

WILLAMETTE ADMINISTERS AN AWFUL DRUBBING TO VANCOUVER

71-0 SCORE PILED UP AGAINST TEAM WHICH MULTNOMAH DEFEATED THIRTY-TO NOTHING EARLIER IN THE SEASON

VARSITY STRIKES THE PAGE AND RUNS AWAY FROM OPPONENTS

Greatest Team Work Ever Seen on Willamette Field Marks the Game. Every Willamette Man Plays Brilliantly

We have met the enemy and he is our'n. The pride of the United States Army is humbled again and this time by the overwhelming score of 71 to absolutely nothing. The game was fast and furious, especially furious, Willamette either scoring or making long runs for yardage every minute, and in between-times holding the visitors for no gain or throwing them back for loss; and to come down to brass tacks, the wearers of the blue never had the semblance of a look-in at any stage of the game.

Every Willamette man played his best and in every case that best was of the highest order. Never was better teamwork shown on the Varsity field; every man was in every play, and the interference put up by the boys was perfect.

There were exciting moments galore. Sensational line-plunges, double and triple passes, forward passes, end runs, and some occasional open-field runs were the order of the day and every man on the team came in for his share.

The game started with the Army kicking off to Homan, who ran the ball back twenty yards before he was downed. Erskine was put through the line for four yards, Rowland was just as good, and Stearns went over for the first down. Rowland tried the line for no gain, Erskine plunged and made nine, and the redoubtable Prunes Francis went around end for thirteen. A couple of plays netted six yards and then one of Rowland's forward passes was intercepted and the Soldiers tried their luck. They decided to punt, and then our Curley pulled off the first sensational play of the game; he caught the punt on the 35-yard line and ran through the entire team for a touchdown. Francis kicked goal and the score was 7 to 0 and only two minutes of the first quarter were gone.

Willamette again received the ball. A series of bucks netted the Varsity about 30 yards and then Rowland punted 20 yards, the Army man being downed in his tracks. Three line plunges netted the visitors three scant yards and they attempted to punt. Blackwell broke through and not only blocked the kick but recovered the ball, and it was first down for Willamette on the Army's 15-yard line. Erskine plunged for no gain, Francis went around end for five yards, and Stearns bucked the line off tackle for a touchdown, but it was not allowed on account of a foul committed by a teammate, and instead of six points added, Willamette was penalized 15 yards. Homan tried a forward pass which was incomplete. Francis then tried for a field goal from placement and failed, it becoming the Soldiers' ball on their own one-yard line. A punt was tried and was returned 10 yards by Homan, and then for the first time in the game the Varsity was held for downs and the ball went to the Soldiers. Two line plunges gave them ten yards and the first quarter was over, with the ball in the Army's possession on their 25-yard line.

In the second quarter, Willamette really began her offensive playing. The Army made first down once at the beginning, but lost the ball on downs. Thereupon, Stearns plunged for 12 yards, Homan went straight through for four more, and then Hepp ran 25 yards around end for a touchdown. Francis kicked the goal and the score was 14 to 0.

Willamette received the kickoff, Francis returning it 30 yards. Not to be outdone, Erskine gained a like distance around end; Rowland plunged for 5, Stearns gained 12 more by a double pass, Rowland was again played for 8, Homan went around end for 12, Rowland plunged 3, and Erskine went over for the remaining 3 yards necessary for a touchdown. Francis failed to kick goal. Score, 20-0.

The Army elected to receive the kickoff this time, and Bolt kicked to Haslam, who was downed on the 40-yard line. A series of plays lost the Army 4 yards, and they punted 25 to Rowland, who failed to return it. A couple of plays gained the Varsity 10 yards and then Erskine ran 50 yards for a touchdown, receiving the ball on a double pass that bewildered the Soldiers completely. Francis kicked goal. Score, 27-0.

The remainder of the quarter was uneventful and the half ended with the ball on the Army's 6-yard line. Score 27-0 in favor of W. U.

