Hawaiians, WU Choir Record Christmas Broadcast to Islands

With an "Aloha" and an unintelligible blob of words to the uneducated mainland, the broadcast by the Hawaiian students and the a cappella choir beamed for a Christmas broadcast from KOCO was recorded Wednesday afternoon.

Governor Douglas McKay was on hand personally to greet the islanders who will hear the transcription on Christmas day over KGU in Honolulu. Interviews by the station director at KOCO of the entire 13 students who will be unable to return occupied the first part of the program.

Photographers from the local newspapers plus a few others were on hand to keep the choir blinking by snapping a variety of pictures for their publications.

The Hawaiian men, clad in colorful shirts, and the women who wore flowered mu-mus, an island version of the Japanese kimono, sang "Across the Sea" to the accompaniment of Charlie Nee's guitar.

The governor expressed the good wishes of the people of Oregon and Willamette university to the islanders, and recalled the fact that he had accompanied the Bearcat team when it played the University of Hawaii on the eve of Pearl Harbor.

The choir, directed by Dean Melvin Geist, sang "The Old Historic Temple" as an introduction, and hummed during the interviews a variety of Christmas hymns. As their main presentation, they performed a Christmas carol, "We've Been Awhile a Wandering" with solos by Grace Ashford and Norma Lu Faaborg. Miss Faaborg is returning to the islands over the holidays for her marriage.

The Hawaiian group presented a second number, "Song of the Islands" in their native tongue. "Joy to the World" was the next carol, sung both by the choir and the special guests.

The two final songs were "Deck the Halls" and "We Three Kings" by the a cappella group, who concluded the program with the theme number, "The Old Historic Temple."

Denny Elected Glee Manager

Shades of Blue Monday! Freshman Glee season was officially started Tuesday, when the freshman class elected Duane Denny as Glee manager. This election starts the ball rolling for the Glee which Denny says, "Will be, with just a bit of cooperation, one of the finest Freshman Glee's."

Preliminary planning on the schedule will be made over the Christmas holiday. Denny stated that immediately after vacation, Russ Tripp, student body president, will appoint the executive committee that will make the final plans for Glee.

The date for Glee this year will be Saturday, March 11.

Clad in Pajamas and Jeans, Party-Goers Hail Santa Claus

Through a holly-wreathed entrance pajama-topped and jean-clad party goers entered Santa Shannon's private wonder land Thursday evening in the University gymnasium. To the music of Wayne Musey's band, stocking-footed guys and gals danced around a 14-foot Christmas tree brilliantly trimmed with colored lights and tin foil rain.

While spot lights played on cheerful greeting cards built on a Paul Bunyan scale, the four class presidents chose three or four prospective Miss Pajama Tops. From the candidates, those in attendance chose Miss Pajama Top by applause. The queen of the pajama girls graciously received from Gordon Cline, a ravishing stocking cap and Christmas lolly pop.

Amidst sparkling holiday stars the Letterman's Club furnished cokes at the refreshment bar.

Variety show talent paraded on stage with trios, quartets and piano numbers to entertain at this 1949 Senior Christmas party.

Library Books Due

All library books are due December 16, unless otherwise dated, but they may be renewed until the third of January, according to Librarian Thomas Gillies. Reserve books may be taken out over vacations, he said, only if there is more than one copy, and if the professor reserving the book makes a special request for its use.

The library will remain open from the 19 of December to the 22 and from the 26 to the 31, says Gillies.

Quarters Roll in as Fall Issue Of 'The Puritan' Hits Stands

Quarters began rolling in early Wednesday morning as the Puritan hit the stands on the campus. Eight hundred copies were sold the first day and several hundred of the 2000 copies printed were distributed to news stands along State street and at stands downtown.

Human interest and the many gags in the publication have helped boost its popularity. The take-off on the Wallulah cover seems to be getting the biggest laugh, and a good deal of interest has been shown in the article on the "proposed" Mill Stream Valley Authority article.

