

Glee Songs . . . and a New Bet!

The sophomore class will be the first to vote on their song for Freshman Glee. Don Sculati, president, has scheduled a class meeting for Monday at chapel time when the words and music will be chosen. Sculati requested that each song writer have a pianist and vocalist at the meeting.

Words for the junior class song and both words and music for the freshman class must be turned in by Tuesday. A final date has not been set for the senior selection.

At a meeting of the Freshman Glee committee held Monday no definite decision was made on the proposed change in judging and presentation of the Glee songs.

An original Glee bet was made last night between Dix Moser, freshman, and Paul Whipple, senior. Monday morning after Freshman Glee the one whose class has lost shall dress as a Turk, carry an alarm clock and a rug, and kneel in prayer toward Mecca (Waller hall) every half hour.

As a complement to this bet Hale Tabor, junior, and Dave Demeter, sophomore, have agreed that the one whose class loses shall also dress as a Turk and call the faithful to prayer every half hour from the cupola atop Waller hall.

Enrollment Records . . .

Number of students enrolling in Willamette at some time during the year has reached 808 with 707 registered now for the second semester, records at the registrar's office show.

Sixteen of the mid-year enrollees are freshmen, compared to seven who entered at the same time last year.

Further statistics point out that the present freshman class is the third largest in history. The class has 265 members while 318 in 1938 was the all-time high. There are 29 students from Washington in the freshman class, more than ever before.

Enrollment from 20 states, 3 territories and 4 foreign countries is as follows:

Oregon, 657; Washington, 68; Idaho, 19; Montana, 16; California, 9; South Dakota, North Dakota, New Jersey and Iowa, each 3; Illinois and Wisconsin, 2; Arkansas, Connecticut, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Texas, Utah and Wyoming, 1 each; Alaska and Bolivia, 3 each; China 2; Canada, Germany, Hawaii, Philippine Islands and West Africa, each 1.

Swing, Swing . . .

The craze for square dancing has reached Willamette, assisted by Mrs. Richard Liebes. After the game tomorrow night faculty and students will meet again in the University gym to "swing, swing, everybody swing" under the direction of Carlton Greider of the Salem YMCA.

Inspired by Greider's sing-song calling of movements, about 40 dancers tried the dance—doh (phonetic spelling) to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw" last Saturday night.

All interested members of the faculty and student body are invited to join in the fun, Mrs. Liebes said.

Click . . .

Camera fiends with a yen for blackmail will have an opportunity to organize on the campus, according to Bob Root. Plans are being made for a photography club to meet early next week. The dark room facilities in the basement of Waller hall should be useful for camera owners who like to develop their own pictures. There is a wide opportunity for the taking of pictures for campus publications.

Interested photographers should get in touch with Bob Root. Murco Ringold, professor of journalism, and Constance Fowler, art instructor, expressed their willingness to help promote the organization.

Notes from Waller . . .

A musical travelogue which takes the listener "From Africa to Harlem" with examples of jungle music, negro spirituals, a cake-walk, ragtime jazz, the blues and the music of the modern dance band will be one of the featured numbers of the first spring concert of the Willamette band on Tuesday evening, March 4.

The addition of several new instruments will give more complete instrumentation, according to Maurice Brennen, instructor. He also announced that because of numerous requests the band will repeat "The Primadonna" and "Tropical" by Morton Gould which were played at the chapel concert last fall.

"Fugue Modernistic," a musical pattern which follows the ideas of Bach with a modern form and theme, by Carl Frankfurter will also be on the program.

World Leaders At Youth Rally

Mission Starts in Portland February 23; Poling Speaks Here

By WINSTON TAYLOR

Opportunity for Willamette university students to hear some of the world's outstanding church leaders is forthcoming in the national preaching mission in Portland from Feb. 23 to March 2. The youth section of the mission has been set for Friday night, Feb. 28, to Sunday. Several students from Willamette plan to attend the weekend meetings.

Also of interest will be the appearance in Salem on Thursday night, Feb. 27, of Dr. Dan Poling of Philadelphia, president of the world Christian Endeavor union. Dr. Poling will speak at a rally of youth of Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties at the senior high school at 8 p. m., sponsored by the Salem Christian Youth council. Don Douris is chairman for the rally, which will include a dinner in the school cafeteria at 6:30 p. m.

Baxter Honorary Chairman

Speakers on the program in Portland will be Dr. Philip Lee, young Chinese preacher and singer from Chicago; E. Stanley Jones, renowned missionary and author; Karl Downs, who has appeared twice in Salem; Ruth Seabury, national young people's worker; Edward H. Bonnell, interdenominational youth leader; G. Hayden Stewart, Vancouver, B. C., pastor; Muriel Lester, the "Jane Addams of London," and Dr. Poling. Bishop Bruce R. Baxter is honorary chairman of the mission.

The youth section of the program will include a fellowship banquet at 5:30 Friday with Lee as speaker, mass meeting at the city auditorium at 7:30 with Jones, discussion Saturday morning on the theme "Christianity Has the Answer for the World's Spoken and Unspoken Problems" in the afternoon, youth mass meeting at the auditorium at 7:30 Saturday night for which seats must be reserved. Dr. Lee and Miss Lester are the speakers.

Sunday will include a youth breakfast, annual meeting of the Oregon Christian Youth assembly and a closing mass meeting in the afternoon with Dr. Poling as speaker.

No registration is being charged for the young people, and meals will total $1.20. Housing can be provided.

Dr. Jones will be brought to the Willamette chapel Wednesday, Feb. 6, and the Rev. James Holmes Feb. 27.