The second half began with a snap. Willamette kicked off. The Army bucked the line just once and were thrown back for a loss. The next play the fumbled the ball and it was recovered by Blackwell. Erskine ran for 5 yards, Bolt was played, for 3 more and Stearns was good for 12. Watson made six yards through the line, Rowland followed with 2, and Bolt made it first down. Erskine was good for 4 yards, Prunes followed suit, and Rowland went the remaining 4 yards for a touchdown. Francis kicked goal. Score, 34-0.

Willamette kicked off but the Army failed to run the ball back a yard. They then lost the ball on downs, and Willamette began to march it down the field. Rowland was finally forced to kick, punting thirty yards and the Army failing to run it back. The soldiers then punted 30 yards to Homan, who returned it 20. Then began another march down the field which was stopped on the Soldiers' 1-yard line, where the Varsity lost the ball on downs. The Army kicked 25 yards to Homan, who fumbled, the Army recovering the ball.

The Soldiers ran off two plays for a slight gain, fumbled, and the ball was Willamette's on their 40-yard

FACULTY COMMITTEE CHANGES REGULATION

STUDENTS HOLDING OFFICE NOT REQUIRED TO RESIGN, BUT ADVISED TO DO SO.

OFFICES DIVIDED INTO TWO CLASSES

Amended Form of Ruling Does Away With Objectionable Feature of Previous Action.

After a reconsideration of its former action in regard to students holding office, the faculty referred the matter back to a committee consisting of Professors Patterson, Coolsey and Kirk, with the result that a number of changes have been made. The committee, in conference with President Homan, has gone over the situation carefully and worked out the recommendations and regulations herewith presented. It is to be noted that these amended rulings have not yet been presented to the faculty, but there is no reason to believe that they will reject the report of the committee. The report follows:

Recommendations.

"It is the judgment of the Faculty that any student now holding more than one student body office, such as President and Treasurer of the Student Body, President of either of the Christian Associations, Editor and Manager of The Collegian, Editor and Manager of the college annual, and Manager of any student body activity, should retain but one of these offices.

It is further recommended that no student should hold more than one office in addition to those mentioned above.

"It is the judgment of the faculty that only students having the standing of Seniors or Juniors in the College of Liberal Arts should be elected to the major offices.

Regulations.

"Because of the work and time involved, and because of their general relation to the whole student body, the following shall be considered Major Offices: President and Treasurer of the Student Body, President of the Y. M. C. A., President of the Y. W. C. A., Editor and Business Manager of The Collegian, Editor and Business Manager of the Junior Annual, Manager of any Student Body activity.

As a matter of distinction, the following shall be considered Minor Offices: Presidents of the Literary Societies, Presidents of class organizations, and Presidents and Managers of special organizations of students.

Hereafter no student shall be elected to more than one major and one minor office, without special action on the part of the Faculty.

Only students maintaining satisfactory standings in class and in conduct shall be eligible to election to any office. Students so elected must maintain satisfactory standards in order to continue in office."

Two outstanding differences are manifest between this and the previous action. One is that those now holding more offices than is allowed are not required to resign, though it is recommended that such a course be followed. The other consists of the division of offices into Major offices and Minor offices. These two new provisions do away with the two phases of the former ruling which left it open to criticism, its "ex post

PRES. HOMAN HOME FROM EASTERN JOURNEY

Willamette's Benefactors Visited and Inauguration of President of Drew Attended.

President Homan arrived in Salem Friday from his flying trip to New York. At St. Paul he held a conference with James J. Hill, and terms were reached with regard to the turning over of Mr. Hill's $50,000 to Willamette. It is practically assured that his conditions will be met so as to make his pledge forthcoming by January. In New York, President Homan laid the claims of Willamette before the National Education Board, although without the results hoped for. He also called upon Henry Clews, "The Owl of Wall Street," who contributes $1,000 annually to Willamette, and attended the inauguration of Dr. Ezra Squier Tipple as President of Drew Theological Seminary.

At Monday morning's chapel, Dr. Homan spoke of his trip at some length, but wound up with his usual and sincere statement that for him the Willamette Valley and Willamette University in particular, is the best place in the world.

MONTANA GAME CERTAIN

Reports of Cancellation Proven False By Messages Received From School Authorities.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 31, 1912. Dr. G. J. Sweetland, Jr., Salem, Ore.: Football team will be with you on Thanksgiving as per contract.—Dr. E. B. Craighead, President University of Montana.