Evidences of Vacation Time Appear Throughout Campus

By Bill MacDougall

"Oh say can you see that this carol's out of key?" was the dominant question on the campus this week, as singing groups and parties started Christmas preparations.

Cars were starting harder due to the increasing chilliness, students were wearing scarves in addition to overcoats, and people on the steps of Lausanne at five minutes till ten on weekday nights were having to shorten their good-byes.

Trees Receive Priority

At fraternity houses, dormitories, and sorority houses, furniture re-arrangements became necessary as the men and women shuffled things in order to put the eight-foot Christmas trees in the center of the front window.

At the Collegian office, editors took Xmas out of copy being prepared for the printer inserting "Christmas" on their new typewriter, and Puritan staff members joyfully counted the proceeds of sales of their second humor magazine.

Suitcases Reactivated

Suitcases which had been abandoned for three months came down from top shelves or from dusty basements, and clothes and books which were going along for appearance's sake alone were being tossed merrily into them.

As early as Wednesday morning, some of the braver members of the campus set were boarding trains and buses for the journey home for the holiday, in spite of double cut warnings from the ever-alert administration. And fully as alert faculty members were dropping for the moment the pass-the-board system of roll taking, and were adopting the more accurate vocal method.

Hawaiians Prepare Greeting

The Hawaiians prepared for their Christmas greeting by proxy across the airwaves to the island, and Governor McKay made a brief stop on the Willamette grounds from his offices across the street.

As yet, there was no snow upon the Oregon ground, which was nevertheless extremely cold, as Schneebles and Toni who ordinarily get a closer knowledge of it, were ready to ascertain.

It was the end of the first half of a century on the campus, and many students were glad that the Christmas spirit might take the place of some of the sadder happenings of the modern and so-called "advance" era.

Freshmen Plan Party

Bob Miller, freshman class vice-president, asks that all freshmen keep January 6 open for their class party.

Although definite plans have not been made, Miller said that the party would be very informal and would center around a ski-lodge theme.

Paul Bunyan Axe Gone Again In Second Hide-an'-Seek Game

By Don Scarborough

Here today and gone tomorrow could easily describe Willamette's Paul Bunyan axe which was returned last Friday only to be swiped again over the weekend.

A retrieving party was forming to recover the axe and possibly to borrow the clock from the Whitman tower in retaliation, according to Collegian sources, when Friday morning the axe arrived C.O.D. Freight charges amounted to $2.86. It bore a Walla Walla college postmark. Tripp was reimbursed for the freight charges by a Whitman booster with the admonition to take good care of the axe because Whitman intends to win next year.

Tripp Suspects Whitman

Tripp reasoned that it was probably sent by Whitman and mailed from Walla Walla college, a small near-by Adventist school, to prevent its being refused and sent back because of the C.O.D. charges.

A special delivery letter from Art Whitman, Missionary student body president, answering questions posed by a Collegian staff member, throws some light on the mystery.

