

Registration of 1172 Breaks All Records

Campus Subsidies After Sign-up Confusion

Registrar Harold B. Jory ceased the work of sorting, assembling and alphabetizing approximately 17,000 registration cards long enough Wednesday to report that the semesters enrollment had broken records in all departments. A total enrollment of 1172, with more stragglers expected, is the largest in the entire history of the university.

Freshman registration, Law school sign-up, music school and liberal arts enrollment all topped the enrollments of previous years, Jory stated.

Jory remarked that the percentage of veterans among the incoming freshmen was lower than it has been for the past few semesters.

This is the first year that the registration procedure has been staggered alphabetically and Jory expressed satisfaction with the way things went off.

"We have never handled so many registrants and we've never been done so early," Jory said. "I wish to thank all those who kept their appointments," he added.

Jory warned that the last day for adding new classes is Monday, October 6 and that the last day dropping classes without penalty is Monday, October 20, four weeks from registration.

In closing Jory stated that the system of staggering registration appointments had been successful enough to try again next year.

Jory's breakdown of registration is as follows:

Liberal Arts	Men	Women
Freshmen	207	148
Sophomore	177	94
Junior	140	59
Senior	75	42
Special	3	8
Grad. Students	18	1
Music School
Freshmen	4	23
Junior	5	6
Senior	6	3
Special	1	8
Law School	117	3
Total	1172

Murdock Appointed Homecoming Head

Gordon Murdock, who was appointed Homecoming manager at Tuesday's student council meeting, has opened the Homecoming slogan contest. Slogans suggesting the theme for the homecoming activities are to be deposited in boxes in the Cavern and Eaton Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The slogan is to be a fight theme in connection with the UBC game and the winner is to be rewarded with a monetary prize. Last year's winning slogan was "Plow the Ground With Puget Sound."

Murdock has appointed Aldene Gould, Gene Schmidt and Jim Purdy to act as his assistants in preparing for the big weekend of October 17 and 18. Carl Ritchie and Joe Power have been chosen to handle the publicity for the activities.

Murdock met his first difficulty immediately when he discovered that the homecoming football game, with the University of British Columbia, had been scheduled for Saturday night. This schedule would prohibit the traditional Saturday night all-school Homecoming dance.

Conferences with the administration and a phone call to UBC have resulted in re-scheduling the game for Saturday afternoon. The Homecoming dance will take place Saturday night as usual, Murdock reports. Ray McCoy will be in charge.

Murdock plans to maintain all of the traditional events of the Homecoming celebration. These will include the noise parade competition, the campus sign contest, the rally and bonfire, open house dances and freshman-sophomore competition at the football game.

Vets Checks Delayed

The VA warned this week that veterans enrolled under the GI bill will not receive their first subsistence checks until early in November.

Wayne F. Smith, VA training officer, advised veteran students to make sure that they have enough money on hand to cover expenses for the first 45 or 60 days after they enter training, saying that most of them should receive checks about November 10.

ASWU And Class Elections Scheduled For October 10

Calendar

All new and old students interested in helping edit the forthcoming Wallulah will meet with the staff Tuesday at 1 in the Waller office, Warren James, editor, announces.

Student Body tickets may still be obtained in the S.B. office upon presentation of the white receipt received at registration.

Swing your partner 'round tonight at the ASWU Barn dance in the gym from 7 to 11.

The sophomore class will meet Tuesday at 4 in Room 306, Waller Hall, to nominate fall class officers.

Lettermen club members will meet Tuesday at 1:30 in the chapel to discuss plans for the first Kangaroo Kourt of the fall on October 7. Other plans and activities for the year will also be outlined.

A waffle feed, sponsored by the Westminster Fellowship, will be given in the Fireside room of the First Presbyterian church this Sunday at 8:30.

A meeting of the junior class will be held Wednesday at 4 in the Little Theatre to nominate class officers, announces George Hurt, past president.

Dorm Named Baxter Hall

The university's new men's dormitory, now building, was named Baxter Hall in honor of Bishop Bruce Baxter, past president of WU, who died in June.

It was decided to name the dorm after Bishop Baxter at a meeting of the board of trustees in June, Pres. G. Herbert Smith said this week.

A study by Dean Lawrence A. Riggs indicated that students with a grade point of 3.0 or better averaged 4 cuts per semester and students with a GPA of less than 2.0 averaged 15 unexcused absences per semester and was cited as further evidence bolstering the faculty action.

The ruling which provides for double cuts on days immediately preceding and following scheduled holidays was adopted because of the severe rise in absences always experienced before and after these periods. Peak of irregular attendance for the year is during Easter vacation season, Smith said in conclusion.

current during the two days immediately preceding or following any regularly scheduled vacation or holiday shall be counted as two absences," was another rule adopted by the faculty.

Professors are required to keep a record of absences in their classes and to make daily reports to the office of the personnel deans.

Pres. G. Herbert Smith stated that these regulations were recommended by the policy committee after long and careful consideration throughout the summer.

A survey of 17 colleges of Willamette's class revealed that only two of the 17 had no attendance regulations and 15 provided some penalty for excessive absences, Smith said in explaining the faculty action.

The entire survey indicated

Nominating Petition Deadline Set For Friday, October 3

Elections of all class officers, freshman representative to the student council, and members of the judiciary committee will be held Friday, October 10, Chuck Mills, ASWU second vice-president, announced this week.

Nominations for class officers and freshman representative will be made by the classes at regular class meetings.