Increase Made In NW Collection

Three additions to the school's large Northwest History collection have been received, Dr. Robert Gatke, head of Willamette's political science department, announced today. They are a "Student Standing List," a report card and a commencement program, all bearing the date of 1875, donated by a Willamette patron, Mrs. Mary Foster Enners of East Bremerton, Wash. The souvenirs belonged to her father, Harrison Z. Foster, '75, now deceased.

DEADLINE FOR ORGANIZATIONS

Ralph May, Wallulab manager, emphasized today that organizations wanting their pictures in the Wallulab must pay their fees by tomorrow or make other arrangements with him.

Anthropologists Will Visit Mounds

After a fruitful trip last Saturday to an Indian mound near Sheild which resulted in the uncovering of four burials, parts of pestles and two arrow heads, the WU Anthropological society will again visit the mound tomorrow. The mound is the largest discovered in the Willamette valley and society President Bill Laughlin expects many valuable finds to be made this spring as the group thoroughly excavates it.

Hutchins Seeks Opinion on Summer Session Proposal

Would you be interested in a summer session at Willamette? If so, Dr. H. C. Hutchins, professor of education, would like to know your opinion.

In a survey conducted by Dr. Hutchins this week, two-thirds of the faculty members expressed their willingness to teach in summer school, if student opinion is favorable. President Baxter plans to present the matter to the board of trustees this month.

The increased demands made by the state of Oregon for obtaining teachers' certificates makes summer school work necessary for many prospective teachers. Members of the profes-

Honor Student List Released

12 Make Straight A; Freshmen Lead Group; 15 Have 12 Hours A

Student grade reports probably will be released this afternoon, Walter Erickson, registrar, indicated yesterday.

Honor grades compiled earlier this week by the registrar reveal that 12 students made all A's and that 15 others earned at least 12 hours of A last semester.

Five freshmen, three juniors and three seniors were among the all-A group. Seven juniors, five seniors and three freshmen were represented in the other classification.

Straight-A students are Ed Church, Margaret Coan, Mrs. Genevieve Vehr, Helen Chirwin, Delores Neiz, Glenn Olds, Janet Johnson, Dick Kern, Kent Markee, Dix Moser and Kenneth Torgeson.

Earning at least 12 hours of A were Bud Gilmore, George Gutekunst, Bob Homan, Jeanette Holst, Muriel Smithson, Wiff Archer, Bill Evans, Loren Bell, Tommie Brock, Loren Lee, Bob Purbrick, Keith Markee, Eleanor Todd and Eleanor Purcell.

ASWU Sends Five Delegates

At the monthly ASWU council meeting Wednesday plans were made for sending five delegates from the student body to Linfield for the Oregon Federation of College Leaders convention, Feb. 28 and March 1.

This annual conference will include five delegates from each Oregon college. Last year the conference was held on the Willamette campus.

Delegates will be Bill Thomas, Mary Head, Maxine Goodenough, Marion Sanders and John Hathaway.

Also included in the business of the meeting was the unanimous election of Dick Kern, freshman from Portland, to the post of student manager of spring sports.

Loehner Speaks In Los Angeles

Conrad A. Loehner, M. D., who teaches a course in psychiatry for social workers at Willamette, spoke last week before the Endocrine Round Table in Los Angeles. The Round Table is composed of a body of practicing physicians who are interested in the endocrine aspects of human life.

Dr. Loehner's address dealt with the treatment of some of the neurotic and psychotic states in accordance with an original method which he developed from researches into the problems of mental disease.

Names of CAA applicants who have been chosen to start training immediately were released this morning by Dean Schatze, local coordinator. The list includes Bill Belscher, Art Baird, Joe Galassano, Paul Cookington, John Gardner, Glen Pravel, George LaVita, Andrew Rogers, Hal Simons, L. K. Sinks and Jim Earle.

Painting Delays Science Hall Move For Two Weeks

According to Prof. Cecil Monk of the biology department, the moving into the new science hall scheduled for this weekend has been postponed until about March 1. The delay is a result of the painting of the interior. Original plans included no inside finishing.

Professor Monk said that students of biology will move into the new quarters weekend after next. He added that Dr. Brown of the physics department, whose equipment is half way moved in already, will be ready for business as soon as the walls are dry.

Painting began Tuesday morning. Gas and electricity connections are complete.

Faculty Starts Play Rehearsal

Mrs. Oppen Directs Production of "Dulcy" Stated for March 10

The Willamette faculty will present the play "Dulcy" at Leslie Junior high school on March 10, according to Dr. William C. Jones, manager. Mrs. Genevieve Oppen is directing and playing the title role. Proceeds may possibly be used in furnishing a faculty lounge in Eaton hall, Dr. Jones said.

Rehearsals began this week with a cast made up of faculty members and wives. Among them are Dr. Jones, Dean Daniel H. Schulze, Mrs. Herbert Rahe, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brennen, Dr. H. C. Hutchins, Prof. Robert Wilson, Dean George McLeod, and Dr. E. S. Oliver. Supporting cast is made up of "tired business men, young brokers, and escaped convicts," names not yet revealed.

The presentation of "Dulcy" is the third play by the Willamette faculty. Ten years ago they gave "The Thirteenth Chair" and seven years ago, "So This is London."

Baxter Speaks Twice in Portland For His Dinner

Among after-dinner speakers, Willamette's Bishop Baxter is one of the most popular. In fact, Dr. Baxter is in such great demand that last night he spoke at not one but TWO dinners! It would have been a task if he had had to eat both dinners. However, he arranged to eat at the YMCA membership dinner in Portland before speaking and dashing over to the Clinton Kelly Methodist church to address a dinner there on the subject of "Lincoln."