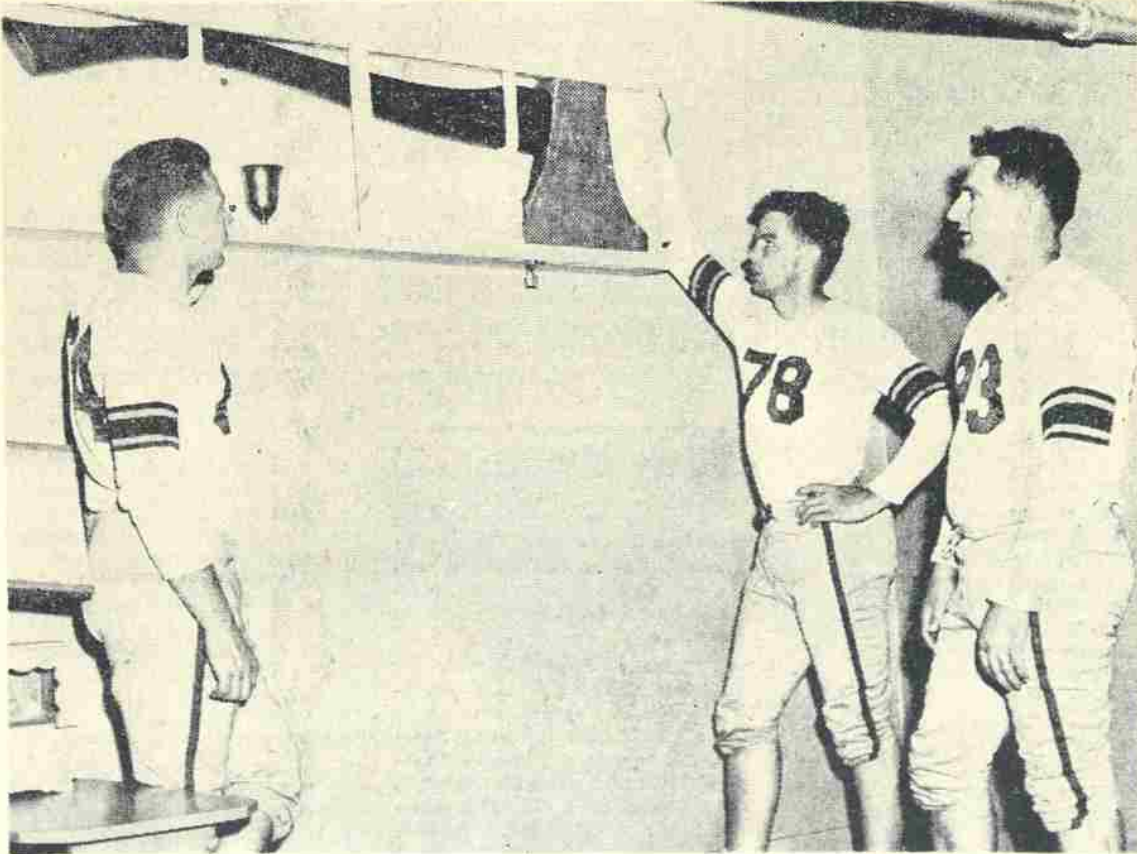

"I feel obliged to answer your request for information immediately and to the best of my ability . . . Yes, there is a Walla Walla college located several miles from Walla Walla, in College Place, Washington. The interest or need of such an axe at Walla Walla college remains dubious.

Secondly, to my knowledge no organized group or fraternity connected with this campus burglarized, transported, concealed, or returned the Whitman-Willamette axe following the past game in Salem . . . Nor did the Association have any part in the mysterious disappearance of the trophy.

Finally, in regard to your request for information concerning the axe's presence in Walla Walla . . . It has been brought to my attention that an axe similar to the one under discussion appeared on the campus this fall."

After the axe was returned, it was stored in the student body office while the display case was being repaired. Sometime over the weekend, the office was entered through a broken window. The axe, described as "plenty heavy", was again purloined.

"Henceforth," said Tripp, "I we get our trophy back, we're going to lock it in the University vault before we face Whitman again."

Chuck Patterson, Bob DeBord and Al Blacic admire the Whitman-Willamette axe during its brief one-day stay in its Salem home. Whereabouts of the elusive trophy is unknown at present, following its second theft last weekend.

Capacity Crowd Attends Seventh Annual Messiah

Even though it was possible to hear a radio broadcast of the entire Sunday's performance of "The Messiah", a capacity audience was on hand at the Salem high school auditorium to witness the Salem Oratorio Society's seventh annual performance of the familiar oratorio.

Regarding the performance, Dean Melvin H. Geist, director of the oratorio, commented, "It was the best performance the oratorio society has given since it was organized seven years ago. The singing of the chorus and soloists was outstanding. Dr. Willis C. Gates is to be commended for training an orchestra which was sensitive to style in its accompaniments."

A recorded performance of "The Messiah" will be presented over station KOCO on Christmas day.

