

Interfaith Council Alters 'RE' Week

Christian Resource Week, scheduled for the last week in February, will replace Religious Emphasis week this year in accordance with the Interfaith council view that emphasis on religion in student life should be continual, Dr. Thomas Bennett said Wednesday.

The new observance is designed with the hope that students will gain new resources and a better understanding of Christian ethics and way of life, Bennett said.

Hal Hargreaves was named general chairman of the annual event and Paul Baker, program chairman, by Interfaith council, Christian Resource week sponsor. Other committee chairmen and members will be chosen from the student body.

Speakers for the three chapels scheduled during the week will include Rev. A. Raymond Grant, bishop of the Portland area of the Methodist church on Tuesday, February 24, and Rev. Robert Richards, pastor of the Methodist church of Boise, Idaho, on Wednesday and Thursday.

The perennial poster contest will be conducted as usual by the Interfaith council. Prizes this year will be $10 and $5 for first and second places, and the winning poster will be used as the cover for the week's bulletin.

Nelson, Shaw Promote NISA Regional Meeting To Be Held at Willamette February 20, 21

Plans are proceeding towards the Pacific Coast regional NISA convention to be held on the Willamette campus February 20 and 21 as co-chairmen Stan Nelson and Stuart Shaw named four more committee heads.

Appointment of Neil Moodbe of Baxter hall as social chairman; Bob McDonald, Baxter, to be in charge of tours; Ron Nicoll, Baxter, as arrangements committee head, and Beverly Lytle, Wits, to take care of special activities concluded the choosing of committee chairman for the event.

Nelson and Shaw were named last week to head up the convention by Bob Stone, Willamette law student and vice-president of the Pacific Coast Independent Students organization.

The two chairmen reported that letters have been sent to practically every college in the states of Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Nevada in order to determine how many schools will send delegates and to provide an estimate of how many persons will attend.

The convention last year was attended by six colleges, including Willamette, University of Southern California, University of Washington, Oregon State college, University of Idaho and host school Washington State

Concert Conflict Aired

An objection by the concert board to recent action of the University administration was sustained Wednesday by the Student Council.

The concert board request followed the scheduling of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team in the gym the same night as the Joseph Szigeti concert given under the auspices of the Willamette student body in the Salem high school auditorium, Monday.

The resolution, introduced by Bob Batchelder and drawn up by the concert board, asked the University administration in the future to "deny conflicting use of facilities." It asks the University to consider the possibility of the effect that any event scheduled on the campus might have on an event already scheduled.

The concert board recognized regrets expressed by the administration for the incident, but were anxious that no such conflict be repeated, according to Ringle.

Unofficial reports said that Salem high school had refused the use of the gymnasium to the Globetrotters as it was the school's policy not to schedule two competing events the same day.

Members of the council and other students interested in promoting Willamette's Distinguished Artists series felt that the concert should have taken precedence over other campus activities, especially since the concert was scheduled far in advance of the fall social calendar.

It was pointed out that although this was a dead month, it was unavoidable that the Szigeti concert was planned for this time.

Pre-Registration Ends Today; Schedule Books Due at 5 p.m.

Students who have not completed pre-registration by 5 p.m. today will have to finish their scheduling of next semester classes the Monday after finals, according to Harold P. Jory, registrar.

All registration books, available since Wednesday in Jory's office, must be returned today by 5 o'clock regardless of whether or not they have been completed. Incomplete registration books must be completed on February 2 when they can be resecured in the library.

When present classes are to be continued next semester, students are asked to obtain professors' signatures during class periods. For new courses planned, the instructors should be seen in their offices.

Fee slips will be available in the registrar's office following the completion of registration. Tuition, board and room and student body fees can be paid at any time before the end of the semester in the business office.

Two course changes have been made in next semester's schedule. Current Economic Problems, Econ. 342, scheduled for 9 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday, will not be offered. An addition to the schedule will be Money and Banking, Econ. 351, at 9 Monday, Wednesday and Friday, taught by Dr. Robert Fenix.

