The school year 1951-52 was busy and active for Willamette students. Classes, athletics, dances, meetings, Glee, May Week End, all helped to round out the year. As we reflect back, we have tried to pick some of the bright spots that stand out in our minds as important events in the history of Willamette, and with this in mind present to you your 1952 WALLULAH.

Dedication

In the many hours spent in the production of a Wallulah, one person stands out above all others in her ever-readiness to lend a helping hand, or give a worth-while suggestion to the annual staff. In her capacity as manager of the Willamette University Bookstore, she has her hand on the pulse of the campus. She knows what is going on and often quietly goes behind the scenes to do some important thing that someone else has forgotten. It is, then, in high regard for her helpfulness and friendliness that we, the Associated Students of Willamette University, dedicate this year book to Delsia Larson.

Administration

G. HERBERT SMITH
President

For a decade G. Herbert Smith has held in his capable hands the guiding reins of the University, and, during those ten years, those who have been affiliated with this institution have come to know him not only as a wise, conscientious administrator, but as a dependable friend. He has never failed to assume his responsibilities to his school, and his efficient and inspirational leadership has brought to Willamette a richer storehouse of knowledge and greater prestige in the academic world.

REGINA EWALT
Dean of Women

In her significant role as adviser to all the women in Willamette University, Mrs. Ewalt is confronted daily with the weighty problems, both scholastic and social, which arise among the students. Despite the trying nature of her duties, she always gives generously of her time to each individual difficulty.

MARK O. HATFIELD
Dean of Students

Dean Hatfield is still near enough to his college days to have immediate insight into the unique problems of the university student. This advantageous position has made him even more able to handle wisely and adeptly the diverse tasks which his office demands.

Efficiently handling the Deans' affairs are Phyllis Johnston, Secretary to Dean Ewalt, and Del Phillips, Secretary to Dean Hatfield.

Chief Accountant and A. S. W. U. Adviser, Maurice L. Cohn, who was taken from Willamette for a short while by Uncle Sam, is now back again at his desk in Eaton Hall where he is once more managing all of the University's financial records.

In Willamette's front office Registrar H. B. Jory, who must see that all students are properly enrolled and that all scholastic records are properly maintained.

Presiding at the desk in G. Herbert Smith's outer office is Esther R. Ryan, Secretary to the President. Her day is fully occupied with managing President Smith's many affairs and carrying on his vast correspondence.

The handling of such university business as registration, transcripts, and grade cards keeps Helen Brewster, Alice Herndon and Zarelda Williams busy throughout the year.

The unsung hero of the Willamette University administration is Dr. Robert W. Fenix, Financial Vice-President, who has the thankless task of attending to the financial affairs of the school. Today, with the rising cost of living, his job has grown even more tedious.

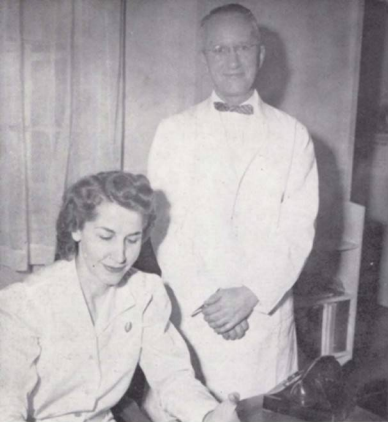

The first Willamette official that most prospective students meet is the ever-friendly Charles A. Paeth, Director of Admissions, who spends a good deal of his time touring the Western States to visit high schools. He always makes a special effort to see that every new student discovers not only a fine school, but a warm welcome here at Willamette. Recently he has acquired a new assistant, Nickie Haynes, who fills the position of Admissions Counselor. As secretary in the office, Jean Kell remains at the University to handle affairs while Mr. Paeth and Miss Haynes are traveling.

The responsibility of meal arrangements for large living groups is no small task, but Lorena N. Jack, Director of Dormitories, manages to keep all the dormitory dining rooms running smoothly and all their kitchens well-stocked. Though this part of her job keeps her sufficiently busy, she also must find time to direct the janitorial and kitchen personnel. Florence Fawk serves as her capable assistant.

Keeping things running smoothly in the business office are Naomi James, accountant, and Dora Howard, bookkeeper. In addition to keeping books for the university, these two ladies have the job of tracking down the students who are late in paying tuition and other sums due the university.

Always present in time of need is Dr. Ralph E. Purvine, University Physician, who makes his headquarters at the Willamette Infirmary and who tends the innumerable aches and pains which plague the students. Assistant to Dr. Purvine is University Nurse, Henrietta Althoff, who is never without plenty of company at the Willamette Infirmary where she is always surrounded by a small army of ailing students. Hardly a person has gone through four years at Willamette University without once having requested a box of pills or a bottle of cough medicine from Mrs. Althoff.

The fine qualities of Willamette are spread beyond the bounds of our campus through the numerous pamphlets and informative material which flows from the office of Director of Information, Nancy Stuart. Not only must Miss Stuart and her staff inform the new-comers to the Willamette family, but also, through the publication of the "Willamette Alumnus" they bring past students up to date on the activities of their Alma Mater.

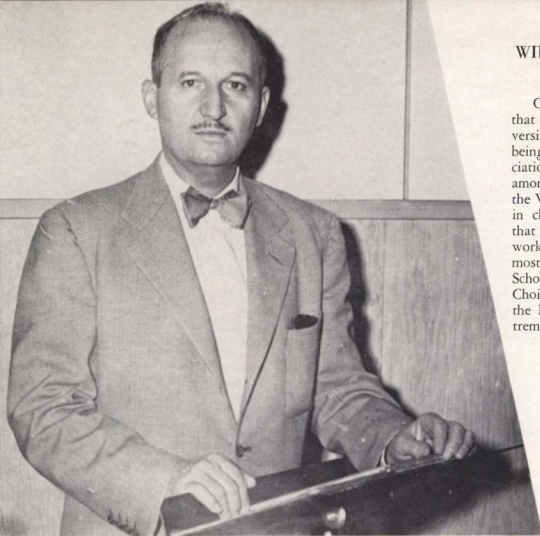

Ainsley A. Whitman, Librarian, has spent another successful year efficiently and patiently complying with the many demands made upon him by every student, from the writer of the research paper to the freshman who is baffled by the card catalog. For the past year Assistant Librarian, Samuel E. Keeton, has served as an invaluable aid to Mr. Whitman in making the library a more useful place in which to work.

Music

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC

One of the most enticing attractions that draws students to Willamette University is the College of Music, which, being a member of the National Association of Schools of Music, ranks among the top schools of its kind in the West. Students especially interested in choral or instrumental music find that this department offers training and work of the highest quality. Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the Music School is the well-known A Cappella Choir which makes an annual tour of the Northwest and always meets with tremendous success.

The music department, is in the capable hands of Dean Melvin H. Geist, who serves not only as an efficient manager for the Music School but as an inspirational force to all the music students.

Ralph Dobbs, an excellent concert pianist in his own right, offers advanced courses in piano.

Acting as organ instructor for the University, Joseph Schnelker also has classes in music theory.

Conducting two orchestra rehearsals a week and giving special instruction in strings, Dr. Willis Gates also offers a class in music literature to the liberal arts students.

Possessing a rich soprano voice of her own, Mrs. Clorinda Topping instructs individual students in voice.

Stanley Butler, as well as holding classes in music history and literature, gives private piano instruction. Part of his spare time is spent as official accompanist for the Messiah.

Across campus in the music annex, Maurice Brennan directs the Willamette University Band. The newly formed AROTC Band is also under his leadership.

New to the music faculty, this year, Miss Ethel Lou Stanek is teaching beginning theory together with instructing piano and cello pupils.

As part-time instructor in piano, Mrs. Catherine Schnelker is also director of the girls' training chorus.

Law

Seward P. Reese, Dean of the College of Law, has served the College well since he took his post in 1946.

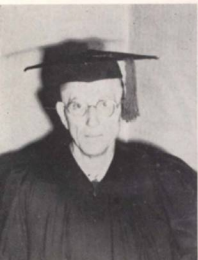

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

Since its establishment in 1883, Willamette University's College of Law has maintained an outstanding reputation as one of the foremost institutions of its kind on the Pacific Coast. Throughout these many years, it has consistently produced students of the highest caliber, who have proved themselves more than capable in the legal profession, and it has rightfully earned the praise bestowed upon it.

Liberal Arts

A sympathetic nature and a quick wit make Dr. Robert D. Gregg, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, a popular as well as able head of the school's largest college.

The Art Department through the outstanding work which its students produce, is constantly increasing its prestige on our campus. Art at Willamette not only exhibits itself in the various projects of the art classes, but also in the form of dance decorations, Homecoming signs, and campaign posters. Indeed, the student body is always turning to the members of the Art Department for assistance in the school's activities.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Within the bounds of the Liberal Arts College are encompassed vast fields of knowledge which are designed to expand and formulate the student's interests and viewpoint. Acquaintance with the nature and story of civilization and culture bring the student a fuller appreciation of his world and better prepare him for his future life.