Linfield Tourney Skeapers Chosen

Willamette speakers in the eleventh annual Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament at Linfield college Feb. 20-23, were tentatively listed this week by Dr. Herbert Rahe, director of forensics.

Freshman Hooper Contest Tonight On Local Court

Clint Cameron, pictured above, has been a regular upon the Willamette varsity off and on all season. He is one of Howard Maple's freshmen varsity members which have bolstered the squad this season. He was high for the Bearcats against Linfield, Tuesday, and will be one of Willamette's scoring threats against CPS.

New CAA Class Starts Training

Names of CAA applicants who have been chosen to start training immediately were released this morning by Dean Schatze, local coordinator. The list includes Bill Belscher, Art Baird, Joe Galassano, Paul Cookington, John Gardner, Glen Pravel, George LaVita, Andrew Rogers, Hal Simons, L. K. Sinks and Jim Earle.

Twenty have actually been chosen, but physical examinations have not been completed, according to Dean Schatze making it impossible to give the full list. Two of the twenty chosen will be girls.

The 45 students who applied were judged by a committee of deans on scholarship, promise of usefulness, and ability to profit by the experience. The course must be completed by June 30.

Bearcats Need Two Wins to Grab Crown from Defending Champions

Faced with the task of winning their remaining three games if they hope to regain the northwest conference championship relinquished last year to College of Puget Sound, Willamette's Bearcat cagers are prepared to turn back the title-holding Loggers when the two clubs meet tonight in the first of a two-game series.

By GIL LIESER

It's "two wins or out" as far as Howard Maple's charges are concerned, for they have already suffered two setbacks at the hands of Pacific Tacoma and Linfield while the invading Tacoma outfit is riding atop the conference standings with two wins and no losses.

The CPS wins were over Whitman college, the same team which twice fell to the Bearcats

Campus Host To Prep Group

Outstanding Juniors To Attend Citizenship Institute on March 18

Willamette will be host March 18 to a large group of outstanding high school juniors attending the "Institute of Citizenship" being held on the campus for the first time. The students will be here to study the state government in action, and an extensive program of speakers, visits to state institutions, motion pictures, round table discussions and meetings is planned.

The institute is being planned by Dr. R. M. Gatke, professor of history and political science, Dr. S. B. Laughlin, professor of sociology, Dr. W. C. Jones, professor of business and public administration and Dr. H. C. Hutchins, professor of education. Governor Charles A. Sprague and other state officials will address the group, and they will be entertained by the Willamette a cappella choir.

Education Majors Practice Teach

Eleven Willamette students are practicing teaching at Salem high school this semester under arrangements made by Dr. H. C. Hutchins, professor of education.

In the biology department Everett Wilcox is teaching under Carmelita Barquist and James Jorgensen under Vivian Chandler. Muriel Smithson teaches English, supervised by Mary Burroughs. In the social science department Lois Herman teaches under the direction of Nell Brown. Barbara Young under Glade Follis, Sidney Schlesinger under Mrs. Gertrude Smith and Mildred Williams under Mary Eyre.

Four physical education majors, Margaret Wright, Marjorie Herr, Dorothy Moore and Justin Weakley, continue their teaching from last semester. Internships are being served at the high school this semester by Tom Terjeson in administration, under the supervision of E. A. Carlton, and by Loraine Vick and Helen Neiger in library work.

Club Sponsors Skating Festival

Of interest to all Willamette students is the "League of Nations Rink Festival" Feb. 25, 27 and 28. This show, which will include stunting, dancing, instrumental music and skating, is being sponsored by the Salem Skating club, and will feature fifteen acts each night, each representing a different nationality. Joe Dwight from Honolulu, a Willamette student, will represent Hawaii with his Music of the Islands.

Law Graduate Relates Experiences With FBI

By CLIFF STEWART

I wanna be a G-man! That seemed to be the sentiment of every fellow around the Kappa house after Ty Gillette, graduate from Willamette law school in 1939, had spent a day with his fraternity brothers.

Imagine yourself fresh out of college and on the trail of a beautiful female spy employed by two foreign governments to spy on U. S. military secrets, or picture yourself crossing swords with a band of fifth columnists trying to promote a revolution. Again, imagine yourself in the heart of Harlem going into a tenement house after last week, indicating that a couple of close battles are in the offing for students and townspeople at the campus gym tonight and tomorrow night.

Question mark in the Willamette lineup is the guard position left vacant by the illness of Jimmy Robertson. The absence of a suitable man to fill Robertson's shoes was apparent during the Linfield game Tuesday evening, and much of Coach Maple's practice time since that contest has been taken up in searching for an adequate replacement.

Thompson will replace Daniel W. Stevens as pastor of the First Methodist church of Corvallis for a period of one year, beginning Sunday.

Notice of the appointment was given last week by Bishop Bruce Baxter. The Rev. Stevens is to take a year's leave of absence to serve as chaplain with the U. S. army at Fort Lewis.

Five Attend Drama Meet

Four Willamette drama students and Mrs. Genevieve Oppen, director, left yesterday to attend the eighth annual theater conference, Northwest division, at Seattle. Those attending are Frances Pickard, Helen Newland, Donald Ewing and Jimmy Sehon.

The three-day conference will offer a presentation of "Peer Gynt" by the Seattle Repertory theater and other plays and puppet shows by the University of Washington Penthouse theater and the Cornish School of the Theater.

Reading Contest Deadline March 10

Deadline for entries in the recreational reading contest has been changed from Feb. 20 to March 10, George Gutekunst, chairman of the library subcommittee, announced yesterday.

