

B. L. STEEVES IS PRESIDENT OF TRUSTEE BOARD

C. F. Johnson, of Portland, Is Vice-President; Scholarships Are Continued

ENTIRE FACULTY ELECTED

Willamette's Share of Dr. Eaton's Estate Is $100,000—Committee Appointed to Make Plan of Campus—Hall Debated.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in Portland on Tuesday, February 13, a large amount of important business was transacted, dealing with matters of interest to every Willamette student.

Dr. B. L. Steeves, a graduate of Willamette, and a faithful friend of the university, was elected president of the board of trustees, while C. F. Johnson, of Portland, was chosen to succeed Dr. Steeves as vice-president.

Dr. Doney states that never before has he had the pleasure of meeting with a body of men who showed a greater unity of spirit or more enthusiasm for an institution than Willamette's trustees did in this session and his statement is borne out by the work accomplished. The president of the board was authorized to appoint a committee which should have made a plan of the campus, should pass on the architect's plans for a new Lausanne and proceed with the erection of that building, whenever there were sufficient funds on hand.

The entire faculty was re-elected for next year with an increase in salary.

It was decided to continue the present plan of offering a scholarship of $40 to one student in every high school in Oregon who possessed certain scholastic requirements. It was felt that this plan is a decided success since it, each year, brings to Willamette about thirty of the best students of the high schools of the state.

Announcement was made of the fact that the appraisers had set a very low value on the property left to Willamette by Dr. A. E. Eaton. The property consists of real estate which according to the estimate of real estate men approaches $100,000 in value instead of $33,000 as was first stated.

Professor of Philosophy Has Never Had the "Grip"

Dr. C. L. Sherman has never had the "grip." Doubtless his profound knowledge of philosophy has enabled him to so accommodate himself to the vicissitudes of everyday existence as to be able to escape that common disease of the human family. This information should be encouraging to those students who are now struggling with the philosophies. Be of good cheer, carry your umbrella under all skies and learn philosophy, which is to know everything.

HAMMOND WRITES SONG

Seniors Begin Glee Rehearsals On Monday Night.

The seniors, endeavoring to set a good example, started to practice for the Freshmen Glee Monday evening. Out of the five sets of words written, Wesley Hammond's were chosen. Mrs. Aurelia A. Connelman wrote the music for the poem, and Alphas J. Gillette has been unanimously elected musical director. The class of '17 has won the Glee twice and their chief concern this year is to leave a real college song to Willamette.

PLANT LIFE IS SUBJECT

Prof. Peck Will Discuss Flora of Oregon Next Monday.

If there is any man in Oregon who is familiar with the plant life of the state that man is Prof. Peck. A goodly portion of this western country he has met on familiar terms while on expeditions to gather plants for his extensive herbarium.

Prof. Peck is a man of keen observation and the material he will present in his lecture will undoubtedly be rich in interesting facts drawn from his own personal experience. This lecture "The Plant Life of Oregon" will be delivered in the university chapel next Monday evening, February 26. The public is cordially invited.

HERALD DOXEE WINS FIRST IN KEYES' CONTEST

"Higher Patriotism" Subject of Winning Oration; James Ewing Gets Second

THREE ORATIONS GIVEN

All Contestants Showed Result of First Class Training—Themes of Orations Vary Widely—Otto Paulus Was Other Speaker.

With only three contestants entering, the Keyes' Oratorical Contest was held Thursday night in Waller hall.

Harold Doxee won first place with an oration entitled "Higher Patriotism." His plea was for the brotherhood of man. He looked forward to a time when service to fellowmen would be the final test of true citizenship. The action of the orator was smooth and logical, and it was persuasive in its appeal. The gesture work and shifting of positions showed a lack of practice, but the voice was sympathetic and the whole effect of the delivery was pleasing.

"Our Babies," the subject treated by Otto Paulus dealt with problem of poverty as affecting the physical development of the race. He stated that a great portion of the infant mortality, which has reached such alarming proportions in our country is preventable. He also declared that a large number of the school children in cities are underfed. He predicted that if something is not done to remedy conditions "we will bestow the nation upon a generation of stunted men." Mr. Paulus' rendition was earnest but failed in the more technical points of delivery which resulted in a third place decision.

James Ewing won second place with an oration on "The Double Standard of Morals." He treated the development of the double standard from primitive man, pointing out its effect upon the social life of every age. He showed the disadvantage of judging the conduct of men by a lower standard than that used in measuring the deeds of women. His composition was clear and convincing, but his greatest asset was in the ease which characterized his delivery. He was free and natural and succeeded in conversing with his audience.

All of the contestants have appeared before in various campus activities and without exception they showed marked improvement in delivery due to the careful coaching of Prof. Helen Miller Senn. This contest reflects great credit upon the department of Public Speaking.

Two musical numbers added to the attractiveness of the program. Ferris Abbott sang "Memories" by Cadman, and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and Faye Bohn played "Hark, Hark, the Lark," by Schubert-Liszt, and "Marche Grotesque" by Stindig.

The chapel was well filled for the occasion. Prof. John O. Hall presided.

According to the decision of the judges Mr. Doxee was awarded three firsts in composition and one in delivery. Mr. Ewing received two firsts in delivery, but fell down in composition. The relative standing of the contestants by the point system used was 3, 12 and 15.

The judges on rendition were: Mrs. Robert Walsh, Rev. James Ewing, and Miss Junia Todd. Those on composition were: Mrs. Ida Fleming, Attorney Ray Smith, and Prof. James T. Mathews.

WASHINGTONIAN CLUB HAS PLANS FOR TOMORROW

Attractive Program Is Arranged for the Morning; Benson Will Speak

TO BANQUET AT CHURCH

Toasts From Different Class Members, Alumni, Faculty, and Trustees Will Be Delivered—Chace To Act As Toastmaster.

Cherry trees will not form decorations, but there will be decorations. The main attraction will not be a keen, cutting hatchet, but there will be attractions.

These attractions are what appear to be the most unique of any staged by students since the university was founded.

Invitations are out to all students, to the faculty, the board of trustees and the alumni residing in Salem to attend the exercises to be given by the Washingtonian Club Thursday, February 22 in celebration of Washington's birthday.

