Asian Invasion Exterminates Social Functions

Mirror, Mirror, on the Wall

Who's the Ugliest Man of All?

Practicing fierce faces are Ugly Man contestants Dan Pettit, Bill Joseph, Andy Kuehn, Ron Kingsley, and Howard Strobel. Three other contestants—Tom Gail, Dick White, and Jerry May—were ashamed to show their faces in public. The Ugly Man contest is one of the few remaining activities left on the Homecoming schedule.

Only Ugly Man Contest, Rally, Game Remain On Packed Homecoming Schedule Once Set

An Ugly Man will be elected and a football game played, but otherwise the 1957 variety of Homecoming will be sadly different from those of former years.

Bob Boss, Homecoming manager; Dr. Petrie; and Anita Booth, first vice-president.

As next weekend's Homecoming schedule now stands, there will be a pre-game rally at 6:30 Friday night. Saturday morning the returning alumni will meet and at noon they will have reunion luncheons.

THAT AFTERNOON the Willamette Bearcats will meet the Pacific University Badgers in a football game at McCulloch stadium, where Homecoming Hostess Martha Eagleson will welcome the alums.

Ugly Men candidates elected by the women's living organizations are Andy Kuehn, Doney hall; Ron Kingsley, Pi Beta Phi; Howard Stroebel, Lausanne hall; Bill Joseph, Alpha Chi Omega; Dan Pettit, WITs; Jerry May, University House; Tom Gail, Chi Omega; and Dick White, Delta Gamma.

GALLON JARS bearing the candidates' pictures will be placed at strategic points throughout the campus. Votes are in the form of money, with each penny counting as a vote. Mickey Daum, president of Beta Alpha Gamma, which is sponsoring the contest, advises penny-saving students that each dollar bill contributed will count as 110 votes, not simply 100.

The contest will begin Monday and end Friday, November 8, at 4 p.m. Winner of the contest and the organization that sponsored him will be presented trophies.

Scheduled Homecoming activities that will be omitted because of the large number of influenza cases include freshman leaf rake, the sign contest, freshman bonfire, Varsity Varieties, barbecue lunch, and the greased-pole contest.

Students to Argue Mock Trial, Plan for National Moot Court

As a prelude to the national Moot Court competition November 15 and 16, George Weigum and Doug White will participate in a local moot court Friday, November 8, in the law school.

THIS MOCK TRIAL, which begins at 9 a.m., will be open to the public. Pre-law students will get

Flu Cancels Events, Homecoming Cut

The number of influenza cases reported on campus early this week was considerably smaller than the number last week, but was still large enough to cancel most scheduled social activities.

THERE WERE approximately 31 cases Tuesday, the great majority of them not being of the Asian variety, according to the Health Center, which, however, expects an increase of Asian flu cases in the near future.

The Health Center now has an ample supply of Asian flu vaccine for students whose parental authorizations have been signed, Dr. Ralph Purvine said.

HE PREDICTS additional waves of influenza throughout the school year and expressed the hope that the students will avail themselves of this vaccine as soon as possible.

Mrs. Henrietta Althoff, health nurse, states that the infirmary has had an average of 15 to 20 flu patients every day. Patients are moved out to their own living quarters as soon as possible to make room for new cases.

Prof's Brother Fills Econ Post

Earl A. Holmer, brother of A. Freeman Holmer, Willamette political science professor, has been appointed visiting assistant economics professor for the remainder of the current school year.

HE WILL REPLACE Dr. William Merrill, former head of the economics department, who recently passed away, President Smith announced Tuesday.

Holmer will handle all of Dr. Merrill's courses except Money and Banking which Prof. Richard Gillis will take. Holmer, in turn, will teach Gillis' afternoon class in Principles of Economics.

HOLMER RECEIVED his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Oregon in 1942 with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He graduated with a master of science in journalism from Columbia in 1945 and with a master of arts degree from Columbia in 1950. He has now completed course work for his doctorate.

ANITA BOOTH, first vice-president of the student body, reports that all campus activities have been cancelled again this weekend. These activities include the Chi Omega and Delta Gamma house dances scheduled for tonight, the Leadership Training Conference tomorrow and the Alpha Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi house dances, tomorrow night.

No convocations or chapels will be held until after Homecoming. The next convocation will be Tuesday, November 19, according to present plans. All intramural games have been cancelled.

