by County
And Purvine Tuesday

For all students who were unable to take the Wasserman test Tuesday, opportunity to take it will be given this afternoon from three to five o'clock in the Marion County Health office on the second floor of the Masonic building.

According to the County Health office results of the tests taken Tuesday will be complete the first of next week. Dr. Ralph Purvine, university physician, will reveal results to those who took the test.

The tests for syphilis, taken by 268 Willamette students, were given by Dr. Purvine in connection with the Marion County Health office. The test followed a motion picture film on the prevention, cure, and symptoms of syphilis which was presented during chapel Tuesday by Mrs. George Moorhead, county director of health education.

TKA Initiates New Members

Five new members were initiated into the campus chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic honorary fraternity, Wednesday evening. The new members are Myron Pogue, Pat Lytle, Ancil Payne, Clarence Wicks and Dorothy Moore.

Students chosen for membership must have demonstrated superior ability in forensics, participated in at least two years of forensic activity, and must rank in the upper 35 per cent in scholarship.

The Willamette chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha was organized in 1926. The officers for 1940-41 are Tom Terjeson, president, Marjorie Waters, vice-president, and Beverly McMillin, secretary. Dr. Herbert Rahe is sponsor of the group.

Temporary Amnesia Necessitates Apology

Anticipation of dismembering a holiday turkey caused temporary amnesia in the writer of the caption for the cut of the forensic squad printed in the last issue of the Collegian.

We don't know whether we should apologize to Don Burton or Zeral Brown for the misnomer, so we'll express our deepest regrets to both.

Library Receives Biology Books

"These new books are really honey," said Prof. Cecil Monk of the biology department speaking this morning of new arrivals at the library.

"Unresting Cells" by Ralph W. Gerard has the double appeal of language comprehensible to the layman and sketches displaying a real sense of humor as well as scientific accuracy, he said.

Splendid photography characterizes both "Living Light" by E. Newton Harvey, which presents a fascinating study of luminescence in animals, and "Adaptive Coloration in Animals" by Cott. He continued, "See if you can find an animal in this picture of moss leaves on the cover of the latter."

One more Prof. Monk recommended not only for students of biology is "Some Memories of a Paleontologist" by William Berryman Scott, who gathered his material along with some rare fossils in the mountains of Wyoming.

Keyes Contest Preliminaries Next Week

Finals of Annual Oratorical Competition
To Broadcast Dec. 12

The preliminaries of the annual Keyes Oratorical contest, sponsored by the campus chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, will be held Wednesday at 3 o'clock in the speech room. The orations, six minutes in length, will be on subjects chosen by the speakers.

Competition is open to all undergraduates except former prize-winners of the contest. Three orators will be selected from the preliminary contest to compete in the finals Dec. 12. The finals will be held in chapel and broadcast.

Prizes will be $15 for first and $10 for second. The prize money is donated by Walter E. Keyes, a local citizen who is a graduate of Willamette.

According to present plans this will be the last year in this series of contests.

Battering Bearcat Bangs Farewell In Shower of Glass

Larry McKeel, Willamette's imitation of a one man gang, just couldn't leave town without proving his prowess as a he man.

At yesterday's rally, a large group of Larry's admirers — mostly of the female element — were grouped around his car window, after he had boarded the train that has taken our battering Bearcats to sunny California. It goes without saying that Larry had to bid his comely admirers a fond farewell, but alas and alack, the window next to his seat was jammed close. The natural thing to do was to jar it loose; that's just what Larry did. But it appeared that Larry just didn't know his own strength, and the window came open, in a shower of falling glass.

The result — Larry's face framed in the shattered window and cheers and laughter from the students.

Squad of 24 Tackles Poets Tomorrow

Rousing Rally Sends
Keenemen off to Season's Final Contest

By GIL LIESER

Head Coach Spec Keene and 24 of his Northwest conference gridiron champions departed for Los Angeles yesterday morning with the best wishes of the Willamette student body.

The Northwest champs hope to ring down the curtain on a successful season by snatching a victory when they invade the sanctuary of the Poets for tomorrow night's contest under the arc lights of Hadley field.

TRAVEL WEARY BEARCATS ON LAST LEG OF TRIP ALL IN TOP CONDITION

SAN FRANCISCO, 8 a. m., Nov. 29.—(Special)—Willamette University's football team boarded the Daylight limited this morning on the last leg of their invasion of Southern California, where they play Whittier in Los Angeles Saturday evening.

Although weary after a long day of travel, all members of the team are in top physical condition, and Larry McKeel's hand which was slightly injured when he broke a window on the Salem departure has only a slight cut.

The team will, while in Los Angeles stay in the Lankershim Hotel until game time. Coach Spec Keene announced that no workouts were being planned.

Spec proved himself to be master of the trip when he took the boys at cards, but no one seems to have lost any appetites over the ordeal. The freshmen on the squad were initiated into the routine of travel with a mid-night rousing.

The weather in California is cold and dry with a fast field in prospect, and as a result all California writers have booked the Cats as definite favorites in the contest.

The story of Willamette's success this fall is not indicated by the record of four wins and four losses. After getting their wide open man-in-motion, passing offense perfected, the Bearcats have not been out-played by a single team and have lost only two 7-6 games to the strong Marines and Gonzaga Bulldogs.

They won the Northwest conference crown with four smashing defeats to establish themselves as one of the best teams in Bearcat history.

Whittier Strong
Last year Whittier easily captured the Southern California conference championship, but this year bad breaks and injuries contributed towards the Poets' fall into fourth place in the final standings.

However, back at full strength now, the Whittier eleven will be a tough nut to crack.

Big Rally Broadcast
All 24 Willamette gridriders were in excellent shape when they departed from the 12th street station at 10:00 a. m. yesterday, after they were given an enthusiastic send off by a pep rally which went over the airwaves.

Players on the roster enroute to Los Angeles are: Barbour, Kolb, Cookingham, and Reeder, ends; Cline, Barstad, Constable, and Morley, tackles; Holland, Enola, Moore and Olson, guards; White, center; Drury, Jacobson, Furno, Ogdahl, Reynolds, Stewart, McGinn, Owens, Walden and McKeel, backs.

International Club Gets New Books

The fall shipment of books to the International Relations club given by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has been received and is now available to all students at the office of Dean Schulze.

WU Presidential Choice Advancing

Progress toward the selection of a new president for Willamette university is slowly being made according to Dean Chester F. Luther. The subcommittee appointed to investigate presidential possibilities is carefully gathering all information possible about each man.

