YR's to Hear Newbry in Initial Address

Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry, the only affirmed candidate in this year's state gubernatorial race, will speak to the Young GOPs on campus Wednesday, September 30, at 7:30 p.m. in Baxter hall. The date, originally set for next Wednesday, was moved up due to another commitment.

Newbry announced his intention to run for the governor's chair this summer in California and as yet no candidate has spoken out in opposition. The general feeling is that incumbent Gov. Patterson will seek his job back but thus far no word has been reported that was in reference to his position in the May primaries.

Newbry is expected to attract a large number of people in addition to the regular Young Republican members. The important Oregon dailies in the area are also expected to be on hand.

Following the talk by Newbry next week, there will be an informal question and answer period for 20 minutes said H. Paul Johnson, president of the group.

This will be the first meeting of the Young Republicans this year. Johnson said "any and everyone" is welcome to the meeting.

Campus Chest Awaits Action By Council

Council go-ahead is all that remains before the final word on this year's Campus Chest program can be told, Bob Batchelder, general chairman, said this week.

Campus Chest is the one big charity quest for money during the school year. It is student-run and proceeds are funneled to the various needy groups. Thus far this year, community chest and foreign students at home and abroad are slated for funds with further advance allocation to be examined by the student council, said Batchelder.

Again this year the chest program will be ended by Varsity Varieties, the proceeds of which will be added to the fund. The giant student-talent show on October 9 will also be a part of Parents' Weekend festivities.

Campaigning for funds this year will be aimed at a dollar a piece from each student. The campus will be divided into four groups: Greek men and women, independent campus students and independent town students according to a plan not yet approved by the council.

Batchelder's committee members working to date are Daline Montag in charge of solicitations and Duane Alvord, heading publicity.

Guide's Print Date Forecast

Fusser's Guides, the campus directory listing phone numbers and addresses of students, faculty, and University staff and offices, should be ready for distribution within six weeks, according to Mary Jane Stewart, editor.

Actual work must wait until student directory cards filled out during registration can be sorted. Names will then be compiled in alphabetical lists for the printers.

Proofs from the printers will be sent to living organizations for individual checking at group meetings, when students will correct their own listing.

The Fusser's Guides will be available to all students who present their student body card at the student body office.

Charmalee Allen has been appointed assistant editor by Miss Stewart.

Debate Call Issued

The debate squad will gather for the first time September 22, Tuesday, at 3 p.m. in Waller 206. It is an open meeting and anyone interested in debate is free to come to the meeting or drop in and see Dr. Howard Runkel, debate instructor, at any time.

The debate question for this year is "resolved that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade."

Drama Aspirants To Try Monday

Tryouts for Noel Coward's "Hay Fever," Willamette's first theater production of the year, begin Monday and conclude Tuesday night, according to Robert M. Putnam, head of the drama department.

Open to all students, the tryouts are scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Monday and from 7 to 8:30 Tuesday night in Waller hall.

This year's season will include three plays, and Coward's comedy is the only one definitely chosen for production so far. The date of presentation has been tentatively set for October 29, 30 and 31.

One of the five pert co-eds pictured will be hostess for Willamette's annual homecoming set for October 24. They are, left to right, Sally Jo Grimm, Yvonne Grosser, Marie De Harpport, Eleanor Payne and Liz Loving. Ballot boxes for the election of the hostess will close at 4 p.m. today. Living organizations will be notified tonight of the election results.

Classes Meet Next Week to Nominate Officers

Registration Figures Mount as Students Return

Classes will meet next week to nominate candidates for offices to be balloted on at the all-school election announced for September 29 by Gay Weeks, second vice-president of the student body, at the first student council meeting Wednesday.

On that day also, candidates for the empty post of first vice-president of the student body will give their campaign talks.

AWS members will elect officers on the same day.

The primaries for the all-school elections will start after the 10 a.m. convocation at which first vice-presidential candidates will be introduced and will run until noon of the next day. At this time any necessary finals will take up and last until noon of the next day (Thursday, October 1), reports Weeks.

