

New Annual Staff Hopefully Plans Innovation

With high hopes for a successful yearbook and many practical innovations, Miriam Matthews and Muriel Miettunen, co-editors of the 1958 Wallulah, are planning for the year ahead.

In addition to completing a summer dummy, the two are planning training meetings for the new staff, and a Wallulah class for credit will be introduced as will earlier deadlines. If the portraits used in this year's annual are deemed satisfactory, the same type will be used next year by the new editors.

Assisting them as staff members will be Marge Lowe, who will act as assistant editor, Bo Kersh, filling the capacity of copy editor, Sue Trueblood, who will be layout editor; and the hard working section editors, who will include Paula Preuss, Carol Stone, Joan Griffis, Marilyn Morton, LoAnne Munding-er, Barbara Pfaff, Peggy Cope, Carol McMinimee, and Suzy Platt.

The staff of this year's Wallulah is now working at top speed to complete the work and meet the deadlines of this year's yearbook so that it will be off the presses and in the hands of the students on schedule.

Women Aspiring To Mortar Board

Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary, is in the process of being considered for affiliation with Mortar Board, according to Carole Pfaff, Cap and Gown president. Mrs. Marian Sisehoff of Seattle, a national visitor representing Mortar Board, visited the campus recently and will make a report on her findings to the national organization.

If this report is favorable, Cap and Gown will be notified to make up a booklet about Willamette and the members of Cap and Gown. The last step, if it comes, will be to be voted into membership at the Mortar Board convention in 1958.

Wallulah Mailing Fee Deadline to Be Today

Today is the last chance to pay the Wallulah mailing fee Jean Martin, editor, announced this week. The Wallulah office will be open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in order to receive payments which should be made to Marge Stout. The fee is 60 for those who did not pay last year, and 10 cents for those who did.

Miss Martin also said that the Wallulah staff will be working this weekend to finish the remaining 39 pages of the book that must yet be sent to the printer. The finished Wallulahs will be arriving sometime in August and may be picked up at the bookstore during the summer.

Risers Rental Motion Tabled Again; Ted Cook to Manage Campus Chest

For the second week Student Council decided to table the troublesome question of whether or not to rent out the newly-purchased Glee risers. The question of renting the risers rose about a month ago when a group in town wanted to use them. Permission was denied at the time as the student body had no policy on renting them.

Since that time, former Student Body treasurer Bud Mull has been working on a rental policy, and has twice presented a plan to Council whereby other groups could use the risers. The motion was tabled the first time to give Mull a chance to take a closer look at the necessary insurance. Wednesday Council felt that more study of what rental rates would be proper would be necessary.

Ted Cook was chosen Campus Chest manager for next year in other Student Council action. Cook recommended that the date for the drive be set for the week of Octo-

173 to Be Degree Recipients During Graduation Ceremony

The highest number of degrees for a number of years will be conferred at the 1957 Commencement Service at McCulloch Stadium at 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 2. Approximately 173 students will receive degrees from Willamette.

Project M Sees Legislature Order Migratory Labor Study

Climaxing two years of intensive research, Project M has at last reached its goal of seeing the bill on which it has worked passed by both the State Senate and House of Representatives last Tuesday. The bill, Senate Joint Resolution Number 2, provides for an interim committee consisting of two senators, three representatives, and four laymen to study migratory labor conditions.

The legislative committee will continue the Project M study in an effort to investigate the Oregon migratory labor conditions and recommend ideas for their improvements.

Project M began at the beginning of the school year, 1955, in an economic-sociology class, Sociological Readings and Research. It came about as a result of a resolution of the Oregon Council of Churches who wanted to prove or disprove whether migratory labor was necessary to Oregon agriculture, and if so to make the laborer's conditions more desirable.

Willamette students and faculty members interested in this work undertook the project which then became known as Project M. Dr. John Rademaker, Dr. Vojtech Andic, professors of the class, and Fred Iketa, student coordinator have directed the research.

They were assisted by Merlin Hofestetter, Reynold Neufeld, Claude Garvin, who is the radio program director, Jan Norbeck, Cesar Bahmeseda, Frank Smith, Mel Whiteside, and Don Hoy.

We Made It

Farewell speeches, songs and editorials are difficult to write. They must walk a thin line between the sticky and the boistrous. When a student graduates from school, the first thing he feels, or thinks he will feel, is intense relief that everything is over. That is just about the reaction of a newspaper staff at the end of the year. There is a tendency to run madly about campus, ripping copies of the Collegian into shreds while exulting that at last one is finished and there are no more deadlines.

But as one watches the new staff swing confidently into action, there is an odd feeling under the cynical smile with which one watches them. Oddly enough, everything is going to keep right on going without you. Every senior has a moment or two like that as he watches junior members of his living organization or scholastic club take over positions that once he and his friends held.

Perhaps the strangest feeling of all, however, is to realize that there will be no group of friends to come back to. For three years we could look forward to seeing all our friends again in the fall. Now those friends will be scattered, and never again will we have quite the same fellowship with others for we will be older, with more responsibilities and cares.

With this issue, the "old" staff of the Collegian says goodbye and of course, good luck to the new members of the staff and to the student body in general. Before we go, however, we would like to say a word of thanks to all who read our paper faithfully every week and who by their suggestions and comments helped us to put out, we hoped, better papers.

In Passing . . .

