

CLOSE CONTEST PROPHECIED FOR NEXT SATURDAY

Bearcats Travel to Forest Grove to Oppose Pacific University Fighters.

LINEUP TO SEE CHANGES

Two Weeks of Rest Make All But Ramsey Ready for Active Parts in Fray; Return of Big Men to Field Helps Bench.

One of the closest games of the season for the fighting Bearcats will occur Saturday in Forest Grove when they oppose the Pacific University squad.

Pacific played a tie game with O. A. C. rocks, and also with C. P. S. frosh, who in turn lost to Chemawa. A witness of the more recent game with C. P. S. says Pacific's team has been made over since that time. He claims that Pacific will make Willamette step, and he is in a position to know.

However, there is no doubt that Willamette can step. With a two-weeks' rest and every man in shape except Ramsey, the Bearcats are in the height of form.

Saturday may see some changes in the line-up since the game with Multnomah. Wapato may play fullback, where he starred his freshman year. Wapato is tearing up the heavy scrub line with his plunges, and we all know how he takes the passes.

Basler will be back at center and Harry Rarey will probably play Wap's tackle position. Russ and Lawson are both ready for the fray, and will be seen in their customary positions.

Once more the ends of the line are in doubt, with Lyman, Socolofsky, Ganzans and Barnes all in the race.

The return of Rarey, Wapato and Lawson to the lineup means that there will be a greater number of good men on the bench to draw from. Sherwood, Power, Bain and two of the end candidates, Nickel, Bird and Hicks, are men who can go in without weakening the team in the least.

Just how many rooters will accompany the team is not known, but as it is the one excursion of the year and as the team has but one more game at home, a large number are expected to go down with the team. Yell King Gillette will announce his plans for the trip shortly. But whether it is a special train, trucks or just day coaches, the importance of the bi-ennial event cannot be over-estimated.

The last Pacific excursion was held in 1918, before the present seniors were here. At that time a special train was chartered, and the student body went over almost to a man.

Chrestos Treat Guests to Hour of Vaudeville

Last Wednesday evening was open house for the Chrestophilian Literary society. All new men whose names begin with a letter between A and L were invited, and as many as accepted the invitation were entertained in true Chresto style.

The program was opened by a welcoming speech from the president, Frank Bennett. He congratulated the new men upon their choice of a school, welcomed them to Willamette, and to enjoy the program and entertainment that was to follow.

The rest of the evening's performance was arranged in the form of a vaudeville, the numbers ranging all the way from low comedy to Chopin and Beethoven. James Bohie acted as master of ceremonies or stage manager, but in his becoming outfit and loud eyeglasses, he might have been mistaken for a street medicine fakir or a district Sunday school superintendent. There is no doubt but that Bohie would be perfectly at home in either position.

In act I Professor Upson Downs was introduced. When he started out, he said he was going to discuss some plane geometry, but the only thing plain about it was the paper he drew on. As a chalk artist, Prof. Upson Downs is in a class by himself. His fame is far-reaching and all who have seen his work will say that he is without a peer. This learned and dignified professor was ably presented by Dean Pollock.

BILL HAS LADY'S TOKEN

Modern Knight Wears Dainty Favor to Class in Education

Professor Erickson talked on about the school buildings and Bill thoughtfully caressed his mustache. He glanced cautiously to right and left and then extended his right arm over to the vicinity of his upper left vest pocket. In this position he paused, and made certain that educational measures and measurements were still the uppermost subject of conversation with those around him.

Having thus surveyed the landscape and found the coast presumably clear, Bill cautiously withdrew his hand—and something else. This latter article was of dainty white lawn and was edged with tating. Enraptured, the debonnaire young soph let his fingers glide tenderly over its soft folds. Into his eyes leapt the fire of achievement. His body straightened, his muscles tense with energy. The light of victory shone around about him. And even when the little treasure had been replaced, this ardent air stayed with him.

In days of old, the gallant knight carried with him into battle the sleeve of his lady-love. Why should not the modern courtier arm himself against the fray, inspired by handkerchief of his beloved? Ah, Rhoda, seek not the return of your little token. It may lead a hero to victory.

There is something the matter with any woman when she is willing to let a man do all the talking.

LEAGUE CONVENES AT SALEM FRIDAY NIGHT

Reception First Evening; Students Will Speak Saturday Morning; Fred Aldrich in Charge

Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week, First Church Epworth League is host to the Epworth League convention of Salem district. This event is of concern to students of the university, for it affords opportunity of meeting a hundred high school students and young people of nearby towns. Because of the position of First M. E. League as largely a university organization, students will find a great deal of interest in the meetings conducted. An informal reception Friday evening in the lecture room of the church will be the first meeting of the convention; and the only meeting in a distinct social way, and should be attended by the university student body, which is cordially invited.

On Saturday morning services will be held between the hours of 9 and 11:30. A number of students and other men and women of the town will speak, and at 11 a. m. Rev. Ernest M. Smith will deliver an address. "The Epworth League Institute." Music will be furnished by Mr. Floyd McIntyre, Miss Sadie Pratt and a mixed quartet. In the afternoon at 2 p. m., the district business meeting will be called, and will be followed at 3:30 by the installation of officers for the coming year. At 7:30 Dr. George Parkinson will address the convention on "Mohamed, Buddha, or Christ." Music will be rendered by Professor Roberts, Professor Hobson and Miss Ruth Bedford. Holy communion will be administered at 7:30 Sunday morning, and Rev. Kirkpatrick will speak at 11, which will be the final meeting of the convention.

