To the Alumni.

The Fifteenth Annual Reunion of the Alumni Association of Willamette University, will be held in the Chapel of the University Wednesday Evening, June 29th, 1881, at 8 o'clock, at which time we hope to meet all the Alumni. If you find it impossible to attend, please notify the Secretary, that she may be advised of your present location, and that she may be able to acquaint those of your class and other friends who may be present, of your residence and vocation.

The Literary Exercises of the evening will be as follows:

Oration, Charles A. Johns, '78.

Poem, Sam'l Simpson, '66.

Essay, Miss Dora M. Lamson, '68.

Annals, Charles B. Moores, '70.

The Alumni Business Meeting will be held on Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, p. m., in the University.

In conducting this correspondence, printing programme of the Literary Exercises, and for other purposes, a considerable outlay is unavoidable. At the annual meeting of 1874, it was ordered that each member of this Association be asked to contribute the sum of one dollar to a contin.

gent fund to defray these expenses. Hitherto the Alumni have responded very generally. No one feels the tax, and we are warranted in making the same request this year. If you cannot be present in person, please arrange to forward your contribution prior to the annual business meeting. All moneys may be sent or paid to Jos. A. Sellwood, '66, President of the Association, in Salem.

If it is possible for you to be present, do not neglect to attend the Business Meeting. If you are unable to attend, please do not fail to send us a communication to be read at the Business Meeting.

June 18th, 9 o'clock A. M.,

Annual Meeting of the Board of Education.

Miss Witten, our excellent teacher of music, will have charge of the musical department of the commencement exercises. Some of the music, we understand will be furnished by her class.

The literary exercises of the society, and the graduating exercises of the class, will be held in the Band Hall. The lecture will be delivered in the M. E. Church. The meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the room of the Principal, at the Academy.

Mr. James Matthews of the second year has taken a school at Lewsville, but is keeping up his studies in his course at the Academy. He has quite a large school, and is giving good satisfaction.

It is understood that the Trustees contemplate putting a new fence and side walk around the Academy grounds, and perhaps making other improvements, much needed, during the present summer.

The Principal and students, are anxious to know who shall be our teachers next year; as all have resigned, Miss Strong on account of ill health, Misses Jones and Lyle for the reason that they are tired of teaching, and need rest.

Commencement at Blue Mountain University:

Sunday, June 19th, Baccalaureate Sermon.

Monday, June 20th, Class Day.

Tuesday evening, June 21st, Students and Teachers Reunion and Social.

Wednesday, June 22nd, Annual Meeting of Board of Trustees.

Wednesday evening, Prize Declamation Contest.

Thursday, June 23rd, Commencement evening—Prize Oratorical Contest.

Silverton.

A flying trip to Silverton not long since occasioned a good deal of pleasure and profit to one of the editors. Pleasure in riding over the beautiful country, and meeting with clever people at the end of the ride, profit in becoming acquainted with a few persons of much value to society, and instructive and interesting in conversation. Among the number are Dr. Davis, Mr. Small, Mr. Brown, Mr. Shepherd and others. The village is taking on new life from the Railroad, and is in process of quite a good deal of improvement. Among other good things, proposed is the erection of a church, in which enterprise the citizens manifest much interest. A new organ has just been purchased, and with Prof. Buff as chorister and Miss Hays as organist, fine church music is dispensed.

A strong temperance organization holds regular meetings in a commodious hall. The people are enterprising, independent in thought, intelligent and hospitable. Silver Creek, a beautiful stream, flows through the village, furnishing excellent water power.

Personal.

Miss Sallie Olinger is closing her summer term of school at Turner. She has taught three successive terms at the same place, which fact indicates her superior ability in this useful vocation. A call comes to her from Baker City, Eastern Oregon, where she expects to go soon to continue her chosen work. Miss Olinger was educated in the Willamette University, as have also been many other excellent educators, living in all parts of the Northwest.

Dr. Freeland of Albany, will send a son and daughter to the University next year.

Miss Mary McKinney of the class '80 expects to return to school, for a course in Music and French.

C. A. Shurte, Cato Johns, Virgil Reed, Chas. Ward, T. Herren, and a number of others from the same community will be on hands the beginning of the year.

Rev. J. L. Parrish, President of the board of Trustees, now residing in Portland, has left in care of the Editor, a very fine portrait of himself, in a most beautiful and massive frame. It is now in the parlour of the Woman's College.

One or two of the Professors, with Sheriff Ramsby and another party or two, have planned a trip to Mt. Hood about the middle of July.

Dr. Fraser's address to the Graduating Class of the Medical College of W. U.

