

Hatfield to Run Again

Mark O. Hatfield, Willamette dean of students and political science professor, announced to the Collegian today his intention to file Monday as a candidate for re-election for the office of state representative from Marion County. Primary elections are in May, and the general in November.

Hatfield, during the 1951 session of legislature, served as vice-chairman of the Education committee, and was appointed to State and Federal Affairs and the Elections Committee.

His main achievements in legislature were aiding the passage of the colored oleo bill, and supporting the Holy Report, the Hoover Report, and Re-apportionment.

Hatfield returned to the campus as political science instructor in 1949, having earned his bachelor's degree here in 1943.

He came back to Willamette in 1946, after serving in the Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns as a navy lieutenant, and studied a year in the Willamette College of Law. He then enrolled at Stanford where he earned his master's degree, and completed residence for a doctorate.

Travis Cross, former Willamette director of information and now director of information for the State Board of Higher Education, will again work with Hatfield on his campaign. Hatfield has been active recently in the Oregon for Eisenhower campaign, placing the general's name on the Oregon ballot, and serving as executive secretary to the group.

He is now a member of the Masonic Lodge, American Legion, and the Salem Chamber of Commerce. He is serving on the board of directors of the Oregon Prison, vice-president of the Salem Community Concert Association, board of directors of the Public Service Forum, and chairman of the Marion County Citizens for the Hoover Report.

Hatfield will file with David O'Hara, chairman of the state elections division. Frank Doerfler is the only one who has filed thus far, others have indicated intentions to file.

Cries of "Dear Hearts and Gentle People of Marion County" will again ring throughout the campus and over the county, as Hatfield runs again.

Register and vote.

Run-off Elections End Today; Four Offices Filled in Primaries

Students have until 4 p.m. today to cast their ballots in the run-off elections for class officers, Lou Prediletio, election chairman, announced.

The following officers were chosen in an election Monday and Tuesday: Thelma Bennett, senior secretary-treasurer; Harold Silke, sophomore president; Betty Howat, sophomore secretary and Chuck Carter, freshman sergeant-at-arms. Primary totals were as follows:

Senior president: Doug Nicoll, 37; and Bill Bissell, 28. Junior president: John Ambler, 47; and George Porter, 43. Junior vice president: Barbara Baker, 52; and Byron Sittser, 35.

Junior secretary: Marlene Vincent, 55; and Joyce Foster, 43. Sophomore vice president: Bob Packood, 47; and Ken Cooper, 37. Sophomore treasurer, Jim Bergmann, 56; and Kent Myers, 38. Sophomore sergeant-at-arms: Layton Gilson, 53; and Richard Blakney, 44.

Freshman president: Marion Putman, 93; and Dave Wisnom, 56. Vice president: Keith Mirick, 78; and Charles Ruud, 69. Secretary: Ruth Joseph, 61; and Vivian Chance, 45. Treasurer: Diana Hobart, 89; and Pat Gentle, 57.

Pay Phones Out Next Week; PT&T Offers Compromise

Pay phones will be removed, and flat-rate business phones re-installed in fraternities and sororities for a period of from 60 to 90 days, according to Fred Scholl, district manager for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph.

Scholl approached Oregon State, U. of Oregon, and Willamette with an 11th hour plan of compromise in order to give the phone company more time to consider a course of action in the matter. The issue, dragging along since September, was brought almost to fever pitch on campuses with rumors that a formal complaint to the Public Utilities Commissioner was soon to be filed.

Pete Gunnar, Salem attorney for the OSC co-operative managers association telephone committee, was announced in the Daily Barometer to be ready to file immediately in the name of three Oregon State living organizations.

Several who heard the plan, thought it was stalling on the part of the telephone company to hold off a hearing until students were out of school in the spring. However, the PUC commissioner could not set a date for formal hearings until late in the summer, so the plan is advantageous at this time. Removal of the pay stations has been the main objective of the fight. The telephone company will consider a compromise plan, and will present it at a later date.

Scholl stated that this was only a "temporary" solution to the problem, and added "We are considering investigation to try and find a solution equitable to the telephone company and the students." Research on the situation will take at least 3 months.

Houses at Oregon State who were going to file formal complaints were Kappa Delta, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Alpha Gamma Delta. Heading the phone committee at Oregon State is Norm Goetze, '52; at U. of Oregon, Dick Kading, '52; and at Willamette, a committee of three chosen by the student council, Jim Garrett, Harley Hoppe, and Mary Louise Lee.

Scholl added that pay phones would be replaced by the end of next week.

Baritone William Warfield in Concert Wednesday

William Warfield will appear Wednesday, at 8 p.m., in the Salem high school auditorium. Story on page 3.

By Darrel deChaby

William Warfield, the young American baritone, who in record time has become a leading concert singer and an important screen personality was born in the quiet little town of West Helena, Arkansas, the oldest of five boys. At least I imagine that a town with the name West Helena must be quiet, or peaceful to say the least. William's father, Robert E. Warfield, now pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church in Rochester, New York, has had only three years of grade school but wanted better things for himself and his family. When William was three the entire family of seven souls moved from Arkansas to Rochester where the father began studying for the ministry.

William and his four brothers were members of the church choir. As a boy soprano, William had a coloratura's high C. He also had a few musical opinions, one of which was that he didn't like being a boy soprano. He developed a convenient laryngitis when he was in his early teens and didn't sing a note for six years. The next time he opened his mouth in song he was a full-fledged baritone with a voice whose gamut extended from deep in the bass register to a tenor's A.

During the period when he had six-year laryngitis, William began to study piano. His piano lessons came to an abrupt end, however, when his teacher assigned him a piece called "The Flatterer." This he considered third-rate music and, being already a musician of some discernment, refused to learn it. Fifteen years later he still had not mastered "The Flatterer" but had made a Town Hall debut that was called the sensation of the 1950 season.

Warfield's singing career may be said to have begun when, still a student in high school, he won the vocal competition of the Music Educator's National convention in St. Louis in 1938. The prize for the competition was a scholarship at any one of the leading music conservatories. Warfield chose the Eastman School of Music in his home town, Rochester.

When the war came he was within a few hours of finishing his undergraduate course at the University of Rochester. He was awarded his A.B. degree anyway while he was a GI at Camp Ritchie, Maryland in the G-2 division of Military Intelligence where he acted as a linguist, being proficient in French, Italian and German.

After the war while continuing his voice studies Warfield appeared in several stage productions as a singer and as an actor. Among these were "Call Me Mister," "Set My People Free," and "Regina." In constant demand as a church soloist he sang in Catholic and Protestant churches and the Jewish synagogue, having fluency in Latin and Hebrew as well as the romance languages.

In following the brief history of William Warfield's career it becomes apparent that his ambitions is to be heard by as many people as possible. He has explored every medium of expression possible for him including the concert stage, films, radio, recordings and television. And in tracing his activity of the last two years it becomes further apparent that he has satisfied audiences through these mediums without losing his stature as a concert artist.

Independent Town Students Hold Organizational Meeting

Monday, from 1 to 9 p.m., a kick-off meeting of the Willamette Independent Town Students will be held in Waller hall for the purpose of furthering the organization of the off-campus independent students under the new constitution which was submitted to the student council last Wednesday.

This meeting will be a vital step towards the formation of a unified independent group. All town students are urged to attend.

Chief speaker at the meeting will be Dean Hatfield, who will discuss the aims and benefits of such an organization. In the constitution submitted for the group, the object reads: "The object of this organization will be to strive to bring the independent town student into the campus life of Willamette and contribute in any way possible to the development of the college."

It is the aim of the originators of this move to work with the independent organizations on campus in forming the Independent Students of Willamette University and to affiliate with the National Independent Students Association of which Baxter hall is now a member.

Postcards are now being mailed to all independent town students urging their attendance Monday night. After adoption of the constitution that night, nominations will be opened for candidates to the elective offices.