More detailed information concerning the convention can be obtained from the district president, Mr. Frederick D. Aldrich.

Harding First in Straw Vote

Warren G. Harding topped the ballot among Willamette students yesterday when a straw vote was taken at chapel. Out of 268 votes cast 171 went to Harding, 85 to Cox, 7 to Debs and 5 to Watkins. Harding and Debs were the ladies' candidates scoring 95-76 and 7-0 respectively, where the first number represents women's votes and the second men's votes. On the other hand Cox and Watkins counted 3-2 and 45-49 for the men. This tabulation shows 144 women took part in the balloting to 124 men.

Jennison was giving his history report and mentioned sailors in connection with Noah's ark. Dean Alden had a bright idea and exclaimed "I suppose you would call Mrs. Noah a yeomanette."

STUDENTS WILL HELP BEARCATS PULVERIZE P. U.

At Late Hour Yell King Gillette Says Trip by Auto is Almost Assured.

MORE NAMES REQUIRED

President Flegel Speaks in Behalf Large Attendance on Excursion; Prominent Men Give Up Their Ordinary Tasks

Reports from Yell King Gillette as the Collegian goes to press indicate that a corps of trucks will be used to convey the rooters to Forest Grove for the Pacific game.

The presence of half the university population in Forest Grove for the Pacific game Saturday is the goal set by Yell King Gillette, who hopes to see an excursion made possible.

About 75 students have so far signified desire to make the trip, but it is essential that 125 sign up before a special train can be chartered," says Gillette. "Within the next two days we want every available man to show his pep by signing up for one or more round-trip tickets."

Paul Flegel, student body president, had the following to say:

"It was customary in pre-war days to take regular periodical excursions to Forest Grove for the Pacific battles. Last year when the odds were considerably against Pacific they showed their spirit by sending a large crowd of rooters to the game here. We cannot do less next Saturday."

If a train is not chartered for the big excursion, several trucks may be secured to carry the loyal ones to the scene of battle. Whether enough students are available to make the special train a certainty or not, it is understood that many rooters will travel by other means. "Chub" Sackett expects to absent himself from his regular Saturday job, and "Fuzzy" Emmel will forebear labor in the onion patch in order to witness the contest.

Webs Entertain Guests With Song and History

On last Wednesday night, October 27, the Webs for the second time this year maintained open house for the new men of the university.

The program for the evening opened with the song "Around Her Neck," led by Ferguson. Each member responded to roll call by giving his whole name including his nickname if he had one.

Rickli spoke on the subject "It is and is to be." In dealing with this subject Mr. Rickli applied it to Websterianism in the present and in the future, what it is and what it is to be. Aldrich ably handled that great political topic entitled "The Elephant or the Donkey." It appeared to all present that Mr. Aldrich seemed to favor the elephant and altho he stated it was a non-partisan speech, yet his smile seemed to belie it.

The Web Warriors were a howling success (only applied one way). They certainly upheld that proverb that a bad beginning is a good ending.

Davis, the famous novelist, earned everlasting glory when he presented the first chapter in his new work, entitled Reuben Strawfoot. The story deals with a young man who comes to Willamette in the late nineties.

Edwin Socolofsky gave a very interesting account of his impressions of New York which he formed while there in social service work last summer.

Probat ably demonstrated his ability at wielding the gavel in parliamentary practice, and conducted one of the snappiest drills of the year.

Next Wednesday night every man may go to the society he prefers. The Webberians gave all a cordial invitation to return again and a good time is assured.

"We saw your ad in the Collegian." Easy to say but it means the difference between advertising and not advertising to the business men of Salem. See that you use it.

HUGH HUNTS THE BISHOP

Frantic Search for Portland Divine Makes Friends Shave

"Have you seen the bishop? Have you seen the bishop?" With a heart full of—well, with a heart full of many things Hugh was making his way in frantic haste down the street.

"Have you seen the bishop?" he hailed an elderly lady just descending from a street car.

"No, but, er, wouldn't an ordinary preacher do? One lives right there in that house." Without waiting to reply, Hugh sped on his way. Next he encountered one of his schoolmates.

"Won't you come and help me find the bishop?" he asked desperately.

A furious blush overspread the countenance of the young lady, for it was a young lady. "Young man, just what do you mean by that question?" she asked. But Hugh was gone. He next spied his own mother across the street.

"Have you seen the bishop, mother?" he called.

"Why Hugh, what has got into you? You can at least wait until your father comes home to perform the ceremony." Crossing the street and taking her son by the arm she continued her way homeward. At their own door they met a young man with a sample case in his hand.

"Are you Mr. Doney?" he began. "I have here a few samples of our line of jewelry. Wedding rings is our specialty." But just then Hugh heard the phone ring and went inside to answer it.

"Are you the young man who was looking for the bishop?" came the voice of the minister of one of the local churches. "Well, I just wanted to tell you that I also sometimes do business on credit."

The minister who called Mr. Doney has asked that his name be omitted from this write-up, fearing that he would be swamped with business.

But after all the bishop said he enjoyed his dinner very much.

