Daleth Teth Gimel Western Idea, to Promote Spirit of Democracy

Six months after the organization of what was originally called the Independent Women's association, the newest organization on the Willamette campus was last week-end installed as the Willamette chapter of Daleth Teth Gimel.

Sixty active and two honorary members, Mrs. Lestle Sparks and Mrs. Cecil Monk were formally pledged to the national organization last Thursday and Friday.

Hermine Duthie, executive chairman of the national; Benah Dennis, president of Washington State College chapter; Clarice Anderson, president of the organization on the Idaho campus accompanied by Inger Hove and Margaret Wilson of Idaho and Mrs. John P. Duthie, patroness for the Washington State College chapter were the installing officers who came to Willamette Thursday and remained until Sunday.

Miss Dennis Prominent

Miss Dennis is a member of the Mortar Board, and is active in journalistic work on her home campus. Miss Duthie, aside from the important position that she holds on the executive board of Daleth Teth Gimel, is student assistant in the speech department at W. S. C.; is a member of Kappa Alpha beta, national sorority; and a member of the National Collegiate Players.

The history of Daleth Teth Gimel is unique inasmuch as it is purely a western society and is the only association of its kind in the United States so far as is known here.

In 1924 it was founded at the University of Idaho for the purpose of giving women not living in organized group houses an opportunity for individual and group development, to promote democracy, and to furnish social contacts.

First Organized at Idaho

The need for such an organization was first felt by Dean French, who with several Idaho women organized a group which was so successful that two years later a sister chapter was established on the campus of Washington State College.

When last fall about forty Willamette women met to organize a society with similar purposes as fostered by Daleth Teth Gimel the two previously organized groups became interested and offered their aid with the result that Willamette has the third chapter of a growing national organization.

Although most denominational colleges feel that they are too small to need such an organization the deans of women at state colleges and universities are greatly interested in, and are favorable toward such an organization.

The Washington State chapter has about sixty active members, and the Idaho chapter has eighty.

While on the campus the representatives were the guests of Lausanne Hall.

SALEM MINISTERS MEET

On account of the Salem district conference of the Methodist church held at Independence on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week most of the Kimball classes were dismissed for those days. All the pastors of Salem were in attendance.

THREE ENTER TRYOUTS FOR SONG QUEEN, FRI.

Schomp and Sanders Contestants For Yell King; Sherwin Candidate for Crown Prince

Josephine Alberts, Doris Corbin and Mary Allen are the three contestants who will try out for Song Queen in chapel Friday, April 19.

As a result of a drawing for song and place in the tryout Miss Alberts will appear first, while Miss Corbin will come second and will lead the student body in the singing of the "East May Love Old Harvard". Miss Allen will lead with "On Willamette". Tryouts will be conducted without the aid of accompanist, which will give the students a better chance to judge the contestant's ability to lead the bleacher singing.

Ralph Schomp and Don Sanders are the only two men turning out for Yell King, while Dick Sherwin is the only Crown Prince entrant.

8 MEN APPOINTED ON NEXT CABINET

At the joint cabinet meeting for both the old and new cabinets, Wednesday evening, plans were discussed for a Cabinet Retreat, to be held very soon, and for the last meeting of the Northwest Field Council of the Y. M. C. A. This Council, which includes both student and city representatives, will be at Centralia on April 25.

Y members are looking forward to the Northwest Student Conference at Seabeck, from June 8 to 17. With Everett Gardner in charge, the men are planning to send as many delegates as possible. The conference will offer—besides the addresses and forums—officers' training course, a vocational course, and a study of the records of Jesus. In addition to this, there will be athletics, fellowship, and fun.

PRIZE TO BE GIVEN FOR BEST COSTUME

PLAY TO BE GIVEN AT GRAND THEATER

Appointment of Assistants Made by Geddes, Orchestra Is Engaged

Work is progressing rapidly on the Junior play, "The Romantic Age", and will be given at the old Grand theater, Friday, May 3.

The cast is practicing daily and is now working on the third act. Although inexperienced the cast gives promise of being one of the most capable ones Willamette has ever produced.

A seven piece orchestra composed of Willamette students has been engaged to play popular selections at the performance.

Paul Geddes, the Junior play manager, has appointed the following assistants: stage manager, Homer Roberts; property manager, Newton Sanders; wardrobe mistress, Elizabeth Atkinson and Marie Messersmith; wardrobe master, Leslie Manker.