Missoula, Mont., Nov. 3, 1912. Dr. G. J. Sweetland, Willamette University, Salem, Ore.: Have had no idea of cancelling our game with you Thanksgiving day. Will play sure. Have been out of the city and could not answer sooner.—F. H. Whistler, University of Montana Football Team.

The two telegrams reproduced above are in answer to one sent to the Montana manager by Dr. Sweetland after reading in the Oregonian some time since that Montana had cancelled her western Thanksgiving trip. The coach was quite certain that the report was unfounded, but he immediately wired, in order to make certain. It is not known how the report was started, but it probably came from one of the smaller schools which Montana had planned to play on the trip.

With this big game in view, the squad will put in its hardest ticks of the season during the intervening three weeks. The Montana team without a doubt will be the biggest drawing-card seen on Willamette Field in years and with passable weather the game will draw a record-breaking crowd.

It is impossible to get any line upon Montana's strength in comparison to Northwest colleges. Last Saturday, she suffered a 10-3 defeat at the hands of Utah. In the past, Rocky Mountain teams have shown their equality with those of the Pacific Northwest, so that there is no reason to doubt that Willamette will have her hands full when the two teams try conclusions on Turkey day.

An event which failed to receive notice in last week's Collegian occurred at Kimball College on Monday, Oct. 28, when Dean and Mrs. Kimball held an informal reception for all students of the college.

WILSON CARRIES U. S. BY LARGE MAJORITY

B. L. STEEVES RECEIVES LARGE VOTE FOR MAYOR, MORE THAN ALL OTHERS COMBINED.

STUDENTS WELL REPRESENTED AT POLLS

Faculty are Good Citizens—All Qualified Voters Use Their Franchise.

The Salem primaries held Monday afternoon brought forth a fine list of candidates. B. L. Steeves, a member of the Board of Trustees and a prominent doctor of this city, was elected mayor out of a field of three candidates. Dr. Steeves polled a heavier vote than the other two combined.

Mr. Steeves was the candidate upon a non-partisan ticket. His platform was a true enforcement of the law with 'no tincture of radicalism.'

The other city officers who will not have to wait for the December election to know who will hold office are: Recorder: Elgin, 1282; Race, 925. Treasurer: Crossan, 1149; Anderson, 1028.

There was no election to office of city marshal. Frank Shedeck with 729 votes and D. W. Gibson with 578, the two highest, will be voted upon in the December election.

The vote polled in Salem is the largest in many years. The students of Willamette turned out in better shape than has been known for some time. Practically every qualified voter was registered, and the few who had not been able to perform this duty were sworn in at the polls.

Every member of the faculty who was a qualified voter performed his duty at both the city primaries on Monday and the national election yesterday. The results of the national and state elections were not complete at an early hour this morning. While thousands of Salem people swarmed the streets and watched the bulletin boards, there was only a partial report. Following is the summary of the state and national tickets up to three o'clock this morning:

New York, Nov. 5.—With the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency and Thos. R. Marshall to the vice presidency assured by the earlier returns tonight, the reports up to midnight gave indications that the electoral vote of the Democratic candidate would pass the 400 mark.

Olcott Coming Well.

For secretary of state indications point to Ben Olcott as the winning man and it will take an overwhelming vote based upon the present reports to defeat him.

For congress it seems to be Mr. Hawley's turn as he is running strongly in every part of the state heard from and in many places two to one or better against the field.

Judge Eakin will probably be returned unless the early returns fail to be indicative of the general expression of the state at large. He is also running two to one against his opponents in many places and is meeting with favor everywhere. Thomas Campbell as railroad commissioner gives promise of being a winner as his opponent is not showing up any too well in the early reports.

Big Job.

The work of counting the votes cast is occupying the entire efforts of a large body of men in every section of the state. The long ballots not only made it more of a task for the voter, but delayed the counting considerably because of the labor necessary to tabulate every measure. When it is considered that there are 117 candidates to be voted on in the state and fifty-seven measures the import of the task may be grasped.

Smith Takes All.

One candidate who seemed to have

A MATTER OF NEGLECT.