Gentlemen of the Graduating class:

According to a very ancient custom it now becomes my duty, to say a few parting words of advice and counsel, before you enter upon the great future that lies before you. You are now about to become (I hope) useful members of the noblest profession that can engage the attention, or encourage the development of the highest qualities of the mind of man. The most important part of your education is yet to be gained. The constitution of the human mind is such that the acquisition of knowledge can only be very gradual.

Just as there is no royal road to learning, so there is no rapid method of gaining experience; and if you wish to excel, you must not only work assiduously, but you must be careful that you toil in the right direction. You are now in possession of only a frame work of Medical Science which you are to fill up by the gradual acquisition of professional knowledge at the bed-side. The science of medicine has been so much enlarged, in all its different departments by the minute researches now demanded, and by the great and rapid progress of many of the specialties, as to require that every moment of your time be occupied in the closest study if you wish to keep yourselves abreast with the daily improvements in our profession.

If, Hypocrates and Galen should arise from their tombs to-day, they could not pass an examination at the Willamette University such as you have just passed.

By a constant effort to improve yourselves you help to advance our science, the tone of the whole profession will be elevated, and you, as medical men, will be more respected by the community at large.

To be successful physicians, you must not only possess a sound, practical knowledge of your profession, but you must also be careful that your moral character be free from blemish; that your general conduct be not only above vulgarity, but such as to excite the respect of your friends and neighbors; you should be conscientious, attentive, careful in regard to the private matters that are entrusted to physicians, unmindful of the worldly condition of your patients, sympathizing, calm, and circumspect in your behavior generally.

You should never be unmindful of the duties which you owe to your Colleagues—to those treading the same paths as yourselves. You should be most tardy in believing ill reports of your fellow practitioners, and avoid all such short-sighted proceedings as may tend to elevate you by depressing others; and gentlemen let me here specially admonish you to strictly eschew special and unusual methods of obtaining cheap notoriety, news-paper puffing and prescribing, remembering always that for a physician to publish or allow to be published in the public prints, intended for the use of the laity, reports of medical or surgical cases, or papers on medical or surgical subjects, for the purpose of attracting the attention of the general public, is repugnant to the high sense of honor that should govern the medical profession.

These gentlemen are the devices commonly resorted to by quacks and imposters, and having for their end the attainment of fame and notoriety by other means than those efforts in the line of professional duty, which are the honorable physician's only legitimate paths to advancement in the confidence and patronage of the public.

You should cultivate a public spirit, be active in all measures of sanitary and other reforms, but by all means avoid politics, and deny yourselves to all offers of political emolument.

The practice of your profession will make you acquainted with much that is morally blamable, and will teach you forcibly the weakness of man and the proneness of the best of us to err and trespass. You will often be called upon to treat diseases self-inflicted and even simulated, but you should remember that this is often the result of folly and mental imbecility, as much as from vicious and wicked motives. In treating such cases, it is not for you at once to condemn or assume too harshly the character of judges, but remember this, the quality of mercy is such that it "blesseth him that gives and him that takes," and having in mind how much we all stand in need of a merciful interpretation of our own daily conduct, you will learn to make allowance for those who have succumbed to temptation.

You are now in possession of diplomas, but I earnestly beseech you not to imagine that your education is finished, though the parchment which you now hold in your hands may serve your purpose, you must remember that it is insufficient to justify the moral wrong and professional cruelty, more or less frequently occurring throughout the country.

A diploma without knowledge is a curse to its possessor, and a powerful instrument of destruction to the community. With knowledge too must be conjoined a refined morality based upon the christian principle, "Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you." I trust I may be pardoned for the plain and emphatic manner in which I speak on this important question; but I feel that I have a sacred duty to discharge to you, and also to those who will look to you for counsel and aid in the time of their anguish.

There lies before each one of you a work which will demand all the skill and wisdom you can acquire, all the courage and charity with which the lessons of the past can inspire you.

You will often need to compose prescriptions more subtle than those you send to the apothecary; to minister to minds diseased! speak the last counsel to ears already dull.

So metimes it will fall to you to gather up and weave together the ties of family, by passion or the treacherous hand of slander torn assunder, and often at the bedside of the dying to bind up the wounds of the living.

Within the sacred realm of sorrow you will be what they were in the olden time—physician, lawyer, and priest.

And now gentlemen, at the threshold of your career we all salute you with the wish and the hope that you may prove equal to its great demands.

If you will work diligently, perseveringly, and conscientiously, you may be certain of ultimately acquiring—if not the purse of Fortunatus, at least a competence. But above all, you will experience that happiness which Princes may envy, but which they cannot bestow, the gratification of knowing that, in however humble a degree, you are the honored instrument of God, who healeth all our diseases.