Cord Tradition Is To Be Carried Out

In answer to the constant questions concerning the Junior tradition, the men of the Junior class decided at class meeting yesterday to issue the following statement in regard to the wearing of corduroy trousers by lower class men: Corduroy trousers shall not be worn by lower class men on the campus. The purpose of this statement is to make clear the stand taken on the tradition this year and to leave room for no excuses for violation of the custom.

The girls in charge of the affair are: seniors, Louise Liere; juniors, Edna Thompson; sophomores, Harriette Haveman; freshmen, Gertrude Oehler.

Candy will be sold all during the evening. All women of the student body and faculty are cordially invited to attend and also friends. High school girls are especially invited.

SMULLIN IN HOSPITAL JACKSON ASSUMES JOB

William Smullin, editor of the Collegian, underwent a serious operation for mastoids at the Deaconess hospital last Saturday morning. He is improving slowly and is getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances. It is doubtful whether he will be able to return to school this year.

Bornlee Jackson will assume the job of editing the paper for the remainder of the year. She will be assisted by Stephen Merglar.

WILLAMETTE MADE MEMBER OF A. A. U. W.

RESULT OF MUCH EFFORT

Word Received From National Convention, Salem Chapter Six Years Old

Full membership in the American Association of University Women was awarded Willamette at the national convention of A. A. U. W. held in New Orleans last week. This decision on the part of the association marks the culmination of four years' work toward this end by the Salem chapter of American Association of University Women and Willamette University.

A few weeks ago Catherine Rogers Adams, dean of women at Mills college visited Willamette campus in the interest of the association while on her way to the New Orleans convention. It was then understood that the question of Willamette's membership would be considered this year but Dean Adams made no statement as to what her recommendations would be.

Women graduates of Willamette will now be allowed full membership in the national association, and any women who have attended Willamette for a year or more will be allowed associate membership. Heretofore only associate membership had been granted Willamette graduates.

At the time the Salem chapter of A. A. U. W. was organized six years ago Willamette women under the leadership of Dean Frances M. Richards began their efforts to obtain national membership in the national organization.

It was then understood that certain standards as to housing of women, health and physical education facilities, library and study opportunities, and recognition of women on the faculty and in various student body activities and campus organizations must be improved and maintained.

Since that time numerous committees from various chapters have visited Willamette to inspect and aid in the making of these improvements.

Considerable clafion has been expressed by the women of the Salem chapter and by Willamette women at the granting of membership in the national. Dean Olive M. Dahl has been much interested in this question and spent much time and effort in bringing the standards up to those demanded.

WILLAMETTE STUDENTS ACTIVE IN CONVENTION

Several Willamette University student took prominent part in the program arrangements of the district Epworth League convention which closed Sunday afternoon, April 14. Among those taking part were Emily Brown, Esther Lisle, Edith Starrett, Leah Fanning, and Hayes Bell.

Two students from the University hold offices in the district cabinet for the coming year: they are: Hayes Bell, first vice president, and Leah Fanning, intermediate superintendent.

The airplane hunt sponsored by Janus Lee League was a unique feature of the program. Directions for the hunt were dropped from an airplane, Saturday morning. Hayes Bell then took charge of the event.

Sororities, fraternities, and Lausanne Hall cooperated in housing the delegates to the convention.

Another Western Idea

For some years the East has looked to the West with interest for political development but now out of the West comes an entirely new movement in another field.

Five years ago Dean French, of the University of Idaho, sensing the need of a university organization for women which would be completely divorced from other group affiliations and based wholly on democratic principles, was instrumental in establishing Daleth Teth Gimel on the Idaho campus. Within two years the idea was adopted at W. S. C. and last Saturday was the occasion of the installation of the third chapter of the organization on our own campus.

The organization is creating a great deal of interest among deans of women, and many of them feel that it will aid greatly in the solution of certain social problems which are confronting them.

It is hoped that a new spirit of democracy may be developed which will make it possible for both sorority and unaffiliated women to meet together on a common ground which may prove of mutual help.

The group of women who first organized last fall are to be congratulated for the commendable way in which the local organization has been handled and especially in being able to obtain membership into a national of such unique distinction.