If the Stars and Stripes are to fly over the campus of the University, and they certainly should, it would seem as though the traditions surrounding them should, in a general way at least, be respected. Custom has been neglected or only half followed in a number of instances. Our attention has been called to this matter by the fact that the flag on Eaton Hall, which was lowered when the intelligence of Vice-President Sherman's death arrived, remained at half-mast for just five days, instead of the usual twenty-four hours. Such a procedure is more a mark of disrespect than of respect and mourning. Surely a fitting knowledge of and respect for the functions of the flag should be cultivated at a university if anywhere.

KEEP THE FILES.

We should have suggested before now that there is no other one thing which will recall the tender college memories in after years as a complete file of Collegians. Only a short time ago we were lured from our studies one evening by a file of The Collegian of two years back and its interest was really fascinating. If you haven't saved the previous issues, secure them, and keep a file not only for this year, but throughout your course.

A CORRECTION.

The Collegian wishes to apologize for referring to Congressman Hawley as "Senator" in the last issue. He is not a Senator nor has he ever expressed such an aspiration, though we have no doubt he would make a good one and (breathe it softly) he may some day, too.

PHILOSOPHANS INITIATE.

Last Friday afternoon seventeen new girls gathered in the Philodorian hall, wearing anxious expressions and carrying downy pillows to make soft the rough way, should they slip and fall as they climbed the rugged road that leads to the portals of these halls.

Old girls looked equally joyous and gleefully made preparations to welcome these strangers to their future society home. After uniting them in a circle of friendship, crossed by a bar of love, the president, Miss Gertrude Reeves welcomed them in a short address in which she presented the purposes and ideals of the society. Then the fun began.

When each girl had pledged undying loyalty to the Philodorians, the constitution was signed by Edith Lornsten, Annie Ryan, Constance Cartwright, Beryl Holt, Leona McJueen, Ruth Tagker, Lillian Manny, Ruth Owen, Margaret Poissal, Zetta Underwood, Hazel Smith, Lucile Kuntz, Ermine Harding, Helen Was-tell, Elmo Ohling, Keith Van Winkle, and Bess Hockett.

Mrs. Peck was elected and joyfully received to honorary membership.

Before refreshments Miss Rea Wilson sang and Miss Ethel Thomas gave an entertaining reading.

There will be a short initiation after the "Scrap Bag" program next Friday afternoon.

Preps Practice Witchery.

The Third and Fourth year classes entertained in honor of Halloween witches Friday evening at the home of Mr. Snobble. The evening was filled with games and, of course, fortune telling. It was queer that some people's fortune changed every time they were told, but the witches aren't supposed to remember. The rooms were prettily decorated with leaves, cornstalks, and pumpkins.

After good eats and a sing around the piano, they adjourned, voting each other and everyone in general a vote of thanks for our good time. Mr. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Snobble chaperoned the company.

STUDENTS ATTRACTED TO SIX-O'CLOCK CLUB

All members of the masculine portion of the student body are invited to attend the fortnightly gatherings of the Salem Six-O'clock Club at the First M. E. Church. The meetings consist of a social half-hour, a good supper, and afterwards, a talk and general discussion upon some timely topic, either moral, religious, civic, or political. A charge of twenty-five cents is made to cover the cost of the supper. A number of students are taking advantage of this opportunity for getting acquainted with local men, enjoying the best kind of a meal, and hearing live, helpful discussions. The next meeting is on Monday, Nov. 11.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINS GIRLS OF ACADEMY

The Academy girls were enjoyably entertained Saturday afternoon by the Y. W. C. A. The afternoon was spent in getting acquainted and in playing unique games. A delightful short program was rendered and after the dainty refreshments the girls seated themselves on the floor and had an old-fashioned sing. Miss Reynolds and Miss Chapple were honored guests. All of the new girls declare that the Y. W. C. A. is "all right."

Miss Goltra Entertains.

Miss Inez Goltra, '16, entertained about thirty University people at a delightful Halloween party Saturday evening. The crowd consisted principally of Freshmen, with a number of Miss Goltra's friends from the upper classes. The games and favors were all in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Harvard university has a total registration of 4,195 students this year, a gain of 77 over last year. The collegiate department has 2,306 students, a gain of 53. The only loss is in the law school, which has 61 fewer students than a year ago.

