DEPARTMENTS.

The Willamette University comprises:

- I. College of Liberal Arts, located at Salem, Oregon.
- II. College of Medicine, located at Portland, Oregon.
- III. Women's College, located at Salem, Oregon.
- IV. University Academy, located at Salem, Oregon.
- V. Musical Institute.
- VI. Besides these Departments there are four Corelated Academies, viz: Umpqua Academy, Wilbur, Oregon; La Creole Academy, Dallas, Oregon; Sheridan Academy, Sheridan, Oregon, and Santiam Academy, Lebanon, Oregon.

The names of those teachers who instruct in more than one department are printed more than once. This is specially true in the College of Liberal Arts and University Academy. No intention is meant beyond simply representing the present organized condition of the University.

INFORMATION.

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS provides instruction in three different courses of study :

First, The Classical, embracing four years, is similar to that taught in other institutions of equal grade.

Second, Latin and Scientific course, embracing four years of study, is prepared for those who desire special work in mathematics and modern languages, and do not wish to study the Greek.

Third, Modern Literature and Art course, embracing two years, is prepared for those who do not wish to pursue the Latin further than the Academy course, and who wish to supply the place of the languages in college by music and art, and at the same time complete a course in mathematics and sciences.

INFORMATION.

The sixteenth annual course will commence Monday, December 5, 1881, and continue twenty weeks.

TEXT BOOKS.

Medical books can be obtained in this city at catalogue prices, and it is recommended that students supply themselves with at least one text book upon each leading chair. The following works are especially recommended:

ANATOMY—Gray, Wilson, Maclise's Surgical Anatomy.

PHYSIOLOGY—Dalton, Carpenter, Flint.

MATERIA MEDICA—Bartholow, Wood, U. S. Dispensatory.

MIND—Hammond, Maudsley, Bucknell and Tuke.

MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE—Beck, Wharton, Taylor.

CHEMISTRY—Youmans, Fownes, etc.

OBSTETRICS—Leishman, Playfair, Bedford, Meadows, Hodge.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN—Thomas, Barnes, Churchill, Meigs & Piper.

PRACTICE OF MEDICINE—Flint, Watson, Aitkin.

SURGERY—Gross, Erichsen, Hamilton's Surgery and Dislocations and Fractures.

OPHTHALMOLOGY AND AURAL DISEASES—Stellwag, Wells, Carter, Trolsch.

HYGIENE—Parkes, Bowditch.

DERMATOLOGY—Duhring, Wilson, Fox.

TERMS.

The fee for a full Course of Lectures is $120; Matriculation (paid but once), $5; Demonstrator's ticket, $10; Graduation, $30. Tickets for one or any of the departments may be had separately. Students who have paid for two full courses are entitled to attend free of charge thereafter.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION.

I. The candidate for the Degree of M. D. must be of good moral character, and at least twenty-one years of age. He must have attended at least two full sessions of lectures, one of which shall have been in this College; and must exhibit his tickets, or other adequate evidence of attendance to the Dean of the Faculty.

He must have studied medicine for not less than three years, and have attended at least one course of Practical Anatomy in the dissecting room. He must present to the Dean of the Faculty a Thesis of his own composition, correctly written, and in his own handwriting, on some medical subject; and exhibit to the Faculty, at his examination, satisfactory evidence of his professional attainments.

II. Students who have attended one complete course in a respectable Medical School, where attendance on two complete courses is necessary to a degree, and where the same branches are taught as in this, are permitted to become candidates by an attendance here of one full course; the rules of graduation being in other respects observed. They are also exempt from the payment of fees upon attending a second term.

III. Students who have attended two full courses on Anatomy, Chemistry, Materia Medica or Physiology, may be examined on any of these branches at the end of their second course. They are thus enabled to devote a third course to the didactic lectures on the remaining branches, and to clinical study. The Faculty recommend to students the importance, when at all practicable, of attending three courses of lectures before presenting themselves for graduation.

IV. The degree will not be conferred upon any candidate who absents himself from the public commencement without the special permission of the Faculty.

All matriculates, in becoming such, are understood as pledging themselves to a life-long fidelity to the code of ethics of the American Medical Association.