MOST HOMECOMING activities were cancelled Tuesday, at the suggestion of Dr. Purvine, members of the administration and of the student body officers.

In the sororities, a total of 9 flu cases had been reported by press-time Tuesday night. Three of these were in the Alpha Chi Omega house, two at Chi Omega, and five at Pi Beta Phi. Lausanne had two sick with flu and Doney had ten, while two cases were reported in University House.

Beta Theta Pi had two men in the infirmary; Phi Beta Theta had three; Sigma Chi, two; and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, none. Baxter Hall reported one case and South Hall reported no one sick. Statistics concerning town students were not available.

Oh, Woe! . . . Midterms Due

Midterm grades are due in the Registrar's office Wednesday, November 20. These grades are not official, but give the student and his family a picture of his progress for the first eight weeks of the academic school year.

Petitions Due For Elections

Freshmen wishing to be candidates for Freshman Glee Manager must submit their petitions to the student body office by Tuesday noon. Students wanting a place in Willamette's delegation to the Model United Nations must submit petitions by Tuesday, November 12.

Glee candidates must secure petitions in the student body office and get the signatures of 25 regular students. Campaign speeches will be given in convocation, November 12 and primary elections will be held November 14 and 15, with runoffs set for November 18 and 19.

Prospective delegates to the Model UN at the University of Washington next April must state their reasons wishing to attend the meeting and list their qualifications.

Council Ponders Parking Problem

A parking lot discussion, selection of the Rotarian of the Month, and Parents' Weekend and Homecoming reports occupied the minds of student council members Wednesday.

SKIP ALEXANDER, student body member-at-large, reported tentative plans for a parking lot to alleviate the student and faculty parking problem. The administration with the financial aid of the city will establish a temporary parking area for 100 cars across the mill stream in the general location behind the infirmary.

Vic Backlund was unanimously elected Rotarian of the Month in recognition of his outstanding achievements academically and athletically. He is senior scholar in history, has been selected for conference honors in three sports, and was recently given the Arthur J. Priest award as the outstanding member of Phi Delta Theta in the nation.

THE FINAL Parents' Weekend report by manager George Hoyt stated that the 617 parents who attended the event was 33 per cent higher than any previous year. He recommended that definite decisions should be made about the place and purpose of the song contest and that a better system be devised to determine how many parents would eat in the dorms.

Bob Boss had one word for his Homecoming report—streamlined—due to all the event cancellations caused by the flu.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mrs. Schwalen

Mrs. Edith Schwalen, wife of Gus H. Schwalen, maintenance supervisor, died unexpectedly at her home Sunday night. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

The Schwalens were married in North Dakota in 1910 and they moved to Salem in 1940. Students will remember her as manager of Bearcat Cavern, a post she held from 1945 to 1956.

Mrs. Schwalen is survived by her husband, three sons, Leonard, Gordon and Clayton, 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was held at St. Josephs Catholic church yesterday morning.

Theory of Leisured Classes

First reaction of the few healthy people left at Willamette has been that the administration is unduly alarmed and that cancelling events will not make the students invulnerable to the flu bug. Their fatalistic reasoning follows that if "relaxing" social events are dangerous, then so are classes and "why doesn't Dr. Purvine forbid dating?"

However, we feel that Dr. Purvine's ounce of prevention recommendations are well taken. Alleviation of some of the pressure cannot but help speed recoveries and lighten the seriousness of the illnesses. Cases of flu have reached gigantic proportions at the state schools, yet they are still struggling along under the weight of the extra-curricular. Surely the recent actions seem the only intelligent solutions available.

Until the blockage lifts, then, the doctor knows best and we might just as well quit griping. For the first time in history, Willamette students have the time to complain about all the spare time they've always complained about not having.

Who's Entitled to Throw First Little Rock? Prof Thinks Salem Needs Look Into Own Heart

By Barbara Goodier

Racial prejudice and problems of race are not confined to the South.

Even in states north of the Mason-Dixon line various subtle, yet devious methods have been employed to obtain the same objectives as those sought by the White-Supremacists in the South.

A CASE IN POINT is the city of Salem, as its history is recalled by Dr. John Rademaker, head of the sociology department. Until recently, Salem was characterized as an "all-white" town, he says. But it was not due to chance that Negroes did not feel free to work and live in Salem; it has rather been due to an unwritten policy of exclusion on the part of a few small but determined influential interest groups.

