SECOND TEAM TAKES ANOTHER.

Fast and Furious from Start to Finish.

And the second team did it again. Not content with taking the local high school boys into camp, our aspiring huskies of the second football squad, last Saturday, very neatly trimmed the visiting aggregation from Vancouver (Wash.) high school, by a score of 3 to 0. The winning points were corralled near the close of the first half. After having carried the ball far down into the visitors' private preserves, by fake plays, line bucks, and end runs, on the fifteen yard line, Gibson booted the pigskin squarely between the goal posts with an unusually pretty drop kick.

In the second half Vancouver attempted the same thing but was unable to turn the trick, there being a mistake in the calculation of the man behind the ball. This is the only time throughout the game that the 'Varsity goal was endangered. Willamette also tried another drop kick in the second half, but was blocked in the attempt. Each team frequently employed the forward pass, but in many instances gains failed to materialize. The local boys were out weighed, but by superior team work won out.

The game was replete with spectacular, hair raising plays, and gave many opportunities for individual starrng. Once near Willamette 40-yard line a Vancouver man, working through our line, tore down the field with only quarterback "Toots" Booth between him and a touchdown. But that was enough, and in a very pretty tackle, the hopes of the Washington bunch were dashed to the mud. Time after time Perkins, on a fake play, raced through the line for large gains. Homan, playing a heady, slashing game, frequently broke through the visitors' interference and hurled the man with the ball back for a loss. And Marsters, why the flower of Roseburg, tucked the little ball under one brownny arm, and charged at will through his opponents, leaving a heap of fallen and falling in his wake. All the 'Varsity boys were in the game from Genesis to Exodus, displaying particular ability in unity of their team work. "Toots" Booth handled his team in an able manner, picking the weak spots and sending his men through for good gains.

The game was hotly contested, the closeness of the score testifying to the visitors' ability. The attendance was small, but those present witnessed as good a game as they will be permitted to see for many days to come.

NEUNER IS CITY ATTORNEY.

The fact has just been called to our editorial attention that George Neuner, Willamette Law School '08, has been appointed city attorney of Roseburg, Oregon. Neuner was a member of the team that debated Whitman in that year, and was active in student enterprises during his stay at the 'Varsity. Among other qualities displayed by the gentleman while in pursuit of learning, were those that gave great promise for future political supremacy. We rejoice that Mr. Neuner is employing to such good advantage those principles of political sagacity, which so characterized him while in school. (All out of town papers please copy.)

WILLAMETTE STAYS OUT.

Manager Pierce has definitely decided not to enter the State Basket Ball League this year. The reason is based upon the knowledge gained last year, when the 'Varsity was a member of this league. A team in the association is tied down to those games scheduled by such organization, and is practically unable to secure any outside. This year, games will be played with any or all teams not in the league, and a good schedule is assured.

HISTORY AT THE DISTRICT SCHOOL.

The new teacher glanced smilingly over the school, and was delighted to see so many bright young faces among her new charges.

"Now, children," she said, opening her history book, "we will run over our history so that I may find out what you know. Willie Perkins, you may tell me why Washington crossed over the Delaware."

"Ahum—er—why, now, er—ahum," began Willie, "why, becuz—"

"Because what, dear?" asked the teacher.

"Becuz he couldn't go under it," said Willie.

"Dear me! Willie, what an answer!" ejaculated the teacher. "Polly Hicks, you look like a bright little girl. Why did the Father of His Country cross the Delaware?"

"Pleathe, mim," replied Polly, "I gueth it wath becuth the Hudthan wath too far away for him to croth that."

"Mercy!" cried the teacher. "Really, you will all have to stay in this afternoon and study your history. I will now test you on arithmetic. Maggie Wilkins, if I were to divide three bananas among 17 boys, what would be the result?"

"A riot," said Maggie, speaking up like a little drum-major.

"Possibly," said the teacher, "but that is not what I mean. Tommy, you may take the question. Three bananas among three boys, that would be one banana apiece to each boy. Now, three bananas among 17 boys would be what?"

"Three bananas, mim," answered Tommy.

"I know, but 3 into 17 is——" said the teacher.

Three bananas would go into 17 boys once and none over," said Tommy confidently.

It was then that the new teacher resigned.—Harper's Weekly.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Sophia E. Townsend, '03, is in Seattle this winter, doing graduate work at the U. of W. If matters continue thus her friends will have to learn to converse in Latin in order to understand her.

Nellie J. Clark, '03, who has spent the last five years as a missionary in China, is on her way to the United States for a visit with home people.