Because correct composition and speech are a necessary requirement for a complete education, certain English courses are required regardless of a student's major field. The English instructors attempt to introduce the students to the infinite riches found in American and English literature and to give them a humble appreciation of their vast and ancient heritage. In addition, the study of the past literary works is made vital by relating it to its important place in the world today.

On the practical side, English composition is put to work in the Journalism Department which offers courses in the problems and techniques of publications. The journalism students render a great service to the school by putting out the weekly Willamette Collegian, the Wallulab, the Fusser's Guide, and the Student Handbook.

JOURNALISM

The Speech and Drama Departments offer opportunities for both those students who are working toward a career in the theatrical field and those who regard their participation in dramatic activities as purely a form of diversion. Through the radio workshop, play productions, and the functions of the debate team, the speech and drama majors receive wide experience and training in the many phases of dramatic art.

The education department offers the needed opportunities for those students who have plans to enter into the teaching profession or some other field of education. Today the job of this department is vitally important not only to the University, but to the community as a whole.

HISTORY

The history department plays a vital role on campus, for it offers a comprehensive view of all mankind, both past and present. With the world situation as it exists, today's youth is faced with the overwhelming task of attaining lasting peace. By delving into the past and relating it to the present, the rising generation can save itself from the fatal mistakes of the preceding generations.

The economics department satisfies the needs of many Willamette students who desire to further themselves in this field. Courses are offered which contribute to an understanding of current economic problems, the operation of our economic systems, and fundamental practices of the business world. Many students from other departments take basic courses in economics, which enable them to better understand the workings of our financial system.

The nature of existing political ideologies, in action and in theory, is uppermost in minds today as the governments of the world come constantly into closer contact and as the need for international co-operation grows increasingly evident. Through the study of political science, the student can obtain a clearer, more objective view of the different types of political organizations and how they interact with other phases of life. Such knowledge is essential to the younger generation who will soon be making the all-important decisions which will determine peace or chaos for the future.

Philosophy and Religion

Both the Philosophy and the Religion Departments are planned to broaden the students' outlook on the fundamental questions of life, although the two take decidedly different approaches. While the religion courses put most of the stress on the diverse orthodox faiths, the philosophy courses attempt to encourage the student to formulate his own doctrines of belief.

An understanding of the fundamental principles of life in relation to man is emphasized in the biology courses. The functions and importance of plants and animals from the simplest to the highest forms, are studied to provide a better outlook and background for the student. Such instruction reveals to the student not only the infinite complexity of the living organisms, but also, gives him an appreciation of the true value of man's existence.

The aim of the Physics and Chemistry Departments is to develop in students the ability to understand the factors constituting their surroundings. Through experimentation in the laboratory and lectures in the classroom, these goals are reached. A better understanding of both the physical and chemical aspect of matter is gained from courses in these departments.

SENIORS

The class of '52, under the enthusiastic leadership of Bob Hearn and Doug Nicoll, said its fond farewell to Willamette's campus through a year filled with activities, including the sponsorship of an all-school pajama dance at Christmas time. Of course, foremost in the minds of each Senior were the impending Orals and Comps, and a great deal of the class members' energies were devoted to long hours of studies, but still time was found for other lesser events. The Senior Class received a dubious honor at Freshman Glee when, for the fourth consecutive year, it walked off with third place. The spring semester was climaxed by the annual Senior beach trip late in May, when the students of '52 took their last fling before their commencement from the University in June.

JUNIORS

The Junior class first joined together in the fall semester, under the leadership of president Herb Brower, when it held its annual class party, which this year was a roller skating party. Despite their rather humiliating defeat in Freshman Glee this year, the Juniors came up smiling and enjoyed in full the events of Blue Monday. By late spring, under the guidance of John Ambler, their thoughts turned to the seashore where they took their annual trip and where they prepared a meal in honor of the Seniors who were also enjoying the fine weather.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore Class, whose successful year can be traced in part to the fine guidance of Presidents Merlin Schulze and Hal Silke, became even more closely united and cooperative than it had during its preceding year on campus. As a kick off for the season, the Sophomores joined together in their class informal, Frosh-Soph Mixer, last winter, but their year didn't reach its dramatic climax until March on the night of Freshman Glee. Never to be outdone, the class of '54 again gained the Glee Banner. As a last social get-together before summer, the class headed off to the coast one day in May to enjoy some brief moments of sea air and sunshine.

For their first year on campus, the Freshmen joined admirably in the many activities which so often prove confusing to newcomers. After they had united under their fall president Tom Schrock, the Freshmen first worked on the joint Freshman-Sophomore mixer through which the new students grew more familiar with the members of classes outside their own. Freshman Glee, as usual, turned out to be the most unifying project for the class of '55, and the Freshmen enthusiastically took over the management of this annual event. This youngest class on campus put in so many diligent hours of work on the song contest that it surpassed both the Senior and Junior classes, and captured second place. As is customary for the classes at Wilamette, the year ended with a Sunday trip to the beach.

A.S.W.U.

A. S. W. U. OFFICERS

A. S. W. U. officers are the guiding hands of campus government through which the students express their views and carry on all school activities. These leaders are responsible representatives of campus opinions, and they devote many long hours fulfilling the demands of their student body.

Sherm Bliss, President of Associated Students, who spent last spring semester on a special scholarship at American University, was welcomed back on campus this fall with the responsibility of heading the student government. Sherm, Senior Scholar in Political Science, spends many long hours working for the best interests of the student body.

Felix Calkins, First Vice-President, despite the added responsibilities which married life has presented him, has efficiently handled his extensive job of scheduling and co-ordinating all campus social activities.

The Second Vice-President's duties of managing all school elections were shared this year with Larry Smith maintaining the position first semester and Louie Prediletto second semester.

Marjorie Aldinger, Secretary of the Associated Students, has co-ordinated her many campus activities with extensive work in the Speech Department. This year she has served as Senior Scholar in that department.

Harley Hoppe, Member-at-Large, has served as a voice for the students on the student council and it has been his responsibility to act in accord with campus opinion. Harley is well-known on campus not only for his work with A.S.W.U. but for his outstanding management of the Concert Series.

Tom Joseph, Treasurer of A.S.W.U., having capably served as May Weekend Manager last spring has conscientiously fulfilled the burdensome job of handling the Associated Students' finances this year.

PUBLICATIONS

The publications Board Manager, the Collegian Editor, and the Wallulah Editor, two faculty members, A.S.W.U. Business Manager, A.S.W.U. President and Secretary, and two student body representatives, form the essential publications board whose task is maintaining and co-ordinating the various school publications. This board keeps a constant watch on the financial situation of the publications, selects various editors, and offers suggestions on policy.

Maurice Coh., Sherm Bliss, Cliff Gregg, Mary Louise Lee, Bill McDougall, Prof. Ringnald, Dr. Paulin and Marge Aldinger gather together for an important meeting of the publications board.

As the deadlines for the Wallulah become more and more pressing, the dark-room becomes alive with frantic activity. Because pictures make up an important part of the yearbook, the photographers find that their work is never done and that there are always more photographs needed

Cece Ristow, Ivan Wells, Bill Mosier and John Roehr, Wallulah Photographers, have had to be on the spot at every important campus event so that the school year might be pictorially recorded in the annual.

STUDENT HANDBOOK

Distributed during the fall registration is the Student Handbook which serves as a means of acquainting Freshmen and new students with the necessary rules and regulations, school songs and yells, campus activities, living organizations, officers, and faculty personnel. This year it was combined with the Rook Bible usually distributed by the lettermen.

Staff: Marie Deetz, Shirley Helweg, Betty Howat.

Keith Lawrence, Editor.

FUSSER'S GUIDE

Last fall, as usual, students awaited the publishing of the prime necessity of campus life, the Fusser's Guide. The Guide includes a complete list of the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of students, faculty, and organization presidents. Once more it proved to be a valuable source of information and from all indications was judged very successful.

Staff: Nancy Lawson Gay, Marlene Vincent, Cliff Gregg, Marilyn Meisegar, Marilyn Merz, Gloria Kainu, Harold Silke, Caroline Matter.

THE COLLEGIAN

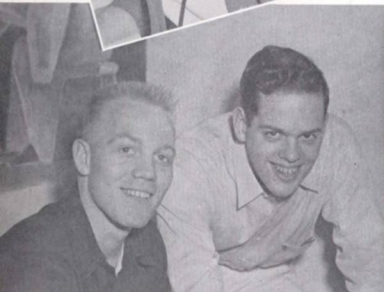

Very much a part of Willamette campus life is the University's weekly publication, The Collegian, which keeps the students well-informed on all the latest activities, opinions, and gossip. An efficient staff under editor Mary Louise Lee, has toiled incessantly to gather in all the news of interest and to meet the deadlines which roll around every Wednesday night. However, despite a pressing schedule, the staff's members have consistently managed to maintain the high standards which The Collegian has set for itself in the past.

Mary Louise Lee, the Collegian's outstanding editor, receives a pleasant scoop for the campus paper.

Stan Nelson, who replaced Don Scarborough as News Editor for the second semester, and Keith Lawrence, Associate News Editor, find their hands full as Wednesday's deadline nears.