New Recognition Benefits All

The announcement that the local chapter of the American Association of University Women has been accorded full national recognition and membership should be very gratifying news to all people interested in Willamette University. In as much as this recognition is granted on the basis of scholarship standards, housing requirements, physical education for women, and adequate health service, it means that Willamette has advanced one step further ahead in its steady progress.

All people in any way connected with the university will benefit by this acknowledgment of its high standards. Since in other parts of the country the name of Willamette University is always associated with Salem, this recognition will bring added attention and prestige to the capital city of Oregon. Much of the credit for making known the high status of women's activities and equipment on our campus should be given to Dean Olive M. Dahl and the others associated with her in promoting this organization.

Fair Representation

Now that the May Queen has been chosen and the Y. M. and Y. W. offices have all been filled, the attention turns to the selection of student body officers for the coming year.

Petitions have been circulated and are being filed with the executive committee by the different campus factions. Whether politics are a detriment to the university is not for us to say one way or the other. On the whole we feel that party leaders are sincere and honest in their choice of candidates. The men and women whose names appear on the petitions as candidates for the various offices have shown themselves efficient and worthy of the honor and responsibility which is attached to a position of this kind.

The thing that we and every open-minded, thinking individual object to is having the student affairs controlled by a group which is not representative of the whole student body. With the exception of one member four out of the seven organized campus groups are without representation on the executive committee.

To promote the best feeling and spirit of co-operation among the students it is only fair that there should be a demand for more equal representation.

Some of us have begun to wonder if the singing student body of Willamette University of which we have heard so much is a thing of the past. We have faint recollections of a mighty fine winning Glee song and would like an opportunity to sing it.

"Marie, where was that draft coming from?"
"The landlord was here demanding money, and wouldn't take his foot out of the door."

Along the Way

(By The Wayfarers)

You can generally tell the kind of wheels a man has in his head by the spokes that come out of his mouth.

We'll venture to say that a certain group of Juniors found out what made the wheels go round in the heads of two Seniors, last Monday night.

These Seniors should feel honored, however, because not everyone can get himself wrapped up in blankets and wound in ropes and be allowed to play mummy in a haymow.

What sweet music for a hayfeverish night's calm repose, with the cows' lowing, the horses' neighing and whinnying and the soft west wind sighing through the cracks of the barn floor.

A heavy escort of Juniors conveyed them to the ranch, which is a short distance from Canby, Oregon. It was feared, we are told, that the two gentlemen might break their appointments and go to the coast on a secret picnic.

Today's Generalization: Willamette women are the right type. Two of them "walked home" through all that wind and rain which was blowing around at twelve o'clock last Saturday night.

P. S. They missed the last bus.

No doubt, they had a more unpleasant time than the man, in our phonograph record, who was always walking "through the smoke and flame".

But, oh! the Willamette men. These same two women were nearly scared to death that night by an ill-appearing man. And, believe it or not, he was only a Willamette student out looking for a couple of postage stamps.

We had best add that he really was looking for the real Uncle Sam variety; and not for the kind of our childhood days.

Those dad-gummed Kappas are gonna wear their soup-and-fish next Saturday, after all, we hear. Somebody must have been spoofing us when they told us that overalls might be the official garb.

We weren't disappointed in the Glee Club manager's announcement that the concert would be a breath from heaven. It's no wonder our editor sometimes wonders why there are so many couples on the campus this year. Who could stay single with such an aggregation of pretty warblers about?

Have you heard of the woman who was going to be a social worker? She was going to rescue her husband.

We ask you. What duz a smokestack?

Twelve Years Ago

Unusual picture of Eaton Hall taken to the Wallulah. Through arrangements with the administration, Eaton Hall was especially illuminated for a few minutes last evening that the official photographer might obtain a picture of the edifice in the evening glow. Without doubt the 1917 Wallulah promises to be "the best yet".

With May Day two weeks away, interest is quickened and efforts are doubled toward the realization of the greatest success in the history of Willamette. Opening the festivities will be a Stunt Parade. This march through the streets will undoubtedly raise interest for the following events. In this parade will be floats of the Junior Play, May Breakfast, and the University Clowns. Friday morning at 6:30 comes the May breakfast. After that, Pacific and Willamette meet in tennis. At 12:45 the dances begin and, as the dances progress, the Queen, drawn in a chariot by diminutive ponies, will start with her retinue from Waller Hall. A coat of arms present has added feature. Following the coronation and completing the exercises, Spring will wind the May Pole with streamers of lavender and white.