These groups include some of those interested in real estate, some labor unions, various employers, and even some church groups.

HOW HAVE THESE and other groups been able to enforce their desire to keep the Negro out of Salem? Mainly, it has been through the use of the police, Dr. Rademaker thinks. Five or six years ago when city-council member Charlton was Lieutenant of Police, and was responsible to Chief of Police Minto, a Negro was approached on the street by a policeman and told to be out of town by five o'clock.

This incident aroused several ministers and other interested parties to bring enough agitation against Chief Minto that he was forced to make a public statement to the effect that there was no such policy of enforced racial discrimination in Salem. Shortly after this he resigned his position.

TWO YEARS LATER, as Rademaker recalls, a Negro employed at Alderman Farms was told to leave town as he stood in line downtown waiting to receive his pay. Again it was a policeman that told him to leave.

Alderman went to the mayor and stated in effect that if the city did not like the people employed by Alderman Farms, it probably didn't like the money which came into the city from Alderman Farms. After this the mayor apologized and the Chief of Police was replaced.

Dear Ed:

Every college campus has its social problems and Willamette is certainly no exception. After serving with Uncle Sam for four years, one foolish practice is apparent to me.

Any student with dating experience is probably familiar with this routine: a fellow asks a girl for a first date, she accepts, they go out and have a good time. (All fine.) Second date follows and maybe a couple more. But here is where the sorority sisters (or fraternity brothers) destroy the relationship. More than two dates marks the couple as "going steady" among their friends. Then the problem becomes how to get back into circulation?

Surely modern college students can survive socially without this system. Can't campus dating be pursued for fun and pleasant relationships without outsiders trying to be match-makers? Is the reason immaturity or just a result of faults in close group living? Who has the answer?

Dick Renn

In Passing Bo

Last week's Collegian announced that Dr. Kohler, Willamette professor of English, was ill and had been hospitalized. Many of us were made unhappy by this news.

After 26 years of teaching, his students number into the thousands, and each of them remembers Dr. Kohler warmly.

HE IS SOMETIMES the personification of the absent-minded professor as he seems to ramble through his lectures and tucks his assignments into books as book-marks not to be found again for a little while. But his students really love him because he really loves his students and it seems to be such a treat to him to introduce the wonders of Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Milton to each succeeding generation.

Two years ago I took a course from him and at first I didn't understand the class or what was being done in it. Then one day I realized that I was not only hearing the Canterbury Tales in the short 50 minutes of the class, I was living the experiences with the pilgrims and Dr. Kohler. For all of us it was a delightful experience. His field is romantic literature and he, in his quiet and unassuming way, turns what would otherwise be very dry reading into a living, dynamic experience.

THIS YEAR he reaches 65 and the policy of the school requires that he retire. To me personally this will be a great loss, but it will be a greater loss to the Willamette family. I think it can be honestly said of him, that of all the professors I have known he was the one that was loved the most.

"Sabrina Fair" is being presented for tonight and tomorrow night only on the main stage right inside the giant Fine Arts auditorium. Audrey Hepburn played the title role with Humphrey Bogart and William Holden in the film adaptation. Our own Robert Putnam is directing the Pentacle production of this situation comedy. It is sponsored by the Salem Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary, whatever that is.

TICKETS FOR Sabrina are one dollar for students and one dollar and fifty cents for practically everybody else. It should be an interesting evening and the play is quite amusing. If you have the money and the inclination to spend the night somewhere else than in the rain, I recommend this as a suitable diversion.

Currently playing at the Guild Theatre in Portland is the grand prize winner of last year's Cannes Film Festival, "The Red Balloon." It's the unlikely story of a red balloon that has a mind of its own—to the consternation of all involved.

Coat-Check Concession Limited to Honorary

Dean Ewalt wishes to remind all student organizations that Cap and Gown is the only group authorized to handle the coat-checking concession in the Fine Arts building. This policy was established by the University authorities when the Fine Arts auditorium was first opened for use.

There has been some confusion about the matter recently and Dean Ewalt wanted to emphasize that the coat concession will be in operation whenever the auditorium is used in the evening and that only members of Cap and Gown will be taking coats.