21 to Graduate In February

February commencement exercises for 21 Willamette graduates will be held during chapel period on February 5 in the gymnasium in conjunction with the observance of Founders and Benefactors' day.

Jean Kyle will give the address on Josiah L. Parrish, honored as founder, and Tom Scheidel will speak on James J. Hill, "Empire Builder and Benefactor," as part of the program.

Seniors who will participate in graduation ceremonies include Timothy McDonald, Alan Miller, Richard Schroeder, Robert Johnson, Rodney Beals, Leah Case, James Ellis, John Fitzmaurice, James Gay, Nancy Gay.

Bailey Named Concert Aide

Paige Bailey, freshman music major from Portland, was recently appointed assistant concert manager in charge of receptions, by manager Phil Ringle. As chairman of this committee, Bailey will make arrangements for greeting and holding receptions for Willamette's concert artists.

He is one of four assistant managers and replaces Tom Schrock who resigned due to academic schedule conflicts.

OFCL to Slate Assemblies

An exchange assembly program will be formulated between member-schools of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders by convocation managers representing the respective student bodies at a meeting tomorrow in Collins hall, Jim Hitchman, first vice-president of the student body, said today.

Amaryllis Lilles, social secretary of the OFCL and Willamette's convocation manager, will make all arrangements for the host school. Willamette's campus was chosen as the assembly point by Jim Garrett, OFCL president from Lewis and Clark, because it is located close to other member schools.

The meet will start at 10:30 tomorrow in Collins hall and a banquet will be held at noon.

Despite "social dead month" now in operation on the campus which ordinarily would not make an allowance for such a meeting, it was deemed sufficiently worthwhile to grant permission for scheduling, according to Hitchman, who heads the activities board.

Member-schools that are expected to attend are Oregon, OSC, Linfield, Willamette, University of Portland, Lewis and Clark, Oregon College of Education, Portland State, Eastern Oregon College of Education, Oregon Technical Institute, Southern Oregon College of Education and Marylhurst.

Music Prof Earns Degree

Miss Ethel Lou Stanek, instructor in music, has recently received her master's degree from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester University, Rochester, New York. She had previously completed her residence requirement in June 1950.

Her thesis, "Analysis of Sonata for 'Cello and Piano' by Buriall Phillips" was submitted before December 1, 1952, after she had spent three summers and one winter working on it.

Her oral examination was taken at Rochester on December 19, 1952. On that day her degree, master of music, with a major in theory was earned, although she has not yet received her diploma. Dr. A. I. McHose and Wayne Barlow were on the examining committee.

Willamette Drama Department To Present 'Glass Menagerie'

The Willamette drama department will present its second play of the season, "The Glass Menagerie," February 5 and 6 in Waller Hall.

The play was written by Tennessee Williams and will be directed by Prof. Dean Graunke, head of the Willamette drama department. Starring roles will be filled by Clarine Woolery as Laura, Garold Meinke as Tom, Margie Leonard as Amanda, and George Evans as Jim O'Conner.

The plot, which is divided into two parts, centers around the efforts of a cripple, Laura, who strives in vain to find comfort in a dingy St. Louis apartment. She almost completely secludes herself, and has, as an only solace, a small set of glass animals, from which the title is derived.

Tom and Jim O'Conner come into her life and the play becomes a mixture of pathos, humor, and emotional experiences. Mood music is furnished by records from the original production, as played in New York. The settings promise to be something different, Graunke said, as they take on an unrealistic tone.

Tickets are available now. Reserved seats may be secured by phoning the drama department at 3-3088.

Campus Gives Blood

Although no exact count was available as the Collegian went to press, 350 pints of blood had been pledged for the drive by Wednesday night, according to the chairman Bob Goff. Goff said this was about as good as last year when 265 pints were collected. He said even with the 350 pints the goal of 75 gallons would not be reached.

'Drama Cavalcade' Continues With One-Act Plays Tonight

The second group of one-act plays called the "Drama Cavalcade," given by the actors-directors lab, will be presented tonight at 7:30 in Waller hall.