On that date the regular classes will meet for the first two periods. No more classes will be held during the remainder of the day. At 10 o'clock in Waller chapel a program will be presented. The Hon. Henry L. Benson of the state supreme court will deliver the address. Musical numbers will be given by Dr. Frank W. Chace, Miss Lois Belle McCaddam, and the Ladies' Glee Club.

Promptly at 12:30 p. m., a dinner will be served at the First M. E. church. Dr. Chace will be toastmaster. Toasts will be given by President Carl Gregg Doney, Mr. Earl Flegel, '17; Miss Lola Cooley, '18; Mr. Raymond Attebery, '19; Mr. Victor Collins, '20; Mr. Glen J. McCaddam, '15; Dr. B. L. Steeves, president of the Board of Trustees; Coach R. L. Mathews; and Mr. Chas. Randall, president of the Washingtonian club. Music will be furnished by the university orchestra and the university male quartet.

The Washingtonian club is composed of all students and faculty members who reside in the state of Washington or who have lived there in previous years. The purpose of the organization is to promote the interests of Willamette University in Washington and to make all Washingtonians welcome at the university. The club now numbers forty-five, six of whom are members of the faculty.

For the past week, among the noticeable things around the campus, were the busy-bodies from the evergreen state with their little red ribbons gleaming and their jovial faces smiling as they worked industriously to sell their tickets for the dinner. Every member of this booster organization is on a committee of some kind. Some will decorate; others will cook the dinner; several will wait tables; a few will usher. All are boosters for this grand event and this boosting is merely a sample of what they will do in Washington for Willamette University when they go home for their summer vacation.

Seniors Obtain Class Rings

Some class! Pretty keen! Are the rings of '17! The rings worn by the seniors are the most distinctive ones ever possessed by any class at Willamette.

Having the university seal set in black enamel is a new feature and one which adds greatly to the attractiveness of the rings.

Owing to a mistake made by the engravers the rings will probably be returned to have the numeral '17 inscribed upon them.

Committee to Ask Northwest to Help Dormitory

At a committee meeting Wednesday afternoon, plans were considered for a systematic campaign in the interests of a new women's dormitory. Mr. N. L. Hammer, of Albany, who is president of the Layman's Association of the Oregon conference; B. L. Steeves, president of the Board of Trustees; A. N. Moore, E. C. Richards and President Doney were the members of the committee. It was decided to send out letters to leading laymen in Oregon and parts of Washington and Idaho, in order that district committees might be formed which would carry on the work in their particular sections.

NEW WEB OFFICERS FEED

Program Consisted of Confessions and Promises.

Frank confessions of retiring officials and bold promises on the part of the newly-elected officers were the features of the Websterian program given last Wednesday evening. Fred McMillan gave an interesting talk about the color effect of electricity on gases. The talk was much added to by practical demonstrations. After the installation of officers the society adjourned long enough to go to the Gray-Belle where they enjoyed a "Web" Special at the expense of the new officers. The "Web" quartet sang several selections, and spicy toasts were addressed to the honor of Websterianism.

TWO ADDRESSES FAVOR STUDENTS

Mr. Hammer, President of Layman's Association, and Rev. McDougall Speakers

Erection of a New Lausanne Within the Next Year Is Ambition of Hammer—Students Cheer.

Chapel services were enlivened last Wednesday morning by the presence of two speakers, N. L. Hammer, president of the Layman's Association of the Methodist Oregon conference, and Rev. J. W. McDougall, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Spokane.

Mr. Hammer is a merchant in Albany and his short business-like address delivered in a frank pleasing manner immediately won for him a warm spot in the hearts of the students. When he stated that it was his purpose as president of the Laymen's board to work towards the erection of a new Lausanne Hall within the next year he was greeted with a burst of applause the like of which has seldom been equalled in the staid old chapel. Mr. Hammer declared that he felt himself to be most happily connected with the university because his wife was an alumna. This statement was promptly applauded by several junior women. He as promptly informed them that he was not looking for another wife because his first was still living.

Just as Mr. Hammer sat down Rev. J. W. McDougall appeared at the west entrance and Dr. Doney called him to the platform. Dr. McDougall, after causing the students to respond to his wit with peals of freely-given laughter, spoke a few forceful words. He defined life as the most attractive and most influential thing in the universe.

PROCTOR MAKES DUMMY OF BOOK

Wallulah Takes Definite Form; Feature Section to Make Special Part

Miss Bagley and Mr. Pollock Will Do Art Work—Much Work Goes to Engraver This Week.

With an office ready for occupancy and a "dummy" made up, Editor-in-Chief Proctor of the 1918 Wallulah announces that the work on this important publication is going rapidly forward. The office is a room in Waller Hall fitted with desks and typewriters in such a way as to speed the work of editing and managing.

The editors of the departments are already collecting material and giving it definite form. The work on the society pages will be somewhat delayed by the absence of the society editor, Miss Helen Gotha, who is spending the month in Southern California.

One of the most interesting sections of the book will be the Feature section with the art work done by Miss Bagley and Mr. Pollock.

A large portion of the work goes to the engraver this week.

IDA M. TARBELL HERE SATURDAY

Miss Ida M. Tarbell will be in Salem February 24 to fulfill her engagement on the local Lyceum course. She is considered an American's foremost women journalist, and will lecture on vital present day conditions.

GLEE CONCERT PLEASURES LARGE LOCAL AUDIENCE

Ladies Present Many Excellent Compositions in Concert of Season

CANTATA IS BEAUTIFUL

Dr. Chace Plays "The Storm" By Lemmens—Ukelele Trio Describes College Life—Club Shows Much Improvement.

The Ladies' Glee Club gave their concert Tuesday evening in the chapel which was prettily decorated with daffodils and palms. As anticipated, the evening was one altogether pleasing and enjoyable. Opening the program Dr. Chace played "The Storm" by Lemmens, in which he portrayed after the calm, steady movements, the increasing vehemence of the storm, by means of a clever manipulation of the pedals. His interpretation was not that of an objectionable, sensational type, but of a strong individual and artistic order.

In the first numbers, "Whirl and Twirl," by Wagner, and "The Sweetest Flower That Blows" by Hawley, the Glee Club showed their ability in perfect chorus work. As a pleasing contrast, the Misses Cox, Dunbar and McCully sang to ukelele accompaniment some light verses descriptive of college life. Miss Hazel Hocken-smith in "Vox Populi" by Scambali, showed her skill in handling the octaves and chords without blurring notes by poor pedaling. Miss Lucile McCully gave two readings which were humorous and enjoyable.