Students Are Adults!

Our age seems intent upon crushing the individual. The individual who wishes to think for himself—is particularly affected.

Yet in the past ten years, the American college student has shown that he is a responsible person. He has handled his own affairs. He has chosen a career. He has worked his way through college. But during these years—young men and women in college—have been treated, for the most part, as intellectual children.

... Students now want more responsibility as adults to run their own affairs. I believe that the present anxiety about the student mind reveals an ignorance of the real situation in which students learn in college, and a lack of respect for the student as a responsible person.

The present plans for the reform of higher education have been made with too little reference to the individual student and his place in contemporary life. They have been conceived by members of the academic community, meeting in committee, isolated from the student's world, and accordingly have been conceived in conventionally academic terms. Unless we think of the individual, and consider carefully the ways in which we make him an independent and responsible person, who thinks and acts for himself, we cannot prepare him to meet his situation in contemporary life.—Dr. Harold Taylor, president, Sarah Lawrence college.

You Can Talk to Horses— We Have a Talking Safe!

By Willy Safe

My name is Willy and I am a safe. I have a story to tell, the story of my life, and it has been a pretty colorful life. It concerns Willamette throughout most of its entirety—but then, perhaps I should begin at the beginning.

I came into being about the time a pioneer missionary by the name of Jason Lee was thinking about coming to the Oregon country. In the foundry of the Herring Safe Company of New York, I first saw the light of day.

I was a proud new safe, tight as a drum, and not a scratch on me. One of my fellow safes told me that I would probably spend the rest of my existence in a New York office, as that was what happened to most of us; but one day a group of husky men wheeled me out to the shipping room and carefully crated me. I heard them talking about where I was going, something about Indians and wilderness, the jumping off place of the world.

I was a little worried until they put me aboard a ship. Her name was the Lausanne, and she told me right away that I had nothing to worry about; where I was going I would get the best of everything.

We got to be good friends, the Lausanne and I. She carried me down the Atlantic seaboard, around the Horn, and up the Pacific coast, a long, long way. I have forgotten how long it took, but it was a long time. She finally carried me up the Columbia River to Portland, a thriving little village. Before we parted the Lausanne told me she was really glad to taste that good old Columbia fresh water after so much salt water.

Some men put me on a wagon in Portland and the wagon complained about my weight all the way to Salem. Once in Salem I was happy to get away from the complaining wagon, and I wound up in an office somewhere. I can't recall just where, for I was dead tired after the long sea voyage and the overland journey. And I confess, I fell asleep, and for the next few decades I slept. When I awoke I had a hard time finding out where I was.

My new building was a little shy, being somewhat new, but after a little probing, I finally determined that I was in the business office of Willamette university in Eaton hall. I decided to stay awake, for I didn't want to miss a thing in the years to come.

Willamette grew and Eaton was remodeled and I was moved out of my office. Outside for the first time in years. I looked around and saw a fine, old building. He didn't hesitate to greet me with his name. He was Waller hall, and he told me that he was to house me now. I was carried into a privately owned and operated bookstore, in what is now the west wing of the chapel, where I rested for a number of years. Occasionally there was a fire, something I was able to withstand fairly well, but not Waller. He weakened, and during the last and most severe fire, I fell through his floor into the basement. It was quite a tumble, but I wasn't hurt. And after a while the workers patched the hall up again, and business went on as usual.

I suppose I had taxed to many backs in my day, for it was decided that I would remain in Waller's basement. The Wallulah staff used me for a time, and when the Collegian moved in and the Wallulah moved out, the Collegian staff took me over.

I can't complain, now, as I bring you up to date. I have heard and seen many things from the crazy news people; they have used me for almost everything, from a shelf to a ladder, but they came over and look at me once in a while and pat me on the head. I'm satisfied—and if you ever drop into the Collegian office, drop over in the corner and see me; I may have another story to tell.