The judiciary committee of nine members will be made up of two members from the senior class, two from the junior class, one from the sophomore, one from the freshman class, and one member each from the College of Law, College of Music, and the College of Liberal Arts.

Duties of the judiciary committee will be to pass on questions of interpretation of the constitution and to handle disciplinary matters of problems referred to it by the student council.

Nominations for candidacy to the judiciary committee will be made by the regular petitioning procedure. A candidate's petition must have 25 signatures, must specify the group to be represented and must be presented to Dr. Daniel Schulze by October 3, Mills said.

Polls will be open in the Cavern, Eaton hall, and the Law school from 8 to 4 Monday, October 10.

Mills stated that a candidate must have a majority of all votes to be elected. If no candidate has a majority a runoff election will be held the following Monday between the two candidates having the most votes.

Chairman

Ray Fedje, named by the student council Tuesday to take charge of arrangements for the Whip Whitman banquet, has plans well underway for the traditional rally feast.

Phi Alpha, Future SAE Group, Makes Appearance on Campus

Phi Alpha fraternity, newest of the fraternities on the Willamette campus, will start its official program for the year when men's rushing begins October 7.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, both national offices and Oregon Alpha of Oregon State, will assume supervision of this local and it is the intention of the actives on the campus now to petition the SAE convention of 1949 for a national charter.

Don Yocom, sophomore in business administration, has been instrumental in forming the nucleus of this organization and will act as contact man between the local fraternity and the national offices of SAE.

Hu Brown, junior in business administration, and Mel Lein, junior in business administration, will be on the Willamette campus this year to educate and assist the actives of Phi Alpha in their organization and charter drive.

Present plans include Phi Alpha as one of the active fraternities that will occupy the four wings of the new men's dorm.

Sophs Escape Tuesday Hour

Alternating between student body shows and programs selected by the personnel office, Tuesday chapel will be required only of the freshman this fall due to the increase in this class over former years.

A veteran's chapel featuring a guest speaker is planned for Tuesday, Dean Lawrence A. Riggs reports. New professor of religion on the campus, Dr. Raymond Withey will be speaker at Thursday's chapel in the First Methodist Church.

Lettermen will reign supreme over the first three Kangaroo Kourts October 7. It was announced by Don Preiss, newly appointed chairman of the student activity chapel programs.

Excuses for work may be obtained from Olive M. Dahl, dean of women, or Riggs.

Faculty Modifies Cut Penalties

When a student's unexcused cuts in a course exceed the number of registered hours in that course, he may be placed on probation for the remainder of the semester was the attendance ruling adopted by the faculty at their meeting Tuesday night.

This is a modification of the attendance rule adopted by the faculty at the close of last year. Last year's cut laws made failure the penalty for too many unexcused absences in a course.

"In cases wherein the absences jeopardize the student's standing in a course the professor may request removal of the student from the course," continued Tuesday's faculty ruling.

Further provisions of the attendance regulation allow individual professors to treat habitual tardiness as absence.

"Any unexcused absence in-

Hit It, Rook

"Don't dilly dally, just walk right up to that blonde in the yellow sweater and ask her for a date and get it over with," advised the freshman orientation bulletin of a large university some years ago.

This was the university's way of advising new students to take the plunge into college life in a hurry.

We think that advice with all its applications (it doesn't only apply to blondes) holds for students beginning Willamette's 106th year.

College life starts from a standstill every year like a train waiting at the station to pick up a load of passengers. When the train is waiting, when the campus organizations, activities and social life are gathering participants, it is a simple matter to climb aboard. Once aboard it is relatively simple to ride along in the swing of things.

After the first couple of weeks, however, campus activities gather way rapidly and are soon moving so fast that it is extremely difficult, and often painful, for the slow starters to catch up and climb aboard. Many never do make it and spend the year waiting on the station platform for another train that never comes.

Right now all campus activities, drama, publications, music, forensics, athletics and scholarship, to name a few, are looking for talent to carry them through the year. If you're interested in any of these things make 'em know it now.

So don't dilly dally, walk right up to that blonde and/or course, club, activity, organization and go to work this week while it is still easy.

We hope you have a big year.

Dr. S. B. Laughlin

Dr. S. B. Laughlin could always be found on the side of those battling for human betterment. As student in sociology he had faith in the improvement of mankind and threw his very considerable talents in movements for social reform. For over 20 years he inspired succeeding generations of Willamette students with his ideals of service. His was an original mind, and he launched many inquiries in quest of knowledge of human beings and how they act, delving particularly into the material available at state institutions. Death now, to society's loss, has closed the book of a busy and fruitful life.

(Ed. note): The above editorial appeared in the Oregon Statesman following the death of Dr. S. B. Laughlin this summer. Dr. Laughlin was professor of sociology at Willamette and is remembered by students of the past 44 years.

Bishop Bruce Baxter

No more fitting name could have been applied to the new men's dorm, now under the finishing stages of construction, than the one given it by the committee for that purpose, who named it "Bruce R. Baxter Residence Hall" for men. Although few present students were attending Willamette under Dr. Baxter's term as president, almost all have felt his influence and teachings at one time or another.

Having heard Bishop Baxter speak numerous times, it is not difficult to understand the tremendous effect upon the University his presence made. With a great capacity for friendship and helpfulness, Dr. Baxter was instrumental in leading Willamette during one of its largest periods of growth.

Those who today are proud of traditions and conditions at Willamette are indebted to Bruce Baxter, for without his leadership and fine standards, the University would not have achieved its present position.