Gordon Sammons Heads Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity

Owing to the inability of Bryan Conley, president of Phi Kappa Pi men's fraternity, to return to college this fall, Gordon Sammons, a member of the senior class, was chosen as his successor at a meeting held at the Phi Kappa Pi house at 250 South Cottage. Mr. Sammons will serve the unexpired term of Mr. Conley.

The officers of the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity are now as follows: President, Gordon Sammons; secretary, Keith Lyman; manager, Paul G. Wapato.

The following men have pledged to the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity: Alvin William Rookstool, Charles Coryell, A. W. Jones, Wayne Allen.

Rushing Season to Find Climax with This Week

Rushing season for both the men's and the women's literary societies is nearing an end. Friday marked the last of the open programs, while the last open house to be held by the women's societies was that of the Philodorian Saturday. Invitations to join the women's literary societies will be mailed the 13th of November.

Tonight each of the men's literary societies will hold open programs. Every non-society man in the university is cordially invited to visit one of these programs. Pledging of the new men by the men's societies will commence Thursday, November 4.

Y. M. C. A. MEN STRIKE SUCCESS ON TRIP ABROAD

Willamette Leaders Invade Stayton for Weekend of Fun and Fellowship.

CLEAN LIVING IS TAUGHT

Bible Classes, Basketball, Stunts, Hikes and Feeds Combine to Fill Three Days With Interest and With Inspiration

The first deputation team of this term invaded the Stayton territory over the week-end of October 23, 29 and 31.

The team was composed of nine men besides Mr. Walters. They were conveyed to Stayton by auto. Immediately upon arriving the members of the team were presented to the student body of the high school and each responded with a stent, story, recitation, piano solo or, as in Mr. Geyer's case, a unique bow.

Mr. Arnold, at the piano, entertained the school. Mr. Emmel and Mr. Craven took them by storm with wit and humor while Mr. Davies counseled them on the subject of clean sports.

On Friday evening the deputation's basketball team met and overcame the Stayton high school team with a large score. Fisher and Kinch at forward and Davies at center proved to be a clever combination of speed and accuracy, while Socolofsky at running guard covered the floor well and was always present at the place he was most needed; Bennett at standing guard defended the basket and received the nickname of Jack Dempsey from the tide lines. The game was fast and clean. Not a foul was called and both teams maintained a sportsmanlike attitude throughout the game.

Saturday morning Mr. Kinch led the boys in a Bible class discussion on Christian loyalty. In the afternoon all took part in a hike and winter roast. In the evening the domestic science department furnished a banquet for high school boys, business men and the deputation.

Phils Invite Visitors to Attend Public Program

The last open Philodorian program of the year will be presented in the Philodorian halls this evening. Every non-society man in school is cordially invited to be present.

The program follows: "Open Door"..... Paul Wapato "Just Jack"..... Rein Jackson "Come Back"..... Merrill Ohling "Ship Aboy"..... Bain, Ellis, Radspinner "Way Back"..... Hon. Willis C. Hawley "Way Back"..... Jennison-Craven

GRANT JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

One assembly has been held since the opening of school. You should have looked in. A class room seated with 62 single desks must accommodate a student body of 225 plus the faculty of 12. Under such conditions it is not easy to make these meetings the pleasant, profitable hour we should like.

Our football prospects are better than ever before. Mr. Vinson is coaching each evening after school. Walter Heiser is captain. The boys are enthusiastic and expect to give a good account of themselves. The first game is planned for the last of this week.

The first H. Y. meeting was held last week. Existing members, committee meetings and business is keeping the officers busy. The president is Max Davison; vice president, Chas. Hillson; secretary, Mark Waldespiel, and treasurer, Walter Huff.

You Never Can Tell Prof. Hanna. "Now, Mr. Caton, if you were to address me, would you use the familiar form or not?" Caton: "It depends. If you were my friend, I might."

Marguerite was singing the praises of her Sunday school teacher. "And do you know," she cried in glee, "she knows everything about David."

Hop picture in the Willamette valley will soon be a film feature. The Pacific company is planning to make pictures of it for the news weekly.

IKEY EXPRESSES OPINION

Doubt Exists Whether It Was Sent C. O. D., I. O. O. F. or S. O. S.

It is the fate of some individuals to constantly find themselves in the category of the unfortunate; impish evil spirits seem to hound and sniff upon their pathway.

Apparently such is the fate of Ikey Corner.

At least provocations the accusing finger finds its direction to Ikey, now he is accused as being a Jew and a Shylock, now likened to an irritable, all-American fullback, because he charges so well, but it remained for Jit Nickel to discover and disclose a new and unique attribute to append to the already too familiar personage of Ikey Corner.

For many months Jit Nickel has been in the employ of the American Express company as clerk and among his duties Jit labeled and consigned parcels to other stations for the patrons of his firm. One day while in an indolent reminiscent mood, Jit crushed the thin shell of his modesty, and unfolded his unique experience which involved the manager of the Varsity Book store.

According to Jit Nickel, Ikey Corner visited the express office, not long ago, in quest of a parcel consigned to the Varsity Book store, and on being informed of its non-arrival, Ikey, forthwith, expressed his opinion.

Jit was unable to determine the destination of Ikey's opinion, or whether it was disposed of C. O. D., I. O. O. F., or S. O. S.