Meeting time for classes next week include the sophomores at 12:30 noon on Tuesday in Waller hall, the seniors on Wednesday, freshmen Thursday, and the juniors Friday all at the same daily time and place.

In other action, the council left in the hands of the second vice-president the time of the Glee manager election. Weeks said this post would probably be put to the ballot about two or three weeks after all-school election. Freshmen were urged to begin formulating plans to elect a Glee manager. The goal of the council is to attempt to have a manager before the Christmas holidays.

Frosh Elect

The freshman class organized Monday by electing its temporary officers. In the meeting conducted by ASWU president Jim Hitchman, the frosh selected Lyle Shephard, Jr., Salem, to fill the post of president and Marilyn Waterman, Bend, as secretary.

Shephard is a Sigma Chi pledge and Miss Waterman is a pledge member of Delta Gamma.

Council Appoints Committeemen

The student council made yearly routine appointments to committees at their first meeting Wednesday.

The faculty members selected to the publications board were Dr. Howard Runkel and Prof. George Edwards. Student members chosen were Mary Jane Stewart and George Bleile.

The six students selected to the discipline board were Augusta Krause, Daline Montag, Mary Campbell, Tom Schrock, Kent Meyers and H. Paul Johnson. The board meets in cases of student misconduct.

With registration still incomplete, Willamette has 952 students registered for the 1953-54 fall semester, according to figures from the offices of Harold B. Jory, registrar, and Dean Seward P. Reese of the school of law.

Jory reported that 848 students have registered in the colleges of liberal arts and music, while Reese reports 104 have signed up for law school.

Of the totals, the freshmen hold a dominating role by far. Liberal arts claims 331 frosh while the school of music has 24. One of the biggest first-year classes in years at the law school has 49.

In the school of liberal arts, sophomore number 193, juniors have 141 and 93 seniors have registered. Also entering were 13 graduate students and 11 specials. The college of music has a total of 66.

Other law school breakdown figures show 30 second-year and 25 third-year students.

Willamette's freshmen orientation week ended Monday with the registration of the 355 freshmen Saturday. Law students also registered on Saturday and old students Monday. Classes in all but the school of law started Tuesday while the lawyers resumed studies on Monday.

Enrollment figures at this time last year recorded a total of 1055 students. The present 952 tally will increase with late registrations.

Homecoming Honor Sought By 5 Co-eds

Five Willamette beauties are running today in an election which will pick one of them Homecoming Hostess or throw the ballot to a run-off vote Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Sally Jo Grimm, Liz Loving, Eleanor Payne, Yvonne Grosser and Marie De Harpport are competing for the hostess honors of the annual Bearcat Homecoming set against Lewis and Clark October 24 on the McCulloch turf.

In a sudden election, necessary to get the big-game publicity ball rolling, student body second vice-president Gay Weeks told the student council Wednesday of plans to have a co-ed chosen for the honor in a hurry-up election by next Tuesday. The nominations were made from and by the junior class Wednesday noon and the polls opened Thursday (yesterday). Polls will remain open from 8 until 4 today in Eaton and Collins halls and the same times and places will be continued should a run-off ballot be needed. Living groups will be notified of the election results Friday evening.

The duties of the hostess consists mainly of acting as an official greeter of alumnae who converge on the campus each homecoming time, speaking at the game, awarding trophies and being the chief attraction in a myriad of publicity pictures.

This year's choice will be Willamette's third Homecoming Hostess. Dona Mears led off two years ago and Carolyn Crane won the honor last year. The idea of a "hostess" was partly designed to add variety to the "queen" parade.

The five hostess candidates visited campus living organizations last night and were formally introduced to student voters. Alumnae will be given an advance introduction to the official hostess when her picture appears on the cover of the Alumnus.

Aid Welcome For Challenge

"We will be glad to work with any interested students who want to help with the challenge fund," President Smith said this week, indicating that while it is up to such interested students to initiate such work, the challenge campaigners would be glad to help with organization.

Dr. Smith foresaw the possibility of starting construction on the million dollar phase of the long-range Willamette improvement fund in the spring, if sufficient money can be raised.