No definite decision will be reached for several months, Dean Luther said.

Student Players Active

Drama Directors Rehearse Casts For Competition

Nine student directors are holding rehearsals of one-act plays in anticipation of the annual contest, December 13.

Only two of the number have competed in previous contests; they are Frances Pickard who is directing the play written by George Gutekunst titled "Cop-Killer" and D. de Laney who is directing "The Affair of Anatole." The department is looking forward to the discovery of much new talent.

Other directors include Mary Huston directing "Time and Tide," Barbara Minor doing "The Journey" and Barbara Compton planning "The Ruby." "The Living Dead," a stirring anti-war drama, is being produced by Art Olson, while Leonard Steinbeck is directing "A Strange Light" and Myron Pogue "The Family."

Preliminaries will be held on Wednesday, December 11 with the finals on December 13.

Last Call for Wallulah Proofs

John Hathaway stated today that those who have not turned in their Wallulah proofs to Kennel-Ellis are in immediate danger of having a negative taken at random for printing. Work has started on the football photos. For the first time in three years the 1941 edition will have action shots of the players.

The round-up of senior activities will begin in the very near future with Mildred Williams taking charge.

Holcomb Talks on Family Relations

Maurice E. Holcomb, administrator of the Marion county social welfare office, and instructor in the Willamette sociology department, spoke to the YW on Family Relations last night.

The meeting was of the open forum type with Mr. Holcomb asking and answering questions. Personal relations as well as family relations were discussed by the group.

Before Mr. Holcomb spoke, committee chairman of the YW cabinet announced the dates of meetings of their respective committees: a worship service and refreshments concluded the meeting.

Magic Show On Program

A repertoire of tricks gathered from "all parts of the world" was presented on the chapel platform this morning by Sylvia the magician, alias Glen Williams.

Assisting the magician was his Hindu servant, Ramah Singh, better known to Willamette students as Henry Stoudenmeyer. Others helping were Jean Pitts and Dick Barton.

Willamette Voices Heard on KSLM Friday Afternoons

Turn the needle to KSLM at 5:00 o'clock on Fridays and out will float the voices of your fellow students, voices so beautifully disguised, however, that you wouldn't recognize them if the announcer hadn't told you that the play was being presented by the Willamette dramatics department.

Today the group will present an adaptation of "Jane Eyre," directed by Frances Pickard. The cast will include Floyd Johnston as the narrator, Lois Phillips as Jane Eyre, Sidney Schlesinger as Mr. Rochester, Elizabeth Hamilton as Mrs. Fairfax and Dorothy Miller as the maid.

Mrs. Chester Oppen directed a cast of 22 in the production of "Time Service" at the same hour Nov. 15. George Koski provided organ interludes, while Richard Barton and D. de Laney managed sound effects.

Dr. Thompson Popular Speaker

Tomorrow Dr. R. Franklin Thompson will deliver two of his six addresses of the week when he speaks at the regional Hi-Y meeting in Astoria. His subjects will be "The Place of the Hi-Y Boy Today" and "Our Eyes Toward the Future."

On Sunday morning members of the Methodist church in Astoria will hear Dr. Thompson deliver a sermon on "The Challenge of Modern Religion." By 4:00 that afternoon he will be in Junction City to speak to the rally of the Eugene District Epworth League on the topic, "We Are Able."

These activities conclude a week which saw Dr. Thompson on Monday evening speaking in Salem to the Knight Memorial Congregationalist Men's club and on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the American Association of University Women, broadcasting over station KOAC, Corvallis, on "The Idealism of Greece and Democracy."

Debater Defeats Rat; Spanish Bests Waters In Foggy California

"Even the rat that ran right over my foot added color to our Thanksgiving day excursion," declared Marjorie Waters in discussing the visit of the WU debate squad to Los Angeles, ancient Alivera street.

Miss Waters had an opportunity to try her Willamette Spanish in deciphering the inscriptions on the oldest church in the city, in ordering strange vegetables from queerly colored shops, in buying the scented, world-famed randles of Jose Gomez in a heavily fragrant cellar.

She said that she recognized an occasional word, but that the shopkeepers ran their sentences all together. In the end, they compromised and used English. "I'll always remember the antique, musty smell of the place — and the rat," she concluded.

Salem Rotarians See "Brown Jug" In Brief Review

A refilled "Little Brown Jug" was presented to the Salem Rotarians Wednesday at noon in the Mirror Room of the Marion hotel. The cast of eight dramatized the highlights of the play in a brief program.

This is the second repeat performance since Homecoming. The play was presented Nov. 6 in the Georgian room at the Heathman hotel in Portland for the state convention of the Daughters of the Nile.

Baxter Visits Alums on Trip

While in the east attending several meetings of the Methodist boards, Bishop Bruce R. Baxter will visit his alma mater, the Boston university school of Theology, and Raynor Smith, '39, who is enrolled in that institution.

Last Monday, Dr. Baxter attended the meeting of the board of home missions and church extension in Philadelphia, Pa. Traveling to Columbus, Ohio, he will meet this Monday with the board of hospitals and homes. An overnight trip will enable him to be with the council of bishops when they meet on Tuesday in Atlantic City, N. J.

Before returning to Salem Dec. 15, Dr. Baxter will visit Eugene Smith, former Willamette student, at Drew Theological seminary, Madison, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Burdette, also former WU students, at Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill.

Committee Drafts YM Constitution

To provide a permanent document for the campus YMCA in future years, Witt Achor, Y president, has selected a constitution committee.

Chairman of the group is Tom Davis, freshman from Payette, Idaho. Further appointees are: Dick Espey, Wesley Durland, Lewis Jackson, Bob Albert, Jim Matherly and John Burget. Regular meeting of the organization was held last night.

Library Displays Audubon Prints

Of special interest to Willamette library-goers are the prints now showing in the eastern display case. These are reproductions of paintings by John James Audubon, subject of a splendid book received this week. The volume, "Audubon's America," edited from Audubon's journals by Donald Guizes Peattie, contains prints not only of bird pictures for which the artist-naturalist is famous, but also of a self-portrait, sketches of animals such as the Bison specimen (with a baby in its pouch), and a pair of Virginia deer, and a rare landscape of Natchez, Mississippi, 1822, showing assorted people, the characteristic animals and birds, and a village of red buildings, one of which has the flavor of WU's Waller hall.

COURAGE

Whatever one many think of the wisdom of Paul Ackermann's refusal to register under the provisions of the conscription act, one cannot help admiring his courage in standing up for what he believes to be the truth.