Autos and Apathy . . . Bo

An automobile is a self-propelled vehicle of sufficient magnitude and importance as to allow a majority of the American public to become indebted and indentured for its support. It is Western man's most willing master.

PHYSICALLY, an automobile is a globular mass of super-vital color punctuated by dashes, spears, and pendants of chrome. It cushions its occupants in sumptuous materials and confronts the operator with a simplified set of controls which require, at the outset, two fingers, a thumb, and a big toe to operate.

The quiet, silent, liquid pleasure of an automobile ride reminds me of a journey through Heaven in a womb with tinted windows. Absolutely no ability is required to direct this two-ton malediction—as is obvious to anyone who participates in that exercise in bad manners known as traffic.

OUR INDEBTEDNESS to this is too often underestimated. It has so educated our senses that we are more cognizant of a new Ford color or than a new fall color, and the seasons and years are calculated in models. The roof line of most body styles has enabled us to clear up the sight problem—no longer is it necessary to look up. We see at a great distance to the front, peripherally to the side, and in a mirror backward. Our culture is like that too.

One "primevil" necessity for a male college student is an automobile, or at least reasonable access to one. Our society is so constructed that the lack of an automobile is a social deficit.

THE SOCIAL mobility that an automobile provides enables the family unit to be dissolved as each member reaches the age of sixteen. At about that age most parental restrictions can be easily circumvented and the chances of being seen doing something that is forbidden

Free Photos Offered

Attention all senior town students! There are letters in the Dean's office from Meier and Frank's photograph shop offering greatly reduced prices for pictures and one pose absolutely free. The letters should be picked up as soon as possible.

becomes infinitesimal. (The fear of being observed, I think, was the prime deterrent to our grandparents and to some extent our parents.)

The automobile contributes to the general apathy of our society. Instead of being forced to participate in the actions of the community for lack of anything else to do, an individual or family group can shirk this responsibility by easily outrunning it. Interest generally grows from participation, not vice versa; ergo apathy. The dependence upon this replacement of originality has resulted in a market that manufacturers have answered with bigger and better lethal dreadnoughts.

The plot hatched by that small group of misogynists that control the country is to have everyone first stunted and malformed by the automobile and then to eliminate the population of the U. S. completely by enabling everyone to drive at the fastest imaginable speeds, in the most powerful machines, until by the momentum of our culture they are dust and shreds of flesh and carrion of steel.

Lengyel Tells Egypt's Crises

By DR. VOJTECH ANDIC

A year ago Dr. Emil Lengyel, Hungarian-born author, lecturer and professor at New York University, spoke in convocation on how peace-loving nations could help prevent war in the Middle East. Dr. Lengyel has recently written a book, Egypt's Role In World Affairs (Public Affairs Press, Washington D. C., 1957) which discusses Egypt's part in the Middle East crisis.

Ever since Dr. Lengyel's address in convocation we have read and heard about the political crisis in the Middle East threatening to explode into a new armed conflagration of world powers. We have witnessed unusual diplomatic activities to prevent world conflict and try to settle the existing dispute peacefully at the highest United States and United Nations levels. The crisis is heightened, by the world-wide scope of East-West competition.

RECENTLY Dr. Lengyel published a new book, Egypt's Role In World Affairs, in which he discus-

Despite Scrambles, Dignity to Rule Graduation

By CAROL McMINIMEE

Graduation, nine times out of ten, and from all outward appearances, is a solemn and dignified affair. Fortunately for tearful graduates, and perhaps unfortunately from other aspects, the behind-the-scenes of the Commencement and Baccalaureate exercises are often full of last-minute dashes to the top floor of Waller, or side-splitting antics of seniors still under the effects of a strenuous weekend at the beach.

LIKE THE mother of the bride who frantically searches for the misplaced bride's bouquet that has been helpfully put in the garage to keep cool until the ceremony, Mrs. Delsia Larson, custodian of all the graduation paraphernalia, tells of mad scrambles, seconds before the academic procession began, for lost gowns or run-away tassels.

The problem is not quite so amusing to the onlooker now, the bookstore lady explains: all gowns are kept in Waller's cheerful yellow basement instead of among the many hats high up in the belfry. As the epitome of all hair-tearing moments, Mrs. Larson recounts the time that a very excited senior came dashing up to her a bare three minutes before the exercises began, to demand why his gown hadn't

Bookstore Bulging With Lost Articles

With May's flowers still come those showers, and evidently many people prefer getting their feet wet to claiming their rainwear which resides in the bookstore's lost-and-found department.

Despite her recent umbrella tree, Mrs. Larson still has several (plain and plaid) umbrellas, galoshes (fur-lined and plain) scarves and even two stray topcoats still on hand.

Before finals catch the unwary with no cramming material, she urged that texts and notebook pile be inspected. Gloves, keys and chains, pens and pencils in all varieties still remain unclaimed.

been personally delivered to him.

STUDENTS appearing on the day of Graduation, or Baccalaureate in their somber robes AND flaming red or south-sea islandish painted ties do not rate very high on the official robe-organizer's list either.

Dr. Cameron Paulin is the Pied Piper who leads in the honorable academic procession for each of these solemn occasions. He claims that actually the professors are punctual and appear ready for the exercises without much ado. He cannot even recall when a dignified doctor of this-or-that ever has showed up with his hood on backwards or tied in some wrong spot.