Dr. B. L. Steeves, '91, who has lived in Idaho for a number of years, where he served as Lieutenant Governor, has moved to Salem. He has bought the Holman property on the corner of Liberty and State streets, and also the residence of Dr. Richardson on Chemeketa street. Dr. Steeves has been in New York for several months but will return to Salem in December, and will, no doubt, soon enjoy here the same prominence as a physician which was his in Idaho.

Minnie Frickey, '91, is teaching again this year in Rush Hall, Washington, D. C., which is a training school for the deaconness work and other work of that character.

Ruth Field, '06, is again in charge of the music in the public schools of Lynd, Washington.

E. K. Miller, '05, has returned to the work in the Y. M. C. A. at Tacoma.

We regret to note the death of Mrs. Lena Reid Cary, '98 (Portland), which occurred during the past summer. Her husband, Robert Cary, who was a member of the same class, is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Walla Walla, Washington.

McINTIRE IS CAPTAIN.

Basket Ball Outlook Good this Year.

At the recent meeting held by the men interested in basket ball, Ross McIntire, a Sophomore in the College of Medicine, was elected captain of the team for 1909-10. Mr. McIntire is a player of unusual ability, has played the game for five years, and is accurate and heady in all emergencies.

The following have, to date, signified their intention of competing for positions on the first team: Schram, a Willamette forward of last year; Winslow, center on last year's team; Crawford, who played forward last season; McMachan and Gibson, of North Yakima fame; Zimmerman, an experienced player; Rader, of Portland High; Cummings, last year's guard and one of the best men in the state, and Minton, who likewise proved his worth last season.

FRESHMEN CELEBRATE.

On the evening of Saturday, Oct. 30, the Knights of the Rattle, otherwise known as the Freshmen boys, wended their way to the home of Miss Frances Pohle on East Court street. Upon their arrival they were requested to perambulate about the city a few minutes, as the spirits had not yet arrived. When they returned from their lengthy(?) stroll they were ushered into the mysterious realm by a weird figure clad in the conventional spirit-white. Ascending the stairs with chattering teeth and quaking knees, they were relieved to find that the first room contained nothing more terrifying than a grinning jack-o'- lantern, bearing the instructions to seek out the ghosts who were to entertain them throughout the evening by various spooky performances. After a lengthy search the spirits were found in the basement crouching very unspiritlike under a heavy covering of darkness. The mysterious ones were then ushered into the Realms Above (in other words upstairs) where the boys were given an excellent illustration of spirit music. After meandering promiscuously among the ghostly singers each fellow was assigned the task of recalling some one of them from the spirit world. A few of the wiser (or luckier) fellows were able to cast off the magic spell and recall from the Realms of Pluto some unfortunate classmate. Most of the boys, however, were unequal to the task and were forced to allow their weird companions to return to the mysterious regions from whence they had come.

Shortly afterwards the girls came and the remainder of the evening was spent in various amusements. Some ascertained their futures at the witches' cave, while others obtained the knowledge of their life to come at the "Voyage of Life." Perhaps the most satisfactory event of the evening was that John McNeese finally discovered the name of his future wife, so Mac need no longer be in doubt.

Some little difficulty was experienced in keeping Westley and McMechan away from the table in front of the witches' cave and Gibson and Rader insisted upon staying in the kitchen while the refreshments were being served.

A little before the ghost hour the jolly bunch broke up, but the boys are all talking about it yet and their unanimous verdict is that the Freshman girls are the "best bunch ever."

WEBSTERIAN.

The meeting was called to order at the usual hour by President Allen. As the secretary called the roll the members responded with the mysterious Websterian "high sign." The first number of the program was a song by the society in which one after another of the members joined until the old chapel halls fairly vibrated with the melodious strains of those harmonious voices. The "Personals" by Paul Homan sparkled with wit and humor, each member being the victim of some pun before he had concluded.

The parliamentary practice was spirited and amusing, yet orderly and systematic. True to his vow after emerging from the ordeal of last meeting, President Allen came, loaded down with manuals and charts of parliamentary procedure, and conducted the practice with the skill of a veteran parliamentarian.

As two of the regular debaters were absent the program committee submitted for an extemporaneous debate the question, "Resolved that the negro has received better treatment at the hands of the American citizen than the Indian." Oliver and Norton represented the Indian, while Shields and Shrieber appeared on behalf of the negro. The judges favored the negro.

The initiation service was practiced on Mr. Oliver. Two new applicants were elected to membership. Several visitors were present, and we would like to state here for the benefit of the friends of the society who are not members that we meet every Friday evening unless the contrary is expressly announced. We do not deem it necessary to announce in chapel every meeting, as we have a regular evening and unless some notice to the contrary is given, regular meetings are always held on those evenings and every one is invited to be present.