Perhaps his present attitude is similar to the fighting spirit for which he was famous when he played center on the Willamette eleven.

Ackermann, now a minister in Portland, considers that by registering he would recognize the authority of the government to force an individual into military training during peace time. A government so empowered, in his opinion, is destructive to human well-being.

It is probable that should Ackermann register, he would never be called into training because of his position as a minister and a father. Upholding his convictions surely was far from easy.

Is not progress in human society made by those who are willing to stand alone for what they believe to be in the best interests of mankind as a whole?

« YEHUDI »

If you can remember that far back . . . we can't. In compensation for overheard remarks concerning your column in this week's Collegian, perhaps you would like to print the following in the next edition:

Against the ropes: . . . Mardell Webb quietly withdrew from the ring (before) the bout began into the arms of 1000 lbs. of Oregon State, leaving Dort Tate to wrestle with herself for Kreutz.

Wade Bellis: Well, I'm glad to hear they put the skunk where it belongs.

Was it Home Coming or just the Thanksgiving spirit that got Horton, Lessig, and counter chorus leg Colbon.

Hear that two of our girls from the better element fell off that wagon left at El Morocco . . . some gay nite during the holidays.

Mother! Sister! and Parker's Coffee Shop!

EACH NITE I DYE A LITTLE:

Sol Stern: Lord, who is the woman, with the lovely head of hair?

Eloise Winn: You mean hear . . . come hear Waters . . . so soft and appealing . . . let me just feel it. Oh, no . . . you don't have to take it off!

Liz Hamilton (while leaning on the editorial staff): Just give me your honest opinion . . . I dare most anything.

After the turkey . . .

Prof. Wilson: Honey, I'd swear that wasn't the nose I ate.

We mustn't overlook that boy Brown . . . Zarly he would like to come. On his own wind?

LETTERS to the Editor

Dear Editor:

There comes a time in every so-called student's life when he must pause for a brief period of quiet meditation. That time is usually not long after six weeks' grades come out. And did you know, just by the way, of course, that 25 per cent (one-fourth) of the Willamette student body earned places on the first six weeks' flunk list?

Getting back to that quiet meditation—where is one to find comparative quiet? Certainly not across the table from a roommate, not in a fraternity or sorority study hall, and above all, not in our sound-proof air conditioned library.

In the library you will find the most congenial crowd. Everyone is so friendly. That's one thing about Willamette—you know everybody and everybody knows you! As far as trying to study there is concerned, however, you might as well draw up a chair in Grand Central station.

Maybe the noise in the library hasn't got anything to do with our flunk list. Or has it? It's just a thought, but isn't it about time that we students took some of the responsibility for a quiet library upon ourselves? It would be rather high-schoolish to have a pseudo-policeman on guard to break up gab sessions, but if that's what it takes, I'm in favor of having one!

Kampus Kapers

Introducing

By JUNE WOLDT

Among the many transfer students who registered at Willamette this year is BARBARA MINOR, junior from St. Helen's Hall junior college in Portland. Backed by experience as secretary of St. Helen's hall student body and as secretary-treasurer of Delta Psi Omega, their national dramatic honorary, Barbara is fast winning a niche for herself on the Willamette campus.

A pledge of Beta Chi, she was in charge of the sorority serenade held early in November, and is serving as Beta Chi's representative for their joint serenade with Sigma Tau scheduled for Dec. 18.

As Barbara is slightly partial to the Sigs and especially to their co-chairman for the serenade (three guesses who), plans should proceed beautifully. Barbara, majoring in dramatics, is in charge of the decorations for the Lausanne hall formal tomorrow evening.

LEONARD STEINBOCK, freshman from Salem who has been labeled "Campus Villain No. 1" because of his appearance in the "Little Brown Jug" and the Whip Whitman Banquet skit, admits that he has no particular love for his little black cape and sleek mustache that contribute greatly to his "villain" role, and would be willing to cast them aside to play a swell character part.

Although as a member of his high school dramatic society he enacted a character role in their presentation of "Skidding," he still has definite ideas about "the" part he hopes some day to play.

Leonard, who is majoring in dramatics, is at present busily engaged in directing a one-act play that is being entered in the play contest sponsored by the drama department. This "persistent" director, as his co-workers call him, claims it is a "villain-less" play.

Registered from Glass Valley in central Oregon is DOLORES SIMON, freshman, who deliberated long and hard last spring and finally almost had to flip a coin to decide whether it would be Willamette or the University of Washington. Luckily WU's fame could not be resisted, so Willamette gained another.

BRASS TACKS

By PAUL WHIPPLE

ANTIOCH COLLEGE, Yellow Springs, Ohio, has found an unusual and successful method of preparing its students for their future life and work, a method which breaks in many ways with the usual traditions of institutions of higher learning. Instead of making students study for four nine-month school years before turning them loose in the world to make their way the best they can, this college breaks each year into alternate ten-week periods of work and study.

FRESHMEN, alone of all the students, spend a whole school year on the campus. When they enter, the faculty counsels them as to their abilities, enthusiasms, likes and dislikes, and they are given part-time jobs about the campus. Each freshman must budget not only his finances but also his time; the proper number of hours for lectures, study, work, play and sleep is worked out. When he finishes his first year he is supposed to be mature enough to manage his own affairs.

HALF THE CLASS are then sent out to jobs best suited to their bent and the other half studies. The students in the field are watched through reports of their employers and are graded as to adaptability, maturity, and ability to make other chemistry major.

Secretary of her high school student body, assistant editor of the school paper and salutatorian of her graduating class, Dolores should have no difficulty with extra-curricular activities during her college days.

Not content with just receiving a college degree, Dolores hopes to finish at Willamette and then enter the University of Oregon Medical school in Portland.

When, about eight or nine years from now, we see a shingle with "Dolores Simon, M.D." on it, we can shout about "we knew her when."

MOZHET?

By ELIZABETH HAMILTON

A journey of a thousand miles, said Lao Tzu, Chinese philosopher, is started by the first step. The journey toward the inevitable but still remote opening on Sunday afternoons of the Willamette library, has advanced already beyond that first step. People have thought about it; people have expressed opinions.

Mouthpieces for the Spirit that walks backward are:

Bob Root: Sorry, but I don't think it is a good idea. It would mean that someone would have a lot of extra work to do on Sunday afternoons.

Hazel Bunnell and Jean Longley: No, I save my Sunday afternoons for recreation. I would never use the library.

Betty Valencourt: Should I ever study on Sunday afternoons, I find home quiet enough.