Neanderthal Man Council Pet; Origin of Mug Large Mystery

Vying with the front page pic for ugly man honors is the favorite of past and present student body leaders, the one and only Erasmus. Erasmus, who spends lazy days in his own cavern on the second floor, west wing, of the Fine Arts, turned out to be a big question mark this week as numerous Collegian eager beaver reporters sought news of his illustrative past and ran up against blank walls. Profs passed the buck when questioned about the statue which resides in the room where council meets. Dr. Rademaker supposedly knows the whole story but could not be reached as he was in Canada digging up more Erasmuses. It is hoped that the unknown facts will come to light with the publication of the above pin-up. Certainly Erasmus deserves recognition for his inspired dedication to student government.

Cat Cavern to Be Open On Saturday Mornings

Saturday morning late-sleepers who dislike missing breakfast should be delighted to hear that the Cat Cavern will be open Saturday mornings from 9 to 11. This is an experiment, according to Mrs. Gladys Swenson, Cat manager. If it is successful the Saturday morning openings will become a regular Cat feature. They will be continued until further notice.

The Social Scoop

By MARY LOU KRAUSE

HOW BAD IS THAT?

With only one activity left for the whole weekend, the announcement was made in one fraternity house that the pep rally would be held in the infirmary. Maybe we could even have a dance there!

FOUR MAKE THE GRADE

Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honorary for sophomore women with a GPA of 3.5 or above, initiated Dot Manker, Mickey Daum, Mary Owens, and Nancy Teague Thursday at the Pi Beta Phi house. A tea honoring the new members will be held next week at Lausanne Hall.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TO PROBE TURKEY DINNER

Psi Chi members will initiate nine into the psychology honorary after a turkey dinner at the Golden Pheasant restaurant this Sunday. Those eligible for initiation are Joan Sherrill, Barbara Roach, Jack Nelson, Marietta Lind, Carole Warren, Tom Honl, Barbara Swegart, Marge Stout, and Barbara Clark.

TWO BECOME MEMBERS

Dot Manker and Gretchen Goodrich were initiated into Pi Beta Phi Sunday and were honored at a banquet at the chapter house afterward.

RACCOON COAT FOR COLD GIRLS

A sporty raccoon coat in good condition can be had for $25 (just a fourth of its original cost). If any bold coed is interested she should call Mrs. Clarence Prickett at Empire 2-7392. The coat is size 12, has an extra warm lining, and the offer is serious.

SIGMA CHIS WAIT FOR WELL GIRLS

Because several sweetheart candidates are ill this week, Sigma Chis will wait until a later date to choose their six semi-finalists.

Odd Dessert, Alarm Clock, Fire Drill Tell Engagements

SHARON ALLEN

COLLEEN TEELAND

MICKEY DAUM

Mickey Daum's Pi Phi sisters into the living room, which was decorated with candles and many balloons. A series of poems in the balloons announced Miss Daum's engagement to Chuck McClure. Formal announcement was made Sunday at a dinner party in Portland.

Miss Daum is a sophomore psychology major from Portland, and serves as president of Beta Alpha Gamma, is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and the YWCA cabinet, was secretary of her freshman class, and was on the Sigma Chi Sweetheart court last year.

A history major from Beaverton, McClure will graduate this year and will go into the Air Force. He was Homecoming manager last year and is a member of Sigma Chi. A late summer wedding is planned.

No desert was found for Sharon Allen after Sunday dinner. Instead, she was served an engagement ring on her desert plate by houseboy (also fiancee) Duane Hines, for a surprise engagement announcement.

Miss Allen is a senior English major from Walla Walla, Washington. She was a member of the rally squad for two years and is presently on the rally commission, was a member of the Varsity Ball court, and has served as social chairman for Pi Beta Phi.

Hines, of San Francisco, is a junior economics major and was vice president of his freshman class. After the wedding, this summer, the couple will live in Salem.

SAEs Pick Violet Court of 6

Six coeds were chosen by the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon for their Queen of Violets Court. These finalists for the SAE queen will be entertained at dinner Wednesday and will be serenaded sometime before the SAE dance, November 5.

Barbara Royer, from Arcadia, California, is fond of outdoor activities, especially swimming and hiking. This tall, slender brunette is a Delta Gamma pledge and is an education major.