The ground work has been laid for a permanent organization and with the cooperation of all available students, the meeting promises to be successful. Any information desired regarding the meeting may be obtained from Bob Stone at Baxter hall.

All Experts

The Collegian has been getting plenty of publicity from the Oregon Statesman recently. Remember last week when we were unhappy about being scooped on the Stackhouse resignation. Conrad Prange, Statesman columnist, wrote that we were mighty unhappy, should grow up to accept life's hard knocks, and should, above all, keep our noses to the story when rumors were about to break into actualities. Advice was well taken, and faults were admitted.

The next day, the Collegian staff could lift their heads again, for an editorial writer on the Statesman complimented us by calling the Collegian "one of the best college papers anywhere," and calling attention to our getting the Ogdahl story in last week's issue.

Quoting from the Statesman editorial, "The incident reminds us of an exchange between a newspaper and a wire service some years ago. The newspaper complained because the wire service was behind on a story so that an opposition newspaper had it first. The wire service responded: Lindberg makes a forced landing, Babe Ruth strikes out, and the United Press was late—all experts but none perfect."

Rayburn Wrong

This is a little off the beaten track of Willamette concerned editorials, but we're giving a little Freedom of the Press talk now. Press has come to mean, in recent years, not only newspapers, but radio and television.

Early this week, Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives, banned any television and radio broadcasts of House committee hearings. This ruling hit directly on scheduled TV and radio coverage of the Un-American activities committee.

Representatives announced it as "raw censorship," as did many newspapers and radio news commentators.

We agree. Why should visual aids not be used in showing the people of the United States just exactly what each representative and senator is doing?

The whole thing smells of dirty politics. If the people who represent us do so honestly, firm in their own convictions they should not mind being shown to their constituents. If they're pulling shady deals, worming information by falsely accusing those who are being investigated, then they deserve to be shown in a true light, and recognized as fakers by the people who have the right to vote.

Mr. Rayburn may have felt that the accused group or individual should be protected from public inspection, but it has been a long standing theory of democracy, that those who are innocent have nothing to fear (sometimes we wonder).

We believe that Washington, D. C., has been something too far away for the general public to understand for a good many years, and it is about time the people took an active voice and interest in their government.

A Misplaced Fifth

Matt Grive got all dressed up February 5, hurried out to Salem High, arrived promptly at 8 p.m.—and didn't see a soul. Consulting his ticket he saw that the concert was to take place at 8:30 so wasn't concerned until that hour arrived, still with no one in sight. Matt, a little worried by this time consulted his ticket again and realized that he was just a month ahead of the rest of Salem in his anxiety to hear William Warfield—March 5.

"THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY" presented on campus this week in conjunction with Religious Emphasis Week proved to be an admirable choice of drama as it explored the thing we loosely term anti-semitism and posed by suggestion several basic questions. Unlike the usual and often sentimental aspect of this particular brand of bigotry which we have seen in recent films such as "Cross-fire" and "Gentleman's Agreement" wherein the Jew was actively discriminated against, "Through a Glass Darkly" had the Jew Aaron Schaefer as the discriminator, the antagonist. The object of Schaefer's discrimination may be said to be Gentiles in general. We find discrimination defined as unfair or injurious distinction. This definition fits Aaron's attitude as depicted in the drama. This auditor found this discrimination of the supposed minority AGAINST the supposed majority ludicrous until the definition of minority as smaller number lead him to wonder if we are not all, individually in fact, members of a minority? In fact.

Are not college students a minority in comparison with the entire population of the discriminate members of a minority? Certainly it is not true as Aaron Schaefer supposed that all Gentiles are active anti-semites! Why should the Jones-Methodist-student combination find itself less discriminated against than the Schaefer-Jew-shopkeeper combination? If we can accept the premise that the former combination is as much a minority as the latter the question seems to resolve itself to this: The former bears no apparent physical distinction while the latter does. We have in San Francisco an example of a family which is discriminated against because its skin is yellow, because it is obviously Oriental. The Jew who does not resemble a rather stupid prototype (there are Oriental Jews and Negro Jews) find himself absolved from discrimination as a Jew. The Negro who can "pass," for example, as an Italian, is absolved from discrimination as a Negro. Overt discrimination then seems to take impetus from physical dis-

"Through a Glass Darkly" by its representation pointed up to me what I accept as the fact that we are a world of minorities, the only difference being that some are more readily distinguishable than others. We are all members of the same species. The sooner we realize this the sooner we will be able to devote our collective energy to preserving same.

Little Man on Campus

Remember Logue, one more foul on you an yer out!"

D. S. from D. C.

By Don Scarborough

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—I have been accused by the editor of reporting too much on women in Washington. The reason is that when you find a town with seven women for every man and yet you can't find the women—well, there is some news value, especially to men. Of course we 19 Washington Semester men aren't interested in the women ourselves because, as you know, college men are too busy studying. We're compiling what black books we can for the benefit of classmates who might come to Washington on a vacation.

I believe Washington is one of, if not the, cultural center of the United States. I wish I could take advantage of it. There are weekly concerts by the Army, Navy and Marines bands (free) and countless recital and concerts by the National Symphony Orchestra, the Philadelphia Symphony and touring artists such as Fred Waring (90 cent student ticket). Jascha Heifetz appeared with the National Symphony last night. Unfortunately I have had classes every night.

I did manage to see all the art galleries and exhibits in Washington and I believe Willamette should send art and music student as well as social science majors to Washington. There certainly is something to appeal to everyone. Incidentally, Billy Graham has been here for almost a month and I have managed to miss him every night.

Bob Ulrich and I attended an Oregon Birthday convention recently and came home with enough food to keep us supplied for several days. We brought back two jars of maraschino cherries, gladiola bulbs, a small sack of pears and samples of some kind of molding cheese—all products of Oregon. Bob also won five pounds of filberts and I, a souvenir Oregon plate as door prizes.

I have one complaint about Washington. If you haven't been here at least a year it's hard to get more than a vague idea of what is happening on Capitol Hill. I had ideas of following committee hearings, sessions of congress, etc., and if not reporting them, at least forming a picture of the workings of government in my mind.

Someone has said the Russians would never drop a bomb on Washington and destroy all this confusion, but it isn't that bad.

I did make one effort to see Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, the only man in Washington who believes in economy. I went to his office with a constituent but he was not in. His secretary showed us his office and I believe I am one of the first Willamette students ever to trip over the cuspidor in a Senator's office.

I celebrated Lincoln's birthday by walking down the Washington Monument. (For your constitution's sake use the elevator going up) and so for Washington's birthday I am going to New York City where I will probably visit Grant's Tomb. Six of us are making a four-day visit and plan to limit the sightseeing to $31 (not including free window shopping etc.) If we manage it for $31 we are going to write a magazine article similar to the one appearing in Fortune that tells how to see NYC for $50.

Several of us tried unsuccessfully to attend the recent memorial service for King George. The cathedral was full several hours early so we waited outside and watched the arrival of the dignitaries, including Pres. Truman, his family, and two cars of secret service men.

Bouquet

Dear Editor:

I wish to offer a hearty thank-you to the committee which organized and carried through the plans of Religious Emphasis week. I think that most students will join me in saying that this is the best Religious Emphasis week that Willamette has experienced for quite a while.

To me Religious Emphasis week should be more than an extra chapel and a play. It should be a time when students, churchgoers and non-churchgoers alike, pull out some of their basic beliefs from the mothballs, where they so often reside, and hold them up to the light of intelligent examination.

This process was at work this week in chapels, discussions, panels and firesides. Although many will return their religious ideas or confusions to the mothballs, some have experienced growth and untangled some of the knots of college confusion.

Speech Tourney Starts Today

The Willamette university annual inter-scholastic forensic tournament will be held on the Willamette campus today. The program will get under way with an address of welcome by Dr. G. Herbert Smith to the participants and will be carried on under the direction of Dr. Howard Runkel head of the speech department, and his student committee consisting of Tom Scheidel, Marjorie Aldinger, Caroline Matter, and Elliott Motchenbacher.