Gilbert Clausman: No, Mr. Spenser and the library staff work too hard now. If somehow they could be spared any additional effort, okay.

Standing motionless and confused before the road markers are:

Betty Sackett: I doubt if I would study there, but perhaps other people would.

Tom Hall: Surely I would use it, but I really don't think many others would.

Derald de Lancey: Sunday afternoon usually finds me attending the local cinema, but I think others really would use the library. It's worth trying, anyway.

Jack Steiger: I study at home on Sundays, but I would like to see it tried. I think a lot of people would take advantage of it.

We find, walking boldly friends with fellow employees. At the end of the ten-week period the two groups change places. The whole curriculum covers six years.

FOR TWENTY YEARS this plan has worked successfully. Antioch graduates have been found not only better equipped to find jobs when they finish but are better adjusted, have usually found themselves. Statistics show a larger percentage of them remain in their chosen fields than do graduates of other institutions.

WHY HAVEN'T more colleges and universities put into effect some similar plan? Granted that the end of higher education is more than preparation for jobs, the fact seems to remain that universities ought to prepare students as much as possible for the life they will lead when they leave school.

How well does the average institution of higher learning do this? No substitute has been found for the handling of his own affairs, financial, amatory, or otherwise, in bringing a young man or woman to maturity.

RES IPSA LOQUITUR

Reflections from the College of Law—by Bud Johns

The following is submitted by way of explanation: "Res ipsa loquitur" translated, means "the thing speaks for itself." It is a doctrine of law which authorizes an inference to be drawn from stated facts. For instance: Lipstick on the collar of Gordy Wilson's shirt. Or Cesspool Quesseth's car parked along the mill-stream about 2:00 a.m. Or Clocotermann's first name being Adelbert. Things such as these speak for themselves.

We notice on the trial docket the case of 'Goodale v. Beers.' This should be a hard case to decide.

We were very much impressed with the floral presentation to our five senior football stars at the halftime of the turkey day classic with Whitman. We suggest the following to be suitable words to accompany such a ceremony: For four bloody years, you have smashed and butted your head;

And crunched and crashed, until you felt half dead. You deserve a fitting reward, is what we all say: So, heroes—here is a nice big Daisy Bouquet!

The law school chimes were ringing (for a change) when Joe Wilson made this remark to Verne McCallum: "Those chimes are pretty; I like their soothing pleasant tones, don't you?" Verne replied: "Those damn chimes were making so much noise, I didn't hear a word you said!"

An attorney who had been trying to collect a bill from a client received the following letter from the debtor:

"I got your letter about what I owe you. Now be patient! Cause I ain't forgot you. Please wait when I have the money I pay you. If this was Judgment Day and you was no more prepared to meet your maker than I am to meet your bill you sure would have to go to h—- Trusting you will do this, I am yours truly."

Then there is the fellow who sued to have his marriage annulled on the ground that his wife's father didn't have a license to carry a gun.

Famous last words: "We are going to the law school party Saturday night!"

Collegian Desteryears

By MIRIAM JENSEN

Collegian, Nov. 25, 1915.

Not all the girls at Lausanne hall are so fortunate as to have the opportunity to go automobile-billing. It was with something more than envy that the girls watched a Ford driven by Baird Findley recently stop in front of the dormitory. "Brick" Stuart hopped out and called for a certain young lady at the hall whom he installed in the back seat and jumped in beside the driver.

The administration has decided to take over the Appointment Bureau, established in 1924 by Prof. Von Eschen, which aids graduates who wish to teach, in finding positions.

Collegian, Nov. 21, 1935.

Dr. Baxter said yesterday that since our campus has the urgent need of a new library building, the structure will be given first place in any building program that the school undertakes. He said no immediate program for the erection of a new building has been outlined.

Vespers Members Lead Service

Members of University Vespers will present the evening service Sunday night at the First Methodist church immediately after the regular Vespers meeting. Immediately following the service, led by Ed cone, Mary Jane Smith and Leo Baldwin on the topic of "Humility," the group will adjourn to the church proper for the evening service.

With President Winston Taylor presiding, the theme "In His Steps" will be developed by Royce Conn, Harriet Monroe and Wesley Durland. Special music will be presented by Mark Wally and Helen Dean, vocalists, and Keith and Kent Markee on their cornets.

YM Membership Shows Increase

Campus YM membership at approximately 100 shows an increase of 25 men over last year's total. With the appointment of about 40 assistants to cabinet members, the program is rapidly advancing, according to Winfield Achor, president of the organization.

Faculty men are being invited to join and to participate in the activity this year. Faculty advisors chosen are Dr. R. F. Thompson, Walter Erickson and Ivan B. Rhodes.

Marilyn Fay Sparks Doing Fine, Thanks

"She's already getting a double chin like mine," said Les Sparks yesterday, beaming over the healthy progress of his youngest daughter, Marilyn Fay, who is 16 days old today. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks sent a note of thanks to the student body for the pewter plate on which was engraved "Presented to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sparks, ASWU 1940."

Delta Phi Seniors Have Date Dinner

Delta Phi seniors and their dates were honored with a dinner Sunday, November 17, at the chapter house.

The table was decorated with pink tapers in white holders entwined with serpentine of pink chrysanthemums.

Nadine Orcutt was in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. Frank James was chaperone.

Guests were Ruth Hedges, Bill Lucke, Jean Geddes, Tom Hall, Hazel Bunnell, Sumner Gallaher, Barbara Young and Vernon Carterline.

Kappa Pledges Give Dance

The third floor of the Kappa Gamma Rho house was converted into an ideal spot for the pledges' post-game dance November 15. Colored streamers and blue spot lights were decorations with a realistic "punch and cookie" bar adding atmosphere. Loren Hicks was official bartender.

Andy Humphreys and Howard Blandin were in charge of the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Walt Erickson chaperoned the affair. Al Ferrin, president of the fraternity, and Maryjane Smith were special guests.

Alpha Phi Alpha Upperclassmen Give Dinner

Alpha Phi Alpha upper classmen and their dates were dinner guests at the chapter house Sunday, November 17. The two cornucopias which formed the centerpiece for the dining table were filled with pumpkins, fruits and nuts, and were flanked by yellow tapers. The color scheme was carried out by bowls of yellow "mums" in the living and dining rooms.

Mrs. W. E. Kirk was special guest for the affair, and Dorothy Barham was in charge of decorations, assisted by members of the pledge group. Dinner guests were Mary Barker, Don Ewing, Mary Head, Arthur Olson, Marion Sanders, Paul Sheldon, Maxine Crabtree, Art Franz, Patricia Niemeyer, Paul Wedel, Maxine Goodenough, Kent Markee and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bernau.