Kent Lawrence, Campus Editor, and Shirley Helwig, Society Editor discuss some last minute campus events.

Burke Samuelson, Circulation Manager, and Ann Klindworth, Re-write Editor, interrupt their tedious work for a smile.

Wednesday night at the Collegian office shows faculty advisor, Murco Ringnald, and the staff hard at work compiling the latest news and photos.

Cal Horn, Assistant Ad Manager and Tom Edwards, Ad Manager, check some last bit of advertising.

Darrel de Chaby, columnist, and Erwin Weber, Sports Editor, compare notes.

WALLULAH

Undoubtedly one of the most tedious jobs at any university is the task of producing the annual yearbook. The members of Willamette's Wallulah staff have spent most of the last school year, from early fall to the last trying days of May, organizing material, taking pictures, arranging schedules with printers, and striving to meet the ever-persistent deadlines, that they might produce a book which will prove of interest and of value to friends and students.

Editor Cliff Gregg critically surveys the first copy of the Wallulah for 1951-52.

Through endless hours of work on the part of Associate Editor Jane Notson the hopes for a successful yearbook became a reality.

Art and Layout Editor, Betty Howat, finds it hard to decide between two possible layouts for one of the Wallulah pages.

Sports Editor, Larry Standifer, gives Copy Editor, Sally Bridgeman, some detailed information concerning one of the latest sport's events.

In order to finance the Wallulah, Business Manager, Ellis Von Eschen, must gather ads with the aid of his staff Judy Fullager, Nancy Adams, Pat Williams, and Elizabeth Gunn.

Charleen Asvik and Donna Cheldelin, Index Editors, concentrate on the tedious task of compiling the index which will appear in the back of the Wallulah.

WILLAMETTE BOOKSTORE

The hard-working staff of the bookstore is constantly occupied as they cater to the many demands of the students. Besides keeping in stock the many necessary books, the university store also offers for sale a variety of other articles ranging from stationery to stuffed animals. Always willing to help, the clerks in the bookstore serve more than two-hundred students daily.

Mrs. Delsia Larson
Manager of the Bookstore

Mrs. Ella May Durkee
Manager of the Cat Cavern

BEARCAT CAVERN

In between classes you can be sure to find the students crowded into a booth at the Cat Cavern. Here is the opportunity for the student who missed breakfast to swallow a cup of coffee and grab a doughnut before rushing off to class. Because of its friendly atmosphere, the Cat offers an ideal place for students and faculty to gather for discussions on everything from campus gossip and activity to international affairs.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

The University Orchestra has spent another full year which was high-lighted by the presentation of "The Messiah" and the annual spring concert, consisting of eighteenth and twentieth century works arranged for unusual instrumentation. Under the baton of Dr. Willis Gates, stress has been placed on acquainting the students with the finer points of orchestration and with orchestral literature.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY BAND

Climaxing the year for the Willamette University Band was the very successful concert tour throughout Northern California and Southern Oregon. Other of the band's activities consisted of marching at the football games, supplying pep at the basketball games, and presenting an annual spring concert.

Band officers: Herb Brower, Bill Bissell, Mary Howe, and Bill Covert.

Jodie Johannaber, Don Brand, Carol Emerson, Betty Jean Mullin, Paul Baker, Jim Chittick, Carl Blanes prepare to leave on the Choir Tour to San Francisco.

Relaxing after a long bus ride are choir members Jack Phipps, Paul Jewell, Malcolm Campbell and Janice Gladden.

CHOIR

Perhaps the campus organization which carries Willamette's fame the farthest is the well-known and widely acclaimed A Capella Choir led by Dean Melvin Geist of the Music School. Throughout the year the choir performs regularly for Thursday chapels and represents the University at many off-campus functions. At Christmas time the choral group made its annual visit to the State House where it presented a concert in the rotunda. Then this spring the yearly tour took the group of singers as far south as the bay area of California where they were presented in recitals at many of the large Methodist churches of the vicinity. But all is not glory and enjoyment for the members of Willamette's choir. Many long hours are spent in tiring, sometimes discouraging rehearsals and in preparation for important concerts.

Officers who have capably led the activities of the choir this year are Don Irwin, Don Brand, President, Dick Cole, Wes Hedeen, Arlene Deakins, and Gloria Nandie.

At Christmas time the choir took part in a radio broadcast recorded in the State Capitol for presentation in Hawaii on Christmas Day.

The A Cappella Choir makes its entrance at the First Methodist Church as the Willamette student body congregates for the weekly Thursday Chapel.

Ruth Joseph, Kent Lawrence, Margaret Conklin, Judi Wood, and Bob Kaplan acknowledge their applause at the close of their performance.

Bob Kaplan seems disgusted with Judi Wood during the action of the Religious Emphasis Week play.

THE DRAMA DEPARTMENT

One of the most active and fruitful groups on campus is the drama organization, the Willamette University Players, which with the drama classes works diligently to put on a variety of dramatic entertainment for the student body. This year most of their energy went into the three major productions, "Night Must Fall," "Papa is All," and "Twelfth Night," and also several one act plays including the Religious Emphasis Week Play, "Through a Glass Darkly."

Judi gestures defiantly at Bob in "Through a Glass Darkly," which is based on a Bible quotation.

Professor Graunke, Margaret Conklin, and Dick Greer prepare sets for the forthcoming play, "Twelfth Night."

A rehearsal shows Phil, Ann Rosie, and Shirley perfecting their parts for the following evening.

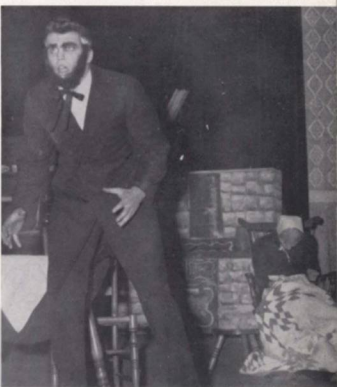

Phil Hammond, Ann Ellsperman, Rosie Wilhoit, and Shirley Dean seemed to be very much concerned over a message.

Ann Ellsperman, Kent Lawrence, and Jean Kyle are shown in one of the dramatic moments of "Night Must Fall."

"PAPA IS ALL"

"Papa Is All," set in the stern, simple surroundings of a Mennonite home, told the sometimes tragic, sometimes comical story of a Mennonite family. The performers displayed exceptional ability by their sensitive portrayal of this drama, and they drew many praises from their audiences.

Papa, Jim Hitchman, lunges forward with violence during the progress of "Papa Is All."

Mama, Ann Ellsperman, watches on as Papa, Jim Hitchman, subjects his son, Dick Geer, to strict Mennonite discipline.

FORENSICS

One of the most challenging extra-curricular activities on Willamette's campus is the debate team. Throughout the year members of the team have secured top honors for themselves and the University at the numerous speech tournaments in which they have participated. This year's season was climaxed by an invitation for the Senior Debate Team to attend the prominent West Point Tournament in the spring.

Front row: E. Motschenbacher, J. Kyle, R. Ferg, M. Aldinger, C. Matter; back row: T. Scheidel, J. Wood, D. Johnson, P. Ringle, D. Belch.

RADIO WORKSHOP

One of the most active programs within the Speech and Drama Department is the radio workshop which gives students direct experience in the medium of radio. A weekly student production, Studio A, is aired over one of the local radio stations.

All of Willamette's Freshman women who receive a grade point average of 3.5 or better are eligible for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, the national Freshman women's scholastic honorary. This year, as usual, Alpha Lambda Delta joined Phi Eta Sigma in an annual banquet in honor of the new initiates of the two groups on April 22, 1952.

Encouragement of high scholarship is the primary purpose of Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman men's honorary, which is open to all those first year men who have achieved at least a 3.5 grade point average. This national scholastic organization has been on Willamette's campus since 1947.

Beta Alpha Gamma is the Sophomore women's honorary which is based upon scholarship and activity participation. During their Sophomore year the BAGs usher at all campus performances and check Tuesday chapel slips. An annual activity of this organization is a dinner-dance given in cooperation with Sigma Alpha Chi.

Early last spring members of the national men's honorary, Blue Key, renounced national stature and formed a local honorary, Cardinal Key, which selects its members from the upper classmen. Monthly, the organization convenes, that the student members, with their honorary faculty members, might discuss various problems involving campus life and make possible recommendations.

Without doubt, there is no campus organization which is more active throughout the school year than the drama group, WUPs. As usual, this year has found the University's dramatists faced with a busy, but challenging schedule, which has included many outstanding one act and three act play productions. Intense and conscientious work is demanded of every member whenever the group goes into play rehearsals or begins preparation for a radio show.

Willamette's Y. W. C. A. is founded on the basic principles of service which motivates the national organization of the same name. Last fall, under the fine guidance of President Marjorie Aldinger, members of YW launched their season of activities with their annual Big-Little Sister Party, which brought together old and new women students at an informal gathering. During the course of the school year, their program has been highlighted by a Christmas devotional service and a cooked foods sale.

Throughout the fall semester, the members sold mums at the football games for the purpose of raising money for the World Service Fund. Many long hours were also devoted to the task of furthering the campus chest drive.

