Ruth Joseph, Ed Whyte Win Song Queen, Yell King Spots

Ruth Joseph and Ed Whyte, Willamette freshmen, were elected student body song queen and yell king in run-off elections Tuesday and Wednesday, Lou Prediletto announced following the balloting.

Runners-up for the two positions were Elizabeth Gunn and Pete Pratt, also freshmen. Only 315 students voted, with Joseph receiving 183 and Gunn, 133; Whyte, 219 and Pratt, 94.

Jo Taylor, who received the most votes for song queen on the first ballot, declined to vie in the run-offs because she will not be returning to Willamette next year.

Other members of the yell squad will be appointed and announced later.

Graunke Sets Coming Plays; Makes Plans

Tentative plans for next year's major productions were announced this week by Dean F. Graunke, head of the drama department. The first play, to be given, in mid-November, will be the musical, "Girl Crazy." Following this, during February, "The Glass Menagerie" will be presented.

Last production of the year, the May Weekend play, has not been decided upon yet.

Also revealed this week were Graunke's plans for the summer. He still intends to go to the Ogunquit Playhouse in Maine, but the housing shortage there might force him to change his mind in favor of doing television work in Chicago.

In the early part of June, however, Graunke intends to go to the Hayloft Theatre in Lincoln, Nebraska, which is owned by Mrs. Graunke's parents. He will do two or three roles there before traveling farther east.

President G. Herbert Smith Honored at Surprise Dinner

The Associated students of Willamette University honored Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette, at a surprise testimonial banquet last Sunday at the Capitol room of the Senator hotel. Elliott Motschenbacher was toastmaster and Sherm Bliss, former student body president, presented Dr. Smith with a plaque in recognition of his service from the student body. Sue Mellor and Sherm Bliss arranged the surprise dinner.

The program included piano numbers by Ann Gibbens during the banquet. Solos by Barbara Young and clarinet numbers by Jack Proctor.

Charles A. Sprague, member of the board of trustees, was the speaker. He told of the accomplishment that Dr. Smith had brought to the university in the last ten years. Dr. Smith helped with the set up of the V-12 program during the war which enabled the school to continue without a great drop in enrollment at that time.

Dr. Smith set up a ten year development program in 1944 which included the Charles F. McCulloch stadium and field at a cost of $250,000 and Baxter hall at the cost of $750,000 and an endowment fund of $400,000.

In his first ten years at Willamette, Dr. Smith helped bring the eight national sororities and fraternities.

Mrs. Robert Gregg, Janet Stracken, Dean Mark Hatfield and Maurice Cohn assisted in making arrangements for the dinner.

Over 200 guests from Portland, Salem and Willamette were in attendance.

Pick Up Caps, Gowns

Seniors, please pick up cap and gown now for senior chapel, which will be Tuesday, May 27. Get them in the Bookstore.

Full Weekend of Commencement Activities Scheduled Week Early, May 31 to June 2

Commencement activities will be held a week earlier this year than in the past, thereby setting the weekend program for Saturday, May 31, through Monday, June 2.

The school took this action to schedule the activities for a time when the campus would be populated with students and running in full swing. The three-day program will include alumni day, baccalaureate services, a reception, a band concert, and commencement exercises.

An innovation this year will be a fuller alumni day program which will include "Alumni University," a special course for grads. The course will include a series of four lectures by outstanding Willamette professors.

Class reunion luncheons will be held at 12:30 Saturday afternoon. The featured luncheon will be the 25th anniversary luncheon for the class of 1927, to be held in the Camellia rom of the Senator hotel.

Baccalaureate service for graduating seniors is scheduled at 4 p.m., June 1, the Sunday before commencement, in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Paul Newton Poling, pastor of the church and a Willamette graduate, class of 1925, will conduct the services.

All campus buildings will hold open house at 4 p.m. Saturday. The alumni day banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in Baxter hall. Limited accomodations for 225 necessitate advance reservations for the banquet. Tickets are available for $1.50 and may be obtained by writing to Director of Alumni Affairs, Willamette University.

A reception for faculty, seniors, and parents will be held in Lausanne hall at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Maurice W. Brennan will conduct a band concert in Waller hall at 8:15 Sunday evening.

Dr. C. Gilbert Wrenn, Willamette graduate now at the University of Minnesota, will give the commencement address for graduation ceremonies to be held Monday, June 2 at 4 p.m. at McCulloch stadium.

Von Eschen, Schrock, Simpson Get Positions

Ellis Von Eschen, sophomore, was chosen new Homecoming manager for 1952 as a result of action taken in the first meeting of the newly-elected student council held Wednesday.

Two other important managerial posts of the Fall semester were awarded to Tom Schrock, freshmen orientation manager, and Carl Simpson who gained the position of Parents' Weekend head.

Von Eschen was unopposed in his bid for the Homecoming post. Schrock, a freshman, won over Dick Adams and Bruce Boatman. Also filing for Parents' Weekend manager against Simpson, a junior, were Amaryllis Lilles and George Buland.

In submitting his petition, Van Eschen proposed no major changes in the way Homecoming has been carried out in recent years. He stated, however, that more emphasis should be given to visiting alumni and on traditions that go along with the Homecoming event.

Schrock proposed that freshmen be given guidance throughout the year when major events come up instead of dropping orientation after the first week. Simpson had nothing in his petition offering any major changes in Parents' Weekend.