Definite announcement of the third annual Websterian reunion will be made next week. Invitations which were extended to old members have been heartily responded to.

Sweetland field is scene of W. U. slaughter. Amid a deluge of 17 hits, O. A. C. warriors scored 16 runs to Willamette's goose egg.

MEN TO BROADCAST

The Men's Glee Club and a number of alumni members of Portland will give a radio concert Sunday night between 9:30 and 10:30. It will be broadcast from KGW.

RAMAGE ESCAPES WITH FEW MINOR INJURIES

Running across State street toward the Capitol building yesterday morning, John "Jack" Ramage collided with a moving automobile and suffered minor injuries.

According to witnesses of the strange accident, the automobile was moving swiftly so that the mishap was caused by Mr. Ramage's not seeing the car until it was too late to avoid running into it. Mr. Ramage says that he saw the car just in time to turn sideways and prevent his being more seriously injured. As it was, he ran his elbow through the side plate glass window of the car, but cut himself only slightly. The force of the impact threw him back on the pavement.

First-aid was rendered at the University gymnasium. Because of the minor nature of the accident, Mr. Ramage will not be kept out of school.

Visiting Officers Honored With Tea

Honoring the installation officers from Washington State College and the University of Idaho, Daleth Teth Gimel entertained with a delightfully informal tea in the drawing room of Lausanne Hall on last Friday afternoon. The ladies of the faculty and all the women of the university were invited to meet the visitors. During the afternoon Josephine Olson gave several vocal selections, Doris Corbin played piano solos, and Marla Feustman gave a reading. Hermine Duthie of Washington State College spoke concerning the purpose of Daleth Teth Gimel.

Daleth Teth Gimel Holds Installation Banquet

Of considerable interest on the campus has been the visit of the national officers of Daleth Teth Gimel who were on the campus last week-end for the installation of the Willamette Chapter of Daleth Teth Gimel which was first organized as the Women's Independent Association.

The visiting officers were: Hermine Duthie and Beulah Dennis of Washington State College and Inger Hove, Clarice Anderson, and Margaret Wilson of the University of Idaho.

Following the installation on Saturday Daleth Teth Gimel held a formal banquet at the Marion Hotel. Bernice Jackson, president of the newly installed chapter, acted as toastmistress. Dorothy Hutchason gave a short speech of welcome. Hermine Duthie, Mary Ann Morange, and Isabel Childs responded with toasts. Special guests were Dean Olive M. Dahl, Mrs. John P. Duthie, Mrs. Leslie Sparks, and Mrs. Ceell R. Monk.

BEARCAT FORUM ELECT, TO CHECK ATTENDANCE

Dean Hewitt Resigns as Teacher
Taylor President, Badley Vice-president

The Bearcat Forum Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church recently elected new officers. The new officers met with the religious education board of the church to suggest topics for study during the next seven Sundays. Some members of the class, and others connected with it have thought that the topics formerly being used had not been closely enough connected with the purpose of the Sunday school class to aid in the Christian life. Topics of both types were suggested and put before the class, and twenty-five people voting selected the following topics:

1. The effectiveness of prayer—What good does it do to pray?
2. The place of pleasure in life.
3. What can we believe about the future life?
4. How can we face life without worry?
5. What is the Christian's standard of conduct?
6. When is defeat victory, and victory defeat?
7. A Christian's belief and experience.

Dean Hewitt, who has taught the class for the past two years, Mrs. J. R. Trindle was selected to teach the class. Mrs. Trindle was in China with her husband in missionary work, and has been in Salem for about two years. She has had much experience in young peoples' work.

Slacking attendance, which is felt to be more due to indifference and to the "Sunday morning after" feeling than to legitimate conflicts in the time will be checked during the rest of the year by representatives of the class in each of the houses. These people will set the example in attendance and will bring back some of the good ideas which the Sunday morning sluggards will have missed as well as to be a "Sunday School alarm clock" to help each member not to miss the interesting discussions which are the reward of every person who attends.

The new officers of the class are: Dorothy Taylor, president; Nellie Badley, vice-president; and Arthur Holtenberg, secretary-treasurer.

the topic "We Would Worship God".

The senior girls sang the call to worship and the benediction. Evelyn Lindberg played the Cradle Song by MacDowell and Ruth M. Hall and Marie Messersmith sang a negro spiritual. Jean White read a poem.