To create closer school unity and spirit on campus is the basic goal of the Pepcats which draw their membership from the women of the Freshman and Sophomore classes. The "W" Club went through another year of successful activity on the campus under the leadership of Dan Montag. Again the club sponsored its annual projects—the fall Kangaroo Kourt, ushering and selling refreshments at athletic functions, and the spring Varsity Ball climaxed with the selection of a Varsity Queen.

UNESCO

UNESCO is an organization among the students on campus which is designed to promote understanding of other peoples through a study of their art, education, economics, and social aspects. Its main goal is to search for the common values which underlie all cultures and to strive toward international cooperation. UNESCO's activities have been many during the past year and have included the presentation of Foreign Films, the sponsoring of a United Nations Week End, the publication of the "Endeavor", and the sponsorship of a foreign student. The season was climaxed by the UNESCO "Advance" to Silver Creek Falls in April.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

The school year of 1951-52 marked the first season on campus for the newly organized Associated Women Students, which strives for better representation of women students. The group has forged ahead rapidly and has already become one of the most important organizations at Willamette. Their spring activities included a highly enjoyable all-school leap year dance, "Daffy Drag," which featured the selection of Betty-Coed and Joe College. Another important activity which A.W.S began last fall is the monthly presentation of a cup to the "Coed of the Month," a girl who has proved to be especially outstanding during that month. Much of this group's efficiency can be traced to the splendid work of their president, Sue Mellor.

Joanne Miller and Lyman Marsters, Carol Emerson and Tom Joseph share in the enjoyment of the A.W.S. dance.

Joe College and Betty Coed of 1952, Tom Schrock and Joyce Frost, congratulate each other on their mutual victory.

The Young Republicans had a very successful year under President Bob Batchelder, Vice-President Bob Packwood, and Secretary-Treasurer George Burland. They were host chapter at the annual Young Republican College League convention in October, at which they elected Dave Card State Vice-Chairman and Bob Packwood State Treasurer. During the year they have had a program of guest speakers and were extremely active in supporting the Willamette University Mock Republican Convention under the able chairmanship of Bob Small Active on campus this year was an unusually large group of Future Teachers of America, who met for the common purpose of familiarizing themselves with their future profession. Meetings were highlighted by prominent educational authorities who spoke concerning the teaching profession. The group sent delegates to the state meeting to acquire further information for all. In addition, a tea was held in honor of Master Teachers.

Cap and Gown

Cap and Gown is the Senior women's honorary which draws its membership from those girls who have proved outstanding in scholarship and in activity participation during their years at school. Last year the group worked hard toward establishing the Associated Women Students organization, which has been so active on campus this year. The ultimate goal of Willamette's Cap and Gown is eventual membership in national Mortar Board.

Mu Phi Epsilon is a women's professional music honorary for those music students who have been particularly prominent in their field. This organization has been quite active on campus during the past year with their presentation of a Valentine Dance and an afternoon musical tea. The success of this group of young musicians can be accredited to the fine cooperation between the fall and spring presidents, Gladys Blue and Harriet Aller respectively, and their various officers and committees.

WESLEY

Wesley Fellowship spent a successful year in fellowship, fun, worship and work. The year started with two big events. The first was the annual "Wesley Welcome" which was held in honor of the new students the Sunday following their arrival on campus. The second, another annual event, was the week-end spent by all old and new Wesleyans on a retreat to Silver Creek Falls. The main speaker was Dr. P. Malcolm Hammond from Portland who gave a series of inspiring lectures. Service projects also held a major position in the program. Wesley adopted a needy family to give food, clothing and toys at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Also at Christmas time they spent one Sunday evening caroling to the "shut in" members of the church.

The Wesley retreat to the coast proved highly successful.

Probably one of the biggest projects of the year was the World Friendship Banquet held to raise funds for the Allahabad Agricultural Institute in India. Bishop Gerald Kennedy spoke on "The World Church As I Saw It." Other important events were the two Oregon Methodist Student Movement conferences held at Camp Magruder. Here the Wesleyans from Willamette met with the Methodist students from the other colleges and universities in Oregon for a fall and a spring retreat. With varied Sunday evening meetings, a picnic, and a senior banquet, Wesley completed its program for the year.

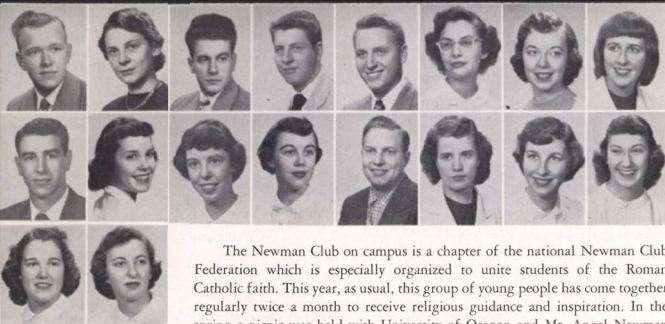

Wesleyans enjoyed a Ski Spree held between semesters at Mt. Hood.

Dr. Bennett, Bud Corner, president, Mrs. Kennedy, Bishop Kennedy, Mrs. Moore, Dr. Moore, and Mrs. Maynard seem to be enjoying themselves at Wesley's Friendship Banquet.

Presbyterian students at Willamette find a social and religious outlet through participation in their church's youth group, Westminster Fellowship. As is customary for such organizations, the students convene on Sunday evenings for a relaxing, yet educational service of devotion which is followed by a more informal social meeting. This year was completed by a successful retreat in April to Camp Magruder.

Canterbury Club

Canterbury has been organized for the purpose of drawing together the Episcopal students of Willamette. The students make it a practice to meet Sunday evenings for an inspirational service followed by discussion and refreshments. The group serves not only as a religious organization, but also offers a fine opportunity to further social contacts.

The Psychology Club draws its membership from those of the student body who are informed on the subject of psychology or who have a great interest in discovering more of this provocative field of knowledge. After long preparation, the psychology club affiliated in May with Psy Chi, the national psychology honorary.

Social Life

ORIENTATION

The activities ensuing during the week preceding the beginning of classes are specifically designed to inform the incoming Freshman of what he should expect concerning his future at Willamette. An extensive schedule of events, ranging from barbecues and open houses to formal lectures, keeps the newcomers in a constant whirl. By the week's end, these individuals have become part of the campus life and are ready to engrave their name in Willamette history.

The Freshman class unites in the gym to receive useful information regarding campus life.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith greet the new students at the annual President's Reception at the University House.

Winkie Wyche, Freshman, seems to have admirable intentions to succeed in the academic world.

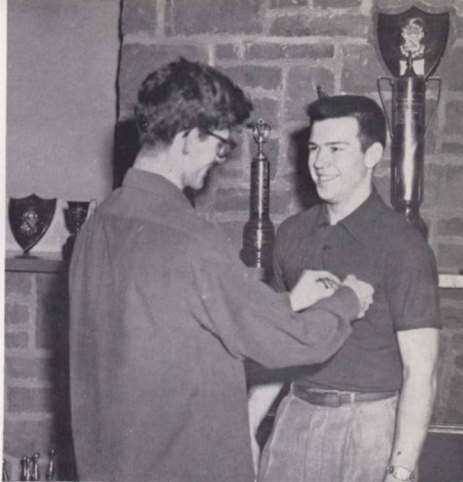

KANGAROO COURT

The Lettermen annually take inhuman delight in calling forth the defenseless Frosh and proclaiming them guilty of various bizarre offenses. With pompous airs they go about their solemn business of inflicting humiliating sentences upon the victims. The whole affair, though not always receiving the best sentiments from the Freshmen, proves to be highly entertaining to the rest of the student body.

Surrounded by Lettermen, Judi Wood is forced to scrub the back of fellow Freshman, Hal Hargreaves.

The trying days of rush are behind John Kent as he receives the pledge pin of Phi Delta Theta from Bob Hearn.

RUSH WEEK

While still in the midst of Freshman Week, the Rushees are faced with the teas, luncheons, open houses, and desserts which are given for them by the various fraternity and sorority groups. By means of these social affairs, the newcomers become better acquainted with the qualifications of the Greek organizations and are, thus, more able to make their choices. The gay confusion reaches its peak the last evening of rush, when the final decisions are made and the pledge ribbons and buttons are presented.

The Pi Phi entertain Rushees at the First Preferential banquet which marks the climax of Rush Week.

Rushees are welcomed to the Sigma Chi House during a formal rush function.

For the second year in succession Pi Beta Phi has taken top honors in the women's division of the sign contest.

Beta Theta Pi, too, became a second year winner by taking first place again in the men's division.

HOMECOMING

On October 26th, amid the colorful confusion of a noise parade, a sign contest, a football game, and a dance, the alumni of Willamette University returned once more to pay their annual visit to their Alma Mater. On campus, the school assumed a festive atmosphere to meet the occasion as one by one the Homecoming signs appeared, based on this year's slogan "Bearcats Pound Puget Sound."

Here walk the three who had the job of determining the winners of the sign contest.

The Pi Phi's made a valiant, but failing effort in the noise contest.

The Sigma Chi's had no equal when it came to issuing forth the noise.