This was the first student council meeting in which the new council, under the chairmanship of ASWU president Rollin Cocking, has met and decided on issues. They will meet once more this semester next Wednesday, May 28.

Another year is almost finished at Willamette. In a week, many of us will be leaving the traditions, the friendships, the professors, and all the things we have enjoyed in the Willa mette family.

There haven't been many things which weren't enjoyed, too, but those are always forgotten as the time for graduation draws near. Every senior is going through his activities for the "last time." Suddenly the grass looks a little greener, Waller isn't so beat-up looking, and Eaton's floors creak with a new tone.

There is a future to look forward to for Willamette. A new class of freshmen will be following the rook traditions next year. This year's freshmen will be unbearable in their superiority as sophomores. It all follows a pattern.

We graduating seniors will never be able to measure by a diploma, the amount or degree of knowledge we have gained at Willamette. Any success we may have we owe primarily to those professors who have aided and guided us through the college years. Their friendships have been invaluable. From the benefit of their years of experience, we have gained a "college education." We thank you for everything Willamette has meant to all of us. M.L.L.

New Successes for '52-'53

The Associated Students of Willamette University are to be commended for exhibiting the interest in their student government that was demonstrated this past week by the large percentage of members of the Association who went to the polls. The right of franchise among the students has long been a sadly neglected feature in our campus political scene and indications of improvement such as this one are heartening to the many who have shouted long and loud about getting out to vote.

The revealing significance of this election is that the newly elected ASWU officers are more truly representative of a major segment of campus opinion than ever before. This fact should contribute immeasurably to the success of this years' student council. S.B.

Mark of Achievement

It is with pleasure that the Collegian congratulates Dean Mark Hatfield, on behalf of the students of Willamette university, on his recent victories at the polls. Besides a renomination to the legislature in which he outdistanced all other Republican nominees, Mark has also been chosen to represent Oregon as a delegate to the Republican National convention in July. We feel that the latter position will be a great step in our dean's climb up the political ladder. The delegate seat should serve him well in his bright future as a potential statesman. S. N.

Our Reward

Coach Chester Stackhouse, you are leaving behind you men who will always remember you, and whom, we hope, will follow your example. There are many rewards, most of them to those of us who have known you.

Bequeathed . . . .

As this edition goes to press, another Collegian staff lays the typewriter down, forgets about deadlines, galley proofs, reporters, scoops, hot news and mistakes.

Next week's Collegian will be edited by a new staff. We old editors will fade away to the local cinema to enjoy a Wednesday evening free of responsibility.

Since Don Scarborough is in Washington, D. C., Stan Nelson, capable news editor, will get the glory, but, even that far away, Don, you'll get the blame for anything that goes wrong.

This is my last will as editor of the Collegian: I, Mary Louise Lee, being of partially sound mind, and, according to some, under many influences, hereby bequeath my position as Collegian editor and all it entails to Don Scarborough.

I will you:

1...All Wednesdays and Thursdays

2. The staplers which disappear on Wednesday's and return Fridays, and the typewriter (the one with ribbon) in the office.

3...The distinction of being the first editor in eight years to get a First-Class rating

4...All special interest groups and "publicity chairmen"

5. Going out for coffee with the Wallulah editor

6. Janitorial service in the office

7. At least three printing errors in a "perfect" paper

8. My ulcer

And the good things which cannot be bequeathed, but will be shared. The cooperation of printers when editorials are late, the surprise when someone appreciates a bit of publicity, the troubles and joys of freshmen reporters, the satisfaction when the Collegian looks pretty good on Friday morning, and the long talks with Professor Ringnalda, whose advice and help is so much appreciated.

The association of a marvelous staff I also leave to you, Don. With Ann, Betty, Margie, Stan, Erwin, Chuck and Darrel as editors, you will have comparitively few worries, and I will you an excellent paper for the year 1952-53. M. L. L.

In Critorium

I doubt if Chopin's G minor Ballade was ever played under more extenuating circumstances than when Edna Marie Hill played it last Thursday during the intermission of the choir concert chapel. I do not blame the audience for indulging in a few guffaws at the weird assortment of boxes etc., she sat on or at the variouse-stringed piano she played. This piano has delusions of grandeur, it thinks it is a three-legged grand—not a four legged upright. I have seen pianists on their last leg but never a piano.

Edna played beautifully nevertheless, but the music would have sounded twice as good on a decent piano. It was like Heifetz playing a fifty-buck fiddle. No artist can rise far above the crippling limitations of an inferior instrument any more than shot-thrower Jim Hitchman could have made his last record heaving a chamber pot.

This is not the first time pianist have been compelled to play on inferior instruments in the gym but I hope it will be the last.

Joyce Foster

put in many backbreaking hours cranking out this semester's "Endeavor" on the mimeograph machine. And the magazine is worth every bit of effort that she and her many helpers put into it. As usual it contains the best of student writing carefully selected by editor Foster and others. The cover, executed by Pat Pomerlo (executed in this sense means executed, not executed) is particularly interesting. Circumstances this semester were not condusive to the production of another "Endeavor." There was a shortage of time and finances but Joyce and UNESCO members had a lot of fine material and did not want to hold it over for next year. Students who buy "Endeavor" are making a fine investment. If they save it for a few years their children and their children's children can use it for term papers.