Jason Lee Church Invites Students

The young people of the Jason Lee Memorial Methodist church will give a party at the church tonight to which university students are invited. Mark Moorman will be in charge of the games the early part of the evening and Bob Johnson will lead folk dances later.

First Church Plans Entertainment

All students are invited to attend the monthly church night party sponsored by University Vespers tonight at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Leo Baldwin, social chairman, is in general charge. His committees are Martha Hughell, Paul Libby and Marcia Fry, games; Margaret Pemberton, Pearl Bendixen and Betty Holm, refreshments.

Underclassmen Have Conscriptio Dance

The freshman-sophomore class party held at the Chamber of Commerce hall on Saturday, November 16, proved a great success.

The conscriptio idea was carried out by giving everyone a number as he entered, by having a blackout dance, and by putting sandbags in front of the orchestra.

Sybil Spears, vice-president of the freshman class, was in general charge of the affair and was assisted by Janice Robinson, Frances Lilburn, George Coddling, Paul Sheldon, Florence Lilburn and Ted Ogdahl. Phyllis Fisher, vice-president of the sophomore class, was in charge of the decorations.

Special guests for the dance were Prof. and Mrs. Brennen, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Purvine.

Kappa Juniors Entertain Dates

On Sunday, November 17, Kappa Gamma Rho juniors entertained their dates with a dinner at their Court street house. The tables were decorated with bronze and yellow button chrysanthemums in low bowls and place cards appropriate to the harvest season.

Alpha Phi Alphas Serenade

After the Whip Whitman banquet on the evening of November 19, Alpha Phi Alpha sorority serenaded the sororities, fraternities and dormitory. Starting at the Delta Phi house and ending at Kappa Gamma Rho, the girls serenaded with a group of old popular songs.

Special features of the program were an incidental solo by Laura Lee Tate, and a duet by Marion Sanders and Anne Morris. Jo Miller accompanied on the piano.

Beta Chi Gives Serenade

Beta Chi members serenaded campus living organizations and the home of Governor and Mrs. Charles Sprague on the night of November 16. After waking up their listeners with the traditional "Beta Chi Climbing up the Ladder" song, the sorority women gave several special numbers. Jewell Minier sang a solo and the pledge trio composed of Barbara Pitts, Susanna Schramm and Barbara Minor also sang special selections.

Chairman for the serenade was Barbara Minor. She was assisted by Jean Jackson and Barbara Compton.

Vazakas Home Is Scene of Fireside

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Vazakas entertained last Sunday evening at a faculty fireside at their home at 880 N. Cottage street. During the course of the conversation Dr. Vazakas discussed life in Europe and demonstrated several languages. He and Mrs. Vazakas explained tapestries which decorate their home.

Guests were Avis Pick, Calla Moorman, Wilma Mathes, Louise Tucker, Eldon Morse, Stan Brownhill and Hale Tabor.

Pre-Game Banquet Is Success

Over three hundred persons attended the annual Whip Whitman banquet Tuesday, Nov. 19, at the Salem high school cafeteria.

Mary Head, student body vice-president, was in general charge. Her committees were Maxine Crabtree, decorations; Oscar Swenson, tickets; and Laura Lee Tate, serving.

Two gay cornucopias filled with fruit, gourds and nuts centered the head table at which Bill Thomas presided. He called upon Mike Balcevic and Bob Notson, prominent Portland alumnus, for informal talks. The chief speakers were George MeLeod, dean of the Willamette law school, and Dr. William C. Jones, originator of the banquet.

The band and football team added colorful touches to the scene. The Kappa Gamma Rho quartet entertained with several musical numbers, and the rally committee presented a unique skit. The entire assembly sang school songs between courses.

Hall Plans First Formal Of Season

"Winter Magic" is the theme for the Lausanne hall formal dance Saturday night, according to Billie Jean Gillilan, social chairman. Ralph Erickson and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing. Committees working with Miss Gillilan are: decorations, Barbara Minor; programs, Lucy McIntyre; refreshments, Madge Thompson; and clean-up, Jane Boyer.

Patrons and patronesses will include Miss Olive M. Dahl, Miss Lorena Jack, Dr. and Mrs. William C. Jones, Prof. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mr. Robinson Spencer.

MRS. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, wife of Governor Sprague, who recently gave a tea for the members of the Beta Chi sorority.

Beta Chi Honored At Spragues

One of the most beautiful teas of the winter season was given by the patronesses of Beta Chi sorority Saturday, Nov. 16, at the home of Mrs. Charles Sprague. The rooms were decorated with lavender and yellow chrysanthemums. A low arrangement of small bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, baby cat-tails and tulle roses combined with gold candles were used on the tea table.

Paula Wallace opened the door to greet house members, their mothers and alumnae. Mrs. Homer Gouley introduced guests to the line which included Mrs. Sprague, Miss Melva Belle Savage, president of the Salem alumnae, Mrs. Walter Minier, president of the mothers' club, and Jessie May Rudorf, president of Beta Chi sorority.

Jewell Minier sang during the afternoon, accompanied by Jean Jackson. Pouring during the first hour were Mrs. Charles McCargar and Mrs. Bruce Baxter. Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson and Mrs. Ernest Richards poured during the second hour. Mrs. Chester Luther, Mrs. Melvin H. Gelst, Mrs. Maurice Brennen, and Mrs. Ralph Purvine assisted with the serving.

Hostesses for the tea were the following patronesses: Mrs. Gabrielson, Mrs. Gouley, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Luther, Mrs. Gelst, and Mrs. Sprague. Honorary members assisting them were Mrs. Elliott, Miss Beryl Holt, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Brennen, and Mrs. Purvine.

come that everyone up here is being benefited by this life in some way or other," Harrington said. "It is making the men a lot more sociable."

Harrington claims there is something about army life that "appeals to men after they become used to it. I think that it is a lot like living in a frat house," he adds.

Harrington left Salem last month with the state detachment of the national guard. He is affiliated with Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity and was active in forensics last year.

Struttin' in Style

By BETTY KELLER

The first formal dance of the season even though sponsored by an alumni group must not escape our attention. The affair I'm referring to is the Beta Chi alumni dance which was held in Portland over the Thanksgiving holidays and which was attended by a considerable number of our students. The mere mention of the word "formal" indicates festivity and something extra special, so now we'll take a look at the "super-supers" which frolicked last Saturday.