This tournament is presented by the Willamette Forensic Assn. annually to promote interest around the state among the high schools, and to bring students who wish to continue their debate and speech work in college to Willamette. There have been 29 high schools from central and western Oregon invited to attend, but only approximately 15 are expected to appear. 200 participants are expected.

The tournament will begin at 12:30 p.m. today and will recess at 9:30 p. m. Contests will resume at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow and the tournament will wind up late tomorrow afternoon. Contests featured will be:

Oratory (any subject).
Senior and Junior debate on Extemporaneous price and wage control.

Impromptu (dealing with the Far East).

Humorous Interpretation (any subject).

Serious Interpretation (any subject).

The Willamette Forensic Association which sponsors the tournament will charge a small fee for each entry which will be used to purchase individual trophies for all contestants who place 1st and a sweepstakes trophy to be presented to the school with the largest number of accumulative points. This trophy went to Eugene last year. The trophies will be presented by Dr. Runkel about mid-afternoon on Saturday May 1, thus ending the tournament.

Judging of the preliminaries will be done by Willamette students who have had one complete semester, and in many cases 2 semesters or more, in the debate or speech departments. The finals will be judged by the Willamette faculty members or graduates that have been interested in debate or speech. Use of high school coaches as judges will be avoided if possible for obvious reasons. Any one who has had experience in judging events of this type before or who has had one semester of debate or speech and would like to offer their services for judging preliminaries, see Dr. Runkel or some member of the student committee.

Contests are to be held in all classroom buildings on campus and in the Presbyterian church. The public is invited to attend any of the contests.

Appointment, Promotions, Leave off Absence Approved in Board of Trustees Annual Meet

A new coach was hired, a new member to the board of directors appointed, several faculty members given a raise in teaching status, and Harold Jory, registrar, was granted a three months leave of absence as some results of the annual spring meeting of the board of trustees held last Thursday in Portland.

Foremost on the list is the hiring of Ted Ogdahl as the new football and track coach starting next fall, following the resignation of Chester R. Stackhouse from those positions. Ogdahl, a former Little All-American in football at Willamette, has had the honor of never having been on a losing team, as a player or coach. Besides being on four consecutive championship teams at Willamette, his Grant high school teams never lost a title with Ogdahl at the helm. Ogdahl comes also well recommended as a cinder coach.

John Lewis, besides his regular duties as head basketball and baseball coach, has been elevated to athletic director, the other post left open by the resignation of Stackhouse. The board also gave Lewis the title of assistant professor, a step up from his former status of instructor.

Four other professors were raised from assistant professors to associate professors as a result of the meeting. Three Law school professors, Edwin Butler, John C. Paulus, and Charles Jens were boosted to associates while Charles Derthick of the psychology department was given the same raise.

Registrar Harold B. Jory was granted a three-month leave of absence by the board in order for him to complete commitments towards teaching in the state of Washington. Starting March 1 and extending to June 1, Jory will act as deputy superintendent of the Clark County schools in Washington. He will head a county-wide testing program and do general administration and advisory work for the Clark County schools. The present staff will carry on in absence of Jory.

George L. Koehn, prominent Portland businessman and civic leader, was appointed to the board of directors by the board. Koehn, a possessor of a Ph.D., formerly taught in Lincoln high school in Portland and Reed college.

In business, Koehn is president of the Stenno Ribbon and Carbon Manufacturing company of Portland, vice president of Benjamin Franklin Savings and Loan Association, and president of International Products corporation. As an active civic leader, the new trustee member has been Deputy Commander and a National Executive committeeman in the American Legion. Also, Koehn is past prime minister of the Royal Rotarians and past president of the Portland Rose society.

John Lewis

Johnny Lewis Gets Vacated Athletic Post

John Lewis, for the past five years head basketball and baseball coach at Willamette, has been named by the board of trustees to the position of Director of Athletics in place of Chester R. Stackhouse. Lewis will continue as basketball and baseball coach. He will assume the athletic directorship next fall as Stackhouse will stay on through the end of the spring semester.

As a coach at Willamette, Lewis has compiled an impressive record in his five years here. His chief accomplishment has been in basketball where his teams have finished first four times in his five years at the helm. They placed second in Lewis' first season at Willamette. Two of the championships, those of 1950 and the past season have been solely Willamette's while they shared the titles of 1949 and 1951. His baseball teams have not been as impressive, but managed to gain a tie for the title in 1950. Lewis has also acted as backfield coach in football.

As an athlete, the new director has been a standout. He was a star in his high school days in Seattle, was varsity basketball and baseball captain in his senior year at the University of Oregon, and played professional baseball for Wenatchee in the Western International League. Before coming to Willamette, Lewis was a highly successful coach at Grant high school in Portland.

William Warfield to Appear As Last Distinguished Artist

William Warfield, baritone, will appear in the Salem High School auditorium next Wednesday, March 5, at 8:30 p.m. His concert will be the last of the Willamette Distinguished Artist series which thus far this year has brought Bidu Sayao, Yehudi Menuhin and Solomon.

Phil Ringle, concert manager, reports that all student tickets for the concert have been sold leaving tickets in the $2.40 and $3.00 price ranges, with the latter being reserved. He stressed that this concert must be supported in order that the series may erase the deficit it has incurred and bring another fine group of artists to Salem next year under the auspices of the Willamette University student body.

Warfield, whose voice has been called "The Greatest of the Decade" by Australian Musical News, will bring to his Salem audience a varied program ranging from Handel and Bach arias, songs of Hugo Wolf, Dellbes, and Debussy, opera arias and spirituals to arrangements by Aaron Copland of old American songs. His accompanist will be Otto Herz.

Plans have been completed for the reception to be held for the artist in the Baxter Lounge following his concert. An invitation is extended to the student body and faculty to meet the artist. Refreshments will be served and members of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity, will act as hostesses.

Bartlett to Appear On Godfrey Show

Tom Bartlett, who attended Willamette in 1947 and 1948 before transferring to Stanford University will appear on the Arthur Godfrey television show on March 19. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bartlett of Salem received word that Tom will fly to New York from Oxford, England, where he is studying political science and philosophy, to appear on television.

Last August he appeared on the show and acted as master of ceremonies for his portion of the program where he interviewed students from different countries who were assistants in the Secretariat Department of the United Nations. They told of their impressions of the workings of the Assembly. Tom worked in the Secretariat Department radio room at the assembly before leaving for Oxford last October. He graduated from Stanford University in 1951. While attending Willamette he was president of the freshman class, active in forensics and a member of Beta Theta Pi.

Campus Chatter

Campus Chatter, under the direction of Patsy Older and Bill Van Horn, will present a short history of Freshman Glee this coming Monday night at 10:15 over station KOCO.

Dr. C. F. Henry Speaks Today

Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, professor of theology and Christian Philosophy at Fuller Theological seminary in Pasadena, California has been on the Willamette campus this week. He will speak to the student body at 4 p.m. in the Music Hall Auditorium on "The Reversal in Modern Thought."

Throughout this week he has spoken on the radio, at ministerial seminars, fireside discussions, and has had many student interviews. He said, "I have noticed the friendliness of Willamette students and an increasing interest in ultimate spiritual and moral concerns which is a promising sign for the American university campus but at the same time the same spiritual indefiniteness and uncertainty which characterizes American colleges rather generally." He added "Either God is the supreme pivot of life or he is nothing—and W. U. students, like the majority of college students today, try to make God something less than prominent."

Prior to his professorship at Fuller Theological seminary, Dr. Henry received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Wheaton college, his B.D. and Th.D. degrees from Northern Baptist seminary and his Ph.D. from Boston University.