Manager Shields is busily engaged these days in getting a line on debates. Willamette has always been ably represented by her debate teams and this year's results should prove no exception to the general rule.

Education in Illinois is, according to current report, sadly in need of support which at present is withheld. In the city of Chicago alone there are over 2000 children of school age who are unable to attend even the institutions of primary education on account of a lack of room and seating facilities. In the outlying districts there are hundreds of schools, not one of which has an attendance of less than 15 children, yet a six months' term is impossible because of lack of funds. At least half of the teachers in these country schools receive less than $30 a month for their services. The inability to conduct school for six consecutive months removes all these country schools from state assistance. Educational affairs are decidedly in a bad way in Illinois.

Wish we were a political organ so we could howl at the "interests." Lots of space may be utilized in that manner.

"They came, they saw, and they departed."

PHILOSOSIAN.

An Indian program was rendered Friday. Roll call was answered by quotations from some Indian legend. Many pretty selections were given.

Leila Rigdon's extemporaneous talk on Indian traditions was interesting and instructive. She told the story of the eventful life of Sacajawea, and that of Wallula, as given in "The Bridge of the Gods."

Ione Fisher read "Hiawatha's Wooing," that musically sweet portion of Longfellow's famous poem.

ADELANTE.

In view of the fact that repair of the new halls is going on so vigorously the Adelantes have dispensed with their regular weekly literary program but will continue to meet for a business session at the usual time. The literary programs will be given bi-weekly in joint meeting with the Websterians, and the arrangements for same are under process of formulation.

PHILODORIAN.

The regular meeting of the Philodorian Society was held last Friday night. An interesting program was rendered consisting of the following numbers: Solo, Roland Pfaff; composition, Chester Armstrong; lecture, Clark Belknap. The debate on the question, "Resolved, that punishment of the criminal should be for his reformation and not for the protection of society," was fiercely contested. It kept one busy to draw the line between punishment that was reformatory to the criminal and not deterrent to the criminal element of society, and punishment that was beneficial to society and not reformatory to the criminal. Speakers on the negative, Mr. Schaupp and Scott, affirmative, McCain and Hatts. The decision was given to the affirmative.

SENIOR LAW DOINGS.

The Old Bachelor's Club had their usual orgies in the usual place at the usual time.

Willard Wirtz registered a strenuous kick at the proposition of admitting women to jury duties in the moot court on the same footing as their brothers in law.

Belknap spent last Sunday in Portland. He was noncommittal as to the nature of the business that lured him there, saying only that he had a little case on hand that required his attention.

Yates was seen prowling around down town tailoring shops looking for a man somewhat smaller than himself. He sized him up and seemed to be satisfied as to his own physique.

Sylvester Staats has been sick with the grippe but we are glad to announce that he is able to be around once more.

Judge Smith has been doing a little legal work for some of the business men of Salem.

John Lewis, the State Engineer, and member of the Senior law class, had the misfortune to be sued on matters in connection with his work. A number of state officials are also involved in the action.

The talks from these members made the meeting very interesting and gave the students a good idea of the expenses, benefits and pleasures derived from spending ten days at Conference. We hope the girls will think more about it and that we may have a larger representation next year at the Breakers.

HEARD ON THE SIDE LINES.

Skiff—"Aw, go on, just one foot over."

Wirtz—"Good dope for the Journal."

Rader—"Here, you little kids, move back."

Yates—"Let's go see Skiff. I think he has some cigars."

Shields—"Now when I used to play with the 'Juniors'—"

Old Farmer—"Wall, if I was a dog and wanted to get skinned I'd play football."

Hollingworth—"Yes, there she is, over in the grand stand."

Everybody—"Gibson's a peach, Perkin's a peach, Homan's a peach, Marster's a peach, they're all peaches."

His girl—"Gee, just look at Winslow."

LAUSANNE HALL.

No more fear from fire at the Hall now. We have a new chemical fire extinguisher and a chain-ladder fire escape.

We regret that three of our number are ill this week; but we hope for their speedy recovery, when we shall see their smiling faces again in the class room.

The Seniors entered the dining room Thursday evening in their caps and gowns, amid hearty applause.