Royalty Present

Prominent among the alumni present were two former May Queens, each looking just as lovely as the day she regally approached her throne to the tune of "The Queen Approaches; all hail the Queen." Betty Starr wore a white taffeta dress trimmed in royal blue velvet at the neck and hem. Her dress had a full flared skirt topped by a fitted bodice with puffed sleeves. Suzanne Curtis Shepherd's dark beauty was set off by a red chiffon blouse over a full gathered skirt, which was of candy-striped chiffon.

Other alumni present were Jean Hollingworth Norgren and June Brasted. Jean wore a fasciata marquisette formal made skirt waist style. It had a Peter Pan collar, long full sleeves and big patch pockets on a full skirt. The skirt of June's dress was of flaming red taffeta. Then for the waist, her dress had a shirred black velvet bodice made very formally with narrow straps across her shoulders. Also there was Anne Faxon, an ex-Willamette U. student. She wore a wine velvet dress. It is made with a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves, and the skirt falls in such a way as to give quite a pencil-slim line.

Sequin Trim Popular

Mary Jane Cutler was attractive in a dinner-style dress. She wore a black crepe skirt and combined it with a royal blue crepe blouse which was trimmed with gold sequins down the front. Sequins also sparkled from Dorothea Greenwood's direction. She wore a black taffeta dress styled with a wide fitted velvet girdle at the waist which was studded with gold sequins. These same sequins outlined the neckline of the dress. Shirley Caulfield's dress was also trimmed in this color. She wore a good-looking cream jersey the neck of which was edged in gold. Shirley topped her dress with a jacket of the same material.

Contrasting Materials are Favored

Looking very charming was the Beta Chi president in a black formal dress. The fitted bodice of Jessie Mae's dress was of velvet and the skirt of taffeta. Around the neck was white lace. Margaret Sigmund's striking dress had a striped skirt (red and green on a black background) and she wore a green velvet jacket with it. Bobbie Hollingworth wore a print taffeta dress — white flowers splashed on a chartreuse and black background. Maxine Holt's gay personality was set off by a light blue satin dress — square neckline, puffed sleeves, and very full skirt. Frances Harris looked lovely in a new white moire taffeta dress. She wore a long sleeved fitted jacket of the same material over the dress. Her only splash of color was in a beautiful corsage of red roses.

Bill Harrington, who was a sophomore at Willamette last year, writes that he is "plenty busy" in the personnel division of the 41st division headquarters at Camp Murray, Wash.

It won't be long now until we'll all be going to formals, and after this brief sketch, I'll bet we'll all be "itching" for a new dress to wear.

Vespers to Present Xmas Program

The second annual Christmas vesper program is to be presented by the music, art and drama departments of Willamette university Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 4 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

The program will feature living pictures by the art and drama departments and music by the a cappella choir and the faculty of Willamette's music school.

A high point of interest will be the selection "Three Kings" by John Worth, written for organ, cello, violin and voice. The ensemble will consist of Maurice Brennen, organist; Mary Schultz Duncan, violinist; Bernard Barton, cellist; and Dean Melvin Gelst, tenor soloist.

Full details are to be announced later.

Faculty Musicians Recital Postponed

The faculty recital originally planned for Tuesday has been postponed until next semester, Dean Gelst announced this week. No tentative date has been set.

Clausman Leads Chapel Singing

Dean Melvin H. Gelst announced this week that Gilbert Clausman has been selected to lead the chapel music in place of Mark Waltz, whose work conflicts with the chapel time.

Club Presents Concert Series

The appearance of the Linfield college a cappella choir in the Salem high school auditorium, Sunday, Dec. 8, at 3:15 p. m., will mark the opening of the Crescendo Club 1940-41 concert series. The choir of 45 voices, directed by Virginia Ward Elliott, will present a program of traditional carols.

Of great interest to Willamette students will be the appearance of Bernice Rickman, '33, who will be featured in the March 17 concert. Miss Rickman, a favored concert soprano of Chicago stages, was an outstanding member of her class, being named May Queen in her senior year. Recently, she was the leading lady in light opera presentations of the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of Karl Krueger.

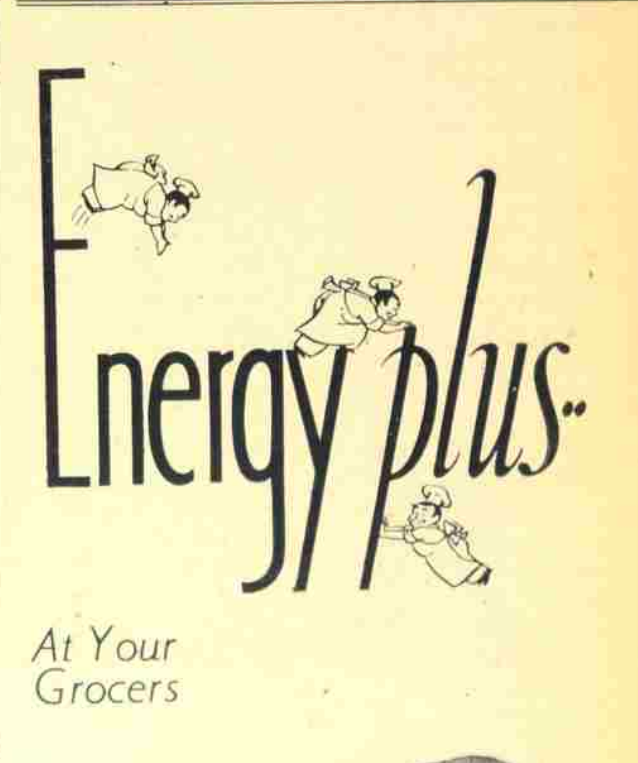

King Lan Chew, Chinese dancer, and the Portland Woodwind Ensemble will complete the Crescendo series on Jan. 20 and March 10, respectively.

Season tickets may be purchased for fifty cents. Miss Lena Belle Tartar, sponsor of the Salem high club, announced that all except the Linfield appearance will be evening concerts.

'Cats Regain Northwest Conference Throne

They'll Don Willamette Livery for Last Time

Justin Weakley, Floyd Cline, Larry Drury, Johnny Kolb and Joe Holland, the five seniors on the Bearcat football squad, will reach for those Cardinal helmets for the last time tomorrow night when Coach Spec Keene sends his championship eleven on the field against Whittier in their season finale.