I Am Dashing Madly Around Sorority Row To Get the Dope on Venerable Rush Week

My heavens, here I am walking past one of the women's sorority houses and I am seeing a bunch of figures draped in sheets on the front lawn all hooting like owls and I am wondering what on earth is going on.

I am grabbing myself a sheet and I am following these females downstairs in the basement, hearing a horrible bunch of screaming and hollering and banging and clanging, blood is running chilly in my corpuscles and I am being quite frightened.

Walking up the stairs I am running into a smooth looking witch who is slinking about the halls in a bare off-the-shoulder job.

"Well," I am saying after I am getting my breath back, "where am I being?"

She is looking at me with peek-a-boo eyes and bedroom hair and saying, "You are in the House of Green Lights."

What have I gotten into? I am deciding to leave. But I am also deciding that I am going to be doing some sleuthing on my side.

Now it is seeming that there is an old and hoary institution on this campus which is being called rushing. This is consisting mostly of a bunch of members of either sex getting together in a group. Since at present I am being more interested in the weaker sex I am confining my studies to them. These females are all getting together and acting like a bottle of saccharine pills to one another and to everybody they are meeting and they are all looking very smooth, what with their cashmeres and tight skirts and everything. The purpose being to make a bunch of innocent frosh want to live with them for four years.

Since one house is being so interesting I am taking it upon myself to visit the other ones.

I am therefore dressing myself up as Captain Kidd and I am hi-hoing away to a house where I am hearing they are having a treasure chest in the middle of the floor filled with jowels and things.

Getting over there, I am being grabbed at the door and having a patch stuck over my eye. It is therefore being very difficult for me to observe what with being blind in one orb. But I am seeing enough to find a big ship in the room. Just as I am walking in to take a better look, the side is falling down with a large bang.

This is beginning to get almost too much for my nerves and I am hollering, "I am not doing this, I am not doing this." Well they are telling me to please keep my mouth shut and then they are showing me downstairs to the playroom. My, I am beginning to be wondering what is wrong with me that I am always landing up in the lower regions of a house.

When I am getting down there I am sighing with a breath of relief, and then I am leaning up against a wall. Immediately everyone is screaming at me,

You Missed the State Fair? Everyone Else Was There!

Return of several hundred red-eyed students to the campus of WU proved that most students of the school are capably making a success of themselves in jobs around the country side. Evidence that these characters were able to shift for themselves was shown by the patriotic turn-out of collegiates during the Oregon (It must be good, it's made in Oregon—Starts Labor Day) state fair. Shows the school doesn't have any shiftless boys attending its ivy covered class rooms.

Take the Fitzsimmons boys, Honest Moe and Rube Ed, who offered their services to the fair board at the minimum wage of a buck and a half per hour just to be near the fillys. Moe, who acted as a gate foreman with the trimmings of a large yellow badge and a five cent stogie, had daily talks with the nags, but like so many nags, he found they wouldn't either listen or understand. The score was boosted by brother Ed, who took some folding money away from the races.

Bob Guild, Collegian editor, spent several busy days tearing tickets on concessions. The snake pit profited by the barking of the lad, who claimed the show was interesting as well as educational. Since Bob was obviously a college man, people made an effort to see the show.

When Bernice Martine-Lally got too kind-hearted, her receipts were short. Seems she bought a ticket for a young watcher of the kiddies' concession. The boy promptly disappeared and returned with two brothers who also wanted tickets.

Yes sir, Willamette personalities were well represented from Dr. Schulze at the box offices to Charles Barclay being horsey as the MC at the horse show. It's rough the Californians couldn't have made it up for Oregon's State Fair!

and I am immediately leaving. It is seeming that the wall is still wet and I am walking away with a large portion of their paint.

When I am arriving at the next house I am being greeted by a waterfall trickling out the front door and down the steps. "My," I am thinking, "what an attractive idea." I am trying to go into the front door and I am feeling like a fish at Bonneville going up the fish ladders, but I am thinking I will swim along with them. Well, I am getting up to the top without drowning and I am discovering that this novel idea is not supposed to be being, as it is really supposed to be being a wishing well and not a waterfall.

I am leaving this house and journeying homeward to attire myself in dry clothes when I pass another house. Not being able to stop my research for a moment I am marching up to the front porch.

On the way into the living room I am becoming involved with a cat and I am carrying it in with me and I am sitting down on the rug. People are looking at me quite peculiarly and I am becoming quite embarrassing about it.

Suddenly one of the members is rushing in and points a finger at me or at the cat (I am not being quite sure on that point) and saying, "Where on earth did you get that beast?"

Of course after that they are having to pledge me and since I am becoming one of the members of this great fraternity system I am having to quit sleuthing. After all rushing is being a great business and I am getting so I am being able to squeeze hands and weep over songs better than anyone else. And I am saying with great feeling:

"Alpha Cholera bids you here,
Wear these ribbons and have good cheer."
*Apologies to M. Shulman.

We Call It Registration—An Odd, Moldy Process

There she was, 30,000 places back in line and the advanced embroidery line with room for only two more needlework majors. Who said anything about being flat on your back?

Please define the above paragraph. OK. It refers to what happened the other day. In 1403 Congress passed a law (I know, I know, but you weren't here, so dry up and don't believe everything you read) that made it compulsory for all college students to go through a strange and moldy process which was called registration. Said process caused tomato juice sales to jump 30 per cent.