THE ART professor does however remember the time during the Commencement ceremony at the stadium when the traditional strains of "Farewell Willamette" were interrupted by earth-moving equipment which was constructing a soap-box derby track across the fence in the interests of progress and reform. Paulin also indicated that open-toed shoes were not suited to traipsing most comfortably down the cinder-strewn track.

Seniors are also warned against extremes at their beach trips, not mentioning the necessity for a generally toned-down everyday existence. Famous is the case of a law student who (he claimed) was playing with his young son's rubber-suctioned arrows from an archery set on the day before graduation. Evidently fiddling with the suction cup ends on his forehead, (while at the same time doing some last minute studying to profitably occupy his mind) the suction's action made large black and blue (and predominantly purple) marks across his entire forehead. On the all-important day, he of course looked something less than the dignified lawyer. Ironically enough, this same student was initiated into the law honorary, the Order of the Purple, during the Graduation program.

BUT THE LADY who wins the proverbial cake for leading things astray at graduation is Willamette's own Dean Regina Ewalt. This anecdote is told about Mrs. Ewalt by Dr. Daniel Schultze. In the days when Graduation was held in the gym, the German professor was in charge of the faculty procession (as Dr. Paulin is presently). The recessional was to be led by Dean Ewalt down the gym's center aisle. When the Dean went down the outside aisle, instead of the center aisle, the entire faculty and newly-graduated class were led in a jolly sort of merry-go-round. Dean Ewalt has been hearing repercussions of this episode ever since.

In any case, as in years past, Commencement 1957 will have its own unique quirks which will probably be remembered much longer than that tremulous moment when each senior mounts the platform with three tottering steps, grasps his diploma, shakes the proper proffered hands, takes eight steps, shifts his tassel across his cap, trips, officially graduated, down the opposite three steps as the official voice drones another name.

Botanists Work Lives on at WU

Today at his home at 1552 Court Street in Salem, "Prof" Peck enjoys an almost constant correspondence with economists, botanists, farmers, and many others needing help with plant identification or weed control.

FIRST HEAD of the University's biology department, "Prof" Peck's teaching career at Willamette began almost 50 years ago. Beginning with a plant collected in 1909 in Grants Pass, plus an intense interest in plant life, Dr. Morton Peck has made one of the most complete collections of Oregon plants in the state — approximately 95 percent of the known plants. Turned over to the University in 1927, the Herbarium currently receives requests for specimens from Stanford, Harvard, and many other universities throughout the country.

Dr. Peck taught at Willamette from 1908 to 1946, having received his training in science at Cornell, Iowa. His text, "A Manual of the Higher Plants of Oregon", is based primarily upon the 37,000 numbered specimens accumulated and maintained in the Willamette Herbarium. Included are some 30 new plants named by Dr. Peck.

Of special interest for the research student is the collection of approximately 1000 specimens of myxomycetes (fungi) including several specimens new to science.

In recognition of his work at Willamette, the alumni association in 1955 presented Dr. Peck a very rare book concerning David Douglas' extensive work in Oregon botany. Douglas (for whom our fir tree is named) made collections for the Royal Horticultural Society of London.

In honor of Dr. and Mrs. Peck's work, the class of 1921 still makes financial contributions to extend and maintain the collection.

Many faculty friends of the couple receive with anticipation the plates of delicious shortbread which Mrs. Peck makes for her friends every Christmas, showing her Scottish training.

the Arab world. He writes, "Egypt cannot remain aloof from the sanguinary conflict in Africa between five million whites and two hundred million Africans. The people of Africa will continue to look to us who guard their northern gate and who constitute their link with the outside world. We will never in any circumstances be able to relinquish our responsibility to support with all our might, the spread of enlightenment and civilization to the remotest depths of the jungle."

WRITING ON the same theme Nasser continues, "The dark continent is now the scene of a strange turbulence as the white man, representing various European nations, is trying anew to redivide the map of Africa. . . We have characteristics and abilities and a civilization which has given rise to three holy religions—factors which cannot be ignored in the effort to build a secure and peaceful world."

Lengyel's book on Egypt is a fine addition to some sixteen books he has written about vital problems of our time.

ses some of the problems of Egypt, including examples of its poverty and centuries old tyranny.

Lengyel quotes Gamel Abdul Nasser on the oppression Egyptians suffered from the Mameluk dynasty as saying, "Tyranny, oppression and ruin characterize the Mameluks' rule which continued for many dark centuries. During that period our country was transformed into a jungle ruled by wild beasts. The Mameluks considered it an easy prey and they struggled among themselves ferociously about the sharing of the booty. The booty was our souls, our minds, our wealth and our land."

IN DISCUSSING the Egyptian revolution of 1952 when King Farouk was deposed, the author states that "in this country of great wealth and appalling poverty the King was the richest man. His annual civil list of state revenue was $1,730,000, the equivalent income of 150,000 peasants."

Nasser thinks of himself as a man destined by fate to lead Egypt into a historic mission to secure a more stable and prosperous future for

Year's Plan Released By Drama Department

Three plays will be offered by the Willamette drama department for the 1957-58 season, director Robert Putnam announced this week.

The department has tentatively scheduled "Thunder Rock" by Robert Ardrey, a play laid in a contemporary setting, for Christian Resource Week in December.

Early March will bring Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke," and the May Weekend play is to be a comedy-farce by Valentin Katajev, "Squaring the Circle," which is set in Communist Russia.