INTERCLASS DEBATES OPEN FORENSIC YEAR

Question of Japanese Citizenship Is Chosen for Subject of Contest and Thirty Students Prepare

Prospects for the year in forensics are very good. Oratory is not yet far under way but debaters are starting with preparation for the inter-class contests to be followed by the collegiate tryout.

Over 30 members of the various classes are preparing for the inter-class tryouts. The question to be discussed is: "Resolved that Japanese should be granted the privilege of citizenship on the same basis as Europeans." It is an important local and national issue and draws interest from students and public alike. Sides and opponents will be chosen by lot just before Thanksgiving. The debates will be finished before the Christmas holidays.

The intercollegiate debating program will start with tryouts for both men and women during the second week in January. No question has as yet been selected. Negotiations are under way with all opponents of last year and several other schools. Final dates will probably be in March and April.

With practically enough bar-wearers to make up the teams ready to try out and many freshmen and others anxious to take their places, it is sure that W. U. will have every reason to expect success in every debate.

Lincolnan Meeting is Short But Interesting

The meeting of the Lincolnan Literary society was held last Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. rest room. The program was short but interesting. School gave the humorous reading, "The Two Runaways," by H. S. Edwards. The next number was a debate: Resolved that all parties should begin at 3:05 p. m. Hinkinson upheld the affirmative and Dent the negative. Robins read an essay which he had written on the subject of Lincolnism. Sherwood then gave a stump speech.

Women

A woman is queer, there's no doubt about that. She hates to be thin, and she hates to be fat. One minute it's laughter, the next it's a cry. You can't understand her, however you try.

But there's one thing about her which everyone knows—A woman's not dressed till she knows her nose.

FIRST PROGRAM IN NEW CHAPEL WINS APPLAUSE

Professor Harding Presents "The House of Rimmon" By Henry Van Dyke.

AUDIENCE WELL PLEASED

Hurried Installation of Temporary Lights Is Needed to Make Appearance Possible in Newly Renovated Chapel

The first of the series of recitals to be given within the public speaking department was presented by Professor Harding, head of the department, in the chapel on Tuesday evening of last week. Professor Harding proved herself capable of the position which she holds through her able presentation and her exceptional impersonation.

The enthusiasm of her listeners proved that they were greatly pleased with the recital entitled "The House of Rimmon," by Henry Van Dyke. The program was as follows:

- Part 1. scene I. Night in the Garden of Naaman at Damascus. Scene II. The following morning. Benhadad's Palace. Part 2. The forecourt of the House of Rimmon. Part 3. A week later. Interior of Naaman's tents. Part 4. Three days later. Interior of the court of the House of Rimmon.

Many outsiders as well as students took advantage of the recital and the chapel room was crowded to full seating capacity. This is the first program that has been held in the chapel since its renovation and was made possible only through a rush order which caused the installation of temporary lighting equipment.

Professor Harding, who is from West Virginia Wesleyan University, where she has been head of the department for 10 years, presented the same number at that school last year where it was also met with hearty approval. Miss Harding has been in public speaking for many years. She is a graduate of the Greeley school of Expression located in New York and has accomplished post graduate work at the School of Poetry and Dramatic Art in Canada and private work at Harvard.

There are extensive plans for recital work by the public speaking department through this year. It is hoped that "Co-partners," written by Professor Harding and portraying a theme of the hour, will be given the latter part of this month and an operetta entitled "Yanki San," also written and composed by Miss Harding, will be ready for presentation in early spring.

Executive Committee Minutes

The executive committee was called to order by President Flegel. The report of the committee to the faculty in regard to class and society dates read and motion carried to leave the schedule as it now is; namely, one class date and three society dates instead of two dates each. Two class dates are expected next semester.

The report read of the committee for the disposal of the picture presented by Jenks studio.

Finance committee of the Executive committee reported that no student body tickets would be issued for all athletics.

Report from Collegian manager accepted.

Athletic manager's report accepted.

Motion carried that the proceedings of the executive committee be printed in the Collegian every week.

Moved and carried that the report from different branches of athletics be published at the end of the respective seasons.

GO SLOW AND EASY.

Tomorrow is "the day." At 7:30 p. m. the literary societies begin pledging new members. For them especially this article is written. The advice is often disregarded, still many people insist upon giving it, and we seem to be no exception.

In the first place, you should not regard the group of your choice as a political organization, which some do, but as a literary society. You know what the purpose of a literary society is. Join the one from which you believe you can derive the most benefit and which you will benefit the most. Usually this will be the group with which you are the most congenial, in which you feel the most at home. The societies are all equally good, but no two are composed of exactly the same types of men. You know what type of man you are, join that group into which you fit the best.

You should have decided long ago which society you want to join. If you have not, do so today. And then do not alter your decision. Do not let any one change your mind, for if you do, you will probably always regret it.

POLITICAL RALLIES.

Political campaigns are, we suppose, necessary. Without a campaign of some sort the most desirable candidate in the world would probably experience considerable difficulty in getting elected. But we always thought that the campaign were principally for the purpose of influencing a certain class of voters who were unable to think for themselves. We never thought that Willamette students belonged to this class; we never thought that national campaign propaganda would ever meet with a serious reception on the campus until recently, and recently some unexpected things have happened.