Dona Mears, Earl Atkinson, Walt Erickson, and Sherm Bliss participate in the half-time ceremonies at the football game.

The Alums recall past days at Willamette as they are welcomed back at the reception in Lausanne.

Friday evening, immediate interest turned toward the noise parade which, with its riot of deafening sound, made its way through the streets of downtown Salem to its terminating point, McCulloch Stadium, where all flocked to attend the rally around the huge Freshman Bonfire. Saturday brought with it a very inclusive itinerary which opened with the Alumni Luncheon at the Marion Hotel.

The Sophomores prove their superiority over the Freshmen during the traditional pushball contest.

Determined Bearcats finally pull down a galloping Logger.

Although many disappointed alumni and friends saw the Bearcats lose the afternoon football game to the College of Puget Sound by a score of 12-6, everyone agreed it had been a good game. The Loggers rolled up the first tally before two and a half minutes of the game had been played. Not to be outdone, the Bearcats came back to even the score. With minutes to go in the first half the men from Puget Sound went over for their winning touchdown. The second half was fought to a scoreless tie.

The colorful mood of gay Manhattan enveloped the annual Homecoming dance.

Saturday evening heralded in the last of the week-end's events, the annual Homecoming Dance, which this year was designed expressly to create "Manhattan Moods." At intermission Dona Mears presented the awards. The Homecoming sign contest trophies were given to Beta Theta Pi, for the men's division, and Pi Beta Phi, for the women's division. On the Delta Gammas and Sigma Chis was conferred the dubious honor of having been the most effective in the noise parade.

Earl Atkinson, Homecoming Manager, presents the Noise Parade Contest Trophy to Sally Ogle, who receives it on behalf of the Delta Gammas.

FIRESIDES

On the fall semester social calendar were the traditional firesides between the various men's and women's living organizations on campus, and as is the custom, each women's group had one fireside with each of the men's groups. These informal gatherings, which were held twice monthly, usually began with exchange dinners, which were followed by planned entertainment and social dancing.

The Betas and the Chi Omegas receive a highly intellectual bit of entertainment from Chuck Ruud.

While the wait for dinner to be served, the Pi Phi's and the Sigma Chi's chat informally.

Such evenings not only gave the Freshmen a chance to meet their fellow students, but also, presented themselves as pleasant diversions from the usual routine of school life. Indeed, these Wednesday evening functions were among the anticipated highlights of the year.

VARSITY VARIETIES

In November, in order to raise funds for the Campus Chest Drive, Willamette students diligently gathered up the finest talent available and came forth with their annual presentation of Varsity Varieties. Not only did all the old members of the Willamette family respond immediately by offering their various abilities, but also, the Freshmen enthusiastically added new life to ensure the show's success, and the pleasing mixture of color, gaiety, humor, and music which resulted made this year's show the most successful in many seasons.

CLASS PARTIES

Important events of the fall semester were the annual parties of the classes on campus. The Freshmen and Sophomores joined forces this year and put on a dance which offered everything from ballroom dancing to old-fashioned square dancing. The result was not only a highly entertaining evening but also a good opportunity for the two classes to become better acquainted. The Juniors felt in an energetic mood when they planned their class get-together around a skating party. Although muscles may have suffered, the affair was highly successful.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI

The month of November found the students turning to watch with anticipation the progress of the Sigma Chi's annual Sweetheart Contest. Gradually, curiosity mounted until, by the evening of the Sigma Chi's Ball, all Willamette was anxiously awaiting the announcement of the final choice. At last, in a scene shrouded with white roses and soft music, the lucky girl was revealed to the crowd as lovely Eleanor Payne.

Petite Sally Jo Grimm displays her sparkling smile which won her a place on the Sweetheart Court.

Frances Smith rightfully earned her position among the beauties who were chosen by the Sigma Chi's.

Dr. Kollmann, Dean Hatfield, and violinist Yehudi Menuhin, chat informally after Mr. Menuhin's inspiring concert.

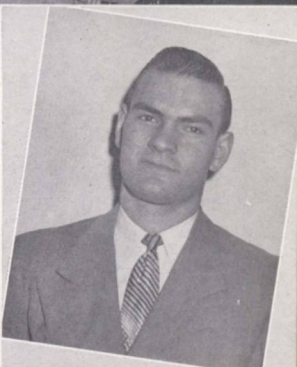

THE CONCERT SERIES

The concert series which was initiated with such success last year was continued this season, and again Willamette University sponsored some of the top musical artists of the day. Through the efforts of Harley Hoppe, aided by Phil Ringle and an efficient committee, the students and townspeople alike were able to attend concerts given by such great performers as Bidu Sayao, Yehudi Menuhin, Solomon and William Warfield. Such a worthwhile project not only makes available the most excellent of entertainment for the student body and community, but also serves as a means of education in the fine arts.

Solomon, the pianist who appeared on the Concert Series in January, and his secretary seem to be enjoying their snack at the Beta House following his performance.

The Concert Series committee meets William Warfield, baritone, and Dr. Otto Herz, his accompanist, on their arrival at the Salem Railroad Station.

Members of Pi Beta Phi and Beta Theta Pi prepare to serenade some of the state institutions in Salem.

CHRISTMAS

Every Christmas season the living groups on Willamette's campus spend one evening serenading throughout Salem, and then all join together on the steps of the Marion County Court House to offer holiday songs to the townspeople. The annual event, this year, was directly followed by an all-school pajama dance which was sponsored by the Senior Class.

A group of Willamette students offer a bit of Christmas cheer to less fortunate people.

The whole school joined together on the Court House steps to sing a few carols.

Alice Jackson and Dick Geer went home from the pajama dance with first prize for the best "couple" outfits.

Among the students at the Christmas dance were Pat Wegner and Bob Seamster.

The large chorus of students and townspeople prepare for the formal presentation of the Messiah.

THE MESSIAH

With the arrival of the Christmas season came the ninth annual presentation of Handel's Messiah. Under the inspiring leadership of Dean Melvin H. Geist of the Music School, the Willamette students joined voices with the Salem Oratorio Society for the production of this traditional event.

Grace Ashford Groh practices one of her many solo parts as the soprano soloist.

Mark Daniels, bass, sings one of his solo selections.

VARSITY BALL

Varsity Ball, annual presentation of Willamette's Lettermen's Club, was held on Friday, April 18th, in Salem's Crystal Gardens. Highlight of the spring event was the official announcement and presentation of Varsity Queen for 1952. Finally, at 10:15, beneath the spectacular "W" of yellow daffodils, petit Sally Jo Grimm was escorted before last year's Queen Mary Campbell, and while her four lovely princesses looked on, she was crowned with a garland of white carnations.

FRESHMAN GLEE

Undoubtedly the event of the year which requires the most energetic effort, but which is looked forward to with the greatest of anticipation is the annual interclass song contest, Freshman Glee. This year, as usual, the occasion climaxed a week of intense work with each class striving its utmost to perfect its Glee entry. By Saturday night the rivalry between the classes had reached a precarious peak and each group marched spiritedly into the gym with confidence that it was the class which would capture the coveted first place banner.

Seniors present,
"Moonbeams"

Juniors present,
"A Serenader's Dream"

Sophomores present,
"Serenade in Silver"

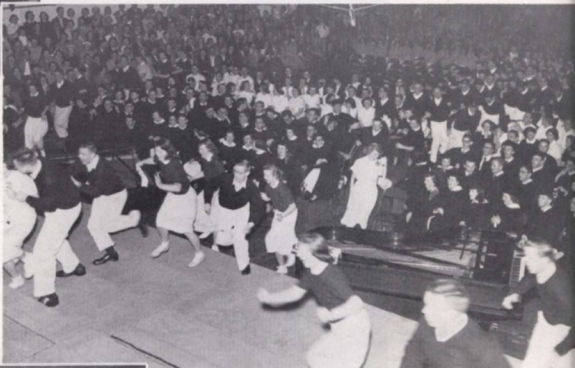

Freshmen present,
"Moon Melodies"

Directly following the singing of the traditional parodies, Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen respectively marched to the platform and presented their Glee offerings. Before the grey, gold, and rich-red backdrop which shone with silver sparkle, the classes executed their formations and thrilled the audience with their lilting serenades. Then, their performances completed, they sat back and attempted to enjoy an interlude of fine entertainment, while every moment tension was mounting and every participant was anxiously awaiting the entrance of Professor Clark who would bear the contest results.

For the second year in a row jubilant Sophomores rush to the stage to claim the Freshman Glee Banner after the announcement by Professor Herman Clark.

Despite long hours of rehearsal, the Freshmen placed second.

Fred Schamale, Judy Fulger, Ruben Menashe, Amaryllis Lilles, and Duane Denney composed the Executive Committee.

The class of '53 bravely takes its punishment in the muddy mill stream.