The change was made to give contestants more time to complete their book reviews and reports. The fact that Freshman Glee is three weeks later than usual this year makes possible this lengthening of time.

Law Graduate Relates Experiences With FBI

Well, these are some of the experiences Ty has had during his year of service with the FBI. After graduating from Willamette, Gillette took the entrance examination for Federal Bureau of Investigation work, underwent a period of training and is now a real honest-to-goodness G-man stationed at Omaha, Neb.

When asked the qualifications necessary for a good G-man, he explained that "All that is needed is a good personality, unlimited curiosity and a yen for adventure."

POSTAL PLEASURES

As you wander into the lower floor of Eaton between classes of a school day morning, of a sudden the thought comes that maybe there is some mail for you. Hopefully you dash toward the crowd which surrounds the mail box.

When—and if—you succeed in fighting your way through the mob, you poke your hand in "your" box. It's a grand feeling to be able to call the "H" box—if your name is Henderson—your very own. As you pull out the correspondence for the Hansens, the Hobsons, the Hamiltons, the Herricks, et ainsi suite, flocks of small notes flutter gently into the waste basket below. Marvelous for the waist line, bending over to rescue them!

A postcard from home amidst the debris rewards your efforts. And it is only of incidental importance that for days afterward your friends among the Holcombs, the Hulsts, the Halls and the Hustons remind you that Mother wants you to be sure to wear your warm underwear and get to bed by 9:30 each night.

Is it too much to hope that Willamette may soon have a system of private mail boxes such as those in use at many colleges of similar size? The cost of installation and upkeep of an adequate postal distribution system might be covered by a small annual rental fee.

Until a new system is provided, however, there is no reason why we should not insist that all notes put in boxes should be at least three by five inches in size. Elimination of two by two slips in the boxes would prevent a lot of nervous breakdowns.

LETTERS to the Editor

To the Editor:
Ralph May, manager of the 1941 Wallulah, charges in the last issue of the Collegian that the publications reorganization plan now being considered would not improve present conditions. He states that unauthorized advertising projects could not be regulated any better than at present, and that the consolidation of the business offices under a single manager would be too big a job for one man. The first point is but a minor one and was largely answered in an editorial, so let us look at the second.

The impression seems to be that the consolidation would mean nothing more than making one man take over all the duties now performed by the Collegian and Wallulah manager. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The Collegian manager does little more than solicit advertising, visiting every advertiser each time the Collegian is published. But that is not an efficient way of doing business. Most newspapers handle a large part of their advertising by contract, and under the reorganization plan the publications business office could do the same. Advertising for the Collegian, Wallulah and other publications could in many cases be handled in the same contract. This would result in an enormous saving of time and energy on the part of the business staff.

BRASS TACKS

By PAUL WHIPPLE

RECENT DEBATE in the Collegian as to whether U. S. aid to Britain would further democracy serves to emphasize in my mind a factor in the situation not generally brought out. And it does seem to me to be an important one. Let us call it the "human factor."

THE QUESTION seems to revolve around what might happen to this country should England fall. Some believe America would be immediately threatened with invasion. Some think Germany would dominate South America, at least economically. Others contend that the United States could get along with the totalitarians by tending to its knitting in the western hemisphere. All these matters are but speculation.

NO SPECULATION, however, is the reaction of the people of this country if Britain should go under. Whatever protestations of good faith Germany, Russia or Japan might make, the American people would be intensely suspicious of their every act. Does anyone believe that if they were faced with an aggressive, highly militaristic power dominating Europe, and a similar power dominating Asia, Americans would not act as if the country were immediately threatened with invasion? Would not the fear of attack be just as disastrous as actual attack?

FEAR OF ATTACK was one of the prime movers in events leading to the first world war. Each European country armed to prevent aggression and felt it must be stronger than any of its neighbors. The war machines were geared to instant starting and when the final crisis occurred at Sarajevo a switch was flipped which set the whole continent in action.

WITH THIS COUNTRY geared to a war machine, where would our standard of living, our social reforms, our democratic institutions be? Does anyone think this country would not start down the road to totalitarianism? And would we not be on the same road as European countries before 1914?

PRETENSIONS OF DEMOCRACY, at least, are made by England, no matter what abuses the ruling class has been prone to. If England is invaded America will be left the sole bulwark of democratic institutions. But how long would fear of aggression allow it to remain so?

And furthermore, isn't one of the more important duties of an editor or manager that of organizing and training his staff? Is he efficient if he does not devote much of his work to elect himself time to plan and supervise? The reorganization plan, by cutting out waste motion and allowing the editors and managers to plan ahead from year to year, would streamline the work of the staff and help them produce better publications. Paul Whipple.

Duly spanked by family, friends, and scholarly critics as Mr. Max Eastman (the author of a charming essay entitled "The Cult of Unintelligibility") for my obscenity, I shall endeavor in the future to employ language clear to any "Collegian" reader. Yea, I shall go further: I shall attempt to make amends for the confusion of the past.

In the Jan. 17 issue, the "literary nonsense," as Mr. Eastman would call it, about the "fish who wear antlers on Fifth Avenue and confuses the ready ear" came from John Fletcher's text "Psychology in Education." Mr. Fletcher quotes it as an example of stream-of-thought art in the insane; I found it an appropriately suggestive topic for a Dali painting. And Dali is considered noteworthy by many of the discerning.

Explanatory notes on the editorials of Jan. 31; Renoir's painting, "The Mussel Gatherers," impressed me by the freshness of the complexion of the children in it. In the morality play "Everyman" (English, fifteenth century) is the line by the character Goods, would the swing artists say?