We admit that a spirit of levity has pervaded our political rallies to a considerable extent, but fail to see that the fact improves the situation much. The rallies were held and time was wasted that could have been spent more profitably either in work or in recreation.

Of course it is too late to make any change this time. This campaign is all over but the shouting, but next time let us act like educated men and women, and not hold any republican or democratic rallies.

A MATTER OF ETIQUETTE

We think there is too little attention paid to matters of etiquette these days. There is one thing in particular that has been worrying us for some little time. Some of the masculine members of our student body seem to have the idea that the young ladies are incapable of walking down the street without assistance. Many young gentlemen have been seen on our most level and brilliantly lighted sidewalks holding their partners by the arm as the in mortal apprehension that at any moment they might suffer mortal injury from falling.

Being somewhat apprehensive of contradiction we have taken considerable pains to look this point up. We have consulted some half dozen authorities on the subject and quote Eleanor B. Clapp, who expresses the idea about as mildly as any of them. "Of course no gentleman ever takes a lady's arm, this is an unpardonable rudeness."

To do so, we understand, is to "reverse the proper order." Only under the most liberal reversion of the rules of etiquette is it permissible for a young man to even assist his partner over the rough places, such as the curbs and car tracks. According to the more stringent rules he should do no more than offer her his arm. The Willamette does not pretend her women students are Amazons, we do claim that they ought at least to have sufficient physical development to walk without being assisted—in some cases half carried—by their companions.

READ THE MINUTES.

Action taken by the executive committee in session last week requires the publication in the Collegian of the minutes of each regular meeting of that body. The purpose of such an action is to keep the members of the Associated Student Body better informed as to the affairs of their own government. It is the duty of the executive committee to conduct and oversee the general work of the student body, and the members of the committee chosen to do this are representatives of the other students and responsible to them. A greater interest manifested among the students at large would be conducive to a greater spirit at Willamette, and a knowledge of what is being done is necessary to keep alive this interest. Therefore the Collegian asks that these reports be read, and that the members of the executive committee be consulted in regard to any questions or desires for further knowledge which may come to the readers' mind.

PULVERIZE PACIFIC.

Jeter wants us all to go to Forest Grove. It's the one big trip of the season. You'll do three things by going. You'll have a good time on the trip, you'll see a rattling good football game, one of the best of the season, and you'll advertise Willamette pep.

Last year Pacific sent a good big batch of rooters to the game here. Also they sent a fighting team. We are sending the fighting team up there, but how about the rooters?

When about fifty men turned out to the Alumni game, there was something said about lacking pep. Right here and now I want to take issue with that viewpoint. There is just as much pep in school this year as there ever was.

Figure it out for yourself. The ladies aren't expected to know much about football, and one would not expect them to turn out as readily as the men. Yet there were more of them out—just because more of them could afford it. I don't believe there was a man who stayed away but wished he was out there, and I know every one of them would have been there if he possibly could.

If a man just has to work to stay in school, and his job is on Saturday, how is he going to attend a football game? It's Jeter's business to rave at us and get us out to the games, but the rest of us ought to lay off this no-pep chatter. If you tell a fellow something repeatedly and emphatically enough, he'll begin to believe it in time. If we keep up this crabbing, we'll all begin standing back, and then somebody'll pass around the black creps like they did for another reason about a year ago.

Willamette hasn't everything it wants, but we've got pretty near everything we could expect to make up a regular college. One of those things is a student body that's right behind everything that is for the best interests of the school.

There are fellows in school who have never missed any kind of a game since they have been here if it were within carfare distance. That's nothing. There might be a fellow who had played in every game—there are some that come pretty near it. Have they any more pep? Absolutely not—they have just been able to do it.

But how's for everybody next Saturday to get into that class that has the carfare—and go show P. E. what a real college is like. For my part, I'd die if I couldn't go. I don't see how anybody can have the heart to stay at home. Can you?

Alumni Notes

A. B. '14 Lester Prebstal, who for the last six years has been a missionary in Malay, has arrived in Salem and is spending the summer with his mother, Mrs. M. Prebstal. In September they will go to New York where he will enter Columbia university. Mr. Prebstal is a graduate of Willamette University and has many friends here who are welcoming him. Mr. Prebstal preached in Portland a time or two this summer in supplying for a pastor who was sick.

Rev. Edward H. Todd, president of the College of Puget Sound, in a letter to the editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, writes: "You will pardon me if I mention two family matters which I think are items of interest. My son, Wesley Sanford, was married to Miss Esther Pauline Cox, music '18, of Arlington, on the 29th of June. It was a quiet family wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple became acquainted while students at Willamette University. This and the following notice will be of interest to many young people who have attended both Willamette and the College of Puget Sound. On Thursday, July 15, there was born to Edward Paul Todd and his wife, Ruth Hodge, '17, a little girl who is to be known as Ruth Pauline. She weighs nine and one-half pounds—in the estimate of her parents, about a ton, and in the estimate of her grandparents, about two tons. It is the initiation of Mrs. Todd and myself into the realm of grandparenthood, into which estate we are very happy to enter. The mother and baby are well. My son Paul is superintendent of schools at Napavine, Wash., where he and his wife and baby will move from Tacoma

A. B. '09, B. D. '10. Rev. David Lester Fields is transferred to the Mt. Tabor Methodist church in Portland. He has been pastor of the Rose City church for two years. His new parsonage address is 1607 E. Stark St. Rev. G. O. Oliver goes to Sheridan as the new preacher in the Methodist church there. He spent the last year on the coast at Tillamook.