In addition to these three plays, the department is planning to present a convocation of drama activities in January, and during Parent's Weekend they will present a one-act play in a Chinese setting, "The Willow Plate," by Florence Ryerson and Colen Clements.

Coggin Wins Moot Court Trial To Get $250 Law Book Set

The winner of the trial practice competition in the Practice Court Competition Tuesday at the law school was Richard Coggin, who had an evaluation score of 1303.5. Runner up in the competition was Stuart Richardson with a score of 1296.5. Coggin will be presented with a 12 volume set of "American Jurisprudence Pleading and Practice Forms" worth $250.

IN SELECTING the winner, the arguments of each competing student were recorded and identified by number rather than by name and later were reviewed by all the students who then selected the winner by vote.

Each student had to either prosecute or defend one case, making a total of nine trials for 18 students. The competition was under the supervision of Professor Charles Jens.

BAR INTERVIEWS today for 3rd year law students are the crowning event of the busy week. Last classes for the 18 graduating students were held last Monday, then the finals began on Wednesday and continued through today, with interviews by the Oregon Board of Bar Examiners last but not least on the schedule.

The successful completion of the interviews will without doubt result in 18 more people bearing the title, "Attorney at Law". Only 16 of the group will begin practice in Oregon, the other two will be interviewed by the Examining Boards of two of Oregon's neighbor states, Washington and Idaho.

Collegian Staff Hogs Awards

Distinction was given freely to deserving members of the student body in Tuesday's awards convocation, but to the hard working newspaper staff, hidden deep in Waller's historic passages, went an extraordinarily large amount of this distinction.

Editor-in-Chief, Peggy, Cope received a certificate for her leadership and service to the university. She will be Dr. Lyle's graduate assistant next year. To Lewis Beatty, publications manager, went one of the 10 golden keys for his outstanding service. He has received also a $1575 scholarship in business administration to the University of Washington.

Society editor, (student body secretary and May Queen) Flossy Hodge also was awarded a gold key. Lois Monk, feature editor, was hailed into the ranks of Alpha Kappa Nu, the senior scholastic honorary, and given an Alpha Lambda Delta certificate. She has also been awarded a teaching assistantship to France next year by the government.

Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary, welcomed Lucy Myers and Suzy Platt as new members. Lucy, this year's news editor, will serve as editor next year. Suzy, present headline editor, will edit copy next fall.

Beta Alpha Gamma, sophomore women's honorary, tapped Jane Dedrick, assistant copy editor; Dot Manker, associate campus editor, and Sherry Rutledge, assistant circulation manager. Sherry was also tapped by the music honorary, Mu Phi Epsilon.

Welcomed into the ranks of Sigma Alpha Chi, honorary for active sophomore men, were Pete Blewett, assistant sports editor, and Howard Nelson, associate campus editor. Howard, having served the paper as circulation manager this year, was also honored as the staff's most loyal, devoted, and outstanding reporter.

Another member of the staff recognized for his extensive contributions was Paul Aldinger, who received the Putnam award, reserved for the most contributing staff member. Paul's services included running copy and taxi service as well as editing the sports page.

Two senior scholars are included among the staff's ranks: Suzy Platt in English and Dan Newberry, headline editor, in the French department. This summer these two will desert their journalistic capacities to eat, drink, and live French, studying in Middlebury College in Vermont, where English is a forbidden tongue, and the faculty entirely French.

University May Get State Money

A bill was passed Tuesday giving the State Department of Finance and Administration the authority to budget funds for use by research agencies for study in fields necessary by the state. This means that Willamette and similar schools in the state will probably be given the opportunity next year to accept financial assistance for various studies as requested by the state.

Willamette will probably have the inside track on such project studies because of its facilities and nearness to the state capital. Next year's students in psychology, sociology, economics, political science and education will possibly be able to do research for the state at government expense.

Project M. Willamette's big research project for this year, was privately financed by the Oregon Council of Churches. Many more projects of a similar nature are expected next year to be financed by the state because of this new law.

Six Campus Honoraries Pick Members to Serve Next Year

Surprises and squeals accompanied the tapping of new members by six honoraries at the annual awards convocation Tuesday morning, and the installation of Angels' Flight, the new women's auxiliary to the Arnold Air Society, brought added mirth with Dr. Smith's comment about the interest in the Air Force required of the members.

CAP AND GOWN, senior women's honorary, named Jeannine Graber, Minalou Schultz, Nancy Groth, Suzy Platt, Lucy Myers, Muriel Miettunen, Jean Martin, and Anita Booth to membership, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national upperclass-

Year's Plan Released By Drama Department

Three plays will be offered by the Willamette drama department for the 1957-58 season, director Robert Putnam announced this week.

The department has tentatively scheduled "Thunder Rock" by Robert Ardrey, a play laid in a contemporary setting, for Christian Resource Week in December.

Early March will bring Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke," and the May Weekend play is to be a comedy-farce by Valentin Katajev, "Squaring the Circle," which is set in Communist Russia.

In addition to these three plays, the department is planning to present a convocation of drama activities in January, and during Parent's Weekend they will present a one-act play in a Chinese setting, "The Willow Plate," by Florence Ryerson and Colen Clements.

May Brings Betrothal News

HARRIET RANDALL

SHIRLEY ULINDER

BARBARA ANDERSON

Evidences of spring were noted this week as five couples announced their engagements on campus. Barbara Anderson and John Bone, Shirley Ulinder and Ernest Gordon, Stephanie Ryer and Don Smith, Harriet Randall and Fred Porter, and Joan Hamman and Jim Mason were the couples revealing their wedding plans.