Connie Snow, who hails from Seattle, Washington, wants to teach grade school after completing college. Miss Snow has brown hair and blue eyes and has varied interests including drawing, singing, skiing, and swimming. Miss Snow is a Chi Omega pledge.

Marcia Humphrey of Salem plans to attend medical school after completing her undergraduate work. Red hair and blue-green eyes describe this Delta Gamma pledge who likes reading, music, tennis and skiing.

A piano major from Portland, Pat Holcomb naturally likes music, along with swimming and reading. This petite Alpha Chi pledge has brown hair and blue eyes.

Beverly Fulton is interested in people which has led to her decision to be a sociology major with plans to go into social work after graduation. Miss Fulton has brown hair and eyes and is from Salem.

Fancy cooking is a major interest of Elaine Buckinger, who also likes swimming, art, skiing, and music. Miss Buckinger is an art major from Portland and a pledge of Pi Beta Phi. She has brown hair and blue eyes.

Award for Smarties

The Alice Crocker Lloyd fellowship totaling $750 for graduate study will again be awarded for use during the 1958-59 academic year by the National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Application blanks and information sheets may be obtained from Dean Ewalt. Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta who has graduated in 1956 or 1957 and who has maintained a scholastic average of 3.50 throughout her college career is eligible. Graduating seniors may apply if they have maintained this average up to the end of the first semester of their senior year.

WU Speakers Vie At Tacoma Meet

Ten Willamette student speakers are representing Willamette in the fall practice forensic tournament this weekend at Pacific Lutheran college, Tacoma, Wash.

TRAVELING TO Tacoma were Lewis Bright and Mac Baker, seniors; Emil Muhs and Stan Culy, juniors; Louis Hise, Justin Hardy, and Bob Youngblood, sophomores; and Peter Briggs, William Ford, and Floyd Olsen, freshmen.

They will participate in the debating, impromptu and extemporaneous speaking and interpretative reading events.

DR. HOWARD Runkel, director of forensics at Willamette, accompanied the group and is participating with other faculty representatives in the judging of the various speech contests. The tournament is being held to afford students early season practice and consequently only a very limited number of comparative ratings will be made.

Serious Hams to Vie For 'Thunder' Spots

Tryouts for "Thunder Rock," the first play of the season for the University theater, will be held Monday from 3 to 5 p.m. and Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Waller Hall. There are parts for three women and nine men.

The play, which was written by Robert Ardrey, will be presented as part of Christian Resources Week, December 6 and 7. There is one copy of the play on reserve in the library under Professor Putnam's name.

Ten Pledged In Open Rush

Final open rush report from the sororities announced that ten women have been pledged to the three sororities which took part.

Chi Omega pledged seven girls, Drury Spurlock, Nancy Elliot, Lois Shepler, Mara Paulson, Marky Allender, Barbara Luoma, and Hollie Stryker.

Lee Thornton and Pat Duffy are the new pledges of Pi Beta Phi, and Par Davis pledged Alpha Chi Omega.

Open rush took place from October 21 to October 25.

The Amen Corner

Canterbury Club members will hear a discussion of the "One, Holy, Apostolic Church," led by Father John Shideler, vicar of St. Timothy's church at their meeting Sunday.

All those wishing to attend are asked to be in front of Lausanne Hall at 6:15 Sunday. Transportation will be provided to Saint Paul's Episcopal church.

WU Leads in Team Rushing

Backlund Runnerup In Individual Rushing

NORTHWEST Conference football statistics released prior to last weekend's games show that Willamette Bearcats are leading the NWC in team rushing. In five games the Bearcats have a total of 235 carries, 1,401 yards gained, 49 yards lost, and a net of 1,352 yards. This gives them an average per game of 270.4 yards, and their nearest rival, Whitman, trails with only 1,074 net yards and a per game average of 214.8.

Individual rushing statistics are lead by Richard Maggard of College of Idaho, Maggard, who leads the nation's small college rushing leaders, has carried 90 times, gained 550 yards, lost three yards, and has a net total of 550 yards. This gives him an average of 6.1 yards.

IN SECOND spot is Willamette's Vic Backlund, who has carried a total of 79 times, gained 434 yards, lost 2, and has a net of 432. This gives Vic a 5.5 average.

Willamette's two quarterbacks, Keith Driver and Herb Juran, lead the NWC in punting. Juran is first with a 32.6 average, and Driver is a close second with a 32.3 average.