'10 Kimball. Rev. Colonel Walter Pogue is transferred to the church at North Bend. His infant son, Myron, was baptized by Bishop Shepard at the last session of the conference. The boy liked the Bishop and wanted to return to him after the ceremony. The mother prevented him only by taking him out of the church.

'10 B. D. Rev. Clarence B. Reese returns for a second year's work as pastor at Stayton, Ore.

'13 B. D. '16 A. B. Rev. Thos. D. Yarnes is transferred to Springfield, one of the larger churches in the new Southern District of the Oregon conference. The last two years has been spent at Lebanon.

1915 A. B. Friends of Miss Helen Pearce are pleased that her work will keep her in Salem this winter. Miss Pearce, who is an alumna of the class of '15 of Willamette university, has been elected an assistant to Prof. C. E. Richards in the department of English composition. The new instructor, following her graduation from Willamette, took graduate work at Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Mass., and also took additional subjects here. Prior to this time she has been connected with the Portland Y. W. C. A. as employment secretary. Her work will consist mainly in directing freshman composition classes.

B. D. '17. Rev. J. Stanley Van Winkle returns to Oregon and is stationed at Shedd. The past year has been spent at Ronald, Wa.

'16 Kimball. Rev. Dow DeLong of Arlington, Ore., is the father of a newly arrived baby girl. The mother and baby are in the Deaconess Hospital at Spokane.

A. B. '15. The marriage of Miss Louisa Lisle Lee to Glen McCaddam, which was solemnized in Danville, Ky., September 11, has been announced here. Mrs. McCaddam, who is the daughter of George Lee of Danville, is well known in Salem as is Mr. McCaddam, who graduated from Willamette university with the class of 1915. While a student in the local university where he was prominent in foramses and a member of the Philodorian literary society, Mr. McCaddam managed the local lyceum courses. He is now engaged in business in New Orleans, where the young people will make their home.

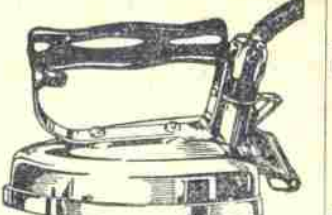

A. B. '20. Miss Freda Campbell, A. B. '20, Independence girl, has arrived at Havre, France. Miss Campbell, a graduate of Willamette university, is one of the 19 American girls who won a French scholarship last June.

Ex '21. Ray Atterbery is taking up supply pastoral work at Kennedale in the Seattle district of the Puget Sound conference.

Ex '21. Hoard W. Mort is taking full time pastoral work at Kendrick, Wash.

A. B. and B. D. '15 Rev. M. A. Marcy is entering his sixth year of service as pastor of the Methodist churches at Dayton and Unionvale. He is also acting as the superintendent of schools at Dayton.

Saturday night Jason Lee church was the scene of much merriment when the freshmen held their first party of the term.

The guests were met at the door

by two ghosts, who mysteriously ushered them thru a basement window. A ladder was conveniently placed for those who desired to make a dignified and graceful entrance.

The rooms were artistically adorned with autumn foliage and all varieties of Hallowe'en decorations.

Games were played, fortunes told and ghostly stunts performed. After every one had been put thru all the stunts that the committee had been able to think of, delicious refreshments were served.

Those responsible for the success of the evening are to be commended.

Every one agreed that this freshman class, one of the largest ever organized in Willamette, will hereafter be noted for the brilliance of its social doings.

Darkness and ghosts greeted the sophomores in the wierd stillness of a great hall. When conducted further into the realm of shadows, black cats, grinning jack-o'-lanterns and a witch's cauldron bubbling over a red fire caused the timid to gasp

as in fright, but the bolder ones disregarding the ghostly quiet raised hilarious voices and soon the spirit of fun drove away the hovering blackness from the haunt of the witches.

Many games were played after which a delightful program was given followed by "pumpkin" pie and hot chocolate. Professor and Mrs.

Peck, popular chaperones, were present.

On Hallowe'en eve the juniors stole to the Chresto halls for a jolly Hallowe'en frolic. Black cats and witches were dancing on the walls, and in one blanket covered corner of the room sat a real witch, straight from with-land, with her own trusty broomstick by her side. She told the fortunes of most of the juniors, and her shrill voice and cackling laugh were intensely realistic of our long ago conceptions of witches.

Maple leaves deeply covered the floor—and oh, what fun to kick them about to one's heart's content.

Topics of conversation for the first game of the evening were:

Spooks—Harding vs. Cox.
Hallowe'en, 1920—Pester.
"We finish to begin."

After this the old game of Tucker was brought forth from its musty hiding place, and treated as the royal guest. Virginia reel and Skip to My Lou also featured in the evening's entertainment. Cider, apples, doughnuts, and an apple filled with whip-cream-tipped jello composed the refreshments. The juniors report it the best party ever. Chaperones were Miss Fake, and Dr. and Mrs. Sherman.