The first play in the group of two will be "The Women," by Clare Booth Luce, directed by Sherry Schwartz. Aiding her will be assistant director Kay Kremer.

"A Night at the Inn," by Lord Dunsany, will be the final play of the evening. Lollie Coffey is director, with Janice Weber handling lighting and Joann Fym doing advertising.

Hatfield Begins Second Term Seeking Revised Constitution

Willamette's professor-politician, Mark Hatfield, began his second term in the state legislature Monday and two days later was busy making some of the biggest legislative news in years.

Hatfield introduced a resolution into the house Wednesday calling for a convention in 1956 to revise the Oregon constitution. The resolution was backed by the state republican administration and had been proposed by Gov. Paul Patterson in his address to the combined houses Monday.

Some of his thunder stolen by democrat Richard Neuberger, who introduced a similar bill in the senate Tuesday, Hatfield hoped to revise Oregon's constitution, which is considered one of the most antique in the nation. The convention cannot be called for three years.

Hatfield is chairman of the state and national affairs committee, and a member of elections and reapportionment, education, and bills committees.

Baxter Men Send Care Food Boxes

Three general food Care packages were sent overseas recently by the Independent men of Baxter hall. One package went to Austria and two were sent to India.

Money has been allocated to send a fourth package to the Far East in the near future, according to Willis Ludlow.

Get 'Em Back!

Students who still have Wal-lulah picture proofs out are asked to return them as soon as possible to the Artz photography studio or the Wallulah office.

Violinist Joseph Szigeti Wows Small Audience; Artist's Technique, Interpretation Said Brilliant

By Jane Fooshee

Most of those who heard Joseph Szigeti last Monday evening will agree that he fully deserves to be known as one of the three outstanding violinists today. His performance was splendid from the standpoint of both technique and interpretation, although his stage presence was unusually reserved.

Mr. Szigeti may certainly be compared favorably with Yehudi Menuhin, who was featured on the concert series last year. Mr. Menuhin, unfortunately, tends to rely somewhat on the reputation he gained as a child prodigy, and his technique sometimes shows the need of more disciplined practice. Mr. Szigeti, on the other hand, shows a nearly faultless virtuosity with the most difficult compositions, in addition to a clear, singing tone and a sensitive feeling which is never overdone.

Ravel Number Popular

Four of the numbers played by Mr. Szigeti seem to be especially outstanding. The Bach "Chaconne" was probably the most difficult of all the compositions performed, since it is played without accompaniment and consists of a complex series of variations on a chordal theme.

The Ravel Sonata, with its modern rhythms, seemed to appeal to the audience more than any other number. It is a marvelous piece of writing, combining the jazz idiom with classic form, and at the reception after the concert, Mr. Szigeti said that he wished more violinists would perform the work in concert, since it is one of the outstanding numbers in violin literature.

Attendance Poor

The "Kreutzer" Sonata is always a favorite with every audience, and Mr. Szigeti's performance of Beethoven was on a par with any artist in the field. Again he may be compared favorably with Mr. Menuhin, who performed the Sonata last year. The last number on the program, the "Russian Dance" from Stravinsky's "Petrushka," was outstanding for its colorful rhythms and harmony, and Mr. Szigeti performed it in masterful fashion.

Something ought to be said about Mr. Szigeti's accompanist, Carlo Bussotti. As an accompanist, he was more than outstanding, and it is really unfortunate that he did not play a solo during the concert. His timing was perfect, and tone clear and precise, and his interpretation of the various numbers was excellent.

The one dark note to the concert was the size of the audience—approximately a thousand. Student support was at a minimum, and those not attending missed a performance by a man of whom one critic wrote, "Szigeti plays like a good citizen of the world."

Alice Koch

The social whirl has slowed down to a pre-final pace as dances give way to books and activities to papers. Despite restrictions romances continue so we'll add to the list the names of Alice Koch and George Croisan... their engagement was announced as the Chi Omega house last week. Alice is an English major and George majors in political science... both are seniors.