They're Off!

A lot of interesting people are going to a lot of interesting places this summer.

Ann Ellsperman, talented thespian, is away for England come end of school. Sez she is going to spend her time looking at castles.

Phil Shaw will be all over the USA this summer, finally winding up in New York where he has a job counseling at a youth camp. Phil will be at the University of Washington next year taking post graduate work.

Dr. George Hocking will take off in about a month for England and the continent. He will be with his group at the University of Grenoble in France and then will visit Spain and Italy with a sojourne in London if time permits. Did you know that Dr. Hocking has a passion for soda-crackers? He also says he is a sadist. How about starting a sadist-Hocking day in his honor? I don't think this is funny.

Bob Kaplan will wind up a whirl-wind career here at Willamette and plans to do post-graduate work at Tulane university in New Orleans where he will no doubt re-stage the Mardi-Gras in his spare time.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last week's letter from members of Cap and Gown indicates bitter disappointment over the vote in last month's Faculty meeting on their plan for a student rating and evaluation of Willamette teaching. Whatever its cause, the bitterness is regrettable. I think it unnecessary. I would like to explain why.

Faculty response to the plan was not, indeed, unamimously enthusiastic. None the less approval was voted by a majority of those present; so that, instead of "abrupt discontinuance," an experimental survey on a purely voluntary basis would seem to have been quite in order.

Personally, I spoke and voted against the plan as presented; but would still be willing to act guinea-pig along with a majority of my colleagues.

What I object to is that we dissidents now stand publicly accused of (1) causing dissension and controversy; and (2) opposing the survey for reasons of our own which (it seems implied) are so silly or discreditable that we prefer to keep them secret. I hereby plead not guilty on both counts, while admitting count (3)—not completely understanding the plan.

The chief reason for this (and I think for the general lack of Faculty enthusiasm) was that the survey plan was presented so late in the semester that haste would have been unavoidable in carrying it out. The details simply have not been worked out. It may be that valuable information on similar surveys in other colleges comparable to ours had been collected; although last week's letter mentions only schools such as three State universities. Anyway, this information was not presented to us; and, at the Faculty meeting, nobody knew just what questions about our teaching were to be asked of our students. More important was the unanswered question of how the answers were to be tabulated, weighed, evaluated, and used. Various amendments were discussed; but the only specific point I remember in the original plan was that the survey was expected to take about twenty minutes of class time, and that the instructor being surveyed was requested to absent himself.

Hundreds of forms, thousands of answers would be involved, I take it—most of them filled in by sophomores and freshmen! At the meeting I was corrected, no doubt rightly, for using the word questionnaire; but, whatever you call it, I remain very dubious of the hit-and-run blunderbuss technic involved in this sort of thing—with the various answers to the still unspecified questions all kept strictly anonymous. Maybe I'm old-fashioned and stuffy; but I'd rather leave popularity contests by ballot to the politicians!

None of this means that any of us feel that our teaching is too good to be improved. Nor do we consider student opinion unimportant. I'd like to hear more of it on all matters of common concern, provided it is well-informed, representative, responsible, thoughtful. Cap and Gown is all that, doubtless. But, lacking convincing evidence that their plan as presented would meet the same test, we of the minority were, I think, fully entitled to use our democratic right of proposing to table it.

Yours etc.,
Ivan Lovell.

Parents' Day, Homecoming Dates Set by Activities Board

The dates for Parents' Day and Homecoming for next fall were announced by Jim Hitchman, new student body Vice-president and head of the Activities board, as recent action approved by the board. Homecoming will be held on November 8 and Parents' Day is tentatively scheduled for October 11.

Plans of the activities board also include scheduling the Campus Chest drive and the Varsity Varieties production on the week which will be climaxed by Parents' Day. Arrangements have also been discussed for a permanent bulletin board outside of the buildings possibly to be located between Eaton and Waller halls or near to the gym.

The board has added a new voting member by including a representative of the Willamette Independent Town Students which makes the membership 22. Additional membership includes the appointment by the Collegian editor of a representative from the Collegian staff to be a non-voting member.

The membership of the board besides the new representative includes a representation from the faculty, from the living organizations, chapel manager, president of the Inter-Faith council, service honorary coordinator, peripheral activities coordinator, and plans call for the inclusion of an AWS representative.

Clark to Conduct Geology Tour At Silver Creek

Evidence of Oregon's impressive geological history will be pointed out to interested onlookers tomorrow by Prof. Herman Clark in a conducted tour at Silver Creek falls.

Invitation to join the tour has been extended to all who would like to have Prof. Clark's interpretation of the revealing formations that abound in the neighborhood of the falls, according to Prof. Murco Ringnalda, program chairman of the local AAUP, which is sponsoring the trip.

Those making the field trip will meet Prof. Clark at the head of the trail at the upper south falls at 1:30 p.m. Several professors and their wives have declared their intention of taking part, but since no advance reservation is necessary, Prof. Ringnalda believes several others as well as some students will be on hand to join the party when it gets under way.

Tomorrow's field trip was prompted by interest shown in Prof. Clark's recent faculty forum lecture on the geology of Oregon. With much of the evidence for the imposing story of this area close at hand, the trip was suggested as a valuable supplement to the lecture.