Thursday, April 18, Leland Chapin will lead, speaking on a comparison of Chinese and American women.

BASEBALL OUTLOOK TAKES NEW ASPECT

Keen Competition Is Created
Kimiki and Majovski Offer
Good Material

Baseball prospects for Willamette are brighter than they have been for years. With the exception of "Barney" Kaufmann, stellar catcher, who is ineligible, the entire team of last year is intact and rarin' to go. Interest in baseball seems to have taken a big revival, for a greater number of men than ever before are regularly turning out, which creates a spirit of competition, and makes possible the playing of practice games among the squad. With this turnout, Spec Keene can build up good reserve strength; a most necessary requisite for any good ball team. Among the promising new recruits, Kimiki, diminutive curve-specialist, is almost certain of a first-string berth.

Excellent fielding has characterized these practice games, this team will play an air-tight defense. But can they hit? So far, the team, individually, and as a whole, has lacked the batting punch necessary to win ball games. However, with good weather and consequently more and better batting practice, the team ought to find their batting-eyes.

Pitching Staff Especially Strong

The pitching staff is especially strong this year, with two veterans, Ledbetter, and Vannice, and two very promising new recruits, Kimiki, and Majovski, while Ed Cardinal has been doing such a good job of catching that the absence of "Barney" will not materially affect the strength of the club, here are at least two good men for every infield post, and they are each determined to win the varsity berth. At first, Welch, Scales, and Steelhammer are all displaying a good brand of ball, while at second, Adams and Girod are striving for the first-string assignment. Braley has been keeping Hank hustling to guard third base territory, and has shown that he can ably take care of the "hot corner". Spec has been having a difficult time trying to decide to use Trachsel or Gibson for shortstop, and no doubt will alternate both for that position. In the outfield, McMullen, Dietz, and McGinn will probably get the call, although Rountree, Satchwell, and Gill are making strong bids for the gardener-positions.

Although Willamette prospects are especially bright, we hear that nearly all the conference teams will present sharper competition for high honors this year than last, and rumor from Walla Walla seems to indicate that Whitman has one of the greatest ball teams they have ever had.

EDITH FINDLEY, FROSH WINS TENNIS MATCHES

Edith Findley, freshman representative in the Tennis tournament, became interclass champion by defeating the three other class entrants.

The varsity tennis team will be made up of Pauline Findley, house and done other. Doris Steele and Edith Starrett are competing for this place. Their play-off was begun the other day, but rain interfered and the game was stopped with the score 7-7 in the first set.

TRACKSTERS STILL TO TREAD IN MUD

Although Willamette will not have a cinder track this year, we will have a very good dirt track if the playful Juke Pluvius ever forgets to drench the field for a few days. Providing the ground is not too sloppy for working, this coming Saturday, Collas Marsters and his cohorts will first disc the track, then grade it, and roll it smooth. He is also planning to put a new rail around the inside rim of the oval. Then, if the school wishes to cinder the track this year or next, it will be in good shape to do so.

MEETING POSTPONED

On account of Senior flunk day, the Blue Key meeting, which was to have been held Tuesday, has been postponed until Friday.

DATE NOT SET FOR INTERCLASS TRACK

The time of holding the interclass track meet is more or less of a question mark as yet, says Graduate Manager Sparks and track coach. If it is possible to arrange a triangular meet for May day the interclass meet will be a week from this Saturday. Otherwise the interclass meet will be held on May day.

The seniors according to advanced information have a little of the edge with the freshmen running a mighty close second. Although the juniors have a chance to win, while the sophomores seem hopelessly in last place as their outstanding track men have left school.

The seniors have Hathaway, miler, two miler and pole vaulter; Flesher, 100, 220, 440, 880 and miler; Tweedie, 440 and javelin; Winslow, miler; Mort, in the weights; Litchfield, Pratt, Hague, Silke, and Wadell.

The juniors have ranch, Vandyke, Geddes, Ruch and Haworth as mainstays, and Mergier, Poor and Shellhart as possible point winners.

The sophomores have Gibson and Stone as the bulwark of their threat with Wells and Felton showing promise.

The strength of the freshman team is unknown as yet with the exception of Lloyd who is a sure winner in the broad jump and a possible winner in some of the dashes. Other men who will compete are Faber, Shipman, Finkbinder, French and Carpenter.