Before the fireplace of the Keith Powell home Miss Audrey Shay and Robert Keith Powell were married at 4 p. m. Jan. 25. Miss Biedle Hebel, ex-WU, attended the bride and groom. At the reception following the wedding Mrs. Carlton Smith presided at the serving table, and was assisted by Sybil Spears, Harriet Hawkins, Victory Strain, and Mrs. Bingham Powell.

COLLEGIAN YESTER YEARS

By MIRIAM JENSEN

23 Years Ago January 19, 1919
All the world is divided into three parts, those who have had the flu, those who are having the flu, and those who are yet to have the flu. Willamette has had it, is having it, and will undoubtedly have more of it. Twice the university has been closed — altogether six weeks of vacation have been had, nine or ten Fridays and nine or ten Saturdays have been crossed off the social calendar, and every girl, without exception, who remained at Lausanne got it. Yes, influenza has laid its finger on Willamette, and he who rebels against its rules finds himself in the hospital or under a mask.

20 Years Ago February 9, 1921
The Willamette university board of trustees, at the regular meeting last Friday, refused to grant the fraternities permission to apply for membership in nationals, in spite of the fact that students have twice petitioned for the privilege, and a committee, appointed to investigate, reported favorably on it.

11 Years Ago February 6, 1930
Business administration seems to be the most popular of the new classes, as judged by enrollment to date. This is the university's first attempt at courses of this kind in the last fifteen years.

6 Years Ago February 7, 1935
Dick Lucke, ASWU president, plans to submit an amendment to withdraw the $200—the 2% student body social fund—and redistribute it among the classes. Freshman Glee, and the general fund. Although Chresto cottage has drawn $25, no other use has been found for it, because student body dances are prohibited.

At a lovely ceremony at 4 p. m. Jan. 15, Miss Irene Purnell was married to Glen Huston of Salem. The very beautiful wedding took place in the First Church of the Nazarenes. Following their wedding trip to California and Mexico the couple will be at home in Salem.

On Jan. 25 Miss Mary Meredith became the bride of E. Allen Loew, son of Dean and Mrs. Edgar W. Loew of the University of Washington in Seattle, at a ceremony in the Hinson Memorial church in Portland.

Recently announced is the engagement of Phyllis Elizabeth Comey of Reading, Massachusetts, to S. Raynor Smith Jr., '33, son of Rev. and Mrs. S. Raynor Smith of Salem. Miss Comey is a graduate of Boston university where she received her A. B. with Phi Beta Kappa honors and of Boston university school of religious education where she received her M. A. Smith is now in his second year at Boston university school of theology. No date has been set for the wedding.

Both the bride and groom attended Willamette university. He is now staff sergeant at Camp Claiborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Tancourt, '27, Victoria Schneider, ex-WU, of Ontario are the parents of a son born Dec. 27.

The vice-presidents of each fraternity, Jack Hedgcock, Bill Belcher and Tommy Gabriel, are in charge of the arrangements for their respective houses. Kappa Gamma Rho will receive guests from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., Alpha Psi Delta from 8:30 to 9:30, and Sigma Tau from 9:30 to 10:30.

The fraternities will complete the evening by entertaining their dates with dancing at each house.

Rushing Plans Are Announced

Sorority mid-year rushing plans are being made for functions next week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The informal parties at which sorority members and prospective pledges mingle are to be from 7:30 p.m. until 9:00.

Local Writer Blasts Lack Of Support at WU Games

Student Body Spirit Has Vanished Says Zimmerman; Salemites Wonder at Absence of Life in Rooting Section

By GIL LIESER

With the basketball championship of the Northwest Conference bringing on the outcome of tonight's and tomorrow night's appearances of our Willamette Bearcats against the College of Puget Sound, it would seem an opportune time to bring to light the impression that meagre student support at WU athletic events has left with local writers and townspeople.

Perhaps the majority of Willamette students have concluded that they are too staid or too sophisticated to beat a path to the football field or gymnasium and expend themselves in some old fashioned down to earth yelling as encouragement for the athletes who are exerting all their energy towards bringing in more championships for the sons and daughters of Papa Waller.

If this is the case there is probably no remedy for Willamette students' staying away from important athletic contests by the hundreds; and athletics at our institution may as well continue dying the natural death they are headed for.

Are We A Different Specie of Students?

If, however, students have merely been blind to the fact that Willamette accords its teams far less support than do the student bodies of the great majority of schools, then the following excerpt of an article from the typewriter of Fred Zimmerman, Salem sports authority, may provide the necessary stimulant for increased attendance at games as proof to those off the campus that we are not a new and different "socialized" special of college student, but are just as sports minded and just as anxious to lend support to our ball players as any group of collegians.

"They don't have any life and they don't seem to care whether their team wins or loses," commented a prominent Salem man after attending the second game of the Willamette-Whitman series. He was speaking of the approximately 100 students who watched the performance.

It seems to this writer that since the Methodist school has gone through the so-called "Becanization" process, student body spirit, insofar as athletic contests are concerned, has virtually vanished. Two or three faculty members and 15 percent of the student body show up for basketball games. It's a trifle better for football.

Judging by the columns of the two Salem dailies there is no end of dances and social functions, on and off the campus. All of which compels one to wonder if Willamette students are a bunch of lounge lizards and social climbers or whether their found "freedom" hasn't sent them off on a tangent.

Despite the fact that College of Puget Sound's hoop squad will be here the nights of February 14 and 15, it is understood Willamette students are planning a big social shindig for the 15th, apparently about 90 percent of the enrollment doesn't care a hoot if they are to miss a ball game which may well determine the championship of the Northwest conference.