Prof. I. I. Boogalty, national authority on moldy processes, had this brief but elucidating comment to make:

"Students of Willamette! Learn to love the things you hate. Other young people all over the nation are doing it—doing it—doing it! The cry everywhere is to be, 'It's fun and we love it!'"

A statement from a heretofore reliable source says that at least three fine Bearcats went through the complete process, getting all their classes, not fainting in any of the smaller lines, and never losing their tempers. Although no official award is given, a wide-mouthed fish bowl will be presented these brothers in the "It's fun and I love it" clan.

Stu Compton, prey of this expanse we call Home, as usual has no comment to make. He belongs to the fifth freedom group: Freedom of silence. A fifth freedom is indeed a fine thing. See?

To the Editor:

In an article which I wrote in the September 1, 1944 issue, entitled "Two Alumni Named by Bar to Study Law School Merger," it stated that "F. M. Sercome . . . revealed in a telephone conversation yesterday that two . . ."

It should have read:

"It was revealed yesterday in a telephone conversation that two . . ."

The statement was slightly inaccurate in that F. M. Sercome revealed it that Wednesday to another party who relayed it to me on Thursday. The name of the lawyer should have been "Roy Shields" instead of "Ray F. Shields."

Sincerely,

Council Elects 12 to Positions On Committees

Twelve appointments were made to student government positions at Monday night's student council meeting.

Travis Cross, Lucille Veelman, Prof. Murco Ringnald and Loyd S. Jones, recent addition to the speech department, were selected to serve on the publications board. The publications board is charged with the supervision of WU publications and the training and selection of personnel to manage them.

New members appointed to the athletic board are Earl Hampton and Dale Bates. The athletic board allots the athletic budget and approves schedules among its other duties.

Janice Middleton and Dick Cravens were appointed to the Cavern board which acts as an advisory committee to the university business manager in matters concerning the Cavern.

John Christenson was appointed finance manager. As such he will serve on the educational activities board which is responsible for the budgeting of educational activity funds.

Approval of Bob Sayre as forensics manager and Janie Mathers as dramatics manager was voted by the council.

Dr. Chester F. Luther, professor of mathematics and former dean of the College of Liberal Arts, was the council's choice for faculty member of the council.

Alpha Phi Omega, campus service organization, was granted the hat check concession at ASWU dances this semester.

Fussers Guide Editor Needed

Applications for editorship of Fussers Guide, campus student directory and social calendar, will be received in the office of Dr. Daniel Schulze, ASWU graduate manager, until noon Monday, September 29, according to Ray Loter, chairman of the publications board.

Last minute choice of an editor for the Guide, on which work is to begin immediately, was made necessary when Dick Page, previously appointed editor, failed to return to school this year.

Applications should state the prospective editor's experience and his plans for the publication and will be acted upon by the publications board Monday.

Fusser's Guide will contain names, addresses, phone numbers, and probably the marital status of all students on campus. It is tentatively scheduled for publication in November.

Rent Adjustment

Rental adjustment on veteran's housing units may be arranged through Dean Lawrence A. Riggs. If the married vet's total income is less than $171.50, he is entitled to an adjustment, Riggs announces.

Yell Team Tryouts

Tryouts for the yell team will be held Monday at 4 p.m. in the gymnasium, according to ASWU president Stuart Compton.

The teams, consisting of a yell king and a yell queen plus additional yell leaders, are to perform before the student council which will make the final selection.

The yell leaders will lead cheers and songs at all university athletic events and pep rallies.

Men's Housing Now Adequate

Approximately 200 men attending Willamette university have been temporarily housed in Salem pending the opening of Baxter hall, the new men's dormitory, in February, it was announced by Lawrence A. Riggs, new dean of students. This provides housing for all men needing it.

The project, complete before the opening of the semester, was accomplished by letters to service clubs, churches and private homes, display ads in Salem papers, door to door canvassing by students, and a radio program over KOCO, Salem station. The radio program was made up of a 20 minute interview with Dean Riggs and Charles Barclay, publicity director for the university, urged the people of Salem to respond to the housing need.

Marilee Olson, Janis Middleton, Sally Smith and Harold Ranton did the house to house canvassing.

Excess housing is still available for approximately 100 students, Riggs reported.

7 Law Grads Pass State Bar

Seven WU law school graduates successfully passed the state bar examinations given in July, according to Arthur S. Benson, clerk of the state supreme court.

Students passing were George E. Constable, Frank J. Healy, jr., Rupert E. Park, Marion Reynolds, Arthur T. Cavanaugh, Thomas Benton Gabriel and Warren Lesseg.

Healy worked with the handicap of total blindness. He studied through the long course by using braille and his exceptionally keen memory. Dr. Seward P. Reese, dean of Willamette university law school, said Healy graduated at the top of his class despite his handicap and was a "very bright student."

The candidates will be formally admitted to the bar at a special ceremony in the supreme court building.

tary engineering is Ralph P. Bentz who replaces Ruth Porter. He has taught at Pennsylvania State college where he received his master of education degree and at Culver Military academy and Evanston Junior college.

Sororities Adopt Various Themes for Rush Parties

Various themes were adopted by the four campus sororities for rush week.

Pi Phi's Vary Program

The Pi Beta Phi house followed the themes of "House of Green Lights", for Thursday firesides, "Hotel Pi Phi" for Friday functions, and "Arrow Girl" for the preferential banquet on Saturday night.