The tour will last about three hours. Some of the persons who will join the trip, it is believed, are planning to make a day of it, arriving at the falls in the morning and using the picnic and Kitchen facilities to have lunch there. Some may stay on afterwards for dinner.

The meeting place for the start of the trip is not hard to find, according to Prof. Clark. It is close by the main area where most visitors to the falls congregate. The trip between Salem and the falls takes about 30 minutes.

Dr. E. Fortmiller To Address MED

Dr. E. V. Fortmiller of Salem will address this year's last meeting of Mu Epsilon Delta Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Collins hall, E. V. Yung, program chairman, announced.

His topic will be the importance of general medical practices. Officers will be elected at a short business meeting.

Jim Wood Takes Doney Speech Prize

Jim Wood, Willamette speech stalwart, talked his way into first place in the annual Doney Oratorical contest and a cash award before a student convocation audience on Tuesday.

Wood, triumphing in a field of four, will receive two-thirds of the net income from one thousand dollars which was endowed by Dr. and Mrs. Carl G. Doney in memory of their son, Paul H. Doney, Willamette '20, for the yearly event. Dr. Doney was the president of Willamette from 1915 to 1934.

The second place award went to Jean Kyle and she will receive the other third of the prize income.

The judges, Dr. Kenneth Lottick, Dr. Chester Luther, and Dr. Robert Gregg, named the places on excellence of thought, composition and delivery with one-third of the final tally counting on each.

In his first place oration, Wood spoke on the problem of the day of men dieing in Korea. He emphasized the necessity and value of first deciding what we wish to obtain through war and then obtaining these ends by such means rather than an imperfect peace.

Miss Kyle spoke on the difference between actuality and idealism as she brought the dreams of immigrants coming to the "land of opportunity" and pictured the discouragment of these people when they encountered racial prejudice and greed.

Memorial Services

A memorial service for Charles K. Todd will be held on Sunday, May 25, at 4 p.m. (daylight time) in the Fremont Street Methodist church, Portland.

Bearcats Cinder Victors As Stackhouse Departs

By Hal Johnson

Coach Chester Stackhouse's somewhat pessimistic forecast of his cinder squad's chances in the Northwest conference track meet held in Walla Walla last Saturday proved unnecessary, as his Bearcats completely dominated the meet.

The affair was Stackhouse's last as he leaves the University at the end of the school year.

Willamette tallied 77½ points, taking six firsts and tying for another of the 15 events. The nearest opponents were Lewis and Clark with 46 5/6 points and Whitman with 46⅓ points.

The meet was a rare one, one that is run less than seldom and was featured by Frank Merriwell performances, record-setting efforts and a great individual showing.

Coin Flip Decides

The Frank Merriwell epic was the surprising win in the half-mile run by Mike Hovis of Willamette. Hovis was awarded the chance to run on the flip of a coin and pulled through ahead of the field for five big points and a conference championship. Hovis was selected to run the event over Bearcat Bob Miller.

Big Jim Hitchman, faced with his last chance of the season to break his own shot put record, heaved the heavy hunk of iron 45 feet and 10 inches to better his own Willamette record by eight and one-half inches and the meet record by nine inches. Bob Mays, Whitman runner, set a new meet record in the 440, turning in a time of 50 seconds flat.

Ralph Adams, Willamette's only double winner, is the new conference distance champ. Adams won both the mile and two-mile events. His teammate Wally Boe finished second in both of these events.

Gilson, Neperud Win

Layton Gilson tossed the discus 122 feet and seven inches to win that event for the Bearcats and Stan Neperud, recent new school record holder in the javelin event, threw the stick 188 feet and two inches to take that event. Bob Hall, ending his highly successful college sports career, was second in this event.

Ray Fretheim, rookie Bearcat pole vaulter, tied Lewis and Clark's Ron Carmichael for first in the vault. Both men went 12 feet and three inches.

Caley Cook, outstanding freshman from Lewis and Clark, turned in the best individual record for the day, winning the 100-yard dash, the low hurdles and broad jump and placing fifth in the high hurdles to collect 16 points, more than a third of his team's total points.

Other winners were Bob Rochester of Whitman in the high hurdles and Bud Wheeler also of Whitman in the 220-yard dash. Julian Amaya of Pacific won the broad jump and the Pacific relay team of Dick Kolmier, John Casteel, Jerry Millis and Bob Stewart won the one mile relay event.

Attention Lettermen

All those athletes above freshman standing who have earned their first varsity letter this school year should report to the athletic office next Tuesday at noon to be measured for award sweaters. John Lewis, athletic director for next year, said that this will be the last time measurements will be taken until next fall.

Wisnom, Watts Capture Doubles Title As Willamette Shares Meet Honors

For the second straight year, Willamette and Whitman shared tennis honors with Willamette taking the doubles and Whitman the singles.

George Watts and Dave Wisnom teamed up together to win the Northwest conference doubles crown while Bob Bratton won the singles toga last Friday in Walla Walla.

Last year's winners were Phil Hammond and Bob Petzoldt in the doubles and Bill McKay in the singles. This trio was not in the competition this year.

Coach Les Sparks' Willamette netters finished their dual meet season with an 8-2 record and both setbacks came at the hands of Oregon State. The first loss was 4-3 and the final one 5-2. Willamette and Whitman did not play each other because in tennis and golf the western division schools do not make the long trip to Walla Walla for dual matches.