To date, campaigning mainly in the Salem-Portland area has netted about $165,000. The Willamette faculty has volunteered $14,125 of this. The drive for funds is being done entirely on a voluntary basis. Local leaders are Robert C. Notson of Portland and Tinkham Gilbert of Salem. President Smith is acting as coordinator of activities.

He said Wednesday, "It is the sincere hope of the development committee that students show interest." No one expects, he added, that anyone give beyond his means. President Smith will explain challenge fund activities at the convocation on Tuesday, September 29.

Yesterday the first report luncheon of progress with the Portland campaign was slated for that city. Solicitation teams have been organized and 20 captains have been appointed to the organization.

Air U. Steps Forth With a Plan

At long last, ROTC officials and college advisers have cause for mustering more than a shrug or blank stare when it comes down to "draft," "reserve," "quotas" and other such ominous words on which all men are seeking counsel these days. Now, we hope, federal government spokesmen can get together on policy statements which periodically have added to the general confusion surrounding the military service issue.

Last June college men left their studies with the idea of at least knowing the advanced ROTC had a place for them if they had previously scored high on tests and class grades and were physically qualified. To help ease matters Defense Secretary Wilson reported later that draft quotas were to be cut and that coveted degree no doubt looked a little closer for many university men. Next Gen. Hershey clarified things considerably by revealing that more men were needed and draft calls would not go down. There were still men to be rotated.

Next under secretary Hannah, reported that all reservists who did not qualify or refused to fly would be given the old heave-ho.

Now, a long-range plan has been announced by Air university and the individual can pretty well pin down where he stands. He has his choice of continuing under his respective category if he qualifies or applying for a student deferment.

This looks about as simple as the situation has for a good long time. It is certainly understandable that the air force would have to cut somewhere if their pockets are slit and certainly now the top boys can get together on official statements. —C.R.

Faculty to Relate Vacations

Summer experiences will be recounted by several faculty members at a special program 3 p.m. today in the recital hall. Students and faculty are invited.

During the summer Dean Regina Ewalt attended Boston university. While there she visited the MacDowell Colony in Peterborough, New Hampshire. Dean Ewalt will tell of her visit to the Colony.

Dr. Cameron Paulin spent the summer in Europe, and while there he attended concerts at various places on the continent. He will tell about the use of appropriate settings to heighten the effect of musical performances. He attended the performance "Aida" at the Arena in Verona, Italy a concert by the Florence Symphony at Pitti Palace in Florence; and the International Music Festival at Lucerne, Switzerland.

The northwest regional meeting of the Music Teachers National association was held in Seattle, Wash., this summer. Professor Ralph Dobbs played a special concert for the convention. He is going to perform two of the numbers that he played at the convention.

A schedule of student and faculty recitals for the year will be announced at the meeting.

European Countries Visited By Hocking, Students on Tour

Dr. George Hocking assumed his university duties as head of the language department this week after returning recently from conducting a student study tour group around Europe.

The Hocking-led group of students studied for two months at Grenoble, France and then took a month dip into Spain where they visited Madrid and Barcelona. Madrid, he said, was extremely impressive and also hot.

Dr. Hocking reported that the government of Dictator Franco is now operating under strong popular support. The government seems to be maintaining strength from the fact that it is striving to make good "campaign promises" and promote the general lot of the residents.

Infiltration danger from Red countries to the east does not seem to be any pressing problem said Dr. Hocking. The people of Spain, independent and strongly Catholic, are not too susceptible to the Communist doctrine partly because of these reasons.

Dr. Hocking's role during the past summer included helping some 30 students with their studies at the French university while living in the homes of local people and conducting the students through the country.

New Director Picks Voices

Prof. Don Gleckler, new director of the a cappella choir, made public Tuesday the names of latest additions to the group as a result of tryouts last week.

Those who will join the 1953 tour personnel include Donna Cederstrom, Pat Gardner, first sopranos; Sonja Anderson, Laura Betterton, Barbara Kaufman, Pat Hostetler and Lois Wickersham, second sopranos; Margaret Huson, Donna Leonard and Marilyn Blakley, first altos; Pat Shields, Clara Skjersaa, Jean Snow and Celia Varner, second altos; Curtis Starr, second tenor; Jerry Friesen, David Kvale, Thomas Loree, Roy Maltby, Robert Van Vactor and William Covert, baritone; and Glenn Hall, bass.