Entertainment for the rush functions was varied with the following women taking part: Kathy Secord and Addyse Lane giving out with ghost stories, Shirley Weist, the Pi Phi Quartet, and trio entertaining with musical selections, Gyla Master-son and Maxine Muckle doing a dance number, and Addyse Lane, Geri Bowles, and Marilee Olson giving dinner speeches at the preferential banquet.

Alpha Chi Omega Themes Vary

Themes for the Alpha Chi Omega rush functions were varied. Clever skit produced Thursday was the "Evolution of a College Girl," with specimens of womanhood ranging from the cradle stage to the grave. Friday's firesides featured a pirate theme, with the living rooms decorated as a ship and some of the girls dressed as pirates, complete with tattoos.

Doorman at Chi O's

Chi Omega began a colorful rushing season as doorman Mary (Joe) Libby welcomed guests to the "Chi O Chateau" Thursday afternoon. Entertainment in the "Carnation Room" was presented by Ginny Atkinson, Marjorie Andreson, and Dorothy Hobson, singing "Naughty Angelina."

"The Perfume Bar" was the attraction at the next party when Mary Libby and models displayed to customer Margie Piehl the latest in perfumes and fall campus styles.

On Saturday the theme was "The Wishing Well" and each guest made a wish on the Chi Omega white carnation before dropping it into the well. A short skit, entitled "The Evolution of the Pin" was given, with Pat Dickey as narrator.

Dee Gees Use Novel Themes

Delta Gamma carried out the novel themes of "Life," "Anchor Inn," and "Heavenly Harbor" for their rush functions.

Entertainment, provided by some of the members, included solos by Marjorie Cooper and Joy Bushnell, a vocal trio composed of Inie Lou Wilhelm, Joy Bushnell, and Aldene Gould, narrative by Joyce McCracken, and piano solos by Pat Parsons. Guests were greeted at the door by Betty Leonard, hat check girl, and Doris Walser as "Mrs. St. Peter."

Smiths Receive New Students

Open House was held at the home of President and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith on Tuesday night for all freshmen and new students. The reception line was introduced by Mr. Walter E. Erickson and those in the reception line were President and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fenix, Dean and Mrs. Lawrence A. Riggs, Dean and Mrs. Melvin Geist, Mrs. Arthur Linerode, and Dean and Mrs. Lawrence A. Riggs, Dean and Mrs. Melvin Geist, Mrs. Arthur Linerode and Dean and Mrs. Seward Reese. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jory, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Withey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barclay and Dr. and Mrs. Norman Huffman assisted Mrs. Smith.

Also assisting were two upper class women from each living organization. The function, an annual affair, was from 8 to 10.

Buy a Brick, Help Build Chin-up Club Work Shop

Have you ever bought a brick for a quarter? Probably not, but these are not ordinary bricks for a common building. They are cardboard tags signifying that the buyer has donated 25c toward a building fund for a work shop to be constructed by the Chin Up Club of Oregon, Inc.

The drive, which started August 26, 1947 and will climax September 30, is being carried on in all the cities and counties in Oregon.

Sponsored by Pi Beta Phi, the sale of bricks will be made Monday throughout Wednesday on Eaton's lawn announces Kathleen Secord, director of the drive.

The Chin Up club was organized in 1941 for the physically handicapped and crippled of all races and creeds in Oregon. The work shop, to provide an opportunity where Oregon's handicapped may learn a trade, will be the first building to be constructed in the club's expansion program.

Beth Sellwood of Salem, Oregon, and a native of Oregon, who organized and founded the club, is a crippled woman who is working toward the goal of seeing that every handicapped person is well cared for and happy.

The organization was incorporated August 17, 1944 as non-profit, non-political, and became known as "Chin Up Club of Oregon." The official monthly publication, "Oregon Beacon," was first published March 15, 1944 and goes to the 7,000 and more members and other interested parties.

Women's PE Classes Hit Peak Enrollment for Busy Year

By JEWETT

In keeping with crowded conditions in the rest of the university, women's physical education classes have reached and passed capacity enrollment. As many girls seemed to be intent on learning to 'hit the mark', archery classes were full early. Both classes in badminton have more than enough enthusiasts to occupy the gym courts the four periods a week allowed them as well as keep the teacher, Ellen Forslund, busy. And the promise of square dancing in Dance quickly filled that class. Freshman gym classes will begin the year playing soccer while the good weather holds with recourse to volleyball and basketball in case of rain.

Tennis Courts Busy

Activities in women's athletics are getting well under way, since as early as a week ago Wednesday the tennis courts have been in use. Continuing good weather should make possible a fall tournament, and if the amount of practice is any sign of success, last year's champions are going to have some strong competition this year.

Out on the archery range last week brushing up on her own shooting and getting a little practice teaching in on new archers has been Virginia Cannon, new assistant in the women's physical education department.

The new position of the archery range at the east end of Sweetland field is ideal for both beginners and advanced archers, with the longer range of fifty yards for the more skilled and the hill behind the target to catch the stray arrows of the not so skilled.

WAA Elects Officers

Wednesday afternoon at four the Women's Athletic Association held its first meeting of the year in the gymnasium. After election of officers, Nan Wilcox gave a report on points earned in last year's sports participation, reading the point standing of each member. Plans got under way for a Play Night with discussion of date and appointment of committees. The Play Night, an annual fall event, is open to all girls with a special invitation to new girls interested in sports.