Board and lodging are as cheap in Portland as in any other city in the Union.

Students, on arriving in the city, are requested to call at once upon the Dean, who will furnish all necessary information, and otherwise provide for their accommodation. Letters addressed to the Dean will receive prompt attention.

INFORMATION.

The Woman's College, so called in honor of its patrons and its distinctive educational aim, is a Department of the Willamette University, co-ordinate with the other Departments of the Institution, the Academy of the University, the College of Liberal Arts, and the College of Medicine.

The new College has for its object the Æsthetic, Social, and Art Culture of young women.

It is exclusively in the interest of the higher education of women, as that subject has come to be the better understood in the experience of the University and in the convictions of its most respected advocates.

The movement is a modification, but in no sense a surrender of co-education.

The literary culture of the young women attending the University will be provided as heretofore in the Academy and College of Liberal Arts, in the same³ curricula and in the same classes with the young men.

It will thus be seen that the work of the new Department in the case of the young women, is supplementary to that of the Academy and College of Liberal Arts.

A few words explanatory of the occasion and nature of the demand for this new Department seem necessary.

Since the foundation of the Willamette University, the whole subject of woman's higher education, in its subject matter and its methods, has undergone a searching examination.

Especially has the plan of educating young women, in the same College with young men, been subjected to much pointed and hostile criticism.

This system of co-education, as it is called, was adopted by the University, at a stage in its growth, when its grade of scholarship, and the age and number of its pupils, caused the subject to have no larger significance than it ordinarily assumes in a high school or local academy, where the female students are from the immediate vicinity and under the influence of their homes.

Since that time the Institution has grown up to the rank and responsibility of a College, and, as a consequence, finds itself in the midst of responsibilities towards its female students, not only unforeseen, but unprovided for, under the original constitution of the University.

Since the discussion of the subject of woman's higher education in this country and in England, the following points seem to be regarded as conclusively settled:

First—That under the same opportunities and cultural stimulus, young women are as capable of a high mental discipline as young men.

Second—That they are as capable of a high cultural ambition under the same conditions.

Third—That in view, either of their innate choice or of social requirement, or of both, they demand an adjustment of the old-time College Curricula to allow for opportunity for Art Study.

Fourth—That, in view of social requirement and natural predisposition, their education should not lack an element of social direction and oversight.

Fifth—That woman's education, in Taste, in Art, and Social Forms, should be in connection with a Home Life, in which order and refined surroundings should evoke and evidence her expanding powers.

It shall be the effort of the Woman's College to introduce the above principles into the policy of the University in its future relations with its female students.

The following is the plan of the New Department:

- A.—Social and Æsthetic Direction.
- B.—Decorative Art and Design, and Painting.
- C.—Music.
- D.—College Hall.

A.—SOCIAL AND ÆSTHETIC DIRECTION.

The Dean of the Woman's College, a lady, will exercise an observant and intimate care for the young ladies in all matters pertaining to their social relations, health, refinement in manner and person.

In addition to the above, it is earnestly purposed to direct the attention of the young women, through special lectures and other means, to the higher meanings of woman's life to-day, to interpret to them the motives and moral drift of social observances, to call out their enthusiasm in view of the enlarging responsibilities of educated womanhood at the present time.

The controlling purpose of the college centers here.

Education is valueless apart from opportunity and a worthy purpose.

The opportunities of educated woman, though steadily increasing in this country, are, as yet, few, compared with those possessed by men.

It would seem, therefore, that there were the greater reasons that their ambition were roused to seize such as may be offered.

B.—DECORATIVE ART AND DESIGN, AND PAINTING.

This work will be in charge of an accomplished instructor. Drawing and Design will be taught, as also will be Painting in all its branches. Miss Harriet S. Curtis, B.P., a graduate of the School of Art in Syracuse University, will have charge of the Art Department.

It is hoped that the friends of Art Culture will aid in the equipment of the Studio, with gifts of casts, specimens of pottery, Art Works and Charts.

Lectures upon the History of Art, its ideas and moral import in different ages and countries, will be had by all the students of the College.