Distinguished both as a student and a teacher, Dr. Henry has written several books which are now available in the library. The Drift of Western Thought, Remaking the Modern Mind and The Protestant Dilemma are among those on display.

'Cats Await NAIB Go; Pacific on Tap Tonight

By Don Empey

Coach John Lewis' Northwest conference champions will be going for high stakes come Monday night when Willamette joins three other top small college quintets in the district two NAIB playoffs at Portland's Pacific International pavilion.

The other three teams, Lewis and Clark, Portland University, and Oregon College of Education along with Willamette were voted the four best teams in the district and therefore receive the right to meet and determine a winner to represent Oregon in the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament to be held in Kansas City.

The 'Cats will wind up their conference schedule when they take on Pacific Friday night on the Badgers home floor. Win, loose, or draw, the Jasons still will be the champs.

Badgers In Third

The Badger's, who are now resting in third place with five wins and nine losses will be out to upset the Bearcats. Willamette on the other hand is sporting a 13-1 win-loss record, and a win tonight would give them one of the best finishes the league has seen in a long time.

Harvey Roloff's crew have just returned from their Northern tour where they dropped all three games, two to the College of Idaho, and one to Whitman. One of the Badgers biggest threats is six foot five Dick Young, a regular for the past three seasons. The big center along with forward George Fosques carry most of the offensive load. Game time is set for 8 p.m.

Oregon College of Education will be Willamette's first night opponent in the NAIB tourney. Tipoff time is set for 7:30 p.m. The Portland Pilots meet Lewis and Clark in the nightcap. The Monday night winners will clash in the championship tilt at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night. A consolation game will precede the main event as the first night losers play in another 7:30 p.m. game. Pilots Favored

Again the Pilots, who have won the playoffs for the past three years, appear to be the team to beat. The Pilots downed Willamette earlier in the season. They also hold wins over both Oregon State and Oregon. Portland's latest feat was a double win over potent Seattle university.

Lewis and Clark, who split their series with the Pilots, finished second to Willamette in the Northwest Conference race. OCE the fourth entry in the tourney, was named on its strength in the Oregon Collegiate conference. They beat Southern Oregon three out of five times and took two wins from Pacific earlier in the season. The Wolves finished behind Vanport college in league play, but the Portland school is not eligible for NAIB play since it is only a two year college.

Golf Meeting

Coach Sam Vokes urges that all golf aspirants for this season's golf team attend a meeting which will be held in the gymnasium next Monday afternoon, March 3, at 1:30 p.m.

Golf practice will start immediately and the season will end when the squad travels to Whitman May 16, to enter in the conference tournament.

Bearcats Win Title With No Outside Help

Our congratulations to Willamette's 1952 Northwest Conference basketball champions, and to their coach John Lewis. Genial John has had some great years as basketball mentor at Willamette, including four consecutive championships, but this year has been his greatest—and its not over yet with the final conference tilt at Pacific tonight and the NAIB tournament in Portland Monday and Tuesday. In commenting on the title winners, Lewis lauded his team on the fact that no one helped them win the title; they did it all themselves by beating hard-pressing Lewis and Clark in all three meetings with the Pioneers. The pressure was on the Bearcats almost all the way, but they faced up to it well, finally overcoming it. It was a great example of clutch playing.

With the conference championship all wrapped up once more, Lewis and his high scoring cagers once more head for Portland and the NAIB tournament where the apprehension now lies. The big question is, of course, can the Bearcats beat Portland? Those pesky Pilots of Mush Torson always seem to be in the way of a possible trip to Kansas City where the national small college finals are held. All we can say is that if the 'Cats can do it, this is their year.

Possibility Strong

Portland is tough, plenty tough, but Willamette came within a hair of spilling them last year in the NAIB. Judging from the way they have met clutch situations so far this season, their ability to hit the hoop with phenomenal accuracy, and because of their blistering fast break, the Bearcats could come out on the long end of the score. That's assuming of course, that they will play the Pilots.

We were pleased to receive a congratulatory letter from Coach Stackhouse this week after our attempt to do justice to the man that has really, in our opinion, been misjudged by many. As a kind of supplement to last week's column, here is what Stack has to say:

"I have been somewhat disturbed through the events of the past few weeks, as to how I could convey to the young men on this campus, my sense of allegiance to them. I desire that every young man at Willamette who I have had the privilege of knowing, be assured that I have great confidence in him and I want to urge everyone to make the most of his academic and athletic experiences at the University." 'Nuff said? We hope so. Stack's great concern for individuals should be evident from this.

Rifle Squad Awaits Official Results in Matches

Willamette's AROTC rifle team competed in two matches recently, and are now awaiting word from official scorers to determine how they compared with other rifle teams entered in the matches.

During the week of February 10 to 17 the team fired in the fourth area competitive match. During the week of February 17 to 24 the team fired an invitational postal match with Ohio Wesleyan University of Delaware, Ohio.

Targets for both matches have been sent to official scorers and the team is now waiting to see how they fared with their competition.

Norm Battagila was high scorer for Willamette in both matches with 705 out of a possible 800 in the fourth area competitive and 354 out of a possible 400 in the invitational postal. William Mosier was just a point behind Battagila in the invitational with 353.

Other Willamette riflemen firing in the fourth area match were Mosier, 682; Bob Whitaker, 673; Don Hayes, 654; Ted Smith, 654; Terry Wheeler, 647; Bob Carlson, 635; F. Stephens, 626; Bud Lafkey, 622; William McKinney, 617; Terry Showalter, 597; and Ivan Wells, 580.

Others in the invitational were Whitaker, 341; McKinney, 331; Smith, 329; Wheeler, 328; Carlson, 322; Hayes, 321; Lafkey, 311; and Stephens, 311.

College Men!
CHOOSE A CAREER
in the U.S. Air Force

Aviation Cadet Program Offers Special Opportunities for Collegians Now Preparing for Military Service

Here is a real man-size opportunity! You can choose—immediately—between being a Pilot or Aircraft Observer in America's swiftly-expanding Air Force. The Air Force encourages candidates to stay in school and graduate. However, seniors and students with two years or more of college who anticipate early entrance into military service can insure their future and serve their country best by applying for Aviation Cadet Training today. You receive the finest training and experience when you fly with the U. S. Air Force—experience that pays off in later years.

WHO MAY APPLY

- AGE—Between 19 and 26½ years.
- EDUCATION—At least two years of college.
- MARITAL STATUS—Single.
- PHYSICAL CONDITION—Good, especially eyes, ears, heart, and teeth.

HOW TO QUALIFY

1. Take transcript of college credits and copy of birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station.

2. Appear for physical examination at your nearest Air Base at Government expense.

3. Accomplish Flying Aptitude Tests and enlist for two years only!

4. The Selective Service Act awards you a four-month deferment while awaiting class assignment.

5. Immediate assignment to Aviation Cadet Training Classes starting May 27, July 19, August 19 and October 2, 1952.

6. Attend Aviation Cadet Training School for one year—either as Pilot or Aircraft Observer. Get $105 monthly plus food, housing, uniforms, and other benefits.

7. Graduate and win your wings! Commissioned as a second lieutenant, you begin earning $5,000 a year. In addition, you receive $250 uniform allowance and a 30-day leave with pay.

Ogdahl Lands Bearcat Coaching Job; John Lewis Named Athletic Director

Ted Ogdahl was named to replace Chester Stackhouse as football coach and John Lewis was appointed athletic director at the meeting of the board of trustees held in Portland Thursday, February 21. The vacancies were created when Stackhouse resigned his positions at Willamette Thursday, February 14.

Ogdahl comes to Willamette from Grant high of Portland where he coached two state champion football teams and one which placed second. Ogdahl's squad was edged out of the state honors when the game was decided on first downs because the game ended up with a 14-14 tie. His four-year record at Grant is 37 wins, three losses and three ties.

Ogdahl played football at Willamette from 1940 through 1942. He won conference honors all three years and was picked as a Little All-American in his senior year.