Ogdahlmen Step Outside NWC Tangle With CPS in Tacoma

HAVING WON an all important NWC grid battle with the College of Idaho Coyotes last weekend, Coach Ted Ogdahl's Bearcat gridgers leave today for a non-conference tussle with the College of Puget Sound Loggers.

When the Bearcats meet the Loggers in Tacoma tomorrow afternoon, it will mark the 37th time these schools have come to grips on the gridiron. Willamette has the edge with 19 victories to the Loggers' 13, with four games ending in a deadlock. Last year the potent Loggers were undefeated and among their victories was a 20-14 battle with Willamette.

THIS YEAR CPS has been defeated once in five encounters. They dropped a 20-12 contest with Whitworth College. Willamette stopped the Whitworth Pirates in their second game of the season, 26-12.

College of Puget Sound is lead by quarterback Dick Jarvis, who operates his team from both the T and Single Wing formations. Jarvis played freshman ball at the University of Oregon, and was on the All-Evergreen Conference second team last year. Bolstering the CPS backfield is fullback Bob Austin. Austin played frosh ball at the University of Washington, and was a 1956 All-Evergreen selection.

COACH OGD AHL hopes that fullback Vic Backlund and center John Hinds will be back in action for the Bearcats. Both missed last week's contest with the C of I Coyotes due to ankle injuries.

Another doubtful starter is Bill Wall, who sprained his ankle in the Coyote tilt. Willamette will definitely be weak at the guard slot, as they will be without the services of first stringer Jerry Tankersley. Tankersley suffered a broken hand last weekend.

Two Bearcat TDs In Fourth Quarter Crush C of I, 33-21

The Willamette Bearcats, completely reversing their play of the following week when they faded in the fourth quarter and gave up the tying touchdown to Whitman in the final 55 seconds of play, came roaring back against the College of Idaho to score two touchdowns in the final quarter and roll up a 33-21 victory over the Coyotes.

College of Idaho opened the scoring in the second quarter on a 29-yard pass from Charlie Alvaro to halfback Ron Morrison. Alvaro booted the first of three conversions bare-footed. The Bearcats had stopped an earlier Coyote drive on the one-yard line.

WILLAMETTE lashed back with a 58-yard drive with Jack Berkey going the last five to make it 7-6. Stan Solomon's kick was blocked by Gil Koga. It was just two minutes later that Stan Solomon stunned the C of I Homecoming crowd with a dazzling 76-yard punt return to put the Ogdahlmen out front 12-7. Solomon grabbed the Coyote punt on his own 24, cut to the sidelines and raced to paydirt.

The score remained 12-7 until the third quarter when C of I covered 62 yards in nine plays to regain the lead. Roger Swanson plunged over with 10:37 left in the period to give the Coyotes 13 points. That lead melted fast also.

SOLOMON came close to duplicating his earlier feat when he ran 61 yards on the kickoff, being nabbed only on a desperation tackle by Alvaro at the Coyote 27. From there it took just five plays before Jack Berkey swept left end for seven yards and a TD. Solomon's kick made it 19-14.

Rich Maggard, the nation's leading small college ground gainer, sparked a 50-yard C of I touchdown march in the final quarter to put the Coyotes out in front 21-19. He picked up 23 of the 50 yards in three carries and plunged the last four markers for the go-ahead touchdown with 4:16 left in the game. This marked the fourth time the lead had changed hands, but it wasn't meant to be the last.

THE C OF I crew gambled on a short kick on the ensuing kickoff and failed. It took just five short plays for the Bearcats to reach the end zone and bounce back into the lead, this time for good.

The final touchdown came when the Coyotes received a clipping penalty on the kickoff, which set the ball back on the 12-yard line. Four consecutive passes ended up in a three-yard loss and the Ogdahlmen took over on the nine. Herb Juran boomed over three plays later for the final score.

Murals Halted By Flu Siege

All intramural activity came to an abrupt halt on the Willamette campus last week, as the ol' flu bug bit the different living organizations. The siege of flu made it imperative for intramural director, Skip Wilcox, to call off all intramural football games scheduled last Friday and Saturday.

A check with the university health service and Dr. Purvine indicated that the epidemic was still active and that games scheduled for today and tomorrow will also be postponed.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist. Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet. Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable. Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Coke!