Willamette's associated student body, being a democratic organization, may do as it pleases, individually or collectively, as long as it stays within the rules of the institution. However, if townspeople are to be attracted to the school's extra-curricular activities in greater numbers, an example on the part of the enrollment would not be out of the way.

"Lounge lizards" and "social climbers" are harsh descriptive terms indeed but this writer for one believes that friend Zimmerman hit the nail right on the head.

There was certainly no conflict with social activities during the Whitman series to which the small showing of student support could be attributed, but such conflict as will arise tomorrow night between the CPS-Willamette game and the inter-society formal could be avoided in the future by closer cooperation of the powers who plan social activities with those who handle the scheduling of athletic contests.

Challenge Presented The article which we have reprinted is in no way intended to be offensive in nature and should not be taken as such; rather, it is meant to be constructive criticism, and considered as such, should present a challenge to Willamette students to support future athletic events whenever possible.

Willamette students have always been justly proud of Bearcat victories and shared in the recognition which championships have brought to our campus; now it's about time to get out there and help earn those victories.

NW Conference Crown Hinges on CPS-WU Series Tonight and Tomorrow

'Cats Win Two From Whitman 54-45, 61-49

Gallaher Grabs 35 Points Toolson Earns Spurs In Missionary Series

Howard Maple's Willamette cagers found themselves two steps closer to the Northwest Conference championship after twice turning back Whitman college last week, 54-45, and 61-49.

Lacking the polished passing and scoring attack that Missionary teams have shown here in the past, the Walla Walla club started slow in both contests and were never within threatening distance either evening.

On the other hand, the Bearcats seemed to do everything right in the first half of each game, and led by the deadeye boys, Sam Gallaher and Howard Eberly, the Maplemen proceeded to run up comfortable halftime leads of 36-19 and 33-16 respectively.

Displaying their old tendency to let down in the second half when in the lead, the 'Cats lost ground in the final periods both evenings, but still had enough offensive punch to carry them through whenever the Missionaries drew up to within a dozen baskets. The Bearcat seconds finished both contests.

Gallaher High-Scorer

Summer Gallaher tied with Husby of Whitman for scoring honors the first evening with 16 points; Howard Eberly followed on their heels with 15 tallies. Gallaher came back the second night to collect 19 points, which assured him high scoring honors again and an exceptional 35 point total for the two game series. Earl Toolson and Howard Eberly were not far behind their teammates with 13 and 11 points respectively. Somerville tied the Whitman scoring with a 14 point total.

Toolson, starting with the varsity for the first time since he injured his foot on the pre-Christmas road trip, was the outstanding ball-hawk of the series. Earl was as active as a fire-cracker under both backboards, and batted in rebounds with the finesse of a veteran.

Linfield Dims WU Title Hopes With 56-37 Win

Maplemen Feel Loss of Robertson; Defense Riddled by Wildcats

A fired-up Linfield quintet gained long-sought revenge and put our Willamette Bearcats squarely behind the eight ball when they handed them a 56-37 lashing in the McMinnville gym Tuesday night.

The Wildcat victory, first in any major sport for several years, dropped Willamette into a second place tie with the McMinnville club, and left the Bearcats facing the huge task of dropping the league-leading College of Puget Sound Loggers in both games of their weekend series here. Then they must whip Pacific in their final game a week later if they are to have front seats when the conference cake is cut.

It was evident from the start that the Maplemen severely felt lack of an adequate replacement for Jimmy Robertson, the likable spark-plugger who has paced his teammates to so many victories in the past. With the exception of the opening minutes of the game when the Bearcats managed to keep pace with the Linfield quint, they were never in the ball game. Thus after time Linfield men broke through the 'Cats faltering defense to score easy lay-in shots.

Pulling way to a 9-6 lead at the nine-minute mark, and then with a burst of scoring, moved up to a 28-16 advantage at the half. The Bearcats gained a little ground as the second period opened, and closed the gap with five minutes played to 31-22, the closest they could come to Linfield in that torrid first period.

Don Hansen hooped in 21 points for undisputed scoring honors, while Clint Cameron led the Willamette scorers with 11 tallies.

Willamette 37 — 56 Linfield
Toolson 2 — 23 Hansen
Gallaher 5 — 8 Parton
Eberly 5 — 1 Jones
Medley 2 — 14 D Cronquist
Kolb 9 — 4 Juneluz
Substitutes for Willamette: Cameron 11, Eggers 2, For Linfield: Eckles 1, Fraser 7.

Pacific Game Next Friday to Conclude Bearcat Conference Cage Season

'Mural Musings

By PAUL SHELDON

Three Quints Tied For Leadership in A League Cage Race

There has been a lot of action in both the mural basketball leagues since we last went to press, so we will just give you the results of all the games played up to date, and the league standings.

In the A league we find three teams tied for the loop leadership with two wins and one loss. The Kappas moved into this three way tie by toppling the erstwhile undefeated Sigs by the narrow margin of one point. The final score being 19 to 18. The Kappas had previously defeated Drury's Demons, and their lone defeat was at the hands of the Frigid Digits. The Sigs gained their tie for the honored first position by defeating the Alpha Psi A's and Drury's Demons. The third team, the Yehudi Hot Shots, defeated the Frigid Digits 27 to 25 in one of the best games up to date and Drury's Demons by a 36 to 15 count. The Yehudi's only defeat was administered by the Sig A's.

In the only other A league game played, the Alpha Psi's dropped Drury's Demons.