Lewis, who becomes athletic director, will still hold down his coaching chores in basketball, football and baseball. Lewis is head coach in both basketball and baseball and is backfield coach in football.

Lewis also came to Willamette from Grant high. He started coaching here in 1947. In his five years, his basketball teams have captured four conference championships and placed second in his first year at the helm.

New Mentor

Ted Ogdahl, who has coached two state championship football teams at Grant high, has been appointed head football coach at Willamette. Ogdahl played football at Willamette from 1940 through 1942. (Statesman's cut).

Frosh Hoopsters End Season Tonight; Linfield Snaps Willamette Win Streak

Willamette's Frosh hoopsters make their final appearance of the dying 1951-52 season when they travel to Forest Grove to encounter the Pacific Junior Varsity tonight.

The Bearcats, who cinched a tie for the mythical Northwest conference freshman hoop crown last Saturday night by downing Linfield, will go all out to capture undisputed rights to the crown.

Sam Vokes' charges are closing out one of the most successful seasons in the school's history and are clipping along at a torrid rate of 19 wins and two losses. The Bearkittens have dropped the young Badgers in two previous tussles.

Win Streak Broken

The Linfield Frosh snapped a ten game winning streak of the Bearkittens when the Wildcats defeated the Willamette squad 69-68 last Friday night on the home floor, but the Bearkittens came back the next night and walloped the Wildcats 81-67 on the loser's maple boards to cinch a tie for the league honors. The Bearkittens closed out the home season last Tuesday night when they whipped the Lebanon Warriors 77-43.

In the last home game of the year, the Bearkittens fattened the season's record as they dropped the invading Warriors 77-43. After getting off to an early lead, the Frosh coasted to win number 19. The Warriors were without the services of Johnny Stolsig who hooped 28 points against the Bearkittens earlier this year. Stolsig came down with the flu last week and wasn't fully recovered to make the trip. Dick Bertram and Larry Baggett rang up 17 and 11 points respectively to lead the Bearkittens.

Last Friday night, the Linfield Frosh staged a strong second half comeback and, after trailing 25 to 10 at halftime, caught up with the Bearkittens and sailed right past to pocket the 69-68 win. Larry Baggett, the leading scorer for the Frosh, copped scoring honors as he dropped 18 tallies through the hoop. Ken Havernick followed up the Cardinal and Gold cause by collecting 12 points.

The following night, the red-hot Bearkittens hit from all angles to avenge the defeat handed them the night before as they crushed the Linfield Frosh 81-67. The Bearkittens led all the way and held a 47-39 halftime lead. Baggett again captured high point honors as the big pivotman accounted for 19 points. Teammate Dave Gray was right behind Baggett with 18 counters.

'Cats Drop Linfield Twice To Cinch League Crown

By Hal Johnson

Four in a row. That's the record boasted by head hoop coach John Lewis and his Willamette cagers. The Crimson clad basketweavers from the campus of the Old Historic Temple rolled on to their fourth consecutive Northwest conference basketball championship last weekend by taking both ends of a two game series with Linfield, 93-76 Friday night in Salem and 91-72 Saturday night in McMinnville.

Friday night's game resembled a cross between a wrestling match and football game as the officials called 60 personal fouls and a pair of technical fouls, one on each squad.

Although the visiting Wildcats threatened to rally late in the third frame, the Willamette boys had things in control as they cinched a tie for the league crown.

'Cats Pull Away

Linfield played even with the Bearcats until the second quarter, when the winners jumped far into the lead. However, the turning point came about midway in the first period when the home team dumped in 11 counters while the McMinnville five scored two, to take a 22-11 lead at this point.

Doug Logue was high for Willamette, potting 22 points, but two harassed officials whistled Logue out of the game early in the fourth period. Bill Anderson, Linfield guard, was high scorer for the contest with 26 tallies.

In the title clincher, played in McMinnville on Saturday, the Willamette hoopsters again held the upper hand, playing fairly even with their co-title defenders up until the second period, then the champs pulled away and ruled supreme for the next 30 minutes. The game marked the finish of Linfield's season, a miserable one compared with their co-championship season last year with Willamette. They finished the season with a 5-10 won-lost record.

Ted Loder led the scoring for the evening with a total of 24 points, and was closely followed by Logue with 22. Anderson again was high for the losers with 19 points.

The Bearcats will wind up their fourth consecutive championship season with an anticlimactic game against Pacific in Forest Grove tonight, and will play in the NAIB tournament in Portland on March third and fourth.

Willamette Bearcats Pick Feuz, Fain, Servace, Robinson, Anderson for All-Opponent Honors

The Willamette Bearcats, Northwest conference champions, picked their all-opponent team yesterday afternoon.

Of the five berths only two were unanimous. They were guards Don Robinson of Whitman and Bill Anderson of Linfield. Ken Servas of Lewis and Clark missed an unanimous vote by two points. Dick Fain of Whitman and John Fuez of Lewis and Clark round out the first five.

The second string has two Lewis and Clark players, Ed Reid and Don Paulson. Ted McKee of Linfield, Bud Kight of Whitman and Frank Buckiewicz of Pacific are the remaining three on the second squad.

The closer vote was between Fuez and McKee with only five points separating the two big centers.

Robinson and Anderson were picked by all fourteen members of the Bearcat squad on strength of their scoring ability against Willamette. Anderson scored 48 points against the Bearcats last weekend as Willamette took their fourth straight conference championship. Robinson, with his long two-handed set shot, gave the Willamettes a real battle in their three meetings.

Fuez, Servas and Fain were strong backboard workers in games against Willamette and they carried their share of the offensive attack.

Of the first five, four members placed in the top ten scorers of the conference.

Intramural Volleyball Ends Play Tomorrow

Intramural volleyball play draws to a close tomorrow morning when the "C" leagues stages a twin bill. The All-Americans can take league honors by taking both of their games.

The SAE's captured the "A" league championship last Monday night as they dropped the runner-up Phi Delt's by scores of 15-13 and 15-13. The All-Americans had to settle with a tie in the "B" circuit with the Phi Delt's as the Sigs upset the AA's by scores of 15-11 and 15-13.

Tomorrow morning's action opens with the Sigs playing against the Law school and SAE's against Baxter. The Beta-AA and Phi Delt-Faculty clashes will start immediately after the openers. In the league closers, the Sigs meet the Faculty and the AA's face the SAE's. The Phi Delt-Baxter and Beta-Law school tilts are scheduled for 11 p.m.

A clean sweep by the All-Americans would give them undisputed possession of the "C" league championship, but a single loss will put the AA's in a first place tie with the Betas and Baxter.

Volleyball playoffs will be held between the three leagues. The time of the tournament and the numbers of teams which will be entered has not been decided by the intramural committee.

Women Create Corsages, Fete Men at AWS Dance

"Daffy Drag", the Leap Year dance sponsored by the Associated Women Students, will take place tomorrow evening from 9 o'clock until the last dance at 12 in Baxter hall.

In accordance with the Leap Year theme, women will take charge of the evening. Besides inviting the man of her choice to the dance, the woman will also present him with a "corsage" of her own creation. A prize will be given for the best corsage at the dance. Women will also call for their dates and escort them to Baxter hall for the dance.

Dress for the occasion is casual, flats and hose.

Decorations, planned by members of Pepecats and Cap and Gown under the direction of Janet deWeese and Shirley Dean, will follow the theme of the dance. Murals, college pennants and balloons all will help to create the atmosphere of a college "hangout." Refreshments of ice cream cones will be served by YWCA members at "Betty and Joe's Place."

Dancing will be to juke box records selected by Harriet Aller for Mu Phi Epsilon.

General chairman of the dance is Harriet Bennett. Dance programs have been ordered by La-

Vaughn Sleeper for Beta Alpha Gamma, and Jo Oliver and the Panhellenic council have secured tickets. Mary Campbell and Shirley Helweg are in charge of publicity. Dorrie McCulloch is head of the coordination committee of AWS which planned the dance.