Following chapter meeting at the Pi Beta Phi house Monday night, members learned of Barbara Anderson and John Bone's betrothal during a candlelight ceremony. A poem revealed the news and a pink and red color scheme with hearts, bows, and arrows provided the decorative note.

MISS ANDERSON, who will receive her degree in music education this June, is former treasurer of Pi Beta Phi and past president of Mu Phi Epsilon. Song leader for her class during Freshman Glee, she has been active in campus music events during her four years.

Ensign Bone is a graduate of Willamette University, and affiliated with Sigma Chi, Omicron Delta Kappa, upperclassmen's honorary, and Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary. Prominent in campus activities he served as Homecoming manager in his junior year. He recently graduated from the U. S. Naval Officers Candidate School in Newport, R. I. Recently home on leave, Ensign Bone left yesterday on a naval cruise to the Orient.

A fall wedding is planned. A BUSINESS letter read to Willamette's chapter of Chi Omega yesterday during dinner told of the engagement of Shirley Ulinder and Ernest Gordon.

A senior psychology major, Miss Ulinder is former president of her sorority and is also affiliated with Psi Chi, psychology honorary, and Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honorary. She has been a member of the University band and the Associated Women Students cabinet.

A second year student in the college of law, Gordon graduated from the Willamette liberal arts school in 1952. His home is in Toledo.

STEPHANIE RYER

An early September wedding is planned.

WILLIE THOMPSON looked into a steaming cauldron at the Phi Delta Theta house dance Saturday night and announced to the Phi Delta and their dates that Dan Smith and Stephanie Ryer were engaged.

This year's Varsity Ball queen, Miss Ryer is editor for her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, and a former member of the Collegian staff.

SMITH, who will graduate in economics this June, will receive his Air Force commission at Commencement. A member of the tennis team, he is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta.

The couple plans a February wedding.

A poem and a box of candy told members of the Alpha Chi Omega house of the engagement of Harriet Randall and Fred Porter.

A FRESHMAN majoring in economics, Miss Randall is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and appeared in Varsity Varieties this fall.

A Marine veteran, Porter is a freshman in the liberal arts school. The couple plan to be married next summer.

Announced to Salem friends Friday was the engagement of Joan Hamman and James Mason.

MISS HAMMAN attended Salem schools and was enrolled at Linfield college, where she was a member of Sigma Kappa Phi and Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary. The bride-elect later attended Oregon State College where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary, and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary. Since her graduation at Oregon State last June, she has been teaching at Washington School in Eugene.

Mason is a graduate of Lebanon high school and has served in the U. S. Navy. He recently was employed by Capitol Chevrolet-Cadillac company in Salem and attended Willamette University where he was a member of Sigma Chi. He is presently a junior in business administration at the University of Oregon.

The wedding will take place on August 24 in Salem.

Sophomore Picnic Planned For Stayton Park Tomorrow

Sophomores will travel to Stayton park tomorrow for a final picnic of the year. Beginning at noon, the class of 1959 will swim, play tennis, and volleyball, and dance.

Everyone is encouraged to arrive by 4 p.m., and dinner will be served at 5 o'clock. Jo Heald, Sharon Long, and Carolyn Miller are planning to serve hamburgers to their classmates.

Directions for finding the park are posted in the Cat Cavern. Anyone needing a ride is asked to contact Dean Bishoprick, sophomore class president, at the Phi Delta Theta house.

The Amen Corner

The First Baptist College group will meet at the home of Rod McClellan on Ratcliff Drive this Sunday at 5 o'clock for an hour of games and refreshments before the program begins. Richard Fidler, manager of Meier and Frank's, will be the speaker.

Also planned by the Baptist group is a skating party tonight. Everyone is invited to attend and requested to meet at Nancy Teague's home, 590 N. 15th, at 8 o'clock.

The Social Scoop

By FLOSSY HODGE

A hush has pervaded the campus as the absence of the senior class is noted at the end of the week. They have left for Oceanlake for a weekend of bridge, poker, fudge making, softball, volleyball, term paper writing, bonfires, and group singing.

Noted for their tradition-breaking capacities, the class of 1957 is expected to excel again on the beach trip. The Blue Monday winners are planning to use their well-endowed treasury for all the ingredients necessary for a lively coastal sojourn.

Glad to see the spirit of the sophomore members of Sigma Beta Phi as they endeavored on an all-campus serenade Wednesday evening. The jovial group had an unusual selection of love songs and a unique rendition.

Entertained at the Pi Beta Phi house Wednesday after dinner was Penny Lilles, member of the class of '57, who transferred to Monmouth this September. The occasion was a bridal shower for Penny, who will be married June 16 at the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox church in Portland.

A new member of the Faculty Wives club next fall will be Mrs. James Fonseca, who will marry Prof. Fonseca this Saturday at the First Methodist church in Hollywood. Fonseca met his fiancee, nee Elizabeth Beale, while in Los Angeles studying for his doctorate at UCLA.

Let's hope the weather clears soon or nobody will have an excuse for flunking finals. I've always been able to explain to my folks that the weather was too nice to study.