One of the most beautiful events of the week was the Philodossian "at home" Saturday afternoon. The halls were charming with ivy covered chandeliers, palms and lovely baskets of yellow baby chrysanthemium, forming a delightful color scheme in which dainty butterflies were introduced as the principal feature of the decorations. As the guests arrived they were welcomed by soft strains of music which continued while they passed down the receiving line, after which the following program was given:

The Coming of the Butterfly—
Mildred Clarke
Madame Butterfly—
Maude Holland
Genevieve Findley
White Butterflies—
Ve Ona Williams
Vivian Isham
Marguerite Cook

In the dining room quantities of butterflies formed a canopy about the several daintily appointed tables over which yellow candlelight diffused a soft glow. The guests were served by four of the Philodossians costumed as yellow butterflies.
Nearly one hundred non-society women called during the afternoon.

On Friday evening a jolly group of Webs and Adelantes with their guests gathered on the third floor of Waller hall for an informal party.
Childhood games of freshmen days were revived and enjoyed by all. Virginia reel, Skip to My Lou, and similar games took up the greater part of the evening. A long ramble thru the capital grounds and Lausanne hall was the most unique feature of the evening's entertainment. Mr. Floyd McIntyre and Miss Mildred Streyer, each sang a charming group of solos. Punch, wafers and chocolates were served.
Miss Richards was the popular chaperone of the evening.

The Sigma Tau fraternity was the recipient of a shower last week, which included many good things to eat, from Salem friends of the fraternity. Those who made the shower a success and to whom the fraternity extends its thanks are Mrs.
Croisan, Mrs. Pennington, Mrs. Socolofsky, Mrs. B. L. Steeves, Mrs. P.
A. Legge, Mrs. F. W. Power, Mrs.
D. W. Fisher, Mrs. A. J. Baker, Mrs.
Lueker, Mrs. M. C. Findley, Mrs.
Eugene Prescott, and Mrs. E. T.
Barnes.

Charles Coryell, Raymond Ganzans and Bryan McKittrick were guests of Wayne Allen in an auto trip to Corvallis last Saturday. The game between the University of California and the Oregon Agricultural College was the attraction and it was a great game well worth the trip.

After the parties on Saturday evening a merry crowd gathered at the home of Miss Phyllis Palmer to continue the Hallowe'en fun. Here too, were black cats, witches, goblins, and spooks. The table was set for the following guests: Edna Gilbert, Elsie Gilbert, Kate Both-man, Lorlei Blatchford, Phyllis Palmer, Tinkham Gilbert, Clare Gillette, Fred Patton, Sheldon Sackett, and Raymond Dimick. Noodles and pumpkin pie were greatly enjoyed by all present.

On Saturday evening a number of freshmen who had been decorating at Jason Lee church in preparation for the party enjoyed a supper in the basement of the church. Partakers in the fun were Hilda Hegman, Ethelyn Yerex, Alma Wells,
Bob Storey, Bob Notson, and Oury Hisey. Weenies, buns, bananas, coffee, figs, etc., comprised the menu.

Miss Marie Corner entertained her freshmen sisters, Lois Nebergall, Irene Pratt, Martha Hutt, Irene Colwell and Eva Ledbetter at luncheon
Sunday evening at the Delta Phi

Hallowe'en has come and gone once again! Spooks and spirits of all kinds were abroad on Saturday eve. Frolics of various sorts were enjoyed by University students over the week-end. The seniors, living up to the traditional dignity of their name even ventured to celebrate with a formal party. The Philodossian At Home was another highly successful formal event of the weekend.

AT THE THEATRES
YE LIBERTY
Katherine MacDonald, "The American Beauty," will be seen in her latest picture, "The Beauty Market," at the Liberty theater, commencing Thursday.
Miss MacDonald was brought to the attention of photo play fans by her work in "The Woman Thou Gavest Me." She was last seen here in her sensational success, "The Thunderbolt." The current picture is declared to be her greatest work thus far.
The Maurice Turner super-production of "The Great Redeemer," described as one of the greatest stories ever filmed, will be the feature attraction at the Liberty theater for a run of four days beginning next Sunday. Advance reports of this feature declare it to be a work of the highest art, the unfolding of which carries a moral message of overwhelming power and profound conviction.

AT THE GRAND
Eileen Percy in her second William Fox production, a breezy society comedy, "The Husband Hunter," adapted from F. Scott Fitzgerald's popular Saturday Evening Post story, "Myra Meets His Family," is announced for presentation at the Grand theater beginning next Thursday and Friday only.
Miss Percy, who scored an instantaneous success in her first Fox production as a star, "Her Honor the Mayor," enacts the role of Myra Hastings, a young girl who sets out to marry a young man whom she never has met. The young man is tipped off as to Myra's intention by a friend, and together they concoct a scheme whereby they expect to teach the "husband hunter" a sound lesson in the art of "pursuing men."

The picture abounds in screamingly funny situations and Miss Percy's work in the role of Myra Hastings is said to be delightfully artistic.

CHRESTOS TREAT
Act II was the medicine fair in action. After discoursing at length on his wonderful discovery, a medicine that would cure all ills, real, imaginary and otherwise, he called to his "emba'd" assistant, who brought out two huge bottles of the wonderful compound, complex and etc. The assistant then went through the audience and several bottles were sold at the retail price of 10 cents per bottle. Those who were fortunate enough to get a whiff of the compound discovered a striking resemblance to M. J. B. coffee—why? It is certain Mr. Bohle never got rich off his sales.