SAX Select Heads, Choose Members

Dave Finlay was elected president and four new members were chosen at the first meeting of Sigma Alpha Chi, sophomore men's honorary Tuesday evening.

The new men are Duane Alvord, Bob Kaufman, Ross Kines and Page Bailey. Other officers include Bill Freeman, social chairman George Bleile, treasurer; Dale Patton, secretary, and Gino Pieretti, rush chairman.

Season Concert Ticket Sales For Series Pass 2000 Mark

Ticket sales for the 1953-'54 Willamette Distinguished Artists Series shot over the 2,000 mark following a tally of spring and summer sales, reported Manager Stuart Shaw this week.

In other action on the concert front, Shaw confirmed the dates for the four artists who will make up the University's concert season over the school year. The dates and artists include Thomas L. Thomas, Nov. 6; Isaac Stern, Jan. 28; Vienna String Symphony, Feb. 9, and the First Piano Quartet, March 15.

Publicity this year will continue to be handled by the concert board. Shaw will lead this group after having taken over the series reins before the last concert last year from Phil Ringle.

The total cost for this year's four artists is $5700 which is $800 below the price of last year's slate.

The cost of unreserved student tickets, going at 80 cents cheaper than last year, are $4. Reserved seats are on sale at Stevens and Son Jewelers in downtown Salem at $6 and $7.20.

Manager Shaw reported that there is a limited number of student tickets available which may be obtained from representatives in the various living groups.

First FTA Meeting

The Future Teachers club will hold its first meeting next Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in Chresto cottage, reported Joe Benninghoff, president, this week. Dr. Thomas Bennett is slated to speak. All majors or those interested in education are invited to attend.

Campus Chatter Starts Thursday

Initial Campus Chatter program for the fall season will be aired next Thursday evening at 10 o'clock, over radio station KOCO. This will mark the third year Campus Chatter has been presented by the Willamette radio department.

Two major changes will be noted in this year's radio series. One show a month will be a half-hour program, with three shows to run the regular 15 minutes each week. The Chatter show will be presented Thursday evenings at 10 o'clock instead of Mondays.

The first program will introduce the new drama and radio director, Robert Putnam. It will also bring student body president Jim Hitchman to the mike, as well as two freshmen.

Directing this season's Campus Chatter shows will be George Evans, Bill Hagemeyer and Beverly Lytle.

Three Women Tell Troths

News of the engagement of Mary Polales and Larry Standifer came as a surprise to members of Delta Gamma Monday night, when the troth was revealed. Boxes were passed until the one with the engagement ring was opened by Miss Polales. The traditional box of candy was passed.

Miss Polales is majoring in physical education, and is president of Delta Gamma. She is a senior. Standifer, a member of Beta Theta Pi, is a senior majoring in biology.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Brandt-Hande

Donna Brandt announced her engagement to Jack Hande recently at the Chi Omega house during dinner. The troth was revealed during dessert, when cupcakes, iced with the Greek letters of Chi Omega and Sigma Chi, were served.

Miss Brandt is a sophomore and a member of Chi Omega. Hande, a member of Sigma Chi, is a senior in liberal arts.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Lanke-Rogers

Among the recently engaged couples are Joan Lanke and Roland Rogers, whose engagement was announced by the bride-to-be's parents.

Miss Lanke is a former Willamette student who majored in art. Her fiance is a junior at Oregon State college, and he is majoring in agriculture education.

Russian Class Open

Openings still exist in the beginning Russian class to be offered this year. Contact either Dr. Hocking of the language department, or Lawrence Monk immediately.

ROTC Offers New Categories

Advanced ROTC students were cued in on the newest policy of Air university in dealing with its reservists since Congress' recent cut in the air force budget at a briefing session Tuesday by Capt. William A. Kirkham of the campus detachment. He announced that Air University has initiated a new long-range plan.

Now Three Categories

Capt. Kirkham said that the very fact that a definite policy has been set down could hint of even more easing of quotas in the future. However, qualifications in limited categories could understandably be stiffened.