Local.

The catalogues of 1880—1881, are now ready. The Departments of the University are as follows, according to the catalogue:

1. A College of Liberal Arts; 2. College of Medicine; 3. Woman's College; 4. Conservatory of Music; 5. University Academy; 6. Correlated Schools, which are Umpqua Academy, La Creole Academy, Sheridan Academy.

There are twenty six professors and instructors in the University proper, and sixteen in the Academies, making a total of forty-two teachers. Three hundred and two students have attended the University during this year, and four hundred and seven the Academies making a total of seven hundred and nine. The Conservatory of Music and Art School are among the prominent features of the Women's College. Miss Laura M. Adams and Miss Nettie Piper, both graduates of Fort Wayne Conservatory in Indiana, will take charge of the former department, while Miss Harriet S. Curtis of Syracuse, N. Y., a graduate of the Art School of Syracuse University, will assume control of the latter. Enough teaching force is now secured, so that Prof. Arnold can devote all his time to the Business Department.

The courses of study are, Classical, Latin and Scientific, Modern Literature and Art, Teacher's course, and Business Course.

Send for Catalogues.

The President of Alka, the god-like Dan, has changed the object of his affections but still keeps within the medical profession.

Whitney, the eloquent young orator of the State University Alumni Association has become the rival of our Daniel, in gaining the smiles of the sweet singer of the third year class.

Percival is now on the belligerent list, breathing out threats of vengeance against Whit., the supplanter.

Best bargains in Oregon, in the way of Hats, can be made at Woods', 143 First St., Portland.

Woods the Hatter, 143 First St., Portland, sells nothing but first class goods, at reasonable prices.

All the elegant styles of Hats, at Woods, 143 First St., Portland.

Mr. H. D. Boon, our popular stationer and music dealer, has just received direct from the manufacturers a large invoice of the celebrated Mason and Hamlin Organ. These superb instruments will be sold at catalogue prices.

Orders for Hats will be satisfactorily filled by Woods the Hatter, 143 First St., Portland.

Woods, 143 First St., is the popular Hatter of Portland.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the firm of Messrs. Aiken and Farnham, Clothiers and Dry Goods Merchants of this city. These enterprising gentlemen by their energy and rigid adherence to their system viz: a strictly cash business, a system at once beneficial to merchants and customer, have been enabled to enlarge their store from a room 20x50 ft. until now they occupy the two large stores south of the Post Office, and have conferred a great benefit upon the people of Salem, and surrounding country, in reducing the price of goods in their line. Any patronage shown this firm, will be in the interest of the true principles of trade, enabling the buyer to receive the most goods for his money, and the dealer realizing a more reliable and satisfactory per cent on his capital.

Oregon can boast of three Universities, aside from our own. The State University at Eugene City, under the Presidency of Prof. Johnson A. M., whom we have never had the pleasure of meeting, but who has the reputation of a gentleman of broad culture. The Pacific University under the direction of President Herrick, D. D., a man lately from the East, bringing with him experience and ripe scholarship. Blue Mountain University: President G. E. Ackerman, A. B. S. T. B., has charge of this institution. He is yet a young man, but of brilliant talents and no doubt a prosperous future is before him.

Doctor Herrick in his inaugural address advocates an un denominational christian school in this state which will do the work of education that cannot be done by the state school, nor by the weak denominational school. He thinks the school at Forest Grove ought to be that school so central and powerful that it should rise above all other colleges in the State. Such a thing might be done if all the churches would see fit to combine for that end, but not by one or two denominations.

'80. Mr. Wm. Stump was visiting relatives and friends in the city on the 11th inst.

Rev. D. G. Strong has a strong article under the caption of the Open Letter in a recent issue of the P. C. Advocate, in which he takes the ground that he Methodists should not attempt the maintenance of but one University on this Northwest coast. No doubt it would be better for the church and for Christian education, could this plan be pursued, and then make one first class University.