In the song cycle, "Love's Dial" by Ashford, Miss Lois McCaddam showed her deep insight into the composer's thoughts. In her singing she displayed clear tones and correct phrasing.

The Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach was appealing in its simple, yet beautiful melody.

New variety was lent to the program by Miss McCully's violin solo played with sincere feeling.

Miss Wible, soprano, and Miss Cox, alto, sang in a pleasing manner, "O, That We Two Were Maying," by the ever popular composer Nevin.

The climax of the evening was reached when the club presented the cantata, "The Death of Joan of Arc" by Henri Bemberg. In accordance with the unique, historical setting, the music portrayed many human emotions. Under all conditions of force and speed, Miss Hocken-smith, who had the soprano obligato part, produced tones of beautiful quality and singing character. The supreme beauty of the evening was in this cantata, which showed the intelligent conception, mingled with the pure emotion and good technique of the singers.

The program as a whole was well-balanced displaying the club and its soloists in their many capacities. The audience realized that under the direction of Dr. Frank Chace the Ladies' Glee Club has been highly developed in good chorus work, both from a technical and interpretative standpoint.

WILLAMETTE IS CONQUEROR OF SILVERTON FIVE

Varsity's Team Downs Members of Athletic Club by Score of 56 to 18

W. U. USES NEW LINEUP

Sparks Plays First As Forward—Half Closed With 28 to 14 Score—W. U. Doubled Points in Second Period.

In spite of the fact that Coach Mathews was forced to present a new lineup, the cardinal and gold supporters easily defeated the quintet from the Silverton Athletic Club Friday night, in the varsity gym, by the decisive score of 56 to 18.

Although the line-up lacked both Tobie and Brooks, the varsity quintet displayed teamwork and individual excellence that was a surprise to the spectators. Captain Flegel, the only letter man on the floor, was shifted from forward to guard, and Sparks played his first game for the varsity as a forward.

The game started rather slow, but few passes were made until both teams put up a clean, hard fight. First blood was drawn by Flegel, who made a point by a free throw. Esteb quickly followed by a short shot. Silverton likewise gained their first tally by a free throw, but Esteb, Flegel, and Jackson seemed to have no difficulty in finding the hoop, and the Willamette lead steadily increased to the end of the half. At times Silverton gained several close, but unsuccessful shots near the basket, due to the varsity's lax guarding. But on the offensive the Methodists' team work was used to perfection. Both teams did considerable fouling, but the visitors profited little by free throws while Captain Flegel missed but few. Jackson tipped a two pointer in from a referee's toss up. The only let-up in the game was about the middle of the period. Each team got a little rough which interfered with the progress of the game. The half closed with a 14 to 28 score.

Second Period Is Different.

In the second period Willamette just doubled her score, while Silverton added but four points. To begin with the playing was around the varsity's basket, but basket shooting was poor, and the game was slow and mixed up.

After about five minutes of play the game was brought to a standstill by both Esteb and Cooley having four personals against them, but by mutual consent of the teams both were allowed to continue the game. Of special interest was the "rough stuff" that was attempted in this period, members of both lineups were often seen sprawling on the floor or engaged in wrestling matches. Playing in this period was slower than in the first, except in the latter part Coach Mathews' cohorts were gaining in superiority. The second canto closed with Esteb and Flegel easily pitching fingers that resulted in the 56 to 18 victory.

Willamette Men Fasten.

Physically and so far as experience goes, the Silverton aggregation presented the better team, but speed and superior coaching made the victory an easy affair. Although this was Sparks' first formal recognition as a cardinal and gold supporter, his ability was a commendable feature of the contest. Every man played a strong heady game, that speaks well for the coming contests.

In appreciation of Schramm's fairness as a referee and ability to keep the game moving, both teams are hearty in their praise.

The line-up:
Willamette. Silverton A. C.
Sparks (14)..... F..... (16) Walcott
Esteb (22)..... F..... (2) Scott
Jackson (15)..... G..... Quall
Flegel (14)..... C..... Alm
Nichols..... G..... (2) Cooley
Willamette was awarded one point on Cooley's sixth personal foul.

Substitutions: Cooley for Quall, and Sandel for Cooley.
Referee, Schramm; umpire, Smith.

FRESHMAN GLEE.

From the spirit of optimism that emanates from all four classes this year's Freshman Glee will not be lacking in any of the virtues characteristic of the contests of previous years. When the date was set for March 1, many deemed the time too short to work up songs that would maintain previous standards, but at present all such fears are banished. Finishing touches on most of the words and music have been completed and the classes are entering into the spirit of the daily rehearsals with a power that means the contest will be a credit to the institution, and a hard victory for the winners.

With such a good beginning, let every student do his share to keep up the present feeling of optimism in his class and among the whole student body. In the contests of previous years some few students have been a positive hindrance to their respective classes by their mere "dead weight." They either do not attend rehearsals regularly or consider them as social half hours to be merely enjoyed. This year the shortness of time warrants no such foolishness and each individual must

THE NATION'S FATHER.

Tomorrow is Washington's birthday. The mention of this name and this day, with both of which you have been familiar since the first lesson in American history that you received from father or mother, call forth various homely mental pictures. The hatchet and the cherry tree; the spirited horse and the plucky boy George; then the young surveyor working in the forest wilderness; revolutionary days and Valley Forge; and finally we see him president of the new experiment, the United States of America.

This day which to many may seem to have but little significance aside from the bare fact that it is a holiday in at least one day in the year on which every man fortunate enough to call himself an American citizen should pause and turn from the routine of his existence and consider Washington, the father of his country. The people of this nation have made of this quiet unassuming colonial gentleman a hero. Why have they so honored this man? Because in him are to be found in such abundance those qualities which the foundation of this nation wished to give to every man as a national heritage through free institutions. In George Washington are incorporated all the traits of character, that are desired in the ideal American, honesty, courtesy, courage, industry, and patriotism. Is it any wonder that he is the hero of our country, that we are proud to be his children?