Alums are well represented in recent engagement announcements. Janet Stark and Doug Nicoll announced their engagement during vacation... Janet is teaching in Portland and Doug is studying at Boston University School of Theology. The engagement of Betty Jean Mullen, 1952 May queen, and Tom Joseph was announced at the Alpha Chi house Sunday... Tom is now in law school. Carolann Snarr and Gene Walters announced their engagement by mail to the Pi Phi house this week... Carolann is an airline stewardess and Gene is studying at Drew theological seminary. May queen of 1951, Alice Adams, announced her engagement to Karl Schmidt, graduate student, during the past week.

Frosh-Soph Party

Friday night following the game the underclassmen will hold a party in the gym... socks are in order for the affair and juniors and seniors are requested to remove themselves from the premises post-haste.

Seniors plan to hold their celebration after finals and junior plans are still in the making at this writing.

New Responsibilities

Members of Phi Delta Theta recently elected Neal Wineman to the office of president of their chapter... Don Empey will serve as recorder and Dick Wilkins was chosen warden. Don Case will be Phi Delta secretary and Bill Briggs will deal with the finances. Other officers are Bill Hagmeyer, historian; Gerald Rolfsness, librarian; Keith Mirick, chorister; George Buland, alumni secretary; George Evans, rush chairman; and Bill Colvard, chaplain.

Tom Edwards is the new president of SAE... he will be assisted by Vice-president Hugh Nelson, Treasurer Cal Horn, Recording Secretary Dick Adams, Correspondent Jerry Cruson, Chronicler Loyal Howard, Warden Bob Swift and Herald Ron Swanson.

Members of Cardinal Key elected Jim Hitchman as their president Sunday night... Kent Myers will hold the office of secretary-treasurer.

Petitions Due

Petitions for the post of concert manager are due in the student body office by 4 p.m. on Wednesday, February 4. They must be in the form of statements of purpose. The new manager will serve for one concert with retiring manager, Phil Ringle.

Glee Committee Heads Chosen

A flock of special committee chairmen appointments and the selection of Dr. George Martin as faculty advisor were made by Glee Manager Vaughn Blankenship this week.

General secretary for the Glee pageant is JoAnn Benard. Committee chairmen include: Marjorie Little, decorations; Bob MacDonald, programs; Jill Gellerman, entertainment; Paul Ackerman, tickets; Duane Alvord, publicity; Dale Patton, chairs and floor; Dave Finley, stage; and Amy Girod, ushers.

First meetings of these committees are scheduled for January 19. Following finals the committees will meet every Monday until Glee week, Blankenship said. The Glee advisory committee met yesterday to formulate rules for the Glee presentation. No major changes are in the offing, according to Blankenship.

Anderson Concert Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Marian Anderson concert February 24 went on sale this week in the living organizations and the student body office. Student rates are $1.50, according to Phil Ringle, manager.

Ringle expects a sell-out, judging, he said, from the advance sales.

Reception, Tea For Carl Hall

Tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in the art building the Salem Art association and the Willamette university art department will co-sponsor a public reception and tea to be given in honor of Willamette's artist in residence, Carl Hall.

Mr. Hall's current exhibit of 20 water colors, five of which are on public display for the first time, will continue to be on exhibit for students and the interested public for the rest of this month. The art building will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Congregationalists To Hear Debaters

Willamette university's forensics team will hold a debate next Sunday at 8 p.m. in the social room of the First Congregational church. The team is composed of Tom Scheidel, Jim Wood, Fenton Hughes and Paul Johnson.

Charles A. Sprague, alternate delegate to the United Nations and former governor of Oregon, will address the church group February 8.

Council Drops Out of Union; Seeks Concert Head Petitions

Willamette is no longer a member of the Association of College Unions following student council action on Wednesday. The matter of the campus student union movement came before the executive committee of the student body when the Association asked for the annual membership fee of $20.

The executive committee recommended to the council that the University withdraw from the Association because there seems to be no prospect of the construction of a student union in the near future.

Ruben Menashe, who was appointed by the council earlier in the year to head a student union committee, will remain as an agent of the council to coordinate any possible information received or accumulated on the subject.

