FORMAL OPENING.

Bishop Cranston Addressed the Students Last Tuesday Afternoon.

As announced Monday morning, Tuesday afternoon was set apart for the

The second recitation period was shortened and the third period of the afternoon was cut out to give the students a suitable opportunity to be present.

As the Bishop entered the room he was warmly greeted by the students with whom he has become a favorite speaker.

The meeting was opened by the President of the University promptly at 2:30. In a few kindly words he presented Gen W. H. Odell President of the Board of Trustees, who then took charge of the meeting. A song was an-

PROF. L. S. GRAHAM.

An extended notice was given a few weeks ago concerning Prof. Graham. We find that the reputation he bears as an excellent pianist and teacher is more than realized. His advanced pupils who have studied under other teachers of the state consider him better than any of the teachers we have had, either in Salem or in Portland. This is saying a great deal, but it seems to be the universal opinion of those who have become acquainted with him.

formal opening of the University. The reason for holding the formal opening so late in the fall was that Bishop Cranston might be present and make the occasional address. Bishop Cranston has shown himself a true friend of the institution and it was with pleasure that the announcement of his presence was received by the students.

nounced after the singing of which Rev. D. A. Watters read as the Scripture lesson the 103d Psalm.

The Assembly was led in prayer by Dr. John Parsons and after another song Bishop Cranston was introduced. As he stepped forward the audience gave him the Chautauqua salute.

lish Bishop Cranston's address but it was deemed inadvisable at this time.

Immediately following the Bishop, Dr. A. N. Fisher was introduced and was asked to make a few remarks which he did. The audience was then dismissed with the Benediction by Bishop Cranston.

We have always had splendid addresses at the formal opening of the University each year and this year was no exception. Bishop Cranston may always feel assured of a good meeting among the students of Willamette University.

C. V. HIBBARD HERE.

Addresses By Him and By Mrs. Hibbard Friday.

Mr. C. V. Hibbard, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and for the past two years general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at the Northwestern University, is visiting the colleges of the coast on his way to Japan, where he is to engage in the general secretaryship under the International Committee. His visit to Willamette was scheduled for Oct. 17 and 18. Mr. Hibbard has been at the Student's Conference at Pacific Grove, California, for several sessions, and many of the University men have become acquainted with him there. He is accompanied by Mrs. Hibbard, who has until recently, been connected with the association work at the University of Wisconsin.

It was expected that Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard would be here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but Thursday evening the

Entered at the postoffice at Salem as second class matter

At the opening exercises last Tuesday afternoon much display of color was noticed among the students. We imagine the display to be intended for college colors as Dean Hawley suggested, but alas, what college would want to claim such colors as those. It probably is known to most of you that the colors are cardinal and old gold. Tuesday there might be seen anything from canary yellow to a light brown and from scarlet to maroon. A great many, especially among the boys may not know a cardinal or an old gold but surely nothing but color blindness could excuse some of the colors seen. Merchants sometimes have a bad habit, both for themselves and their customers, of selling any old thing if they do not have the right shades. The proper colors are very pretty but the recent display—never. There should be a sample of the proper shades in the office for the benefit of the students, and greater care should be used in selecting the ribbons.

For the last two weeks we have been obliged to use two different kinds of type. The combination was not at all pleasing and from now on we expect to use but one type.

By Request.

The Faculty of Willamette University wish it to be understood that the editorial appearing in the issue of the Collegian of October 14, referring to the editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate was published entirely without their knowledge and consent, and that they strongly disapprove of both the terms and the spirit of the editorial, and regret that such an article should have appeared in the college journal.

FOOT BALL GAME.

W. U. Loses to O. A. C. by a Score of Sixty-Seven to Nothing.

The men of the University gave the team a little send off at the station. It was not a monster demonstration but a quiet gathering held to jolly up the players and to make them feel that the university stands ready to support each and every man who is willing to do and dare for the honor of his Alma Mater. The program was entirely informal and consisted of spirited cheering and jubilant yelling. Every one shook hands with the football players, wishing them all kinds of good luck.

Signal, 8-17-2-3-12, and Pollard hit the line.

The Collegian extends hearty congratulations to the few rooters who were at the station, but we lament that there were not more of students present. But to the faithful few we doff our cap of sincere approval. The move, although small, was in the right direction. It will be a good thing, henceforth, to keep moving in that same way throughout the entire foot ball season.

The one thing we admired most in the boys' demonstration was that it was not only whole-hearted but decidedly impartial and full of the right kind of fellowship. Surely it was no time to cheer for a particular individual or a set of individuals. What was needed and what was displayed there, was a whole-souled exhibition of confidence in the entire team. The boys who had come to the depot knew why they were there and what they had come for, and showed it in no undecided manner. Again, men of Willamette, we say "well done."