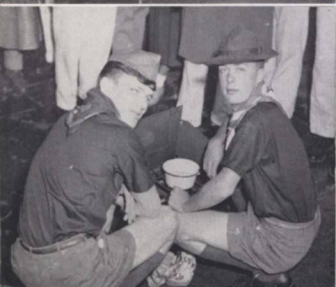

BLUE MONDAY

With the high-pitched excitement of Glee behind them the students turned to the humiliating task of paying back the bets they'd made so confidently the previous week. For the second consecutive year the Sophomore class, the proud victor, rested on its laurels and watched the members of the other three classes perform all sorts of weird antics. At noon, after a comical chapel presented by the mourning Juniors, the old mill stream welcomed into its frigid waters the defeated class.

Judy Fullager seems to be enjoying her siesta in the open air.

Dave Jackson and Dick Church do their boy scout deed for the day by cooking an appetizing breakfast in front of Eaton Hall.

Sophomore class prexy, Hal Silke, languishes in solid comfort as his "slaves," the other class presidents and secretaries, offer their services to their "master."

The class of '53 takes its turn at keeping an eye on the barbecue bonfire.

Lovely Queen Betty Jean gets set for the noon parade through downtown Salem.

MAY WEEK END

Thursday evening before May Week End found the students working feverishly to complete last minute details in preparation for the festivities. From 8 till 12 that evening the four classes shared the responsibility of keeping a watchful eye on the bonfire in Sweetland Field, which would the next day be the scene of the annual barbecue feast. The weather man even did his part in making the week end a success, for Friday brought with it delightful spring sunshine, which added immeasurably to the afternoon's full schedule of activities, prelude by the noon parade through Salem. Pop Cray's delicious barbecue, embellished by quite informal entertainment, followed, and the afternoon was completed with the Freshman-Sophomore struggle in the tug-o-war and the grease-pole climb.

The nice weather and excitement haven't spoiled the appetites of Queen Betty Jean and her escort, Tom Joseph, both of whom fill their plates at the annual barbecue.

The word "food" seems to have an alluring appeal to Willamette students and guests who flock in mass to sample the barbecued beef.

Bill Blissell doesn't appear to be at all pleased as he launches into his act during the barbecue entertainment with cohort, "Pedro" Jim Jackson offering the background music.

Dick Blakney, Sophomore, clutches the flag at the top of the greased pole, thus proclaiming a victory for his class.

The Sophomore boys suffer a wet defeat at the hands of the Freshmen during the annual tug-o'-war.

Garold Meinke, Fred Cummings, and Lawrence Monk seem to be involved in an intriguing drama during the progress of "Twelfth Night."

"TWELFTH NIGHT"

A delightful production of Shakespeare's ever-popular comedy, "Twelfth Night," was a pleasing high-point during an eventful May Week-end this year. Wednesday evening through Friday, it packed Waller Chapel with enthusiastic audiences. Through excellent costuming, effective scenery, and above all, fine interpretations on the part of the performers, the charming atmosphere of the famous play was transmitted to all who witnessed it.

The twins of "Twelfth Night," Milton McDowell and Barbara Remelmeyer, who are the center of the charming comedy, discuss their situation with Doug Graham.

MaryJo Ogle and Margie Leonard add part of the feminine interest to the Shakespearean play. Bill MacDougall, as Malvolio, looks on.

The Delta Gammas took second place with their rendition of "Cream Rose" and "I'll be Seeing You."

First place in the women's division went to Pi Beta Phi who sang "If I Loved You" and "Follow the Arrow."

ALL-SCHOOL SING

Undoubtedly the May Week End activity which requires the greatest amount of effort and previous preparation is All-School Sing, which began some years ago as Inter-Sorority Sing. The traditional event has since evolved into a song contest between all the women's living organizations on campus and all the men's organizations. Each group spent many long noon and evening hours practicing the weeks before the sing to perfect its musical numbers which were finally presented for judging on Saturday morning of May Week End. The anticipated out-come was announced by Queen Betty Jean I that afternoon at the coronation.

The men of Baxter Hall rightfully earned top honors when they sang "Baxter Fellowship Song" and "Through the Long and Sleepless Night."

In the men's division, Beta Theta Pi placed second singing "Son of the Stars" and "Meadowlands."

Princess Patsy Older

Princess Carolann Snarr

Couples dreamily dance to soft music during the formal Queen's Ball.

The guests step aside as Princess Patsy and Don Benson, Princess Carolann and Gene Walters, Queen Betty Jean and Tom Joseph share the floor during the Queen's waltz.

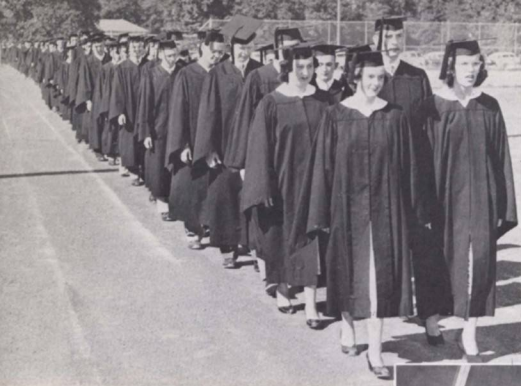

Warm sunshine and pink blossoms graced the campus Saturday afternoon, as Betty Jean I was crowned Queen of May on the steps of Eaton Hall, and Willamette's many visitors viewed the coronation festivities. That evening the May Court was once again honored by the students at the annual Formal Ball which this year was centered around the theme, "Pagan Festival," Though all danced far into the night, the final activities began early Sunday morning with the Queen's Breakfast and a special church service at the Methodist Church.

From all evidence the dance must have been a success for Pat Sundstrom and Jerry Coen.

Sunday morning, Lausanne Hall was the scene of the Queen's Breakfast presented by the Pepcats and the YWCA.

COMMENCEMENT

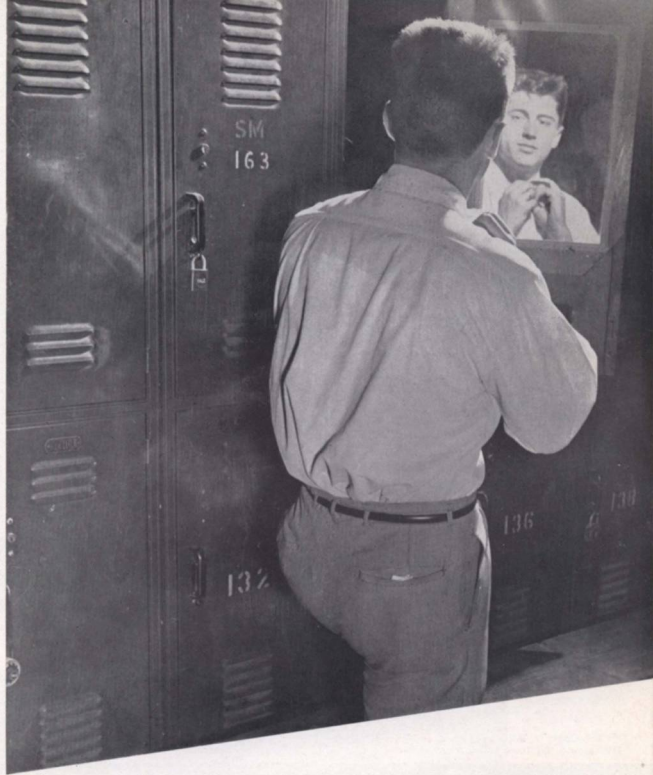

After four long years of work and play, the Class of 1952 finally finished their stay at Willamette on Monday, June 2, 1952. Fortunately the weather was clear and cool and the graduation exercises were held in McCulloch Stadium. At 5:30 p.m. undergraduate days were over for these seniors who happily departed for vacations, jobs or graduate studies.

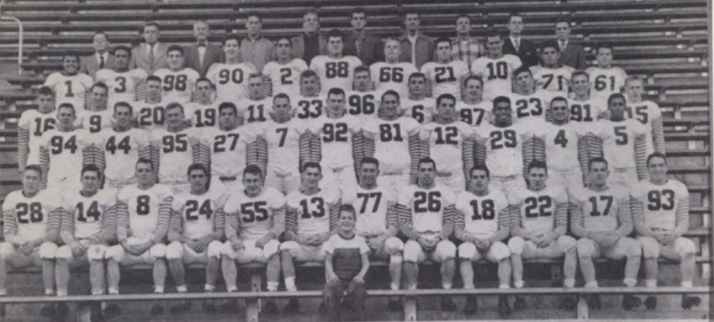

The commencement address is given by Willamette Alumnus, Dr. Gilbert Wrenn, of the University of Minnesota.

FOOTBALL

In spite of their record of three wins and five losses the 1951 version of the Bearcats was a very impressive team. Bolstered by ten lettermen and a stalwart supply of Freshmen numbering twenty-seven, football at Willamette started on the uphill climb. Even though their record shows five losses in eight games, the team ended the season in a blaze of glory by downing Linfield 19 to 7 and the next week-end by defeating Whitman 53 to 7. Coach Chester Stackhouse has endowed his young team with many good fundamentals, and with Ted Ogdahl as head mentor next year Willamette is looking for a bright future in football.