In other council business, the statement of purpose from Women's Athletic Association now designated Women's Recreation Association, was approved by the council after screening by the executive committee. This was done as a part of the yearly council chore to encourage all campus activity organizations to bring their constitutions and statements of purpose up to date.

President Cocking reported that written petitions, in the form of statements of purpose, for the post of concert manager must be in the student body office by 4 p.m. on February 4. The person who is selected by the council on that date will work with Phil Ringle, present manager, on the promotion of the Marian Anderson concert on February 24.

Jim Hitchman, student body vice-president, told the council of recent Cardinal Key discussion on the excess noise in the library as a subject for future council action.

The next meeting of the council will be February 4.

Six Students Assume Positions With Oregon State Legislature

When the 1953 session of the Oregon state legislature convened Monday six Willamette students were busy in new jobs, doing their part in helping the wheels of government function. Most highly-honored of the group was Joe Benninghoff, senior scholar in American history and government, who was elected reading clerk of the house of representatives.

Paul Southworth, a WU grad of 1952, will act as assistant sergeant-at-arms. Another graduate, Dave Melson, was appointed page.

Kent Holmes, sophomore, and Carl Simpson, senior, are working part-time as messengers for the telephone exchange. They explained that their job is to take messages from the central switchboard near the governor's office to various members of the legislature, to lobbyists, or to other officials.

Collegian Editor Don Scarborough will be indirectly working at the state house as a part-time member of the Capital-Journal staff.

ROTC Students Set Flight Today

If weather conditions permit, Willamette's ROTC detachment has planned an air flight over Salem and vicinity today.

Today's flight will be the second for this school year since several flights in previous weeks were cancelled because of weather conditions.

Capt. Theodore Velde is planning two or three flights each Friday with approximately 18 cadets on each flight. Cadets are permitted to go on these flights if they have the permission of their parents or are of age.

Kaiser to Return In History Role

Prof. Chester Kaiser of the history department, will return to Willamette next semester, according to Dean Robert Gregg. He will return in time to consult with his students registration day, and he will offer courses in American history, economic history of the United States, readings in American history, and Argentine, Brazil, and Chile.

He has completed all of his requirements for a doctorate at the American university in Washington, D. C., with the exception of his thesis and final oral examination. He is planning to return for his orals at Easter, and expects his requirements to be met, and the degree to be granted in June, 1953.

Jean Kyle to Speak On 'Reader's Diet'

Jean Kyle, Willamette senior and a fourth year member of the forensics squad, will be Willamette's entrant in the annual after-dinner speaking contest to be held at Linfield college next Thursday.

She will speak at a dinner meeting on the topic "American Reader's Diet." She will compete with other speakers representing universities and colleges throughout the state.

Fiddles and Basketballs

There is an old saying which goes something like, "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink." But you don't have to place distracting temptations in Nelly's way.

Willamette had its third Distinguished Artist concert Monday night. No one will force University students to attend these concerts. If we don't want to expose ourselves to this type of culture, it's nobody's business but our own; but we do like to be encouraged. And the least the administration can do is to allow the concert a night of its own where culture can be given a fair trial.

We accept the apologies of the administration official or officials who scheduled an exhibition basketball game the same night as the Szigeti concert. All is forgiven, only please remember next time that culture needs culturing for it will have a difficult time meeting the competition of basketball at casabaminded Willamette university.

Conservative Reactionary

It has come to our attention that this is the year 1953, not 1952 as advertised in last week's Collegian. At first we thought some female member of our staff, regretting the demise of leap year, had shuffled our date lines. Then we noticed that this same thing happens almost every year right after the first. We're reluctant to launch a new year, it seems. This reveals the natural conservative tendencies of your campus newspaper.

When Mr. Holy and other legislators finish their analysis of the educational system, maybe they'll think of some way to help the president-elect work his way more quickly through the electoral college.

Increased '53 Draft Quota Threatens Non-Deferred Men

All men students who are not now classified under the selective-service system in a deferred category or enlisted in a recognized deferred program are eligible for call under a stepped-up national draft program, according to Dean Mark Hatfield.