The Washingtonian society has planned an elaborate and satisfying program for tomorrow and they intend to see that this day is celebrated as it has never before been celebrated at Willamette. Let every student lend them the heartiest support possible and just remember that by doing this you will let the world know that you are proud to stand for the ideals embodied in the personality of George Washington.

THE LOGIC OF CHEATING.

Doesn't it seem strange, when you take a logical view of the situation, that it should become necessary at this season of the year in every educational institution in the country to start an agitation for the observance of honorable methods in examinations?

A university community is about as representative a collection of average American citizens as can be found. The average American is honest. You could leave your safe unkeyed without danger in the presence of nine persons out of ten who belong in that class.

Yes, the average university student is honest, but many add this proviso: That dishonesty is not to be understood as including cheating in examinations and thereby obtaining scholastic credit which is not rightfully earned.

Why the need for this understanding? Does anyone know? It is a freak of psychology—and that is all you can say.

The student who is guilty of cheating in examinations does not try to justify his conduct. Neither does he feel any serious twinges of conscience.

He simply accepts as a fact the extraordinary standard which permits this form of dishonesty and forbids all others, and goes ahead to follow it.

WILLAMETTE'S FORUM

A Suggestion to W. U. Co-Eds.
What are your plans for next summer, Co-ed?

Most of us have not thought much about it yet, but several of the girls are already planning to spend ten days of their vacation at Seabeck, attending the Y. W. C. A. conference.

A great many of the older girls have heard more or less about this delightful summer resort away up on Hood's canal among the Olympic mountains where last summer 200 girls played tennis, ate cherries, rowed and went swimming, and altogether had the best time of their lives.

There are so many reasons why a college girl should attend one of these conferences that it is hard to enumerate them. In the first place you meet girls from every college in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana; you hear about colleges that you didn't know even existed and you find out how they "do things" at these places.

You meet the conference leaders, women from New York who are so broad minded and have such winning personalities that you simply can't see enough of them. Last year one of the Willamette girls was seldom seen excepting as she followed in the path of some secretary.

If you are wise you take a note book with you and on "stunt-night" copy down all of the original plays and farces that you see enacted, and from thenceforth gain the reputation among your friends of being clever.

Of course we know you won't believe it but it's the truth that last summer the girls actually hurried from one Bible or mission study class to another lest they would be late. And why not, when people who had actually been there would tell you on their thrilling story after another?

The local Y. W. C. A. will have about $125 this year to lend on three year notes to girls who wish to go to Seabeck.

Begin to plan now and let Willamette have the biggest delegation possible.

DIONYSOS.

Come listen girls, I'll tell forth
A charming tale—a Delphic myn!
It has the grace
Of ancient Thrace,
With modernness of poet and pith.

When Fates were playing first and loose,
Di-on-y-sos the son of Zeus,
The clouds astride
And puffed with pipe,
Like other folks, once played the goose

While perched upon a peak like this,
And viewing heaven's vast abyss,
He spied his face
In pot-like grace,
Reflected on the fields of bliss.

Enamored by the image fair,
His eyes were fairly frozen there,
And leaning out,
He tried no doubt,
To grasp the phantom of the air.

Forgetting all his fair renown,
He leaped too far and tumbled down,
The shade ahead
Still downward sped,
And he kept tumbling like a clown.

At length a fragrant vale reached he,
When, lo! Behold Persephone!
"O maid divine,
You shall be mine,
Why do you run away from me?"

But while he spoke the Titans came;
Their women fought, the prince to claim,
As in these days,
With plier ways,
They fight to win some foreign name.

But while they made their love to him,
Their husbands tore him limb from limb,
And cooked him, too,
As Poo-jees do—
(Unless they find the man too slim.)

So now this moral I would trace:
Don't look too long upon your face!
O Vanity,
Behold and see
Dionysos and his disgrace!
—William Stewart Gordon.

Prof. Hall to Plan Scandinavian Day at Oregon State Fair Next Fall

Dr. John O. Hall, popular Willamette professor, has been chosen by the Oregon State Fair board to act as director of the annual Scandinavian Day to be held Friday of fair week. Dr. Hall is of pure Scandinavian descent and his appointment to this honor comes as a recognition of the friendship he has found with the Scandinavian people of the state.

Miss Goldberger to Graduate from Northwestern

Miss Valeria Goldberger, a member of the class of 1917 is attending Northwestern University this year. She will be able to graduate this year, thanks to the readiness with which her junior credentials from Willamette were received. In a recent letter to Prof. Matthews, under date of February 11, she says:

"I find I can graduate this year at Northwestern. My grades last semester were great—really better than at Willamette. In Shakespeare, one of the hardest courses on the campus, ten seniors flunked and had to change their minors, but I got what would be S at Willamette. All my grades were either S or S plus. There are 7999 students at Northwestern this year."

DOUGLAS HEADS PHILS

Power! Pep! Punch! Philodorian! Most decidedly the snappiest election of officers ever held by the Philodorian society was witnessed last Wednesday night. Leigh Douglas was elected president; Chester Womer, vice-president; Harold Dooce, secretary; Orville Yancy, assistant secretary; Charles Randall, treasurer; Merrill Oshing, reporter; and Arnold Grallo, sergeant-at-arms. Debates and arguments of all sorts featured the election. Mr. Grallo and Mr. Womer seemed to be the opposing factors and kept the debate up in a most lively manner.

Before the election a splendid program was rendered. Mr. Lockhart and Donald Fletcher gave short talks while Waldo Maraters played a piano solo, and Harold Dooce gave a reading.

The latter part of the program was given to the discussing of remarks for the good of the order. Many new suggestions were tendered and will go into effect in a short time. At the next meeting the newly elected officers will be installed and a novelty program will be given, including a good debate. All Philodorians please take notice of the bulletin board for further announcements. Visitors are always welcome at the programs.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER BAND PICKS LEADERS

Varsity Organization Pays Salary to Local Preacher in Korea—Gain New Members.

At a recent meeting of the Student Volunteer Band the following officers were elected for the spring semester: Leader, Ruth Winters; vice-leader, Foster Priddy; secretary-treasurer, Murray Keefer.

An interesting feature of the work of the local band is its support of a local preacher in Korea. For the last six years the band has paid the salary of Mr. Pak, a native Korean, who is devoting all of his time to Christian work among his own people.