In the conference singles competition, Bratton won in the first round by default from Dick Hahn of College of Idaho and downed Beckerman in the semi-finals 6-2 and 6-3. His opponent in the finals was Chuck Carter of Willamette and Bratton won 6-0 and 6-3. Carter had previously defeated Lew Wahl of Lewis and Clark and Merrill Lewis of Linfield.

Wisnom and Watts drew a first round bye in the doubles competition and beat Bob Worral and Bill Click of Whitman 6-3 and 6-2 in the semi-finals. In the finals the two Bearcats went into three sets before stopping Ray Grundhauser and Hal Lapp of Linfield 5-7, 6-2 and 6-3. Grundhauser and Lapp had drawn a first round bye also and they went three sets to stop Paul Hayes and Mark Buscher 6-3, 6-8 and 6-3.

WAA Tennis Finished; Archery Contest Held

Willamette WAA tennis squad finished a three-match season last Friday as they downed the Oregon College of Education team 5-1 in a match held on the Willamette courts.

The Willamette netwomen had previously edged the OCE team 4-2 the day before at Monmouth. In the season's opener the WAA team was forced to share honors with Linfield as both teams captured three games apiece.

An archery meet for Willamette students was held yesterday afternoon on Sweetland field for both men and women, but the results of the competition were not received in time for publication.

The WAA tennis members for this year were Mary Lu Ratcliff, Mary and Sophia Polales, Joanne Oliver and Kaija Lietuvietis. Radcliff won all singles matches while Jo Oliver won all her singles matches, but she also played on an undefeated doubles team.

STAN NELSON

Sparks Comes Up With a Winner

After coasting along with just so-so teams for a spell, WU's old-timer Les Sparks came up this year with one of Willamette's hottest tennis squads in history. The nucleus of this budding court crew is made up of three freshmen who provided enough one-two-three punch this year to dispose of all league competition and two of them, George Watts and Dave Wisnom, walked off with the conference doubles title last weekend in Walla Walla. No. 1 man Chuck Carter also reached the finals, but fell before the slams of Whitman's senior ace, Bob Bratton.

The doubles victory of Watts and Wisnow was the first time freshmen have won the title. No frosh has ever managed to take the singles crown. Even Carter might have done the impossible himself, but had two strikes against him when he entered the finals. He just got out of the infirmary at WU in time to make the meet, then played 57 games to Bratton's 14 when they collided for the pay-off. A pulled leg muscle further hampered him almost forcing him to the sidelines midway in the contest. Considering all that Carter had against him, he put up a truly courageous battle against his more court-wise foe.

Give 'Em Time

Not that the Whitman star, Bratton, wasn't good, because he was, and he had the all-important experience that counts so heavily in the clutch. When these young Bearcat netmen get more experience under their belts and start combining a little court-savvy with their terrific array of shots — look out!

Actually, Willamette took the conference meet on points—if points had been awarded. A win in the doubles and runner-up in the singles matches should give Willamette eight points under the traditional rules of scoring tennis meets, three better than Whitman, who failed to place in the doubles. But it seems this conference has not adopted such a system and our Bearcats ended up officially in a tie with the Whits.

Vokes Stays On

When Ted Ogdahl comes down to Willamette next fall to officially take over the duties of head football and track coach, he is not going to dismiss Sam Vokes, two-year member of the WU athletic staff. We're personally happy to hear of this, for we've always liked the fire and enthusiasm that Sam showed in his line coaching duties and other charges.

In our now several years at Willamette and from experience in prep school, we've never seen a more consciencious PE coach. He has always endeavored to help the disinterested students along, teaching them the fundamentals of a large number of popular sports. This a place where most coaches fail to emphasize any kind of strenuous program, but a place where a good program can be of tremendous importance to the student who hasn't the ability to make a varsity team. After all, if physical education wasn't important, it probably wouldn't be required. Like English, PE is basic.

Congratulations to Distance Champ

Coach Chester Stackhouse, who leaves the University at the end of the school year, congratulates Ralph Adams, conference distance champ, while Ray Fretheim, who tied for the conference pole vault honors at Whitman last Saturday, looks on from the right. Adams, who holds the school record in the mile, won the mile and two mile events last Saturday in the conference meet. Fretheim, who holds the school mark in the pole vault, tied Ron Carmichael of Lewis and Clark. (Statesman cut.)

Willamette Downs Portland Pilots 10-4; Finish Play With Seven Straight Wins

By Erwin Weber

Coach John Lewis' Willamette Bearcats, runner-up in the Northwest conference baseball race with Linfield, finished their 1952 season by winning seven straight games as they downed Portland 10-4 last Monday on the McCulloch diamond.

Against Lewis and Clark, Mike Glenn finished his pitching career at Willamette with a 6-4 triumph over the same squad which had beat him earlier in the season. Four seniors played their last game for Willamette last Monday as they led the Bearcats to a 10-4 victory. Cliff Girod, Dick Brouwer, John Markoskie and Millard Bates are the graduating seniors.