Acceptance in the advanced ROTC program is determined in three categories. The first (I) is flight training. Men may now be accepted into this group on "formal" basis which means that they are fully qualified; or a "conditional" basis meaning the air force does not have sufficient funds to accept immediately men of their tested ability or that their qualifications are not definitely determined. Men who score the equivalent of this level on the test and who are physically qualified can be accepted on a formal basis as soon as anticipated AF funds become available.

In the next group (II) one campus man will be accepted on a conditional basis and one on an "informal" basis in the fields of aeronautical, nuclear or electrical engineering. The informal rating denotes that no contract has been signed with the air force and that the student is simply continuing the class in the hope that looser quotas may be adopted.

Possible Draft Duty

In the administrative (III) group only three will be accepted on a conditional basis on the campus. Others remaining in this group because of physical reasons can do so on an informal basis.

Should a reservist complete advanced training after May of 1954, he will be commissioned or else receive a "certificate of completion." The latter cancels his deferment and makes him eligible for the draft, but should an emergency arise that he would be called in air force service, he would receive his commission. He could also pick up the commission in a reserve group after serving draft duty. It is expected that the air force will be able to take all fully qualified pilots.

Men who do not remain in the RO corps must seek student or 2S deferments.

Capt. Kirkham reported that the local detachment feels a "moral obligation" to students and will attempt to secure roomier quotas.

Smith Urges Continuation

President Smith urged this week that all men continue in the ROTC under the present program.

The change in the ROTC set-up comes through Air university and stems from the recent cutback by Congress of air force size from 143 wings to 120.

Prospective advanced students who have not yet taken the seven-hour air force test given last spring must do so before they can go on with advanced training, said Maj. Gilbert Charters of the campus detachment.

30 Senior Scholars Chosen

Thirty students in 16 different departments are senior scholars this year at Willamette.

This year's senior scholar list includes, art, Jane Notson; biology, Barbara Manley; chemistry, Robert Brown and Donald Chittick; economics, Marilyn Harris and Richard Sutter; education, (graduate assistants) Joe Benninghoff and Dick Mase; English, Beverly Kliever, Marjorie Leonard and Johanna Beckham; foreign language, Sally Bridgeman, Marilyn English and Sallie Cheavens.

History, Mary Campbell and Jim Hitchman; home economics, Mary Alice Andresen; music, Carol Emerson, Jane Gray, Lisbeth Shields; philosophy, Don Sandstrom; physical education, Layton Gilson and Mary Polales; political science, Ray Crittendon, Don Drake and Bob Packwood; psychology, Joan Currie and Kent Myers; religion, Ann Mellis; sociology, Nancy Doughton.

Sigs Serenade Yellow Jackets; Lausanne Women Flee Pests

Consternation ran high and the yellowjackets ran amuck this past week in Lausanne hall.

The stinging animals who attempted to harbor themselves under the back porch of the dorm have been quelled, but for about forty women residents, consternation will continue until the swelling goes down.

The fun started Thursday night as the Sigma Chi's were serenading the Lausanne women. It was indeed noble of the Sigs to do so, for it was the first song-fest of the year, but the yellowjackets evidently didn't agree.

Naturally excited about the singing, the women rushed out onto the second and third floor porches. It was then discovered that the second floor veranda had other occupants.

No doubt the poor Sigs wondered what kind of women these were that had recently been brought into Willamette, for they didn't even wait for them to stop singing before they began screaming and slapping the air. The bewildered fraternity boys just stood there, then, as the women ran for cover from the yellowjackets which had come out to put an end to the disturbance.

About 40 of the women were stung by the yellowjackets. Results of the affair can be seen as some women are running around with swollen feet, swollen necks, arms and legs.

It was decided by the administration after a quick conference that the yellowjackets did not belong in Lausanne hall. Efforts to remove them were successful as the wasp man (the bee man refused to have anything to do with them) came around and fumigated the little winged things.

Bearcats Face CPS Tomorrow Night In Season's Opener at McCulloch Field

To say that the season-opening Willamette-College of Puget Sound game set for tomorrow night at McCulloch stadium at 8 o'clock will be a toss-up appears to be the understatement of the week.