The complete league standing up-to-date is as follows:

	won	lost	pt.
Kappa A's	2	1	.666
Yehudi Hot Shots	2	1	.666
Sig A's	2	1	.666
Alpha Psi A's	1	1	.500
Frigid Digits	1	1	.500
Drury's Demons	0	3	.000

Campus Y Leading B League With Three Wins and No Losses

The battle for first place in the B league isn't quite so hotly contested as is that of the A league, and at this writing we find the Campus Y club perched alone at the top of the heap with three victories and not one loss.

The Y team has defeated the Sig C's, the Alpha Psi D's and the Alpha Psi C's. In the other B league games played during issues, the Kappa B's downed the Sig C's. The Alpha Psi Delta B's defeated their fellow frat men the Psi C's, and the Sig B's also turned back their brothers, the Sig C's. In the final league game the Kappa B's trimmed the Alpha Psi B's.

Although the Campus Y is undefeated, the Sig B's and the Kappa B's have only one defeat each chalked up against them, and are in easy hailing distance of the Y boys.

The complete standings up-to-date are as follows:

	won	lost	pt.
Campus Y	3	0	1.000
Sig B's	2	1	.666
Kappa B's	2	1	.666
Alpha Psi D's	1	1	.500
Alpha Psi B's	1	2	.333
Alpha Psi C's	1	2	.333
Sig C's	0	3	.000

'Cubs and 'Kittens Win Hoop Honors

The Bearkittens and Bearcubs, freshman representatives of Willamette basketball, have been carrying the Cardinal and Gold colors very ably this winter in the Salem city league's Major and Minor circuit.

The Bearkittens finished the first half of the major loop schedule in second place with four wins and one loss, and are at present riding in the same position in the second half race. Major league play was suspended this week because of AAU district tournament activity but will be resumed next Wednesday.

The Bearcubs who finished the first half of the minor league season in a tie for first place, were riding in undisputed first place in the second half standings until Tuesday evening when the Hollywood club dropped them into a first place tie with a 37-26 victory.

Davis led the Bearcub scoring with nine points. Dick Kern's defensive work was exceptionally good. The 'Cub scoring was as follows: Diener 5, Atwood 4, Schaad 4, Kerns 3, Davis 9.

EOCE Edges Out WU 48-47, 56-53

A couple of long days of train riding was about all our Willamette Bearcat cagers netted from their two-game invasion of Eastern Oregon last weekend, as SOCE eked out twin Kings-X wins over Howard Maple's charges with scores of 48-47, and 56-53.

The first contest at LaGrande was a nip-and-tuck affair from beginning to end, with the scored ten times during the course of action. Behind 25-24 at the half, the Mountaineers kept within striking distance of Willamette and finally overtook the Bearcats with but three seconds remaining in the game.

Rostock of EOCE took scoring honors with 19 points; Johnny Kolb of Willamette was second with 12 points. Rostock Collects 26 Points Moving to Pendleton had no effect upon Al Rostock, "dead-eye Dick" of the Normal quintet, who once again led the scoring, this time netting 26 points as his teammates contributed their bit towards edging out the Bearcats for the second straight evening.

Clint Cameron set the scoring pace for Willamette with 14 points. Gallaher was close behind with 12, followed by Eberly with 11 and Kolb with 10 points.

Robertson Lost To Hoop Team

Willamette's hopes for the northwest conference basketball championship received another severe blow this week when it was announced that Jimmy Robertson, two-year letterman, would be out of action for the remainder of the cage season.

The inspirational leader of the Bearcats, who was coolest when the going was the toughest, is under a doctor's care at the Salem General hospital for a venous blood infection caused by a knee injury received while playing baseball last summer and aggravated by numerous bumps incurred during the basketball season.

Lack of an adequate replacement for Robertson gave Howard Maple no little worry this week as he prepared his charges for their important series against CPS tonight and tomorrow night.

Eberly Leads 'Cat Scorers

Egger's Shooting Av. Best on WU Cage Squad; Three Games Remaining

Howard Eberly, veteran center on Howard Maple's cage team, leads the Bearcat scoring race with 182 points made in 22 games, according to latest statistics released this morning by the Collegian sports department.

Running close to his teammate in the points scored column is Summer Gallaher, clever-shooting forward, who has amassed 165 digits to date.

Eberly also tops his mates in the percentage figures with a .361 average resulting from 78 field goals caged in 216 attempts. Johnny Eggers, Pendleton freshman, has the highest percentage among the squad members with a .375 shooting average, but has participated in only 13 games.

Gallaher and Jimmy Robertson are tied for honors at the free throw line with 35 points each.

With only three games remaining on the Willamette hoop schedule, it seems hardly likely that Eberly will be displaced from the top of the scoring heap, but Gallaher could do it if he has a couple more nights like those he had against Whitman, when he registered 35 points in the two-game series.

Following are complete scoring statistics up to and including Tuesday's game against Linfield.

	ST	FG	FT	TP	PF	SA
Gallaher	255	67	35	164	56	298
Toolson	75	25	19	69	21	333

Cam'on	173	47	30	124	35	272

Twenty Thinlads Answer Track Call

A group of 20 track candidates, mostly freshmen, were on hand at the first meeting for thin-lads called Tuesday by Coach Howard Maple.

Maple announced that suits will be issued Monday. Eight weeks of intensive preparation will ensue before the first meet, a three-day event involving Willamette, Oregon State, and Portland U. Saturday, April 12.

Lettermen who signed up Tuesday were John Gardner, one and two mile; Paul Cookingham, shot, discus, javelin; Bill Austin, high jump; Leroy Schultz, half-mile and mile; Bob McGee, half-mile; and Rex Putnam, pole vault.