Bearcats Whip Whitman 19-0

WU Ends Conference Play Unbeaten, Untied: No Strings on Title

Willamette's Battling Bearcats left no doubt in anyone's mind as to their rightful claim to the 1940 Northwest Conference crown, when they pounded out a 19-0 victory over a stubborn Whitman eleven in a knock-down-drag-out Turkey Day contest on Sweetland field.

Though Willamette showed less offensively than they have since early season, their defense was up to its usual standard, and at no time did the Walla Walla team, who gained but 183 yards from rushing and passing to Willamette's 402 yards, seriously threaten.

Ogdahl Scores First
The first quarter was 12 minutes long, and the 'Cats had been stopped on the Whitman 11 and 7 yard lines before Reynolds' 14-yard toss was gathered in by Ogdahl, who carried the ball the remaining 33 yards into pay dirt without a hand touching him. Johnny Kolb toed a place kick through the cross bars which almost carried to the gymnasium, making good the extra point.

After Reynolds, Ogdahl and Drury had hammered to a first down on the Whitman 3 as the first quarter ended, Keene sent in an entire new eleven which battered to a touchdown in seven plays. Stewart went around end for the final three yards. Willamette's only other second quarter threat was nipped by a clipping penalty after McGinn intercepted Heilberg's pass on the Whitman 37, with five minutes of play remaining, and dashed down the sidelines for the final tally.

McGinn Intercepts
The eleven mullered about in the middle of the field during the third quarter and the best part of the last stanza, before McGinn intercepted Heilberg's pass on the Whitman 37, with five minutes of play remaining, and dashed down the sidelines for the final tally.

Although he is not eligible for competition this year, the spunky little halfback has certainly earned the right to appear among Willamette's outstanding athletes. In recognition of the contribution he has made to Willamette athletics, we place Bunny Bennett among our Saturday's heroes.

Sue Wilson Shames Men Wins Forecast Contest

Meet the champion football prognosticator of the Willamette campus — not a football-wise "Joe College" but a diminutive brunette coed — Susanne Wilson.

Susanne, who hails from Portland, forecasted her way to the finals of the Bearcat Forecasts contest when she qualified in the eighth and final round three weeks ago. Then, in competition with 12 men and two other women, she tied for first place with Eloise Winn and Bill Whitmore in the contest final.

In the play-off of the tie last week, Susanne registered the remarkable score of 24 correct predictions of 30 games forecasted. She picked three incorrectly and three ended in ties. She did not win in a "breeze" however; Bill Whitmore called 22 of the 30 games correctly to finish a close second.

Presentation of the trophy, donated by Anderson Sporting Goods Store, will be made during the chapel period next Tuesday.

Frosh Notes

By FRED GRAHAM

Coach Howard Maple's first call for regular hoop practices was greeted by a group of some fifteen promising freshmen. The list includes two all-stars from Oregon, a Portland all-city prospect and an all-southern Idaho star. The quartet: Blond John Eggers, from Pendleton; Russ Satter, long, lanky Salem protégé; Clint Cameron, the outstanding Portlander of last year; and Earl Toolson, six foot one speedster, a product of Burley, Idaho.

This gang of green freshmen, represent many of the stronger high schools throughout Washington and Oregon: Don Barnick, Salem; Bob Medley, Lebanon; Don Brooks, Washougal, Wash.; Bob Perry and Gil Kester, St. Helens; Allen Metzler, McMinnville; Arnold Desjardins, Longview, Wash.; Ken Smith, Marshfield, and Bob Hecobson, LaGrand, complete the roster of freshmen working out at the present.

The schedule this year for these Bearkittens shows the possibility of being very tough. For those freshman not remaining on the varsity squad, the 40-41 season has some twenty-five games already on the slate.

Cats Break Jinx Trample PU 20-6

Setting the stage for their title-winning victory over Whitman Thanksgiving day, Willamette's gridiron juggernaut rolled over a stubborn Pacific university eleven to a 20-6 victory, on refrigerated Sweetland field two weeks ago.

With the temperature not much higher than the total WU score, the Badgers, reluctant to relinquish their three year jinx, twice derailed the touchdown-bound Bearcat machine in the first quarter, first on the 12 and later on the one-foot line.

Apparently thawing out as the game progressed, the Bearcats registered a score early in the second stanza, when "Jack-rabbit" Al Walden broke through left tackle and scampered 24 yards for a touchdown untouched. Johnny Kolb added the extra point from placement.

At this point Pacific's halfback, Len Gilman, almost single-handedly hung up the only touchdown scored against Willamette in conference play. Receiving the kick-off on his 16, Gilman tore through a pileup of players straight down the field to the WU 18, where he lateraled to halfback Bill Taylor who went the remaining distance Gilman's placement kick was wide.

Shortly after the last period opened, Stewart went over for Willamette's second touchdown from six yards out after he had set up the score with a 20 yard jaunt around end, and a pass to Drury which netted 23 yards.

Midway in the fourth period, Stewart pitched an aerial to McKee who carried the pigskin 35 yards for the final WU score, Drury converted.

Willamette had all the edge in statistics, registering 17 first downs to five for Pacific, and running up 440 yards from scrimmage and passes to 145 for the Badgers.

'Cat Cagers Drill For Initial Game

Coach Howard Maple's Bearcat basketball club, working out regularly for the past two weeks, will open the current season here next Friday night with the Packards, a strong Portland independent club.

The Packards are scheduled as a warm-up game for the Bearcats before they begin their barnstorming trip on December 12, which takes them through eastern Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

On the trip, Maple's Methodist team will meet some of the best ball clubs in the Northwest, including Washington State, College of Idaho, Montana State, Montana U., Idaho Southern, and Oregon State. The Willamette mentor stated ten players will be selected from the 17 now turning out to make the trip.

Returning home on Dec. 24, Maple's boys will immediately begin preparation for the recently scheduled game with the University of Oregon Webfoot Friday, Dec. 27. The Bearcats will meet Oregon in a return game on Jan. 4 in Eugene.

The 17 hoopers now turning out include lettermen Howard Eberly, Sam Gallaher, Jim Robertson, Ken Lilly, Orville Ragsdale, Bob Dargatz, and Johnny Kolb; newcomers, Glen Fravel, Johnny Eggers, Russ Satter, Don Brooks, Clint Cameron, Alan Metzler, Don Barnick, Earl Toolson, Bob Medley and Neil Morley.

Call for Maizie, Get Gym Credit

Students, fess your way to a gym credit. Sounds interesting, doesn't it? Well, that's what a number of the wiser students of our fair school are doing.