Last year the two teams battled evenly to a 20-20 draw in early season and then went on to post impressive records in their respective conferences. This year they both drew an impressive list of freshmen and transfers to supplement the 20-plus lettermen which they alike lost.

John Heinrich's CPS Loggers boast 19 returning lettermen with only two spots in the starting lineup without a monogrammer. Among the Loggers are eight runners who are potential TD threats at all times. Any one of these backs have the speed and elusiveness to break up a ball game from any spot on the field at any time.

All Veteran Backfield

Tackle Frank Paige, a transfer from University of Washington, and Lou Grzadziewski, an end, are the two untried Loggers in the CPS starting lineup. The rest of the forward wall is made up of veterans including Warren Logan, end; Dick Hansen and Gerry Murdock, guards; Dick Graham, tackle; and Babe Bubholm, center.

The all-lettermen backfield has Spike Schrette at full, Rick Dodds and Dale Meshke at halves, and Sandy deCarteret at the quarterback slot.

Bearcat Coach Ted Ogdahl will have 14 lettermen and a lot of promising but untried material to greet the Loggers. Among them will be four all-Northwest selections from last season—offensive center Ken Cooper, guards Cliff

York and Ruben Menashe and linebacker (in the days of the platoon system) Andy George.

Cooper at Center

All but York are in the probable starting lineup for tomorrow night's opener. George and Menashe have been groomed for the starting guard spots while Cooper will handle the starting center spot.

Working out from the center of the line, Ogdahl names Dorence Noteboom and Dave Anderson, both veterans, to the tackle positions. Jerry McCallister and Dean Benson, returning wingman, hold the starting end positions to complete the Bearcat forward wall.

The backfield is a little different but not much. Ogdahl will have John Kent, who was Benny Holt's shadow last year, in the quarterback slot; Lou Lofland, squat line-cracking returnee, is booked for one halfback post while Eldridge Sequiera, freshman flash from Honolulu, will hold down the other. George Bardsley, who prepped at Benson of Portland and played Shrine ball, will be the starting fullback.

Biggest training problem for Ogdahl and his assistant, Jerry Frei, has been getting players who are used to playing only one phase of the game to perform well on both offense and defense. Of course this problem is peculiar to no team these days.

The Bearcats have one more game to get in shape for their league opener against the highly-rated College of Idaho October 3. That game will be up north against the Western Washington College of Education squad of Bellingham. It will be the final non-conference fray for the locals until they travel to San Luis Obispo to take on Cal Poly in the season's finale. Five conference games intervene.

Sports

ROTC Rifle Squad

All ROTC cadets who are interested in joining the rifle team are urged to attend the first meeting of the year set for next Tuesday night at 7:30 in the gymnasium.

If it is possible, a film on rifle range safety will be shown according to rifle team coach, M/Sgt. Robert Howard.

Intramural Council Picks Wednesday For Opening Date of Touch Football

Next Wednesday has been picked by the intramural council as the day for the opening of this year's touch-football action.

Two games will be played each day, one at noon and the other at 4 o'clock, on Sweetland field. Action will be limited to Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

The rules will remain the same except for two changes. Tie games will not be played off. The other change deals with the extra point. Last year the extra-point try had to be tried ten yards back and the defensive team could not rush until the ball had been placed on the ground. This season the defensive club can rush as soon as the ball has been snapped.

The two leagues will play out their own separate schedules and the two top teams of each league will play in a post-season tournament to decide the winner of the intramural football championship. The Wits won the crown last year by defeating the Betas in the championship game.

Points are awarded in intramural football towards determining the winner of the intramural sports plaque which the Wits now hold.

Women to Make New Intramural Schedule

This year's women's intramural board will meet next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at Dr. Currie's home to plan for the coming year.

Mary Polales is the chairman of the board which has a representative from each women's living organization. The members are Inez Adams, Alpha Chi's; Wanda Tanner, Bishop and Wits; Donna Brandt, Chi Omega; Delpha Short, Delta Gamma; Dolly Mae Cummings, Lausanne; and June Harmes, Pi Phi's.