Last Game for Seniors

Coach Lewis' nine scored seven times in the fifth inning to break a scoreless deadlock. Duane Shield opened the inning with a walk off, Dave Penny, the losing pitcher, and stole second base. Girod brought him in with a hit. Harve Koepf walked and Brouwer followed up with a home run. Alva Brown walked and Dave Perlman hit the second round-tripper of the inning. Elmer Haugen beat out a bunt and scored as three walks forced him in with the last run of the inning.

Perlman and Haugen both scored in the sixth inning on Shield's single and the final run of the game for Willamette came in the eight inning when Brown was safe on Bob Glennen's error and scored on Girod's single to left.

Dave Gray, Vern Vannice, Benny Holt and Andy George pitched for Willamette and Vannice received credit for the victory. Portland scored three runs off Holt and touched George for the other run.

Coaches Play

Both coaches got into action as the game was about over. Art McCarney pitched the last inning for his team and gave up one run on two hits. Lewis went to bat against McCarney and hit a long fly to left field. McCarney batted in the ninth inning and singled to right field off George.

The Bearcats scored five big runs off Len Zimmerman, Lewis and Clark's pitcher, in the third inning to take a lead that they never relinquished. Girod and Brouwer opened the inning with singles and Markoskie walked to fill the bases. Brown singled in Girod and Brouwer. Markoskie scored on Dick Tydeman's wild throw. Perlman walked and Haugen was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases again. Glenn drove in Brown and Perlman for the final two runs of the inning with a single to left.

Glenn Saves Game

Koepf scored the final run for Willamette in the ninth inning as he singled went to third on Brouwer's hit and scored on Perlman's long fly out to center field.

Lewis and Clark threatened in the ninth inning as they had men on second and third with nobody out with the score 6-4. Ray Eckleman tried to squeeze Gary Jackson in from third, but Eckleman hit a pop fly to Glenn who threw to third to double off Jackson at third. Glenn got Tydeman out on an easy pop fly to Perlman to end the game.

Sigs Win Intramural Softball Playoff As Steindorf Drives in Winning Tally

The intramural softball championship went to the Sig "A" team Wednesday by virtue of a 3-2 victory over the Phi Delts. The winners also walked off with the intramural sports trophy by edging out the Phi Delts who had led the race for the much-sought-after award all year.

The trophy race was actually determined Tuesday when the Sig "A" team came from behind to down the All-Americans 9-5. The winners uncorked a seven-run attack in the last inning to take the win. The Sig "B" team won third spot with a 16-12 win over the AA's last Wednesday.

Stan Steindorf, Sig catcher, was the hero of Wednesday night's championship tilt. Big Stan smashed a double to left field in the final inning to drive home teammate Gene Timms with the winning run. The other two runs came one each in the first and second innings.

The Phi Delts got both of their runs in the fourth. Byron Sittser walked and stole second and scored on Roger Ulbricht's single. Jerry McNerney forced Ulbricht at second base. Then Lou Predilleto, losing pitcher, tied his own ballgame up when he singled to left scoring McNerney.

Dan Montag was the winning pitcher and it was his eight straight victory with out a setback. It was Predilleto's second loss in eight starts with both losses coming at the hands of the Sig "A" team.

The third place game was a wide open affair as the score indicates. The Sigs' "B" team scored two runs in the first inning, eight in the second and five runs in the fourth to win the game. Babe Maudlin was the winning pitcher while Hugh Bellinger was touched for the loss.

The AA's scored one run in the first, eight in the second and tied up the game in the third with one run. In the fourth inning, the All-Americans were held to two tallies while the Sigs scored their five runs to win the game.

Sigs Make Comeback To Win 'Mural Trophy

Winning both the "A" and "B" league titles and the post season intramural playoffs gave the Sigs the intramural sports trophy this year.

Last year's winners, the All-Americans, slipped to third place while the SAE's, runners-up last year, fell to fourth this time. The winning Sigs climbed up to top spot this year after finishing fourth last season. The Phi Delts, who were right behind the Sigs last year, resumed the same spot this season as they were runners-up in the point race.

The Sigs had to come from far behind to take the trophy. They scored 48 points in softball while the Phi Delts won only 24 and the final margin was 13 and one-half points.

Final Standings

Sigs	187½
Phi Delts	174
All-Americans	169½

Wittenberg Leads 'Cats to Link Title; Gravenslund Fires Ace on Thirteenth

Coach Sam Vokes' Willamette golfers walked away with the 1952 Northwest conference golf title last Friday in Walla Walla as Bill Wittenberg led the Bearcats with a 147 total to capture medalist honors.

This year's conference champs finished dual competition with a 9-1 record and went right through conference play undefeated. The setback was against Oregon State by a one-stroke margin.

Whitman landed in the runner-up spot as they finished 21 strokes behind the Willamette squad with a 654 count. Lewis and Clark, last year's winners, captured third spot as they finished with a 683 total. Pacific was next with 725 and Linfield finished last with a total of 751. College of Idaho did not enter the meet.

Wittenberg had to share the spotlight with John Gravenslund who canned a hole-in one. Gravenslund accomplished the feat on the thirteenth hole.

In the conference meet, each of the teams enter six participants, but the final score of the competition is taken from the top four golfers of each team.

Wittenberg fired a 77 in the first eighteen holes and came back in the next round with a 70 to finish with a 147 count, good enough for medalist honors.