Tournament plans for team sports and individual sports are being made. Free use of the gym floor Monday through Thursday from four to five and Friday afternoon from one to four until Thanksgiving, will give opportunity for practice and development of some excellent volleyball and basketball teams for inter-class competition.

Also on the schedule for the year will be several inter-school Play Days giving opportunity for team and individual sports participation with other nearby universities.

Busy Mural Schedule Starts Monday With Gym Meetings

A big year is predicted for intramural activities by Physical Educator Les Sparks, as he is attempting to outline a program that will enable an enthusiast of any sport to participate in his choice. Wasting no time in getting organized, Sparks wants all managers of touch football outfits and all class representatives to meet Monday at 4 p. m. in the gym to arrange schedules for touch ball and inter-class basketball, respectively.

Noon will be the playing time for the touch league, as the half hour between 12:15 and 12:45 will be utilized the first four days each week to run off loop contests. Games will be played on the main field, and it is hoped that play can commence around October 1.

Meeting also Monday, the representatives will arrange a practice schedule for the various classes prior to the inter-class basketball run-off. Practice will probably start Wednesday, with three or four sessions slated for each class. The class competition is scheduled for around October 8, and last year's rules will prevail, as lettermen are eligible to compete. Intra-

By OAKES
"T" formation will be the order of the day as the Willamette Bearcats tackle the College of Pacific Tigers tonight at Stockton, California, on the Tigers home grounds in Baxter Stadium. Both coaches, Jerry Lillie of the Bearcats and Lawrence Siemerling of the Tigers, are exponents of the "T" and will be using it at their respective universities for the first time.

Lillie's change over from Walt Erickson's double wing back will be the tougher switch of the two, since Siemerling served as assistant to football's grand old man, Amos Alonzo Stagg, and though Siemerling doesn't feel qualified to continue Stagg's extensive system of flankers and pea-dingers, the change over to the "T" will be less extensive.

Although the Bearcats are clearly the underdogs, Lillie plans to use every trick and possibility the "T" affords to tip over the favored Tigers.

For the past three weeks he and his staff, composed of John Lewis, Marv Goodman, and Ted Ogdahl, have looked over nearly seventy aspirants for varsity berths. Of these, approximately thirty boarded an S.P. train last night for Stockton.

Injuries may keep several key men on the bench in tonight's opener. Seatback Howie Loreuz, who did much of the 'Cat ground gaining last year, pulled a leg muscle after two days of practice and has been on the shelf ever since. Another speedster, Al Minn, also pulled a leg muscle which will probably keep him out of the right half spot tonight.

Recurrent injuries have bothered Chuck Patterson and Bob Hill. Patterson, up from last year's jayvees, looked like the first string center during practice until knee trouble, stemming from an injury last year, bothered him. Hill, whose 260 pounds have been shifted to bolster a weak tackle position, is again having trouble with his shoulder and may not see action in the opener.

Lillie's main worry this fall is his comparative new line. Except for left end Bill Reder, who turned out late this fall, the Bearcat's entire '46 front wall is missing.

Bob Donovan, who was on the first string last year when not injured, will again draw first string duty at his old right guard berth. Art Beddoe, an 18 year old freshman from Vancouver high, will open at the other guard position. Unless Chuck Patterson is free from injury by tonight the starting nod will go to another freshman, Burnell Ambrose from Gresham.

Bob Douglas, last year's regular quarterback, will start tonight as pivot man. What he is able to do in this and future games may largely determine the success of this year's Bearcat gridgers. Earl Hampton, returning to the fold after a year's layoff, and John Burleigh, up from the jayvees, will bolster Douglas at the Q position. John Slanchik, last year's chief punter and long distance passer, arrived this week but is far from being in shape and will need some time to learn the "T".

The opening halfback slots will probably be handled by Keith Sperry from Burlingame and Bill Ewaliko from Hawaii.

Either Bob Warren, a hard hitting fullback, who transferred from Oregon, or hold-over Al Wickert from last year's squad, will open at fullback. Another line buckler from last year, Dick Fletchall, may see service tonight although he may eventually wind up in the center slot.

From word received from Stockton, it looks as though the Tigers are about three deep in experience with 28 lettermen returning. Last spring Coach Siemerling held practice to determine grid prospects for the fall and invited 47 of over 100 to return in the fall.

WU's new coaching staff, Lillie, Lewis, Ogdahl and Goodman

Lillie, Lewis, Goodman, Ogdahl Compose New Willamette Coaching Staff for 1947-1948 Year

By Anderes

Willamette footballers are now being put through drills and practices by their new head coach Jerry Lillie, assisted by Johnny Lewis, Ted Ogdahl and Marv Goodman. Lillie came to Willamette last spring after a successful year as coach at Punahou Prep in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Jerry Lillie

Coach Lillie is bringing the T formation with him and will use it with the single wing. Because of a light backfield he will probably emphasize a passing offense. Lillie would not commit himself when asked about the team's chances for the present football season. He said that he is now working with a good bunch of men but that he had no way of comparing them with other teams on the coming schedule.

During the '45-'46 season, prior to his trip to the islands, Lillie was coaching track and football squads at Central Washington College of Education at Ellensburg. During his year there Lillie won the track title and coached the town's basketball squad on the side.

However, Lillie is probably best known for his eight year stretch at Grant high in Portland from 1937 to 1945. During this period his pigskinners never finished lower than third in Portland's tough eight-team circuit. The long stretch was highlighted in 1943 when his charges won the city championship and went on to capture the state title.