The foot ball practice this week has been earnest and spirited. Thursday evening the co-eds did excellent work, their singing was lively, and an occasional "three cheers" when a good play was made sent a thrill of enthusiasm through the players. The manner in which the second team is staying with it is indeed gratifying to all lovers of foot ball. Each evening both teams go through stiff signal practice before the regular line up. The teams have not been worked very hard as yet, but the training must become more strenuous and the discipline more rigid. The team lacks much snap and the interference is comparatively ragged. Nothing that could be denominated as team work can be seen as yet. But there is no reason for discouragement. The defeat received at Corvallis was anticipated. For many of the men it was the first game they had ever seen, and accordingly knew but little about it. Others who had played in other games failed to realize "they were up against it."

The principal features of the game were the end runs by Williams and the college's interference was good. They were unable to make gains through Willamette's line, but invariably gained around the ends. While the size of the score was surprising to some the loss to O. A. C. was not. It will be interesting to see how this new interference of O. A. C. will work against the officials and team of the U. of W. next Saturday.

Miss Marian Gray, a former student attended Chapel exercises Thursday.

Ray Blair was compelled to leave school on account of illness, but he hopes to return next semester.

Miss Pearl Sanders, of Corvallis, visited Chapel Thursday and has registered in the College of Music.

That rooters club should be doing some rooting this week.

C. C. Baker, a former student, and now an employee at the Asylum was a Chapel visitor Wednesday.

Forty two men on the football squad looks like business. There is room for more however and three or four good teams are none too many for Willamette to turn out.

Next Saturday every student in school should be out to see that game and should be supplied with a horn, two yards of ribbon, and a pair of good lungs.

The senior class is now complete, the last—but by no means the least—member, Miss Sophia Townsend, having registered Monday.

A certain young lady student upon being asked for her lamp to be used at a reception, replied that it would only burn a couple of hours before going out. Pretty well trained Dick.

Mr. E. K. Miller who was elected captain of the football team last week is a member of the Sophomore class instead of the Junior, as was reported in last week's Collegian. The Sophomores think they have the best class in school and do not propose that they shall lose any honors which are coming to them.

C. V. HIBBARD HERE.

Association here was informed by telegraph that they would spend Sunday in Portland. Bulletins through the University announced the change Friday. Arrangements were made for a meeting of the girls, to be addressed by Mrs. Hibbard in Chapel at 3:30, and of the students to be addressed by Mr. Hibbard at 7:30.

A goodly number of girls responded to the announcement on the bulletin to meet Mrs. Hubbard in the Chapel at 3:30.

Mrs. Hibbard first gave the greetings sent from Miss Conde to the Willamette girls—

"For a great door and effectual is opened unto me and there are many adversaries." She then spoke briefly of the origin, growth and work of what Dwight L. Moody called "the greatest Christian enterprise of this century," the Student Volunteer Movement.

The mention of volunteers already in the field, and the work being done there only brought more forcibly to the minds of the girls the urgent need of workers in foreign lands. The parting message left with the Association was, "Understand what the will of the Lord is."

Mrs. Hibbard's words were as interesting as they were impressive and together with the pleasing manner of one who is personally interested in her audience made her a favorite with all who heard her. As she goes with Mr. Hibbard to their work across the sea our hearts and prayers go with them.

We were favored with the presence of Miss Shields also, whom we have come to consider almost as one of our number.

At 7:30 Prof. Kerr called the meeting to order. After song and prayer Mr. Hibbard was introduced and took charge. In his forcible manner he showed the present strength of the United States. He then presented the possibilities of the decline of the United States as the Orient is developed. The great untouched mineral wealth of China and the rich soil is destined to make it at least one of the greatest countries of the world and possibly the greatest. When this immense power is in the hands of the Chinese, how will they use it? It all depends upon the amount of civilizing i. e., Christianizing that is done before they become so powerful. If the United States alone would give one fiftieth of its increase each year this work could be provided for and completed in this generation if all the civilized world would give one fiftieth of its yearly increase the evangelization of the entire uncivilized world would be provided for in one generation. Again, if one college graduate out of fifty should volunteer during the next thirty years, the working force would be supplied to do the work in one generation. The overcrowded condition of the professions in America was discussed and the many favorable openings for work in China. A very earnest plea was made for the meeting of these needs. The address closed with a prayer for the work both at home and abroad. A deep impression was made upon the minds of those present.