We wish all those skeptical persons, who doubt the practical value of a college education could have seen the Freshman class sewing the office carpet during the past week. Bright eyed, beautiful young ladies, whose delicate hands would doubtless never have been trained to such rough and fatiguing exercise had they not entered college, seemed to ply the needle with as much skill and merriment as would a jolly old sailor while making a sail for his favorite vessel. Indeed we noticed two fine looking gentlemen standing near and making vigorous and oft repeated attempts to thread their needles in order that they might join in the delightful employment. If young ladies in their Freshman year have learned so much that is practical about housekeeping, what may we not hope for them by the time they are grave and reverend seniors? Is it venturing too much to assert that they will so thoroughly have mastered the entire science of housekeeping that no sensible, cultured, practical man will for a moment hesitate whom to choose, when seeking for one who is to make his home a paradise? And if young gentlemen get so far as threading needles while Freshmen, may we not infer that they will be able to put down carpets, put up stoves, split kindlings, etc., by the time they get their sheepskins? But all this is as it should be; for who so competent to make tightly binding and long enduring stitches, as those who have unraveled the long, intricate and difficult sentences of ancient and modern languages and, so to speak, have stitched English words into foreign phrases and sentences? But the best of all is, the office has been improved in appearance, and we hope that the class, so sewed the carpet that it may not only last for many a long year; but also, by stitches of friendship so strengthened the pleasant bands already formed, that they may outlast all the wear and tear of time.—S. A. W.

“History not only tells us of Countrys but describes the founders, discoverors and settlers, called the history of discovery's and settlesation” wrote a prep. in one of his exercises.

“Two daily papers are published every week in Salem,” writes our brilliant representative from B. C.

The first years have the champion spellers, as proof, take this from a single examination paper: Strate, treet, thare, whel, brest, buerst, exaust, cinds, equilibrium, slugar and symple.

Obituary on a moustache:

“We shall look, but we shall miss it,
There will be no downy hair;
We shall linger to caress it,

A young fellow once offered to kiss a Quakeress. “Friend,” quoth she, “thee must not do it.” “Oh, but by Jove, I must,” said the youth. “Well, friend, as thee hast sworn, thee may do it, but thee must not make a practice of it.”

You are respectfully invited to call at once at Aiken & Farnham's and see the new Spring Goods, beautiful Dress Goods and Trimmings, handsome Hosiery, Ribbons, Ruching, Laces, Cords, Tassels, Embroidery, every thing to fascinate the eye of the Ladies.

The study of economy is most essential to financial success. Without it you cannot expect to accumulate any great amount of money. You cannot expect to step forward among the ranks of wealthy men in one year. It requires many years of close economy. As economy is the stepping stone to wealth, why not practice it in your youth? Do not buy except what is strictly necessary for your comfort, and what you do buy patronize the house that is working for the interest of the community; a house that is selling goods at the smallest advance; a house that you can rely upon, where you can save from twenty-five to forty per cent.

A Country Home.

Five miles through groves and prairie, among the cultivated fields of farm land, in a southeasterly course from the little village of Turner is a country home. Before arriving at this place, one enters a dark wood and then suddenly comes out into an opening. To the right, stretching over many broad acres, lies the pasture land, on which leisurly graze the flocks. Beyond this, southward, is a broad field of Oregon's great product, wheat. Something more than land and grain and flocks belong to this villa. The home, large and elegant, is built of beautiful red brick. Here are the lawn, garden, granary and barn and everything to characterize a home of comfort and plenty. Here for more than twenty years have lived a family of more than ordinary enterprize and purpose of life. Settling in a new community they felt the need of special efforts to educate the family of children, five of whom are already numbered among the Alumni of the Willamette University. The rest are looking forward to the same honors.

College World.

Of 132 students in the College of Liberal Arts, who have been consulted, 93 are church members. Of these 61 belong to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the remaining 35 are distributed among Congregationalists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Episcopalians, Roman Catholics, Israelites, Lutherans, Universalists, and Unitarians.

Among the professions in view, 19 are preparing for the ministry, 22 for the law, 8 (besides those in the medical college) for medicine, 17 for teaching, 5 for civil engineering, and 8 for commercial business.—Lawrentian.

The Yale News proposes to circulate the following agreement among the students: "We the undersigned, students at Yale College, do hereby agree, in the interests of ourselves and of the various college publications, to confine our patronage, in so far as we possibly can, to such business firms as advertise in the college publications." The students of Washington Jefferson College have already entered into a similar agreement.

It is a long established custom at Williams for the seniors to recite the Westminster catechism once a week.—Ex.

The University of Minnesota is to have another rival in the same city. It is intended for young men only, is called Macalester College, and is under the auspices of the Presbyterians.—Ex.

It is proposed by nine New England Colleges,—Harvard, Yale, Brown, Amherst, Williams, Trinity, Boston University, and Dartmouth to modify their methods of examination, so that they will have a uniform examination on the same day at the colleges.—Tripod.

According to a recent canvass the religious sentiment of Harvard students is divided as follows:—Total, College and Law School, 972. Episcopalians, 275; Unitarians, 214; Orthodox Congregational, 173; Non-Sectarians, 97; Baptists, 42; Roman Catholics, 33; Presbyterians, 27; Agnostics, 26; Swedenborgians, 20; Universalists, 18; Methodists, 16; Hebrews, 10; Atheists, 7; Christians 2; Quakers, 2; Dutch Reformed, 2; Chinese, 1; Lutheran, 1; not seen 6.—Suggestive.