The three other Bearcats finished within five strokes of each other. Ken Baines had an even 160 and Dick Church was one stroke off with 161. Kent Myers finished with a 165 count to give Willamette a 633 total.

Four Jasons Receive All-Conference Rating

Four Willamette baseballers were selected on the Northwest conference all-star team at the annual coaches meeting held last Friday in Walla Walla.

The Bearcats who made the 15-man squad were Alva Brown, first base; Cliff Girod, second base; Harve Koepf, catcher; and Andy George, pitcher.

Linfield also placed four men, Whitman's pennant-winning Missionaries and Lewis and Clark each collected three spots and College of Idaho one.

Catcher Chuck Bafaro, Pitcher Stan Blank, Outfielder Bob Martin and Dick Heller, utility infielder, were the players from Linfield; Lewis and Clark placed Chuck Bonando, pitcher; Dave Daniels, third base; and John Gordon, outfield, on the conference "dream" team.

The conference champs placed Pitcher Sid Aronson, Shortstop Ken Myer and Outfielder Don Hanson on the all-star squad. Bill Wigle, outfielder, was the lone man from College of Idaho to make the squad.

Girod is the only Bearcat repeater from last year's squad. Dick Brouwer who was selected all-conference honors last season received honorable mention this year. The other three Bearcats who make the squad are freshmen except Brown who is a sophomore.

Smith Lauds WU for 'Liberal Arts'

By Lois Mulcahy

A "vigorous administration" was predicted ten years ago when Dr. G. Herbert Smith first came to Willamette university. When asked his reaction after ten years he says, "I feel as I did when I came here, that very few universities have the opportunity to be a distinctive liberal arts college. Willamette has a great reputation for educational leadership. We need only the financial resources to make it possible for the University to reach its greatest development."

One of the youngest presidents in Willamette's history, Smith was chosen by the board of trustees in a special session in July, 1942, to head the administration. He came from DePauw university and had made an unusual record in educational circles since graduating from the Indiana institution in 1926.

Smith Got V-12

Dr. Smith obtained the V-12 program for Willamette. This university was the only one chosen for the military unit in Oregon, and one of two in the Northwest. A full wartime physical and educational organization was adopted, with the navy assigning 270 men to the University, 90 of which were pre-meds. Six semesters were crowded into two years with three semesters a year. This program enabled the University to carry on its educational function without disastrous curtailment during the war years. A $50,000 fund was raised to see the college through this period.

Ten Year Plan

In 1944, President Smith was confronted with post-war problems. At this time, an outline for a ten-year university development program was acted upon by the board of trustees. The expansion was to include construction of new buildings on the campus, land for a new athletic field, a drive to strengthen the financial condition of the University through donations and endowment funds, and an attempt to stabilize the enrollment.

The plan for moving the athletic field has been completed with the construction of McCulloch stadium and field at the cost of $250,000. Baxter hall, the new men's dorm, was completed at the cost of $750,000. This amount is equivalent in dollars to that of all the other buildings on campus put together. It is considered to be the most unique plan of housing men students in the country. The idea of bringing all men on campus together and the basic plan for the building was that of Dr. Smith. The architecture was by P. Belluschi. Bishop house also came to the university during this period. It was given as a house for the president, but has been used as a dorm during this time of need.

Finances Better

The university has been financially strengthened with an increase in the endowment of $400,000 which brought it up to $2,225,000. This has provided for better faculty salaries. In 1942, there were 37 on the staff. At the present time the faculty consists of 68 full time members. All of the present administrative staff with the exception of Dean Melvin H. Geist have been acquired in the last ten years. The budget has been increased from $165,000 to $528,850 in this duration. The enrollment has also been stabilized at around 1000.

In addition to this development program, WU has acquired a modern health service, with a full time nurse, a part time doctor and an infirmary on campus.

Some of the other achievements are the stacks in the library which have been enlarged to make room for twice the number of books. An art building and a band building have been constructed. Air Force ROTC has also been brought to the campus.

Maintenance Problem

One of the biggest problems has been that of general maintenance. President Smith recalls that during the summer before his arrival an old land mark, Kimball hall, was removed from in front of the library building in an attempt to modernize the campus. One of his biggest headaches, he claims, was finding the dirt to fill the hole where the basement had been. It was two years before this project was completed.

Along with general maintenance Lausanne hall was completely redecorated and furnished. A new lighting system was installed throughout the University, and the gym was painted on the inside for the first time since it was built in 1923.

At the present time all divisions of the university have received the highest accreditation. During Smith's ten-year term the Music school received accreditation from the National Association of Music and the Law school has become a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Church Support

This has also been a period of re-establishment of the school with the Methodist conference.

When Dr. Smith first came to the campus, WU was receiving no direct support from the church. By 1944 it was receiving $5,000 and

Two new degrees are being offered, one is a master's degree in education and the degree of doctor of jurisprudence is available for the first time.

On the personal side, Dr. Smith, in the last ten years, was recognized with an LL.D from the University of Southern California in 1944. He was also recognized by DePauw university with an LL.D in 1945.

Holds Titles

The president holds the titles of Director of the Association of American Colleges, Director of the Oregon Mutual Fire Insurance Co. and former national president of Beta Theta Pi. He was awarded the National Interfraternity Conference gold medal for distinguished service to youth in 1948. He was a member of the educational advisory committee to the committee on education of the U. S. house of representatives 78th congress, 1944.