Expect to see the names of several Willamette alumni-to-be in lights soon, as Bud Mull, Wayne Carr, and Flossy Hodge plan to start a business corporation—it can't miss! Entitled the Triple M, (signifying More and More Money), one of the first undertakings of the group will be to sponsor Sophie Goritsan's singing debut at Johnny Brazil's Club Tropico in Sacramento this summer. All those who will be in the area this summer are cordially requested to come visit Sophie.

Attendance was rousing and the money came rolling in at the Rotary minstrel show held Tuesday evening in the Fine Arts auditorium. Included in the entertainment were Dean Geist's Rotary Singers, Tom Caylor, and Ted Primrose.

Before May Weekend, some of the inhabitants of Doney Hall cut out letters to make a sign saying, WELCOME SENIORS Now that the weekend is over and we're done impressing people, the letters have been rearranged to spell out MICE AND MEN ARE LOOSE!

Murielle Miettunen has been elected president of Doney Hall for the fall semester. Assisting her will be Paula Preuss, vice president; Phyllis Ganoie, secretary; Maggie Moore, social chairman; Marietta Lind, student council representative; Lois Widener, religious life representative; Joyce Biggs, treasurer; and Della Sowell, historian.

At a banquet at the Beta Theta Pi house Monday evening Al Siebert was awarded the J. Howard Schubert memorial plaque for house spirit, and John Bergstrom was named outstanding freshman. Another award made at this time was intended for Royal Keith, as the sophomore who most typifies the spirit of the class of 1959. Since Keith was at a tennis match, the much-coveted award went to the runner-up, Clyde McIver.

New Cap and Gown members and their mothers were feted at a luncheon at the Pi Beta Phi house after awards assembly Tuesday. At this time the officers for the coming year were announced. They are Jeannine Graber, president; Jean Martin, vice president; Suzy Platt, recording secretary; Murielle Miettunen, corresponding secretary; Anita Booth, treasurer; Minalou Schultz, historian; and Lucy Myers and Nancy Groth, projects chairmen.

This is the last Social Scoop I'll be writing. Jason Lee can again rest easy and I can stop babbling to fill up space. May the next society editor be more organized.

SCHRUNK-RAY NUPTIALS

Many Willamette students will be attending the wedding ceremony of Mary Jean Schrunck and John Ray, planned for tonight at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

Miss Schrunck is a 1957 graduate of Lewis and Clark college and a native of Salem. Ray is a 1956 Willamette graduate. He is presently teaching in the area.

WU Golfers, Netters Win Conference Divotmen Win 6th Trackmen Nab Sparksmen Sweep Straight NW Title Fourth Place Net Crown; Mull Wins Fourth Title

The Willamette University golfers, coached by Jerry Long, made it six in a row last Friday, as they walked off with their sixth straight Northwest conference championship on the rain-soaked Tualatin Country Club course.

WU Will Not Enter NAIA

THE WILLAMETTE University Athletic department announced that they will definitely not participate in the 1957 district 2 NAIA track and field meet. The decision grew out of the mix up that arose last Friday, when NAIA district representative, Eldon Fix, declared Linfield, Pacific, and Willamette ineligible for violation of the NAIA ruling which states that an athlete must be passing in 12 hours of studies to be eligible.

Willamette was living up to the Northwest conference rule, which says 10 hours must be passed, and violation of NAIA ruling was merely an oversight. It applied to only one athlete in question, and a re-reading of the rules pointed out that the enforcement date of the ruling was after the date of the athlete's enrollment in school.

THIS PROMPTED Fix to declare Willamette eligible on Saturday night, but Monday morning he again declared the Bearcats ineligible. It was then that Willamette officials agreed that the best action was to accept the innocent oversight.

Linfield felt that the question was worth debating and decided to press the matter. Willamette officials, disturbed over the poor handling of the whole affair, and since there was absolutely no deliberate infraction of the rules, felt that the unfortunate incident should be allowed to die before any more misinterpretations and bungling could take place.

THE BEARCATS, led by Tom Loree's 155, finished the match in 633 strokes. Their closest rivals were Lewis and Clark and Whitman, who tied for second with 650. In third place was Linfield with 665, followed by College of Idaho with 670 and Pacific University with 694.

Tom Loree's 155 was good enough to give him medalist honors for the second consecutive year. Other Willamette scores were: Ron Hoxie, 159; Rusty Beaton, 161; Les Allison, 162; and Bob Withers, 168.

Lewismen End Up in Fourth

NWC FINAL STANDINGS
	W	L	Pct.
Lewis and Clark	10	5	.667
College of Idaho	8	5	.615
Linfield	9	6	.600
Willamette	7	8	.467
Whitman	5	10	.333
Pacific	4	9	.308

COACH JOHNNY Lewis' Bearcat baseballers wound up the season last Thursday, when they dropped their final game of the season against the Linfield Wildcats, 5-1. The final loss gave the Lewismen a seven win and eight loss mark for conference play and dropped them into fourth spot.

Jac Fowler started the game for the Bearcats and gave up all five runs on a total of six base hits. Dan Feller, who did his last pitching for Willamette, came on in the fourth and blanked the Wildcats the remainder of the way.

LINFIELD JUMPED on Fowler for one run in the first inning, when Vern Marshall tripled and Jack Riley singled him home with the tally. The Wildcats added their final four runs in the third stanza, when a walk, an error, and four singles were put together to account for the four runs.