A full awareness of the armed service's demand for more manpower in 1953 has suddenly enveloped the campus as Daryl Girod, a basketball stalwart, received his draft call last week. According to rumors, other men on the campus have received their notices but Hatfield did not substantiate this.

The increased quota since the new year was laid as the reason for the hint of reconsideration of university students not already deferred for military needs. Hatfield said the only reason many men were allowed to attend school last fall was the low draft quota at the time. This, however, was no indication that they could not be called out of school at any time in order to help meet local draft requirements.

Must Have Deferment

Any man who is not in a reserve group, qualified to attend school because of sufficiently high grades, deferred under the draft test or listed with an ROTC deferment is now eligible to be called under the selective service act.

Hatfield reports that more definite information as to the status of many campus men will be hinging on the results of the grades for the first semester.

A popular conception has held that men who are notified of a period of military service will be able to complete their present term of schooling, but Hatfield denied this.

Chamber Music Program Scheduled For Next Faculty Forum Meeting

An informal evening of chamber music is being arranged by Dr. Willis Gates for the next Faculty Forum program to be held in early February, according to Dr. John Myers, Forum chairman.

The chamber group, composed of faculty and townspeople, will perform two complete works, the Haydn String Quartet in D Minor, Op. 76, No. 2 (known familiarly as the "Quinten-Quartet") and the Schubert String Quintet in C Major, Op. 163.

Dr. Gates will comment on the works before they are performed. According to Dr. Gates, the program will offer a chance to note a comparison of style between Haydn, a master of the Classical period, and Schubert, an outstanding representative of the early Romantic period.

Members of the chamber group include Dr. Gates and Sally Bolliger, violins; Victor Palmason, viola; Bernard Sokolow and Ethel Lou Stanek, cellos.

Smith Returns From Meetings

Dr. G. Herbert Smith returned to the campus Monday following a week's absence to attend three conferences in Los Angeles.

Traveling with him to Los Angeles the first of last week was Dean Robert Gregg, to take part in the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges.

Dr. Smith attended as a member of the board of directors for the Association, a position to which he was reelected for the third time last January. Willamette's president was instrumental in persuading the group to meet on the Pacific coast this year, for the first time in over 20 years. Nearly one thousand delegates traveled to the west coast for the conference.

Following the meeting of the Association, Dr. Smith remained in Los Angeles to attend a conference of the Association of Methodist Colleges and the Senate of the Methodist church.

Commissions Open For Men, Women

College men and women can obtain a commission in the naval reserve by applying for the reserve officer candidate program, according to information released by the Salem U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center.

Men applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 26 and must be members or eligible members of the naval reserve. Women must be between the ages of 18 and 26 and must agree to join the naval reserve.

Further information may be obtained from the inspector-instructor, naval reserve, who will be in the Cat Cavern Tuesday morning at 9, or by calling 2-6576.

Willamette Faces Idaho, Whitman After Weekend Split With Linfield

Sam's Back With League Leading Coyote Cagers

Tonight John Lewis sends his hot and cold Bearcats against the surprisingly powerful Coyotes from the College of Idaho in the first of three games in a four-day marathon.

The Caldwell invaders will again furnish the opposition for tomorrow night's action while Monday's contest will feature Whitman. The Missionaries will be busy themselves this weekend as they play Linfield at McMinnville in a two-game series.

The Coyotes, coached by Sam Vokes, freshman basketball mentor and football line coach at Willamette for the past two seasons, come to town with three straight conference wins under their belts. The Idahoans downed Lewis and Clark 70-68 and 72-64 in weekend tilts plus humbling Pacific 70-58 last Monday.

Owens Handles Scoring

Whitman split its two-game series with Pacific and lost to Lewis and Clark Monday, 62-59.

Other than comparison scores little is known of Vokes' crew. Dick Speiss and Jack Kennevik are the only returning regulars. Most of the Coyotes' scoring chores seem to have been taken over by R. C. Owens, freshman center. The six-foot, three-inch pivot man is rated as one of the finest athletes to enter the Idaho school in many years.