Interesting accounts of his work come from Dr. A. E. Anderson who has oversight of the work there, and the members feel that they are well repaid for any sacrifice the raising of his $50 salary may cause them.

Representative Sweeney, Author of Cigarette Bill, Makes Chapel Address

Representative Sweeney, author of the anti-cigarette bill, spoke in chapel Thursday morning. His subject was "Present Day Efficiency." He said that the call of today, more than ever before, was for the efficient man and woman. That we had advantages which the late generation had not. He also expressed a desire to help students, to make the college life a better preparation for the world outside, so that its knocks and struggles will not be so hard.

In speaking of the cigarette bill he gave as its purpose, the help that it would mean to young men to be efficient, and to get an education. Words of condolence and praise also were uttered for the encouragement of the student who has to work for his education. He comes out best in the end since experience has made him acquainted with the practical side of life.

Previous to the address the Y. M. quartet, consisting of Roswell Waltz, Harold Emmel, Earl Cotton, and Victor Collins presented a sacred song.

CHRESTOS INSTALL

Having the installation of officers as the feature of their last program, the Chrestophilians held an enjoyable and profitable evening Wednesday. After a little business had been set aside, the new officers, president, Rauch; vice-president, Pollock; critic, Doney; recording secretary, Carpenter; corresponding secretary, Bartholomew; treasurer, Legg; and sergeant-at-arms, Masters, were ceremonially sworn in.

President Rauch then delivered an inaugural address which would have done credit to the president of the United States.

A trip to the Spa was then made where ice cream and cake was enjoyed; toasts from a large number present were given. The father of A. Chrestos, Mr. Notson, made a very interesting talk on the work of the legislature.

Miss Teel Writes Soph Song

The winning glee song has been chosen by the sophomore class. Miss Theodosia Teel is the class poet and the class of '19 are very hopeful of gaining possession of the coveted pennant. Five sophomore students are working vigorously to produce suitable music for Miss Teel's words, and by Wednesday evening the committee will have selected the best melody and practice will begin.

MAULDEN HEADS LOCAL PROMIS

At a recent meeting of the I. P. A., Mr. Robert Maulden was elected president of the local organization upon the resignation of Mr. Carl Reetz.

Ten students of the University of Kansas were arrested as hoboes while trying to beat their way to see the Nebraska game. It took quite a time before they were able to identify themselves and secure bail for the ambitious sheriff.—Ex.

Blossom Time in the Golden State

A friend just back from Southern California says: "The weather was fine, in fact too warm for heavy clothes. Many were bathing at the beaches. Oranges were ripe in the valleys, while the mountains nearly were covered with snow."

With warm sunny weather it will not be long before the blossoms on the trees will be everywhere announcing that spring time is here.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE DAY, MARCH 10

John M. Scott, General Passenger Agent, Portland

Southern Pacific Lines

By Carrie Cooksey

A number of pleasing affairs have claimed important places on the social calendar during the past week, thus making life delightful for those socially inclined. The month of February with its many holidays has furnished the inspiration for many of these gaieties. Entertainment appropriate to St. Valentine's Day has been used to a large extent during the past few days.

A number of affairs are scheduled for the next week, but with the Freshman Glee less than two weeks away, the greatest effort of every university student is being exerted in this direction, and other things are neglected for the time being.

One of the delightful formal affairs of the year took place in Eaton Hall Saturday evening between the hours of 8 and 10, at which time the faculty of Willamette University gave their annual reception to the student body. Receiving at the door were Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Kirk. The guests were greeted at the head of the receiving line by Prof. J. T. Matthews who in turn presented each one to President Carl Gregg Doney. Others in the line were Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Dean and Mrs. George H. Alden, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards, and Miss Julia L. Todd. Those ladies assisting about the halls during the evening were Mrs. M. E. Pock, Mrs. C. C. Clark, and Miss Edith Benedict.

Mrs. R. L. Mathews invited the guests into the refreshment room. Here Mrs. G. Ebsen and Mrs. J. O. Hall were in charge. Mrs. E. E. Sherwood and Mrs. Alice Dodd served during the first hour, and Mrs. C. G. Doney and Mrs. G. H. Alden during the second. Those ladies assisting in the serving were Mrs. E. C. Richards, Mrs. E. A. Hancock and Mrs. R. Stauffer.

The several musical numbers given in the course of the evening added an artistic touch to the entertainment. Besides orchestral music, Miss Lela Belle McCaddam delighted those present with vocal selections. Mr. Ferris Abbott also contributed vocal numbers. Violin solos were given by Miss Marian Emmons.

The decorations in the main corridors consisted chiefly of American flags and masses of greens. Red carnations added a touch of color among the green. Oriental draperies, loaned by Mrs. Alden and Mrs. Dodd, were used to a good effect in the decorating.

The refreshment room was aglow with the university colors. Jonquils and red tulips formed a pretty center piece on the table. Red shaded candles cast a mellow light about the room. During serving hours, victrola music was enjoyed.

A large number of students were present and enjoyed the loyal hospitality the faculty. Those responsible for the grand success of the reception were Mrs. Alden, chairman of the decorating committee, Mrs. Ebsen in charge of the refreshments, Miss Todd, chairman of the invitation committee, and Mrs. Kirk, chairman of the reception committee.

On Friday afternoon, the formal initiation of the pledged members to the Adelante Literary Society, took place in the society halls. At this time, nine young women were admitted into the realm of Adelanteism with all its mysteries and wonders. The event is one long to be remembered by the new members as well as the old.

Following the initiation ceremonies, an informal reception was given for the new members. During this time Miss Lucile Emmons gave instrumental numbers, and later, duets were played by the Misses Carolyn Sterling and Vesta Mulligan. In the arch-way of the halls, a pretty table with a center piece of carnations was arranged. Presiding over the table were the Misses Mildred Wiggins, and Gertrude Cunningham, assisted by the Misses Lola Cooley and Rosamond Gilbert, who served a delicious supper. The new members taken into the Adelante Literary Society at this time were the Misses Hazel Hockensmith, Freda Campbell, Velma Baker, Vera Wise, Faye Bellin, Beth Briggs, Lela Johnson, Elberta Goulder and Mildred Johnson. The committee in charge of the initiation was the Misses Esther Emmel, Lola Cooley, Esther Taylor and Eva Grant.