OAKES EXPATRIATES ON WORLD'S SERIES CROWD

Alumnus Takes Holiday and Studies Psychology with a Vengeance.

The following article consists of selections from an epistle from Jimmie Oakes to the editor, the same being sundry observations on the manner of a Boston crowd at a World's Series baseball game. We are sorry that lack of space prevents publishing the whole of it. "Jimmie" has promised an article or two a little later on his impression of Harvard.

"With blood tingling with anticipation and pockets bulging out with sandwiches, I alighted at Fenway Park just about the time the 'Old Clock on the Stairway' was ticking 8 a. m.

"Our carload was immediately greeted by a hilarious outburst of banterings and cat-calls on the part of those already standing in line. This good-natured greeting, I found out later, was commonly accorded each newly arrived car as it disgorged itself of its human freight.

"There were in the neighborhood of one thousand people already in line before the ticket windows—six long, meandering lines of expectant, intense, but withal amicable, people.

"If my first attention was attracted toward the mass of people, I was very soon compelled to heed the varied cries that were coming up on all sides. Indeed! I discovered that I was in a veritable market-place!

"Newsies standing at the head of the lines called out that they would sell their places for two-bits or fifty cents, whatever the case might be.

Vendors, protected by breastworks of sandwiches and tanks of steaming coffee, declared that they had an unlimited supply of "hot-dog" on hand to dispose of to the public at large at theretofore unheard of, slaughter prices! Little street urchins legged it around and endeavored to divest themselves of the so-called "ideal lunches," lunches that were done up in uniform pasteboard boxes with the covers tightly secured as if to keep out the eyes of a dubious public.

"At ten o'clock the ticket sellers could wait no longer, so they opened the windows and the fans began filling inside.

"After the first stampede for seats was over, and the incoming crowds take their places in something like orderly manner, there is a noticeable lull in the behavior of the fans. Then—then somebody throws a peanut! (What mighty things can happen from the throwing of a single innocent peanut!) Then follows another peanut—then another—then several at the same time—now a wadded newspaper—now a half-eaten sandwich—until a veritable fusillade of articles are traveling through the air toward an elderly gentleman down on the front row, who forgot to leave his "dicer" at home!

"Dicers," inasmuch as they are not long "things of beauty and of joy forever," are, I find, best left at home in Boston. What's more, when you pick a seat in the bleachers here, always pick out an environment where there are only soft hats and caps—otherwise at an unexpected moment you may find yourself in a perfect maelstrom of missiles!

"Pretty soon some piping tenor starts up "Sweet Adeline" and the bleachers begin to "harmonize."

"The bleacherites back of center-field are by far the most fan-like of all, and keep the cauldron boiling there at all times. They have their points of gallantry, however, and no ladies come over that way but that they rise up in a body and cheer them to the echo!

"Toward one o'clock a shout goes up—the New Yorkers are coming upon the field. A few moments later and bedlam is turned loose, when the Red Sox burrow out of their "dug-out." Favorites are picked out and get a hand. Stahl, lays down a bunt in practice and is cheered; Speaker catches a fly and the fans declare him the best ever; Joe Wood throws a ball and is immediately said to be the best pitcher on earth.

"The players begin warming up in earnest. Each team takes ten minutes of batting practice. A terrific "clout" by a Red Sox brings out applause; the same thing by a Giant elicits exclamations of surprise and sends chills down the back of the home guard. Balls are flying in all directions and those that get past the fielders or carom off into the bleachers are savagely fought over for souvenirs by the spectators. Then each team takes a quarter of an hour of fielding workout, and the individual stars show how easy it is to play baseball in practice. At length the two teams face each other and everything becomes tense. As the first strike goes over the pan, a deafening shout rattles the bones of slumbering patriots throughout the city and the great game is on!

"But to get out of this historical present. The game impressed me as being like many other games I have seen on the Pacific Coast, with this, if any, possible exception, that the game was played more scientifically and greater certainty was displayed by the players.