Even more impressive than his football record is Lillie's track showing. In seven successive years his thinclads never failed to cop the city title and usually walked away with all the honors.

Looking further into Lillie's history we find that his success story began as early as 1931 when he started his career at St. Helens, where he won three basketball titles in five years. Lillie figured he would have won more if it hadn't been for the Anet-Johansen teamup at Astoria, which later received national recognition at U. of O.

Johnny Lewis

Another new member on the Bearcats' coaching staff is Johnny Lewis, taking over the position of assistant coach in football. Later on in the school year Lewis will be head coach of basketball and baseball.

Before accepting his Willamette post, Lewis coached the Aero club team in Portland's AL baseball league. The club was rated as one of the top teams in the league.

Lewis has an enviable 59-27 won and loss record from his five years of coaching in baseball and basketball. His coaching was interrupted during a hitch in the navy as lieutenant (jg) on a SC from '44 to '46.

After graduation John pitched for the Yakima club in the WI league for two years. His first season ended with 12 wins to his credit against 7 losses. In 1939 he dropped out near the season's end with a bad arm.

Lewis' coaching started in '40 as basketball coach at Kent high in Washington. He remained at Kent until 1942.

Then Roosevelt high of Portland beckoned and Lewis served another two year term. As baseball and basketball mentor he had a record of 40 wins against 18 losses.

After his term in the navy, Lewis returned to Portland as coach at Grant high. He again proved his winning ability by annexing 11 out of 16 on the casaba court, and 8 out of 12 on the diamond.

Marv Goodman

Marv Goodman has returned to the Willamette campus this year to take over as junior varsity coach while working for his masters degree in education.

Under his official title as frosh coach, Goodman is responsible for training the Bearcats' future gridiron stars. When asked about his predictions for the coming year, Marv said his boys will win a majority of their games. Included in the tough JV schedule this season is a game with the Portland U frosh and a benefit game with the Pacific JVs.

"Marvelous Marv" was last year's outstanding athlete at Willamette, being placed on the Little All-American eleven and winning the coveted Adams Hat trophy.

Marv first entered Willamette in '41. He returned in '44 as a V-12 student and has been awarded 10 major letters. They include four for baseball, three in football, two for basketball, and one for track.

Ted Ogdahl

Another former Little All-American who has returned to assist in football is Ted Ogdahl. Besides acting as backfield coach for the varsity, Ted is working for a master of education degree.

Ted placed Little All-American from Willamette in 1942, just before entering the marine corps. He played three years of football for the Bearcats as well as making a letter in track during the '42 season.

After joining the marines, Ogdahl was sent to College of the Pacific as a V-12 student and earned a letter in football there. During his two years before returning here, Ted played pro ball for the San Diego Bombers of the Pacific Coast league.

- CAT TALES -

By HURT

Tangling tonight in the opening football game for both teams will be the Pacific Coast's two oldest schools, Willamette and College of the Pacific at the latter's home grounds. Although the Pacific Picture, the football pamphlet of the Tigers, is definitely a dim one for the Bearcats, the defeatist attitude was not visible among the 'Cat footballers last night when they departed for Stockton. And, if the way Head Man Jerry Lillie has been driving his men during the short practice sessions is any indication, the Willamettes will give a fair account of themselves, regardless of the outcome.

Not Alibies, Just Facts . . .

Anything but optimistic, Lillie believes Willamette is playing out of its class tonight, especially since the Tiger club held the Oregon Ducks to a one-point victory last year. Aside from that, pre-game gossip from down South indicates the Californians are looking forward to one of their very best campaigns. Not only did the COP gridders get a week's jump on our men in pre-season practice this fall, but Larry Siemerling, although newly placed as Pacific's head coach, was well acquainted with the squad's potentialities. He served as Double A Stag's first lieutenant for five years, while Lillie was unable to even make spring training with his men.

Blessed with a plentiful turn-out, the COP'ers seem to abound with huge linemen and speedy, powerful backs, while our WU mentor has been hesitant about rugged scrimmages, lest he fail to have a team to field at Stockton. Although the picture looks black to the extent that one sports writer intimated "shades of San Jose," once again, Willamette will give a good account of itself.

Good to See You're Around . . .

Several of the boys seemingly can't tear themselves away from the campus, as Chuck Furno, Marv Goodman, Paul Cookingham and several others are still around. Goodman is assisting Jerry Lillie in whipping the gridders in shape, with designs on the jayvees, while Larry McKeel and Jack Mudd are helping Les Sparks round out a busy intramural program. Les may need another assistant if sufficient enthusiasm is displayed in the 'mural ranks to merit additional sports.

Cookingham, needing only 11 hours to complete his masters, will probably finish this semester. It's possible the FBI will grab him before that time, however (for employment, that is!). It hasn't been disclosed why Furno is still around, although some nasty rumors have been circulating that he doesn't want to go to work. Also, some even say he is attempting to dislodge Ed Fitzsimons as Rube prexy. This is almost too much, however.

Signs of the Times . . .

According to pre-season dope from Whitman, there's really a "brother act" on the Missionary squad this year. Five sets of brothers are turning out for practice, with two of these sets twins. Another oddity from up Walla Walla way: John Stephens of Walla Walla, an end last year who had been working out as tackle this fall, is slated to fill the fullback position at latest reports. Versatile, what?

New Rushing Rules Announced By Interfraternity Council

All men interested in pledging a fraternity are to turn in their preference to Dean Riggs at an assembly scheduled for Friday noon, October 10, stated Ray McCoy following a meeting of the inter-fraternity council this week.