Freshmen registering were Bob Rully, broad jump and 220; Stanley Cheledinas, two mile; Don Tasker, hurdles; Bill Atwood, high jump; Leland Williams, 440, mile relay, 100 dash and 220; Leonard Williams, 100 dash and 220; Don Burton, high jump; Nell Morley, discus, javelin, shot put; Chuck Furno, broad jump; Robert East, high jump and broad jump; John Macy, 440; and Wade Bettis, weights.

Ken Jacobson, freshman football player, evidently intends to be in shape when Spoc sends out a call for spring practice because he simply wrote, "for exercise" on the "events" sheet.

Linfield Co-ed Wins In Oratory

With a stirring appeal to the mothers of America to keep this country out of war, Merry Dorothy Simmons, Linfield college co-ed, walked off with the honors in the state peace oratorical contest of the Intercollegiate Forensic association held in Waller hall Tuesday evening.

Second place winner in the tournament was Eugene White, of Oregon State college, and third was Margaret Rueckers, of Pacific university, Willamette's entry. James Wilson took fourth place in the contest with a moving speech for peace based on his own experiences in the last World War.

Henry Frantz, who was second vice-president of the student body last year, has recently been employed by the Pan-American Airways and is stationed at their base at Miami, Fla., according to correspondence recently received by his friends upon the campus.

Frantz graduated from Kelley Field, Texas, as a second lieutenant in the army air corps late in December. He has been in army air corps training for six months following his graduation last spring.

The correspondence also revealed that Frantz has since his graduation from Kelley Field been married to Miss Marion Vinson, formerly of Tillamook.

New Assignments For Chapel Seats

New chapel seat assignments will be in effect next Tuesday according to Dean Daniel H. Schulte. Notices will be sent to all students who are eligible for seats, telling what are their seat numbers, and whether they are permanently excused, excused only on certain days, or not at all.

New seats will not be assigned to students not excused last semester, although they too will receive slips to verify their present numbers. "Chapel roll has been taken thus far this semester for those whose seats are permanent," said Dean Schulte, "and Tuesday all new assignments will be checked."

Library Displays Rare Ornaments

An exhibition of rare Indian ornaments is on display in the library under the supervision of Bill Laughlin, president of the Anthropological society. Among them is a string of rare stone beads, found in the Columbia river region and presented to the museum by Mr. Jensen, father of Miriam Jensen, junior from Hood River.

Another item is a long necklace of red dyed turtle bones from the Plains culture east of the Rocky Mountains. They once adorned the neck of an Indian prince.

A belt of mink's jaws mounted on hide is an extremely unusual and ancient piece from Alaska included in the exhibit. It was loaned to the museum by Dr. Gorthoff who serves the Indians in the lower Yukon valley.

A brilliantly colored group of Indian character studies, copies of paintings by Winold Reiss and W. Langdon Kihn, collected by Dr. Henry C. Kohler, is displayed on the bulletin board.

Museum Shows Unusual Display

Dr. H. G. Barnett, acting head of the department of anthropology of the University of Oregon, spoke on the Shaker Cult in the Northwest, yesterday afternoon in the University museum. On display in the museum was an unusual collection of arrow heads belonging to Ralph Miller, and a collection of fossils from the Netarts Bay sand pit.

Pickett Finishes Article Section

A section of an article on "The Survey of the Administration of Justice" has just been completed by Tom Pickett, a senior at the Willamette College of Law. The complete article, being compiled by J. C. Dezenberg, an attorney-at-law in Portland, has been filed by the national director and will soon be published in either the "Oregon Law Review" or the "Oregon State Bar Supplement."

Library Gets Rare Northwest History

The Willamette library is the recipient of a rare volume of Northwest history called "Three Years' Travel Through Interior Parts of North America," written by Jonathan Carver in 1776. It is the first book in which the word "Oregon" was incorporated and was recently sent to America from England to the Hon. Robert A. Booth, a member of the university's board of trustees, who donated it to the library.

WSS Fund Drive Nears Completion

Contributions to Willamette's share of the world student service fund are approaching the quota this week with $140 of the $200 goal.

Dick Millison

The Grand Theatre announces the beginning of The Saturday Swing School, a new musical stage show, Saturday, February 15, headed by Dick Millison and Roger Miller's Orchestra.

The cooperation of McKendry and Bell Men's Store and the bakers of Master Bread make it possible to bring this show to the radio and theatre audience every Saturday from 12:45 to 1:30 on the stage, and from 1 to 1:30 over KSLM.

This is a question and answer program based on the musical knowledge of high school and Willamette students. Every Saturday, two students from each school will be invited to appear as contestants on the show, and will be handsomely rewarded for their spontaneous wit and knowledge.

Everyone has a chance to come in for the winnings by submitting their musical questions and answers. Question blanks may be obtained from the Grand Theatre, McKendry & Bell Men's Store, and wherever Master Bread is sold. Every question used on the radio program will earn for its submitter two tickets to the Grand Theatre.

The school's tuition of twenty cents is payable every Saturday between 12:30 and 1:00 o'clock. Those who register late must pay thirty cents. This entitles the students to a full course in swing dished out by the faculty consisting of members of Roger Miller's orchestra, Miss Sally Anderson, Miss Sunny Heitner, Horsey Lindbeck, Bill Page, Bill DeSouza, Glenn Woodry, Bud Mercer and Don Burton, with Dick Millison as Head Master.

When class is dismissed at 1:30 the students will see the regular full picture bill showing at the Grand Theatre.

The bakers of Master Bread, McKendry & Bell Men's Store, and the Grand Theatre extend an invitation for fun and education to enroll in the Saturday Swing School.

The student graduating with the highest degree in swing every fifth week will be presented by Hartman Bros., a $40.00 Gruen veri-thin wrist watch in coral gold.