C.—MUSIC—CLASS-TEACHING.

The class system of teaching music is very popular wherever it has been thoroughly tested. The whole theory is based upon sound principles; every argument is in favor of the method; pupils improve faster when brought into competition with each other than when privately instructed.

READING CLASS SYSTEM.

To play and sing in strict time, and to read music at sight, are two indispensable qualifications for every singer or player to possess. The Reading Class provides the piano pupils with the very best means for becoming ready readers and strict timists. Children are taught to read in our common schools by daily reading lessons. The same plan is here employed in teaching pupils to read music. When a piece is placed before a class, the pupils are first required to tell all they know about it—its movement, time—explain all musical terms, marks of expression, phrasing, accent, etc. After the piece is played through, every pupil counting the time and observing all musical signs, another piece is taken, and still another, and thus the class is led on, day after day, through an endless number and variety of pieces. By this means the pupil becomes a true timist and a reader of music.

COURSE OF STUDY.

To graduate from the Musical Institute, the pupil must have a thorough knowledge of the theory of music and harmony, good executive ability on some instrument, or in the voice.

PIANO DEPARTMENT.

The Musical Institute aims to blend the work of technics, studies and pieces, that its pupils may acquire sufficient control and suppleness of fingers for mechanical execution, and at the same time impart such general knowledge of the principles of music as will enable them to give an interpretation of the work of the best masters.

VOICE BUILDING.

Three subjects are to be considered in vocal cultivation: Voice, (the instrument); Execution, (how to use it); Expression, (feeling). The voice, in its natural state, is generally unequal, or harsh, or of limited extension. Study alone can perfect the quality of the tone, give it elasticity and equalize it. A few superficial and hastily picked up notions of music are not sufficient to make a singer. The art of singing, though not requiring so much time or tedious labor as instrumental music to attain a satisfactory result, demands careful and conscientious study.

THE ORGAN.

A course of instruction is furnished to the pupils in this department.

ELEMENTARY PRINCIPLES.

At these lessons the subject of Notation, Rhythm, Time and Accent are carefully explained, and a thorough study of intervals, major, minor and chromatic scales is required of every pupil. In this department pupils are taught to read music at sight, and given daily exercise in singing.

IMPROMPTUS.

For the purpose of giving the pupils self-confidence that they may be enabled to play or sing in the presence of others, and that they may notice the progress of their fellow-students, and thus be stimulated to greater diligence, there will be held, once a month, an Impromptu, on which occasion all pupils who have gained sufficient proficiency will be called upon to take part.

REGULATIONS.

No deduction will be made for absence from lessons, except in case of illness.

Pupils will be required to practice and study a certain number of hours each day, depending, first, upon the health of the pupil; second, upon the number of studies pursued.

D.—COLLEGE HALL.

A tasteful and commodious building is an indispensable need as the headquarters of such a Department.

Two prominent ends are secured by its provision:

It affords a place of residence, under careful supervision, and amid refined and orderly surroundings, to girls from a distance.

Many parents object to sending their daughters from home to a school where, from want of a College Home, under proper oversight, they are compelled to board in families that, as a rule, acknowledge no responsibility to parents or to the University.

It offers to all the students of the Woman's College—those resident in the building and those living in the city—a center or place of gathering for lectures, and for such social events as may pertain to the home life of the new Department.

Mrs. Andrew, the Dean, Mr. Andrew, the Curator, Miss Curtis, the Art teacher, all will reside in the Hall, and thus it will become a religious home and at the same time surrounded by all the good influences of college life. Mrs. Miner, educated and kind, bestows every attention requisite to her duty, for the comfort and pleasure of the home life of the girls.

Care will be taken in the furnishing of the building, in the regulations pertaining to the household, and in the internal life of resident students and officers, to maintain the atmosphere and surroundings of a refined and gentle home, so as to make residence in the College Hall a means of education.

It is not designed making the Hall a means of income to the University; it is not a financial venture, and has nothing in common with the aim of a boarding house or boarding school. On the contrary, the cost of residence is placed so low as to bring the advantage of the Hall within the reach of all earnest young women desirous of an education.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE GIRLS IN THE HALL.