Tickets may be purchased at the student body office or at the dance tomorrow evening. Price of admission is 75 cents a couple. Proceeds from the dance will be divided among the women's campus organizations, and the money will be allocated according to need.

Winners of the Betty Co-Ed and Joe College contest will be announced at intermission. Bidding will take place upon entrance to the dance when each woman will cast a vote for one of the nominees for Joe College, and each man will vote for a candidate for Betty Co-Ed.

Candidates were nominated last week by living organizations on the basis of personality, character and activities. Contestants for the title of Betty Co-Ed and Joe College are Betty Breakey, Joyce Frost, Bonnie Belle Stewart, Jane Pinkerton, Carolann Snarr, Carol Emerson, Dick Mase, Tom Schrock, Larry Smith, Wally Snyder, Jim Bergman, Dave Parton, and Mark Cotton.

Chaperons invited by Jane Notson for Alpha Lambda Delta are Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Sheets, Dr. and Mrs. R. I. Lovell, Dr. and Mrs. George Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lottick, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Schulze, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Rademaker, Mr. and Mrs. Murco Ringnald and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Beal.

Informal Parties Planned As Sorority Rush Begins

Note: Open houses, originally scheduled for Tuesday evening, were cancelled by the Panhellenic council at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Thursday parties with entertainment and refreshments will be held by each sorority. Beginning at 6:30, each party will last 45 minutes. Flats and hose, wool dresses, or skirts and blouses are the dress for the party.

Ruth Price Chi O Prexy

Ruth Price was named president of Chi Omega following annual elections at the chapter house Monday evening. Other officers to be installed are Margaret Conklin, vice president; Joanne Bunnell, secretary; Betty Mayfield, treasurer and Joan Byrne, chapter correspondent. Formal installation services will be held next week.

At that time the following appointed officers will assume their new duties: Panhellenic representative, Marilyn Hunter; social chairman, Thelma Klepp; rush chairman, Gerrylee Gilkey; house manager, Shirley Swoboda; song leader, Dodie Church and historian, Sharon Griswold.

Evening parties will again be held Friday night at each chapter house, lasting 45 minutes. Dress for the occasion is school clothes, flats and hose. There will be entertainment, and refreshments will be served.

Second preference dessert luncheons will take place Saturday from 1:30 to 2:30 at each chapter house. Heels and suits or afternoon dresses are acceptable at the luncheon.

From 5:15 until 7 o'clock on Saturday, the first preferential dinner will take place at each sorority. Dress for the occasion again will be heels and suits or afternoon dresses.

Following the formal bidding and the acceptance of their choice by the rushees, firesides will be held Saturday evening at each chapter house in honor of the new pledges.

Greeks Initiate Last Weekend

Eleven new members of Chi Omega were initiated last Saturday. The new members include Joan Byrne, Brookings; Dorothea Church, Lake Grove; Gerrylee Gilkey, Newport; Sharon Griswold, Newport; Marilyn Hunter, Spokane, Wash.; Ruth Joseph, Weiser, Idaho; Suzanne Lovely, Portland; Elizabeth Mayfield, Anchorage, Alaska; Patricia Palmer, Upland, California; Caryl Pietela, Portland, and Sheila Schuerman, Portland.

Initiation Held Sunday

Initiated into Pi Beta Phi at ceremonies held Sunday morning were ten freshman women. Following the initiation a formal banquet was held in honor of the new initiates.

Those now wearing the Pi Phi arrow are Bea Kauffman, Nancy Yant, Marthajane Stearns, Julie Mellor, and Barbara Jackson of Portland; Judi Wood and Eunice Peckenpaugh of Salem; Sally Stelling of Sacramento, Calif.; Jan Denney of San Mateo, Calif., and Adele Lampson of Prosser, Wash.

Sigs Initiate

Ten men were initiated into Sigma Chi, social fraternity, last weekend. Formal ceremonies were conducted Sunday morning at the chapter house.

New members are Burke Samuelson of Longview, Wash., Phil Draper of Portland, George Kell of Burlingame, Calif., Dick Lewis of Lebanon, Ron Wooten of Longview, Wash., Chuck Carter of Portland, Don Huff of Hermiston, Pat Taylor of Pilot Rock, Stan Steindorf of San Mateo, Calif., and Dr. Philmore Carter, Portland.

New Phi Delt Members

New members of Phi Delta Theta following formal initiation ceremonies Sunday are Keith Mirick of Medford, Bill Hagemeyer of San Carlos, Calif., and Del Githens of Salem.

'Fracas' Presented By Baxter

"Waterfront Fracas" is the theme of the Baxter hall dance to be presented tonight at the men's dormitory from 9 to 12 p.m.

Couples, dressed as characters one might find on a foggy, mysterious waterfront, will enter the dance on a "dock," and dancing will be on a "wharf," decorated by Ben Collier.

Refreshments of cider and pretzels, planned by Jim Wilcox, will be served in the "saloon," which will be equipped with all accessories included in the old-time bars.

Chaperons for the dance will be Dean Mark Hatfield, Dean Regina Ewalt, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Derthick, Dr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Beal and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Graunke.

Officers Nominated

Officers of the Associated Women Students for the coming year will be chosen following elections today. Candidates in addition to those named by the cabinet were nominated at an open meeting Tuesday.

Nancy Lumijarvi has been entered for president; Jane Gray and Harriet Bennett, vice president; Joyce Foster, second vice president; Sharon Griswold and LaVaughn Sleeper, treasurer; Carol Emerson and Diana Hobart, secretary; Harriet Aller, junior representative; Mary Campbell, Sallie Cheavens, and Lisbeth Shields, sophomore representative; Ruth Joseph, Barbara Sloan, Joyce Schmitz and Janet DeWeese, freshman representative. Only women students holding AWS cards will be eligible to vote.

Installation of the new officers will take place at an informal gathering Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Roy Lockenour. Faculty members Dean of Women Regina Ewalt, and former Dean of Women, Olive Dahl, will be special guests.

Future plans of the organization include the presentation of a scholarship this spring to a woman student now enrolled. Another project is the baby sitting service for administration and faculty. Chairman of this will be selected next week from the list of those who have signed through the Dean of Women's office as baby sitters.

Honoraries Tap New Members

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary for students with a 3.5 grade average, will initiate eight new members soon, president Betty Howat announced.

Those being initiated are Sharon Griswold of Newport, Barbara Jackson, Augusta Krause, and Frances Smith of Portland, Eunice Peckenpaugh and Judi Wood of Salem, and Jean Helgerson of Seattle, Wash.

New Phi Eta Members

Twelve freshman men made a grade point average of 3.5 or better to be eligible for Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, during the fall semester.

Those who will be initiated in the near future are Bill Barrows, Ray Conder, Lewis Hampton, Dale Harris, Bob McConville, and Jim Verdick of Salem, Don Gragg of Monroe, Fenton Hughes of Hillsboro, Bill Lasswell of Yoncalla, Dick Lewis of Lebanon, Chuck Ruud of Woodburn and Hal Hargreaves of Portland.

WU 'Marrying Professor'

By Margie Leonard

Dr. Daniel Schulze, one of the four "marrying professors" on the Willamette faculty, estimates that he has performed approximately 100 wedding ceremonies involving nearly 125 students since accepting a position here.

Dr. Schulze received his Bachelor of Divinity degree at Garrett Institute in 1928 and performed his first Willamette wedding in 1930, when he came to establish the religion department. With the retirement of the head of the German department in 1943, Dr. Schulze joined the language department in his present position as German professor.

Dr. Schulze's next wedding engagement will be April 2, when Jackie Johnson, senior psychology major, and Howard Mader, who graduated last year, will be married.