Men will not be limited to one preference only but may indicate a second, third and fourth choice if desired. The results of the matching of the men's choices with the preference lists submitted by the four fraternities to Dean Riggs will be made public as soon as possible after the assembly Friday noon.

Rushing plans were discussed by the council and a schedule for rush week, October 6 to 9 inclusive, was drawn up. Rushing may be carried on during the following periods during rush week: noon, 11:30 to 1:30; afternoon, 2:30 to 5; evening, 5:30 to 10:00.

Each fraternity will have three times available for rush functions as follows: Betas—Monday afternoon, Wednesday afternoon and Thursday evening. Sigs—Monday noon, Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday evening. Phi Alpha—Monday evening, Wednesday noon and Thursday afternoon.

The council decided to make all offices automatic through rotation among fraternity presidents. For the fall semester Bob Ratcliffe, Sigma Chi, will be president; Hu Brown, Phi Alpha, vice-president; Orville Sparrow, Phi Delta Theta, secretary; Loren Winterschild, Beta Theta Pi, treasurer.

Barclay Starts Publicity Job

Charles Barclay took over as full time university publicity director at the beginning of the current semester following his appointment by Pres. G. Herbert Smith this summer.

Barclay, senior psychology major, will graduate in February. He has done publicity work for station KOIN and for Jantzen Beach in Portland and is remembered on campus for his activities as May Weekend manager last year.

Student assistants will be assigned Barclay soon. The new publicity office is on the second floor of Eaton hall.

As publicity director, one of Barclay's duties will be to publish the Willamette Alumnus, quarterly newspaper published for WU alumnae. He will also be charged with directing press releases of university doings to Oregon newspapers.

Loter Announces Low News Rates On Collegian

Ray Loter, publications manager, revealed this week that a new low price of $1.50 per year is being offered on Collegian subscriptions.

"It has been a common practice in the past to send the Collegian home to the students parents," Loter said. "It is common knowledge that a Collegian is better than a letter home," said Loter explaining the student body's habit of sending the Collegian home.

Subscriptions will be taken at any time during the day in the ASWU business office in the basement of Waller hall.

Riggs to Award Scholarship Cup

The new fraternity scholarship cup presented to the university by the Sigma Chi Foundation will be awarded at Tuesday's chapel to the fraternity with the highest GPA, according to Pres. G. Herbert Smith.

The cup will be presented on an annual basis according to a plan worked out in connection with the committee on scholarship of the inter-fraternity council, Smith said.

Barn Dance Tonight Opens Semester's Social Activities

Birthdays are to be the theme of the first big student body social event this year, scheduled for tonight from 7 to 11 in the gym. All students and faculty will register at one of the six tables according to the month in which their birthday occurs.

Since the atmosphere of the event will be that of a barn dance, peasant skirts and blouses or levis and plaid shirts will be the appropriate dress for the evening.

First on the party entertainment will be group singing, including birthday songs for each month. Featuring Mitchell's Old Time Dance Orchestra barn dances will be called by Pop Crary. Juke box dancing will be available later in the evening for those not wishing to continue the barn dances.

Planned later on the program, emceed by Ray Loter, are numbers by the Pi Phi quartette, Tom Badley at the piano and Bob Johnson also at the keyboard. A song by Charlie Nee, a reading by Sharon Currier, and a duet starring John and Jim Spangler are scheduled before the refreshments are served.

Committee chairmen for the dance include Ray Fedje and Caroline Cooper, song leaders; Florence Goodridge, registration; Eileen Scott, new faculty; Edith Dawes, posters; Marjory Quamme, publicity; Janie Mathier, chaperones; Marion Sparks, decorations; Merle Ackeson, cleanup; Y. M. C. A., refreshments; and Alpha Phi Omega, checking service.

Bookstore Exhausted; So Is Mrs. Larsen

As the weary lines overflowing the Waller basement finally dwindled to a three-day low Wednesday at closing time, Mrs. Delsia Larsen sighed a happy announcement that the worst was over after sales had reached an approximate high level of 10,000 books.

This biggest year known has resulted in a depleting of books in most departments, but more are expected soon, Mrs. Larsen added. Since professors will be notified when ordered texts arrive, students are asked to contact them rather than inquiring at the bookstore.

A Chi O, Chi O Find Housing

Housing problems are solved, at least temporarily, for the Alpha Chi Omega and Chi Omega girls. Although neither group knew at the close of last semester just where the chapter residence would be, both are now comfortably settled.

Alpha Chi's are living at 299 N. Winter in a house owned by the First Presbyterian church. This was the house occupied by Dr. Robert E. Lantz and family last year. However, President Helen Montag reports that the girls intend to take up an option on a lot at 14th and Chemeketa, and that it is their hope to begin building right after the first of the year.

Laurel Hall has once again become the Chi Omega House. It seemed only natural for the members to return there, for that was their first chapter house after their installation at Willamette in the fall of 1944. Since building plans are not in the immediate future, Laurel has been completely redecorated and refurnished.

Mrs Boettcher Manages 'Cat

Mrs. Pauline Boettcher, new manager of the 'Cat Cavern, announced this week that the student refreshment center will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on week days. New decorations in the cavern form a cardinal and gold welcome to students.

Mrs. Boettcher, who takes over the management of the cavern following the resignation of Mrs. Frank Newell, is assisted in Waller hall's basement meeting place by Virginia Lovcik and student help.