Act III was a clarinet duet perpetrated by Anderson and Gilchrist. This was supposed to have represented the Chopin and Beethoven part of the program. Let it be said in passing that a great honor was undoubtedly bestowed upon these two worthy composers. The clarinet duo responded to an encore with "Till We Meet Again."

In act IV the "niggah" quartet came on the stage and took the house, as it were. Old time favorites, national anthems, con songs, jigs, ragtimes, and waltzes were some of the varieties presented. It was certainly a triumph of black-faced minstrelsy and a renewal of that one-time favorite, the burnt-ork artist. The quartet was made up of Harold Drake, bass; James Bohle, baritone; Lloyd Miller, second tenor; and Gordon Sammons, first tenor. Miller played the banjo for the songs and Sammons gave a clog dance.

With the conclusion of the program the men all drew their chairs in a circle and sang songs and cracked jokes while they were being served to ice cream and punch by dainty waitresses.

tion team. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Arnold entertained with an impersonation. Mr. Emmel with a reading and Mr. Craven with a solo. Mr. Shafer of the Stayton High Y. M. Weddel, a business man and Mr. Sociofsky responded to toasts, while Professor White presided as toastmaster. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed at a Halloween party given by the young people of the Christian church.

On Sunday morning a young men's class was conducted in each of the churches by Willamette men. Mr. Craven spoke at the Christian church while Mr. Kinch and Bennett had charge of the services at the Methodist.

The afternoon meeting was conducted by Mr. Fisher. This meeting was for men and boys only. Craven sang and Fisher and Sociofsky talked. The meeting was well attended and was a true indication of the value of such work.

Sunday evening the team divided themselves among the young peoples associations. Mr. Geyer conducted the meeting at the Christian church. The evening preaching was held in a union service at the Christian church. Secretary Walters preached and Craven sang. The evening was concluded by a consecration service. A large number of boys took a definite stand which in itself was ample compensation for the effort spent.

Ralph Barnes made it possible for the team to be taken to Stayton and Dr. Brown brought a car load home. Those taking part in this trip were: Fisher, Sociofsky, Kinch, Davies, Geyer, Emmel, Craven, Arnold and Bennett. Deputation work is no longer an experiment. It has proven itself a stern reality and a challenge.

ple with whipped cream were served. The guests of Mr. Barnes were the Misses Esther Paroungian and Emma Shanafelt, and Mr. Lester Day. Mr. Kenneth Power chaperoned.

A wishbone party was given in the Phi halls last Friday evening for some of the Philodostians and Philodorian and their friends. Wishbones were everywhere in evidence and in use, but the wishing did not stop with them, for a wishing well, and a fortune-telling witch both added to the attraction while the guests amused themselves by verifying their desires and by acting out the desires of others. Professor Franklin was a dinner guest at the Kappa Kappa Rho house on Tuesday evening.

Miss Sadie Pratt went to Portland last Tuesday to attend a dinner party given in honor of her cousin who will go east very soon.

Last Wednesday evening the Delta Phi girls held their formal initiation service. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and the robority colors were tastefully used in the decorative scheme. After the service dinner was served. The new members are Lucille Tucker, Emma Shanafelt, Grace Brainerd, Grace Presley, Vesta Dicks and Ruby Ledbetter.

Rev. and Mrs. Hisey visited their son Oury Hisey at the Kappa Gamma Rho house on Tuesday.

Leon and Edna Jenison were dinner guests of Ina Moore on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Morley were week-end guests of Mable and Elsie at Lausanne hall.

Miss Myrtle Mason was the guest of Miss Blatchford for dinner on Thursday evening.

Miss Vashti Johnson enjoyed a pleasant and unexpected trip to her home in Portland last week-end.

The Misses Florence Klamp and Jamie Farmer spent the week-end at their respective homes.

From Our Contemporaries
The Columbia University students, especially the members of the newly organized "Young Americans' Democratic League," eagerly welcomed Governor Cox when he arrived in New York October 22.
The suggestion of one of the freshmen of the University of Southern California, that the freshmen and sophomore girls have a pushball contest, was met with shocked surprise, wonder and amazement by the male members of the school's voting population. Women can vote—why not play pushball?
This was taken from the Drury "Mirror."

In order to cultivate that friendly feeling so necessary for the proper cooperation in school, the Missouri University students are making plans for a "Hello" Day, on which each student greets every other student with that familiar, whole-hearted word.
If a thing like that can be successfully executed at an institution of over 5000 students, surely the 240 Drury students can put it over overwhelmingly. It would create a feeling of democratic friendliness with every one. Why not follow the lead of our State U? Think it over. Every day is "Hello" Day at Willamette.

Albion college has organized a "Preachers' club" of all its students holding local preacher licenses.
The personal supervision of freshmen boys by juniors and seniors, or the "Big Brother" plan is to be adopted by the University of Utah. For Armistice Day the Iowa State College has planned an elaborate program in which Sousa's band will take part.

Alice Dow was a dinner guest of Gertrude Aldrich on Sunday.

Dr. Franklin was entertained at dinner Tuesday evening by the Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

A few choice spirits enjoyed mystic revelry in a very human way on Friday evening when one strange phantom tripped through Lausanne hall devouring fried chicken "from home." It is said she emerged from Ruby Ledbetter's room.