1. Fifteen dollars in advance for board.
2. Proper care of room and personal appearance.

3. Attendance upon family worship.
 4. Permission for temporary absence.
 5. No social calls during study hours.
 6. No boisterous noise in the Hall.
 7. Lights out at 10 P. M.
 8. No gentlemen company except in the parlor.
 9. No change of boarding place without special permission from the Faculty.

10. Ladies from a distance are required to board in the Hall except by permission to board elsewhere.

Mail is delivered each day, and a person is employed to perform errands and attend to all the little matters of business of which the ladies may be relieved.

INFORMATION.

The University Academy provides instruction in five different courses :

First, The Preparatory Classical, embracing three years of study, prepares the student for the Freshman class of the same course in the College of Liberal Arts.

Second, The Preparatory, Latin and Scientific, embracing three years of study, prepares the student for the Freshman class of the same course in the College of Liberal Arts.

Third, The Preparatory Modern Literature and Art Course which is the same as the Latin and Scientific, prepares the student for the junior class of the same course in the College of Liberal Arts.

Fourth, The teacher's course is prepared for those who do not wish to take a college course, but who desire to fit themselves thoroughly to teach in the public schools of common and high grade. It embraces a three years' course. See Courses of Study for the branches taught in this course.

Fifth, The Business Course which aims to give the student the most thorough and practical education that can be obtained in two year's study. A thorough knowledge of all kinds of business papers, such as promissory notes, drafts, checks, deeds, mortgages, etc., together with the laws relating to them and the more important principles of political economy will be required and great care will be taken to give the student the latest and best information in all the studies of the course, which is described in another place.

INFORMATION.

Umpqua Academy is located at Wilbur, Douglas county, Oregon, in a village famed for its healthful climate and freedom from demoralizing influences, the nearest saloon or other immoral place of resort being at least ten miles away. Quite a number of parents have taken their sons and daughters from excellent schools at home, during the past year, and sent them to our Academy on account of the high moral tone of the community and the utter absence of those influences which tend to lead the youth astray.

The buildings are large, convenient and amply though modestly furnished, everything having been planned rather for comfort and utility than for outward display.

The Academy grounds are not more than five minutes' walk from the railroad station, from which there are daily trains to Portland and Roseburg.

The Academy was founded in the year 1854, and chartered in 1857. Its future has never seemed brighter than now.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three literary societies, all organized during the past year, which afford ample opportunity to all students for rhetorical and literary culture. The RHIZOMIAN SOCIETY is composed exclusively of young gentlemen who are students. The ARISTIAN SOCIETY is composed exclusively of young ladies, who are students; and the WILBUR LYCEUM, composed of both gentlemen and ladies, whether students or not, holds public meetings every Saturday evening, which are largely attended. Each of these societies are under the direct supervision of the Principal, and all of their exercises subject to his approval.

STUDIES AND TEXT BOOKS.

The course of study is similar to that of the Academic department of the Willamette University, and is designed to prepare students for admission to the University.

The State series of text books are used in the Primary and Grammar School departments. In the Academic department the text books are, as far as is practicable, the same as those used in the University.

BOARD.

Board in the very best of private families, has ranged during the past year, from $3 to $4 per week. Some of the students have rented rooms and boarded themselves at less than above rates.

MUSIC.

Our Musical department is worthy of special mention. It is under the control of Prof. Max Levinson, who is, undoubtedly, one of the most competent music teachers in Oregon. Besides his class in instrumental music, he has a large and interesting class who are studying the science of music (harmony and thorough bass) for a merely nominal fee. Our superior facilities in this department are worthy the attention of parents.

INFORMATION.

The Academy building has been much improved the past year, and quite an extensive addition to the main building is in contemplation, which will afford greater comfort and convenience to teachers and pupils. The location is healthy, and the site beautiful.

By the munificence of the late John H. Robb and Albert Tibbetts, the Academy has a handsome little endowment, the annual interest of which is sacredly used toward the payment of the instructors, thereby reducing the tuition to about one-half what it would otherwise be.