"While the game was a splendid exhibition and was followed by myself with keen interest, still I believe I took a greater interest in the crowd. To have been able to mix with 40,000 baseball-crazy fans was indeed a privilege that does not come every day. To have been able to observe them as they intently followed each play was certainly to study psychology with a vengeance at first hand! I was more impressed than ever that baseball is one of our chief American institutions. There is a saving element in a game where almost a half hundred thousand semi-insane fans, bent on seeing their home team win, everything his own way was Walter Smith, who ran for county school superintendent. Having no competition, Mr. Smith is sure to win. Ben F. West, for the office of county assessor, seems to be sure of winning also, though he is but one in a field of five. For county surveyor, B. B. Herrick will undoubtedly be returned a winner unless unexpected strength develops for his opponent on the Socialist ticket.

A. M. Clough, the present incumbent of the coroner's office, seems to be assured of the election again on the Republican ticket. Things all point to the reelection of William Bushey as county judge for another term. William Esch was well supported for the office of sheriff in the early returns and bids well to get the position, as also does J. G. Moore as county treasurer.

Bill Seems Doomed.

The bill for creating a county high school fund seems doomed to defeat, although later returns may overthrow all calculations based on the first reports. As representatives, the entire Republican ticket promises well, with the Democrats such a good second that they may eventually win the places. Mr. Downing shows up well for representative. Mr. Heltzel is running particularly strong on the Republican ticket and Mr. Baumgartner on the Democratic.

Claim Many States.

At midnight the Democratic national headquarters claimed the following states as certain for Wilson: Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Wisconsin, New York, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Missouri, West Virginia and New Jersey, with a total of 291 electoral votes.

Oyster Bay, Nov. 5.—Shortly before midnight Colonel Roosevelt made the following statement:

"The American people by a great plurality have decided in favor of Mr. Wilson and the Democratic party. Like all good citizens, I accept the result with entire good humor and contentment. As for the Progressive cause, I can only repeat what I have already so many times said, the fate of the leader for the time being is of little consequence, but the cause itself must in the end triumph, for its triumph is essential to the well being of the American people.

(Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

At the same time he issued the statement Colonel Roosevelt sent the following to Governor Wilson:

"The American people by a great plurality have conferred upon you the highest honor in their gift. I congratulate you thereon.

line. Hepp, third man in a triple-pass play, carried the ball over for a touchdown. Francis missed goal. Score, 40-0.

The remainder of the quarter was uneventful except for a successful forward pass, Rowland to Francis, which was good for 30 yards, and the quarter ended with the ball on the Army's 30-yard line. In the latter part of this quarter Young relieved Hepp at end.

Willamette opened strong in the fourth quarter and finished in a like manner. In the first 45 seconds of play Homan, ran thirty yards for a touchdown. Francis missed goal. Score, 46-0.

The Army kicked off to Homan, who ran the ball back to the 45-yard line. The Varsity then began its attack and in four minutes Rowland was put through for another touchdown. Homan punted out to Watson, who failed to fair-catch the ball. Score, 58-0.

Booth took Homan's place at quarter and ran the ball back 30 yards on the Army's kickoff. And then Small, who relieved Erskine at half, ran 60 yards for a touchdown on the first play. Francis failed to kick the goal. Score, 64-0.

The Army received the kickoff and returned the ball ten yards. They were held for no gain and punted. Bolt blocked the kick and recovered the ball, making 5 yards before he was downed. A couple of line bucks and a forward pass were tried and then Rowland passed 30 yards to Francis and on the next play Prunes was shoved over for the last touchdown. He kicked the goal and the half ended with the score standing 71 to 0 in favor of Willamette.

There need be no special mention of anyone playing in this game, for no one player looms out as a star. Every man was "there" and played his best game of the season. There was not a single weak spot either in offense or defense, and Willamette should be proud of their team.

The work of the officials was entirely satisfactory and the game was clean and free from ragging.

PACIFIC ADVOCATE LAUDS SPORTSMANSHIP OF TEAM

Editor of Church Publication Has Only Words of Praise for Play of Willamette Team.