An interested visitor at Lausanne hall last week was Senator J. K. Gill of Portland. Mr. Gill said that it had been just fifty years ago that he had married Miss Frances A. Willson in this notable building. At that time the building was one of Salem's finest residences, and it seems that the front part of the building remains the same as it was then. It was indeed interesting to have Mr. Gill relate the events of fifty years ago, and the members of Lausanne hall feel highly honored in having this gentleman call.

William Holt was host at a very delightful Valentine party at his home on North Liberty street, Friday evening. Progressive heart games and valentine archery led in lively succession until, before the guests realized it, the surprise of the evening was announced. The guests were given aprons to participate in an old-fashioned taffy pull. The university students forgot school trials and troubles and laid aside their dignity for an altogether informal childhood pastime of pulling candy. The guests declared the party to be one of the jolliest of the season. Those invited were the Misses Marylee and Florence Jenks, Alberta Goulder, Anna Elder, Edith Stovell, Marion Barnes, Grace Gailey, Gladys Nichols, Sarah Williamson, and Lucy Holt; the Messrs Clark Story, Philip and Lyle Bartholomew, Roswell Waltz, Ed Rauch, Harry Crisp, Gregg, Ivan Corner, Kenneth Legg, and William and George Holt.

Promptly at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Web-Adelante halls occurred the impressive pledge service of the Adelante Literary Society. A pretty setting for the affair was created by an artistic arrangement of art baskets filled with pussy willows, and by the use of large palms. A touch of color was added with the large basket of daffodils. The service lasted but thirty minutes at the conclusion of which three groups were formed, each having three newly pledged members. These groups were conveyed in waiting autos to their respective places of entertainment. The evening was completed with informal parties at the homes of the Misses Carrie H. Cooksey, Lila Doughty and Gertrude Cunningham.

On Monday evening Miss Evelyn Gordon gave a merry little party for the "Allah" girls. The event was a celebration of her birthday. Those enjoying the feed were Misses Lucile McCully, Alene Dunbar, Gertrude Dillard, Margaret Mallory, Marguerite Wible, Esther Cox and Margaret Fuller.

Miss Ethel Forbes, who left last Wednesday, is teaching piano in Seattle, Wash. While here Miss Forbes studied piano and harmony under Dr. W. Chace. She has been a student of the pipe organ for several years in Seattle and this winter gave several excellent vesper recitals at the Presbyterian church.

The Adelantes of North Salem entertained three of the pledged members Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Gertrude Cunningham. Appropriate to the day, hearts and cupid adorned the rooms and the color scheme was preserved throughout. The evening was spent in an informal manner, several original games being played and an ideal literary program given by the pledged members.

Afterwards delicious refreshments were served by the Misses Emma Minton, Helen Wood, and Teresa Fowle.

Miss Hazel Hockensmith, Miss Elberta Goulder, and Miss Lela Johnson were the guests of honor. Others present were the Misses Helen Pearce, Dorothy Pearce, Lola Cooley, Averill Harris, Mildred Wiggins, Helen Wood, Marie Luthy, and Gertrude Cunningham.

There were a number of dinner guests at Lausanne hall Sunday. The dining room presented a spring like appearance with the table decorations of bright yellow daffodils. The Misses Marguerite Wible, Alene Dunbar, Veda Brown, Ethel Fogg, and Ruth Winters had as their special guests the Messrs. Arlie Walker, Harry Bowers, Harold Dimick, Oscar Olson, Homer Tasker.

The Misses Flora Housel and Addie Tobie sent as a valentine gift to Lausanne hall this week, two delicious home-made cakes. It is needless to say that the gift was greatly enjoyed.

The members of Lausanne hall received a most delightful valentine in the form of a large box of home-made candy from Mrs. Cox, mother of Miss Esther Cox.

Miss Lela Johnson spent the week-end in Portland with her brother, Mr. Aubrey Johnson, who is a senior in the Portland Dental College. On Friday evening, Miss Johnson attended the formal reception given by the Psi Omeca Fraternity of which her brother is a member. Saturday, Miss Johnson was royally entertained at the fraternity house.

The Chrestomathean girls abandoned their collegiate dignity last Friday afternoon and for the sake of "auld lang syne" enjoyed again the pleasures of Valentine's day. The costumes of the girls added greatly to the significance of the day. The Valentine program was opened by some nursery songs, given by Miss Eugenia McInturff of the Adelante society. An original Valentine story was told by Ethel Fogg and the "Origin of St. Valentine's Day" was given by Edith Stovel. The original stunt, under the direction of Helen Moore, occasioned much interest. This part of the program was a dramatic representation of the old story of the Queen of Hearts, in which Marion Barnes represented the Queen and Evelyn Gordon the King of Hearts. St. Valentine himself was present and a Valentine box and a real old-fashioned treat closed the afternoon.

Following the pledge service of the Adelante Literary Society, Wednesday evening, a pretty informal valentine party was held at the home of Miss Carrie H. Cooksey. A color scheme of red was carried out both in the decorations and refreshments. In the entertainment planned much valuable information, as well as amusement was obtained. From the center piece on the dining room table fortunes were drawn and after these were disclosed the future for a number of maidens was considerably brightened. The Misses Faye Bolin, Freda Campbell, and Velma Baker contributed the greater part of the entertainment for the evening, with their presentation of a literary and musical program, to say nothing of parliamentary practice. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by the Misses Blanche Baker and Esther Taylor. The honor guests for the party were the Misses Faye Bolin, Velma Baker and Freda Campbell. Miss Genevieve Avison was the alumnal guest. Others in the party were the Misses Eugenia McInturff, Aetna Emmel, Nellie Patchin, Lucile Emmons, Esther Taylor, Eva Grant, Mary Eyre, Mable Boughy, Blanche Baker, Charlotte Tebben and Carrie Cooksey.

The Philodorian girls were taken back to their nursery days, Friday afternoon, when, curled up on cushions on the floor, they enjoyed an interesting and original "child" program. After the roll call to which each girl responded with her favorite nursery jingle, Ruth Green gave a sketch of the origin of Mother Goose rhymes. Ruth Winters followed with a reading of one of Mary Heaton Vorse's delightful stories, "Adventures in Childhood." Then Margaret Garrison led the audience into the spirit of Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird" by the selection "The Kingdom of the Future." "The Child in Me" was read by Ruth Peringer after which little Edith Findley captivated her hearers by singing a children's song to her own able accompaniment. Miss Todd, Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs. R. L. Mathews, honorary members of the society, were present. The girls were agreeably surprised by a royal delegation of brother Philodorians. Supplementing the conventional tea and wafers, real sticky stick candy was served.