Somewhere a Telephone Was Ringing; And All Because of Alexander G. Bell

By C. E. Wallace

Socialist Wendell Barnett said that the big telephone companies gobbled up the little farm and co-op lines.

In the audience, Harry Collins, district manager of the Bell system squirmed to his feet. The Bell system, he said, had not extended any of its lines except in answer to public pressure. Wendell Barnett was misstating the facts.

Ralph Nohlgren, who represented the republicans, beamed as though Collins had just ordered the blue plate special.

Somewhere in Baxter Hall the telephone rang.

Furnitureman Dave Epps, who spoke for the Democrats, said that he would just as well believe Collins a liar as Barnett.

The telephone rang on with the insistence of a new bride. Some of the audience craned around in search of the tinkling bell.

Seated in the rear rows, the more philosophical members of the philosophy club winked knowingly at each other, nodded to the rostrum and settled back for the fireworks. Professor Mark Hatfield tiptoed out of the room like a timid husband bent upon satisfying the bride. The telephone stopped.

The topic for the Sunday evening panel discussion of the Willamette Philosophy Club was THE WELFARE STATE. On the panel, Barnett represented the Socialists, Epps spoke for the Democrats and Nohlgren presented some Republican views.

Safely entrenched in the futility of his cause, Socialist Barnett was the most comfortable of the speakers. Except when Collins questioned his facts on BIG TELEPHONE COMPANY expansion, Barnett maintained a dignified distance in spite of Democrat Epps' attempts to encompass him in the Democratic brand of Socialism.

The Democrats were not going far enough nor fast enough for Barnett.

Epps, at a disadvantage in defending actions rather than theories, stressed that the Democratic program was the alternative from dark reactionaryism and radical socialism.

The difference appeared to be in degrees. No one of the three wanted to repeal any of the "welfare state" laws already enacted. One said, "Stop now, before the taxpayer's back is broken." The other said, "Gradually add more." The Socialist shrugged his shoulders. Nobody was going to do what he advised anyway.

The approach to fundamentals was also in degrees. The Socialist said, "People come before profits." The currently common, common man received due sympathy as did the great American free enterprise system.

No problems were solved. No point was deduced nor proven. The majority of the audience left the meeting as they came; firmly entrenched in the narrow alleyways of their special interests.

The students could go home, get down on their knees, and thank God they had professors still sufficiently free to help them ferret out the meanings of Freedom and Equality.

The professors could return to their task of helping students distinguish fact from fancy, bigotry from logical analysis.

The fireworks turned out to be more fizzle than bang; less philosophy than fried shrimp.

Ralph Nohlgren was in good voice.

Collegian Features

"Welcome Home, Son, for a Merry Christmas!"

BEEFS and BOUQUETS

To the Editor of The Collegian:

Enjoyed the recent bright piece by Wallace on the gripe session over who is to blame for the recent rather dismal football season. Among alumni I have heard conversations of similar import. "What is the matter with Willamette?" No one seems to know.

At the risk of over-simplification, I hazard the guess that Willamette's tumble from the top of the conference to the bottom may be attributed to the apathy which inevitably accompanies long success in any enterprise.

Willamette was rescued from similar depths when Spec Keene

Merry Christmas, Al

One of the foremost whistle tooters on the coast, Statesman Sports Editor Al Lightner, was given a mild shock at the OCE-Willamette basketball game in Monmouth Tuesday.

He received a big "Six for Lightner" cheer from the Willamette rooting section.

Lightner claimed in his Sunday, December 4, "Sportslightner" column, that he wouldn't be hooted at in the Willamette gymnasium this year because of differences with President G. Herbert Smith.

Lightner, thus, was being "hooted" in absentia.

Or was he?

came to the university in 1926. Students, townspeople and alumni, humiliated by a series of defeats that culminated in a 108-0 thrashing by the University of Washington, joined to assist in the rebuilding of our program. Willamette became a power in Northwest conference competition and at one time ran its consecutive victories to 24.