The Baptist Beacon says:

We are glad to hear that the trustees of McMinnville College are energetically at work completing their plans for the construction of the new College Building. We are informed that the contract has been let for burning the brick, and that they are at work at this already. They have secured twenty acres in the N. E. part of McMinnville which will make a beautiful College Campus. We understand that there is some $3000, yet to be subscribed before the 20 000, subscription is reached. Plans are being formed and put in execution for the securing of this money to complete the subscription and make it available. We are glad that among the Managers there are such business men as W. C. Johnson, Henry Warren, J. E. Magers, J. N. Dolph. J. C. Baker and others, and that among the Baptists there are so many earnestly working for the advancement of not alone education, but christian education as well. The Baptists of Oregon will some day boast of as fine an Institution of learning as is upon this Coast; it is only a question of time. Dea. Kinney has gone from our ranks, and is missed sadly in the educational as well as other work, but God lives, and he will see to it his work will not suffer.

The following is taken from the Advocate, published at Cincinnati:—Rev. S. Beck writes from Frankfort, Ind., May 26th: "Rev. E. A. Andrew, of Colfax North-west Indiana Conference, has been elected professor of higher mathematics in Willamette University, Oregon, and his wife professor of English literature and dean of the Woman's College. I have employed Rev. J. M. Stallard, of Lafayette, to take the work the remainder of the year. The quarterly conference passed highly complimentary resolutions with regard to brother Andrew's services and his leaving. This is the third year on this charge, and his labors have been faithful and efficient. He is a graduate of Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind. Brother and sister Andrew will start for their new field of labor early in June. They have the kind wishes and prayers of many friends."

P. C. Advocate: BISHOP HAVEN.—A note from Bishop Haven, dated June 2nd, says he will start for Oregon on the stamer Columbia, June 14th, and stop a day or two at Astoria, and be at Salem by the evening of June 24th, to lecture. After that he has no positive engagements except the Conference. He expects to be at the commencement of Willamette University.

Every Family ought to have a Religious Newspaper

Pacific Christian Advocate for 1881.

REV. H. K. HINES, EDITOR.

The 26th year of its publication. It will be greatly improved during the coming year. There will be a general news department, one of General Religious Intelligence, also one for Home and Farm, a selected Miscellany, one for the Religious Life, and also one for our Little People, a series of Historical Articles relating to early Oregon life, by the Editor and able correspondents; with a wide range of editorial and contributed articles, and a thorough digest of Local and Coast News.

The extent and character of the circulation of the PACIFIC CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE (which has increased 50 per cent., the past 6 months) render it an advantageous medium for advertising. A limited number of suitable advertisements will be inserted.

The subscription price will be TWO DOLLARS AND SIXTY CENTS a year, in advance. In remitting money for subscriptions, send amount in Check, Draft, Postoffice Money Order, or, if in bills, in a Registered Letter.

For further particulars, advertising rates, or specimen copies, address

W. C. Advocate.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Northwestern University at Evanston, held on the 26th ult., ex-Governor John Evans, the president of the board, after discussing the work of the University, said he would contribute $25,000 of the first $100,000, and $25,000 of the second $100,000, the trustees to raise the remainder, towards paying off the indebtedness of the institution, amounting in all to $200,000. The trustees profess to be able to raise the $150,000 required.

PREX.—"How would you define beaver?" Mr. T—"A beaver is an organ of hearing." PREX.—"No, it is a dam builder." Mr.—"What kind of builder did you say?" —Ex.

An Actual Occurrence:—Scientific Professor treating of the horse tribe, "Mr. S., being in a delicate situation, turns to a fourth degree of redness, but starts off. "There's the Shetland, the Scrub, the Circus, the Harpers, and the Sophomore pony. The first is the handsomest, the second the meanest, the third the most interesting, the fourth the most useful, and the fifth the wickedest." He got eleven on it.—Ariel.

Professor to student in natural history—"Mention six animals in the frigid zone. "Student eagerly—"Three polar bears and three seals."—Ex.

Prof.—Mr. M., "what is the answer to the second question?" Mr. M., (after waiting in vain to be prompted) "Nobody seems to know, Professor."—Mercury.

An old lady visiting the Antiquarian Museum in Edinburgh the other day, on inspecting the old weapons very earnestly, and failing to find what she was apparently looking for, asked a visitor, "whare they kept the axe of the Apostles."—Scholastic.