The following clipping from the editorial page of the Pacific Christian Advocate can hardly help but give pleasure to every student of Willamette University. Mr. Robert Hughes, the genial editor of the Advocate, was a timekeeper at the game and so in a position to judge. We may well be proud that our representatives should call forth this praise in an organ which goes into a large share of the homes of Willamette's supporters.

"Last Saturday the football teams representing Willamette and Pacific Universities met at Forest Grove in their first gridiron contest for several seasons. A quick way of summing up the game would be to say that the Methodist boys 'came, saw, and conquered,' for the score after 60 minutes of playing was 40 to 0 in their favor. But there is another side vastly more important than merely 'scoring' on the opposing team. Many will condemn football as a brutal sport without granting that it may have a compensating element. Two teams met in Portland last week, and after a farcical exhibition of about 30 minutes, during which some of the boys resorted to fistic combats, one eleven left the field and forfeited the game. Those boys have failed to discover the prime lesson of football—discipline. It is easy to loose one's temper if 'tackled' hard or 'held' without making any 'gain.' But the man who wins in life's battles, as in football, is the fellow who can 'hit the line' hard, 'guard' every opportunity, 'tackle' every obstacle, and push the 'oval' of truth over the line of victory and 'kick the goal.' And though reverses come, as they surely will, he can smile at his opponent and fight till the last 'time' is called. The writer has seen several squads in action, been in a few games, and witnessed many, but Coach Sweetland has as well disciplined, clean, and manly a lot of players as we have ever seen on any field. After an excellent opportunity for observation, the statement can be made that not an ungentlemanly expression or act was heard or seen during the game. Willamette University is getting some valuable advertising, not only from the newspaper publicity given the players, but also by the clean sportsmanship of her football team. A rather remarkable coincidence is the fact that seven of the players are sons of Methodist ministers; President Homan, Revs. Benjamin Young, R. C. Blackwell, Joseph Hepp, B. F. Rowland, W. M. Erskine, and C. D. Day have boys on the team."

VOLUNTEER BAND SUPPORTS MISSION WORKER

"A progressive Band in a progressive school," characterizes the Student Volunteers as they fall into line for the year's work. We are glad to welcome two new recruits to our ranks, Miss Aggie Alford and Miss Weisman. The meetings are very profitable, teeming with interest and devotion. A roll-call responded to by missionary information is one feature of this year's program, and insures constant reading of missionary literature on the part of the members.

The Band has decided to go abroad in its activities this year, by agreeing to support a native preacher in the foreign field at a cost of fifty dollars. It is planned to thus bring the members of the Band and the University into closer touch with their parish abroad, and to stimulate interest in missions.

Washington University.—The gate receipts for Saturday's game aggregated $2,400 and Idaho's guarantee was $1,000. Jerry Riordan was the busiest man in the world as he watched the shekels roll in. It was estimated that more than 3,500 spectators saw the game.

SOPHS ELECT STELLA GRAHAM "MANAGERESS"

"MANAGERESS" REFUSES AN INTERVIEW, BUT INTIMATES HEAVY SCHEDULE.

The Sophomore class met last week and elected Stella Graham, one of the prominent members of the class of '15, manager of the class football team. The first nominations were many, three aspiring young swains being out for the honor conferred on a live manager. Those who ran were "Chemawa" Raines, Emery Doane, and Paul Smith. They ran strong until Miss Graham appeared upon the ballot. Then they lost interest almost immediately and withdrew in her favor.

The two lower classes will have a series of football games this year after the schedule of the regular teams has been completed. The Freshmen have not elected their captain as yet. Miss Graham, when interviewed by a Collegian reporter, said she would not give an interview until she had had time to get the team organized.

WILSON, PAGET AND HAWLEY "U" FAVORITES

On account of the failure to have it announced from the platform, the straw vote which was taken after chapel Monday morning was hardly a success. If the votes which came in can be taken as representing the attitude of the University, Wilson is the overwhelming favorite for President, with other candidates hardly in the running. Chafin, Taft, Roosevelt and Debs came in the order named. Wilson's gain since the ballot of last spring seems to have been made at the expense of Taft and Roosevelt.

Paget and Hawley, who are both closely allied to Willamette, had a practical monopoly upon the vote for U. S. Senator and Congressman from the First district.