In connection with the Academy, but under the control of the Directors of District No. 2, the Primary and Intermediate departments have been organized. These departments are in session during the Academic Year, in the Academy building, and are under the supervision of the Principal of the Academy. The state and county funds are used toward defraying the expenses of these departments, and are equally divided between the three terms of each year. To fully meet the wants of this branch of the school, the directors charge small "Rate Bills."

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL

Has a course of instruction about the same as that adopted by other graded schools of the state. This course embraces a period of eight years, four Primary, three Intermediate and one Preparatory.

THE ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT

Is divided into three courses of study, each embracing a period of four years. The English Course is designed for those who have not the time or means to obtain higher instruction, or who do not desire a knowledge of the Languages. Pupils pursuing this course may substitute one of the Languages for the cultural studies in the third and fourth years.

The Literary and Classical Courses are especially arranged to prepare the students for college. An arrangement has been effected with Willamette University by which students who graduate from either of these courses may enter the college classes of the University upon our certificate. A glance at our whole course of study will show that no cramming is intended; no hurrying through the text-book for the sake of taking the pupil over so much ground. Yet, in order to learn as it shall be taught—thoroughly—the pupil will find the course not too light and the time not too long.

INFORMATION.

This institution is situated in Sheridan, a pleasant little town on the banks of the South Yamhill river, about 16 miles southwest of McMinnville.

We congratulate the farmers within the reach of this school, as possessing the garden of our beautiful state. Richer soil or more salubrious clime is not elsewhere to be found. No malaria, no contagions, are here. It is in truth the land of health and beauty. To the many friends of education within the reach of this school, we would say: Each department will be under the control of teachers of ability and experience. Our motto will be thoroughness and practicability.

There will be three departments in this Academy :

THE ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT,

Where either or all the studies usually pursued in such institutions may be acquired.

THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT,

Where Book-keeping, double and single entry, will be thoroughly and fully taught. We shall use Bryant & Stratton's Counting House Edition, and no students will be awarded the diploma of this department until they have passed a satisfactory examination in Bryant & Stratton's Commercial Law.

THE MUSICAL DEPARTMENT,

Will be conducted so as to make its beauties felt and acquired. We shall not neglect the moral deportment of the pupils, and while our rules will be few, still, to remain a pupil of the Academy, will require, at the hands of the students, diligence, obedience and respect.

We shall be glad to assist friends in the selection of homes for their children, and if our suggestions are followed, we assure you the children will be shielded from evil influences.

Board can be had at from $3 to $4 per week. Tuition, from $5 to $12 per quarter, in Academic department; from $3 to $6 in Commercial department, and from $12 to $15 in Musical department. All tuition must be paid before the close of the second week of each term, by cash or note. Students may enter at any part of the term, but it will be far better to enter at the beginning of each term. Should students be detained from school by sickness or other unavoidable circumstances, for more than two weeks at any one time, a proper proportion of their tuition will be refunded.

DEPARTMENT.

Upon entering this Academy as a student, it will be expected of all, that every form of rowdyism will be laid aside.

Defacing fences, trees, buildings, furniture, or other property of the Academy, will, in no case, be tolerated. Smoking, chewing, gambling, drinking, etc., are prohibited.

All must yield a prompt, respectful, and full obedience to their teachers. No others will be retained as members of the Academy.

10. Students coming from other Colleges must bring recommendations from the college they left.

Written reports in scholarship and deportment will be sent to the parents of each student after every examination.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three well organized literary societies connected with the school. They have commodious and well furnished rooms in the University Hall. In these societies the students obtain much of that culture which is so useful in almost every vocation, by writing, reading, declaiming, delivering orations, musical renditions, by discussions and criticisms. The Athenæum, a ladies' society, meets at 3 P. M., Fridays. The other two, Alka and Hesperian, meet every Friday evening. These literary societies each have small but well selected libraries to which each member has access.

LIBRARY.

There are about 2,500 volumes in the library of the University, to which is added from time to time, by purchase and donation, books useful to students and teachers in the prosecution of college work. The present year much interest has been shown in the library, and many useful books have been read.