With the ten year plan set up by the board of trustees completed in two years less than the time allowed, a new committee has been appointed and is making plans for the next phase of development at Willamette. President Smith reports that this will probably include a fine arts building, auditorium, student union, chapel and further increases in the endowment.

With his many accomplishments at Willamette, we see that President Smith has indeed had a "vigorous administration."

Willamette's first drill competition between the two squadrons of the local AROTC unit resulted in victory for Squadron A on Tuesday. The "Governor's Award" will be presented to the guidon bearer of the winner at the Presidents Review next Tuesday on McCulloch field.

Four impartial judges from the area were selected by the local staff to judge the contest. The chief judge was Lt. Colonel Robert C. Irwin of the USAF Reserve. He was assisted by Captain Perle D. Van Ausdell, USAFR; 1st Lt. Robert O. Reeves, OSAFR; and Mr. Edward H. Armstrong, former director of development at Willamette and now the adminstrative assistant to Governor McKay.

The four flights of the squadron performed simultaneously for five minute sand then reformed as a squadron and went through further maneuvers. Squadron O followed suit and then both elements passed in review before the judges.

Hatfield Tops GOP Aspirants In Legislative Seat Race

Mark Hatfield, Willamette's dean of students, was nominated on the Republican ticket to serve again in the Oregon legislature as a representative from Marion county.

Hatfield polled the most votes of any candidate running on the Republican ballot in gaining one of the legislative positions. Four persons are nominated by each party. Also winning on the GOP slate with Hatfield were Lee V. Ohmart, Robert L. Elfstrom and W. W. Chadwick.

Serving in the legislature seat last legislative session, Hatfield was on several important committees. He was vice-chairman of the education committee, which had to do with the Holy report.

Hatfield also served on the committee for state and federal affairs, helped handle the little Hoover report, and served on the committee for elections concerning the reorganization of state agencies, and the committee on re-appointment.

In a public statement following his victory, Hatfield states that he is "very pleased with the results, and would like to take this opportunity to thank all those students who worked for me."

The Willamette university College of Music will present Charles Nee, baritone, in senior recital on Monday, May 26, at 8:15 p.m. in the Waller hall auditorium. He will be accompanied by Jane Gray.

Mr. Nee's first group, consisting of five numbers, will include music of the pre-Classic period. He will sing first "Sento Nel Core" by Scarlatti, followed by "Danza, Danza, fanciula gentile" by Durante, "Nina" by Pergolesi, "Salve Amiche, Ombrose Piante" by Caldara, and "Lord, To Thee Each Night and Day" by Handel.

Mr. Nee's second group consists of two well-known opera arias: "Largo al factotum" from the "Barber of Seville" by Rossini, and "Eri Tu" from Verdi's "Masked Ball."

Following the intermission, Mr. Nee will sing "Jardin D'Amour" by Vuillermoz, "Apres un reve" by Faure, and the aria "Salome!" from Massenet's opera "Herodiade."

The last group consists of music from the Modern period of composition, beginning with two numbers by the Russian composer Rachmaninoff, "The Island" and "At Night." These will be followed by "Romance" by Clifford Shaw and "On a Fly Drinking Out of His Cup" by Hindemith. The recital will be concluded with "High Flight" by John Sacco.

Chamber Orchestra Presents Spring Concert at 3 Today

The Willamette Chamber Orchestra will present its Spring Concert this afternoon at 3 in the Waller hall auditorium. According to Dr. Willis Gates, conductor of the group, the concert is being presented in the afternoon this year because of the congested evening concert schedule during the month of May, and it is hoped that this change will enable more students to attend.

The chamber orchestra as a medium has had a remarkable renaissance during the first half of the 20th Century. Music written for chamber orchestra stresses clarity of texture and precision rather than great sonority, and promise is high for a greater development of this literature in the future.

The entire program presented by the Willamette Chamber Orchestra is light and tuneful; suitable for the spring season. The first number will be the Syhphony VIII by William Boyce, in three movements. It will be followed by Mozart's incidental music to the drama "Thamos, King of Egypt," and one movement from Dvorak's "Serenade For Strings."

The orchestra will also perform the modern American composer Aaron Copland's "Quiet City," a work from strings, English horn, and trumpet. This is the first Salem performance of this work, which was composed in 1940. The program will conclude with the "Brook Green Suite" by the British composer Gustav Holst.

Orchestra personnel includes both music and liberal arts students, with the latter in great majority. Doris Loder is concertmistress, Larry Monk is principal of the second violins, Carolyn Crane is principal violinist, Wilma Aller is principal cellist, and Dick Wilkins is principal of the double bass section.

Other players include: Ann Gibbens, oboe and English horn; Nanci Bradley and Frances Geer, clarinetists; Jean Thomas, oboe; Herbert Brower, trumpet; Lorene Roberts, Vernon Groves, Joan Holbeck, Roberta Graham, Caroline Matter, and Joyce Frost, violins; Harriet Aller and Gay Simons, violas; Lois Monk, double-bass; and Marie DeHarpport, flute.

Spring Concert Next for WU Band

Willamette university concert band under the direction of Maurice Brennen will present a spring concert in Waller hall Sunday evening, June 1, at 8:15. The student body and public are invited to attend this final band concert of the school year.