WILLAMETTE scored their lone run in the third inning, when Tom Moore doubled and Ed Grossenbacher followed with a single, driving in Moore. Willamette's two pitchers gave up a total of nine hits, four walks, and struck out one Wildcat. Linfield's Carl Meeuwesen gave up a total of seven hits, while walking one and striking out two.

While the 1957 season was not a particularly fortunate one for the Bearcats, a number of players made marked improvement and should make next year's squad a real title contender. At least four players were mentioned for All-Conference honors. The results of the halloting by the coaches cannot be made public by the Collegian, until after the Portland dailies carry the story this Sunday.

Coach Ted Ogdahl's Bearcat cindermen entered the Northwest Conference track and field championships on the Lewis and Clark campus last Saturday, and ended up in the same spot which he had previously predicted, fourth.

It was a damp and dreary afternoon in Griswold stadium, high atop Palatine Hill, but despite the elements, two conference records were smashed, a third was tied, and a fellow by the name of Dave Klicker from Whitman had himself the time of his life in racking up 34 points all by himself.

KLICHER had three first places, in the high and low hurdles and 220 yard dash. He added a second in the broad jump and another in the high jump to account for his tremendous one-man show which gave Whitman the 1957 Northwest Conference track championship, with 81 points.

The Lewis and Clark Pioneers, who were defending champions, came out second best with 71½ points, Linfield was third with 60 points, followed by Willamette with 45. Pacific finished fifth with 25½, and College of Idaho was last with only 2 points.

THE TWO conference records which were smashed were in the 440 yard run and the shot put. Linfield's Bill Machamer notched a new mark in the 440 by romping around the oval in 49.5. The old record was an even 50.0 by Bill Mays of Whitman, set in 1952.

Howard Glenn, also from Linfield, broke his own shot put record of 46'7", when he threw the iron ball a distance of 49 feet. Loren Michelsen, of Lewis and Clark tied his old conference mark of 147'7" in the discus.

WILLAMETTE picked up two first places on the strength of half-miler Dale Hartman and high jumper Jim Whitmire. Hartman had no competition in the 880, and consequently ran a mediocre 1:59.2. Whitmire turned in a good performance in the high jump, considering the cold weather, when he cleared the bar at 5'11".

By far the most exciting and best race of the day was in the two mile run. Bob Mitchell of Lewis and Clark and Whitman's Edgar Parrott battled it out down the stretch after a steady eight laps. It looked as if it was Parrott's victory, when Mitchell attempted to overtake him as they turned into the final stretch and failed, but as they both sprinted for the tape, Mitchell found a sudden burst of energy and nosed Parrott out at the finish. This was the first time, in four years, that Parrott had finished second to anyone except his own brother, Hal Parrott.

RESULTS: High hurdle, Dave Klicker (Whit) 14.9; 100 yard, Rich Neal, (LC), 10.1; mile, Bob Mitchell (LC) 4:32.9; 440, Bill Machamer (L) 49.5; low hurdle, Dave Klicker, (Whit) 25.2; 220, Dave Klicker, (Whit), 22.6; 880, Dale Hartman, (Wil), 1:59.2; broad jump, Don Adams, (P), 21' 8½"; discus, Loren Michelson, (LC), 147' 7"; high jump, Jim Whitmire, (Wil), 5' 11"; pole vault, Doug Grant, (Whit), 12' 4"; Shot, Howard Glenn, (L), 19'; javelin, Bud Crane, (L), 193' 2½"; two-mile, Bob Mitchell, (LC), 10:01.0; relay, Whitman, 3:27.5.

Coach Les Sparks' Willamette University tennis team scored victories in both singles and doubles to capture top spot in Northwest conference tennis competition. Veteran netman, Bud Mull, nabbed his fourth straight singles title, as he defeated Whitman's Jim Young 6-1 and 6-1.

MULL PAIRED off with Royal Keith in doubles competition to defeat teammates Tim Campbell and Don Smith, 6-1, 4-6, and 7-5, and walk off with the conference doubles championship. Enroute to their conference title, Mull and Keith defeated Lewis and Clark's Shinesky and Boemke, 6-1 and 6-0; Whitman's Knorp and Thomas, 8-6, 5-7, and 6-3; and Pacific's Kalapus and Whyt, 6-4, 6-3.

Mull worked his way to the singles crown by dumping College of Idaho's Axen, 6-1 and 6-1; Whitman's Knorp, 6-4, and 6-3; and Willamette's Keith, 6-1 and 6-2.

Willamette finished with 20 team points to 10 for Whitman, seven for Lewis and Clark, three each for Linfield and Pacific, and two for College of Idaho.

Coeds Beat OSC, Lose to Clark

THE WILLAMETTE women's tennis team divided matches last week, as they dumped Oregon State College and lost to Clark Junior College. Against Oregon State College, the Willamette coeds split the four single matches and swept the two doubles.

Notching wins for Willamette in the singles were Ann Bercaw, 6-0, 6-1, and Diane Roeding, 6-1 6-2. In the doubles competition, Sue Wilcox and Mildred Edmundson teamed with Bercaw and Roeding to give Willamette the victory.

AGAINST CLARK Junior College, the Willamette netters could only capture one match, although all tilts were extremely close, with one going 12-10. Ann Bercaw was the lone winner for Willamette as she rolled up a 6-0 and 6-1 victory.

AAU Meet to Be Held Saturday in Portland

The 1957 Oregon AAU track meet will be held in Portland tomorrow. Willamette University will be represented, as will all Northwest conference schools. Other teams taking part will be Oregon State College, University of Oregon, and Oregon Collegiate Conference schools.