BASKETBALL

With Coach Johnny Lewis tutoring approximately the same team he did a year ago the 1951-52 basketball team came through with another Northwest Conference Championship, the fourth consecutive year Willamette has had his honor. With such Conference All-Stars as Ted Loder, Doug Logue, and Lou Scrivens the Bearcats lost only one conference game and gained the right to play off with Portland U.'s high flying Pilots for the district representation in the NAIB Tournament at Kansas City. Even though they lost to Portland, this group may be rated as one of Willamette's outstanding basketball teams. With records being broken such as the 32 points a game set by both Loder and Logue and the 103 points scored by Willamette in an individual game, this is a team to long remember.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

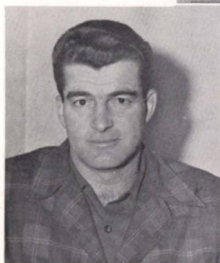

This year's Freshman basketball team was one of the best that has come up for a couple of years. With a record of twenty wins to only two losses the Bearkittens were led by forward Larry Baggett. Baggett, who was high scorer with a rousing 289 points, also led the rebounding. Behind Baggett in scoring was Dick Bertram with 216 points. For the season the Bearkittens scored a total of 1581 points to their opponents 1062. Coach Lewis will have many good men coming up from these ranks to make up his team next year.

Shooting is Larry Baggett who led the individual scoring for the Freshmen.

VARSITY BASEBALL

With the placing of four men on the mythical all-star team the Willamette baseball team ranked a solid second in Conference play. Behind a strong staff of pitchers the team ended the season with a record of 13 wins and 7 losses. The battery of Andy George and Harv Koepf were placed on the all-star team with the backing of Alva Brown at first and Cliff Girod at second. The 1952 version of the Bearcats scored a total of 166 runs while their opponents had a total of only 91 runs across the plate. Coach Johnny Lewis is looking forward to next year with an ample supply of returning men.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY RELAYS

The second annual running of the Willamette University Relays saw a field of nearly eighteen hundred contestants from all over the state of Oregon and from some schools in Washington. Among the outstanding track men in the college division that participated were Bill Fell, Oregon's 100 yard dash man who negotiated the distance in a record breaking 9.7 seconds; Lyle Dicky, OSC's pole vaulter; Chuck Missfeldt, Oregon's Javelin thrower who currently holds the record at 227 feet; and also Oregon's Olympic half-miler, Jack Hutchins, just to mention a few of the many of the star-studded field. As a meet of this type is for individual performances, no score was kept, but from all evidences Oregon would have easily won, and Willamette would have been running with OSC for second spot.

WILLAMETTE TRACK

Again the Willamette University track team was one of the strongest in the history of the school, this being the second consecutive year that it has not lost a track meet. The team not only swept through the dual meet competitions, but in the conference meet at Whitman, it won with a score of $77\frac{1}{2}$ points to Lewis and Clark's $46\frac{5}{6}$, the closest contending score. Heading the list of Willamette thinclads are Jim Hitchman, Ralph Adams, Bill Van Horn, Ray Fretheim, Stan Neperud, and Bob Hall, all of whom hold either Willamette all-time records or conference records. This is not to mention the many other fine runners, jumpers, and throwers that constitute the track team, and who will serve as bolsters for a top-ranking team next year.

Bob Shangle, Darrell Corkery, Bill Van Horn, Bill Patton (holders of the 880 relay record), Stan Neperud (holder of the javelin record), Jim Hitchman (holder of the shot record), Coach Stackhouse, Ralph Adams (mile record holder) and Ray Fretheim (pole vault record holder).

WILLAMETTE GOLF

The Willamette University golf team this year has had an outstanding record of eight wins, one loss, and one tie. During season play, it did not lose one conference game and at the conference match at Whitman, the team captured the championship. With Bill Wittenberg, Ken Baines, and Dick Church as one, three, and four respectively on the mythical all-conference team, and Kent Myers, Ellis Von Eschen and Dan Callihan, the golf team was well-rounded into one of Willamette's finest. Bill Wittenberg has led this successful team for two years as number one man, and by not losing any men by graduation, Coach Sam Vokes should have another championship team next year.

Dick Church gets out of a little trouble as Dan Callihan and Ken Baines give their approval.

WILLAMETTE TENNIS

For the second consecutive year, the Willamette tennis team has not been defeated in conference play — this year, the only defeats coming at the hands of the Oregon State JV's. At the conference match, Dave Winsom and George Watts claimed the doubles championship while Chuck Carter, after playing sixty games, lost the singles title to Bob Bratton of Whitman. With lettermen, John Ambler and Jim Morgali, and non-lettermen, Bob Bell, Phil Brown, Bill Lasswell, Don Morrison, Bob Packwood, and Roy VanHorn supplying the backbone, the tennis team had a very successful season, and with none of these men seniors, the team should be equally strong next year.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

As in years past Willamette's Intramural program was a full one including football, basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton, track, and tennis. All living organizations and a team composed of the town students participated in the intramural activities with softball and tennis yet to be played. At the time of writing the AA's are ahead but are being pressed by the Sigs. As before Les Sparks was in charge of the intramural program and was ably assisted by Dan Montag.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Almost all phases of sports are covered by women students at Willamette. The girls have shown a lot of activity in the past year, competing with outside WAA teams and in inter-squad games. The big highlight of the year for the women's athletics came in archery competition where the Willamette team took first place in national archery competition in the class D bracket. The team took second place in two previous years of competition. Pat Click led the team in shooting as she placed first individually in the nation. Ursula Gleaser took third in the singles and Cathy Kenyon and Jane Connell took fourth and fifth respectively. The WAA tennis team was undefeated this year and the women participated in numerous play days with other schools.

LAUSANNE HALL

Ivy-covered Lausanne Hall at one time or another has been the home of almost every woman student at Willamette, and it also houses most of the university's independent women. During the fall they enjoyed several firesides with the men's organizations and of course, the traditional caroling at Christmas time. Early in the fall semester the girls held an afternoon tea in honor of their new housemother, Mrs. Watson, and the Bishop housemother, Ursula Gleaser. Not long before the holidays their attention turned toward the magic of the Pacific Islands as they presented an extremely successful dance, "Hali Aloha," set in the romantic atmosphere of Hawaii. In spring the girls of Lausanne, joined by the Bishop girls, offered two choral selections at the All-School Sing. Also, during this season, an open house, for the purpose of entertaining friends, relatives, and prospective students, was held at the Hall.

"Hali Aloha," House of Welcome, was the theme for this year's inter-dorm formal which was held in early November. A hibiscus-decked ballroom and orchid leis provided an authentic Hawaiian atmosphere for all who attended.

BISHOP MANOR

For the first time in two years, Bishop House was opened as a women's living unit, and it housed a small, compatible group of students who, although still receiving all their meals at Lausanne, became quite attached to the friendly old house across the capital park. The enthusiasm and diligence of these girls was well-demonstrated at homecoming time when they produced on their own an outstanding sign which was entered in the annual sign contest. Throughout the year Bishop has participated actively in campus events. Its members joined the Lausanne girls to share the firesides, the Christmas serenade, the work and excitement of the inter-dorm formal, and participation in the All-School Sing. The group has so enjoyed its year at Bishop House with its old-fashioned woodwork, its quaint rooms, and its fascinating attic, that its foremost hope is to see the home re-opened next fall.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

When fall called the Willamette students back to campus the Alpha Chi's had an extra stimulus, for their dream of a new home had at last been realized. After a few hectic weeks of battling wet plaster, fresh paint, and unfinished floors, the A-Chi-O's settled back to a full schedule. Fall semester found the girls turning to the atmosphere and charm of old New Orleans as they presented their fall dance, "Mardi Gras." Of a more formal nature, was their afternoon tea early in December, in honor of their new housemother. After the holidays time was spent cramming for the impending finals. Beginning the spring semester the Alpha Chi's concentrated on the entertainment of various national and and province officers who visited the chapter. The year reached its climax for the members of Alpha Chi when their own Betty Jean Mullin was crowned Queen of the May. Their last activity before they entered the last few weeks of intense school work as an informal dance, "The Last Resort."

CHI OMEGA

The Chi Omega's launched their season's activities with a tea in October for their new housemother. That month also brought the girls the honor of having Marge Aldinger chosen as the first AWS Co-Ed of the Month. School life for the Chi O's proved to be a whirl of events. Long hours of preparation were devoted to their first dance, "Alpine Holidays." The chapter house was converted into a typical mountain inn which served for dancing. During the holiday time the Chi O's were kept busy as they joined together at their chapter Christmas party and went caroling with the Sigma Chi's. Highlight of Chi Omega's spring schedule was the sorority's Pacific Northwest annual spring Eleusinian in Portland where Willamette's chapter took first place in the song fest. After the Easter holidays, the Chi O's had their last major social function . . . "White Carnation Ball."

DELTA GAMMA

Willamette's DG's encouraged by their large pledge class, began the fall semester with high spirits. Their exuberance was demonstrated during the annual homecoming noise parade when girls of Delta Gamma captured the title of "noisiest girls on campus." However, the DG's left their rowdiness behind when they turned attention to their first house dance, based on the ethereal theme of "Moon Mist." As all other women's living groups, members of Delta Gamma took one Sunday afternoon during the fall semester to pay honor to their housemother. After a whirl of activities during the holiday season and a seige of studying at finals, the DG's faced the schedule of spring events. Delta Gamma became circus minded at their spring house dance as they presented their colorful "Hannah's Harnuman and Hailey." After gaining second place at the All-School Sing, Delta Gamma's joined the rest of the school in preparing for the last activity-packed weeks of school.