During Saturday Mr. Hibbard met those who wished to see him in private conference in the Association room. He said his wife returned to Portland on the afternoon train. Their presence has been most helpful to our students. We are sorry their stay could not be prolonged till after Sunday. The "God speed" of the associations goes with them into their new field of work where we are sure they will be most successful in this great and noble work.

COLLEGE NEWS.

Trinity College has a freshman class of 50.
 Wellesley College has a freshman class of 293.
 Columbia University has a Chinese department.
 The entering class in the Yale school of Forestry numbers about 25 men.
 Radcliffe College opened its twenty-third academic year with a registration of 406.
 At Beloit the total enrollment of the college is practically the same as that of last year.
 Dean White, of Cornell, has left the German department to take a chair in Harvard.

Carnegie has made a gift of $75,000 to an English school—St. Andrew University of which he is a rector.

O. A. C.'s new grandstand will accommodate 600 people. It is built so as to be useful in all the athletic games held at the college.

At Yale, representatives from twenty-two colleges, have entered the senior class of the academical department in order to secure a Yale degree.

Mrs. Mary Munger Swan, of Geneva, Ohio, has bequeathed $28,000 to the Ohio Wesleyan University for a professorship of Missions.

Berea College laid the corner stone for a Men's Industrial Building on Oct. 18th. The oration of the occasion was by Walter H. Page of The World's Work.

Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, although offered an advance of salary by the Univ. of Nebraska, has declined to accept the $1,000 additional to his salary but will remain to guide the institution at Lincoln.

At Cornell, the Sibley College building is practically completed. This secures to Sibley the largest auditorium on the campus, a spacious museum and more room for class and laboratory work.

At Lehigh University work has begun on a new brick building, 186 ft. long, 70 feet deep and three stories high. One half of the building will be devoted to the department of geology and the other half to mechanical engineering.

The college daily, though not so general until recently, has been in existence since 1875. The Harvard Crimson, which was founded in 1873 under a different name, was the first college daily. The Yale Daily News and Cornell Daily Sun followed in 1876 and 1880, respectively. The Daily Princetonian and Pennsylvania soon appeared, according to the Record-Herald. The college daily is held to be an essential organ in a major university as a faithful record of student opinion and college affairs.

In a number of universities the faculty now make official use of the daily. —Notre Dame Scholastic.

Our exchange list is materially growing especially in quality. We heartily welcome the up-to-date and worthy monthpiece of the Nebraska students—The Daily Nebraskan.

EXCHANGE.

The University of Washington has a glee club and a mandolin club.

Washington University freshmen defeated the Sophmores by a score of 18 to 13 in a recent cane rush.

Thirty-four men have enrolled at Stanford for the "Carnot debate" and sixty have signed up for full track work.—Pacific Wave.

Among our other exchanges are the Evergreen, Eugene High School News and the organ of the People's University at Olympia, Washington.

The Pacific Wave, the weekly mouthpiece of the Univ. of Washington has reached our table. No. 3 of Vol. X. is an up-to-date, optimistic edition. We extend the glad hand.

Walter Camp, the father of American football, will coach Yale this year, we will be assisted by Swan, last year's end on the 'Varsity and Sharpe another player of merit will look out for the kicking.

The editor expects to "run" this department to please himself. He desires to be independent and hopes that his freedom of expression will in no way interfere with the independence of his readers.

We hope as soon as possible to place the exchanges in the reading room so as to give an opportunity to all the students to read them at their leisure. Much of practical nature, and much that will prove interesting and helpful will be found in them.

The aim of the department will be to keep our readers closely in touch with the doings at other colleges. Jokes, criticisms and other matters of interest in the college world will find expression in these columns. Our exchanges are coming in large numbers and we surely will receive much benefit from them.

FOOT BALL NOTES.

California meets Stanford on Nov. 18.

Frank Templeton will captain the Albany College eleven during the coming season.

Whitman College will be coached by the famous "warhorse" Allen, of the University of Chicago.

Karl Clemans, captain of Stanford '92 will coach the Stanford players at a salary of $100. per week. Clemans coached the University of Washington during the seasons of '97 and '99.

"Locomotive" Smith the famous California foot ball player, ex-coach of the University of Oregon, has applied through the manager of the California team for reinstatement to amateur standing.

J. C. Knight, a graduate of Princeton, will coach the University of Washington team. Knight is one of the ablest coaches in West, having received training from such men as Lee, Edwards and Yost.

Fred Day, '03 has been chosen captain of the Pacific University team, "Tag" Day has played on the crimson and black team for the past three years. He is a consistent player and the star of the Pacific University aggregation.