The majority of the ceremonies performed by Dr. Schulze in cities from Bend to Portland, have been church weddings, with several held in sorority and fraternity houses or the Schulze home. The peak year for weddings was 1946 with 11 ceremonies, while the month of August and early fall have proven his busiest season.

Among the couples he has united, Dr. Schulze recalls two ex-faculty members, an Oregon State college professor, several faculty children and one state policeman — who married his senior scholar. Only one in the 100 marriages has dissolved in divorce as far as Dr. Schulze knows, a far better average than the 1 in 3 ratio for the United States.

The groom has never been late to a ceremony, but Dr. Schulze does remember an incident during an informal wedding which involved the best man. There had been no rehearsal, and in briefing the wedding party, Dr. Schulze had suggested that the best man have the ring in his hand to eliminate any fumbling.

The best man somehow forgot the instructions, and when the moment arrived for the ring, he was nonchalantly gazing in a mirror at some friends in the audience. Suddenly realizing the situation, the perplexed best man delved into his pocket and brought out the ring box. In his haste, the first attempt to open the box resulted in a resounding snap, audible throughout the room. The bride needed a moment to suppress a giggle and regain her composure before the ceremony continued.

Dr. Robert Gatke, Dr. Norman Huffman and Dr. Arthur Maynard are the three other Willamette professors qualified to read the wedding vows.

Glenn Olds, Play Featured In Fifth Annual RE Week

Religious Emphasis Week activities, initiated Tuesday with Dr. Glenn Olds' morning chapel address, ended last night with the final performance of "Through a Glass, Darkly," by the Willamette University Players.

"Christ's Way Today?" was the theme of the four day's activities for which Norman Lawson served as general student chairman, assisted by Vernon Groves, program chairman and Shirley Clifford, worship chairman. Inter-Faith council, advised by Dr. Norman Huffman, acted as sponsor.

Dr. Olds, chaplain at the University of Denver and a 1942 graduate of Willamette, was speaker at Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday chapels in a series of addresses, "The Candidates for the Kingdom," "The Key to the Kingdom," and "The Character of the Kingdom." Reference to Willamette faculty and familiar places and people were frequently made by alumnus Olds.

An informal coffee hour Tuesday afternoon at Baxter hall and individually scheduled conferences during the week gave students and faculty an opportunity to meet Dr. Olds personally.

"Courtship and Marriage" was the topic for a panel discussion held Wednesday afternoon in Waller hall. Dr. John Rademaker served as moderator for the panel composed of Miss Loan Seaver, OCE; Mrs. Ruby Bunnell, Marion County health officer; and Rev. Fred G. Scherer, Eugene.

Discussion leaders for the firesides on Wednesday evening were dinner guests at the living organizations, and following dinner, conducted discussions of topics related to the week's religious activities.

Fireside discussion leaders included Rev. Earl Riddle at Alpha Chi Omega; Dr. C. F. Henry Baxter hall; Dr. Glenn Olds, Beta Theta Pi; Rev. Fred G. Scherer, Bishop; Dr. D. K. Brookes, Chi Omega; Rev. Ralph Kleen, Delta Gamma; Father David Nicholson, independent town students; Dr. Victor Sword, Lausanne; Rev. Dan Walker, Phi Delta Theta; Miss Dorothy Harding, Pi Beta Phi; Rev. George G. Roseberry, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Rev. Byron Travis, Sigma Chi.

The movie, "The Keys to the Kingdom," shown Wednesday afternoon in Waller hall and "Through a Glass, Darkly," the one act play given Wednesday and Thursday nights in Waller hall, completed the week's schedule of events.

Programs for the week's activities, prepared by Dick Unruh, featured winning poster by Betty Jean Simpson on the cover and were distributed early in the week to the living organizations.

The Amen Corner

Members of Canterbury club will meet at the parish house on Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. for supper. Bill Jessup will give a book report concerning the doctrines of the Episcopal church which will be followed by a group discussion.

Wesley fellowship will meet at the regular time Sunday evening for supper, worship and fellowship. The main feature of the evening will be a panel discussion on religious living followed by cell groupings for further study. The meeting has been planned as a follow-up for religious emphasis week.

A report and discussion on last week-end's tour of Portland churches will be presented to members of Phi Zeta Christo at their weekly meeting. Edith Tripp will be in charge of the panel, and worship will be led by Ann Gibben.

Westminster fellowship will meet at the Presbyterian church at 6 p.m. this week for their customary Sunday evening meeting. Refreshments will be served to the group.

'Advance' Runs Runkel Article

Dr. Howard Runkel, head of Willamette's speech department, is the author of an article entitled "Lincoln: Legend or Lesson?" in the latest issue of Advance magazine. Advance is the journal of the Congregational-Christian church and has an international circulation.

The article is illustrated by Charles Phelps Cushing of New York. The cover features a picture of the statue of Lincoln in Washington, D. C.

Runkel has been the author of several articles in the past. His other published article this year was "A President Prepares to Speak" in Western Speech.

Breakfast Planned By Inter-Varsity

A breakfast and worship, sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship, is scheduled for Sunday morning from 8 to 9:30 a.m., in the Evangelical and Reformed church basement located at the corner of Capital and Marion streets.

The cost of the breakfast will be 50 cents. The worship has been planned around the theme of "Jesus Christ the Son of God." People planning to attend the breakfast contact Carl Blanes by noon tomorrow. The program has been planned by George Evans and Carl Blanes.

WUP's Determine Spring Activities

At the WUPs meeting held last Tuesday night decisions were made concerning spring semester activities. A movie, "The Thirty-nine Steps," will be shown to WUPs members on March 12.

The May Weekend play, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," radio programs on Monday and Thursday nights and a formal dinner honoring outstanding members will be features of the spring activity program.

Willamette University players is open to students with interest in any phase of radio or theater. No registration in a drama course is necessary for membership. The dead line for payment of the 50 cent-second semester dues has been set as next Friday, March 7.

Grad Eligible To Get Grant

Dr. Robert Fenix, secretary of the local Rotary club, has announced that a 1951 Willamette graduate, Scott Dayton Thomson of Springfield, has been nominated by this district as a candidate to receive a Rotary Foundation fellowship.

Thomson, a history major while at Willamette, was chosen by the 42 clubs in this district to be considered at Chicago in the final runoff for fellowships.

Approximately 50 fellowships will be given and these entitle the winners to attend for one year any university they should choose anywhere in the world outside of the United States.

One of last year's delegates was another Willamette graduate, Russell Tripp of Albany who was student body president for 1949-50.

He studied at the University of New Zealand from January 1951 to January 1952, and is now on his way home, returning through western Europe.

The general idea behind a Rotary fellowship is stated in one of the objects of the Rotary Club. They wish "to promote the advancement of international understanding and good will" between the United States and foreign countries.

These delegates act as ambassadors to the country of their choice, interpreting the United States to the people there and at the same time learning about that country.

WU Mothers Organize Clubs

"The Willamette Mother's club in Portland is well on its way to becoming an active and beneficial organization," said one of its participants after attending the first meeting on February 22. A committee was set up to nominate a slate of officers and plans were made for the next meeting which will be a luncheon at the Oregonian Hostess House March 20.

April 27 was set as tentative date for a tea to entertain future Willamette students.

Colored Film Due On 'Mystery City'

Dr. Louis T. Talbot, President of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, will be on campus next week speaking and showing his motion picture, "I Saw Petra," a sound film in color of Petra, the Holy Land city which is one of the most mysterious in the world.

Dr. Talbot will show his film at the regularly scheduled Inter-Varsity fellowship meeting in Waller hall, Tuesday, March 4 at 6:30 p.m. He will give the chapel address on Thursday.

Petra, often called "The Rose Colored City of the Dead," is carved out of solid rock and contains many beautiful colors that match those of the rainbow. It has been a ghost city for a thousand years.

Student's Art To Be Displayed

Art work, done by freshmen and sophomores in Carl Hall's drawing and painting classes, will be up for display for the next two weeks. The exhibit is located in the art building.