An after-dinner game of cards at the DG House seems to be reaching great heights of excitement.

Just before dinner is an ideal time for a "gab-fest" which is so popular among the women students.

PI BETA PHI

The Pi Phis returned last fall to a freshly painted, newly-roofed house, and as soon as rush week was behind them, centered their attentions on school work and extra-curricular activities. First among fall events was their house dance, "A Night in Italy," which captured the atmosphere of a picturesque Italian street cafe. Next was the task of constructing the homecoming sign, which took first place in the women's division. During the holiday season, Pi Beta Phi was well-occupied with their fall tea, firesides, Christmas parties, and a Yuletide serenade with Beta Theta Pi. Despite the fall social activities, Pi Phi's were able to raise their scholarship to first place among the women's living groups. As time for their spring dance arrived, Pi Phi's went Chinese following the theme of "Mandarin Magic." Concentration was then focused on the All-School Sing, and for the first time Pi Phi's received the coveted top rating for women.

Coffee time, which is a traditional part of an evening of study is enjoyed by Maryln Ingraham, Amarylles Lilles, Eleanor Oakes, and Nancy Adams.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Willamette's Panhellenic Council, through the combined efforts of its representatives, has spent another successful year aiming toward better co-operation and understanding among the sororities. The members of the Council have worked hard to iron out the difficulties which arose during rushing, and they have engaged in many worthy projects such as aiding in the annual lily sale for crippled children. Highlights of the year's activities were the Panhellenic Dance at Christmas time and the inter-sorority spring picnic.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Each of Willamette's four social fraternities is represented on the Inter-Fraternity Council which works in co-operation with the college administration handling any problems that occur within the fraternity system. Following the precedent set last year, the Council met monthly and continued with its program which is designed to create closer harmony among the fraternal organizations.

PANHELLENIC DANCE

To add to the holiday spirit the members of the sororities on campus joined together in December to put on their annual Panhellenic formal. This year the dance was centered around the coming winter season and was appropriately titled "Sno-Ball."

Mary Jane Stewart and her escort, Bob Straumfjord, seem to be thoroughly enjoying themselves at the "Sno-Ball."

The dance was quite a success as far as Chet Gillihan and Betty Jean Simpson were concerned.

The band of Chuck Johnson provided the music for the Panhellenic Formal.

Eleanor Payne and Larry Pritchett were among the many students who attended the dance.

Larry Standifer makes faces at Carolyn Crane during intermission at the Pi Phi dance. Couples seem to be enjoying themselves at Chi Omega's Spring Formal.

Bob Witham and Betty Breaky listen attentively while Janice Gladden sings for Delta Gamma's and their escorts at their fall dance.

The Sigma Chi Sweetheart dance was held again this year at Crystal Gardens.

Enjoying the atmosphere of a Phi Delt "Desert Island" are Bonnie Belle Stewart and Bill Merriam, Ann Gibbens and George Buland.

Standing in front of the S. A. E. dance favors are Joan Lanke and Jim Morgali, Lyn Wence and Bob Riordan, Nancy Adams and Frank Kehr.

Jim Ellis and Lorrinne Bergman, Dale Ackerman and Janet DeWeese take time out from dancing for a bit of refreshment at the S.A.E. Spring Formal.

The Men of Baxter Hall invaded the "Waterfront" for their spring dance.

Turning back the clock to the days of the "Little Red Schoolhouse" are Pat Moll and Kent Holmes, Marly Jane Stewart, Cynthia Arpke and George Summers at the Beta's fall house dance.

BETA THETA PI

The men of Beta Theta Pi have spent an active year, brimming over with both social and academic events. Early in the fall the Betas turned their immediate attention to their first house dance when they reverted back to the days of grandfather and took their girls to a dance at "The Little Red Schoolhouse." Following close behind was Homecoming and the Betas captured first place in the men's division of the sign contest. Serenades, firesides, participation in school government, and of course, studies kept the Beta men well-occupied throughout the year. The position of top in scholarship among the men's living groups on campus was recaptured during the fall semester. After Easter, the Betas' attention turned again to house dances when they presented a formal dinner-dance, "The Beta Land of Dreams," which climaxed their social season. Last on the calendar for Beta Theta Pi was the annual beachtrip, which came shortly before finals.

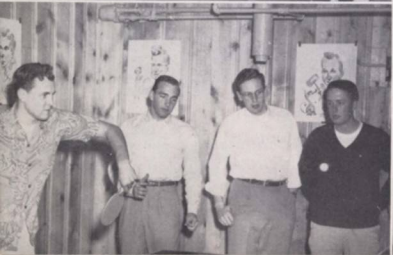

During a heated game of bridge, Don Berney, Wayne Fredrickson, Ellis Von Eschen, Malcolm Campbell, and Hal Johnson intently await the outcome of the next hand.

Malcolm Campbell prepares to outfox his opponent at ping-pong while Bruce Purvine, Don Gragg and Dick Church offer encouragement.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

During the first week of school, when the newcomers on campus were becoming acquainted, the SAE's were hosts for an informal dance for all the recent pledges of the various men's fraternities. Soon their days were well-occupied with the twice monthly firesides, serenades, and studies. In November, Willamette's chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was honored by a visit from the Chapter Supervisor who had come from Illinois to see several chapters in this area. Christmas found SAE's swamped with activities, but as soon as two weeks vacation were behind them, they were ready to continue their active year. In March the SAE's become musically minded as they prepared for their formal spring dance, "Melody Time." By April the chapter was hard at work perfecting its songs for All-School Sing in May. As a perfect ending to a fine year, the SAE's took their dates to Nescowin beach.

SIGMA CHI

The fall semester for the Sigma Chi's always seems to hold the most excitement, for it is the scene of their annual Sweetheart contest and Ball. This year the competitive event was of special interest for the Sigma Chi men, for their choice would be eligible to run for national Sweetheart in June. The contest reached its climax on the night of the Sweetheart formal ball at Crystal Gardens when the Sigs crowned their queen for 1951. Although the events of the sweetheart contest seemed to take precedence, the Sigs, like all the rest of the men on campus, participated in the fire-sides, the Christmas caroling, and the holiday parties. In late spring after the excitement of May Weekend the Sigma Chi's offered their spring house dance which was based on the informal theme, "Beachcomber." The weekend of the dance was topped off by an authentic trip to the beach on the following Sunday.

PHI DELTA THETA

Following tradition Willamette chapter of Phi Delta Theta opened an active year with their "She Delta Theta" dance, which offers many horrors and thrills for girls who attend. Fall advanced rapidly toward the Christmas season as Phi Deltas played host at numerous firesides. Before the holiday vacation, Phi Delta Theta members showed their fine charitable spirit by entertaining a group of under privileged children at the chapter house. Studies were the main attention during the weeks that followed vacation but soon spring, was in the offing. March at the Phi Delt house, was climaxed by a founder's banquet as men paid tribute to the originators of their fraternity. After Easter, their spring house dance became their main concern, and they spent long hours on elaborate decorations depicting the theme, "Desert Island." The year came to a fitting conclusion when the Phi Deltas and their dates headed to the coast for a day of freedom before final exams.

A group of Phi Deltas gather around the piano while a hot card game progresses in the other corner.

Harry Summers, Keith Mirick, Bill Hagemeyer, Loren Ranton, Laurie Peterson, and Bill Briggs take time out to chat as they wait for dinner to begin.

After dinner is the time for relaxation and a few moments of pleasure.

BAXTER HALL

The Independent Men of Baxter Hall have been unusually outstanding on campus this year. The fall semester was scattered with the firesides shared with the women's living groups, and the Baxter men made their guests more than welcome. The first big event scheduled for Baxter was their fall dance, which was centered around the theme of "Northern Lights." As the year progressed the men became involved with the traditional intramural sports, holiday season parties, and school work. With the approach of May Week End attention was turned toward All School Sing. The diligent practices of these men were well-rewarded this year as first place among the men's living groups was rightfully given to Baxter Hall. With finals in the air, the men finished up their various projects, among which was their new recreation room, and they looked ahead to another even more successful year.

Bob Stone, Gil Davies, Terry Wheeler, Don Boudon, Bob Redding, and George Smith gather together for a few relaxing moments before they return to their books.

Advertising

To the readers of the 1952 Wallulah...

When you arrive at this section of the 1952 Wallulah, I would like to make a simple request—that you give as much attention to this portion of the book as you have to the previous ones. I ask this because those each year who back the Wallulah in the form of advertising are deserving of this much, and even more consideration.

The theme of the book this year is Reflections, and with this in mind it would do us all good to reflect back a moment on just how long these businesses have been here, backing Wil-lamette all the way. It would also do us all good to reflect into the future on how we might try-to "even up the score" so to speak.

For this reason I want to make this further request—that we do reflect upon and patronize these businesses, for they are the firms that make our large yearbook possible.