COLLEGE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

This association meets every Tuesday at 6 P. M., and is designed to keep up a growing religious sentiment among the students and to bring the unconverted to a saving knowledge of Christ. The Association is unsectarian in its principles and work, and is organized on the basis of College Christian Associations generally.

NOTICE.

A student on entering town from a distance should come at once to the President, so as to be assisted in making the cheapest and best arrangements for a home and boarding place.

Mr. Skinner, the gentlemanly agent at the depot, will give directions to those who may be strangers. Ladies will at once find a home and kind friends in the Woman's College.

ROOMS.

A limited number of rooms can be had, by those applying early, in the University Hall, where young men may have a home with one of the Faculty and board in the same family in the University boarding room, all at a cost of not over two dollars and a half per week.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT.

The studies have been so arranged as to accommodate those who may be able to attend for only a short time; but, in all cases where it is possible, it is desired that students should complete the entire course.

The aim will be to make this by far the best business course on this coast; and, in proof of this, some of the advantages over the ordinary Business College courses are given below.

The student lives in a student community where he is incited to obtain as broad an education as possible; he has the use of the library and reading-room and the privilege of attending the literary societies and the lectures delivered before the University; he has the special instruction of an experienced book-keeper who has taught in some of the best Eastern institutions; he pays his tuition in small sums, so that if he is dissatisfied with the course, or from any cause leaves school, he suffers no loss as too often happens where he pays for a one or two years' scholarship in advance; he may, at a moderate expense, learn telegraphy if he especially desires it: and more important still, he can save enough on board to pay his tuition.

MUSEUM.

The museum consists of a small but choice selection of American and foreign minerals, a collection of rocks and fossils sufficient to illustrate many of the more important features of geology—also, a number of good specimens to aid in the study of zoology. To each of these collections valuable additions have been made during the past year and a plan devised by which it is hoped to rapidly increase them in the future.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Special drill will be given in composition, elocution, and general literary exercises throughout all the courses of study. These exercises are additional to those mentioned in the curricula.

COLLEGE JOURNAL.

The University and Correlated Schools publish monthly a twelve-page journal, which contains all the news of the different departments, reports of scholarship of the students, literary articles and general educational news, and gives notice of the successes and honors attending the work of those who have gone out from among us. It has a neat cover and is well worth the subscription price. The publishing company issues one thousand copies. Subscription, one dollar; to students of any school, 50 cts.

EDUCATIONAL

Literature in all departments, from the lowest primary to the most advanced university text books, can be obtained cheaply and conveniently in our own markets. Our aim is to be constantly supplied with everything new and standard in this important branch of the book trade, and to furnish the same to our occasional correspondents, and to dealers in books and stationery throughout Oregon and Washington, at

PUBLISHERS' REGULAR PRICES.

Greek, Latin, French and German

Grammars, Readers, Lexicons, and all the Greek and Latin Classics, with the best modern Handbooks of modern Languages, are specialties in our stock.

MEDICAL.

We have for the past few years supplied Physicians and Students with the necessary text books upon Surgery, Practice, Materia Medica, Lexicons, and all the best Medical Literature, both for text books of instruction and practical use. Our prices in this department will give every medical student as great advantage of economy in necessary books as direct dealings with New York. We can refer to physicians and the many graduates of Willamette University for confirmation of this statement.

SCIENTIFIC AND SPECIAL

Books, upon elementary and advanced Mathematics, Physics, and General Science in every department. Every new publication of merit is forwarded to us by the publishers, upon its first appearance, and thus we can assure our customers of the best and latest works.

GENERAL LITERATURE

in endless variety. We claim to keep the finest and most complete stock of miscellaneous books north of San Francisco, and examination of our stock will convince our customers of this fact. Any book advertised by responsible eastern publishers can be procured from us at the publishers' rate, postage paid.

We solicit the patronage of the reading and literary people of the commonwealth, knowing we can place advantages in the reach of all. We intend to make as good terms for a book buyer in Oregon as in San Francisco.

We call particular attention to the fact that we are direct agents for the best known publishers in the country, have all their books as fresh and in as good order as in the great bookstores of the East.

Send your orders for any books you need, or for leading magazine subscriptions, to us. Also, the finest Stationery in the market, at lowest possible rates.