All you have to do is call up 6672 and ask for Maizie, then escort her to our WU gym between the hours of 5 and 6 on Monday and Wednesday. It's really a lot of fun, and the beauty of it all is that you obtain your necessary requirement.

However, this entertainment isn't just for students. Our illustrious faculty is also invited to participate, and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons have been set aside for them. So come on, all you pros, call up the little woman and tell her to meet you at the gym.

Badminton, basketball, and ping pong are on the bill of fare at present.

In The Spotlight

With GIL LIESER

Far be it from this writer to question the sages who each year select what is termed the "Northwest Conference all-star team." These men have engaged in the business of selecting all-conference teams for many years, and undoubtedly their selections this year are the "cream of the crop" in their opinion.

However, from a distance of fifty miles — the selections were made in Portland — it would appear there was something "in the wind" when only three men in the championship Willamette team were named on the all-star first team lineup.

It doesn't make sense to us that a team which ran up 129 points against six opponents for their opposition in conference play should rate but three players on the all-conference eleven.

Several reasons for the small representation of Bearcat players on the all-star lineup come to mind; perhaps the green-eyed monster of jealousy reared its ugly head — eight years of domination by one team is a long time.

All-Stars in the Spotlight
Dismissing any further suppositions from our mind we'll present the lineup of players we consider deserve a place in the Spotlight.

Ends: Kolb of Willamette and Underwood of CPS.

Tackles: Hershberger of Col. of Idaho and Constable of Willamette.

Guards: Holland of Willamette and Fraiola of Willamette.

Center: Anderson of Pacific.

Backs: Drury and Walden of Willamette, Bennett of Col. of Idaho and Gilman of Pacific.

Second Team:
Ends: Rader of Willamette and Blankley of Col. of Idaho.

Tackles: Cline and Barstad of Willamette.

Guards: Moore of Willamette and Bryant of Pacific.

Center: White of Willamette.

The 1940 WAA basketball season has swung through its last week. The following teams, chosen by basketball managers, "Chuck" Morgan, played in the final tournament on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons:

P. Gueffroy, M. Herr, E. Findley, B. Vlesko, G. Harnberger, D. Graham.

M. Crabtree, R. Schmidt, C. Ellingsworth, M. Morgan, W. Matches, Z. Fretz, M. Wiley.

D. Moore, B. Pluney, P. Bendiksen, F. Whitaker, D. Barham, M. Wright.

Announcement of the All-Star team, picked by Miss Curry, Mr. Sparks and Mr. Maple will be made next week.

NOTICE!!!
A challenge is hereby issued to all women's organizations on the campus to compete in this year's intramural basketball tournament. So come on, all you dashing Dormitory-Dolls, skittish Sorority-Skirts, and impulsive Independent-Idols; start organizing your teams, so you'll be ready to play when the dates of the games are announced.

Remember, there's a bright and shiny trophy waiting to grace the mantle of the winners.

Badminton and ping pong, under the management of June Earle, are the next sports on the list of WAA activities. Anyone interested in coming out for points in these sports is asked to sign up at the bulletin boards at the gym or in Eaton.

Saturday's Heroes

By CLIFF STEWART

Among the many athletes who have come to Willamette from Portland's Jefferson high school, we find one of such calibre that no list of outstanding Willamette athletes would be complete without his name appearing close to the top of that list.

While attending Jefferson high Paul "Bunny" Bennett held letters in three major sports, football, basketball, and track. For four years he quarterbacked the Jefferson eleven and in his senior year was awarded an athletic scholarship given to the most outstanding player and student on the team.

While in high school he was named on the Portland all city team. He also won a berth on the Jefferson all time all star team beside such men as the well-known Bobby Grayson.

Although he has completed his four years of athletic service under the cardinal and gold, most of us have not forgotten the ball-carrying ability of the diminutive halfback who started playing ball for Willamette as a running mate to big Dick Weisgerber.

His record speaks for itself. He earned four letters in football. In 1939 he kicked the only field goal in the conference. He was named on a Portland all opponent team. Then as a fitting climax to his brilliant career in inter-collegiate athletics he was placed on the Northwest all conference team for two consecutive years.

Although he is not eligible for competition this year, the spunky little halfback has certainly earned the right to appear among Willamette's outstanding athletes. In recognition of the contribution he has made to Willamette athletics, we place Bunny Bennett among our Saturday's heroes.

Kappas Take Lead
In Volleyball League;
Psi's Lead Ping Pong

A lot has happened in the volleyball loop during the period between editions, as it will be remembered that your diligent Collegian staff had a Thanksgiving vacation along with the rest of the school.

Entrenched in first place, we find the smooth working Kappa A team and the Alpha Psi B team. However the Kappas have one more win to their credit, both teams being undefeated.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the week's ball slapping was the overthrow of the highly touted law school, however, they are far from out of the very tight race, and this column is sticking its neck out by predicting an ultimate championship for the fast talking boys from up the street.

Psis Paddle Sigs
The Alpha Psi A's, winner of the first half of the ping pong loop, look like a cinch to repeat, barring accident and bodily damage, such as the breaking of the index finger of the right hand, they should win in a breeze.

All they have done so far is beat the Sigs, while the Psi B's won by default from the Bearcat Aces, but the fact that they passed their two biggest hurdles should mean something. The defeat of Male Dunbar, number one Sig, is in itself no mean accomplishment. Dan Moses of the Psis turned the trick, marking Malcolm's first defeat.

...Willamette vs. Whittier — This should be another close one; the Bearcats have 50-50 average in eight games, while the Ducks have won two, lost five and tied one game. The two elevens have faced teams of about equal caliber, so the edge goes to the Keenemen. We'll call it WU 13-Whittier 7.

...Washington vs. Wash. State — The Huskies are still burned up over being nudged out of the Rose Bowl picture by Stanford if the 41-0 pasting they administered UCLA is any indication. It should be a rough afternoon for Mr. Cougar, and a 26-0 win for Washington.

...Oregon State vs. Oregon — The Bears are about a 100 to 1 shot in this one. The Palo Alto Indians by three touchdowns. ...USC vs. UCLA — Looks like the Bruins are in for another whipping. El Trojan should take UCLA into camp by 16 points.

...Navy vs. Army — Neither service team has a brilliant record but the Middles look stronger by a touchdown or two.

...Stanford vs. California — The Bears are about a 100 to 1 shot in this one. The Palo Alto Indians by three touchdowns.

...USC vs. UCLA — Looks like the Bruins are in for another whipping. El Trojan should take UCLA into camp by 16 points.