Mrs. G. T. Hockensmith, of Albany, spent the past week-end with her daughter, Miss Hazel Hockensmith at the Owyhee club.

On Wednesday night Miss Lila Doughty's home was the scene of a unique informal party in honor of a group of Adelantes. The rooms were prettily decorated with bowls of narcissus and carnations. Merry games carried out the spirit of Valentine Day. Much fun was aroused by having the future fates with the brother Webs foretold. Later in the evening the young ladies found postcard around the room their most characteristic habits portrayed in picture and verse. Dainty refreshments consisting of cakes and brick ice cream with a red heart center, were served by the hostess. The honor guests, Beth Briggs, Vera Wise and Mildred Johnson, were pledged to the Adelante Literary Society. The other guests were the Misses Aetna Emmel, Ruth Spoor, Ruth Hodge, Evelyn Reigleman, Fern Wells, Vesta Mulligan, Carolyn Sterling, Gertrude Eakin, Mable Garrett and Mrs. Laban Steeves.

The Leslie Epworth League extends a cordial invitation to the students of Willamette University to attend their Washington's Birthday Party held at the home of Miss Grace Sherwood on Friday 23, at 7:30 p. m.

The Live Wire Class of Leslie Sunday school conducted "A Real Live Wire Oyster Supper" Friday evening in the basement of the church. As a result of the evening's venture several dollars net profit was realized which will enable "The Live Wires" to begin their career of public reformation. The success of the affair was due to Mr. A. C. Bohrnstedt, president of the class; Miss Fay Wells, chairman of the social committee; and Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt, Mrs. Higgenbotham, Mr. E. Reynolds, Miss Edith Reynolds, and Miss Bertha Miller. The short program given, consisted of a vocal solo by Mr. Charles Douglas, mandolin solo by Miss Fern Wells, and a violin solo by Mr. William Sherwood.

Miss Anna Elder entertained at an informal Valentine party in honor of the birthday of Miss Marylee Jenks, Wednesday evening. Decorations consisted of pink tea roses and can-

The Misses Beta Hobbes and Mary Walker were dinner guests of Miss Blanche Drake Friday evening.

Miss Ethel Forbes, who has been studying music under Dr. Chace, left for her home in Seattle. Miss Forbes made a large number of friends while in Salem, and she will be especially missed in musical circles.

Miss Beth Briggs was the Sunday dinner guest of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Stover at their home on South 19th street.

Miss Ruth Tasker was in Portland last week.

Miss Edna Billings is not staying at Lausanne hall at the present time. She is at the Reigleman home and will probably remain there for a month.

Miss Gule Leo was a week-end visitor at her home in Portland.

An event for Wednesday evening will be the annual Lausanne hall party. Great preparations are being made for the affair, and a good time is anticipated.

Miss Lucile McCully went to Portland for the week-end to visit her mother. Miss McCully was unable to return to Salem Monday because she was taken quite seriously ill Sunday evening.

Miss Lucile Emmons went to Portland Saturday to attend the Josef Hofmann concert at the Heilig Theatre that evening.

Professor Hall Mis-quoted

To readers of a statistical turn of mind, a technical inconsistency has undoubtedly been noticed in the report of Dr. Hall's lecture. The phrase "Every family" should be substituted for the term "Every person" in the quotation "Every person in this state would have to entertain 85 people if we were to feed the poor of this nation." The four features of the American republic should be of his ideal Industrial Democracy.

SOPHS WIN INTERCLASS SERIES OF BASKETBALL

Watt Shipp Co.'s Trophy Becomes Their Permanent Possession—No Games Are Lost.

By defeating the freshmen basketball teamers in the last game, 9 to 6, the sophomores again won the interclass trophy cup given by Watt Shipp Co. The winners made a perfect average of 1000 per cent. The freshmen followed with 666 per cent and the juniors were low point winners, having only 500 per cent. The seniors did not figure in the contest.

The class games for the most part have been close. At the beginning of the season the freshmen established a good lead in defeating the upper class teams by large scores. The sophomores were able to win because of a strong line-up. Their team was composed of Sparks, Peterson, Bailey, Womer, and Marsters. The new material developed in these games is very promising and will figure largely in building up a strong varsity team for next year.

By conditions stated by the donor of the silver trophy, the sophomore class may claim the cup as their permanent possession.

Screw Gives Way Making Laboratory Susan Faint

Beautiful teeth are an asset to any woman and the loss of them a decided calamity. Such was the accident which befell Susan, Prof. Peck's pride and joy. Friday afternoon. She was being conducted into the physiology laboratory for inspection and just as the dignified assembly was turning its critical gaze upon her the supporting screw in the top of her skull gave way and she sank to the floor in a dead faint. When she was brought back to her former state by the gallant young heroes who had rushed to the rescue, it was discovered that three of her front teeth were missing, and her right hand was extended at just the proper oratorical curve, evidently in an attempt to explain the situation.

M'ALLISTER AND HILL LOSE CASE

Leshner, a Tailor, Sues James Clark for Price of Suit; Non-Suit Is Granted

Schramm and Ellis Represent Defendant—Know Your Substantive Rights, Says Judge.

In the case of Leshner, the tailor, against James Clarke for the collection of the price of a suit purchased by Clarke's son, Judge Shields, after admonishing the Moot Court lawyers not to attempt to make out pleadings until they know what their substantive rights are, granted the defendant a non-suit on the ground that the plaintiff's pleadings did not correspond with the proof offered by their witnesses.

The plaintiffs desired to hold James Clarke to a contract made by his son. They contended that the Oregon law does not hold a father even for necessities purchased by his minor child; but if evidence is available showing that the father consented to the purchase, the law will presume an implied contract between the father and a third party. Merely permitting the minor to retain the goods is sufficient for the jury to infer that the father has consented.

According to the plaintiff's testimony, Charles Clark, son of James Clark, ordered a suit from Leshner last September, and charged same to his father. The tailor declared that the father was present and failed to repudiate his willingness to pay for the suit. The suit was made and delivered in accordance with the desire of the son.