WEBS AND ADELANTES CELEBRATE THE SEASON

One of the most delightful social affairs of the fall was the Webster-Adelante Halloween jinks Friday evening. After climbing the rough and rocky stairs, the guests were ushered into a miniature spook-land, where the fun immediately began. Contests in mother-goose lore and artistic production, a grand march, ghost stories, and other games of the season whiled the hours away.

The halls were beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and jack-o-lanterns. About fifty members of the two societies were present.

PHILODORIAN TALK POLITICS AND INITIATE

The Philodorian met in their hall last Wednesday evening and a very interesting session was held. The literary program was extremely of a political complexion. Questions involving platforms, principles, and aspirants for various offices were threshed out in a direct-from-the-shoulder sort of way. The first number on the program was a concise yet comprehensive talk on the "Presidential Campaign," by Mr. Moore. Next Mr. Ohling gave an impromptu talk on "Ritualism in Initiation." Mr.

Tobie gave the society a real treat in a very characteristic selection from Riley. Following this, Mr. McMillan presented a well-prepared paper on the abolition of capital punishment. The program was concluded by a very hot spit-spat debate on the single tax question. The affirmative of this question was supported by Messrs. Tatro and Vandervort, and the negative was supported by Messrs. Raines and Gardner. The negative won a two to one decision.

After a short business session, the society adjourned to the initiation. Six fellows rode the goat into the sacred realms of the society.

FIRE-ESCAPE ALLAYS FEARS OF "DORM" SLEEPERS

No longer will the boys who reside in the dormitory be so badly in jeopardy of conflagration that might be. Those who room on the third and fourth floors have heretofore pillowed their heads at night with their minds full of fear that ere the dawn of another day they might be roasted into a crackling or completely incinerated.

But now since a fire-escape, a good substantial one, has been placed on the west side of the building, these same fellows who used to worry draw their covers about them and lie down to pleasant dreams, feeling as secure as an innocent babe wrapped in the tender arms of a loving mother.

Old Varsity Captain Visits Campus

Earl McMechan, Law '11, has been visiting friends about the campus for several days past. "Mac" is well-remembered by the old students as the speedy half-back of the '09 and '10 football teams, being captain the latter year. He has been managing his father's fruit ranch at North Yakima and is bound for southern California for the winter. He stayed over for the Willamette-Vancouver game yesterday.

PROF. DUNN SPEAKS TO Y. M. C. A.

Professor Dunn of the University of Oregon, who was at one time a professor in Willamette, spoke to the College Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. The Professor's address on "The History of the Bible," was exceedingly interesting and profitable.

The chairman of the program committee is certainly to be congratulated upon the programs and speakers so far secured during the year.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION BEREAVES STUDENTS

Father of Miss East and Brother Succumb to Injuries.

University students were terribly shocked and grieved last Wednesday when it was learned that Mr. East, father of Miss LaRue East of the Freshman class, had died of the injuries received the day before from the terrible boiler explosion in the basement of the Salem Bank and Trust Co.'s building. This was deepened on Thursday, when Harry Ahlers, a brother of Miss Marie Ahlers, who is an Academy student, succumbed to the effects of scalding received at the time. Mr. East was cashier of the bank and Harry Ahlers the son of the president. The sympathy of every class-mate and fellow-student has gone out to Miss East and Miss Ahlers and their various families in this deep bereavement.

The explosion claimed another victim Friday, when a printer by the name of Muchmore, who worked in a shop in the basement of the building, passed away.

facto" application, and the lack of any discrimination between classes of offices. It will be seen that while a student may hold only one major and one minor office simultaneously, there is nothing to prevent the holding of two or more minor offices if he does not hold a major office.

The last provision will require that organizations exercise care in the selection of officers and is interpreted to mean that, by failure to pass the semester examinations, an officer, whether major or minor, mechanically effects his own resignation.

DECISIVE GAME SATURDAY.

Probably the decisive game of the Northwest Conference football season will be the one in Portland the coming Saturday between the University of Washington and O. A. C. Results seem to have eliminated Oregon, W. S. C., and Idaho from the championship race, leaving Whitman, O. A. C., and U. of W., with the odds all in favor of Washington.