It was disclosed by meet directors that most of the state winners in the high school meets will be on hand.

Concluding the year's activities on the drill field, the participants in Willamette's ROTC program presented their annual President's Review Wednesday evening at McCulloch Stadium.

Awards were presented to those cadets excelling in the detachment's program and the final review of the year was given in honor of President G. Herbert Smith. The day was proclaimed Air Force ROTC Day in Salem by Mayor Robert White.

The Tribune silver medals for underclass cadets were awarded to Elvin Smoyer and Del Cummings. The Drill Team award was given to Keith Driver, and Cadet Gerald Ackerson was presented with the American Legion award.

3 Recitals Postponed

Postponements have been made recently for three recitals by faculty and students in the music school. The recital of C. Allan Gove and Mrs. Katherine Schnelker, scheduled last Wednesday evening, was cancelled due to Mr. Gove's illness. It is now planned that the recital will be held early in the fall.

The date of the organ recital of Frank Lebold, set Sunday afternoon, has been changed until some time this summer. Barbara Anderson's voice recital, planned for last Friday, has not yet been rescheduled.

Miss Horton, a French major and president of Phi Sigma Iota, foreign language honorary, will teach conversational English in a French high school in the city of Bourges beginning next fall. The job will pay living and traveling expenses for the year.

Miss Monk, philosophy major and founding president of Phi Sigma Iota has also been awarded the assistantship for another high school in France, although the specific place has not yet been announced.

Miss Horton will teach when she returns to the United States after the year abroad and Miss Monk will go to graduate school.

Only forty of these assistantships are awarded to American students each year and this is the fourth year in succession that Willamette students have received such awards. Sandra Sherman, who graduated last year is currently in France on the award.

Frog's Legs Aid Science

Scientific experimentation and research is not always devoted to the benefit of mankind. Satisfaction of curiosity has more than once been the cause of some great discovery, and here in the Willamette biology department one student's curiosity was satisfied on a very serious matter — on the taste of roasted frog's legs (as distinguished from roasted chicken legs.)

For the pure interests of science, Dr. Cecil Monk of the biology department removed the pituitary gland of a frog, whose "soul" had most thoughtfully been taken from this vale of tears previously. Though the microtechnique class had intended this heroic martyr solely for progress in their work, Dr. Monk's senior scholar, Sally Jones, remarked a shade wistfully that never even in her pre-scientific career had she eaten frog's legs.

Being of an accommodating turn of mind and not wanting to leave psychological scars on Miss Jones' subconscious, Dr. Monk skinned the frog's legs and held them over a burner. After time and patience were running short, the inventive duo remembered the lab oven.

Accordingly the legs were popped in the oven, and when they were sufficiently roasted, Miss Jones and Dr. Monk indulged in a strictly unscientific gastronomic feast.

Music Workshop Set for August

The annual workshop of the National Association of Teachers of Singing will be held at Willamette for the third consecutive year, August 12 to 16.

Main speakers at the conference of voice teachers, soloists, and public school music teachers will be Dr. Friedrich S. Brodnitz, otolaryngologist, chief of voice at Mt. Sinai hospital, New York; Miss Grace Leslie, a leading voice teacher from New York City; Weldon Whitlock, voice teacher from St. Louis; Eve Richmond, head of the voice department, Wooster College; William Vennard, head of the voice department, University of Southern California; and John Lester, voice department, Montana State University.

Applications for the workshop may be made through the College of Music.

Prof to Direct Summer Plays

A Willamette professor and a '56 graduate will direct three of the four plays planned by Pentacle Theatre for this summer's program.

MRS. MARGARET BINGNALDA, acting assistant professor of English, will direct "Come Back, Little Sheba" and "My Three Angels." She directed two Pentacle productions last summer and is currently in charge of a children's drama group.

Richard Geer, a drama major graduating last year, has since done work at San Jose State College. He will direct the one mystery planned for the summer schedule, "The Mouse Trap."

THE PENTACLE season will begin June 24 with a presentation of "Gigi," directed by Dr. John Belamy from Oregon College of Education. This is the local theatre's third season.

The theatre, a former barn located six miles from Salem on the Dallas Road, was organized three years ago by interested Willamette students and townspeople. It has officers and an executive council, and anyone interested in drama is urged to try out for the plays or work on the various committees. Membership is $2 per season.

Outside the barn, an old chicken house has been converted into dressing rooms and the area behind the barn has been turned into picnic ground where coffee is served between acts.

College Conference Decides More Language Study Needed

Underclassmen Urged To Work for Awards

The time to make plans for a teaching assistantship or graduate research grant is during the freshman, sophomore and junior years, Deans Regina Ewalt and Elmer Rieck stressed this week. From nearly every department in Willamette, 30 seniors have received an approximate total of $45,000 worth of graduate training. This figure is based upon a reasonable sample and projection of amounts indicated by seniors of their awards.

Students are urged to contact Dean Ewalt and Dean Rieck to discover the graduate training possibilities and to get information concerning methods for obtaining grants.

Awards have come from institutions throughout the country including the Universities of Rhode Island, Arizona, Wisconsin, Chicago Theological Seminary, Stanford, Duke, American University in Washington, D. C., and many others.

Willamette is making every effort to contact foundations, graduate and professional schools in an effort to obtain new sources of aid for graduate training the deans said.