MISS SARGENT CHOSEN AS LINFIELD'S QUEEN

LINFIELD COLLEGE, April 17.—Miss Ethel Sargent, Portland, was chosen May Queen Monday in a special election by a vote of 112 to 101 and she will reign at Linfield's 1929 May Day. Miss Beulah Watson, Goldendale, Wash., was selected maid of honor.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE CREATES INTEREST

The baseball schedule for this season, although incomplete as yet shows promise of some interesting games. Only two games have so far been scheduled for the home field, with Linfield April 27, and with Pacific May 4, but negotiations have been opened up with C. P. S. and Columbia U. of Portland, and Willamette will probably have two more games on the local diamond. Two practice games were scheduled with O. S. C. and three with U. of O.; however the O. S. C. series has been rained out, so that Spec Keene will have to rely on the Oregon games to make the final selections for the first string.

The schedule so far, is:
April 17. OSC. There.
April 19. U. of O. There.
April 20. U. of O. (two games) There.
April 27. Linfield. Here.
May 4. Pacific. Here.
May 10. Pacific. There.
May 18. Linfield. There.

GAME WITH NORMAL LACKS IN SPIRIT

In a game Tuesday afternoon Willamette managed to nose out the Normal teachers.

Hauk, Cardinal and Roundtree the heavy hitters of last year's team failed to contribute, while most everyone contributed to a mediocre game, with neither side having a decided edge on errors and poor playing. Cloniger once a Willamette football man and an Idaho league heavy clouter for some years is now playing on the Monmouth team.

Leadbetter and Kimiki, Willamette pitchers were effective for the most part, and would have shut out the teachers but for the combination of a couple of walks and a Texas leaguer by Jackson which sent West, and Gruns across the plate. Willamette scored two runs in the third inning when Wuned, Monmouth pitcher, lost control temporarily and walked a couple of batsmen. The deciding score was made by Deetz in the sixth inning when he walked and was sent home by McGinnis three bagger over the head of Cloniger, Normal left fielder.

Lineups were:
 Normal—Grun, 2b; West, 3b; Jackson, cf; Cloniger, 1f; Ingram, 1b; Stearns, rf; Watkins, ss; Tryer, c; Wunder, p.
 Willamette—Deetz, cf; McGinnis, 1f; McMullin, Gill and Roundtree, rf; Scales and Steelhammer, 1b; Cardinal, c; Gibson, ss; Hauk, 3b; Adams, Girod and Trachsel, 2b; Leadbetter and Kimiki, p.

In the doubles Roeder and Harmon lost to Goode and Hobson 5-7, 6-3, 6-2. White and Minto, and Hageman and Haworth of Willamette still remain in the doubles and should reach the finals.

First tryouts for the varsity will begin next Wednesday when the men will be placed by the captain, John Minto, to play in a ladder tournament.

The freshman and the sophomore class will tangle in three single and one double match today at the asylum. The sophomore team will be composed of McGilvra, Harmon, and DeHarport and the rock team will be chosen from Roeder, Millard, McRee, Faber, and Sherwin.

Y CABINETS HOLD TRAINING SCHOOL

Six Attend From Willamette Students Hear International Speaker

Thirty-five delegates from the Y. W. C. A. cabinets of O. S. C., Oregon, Linfield, Pacific, and Willamette met last week-end for a conference at Rock Creek camp near Portland. The three day program was planned as a training school for new cabinet members and included a variety of things.

Friday evening Frances Warnoko, who just returned last week from an eight months' trip to India to the International Student council meeting, gave the group an informal talk about a few of her interesting experiences while abroad. Dr. John R. Mott was at the head of the student council. While in India the committee was the honored guest of the maharaja and was royally entertained.

Most of Saturday was given to technical discussion groups and to talks by Marcia Seeber, who visited the campus this year; Norma Sims; Essie MacGuire; and Dorothy Pennell.

In the afternoon a recess was declared while the delegates billed through the seventeen acres of beautiful woods that surround Rock Creek.

A Seabeck banquet was held in the evening when toasts and songs about the summer conference were given.

Members of the Willamette Y. W. cabinet who attended the conference were Sarah Poor, Pauline Findley, Elsie Tucker, Dorothy Taylor, Eloise White, and Dorothy Gordon.