The father subsequently refused to satisfy the bill, declaring that he had never consented to the purchase. The plaintiffs contended that the father overheard the transaction, and his silence amounted in law to a ratification. They asked the court to preclude Clarke, Sr., from denying the obligation imposed upon him by the terms of the contract.

The judge held that the circumstances of the transaction were sufficient to support an implied contract between the father and the tailor; but, owing to the fact that the plaintiff's complaint alleged that the contract was made between the tailor and the son, the plaintiffs could not prove it to be between the father and the tailor.

The defense claimed that the suit in controversy was a dress suit, and as the son was a student in Willamette University at the time, it was in no sense a necessity. The judge's opinion on this point set forth the fact that necessities carry no more weight than luxuries, provided the father, by word or deed, ratifies the purchase.

The judge granted permission for the plaintiffs to amend their complaint to correspond with their proof. The plaintiffs decided to waive this privilege and attend the closing hours of the legislature. Schramm and Ellis represented the defendant; Hill and McAllister the unfortunate plaintiff.

SECRETARY OF EDUCATION BUSY

Prof. Richards Visits Many Places; Interests Money and Students in W. U.

Several Subscriptions Received for Women's Hall—Will Be With Glee Club On Part of Tour.

"It looks as though a new hall was an assured thing," declared Secretary E. C. Richards, when he returned Monday evening from a trip to Canby, Or. Within the last few weeks he has received a good deal of money for Lausanne, including several $200 subscriptions. From his report all indications point toward something very definite in the building of a new dormitory.

Prospects for new students are also good. In meeting alumni I am informed of many high school seniors who are intending to come to Willamette next fall. There is a strong sentiment all over Oregon in favor of Willamette. High school principals and teachers are invariably interested in a school of this type.

Especially successful trips have been made recently to Canby, Forest Grove and Hood River. Prof. Richards is planning an extensive Eastern Oregon and Washington trip partly in conjunction with the Glee Club. This joint tour will be an unusually attractive means of advertising the university.

Although not all of the dates have been fixed, some are already booked as follows: The Dalles, February 25; Pendleton, March 4; Wasco, March 11; La Grande, March 18; Walla Walla, Prineville, Condon and Joseph are also on the list together with intermediate points. It is probable that Mr. Richards will go on to Boise with the Glee Club, although this has not been definitely decided.

On these visits, Secretary Richards addresses the high school assemblies and interviews prospective students. He also presents the Lausanne Hall proposition to friends of the university and interests new families in Willamette. He usually preaches at the Methodist churches on Sunday. As a whole these trips have been highly successful and much is being done in the way of extension work for the university.

The judge's opinion on this point set forth the fact that necessities carry no more weight than luxuries, provided the father, by word or deed, ratifies the purchase.

The judge granted permission for the plaintiffs to amend their complaint to correspond with their proof. The plaintiffs decided to waive this privilege and attend the closing hours of the legislature. Schramm and Ellis represented the defendant; Hill and McAllister the unfortunate plaintiff.

While in Willamette Mr. Smith was one of the men who did things. He was manager of the 1915 Wallulsh, member of debate team, Glee Club, both "W" clubs, besides holding numerous other offices, and taking an active part in the Websterian society. His many friends among the students and townspeople wish him the best of success in his new work.

Prof. Hancock and Quartet Entertain Y. M. Members

Prof. Hancock led the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night in one of its banner meetings of the season; the Y. M. C. A. quartet furnishing most of the music.

After singing several hymns, there were several prayers and then Prof. Hancock gave a brief but concise and helpful talk. The quartet composed of Messrs. Emmel, Collins, Cotton, and Waltz, gave several selections which were much appreciated.

This meeting was a very good start for Mr. Harry Dowers who is now in charge of the devotional part of the association. A fair-sized crowd attended the service.

CHAPEL ORDER IS CONSIDERED

Student Body Fails to Adopt Complete Report of Decorum Committee

To Change Seating of the Sophomore Men and to March Out of Chapel Fall—No Whispering.

With no other business brought up for consideration, the entire time for Friday's Student Body meeting was given over to the consideration of the chapel decorum problem.

Arnold Galapp, chairman of the committee appointed before examination week, read the committee's report, and after a long heated debate by both factions, only the minor parts were adopted. The report was: "Whereas the sentiment of this student body favors an improvement in chapel decorum, be it Resolved, that the following measures of conduct be adopted: "1. There shall be no conversation between students upon entering chapel or during the devotional services.

"2. An organ prelude shall precede the devotional exercises.

"3. Faculty and student announcements shall follow the devotional services.

"4. The sophomore men shall hereafter occupy the seats now assigned to the Kimball college students.

"5. The students shall march from chapel in the order of classes." Sophomores Voice Objection. A vociferous attack immediately issued from the sophomore men, who claimed that section No. 4 was a direct slam at the class. After much pseudo-oratory had amused the hearers, it was moved and carried that the report be considered in sections.

The first three sections were adopted without opposition, but upon a second reading of the fourth section section discussion was resection discussion was resumed again. Although some expressed the belief that much of the disturbance issued from the sophomore section, the student body was not in favor of the measure as a remedy, and voted to lay it on the table indefinitely.

No March Wanted. In discussing the proposition of marching from chapel, most of the students were against the idea, either as an efficient means of gaining an exit or were opposed to a march as childish. A popular vote killed the section.

About the only tangible result, provided the measures passed are enforced, is that the extreme social spirit will cease, and in fact this seems to be the greatest cause of disturbance. Since the problem was first voiced by President Doney before examinations the order in chapel has been on a higher level, and some think that the sentiment minus the "laws" is all that is necessary.

WALLACE ADAMS BETTER

Treatments At Hot Lake Make Much Improvement. Wallace Adams has been greatly benefited by his removal to the sanatorium at Hot Lake. The following is an extract from a letter to a university friend:

"I stood the trip fine and could notice very little difference between my condition when I arrived and when I started. But since I have had a few of the treatments I feel much better. I remember that you were at the train when I left but I don't know whether I told you good-bye or not. I was pretty dizzy."

In another letter he says: "Everything is going fine, I am getting stronger but can't walk yet." He also requested that the Collegian be mailed to him at Hot Lake, Or.