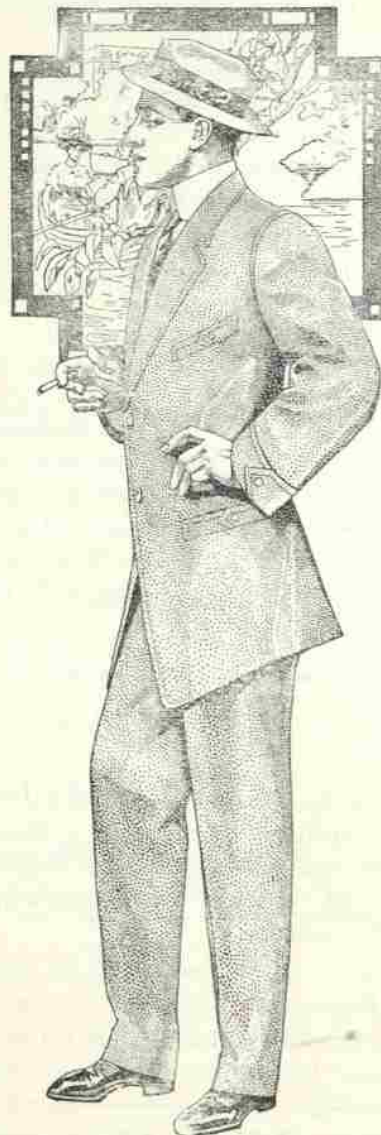

12:30 A. M. and all is well, but Irma disturb's the peaceful slumbers of her roommate by shouting, "Come again Nora."

Atha (making up Latin in her sleep)—"Win, Winnie, Winnif, Winfield."

Several of the Hall girls went to the Epworth League social Saturday evening; but how did they get home?

The topic of conversation at dinner Saturday evening after the game was Harley Bleckwell's new gloves accompanied by the why's and wherefores.

Miss Stuckey has a new amethyst brooch which she wears only on Sundays.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!

The opportunity to compete for the Economic Prizes offered by Hart Schaffner & Marx has been brought to the attention of students of this university by Professor J. Laurence Laughlin of the University of Chicago, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

Papers for the prizes are to be submitted before June 1, 1910. There are five prizes, totaling $2,000. The contestants are divided into three classes, fuller details of which may be had from the head of the department of political economy. The prizes are divided as follows:

Class "A," first prize $600; second prize $400.

Class "B," first prize $300; second prize $200.

Class "C," one prize $500.

Classes "A" and "B" refer particularly to college graduates and undergraduates, and the following subjects have been suggested by Professor Laughlin's committee:

1. The effect of labor unions on international trade.
2. The best means of raising the wages of the unskilled.
3. A comparison between the theory and the actual practice of protectionism in the United States.
4. A scheme for an ideal monetary system for the United States.
5. The true relation of the central government to trusts.
6. How much of J. S. Mills' economic system survives?
7. A central bank as a factor in a financial crisis.

The members of the committee, aside from Professor Laughlin, are: Prof. J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Prof. Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City, and Edwin F. Gay, Harvard University.

Nineteen Sophomores were immersed at the University of Washington for not assisting their fellow classmen in the annual scrap with the Freshmen.

A course in the Conservation of Resources is offered at the University of Michigan. The course involves six years of study, resulting in the degree of Master of Conservation Engineering.

The following method of carrying on the Sophomore-Freshman "scrap" has been adopted at O. A. C.: Eleven boys stuffed with excelsior are placed in the center of the field between the lines of the opposing classmen. At a given signal, all rush forward and the side transporting the larger number of sacks behind its goal line in one half hour is declared winner.

An instructor in the University of Washington has been asked to contribute one volume to the Harvard Historical Series, now being compiled. The subject is the Frankpledge.

COLLEGE LIFE.

Owing to ill health, James Kirkland will be unable to continue his work this year. We are very sorry to lose Kirkland, as he was a close student, doing excellent work in all his classes. We will hope, however, that he may be able to return next fall.

McNees (at the telephone)—“And send me up a box of stove blacking.” We wondered what was the cause of this unusual burst of energy on John's part, but we have since learned that a certain young lady came up Saturday to the Vancouver game (?)

Judge Smith is reported to have some sort of fever beside typhoid. The doctors have not yet made a suitable diagnosis of the case. The fever seems always to be highest on Sunday evenings.

Oh, that German II class! 'Tis in that class we think the fellows more nearly express the utmost yearnings of their heart. This time it was Belknap. His translation included the word “Leideform” (meaning literally the “suffering form”) and Clark rendered it as the “love form.” We presume that Clark spoke from his own experience and that love is akin to suffering.

“Send me ten pounds of prunes.” Thus spoke Jimmie Oakes, the “Little Father,” the guardian of the Willamette Hash House. Our heart goes out in sympathy to the poor fellows who are compelled to depend upon Jim for their daily sustenance.