Tallest man on the team is six-foot, five-inch Dick Weist, who has just returned to the squad after 16 months in the armed forces. Guard Ben Kerfoot and Ray Mullins, who will be with Kennevik in front court, round out the Idaho lineup.

Lewis Seeks Replacement

Dick Fain, who has averaged 13.4 points per game last season will be the man to step in the Missionary attack. Guards Don Jacobson and Bill Click, Center Howie Wallenburg and Bill Klise form the rest of the Whitman starting five.

The big question around the Willamette camp this past week has been who will fill Daryl Girod's shoes. The play-making guard left for his induction into the army yesterday afternoon. Lewis stated that the important position could be filled by one of five possibilities. Dave Gray and Freshman Jerry McCallister are figured the most likely, however.

The other starting berths will probably find Dick Mase and Dick Hoy at the forwards. Pete Reed at center and Lefty Shield at guard. In case Lewis should move Hoy to the vacant guard spot, Bill Colvard would probably get the starting forward spot.

Willamette Intramural Teams Fight For Post-Season Tourney Spots

With only two teams sure of a playoff berth, Willamette's intramural basketball teams will be fighting right down to the wire for the remaining slots in the post-season tournament.

The tournament action will start as soon as the league play is over for all three leagues.

In the "A" league the Wits have clinched a berth with the remaining spot going either to the SAE's or the Sigs. The Betas have the "B" league berth with the Wits holding the edge for the other slot. The Sigs and the SAE's still have a mathematical chance for the vacant position.

Baxter leads the "C" leaguers for the tournament berths as they hold a 3-0 record, but still have three games remaining. The Oregon State hospital crew, the Wits and the Betas are still in the race despite having been defeated once this season.

The Wits captured their playoff spot with a 30-27 victory over the Phi Deltas last Wednesday and the Betas won their berth the week before.

The Sigs and the SAE's kept their hopes alive in the "A" league as they dropped the Betas 46-32 and the Phi Deltas 49-29 respectively, Thursday, January 8.

Baxter, the Wits and the Betas won last week to remain in the race while the OSH lost, but it was their first defeat of the season, to leave the "C" league in a four-way race.

Bearkit Squad Meets Marion Motors, 'YM'

With three straight wins, two in the mythical Northwest conference freshman basketball race, Jerry Frei's Willamette Bearkittens step out of league action to play host to two teams of the Salem City league this weekend. All games will start at 6:10 p.m.

Tonight it will be the YMCA, knotted with Marion Motors in the circuit standings. The Motormen will furnish tomorrow night's opposition and the YMCA will return Monday night to play the Bearkittens.

The Bearkittens edged the Lincoln Cardinals 59-51 with a last-quarter rally last Tuesday in Portland. Ralph Harding was high point man for Willamette with 14 points and Wes Malcolm followed with 13 points.

Last Friday the Bearkittens captured a close 74-73 win over the Linfield Junior Wildcats and then the following night swamped the same Wildcats 95-51.

For this weekend Frei will start Ron Butler and Johnnie Ray at the forwards and either Al Chanda or Jerry Kangas at center. In the back court it will be Ralph Harding and Wes Malcolm.

High Scoring 'Cats Hit Century Mark; Drop League Opener to Wildcats 82-73

Playing the brand of basketball which earned them five straight Northwest conference championships, the Willamette Bearcats snowed under the Linfield Wildcats 103-69 last Saturday night in McMinnville.

The win evened the two-game series which opened league action for both teams as Linfield captured a 82-73 verdict the night before on the Willamette floor.

The Bearcats went a long way towards wrapping up the Saturday night contest in the first period as they streaked to a 34-8 advantage.

There was 1:10 left in the ball game when Freshman Jack Scrivens dropped in a lay-up to put the Bearcats over the century mark.

Dick Mase led the Bearcats with 18 points, but Dave Sanford was tops with 24 counters.

In the opening game of the series, the Bearcats kept right up with Linfield until the final quarter when the Wildcats pulled away for the 82-73 win.