The exhibit includes work done in oil, water colors, and tempera paint. Also included are a few sketches in charcoal, pen, and pencil, and some silk screen work.

Students and residents of Salem are invited to see this work of Willamette students.

Band Tours Oregon, Calif.

The Willamette University band has just returned from a very successful tour throughout Southern Oregon and Northern California. Leaving Monday morning at 5 o'clock and returning Thursday evening about 10 o'clock, the band played concerts in Roseburg, Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland, and Klamath Falls, Oregon, and in Redding and Dunsmuir, California.

Among the numbers played there were feature solos by Jack Proctor, clarinet; Ann Gibbens, piano; Bill Bissell, trombone, and Herb Brower, trumpet. The program also featured "The Three Trumpeters" and "The Trombone Troubadores."

As a sideline the band stopped for an interesting tour of Shasta Dam while returning from California.

The band isn't financially able to back a long tour this year, but plans for other one day tours to be held later in the year are being arranged.

The band traveled to Silverton last night to play a joint concert with the Silverton high school band.

Party Platform To Be Selected

Willamette students will have a chance to help select the party platform for the mock convention at convocation Tuesday, Bob Small, convention chairman, announced.

Ballots will be passed out with chapel slips and collected after the program. These ballots will list numerous domestic and foreign policies, such as aid to friend nations, international trade, labor, civil rights, statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, and government social services.

Students will be asked to indicate which of these issues should receive first consideration in forming a party platform. Willamette will take this platform to the convention in May, and a convention platform will be compiled from the planks brought in by the various participating colleges.

Fellowships to Be Available For Public Ad. Graduates

The Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration offers fellowships for students interested in public affairs and public service careers who receive their bachelor's degree next June.

Fellows will combine graduate courses at three universities with

Drama Students To Go to Linfield For Speech Meet

Representatives of the Willamette University drama department will attend the Linfield College Intercollegiate Speech Tournament in McMinnville next week, March 6, 7, and 8.

The representatives will include Sue Mellor, Richard Geer and Ann Ellsperman in the field of acting, and Judi Wood and Eunice Peckenpaugh in interpretation. They will be accompanied by their coach.

These students are preparing manuscripts or cuttings in the form of dialogue; these include monologues from Shakespeare and modern playwrights. The cuttings are from such plays as "Ah, Wilderness!" "The Taming of the Shrew", and "Anna Christie."

Air Force Colonel to Review AROTC First Time Tuesday

An inspection and review of the Willamette university AROTC unit will be held Tuesday on Sweetland field. The inspection is the first annual inspection by the Inspector General and his staff of the Fourth Air Force.

Inspecting officers include one Colonel, three other officers, and one female secretary. They will be in Salem Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to inspect the work done by the Air Force Officers in charge of the local unit.

The inspection will follow this general plan.

Two squadrons will form on the tennis courts, receive the colors there, and then march down onto Sweetland field. They will be inspected there and then will pass in review.

The whole AROTC unit has been preparing for this inspection for the last few weeks. Cadet Douglas W. Graham was chosen to carry the colors, and was promoted to corporal. Cadet Norman C. Battaglia and Cadet Donald L. Hayes were chosen for the color guard. They received promotions to private first class. Cadet Ward S. Armstrong and Cadet Richard P. Rohrer were chosen guide-on bearers for their squadrons and they also received promotions to private first class.

Civil Service To Talk Jobs

Representatives of the State Civil Service Commission will be on campus today from 1 until 4 p.m. to interview seniors who are interested in public service careers.

State fields of employment which might be of interest to seniors include sociology, political science, business administration, public administration, and science. The Civil Service Commission has arranged to give some examinations at the convenience of students so that they can be placed immediately after graduation.

Interested students can make arrangements for individual interview by contacting the Dean of Men's office. The interviewing team will include Florence Goodridge, Arthur Wilson and Norman Stone, Willamette alumni.

Words and Music Due Next Friday For Glee Contest

Words and music for Freshman Glee songs must be turned in to Maurice Cohn's office by 4 p.m. next Friday, Ruben Menashe, Glee manager announced.

The songs must be written in black india ink on standard score sheets, and include melody line and piano accompaniment, Menashe said. Classes are required to submit only the basic composition. Special arrangements of the theme are not needed.

Four copies of the words and four copies of the music must be turned in. The title of the song must appear on each score. The class name and the name of the person writing the song must be on one copy of the words, Menashe stated.

Various committees have been working on Glee preparations. Repair and construction work has been done on the risers.

Law Fraternities Pledge 18 Men

Willamette's two legal fraternities, Phi Delta Phi and Delta Theta Phi have completed a two week rushing period and have announced the pledging of eighteen men. These are the first men to have been pledged into either of the legal fraternities, this year, for their regulations require that pledges must have first made their semester grades.

Delta Theta Phi has pledged: Parker Gies, Glen Geurts, Dave Wheeler, John Anicker, Marvin Weiser, Roger Rook, John Lief, Dave Bates and Tom Huffman. Delta Theta Phi's formal pledging and initiation is March 4.

Pledges for Phi Delta Phi are: Marques McClanahan, Paul Dally, Curtis Ludwig, Jean Masters, Richard Rink, Gordon Cottrell, Wayne Roethler, Louis M. Giovanini and Bert Close. Their formal initiation will be held February 20.

Phi Delta Phi has just elected new officers. Bill Sims is the new magister, Les Hampton now holds the office of exchequer, the new historian is Ken Puckett, and James Maletis is new clerk. Phi Delta Phi has chosen Martin Hoffman as their Graduate of the Year.

Student Recital This Afternoon

A student recital will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the recital hall of the College of Music. Students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Wayne Meusey, pianist, will open the program with three numbers by Claude Debussy. From the Preludes, Book II, he will play "La Puerta del Vino" and "L'Hommage des Pickwick, Esq. P.P.M.P.C." and for his final number he will play the impressionistic "Reflections in the Water."

Meusey will be followed by Keith Mirick, who will play a cornet solo. Last on the program will be the Willamette Chamber Orchestra, directed by Dr. Willis Gates. They will play first the Symphony No. 8 by William Boyce, in three movements, and will conclude the recital with the "Brook Green Suite" by Gustav Holst, also in three movements.

internship in a public agency or city or state government. The University of Tennessee, the University of Alabama and the University of Kentucky cooperate in the program.

Completion of the training program entitles fellows to a certificate in public administration. Upon completion of the requirements of the individual university and the writing of a thesis, the student may be awarded a master's degree in public administration.

For eligibility requirements and other information students should write to the educational director of the Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, University of Alabama, before March 1.

Marge Aldinger AROTC Student

What a student won't do to fill a requirement these days—even if it means being the only woman in the class!

The woman student is Marge Aldinger who holds the questionable honor of being the only female member of the AROTC world political geography course at Willamette. When asked why she entered in a course commonly assumed to be for male students only, Miss Aldinger replied that the subject "fulfills a necessary requirement in the education department."

Marge stuck to her guns when she discovered that she would have to drill once a month despite her obvious femininity. It seems that the government requires drill periods at least once a month for students taking courses with government issued textbooks. At least, she can thank her stars that she doesn't have to go through the rigors of marching every week like the rest of the members of the class. However, word has been received by grapevine that the strange ROTC addition plans on being "violently ill" when drill comes up.

Likeable Marge has created quite a sensation in class in addition to the oddity of her conspicuous presence there. She is heading for honor student rating as she came through with a snappy A-plus in her first test.

Marge suffered through several class incidents such as being embarrassed by Major Campion by being called to the attention of the rest of the class on the first day, having trouble in standing at attention, being caught looking out the window during a lecture, and laughing at the wrong time, but she seems to get along much better now. She was a bit indignant the other day when the major ordered all class members to have their shoes polished and hair cut for a review that was coming up. Looking at Marge, he added, "Miss Aldinger will come with nails polished, please."