Winning was the expected thing. Supporters and students grew apathetic. In a Salem paper appeared the headline, "Ho, Hum, Bearcats Win Another". Then came the war. In the years after the war the going was rougher but our teams continued to win. Momentum and the efforts of the coaching staff held us up.

But the repeated changes in coaches weakened our promotion at the very time conference opponents were building up. The payoff came at the end of the 1948 season and continued this year.

This is said without reflection on a very fine football squad. The team played some good ball and, with a little help, could have been in the thick of the conference race. But the coach alone cannot do the job of rebuilding. It must be done by all of us, all of us pulling together.

I am not too concerned about having a losing season; I would be very concerned if students, townspeople and alumni were complacent in the face of defeat.

from Collegian Readers

Our personal contacts with promising players who meet Willamette standards can be of great help in regaining our lost glory. Willamette should never be satisfied with mediocrity in anything.

Campus YMCA
Gentlemen:

You will be happy to learn that the effects of the Thanksgiving Worship Service which you so ably sponsored and worked effectively for are still being felt. Last night representatives of Jr. Hi-Y and Hi-Y agreed that the $33.34 collected at the service should be used in one lump sum to spread Christmas cheer to a needy family. I have been delegated to contact the Marion County Welfare Department in order to locate such a family. Representatives of Gra-Y, Boys' Chorus, Jr. Hi-Y, and Hi-Y will meet next Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. to present the money officially to the welfare representative.

You are certainly to be congratulated for sponsoring the Thanksgiving Worship Service. It was a project that Campus "Y" can always review with pride. Projects which identify "Y" boys with the Christian purpose of the YMCA are certainly to be praised. Thanks for making the whole affair the big success that it was.

Seventeen Wesleyans Travel East for Student Conference

Seventeen young people of the Wesley Fellowship will leave by train December 26 for Urbana, Illinois, where they will attend the Fourth Quadrennial National Methodist student conference.

Students from all parts of the United States will gather on the campus of the University of Illinois to discuss the theme, "The Christian Use of Power in a Secular World." Power in its various aspects, social, economical, political, physical, atomic, mental and spiritual will be discussed by many outstanding world leaders. Among these are Chancellor Hutchins of Chicago University, Harry Rudin, renowned physicist of Yale university, Eleanor Roosevelt of the United Nations Human Rights Committee, Liston Pope of Yale university, Harold Bosley of Duke university and Methodist Bishops Oxman and Raines.

Delegates from the local Wesley Fellowship will be sponsored by their young people's group, the First Methodist church of Salem, and their respective home churches. Willamette students planning to attend are Stan Aschenbrenner, Rose Marie Wilhoit, Dave Poindexter, Evelyn Bolliger, Phil Shaw, Charles Chong, Shirley Clifford, Sophie Guyton, Charles Harris, Joan Holbeck, Hugh Nelson, Phil Phipps, Helen Takayama, Marian Sayre, Pat Long, Joe Brazie and Earl Fedje. Chaperones for the group will be Rev. and Mrs. Brooks Moore of the Salem First Methodist church.

Ex-Cheer Leader Killed in Collision

Carl Kraus, former Willamette cheer leader and member of Beta Theta Phi, was killed in a motorcycle and truck collision while en route to his home in Portland this week.

On leave from his duties as cadet in the naval air corps, Kraus was planning to greet his old friends from Willamette during the Christmas holidays.

A yell leader in 1947, he was planning to return to Willamette next semester at the termination of his service in the navy.

Houses Close Tomorrow as Christmas Vacations Begin

With the announcement that the dorms will close on Saturday afternoon, living at the various campus residences will come to an end for the year tomorrow at noon.

Although officially closed tonight, the residences will keep their doors open for the convenience of those who cannot leave until Saturday.

Dean Raymond A. Withey explained that the dormitories close according to the regulation stated in the catalog, in order to give the housemothers a Christmas vacation and to do maintenance work which cannot be undertaken while the students are living in the houses.

Fifteen Remain

An administration estimate of about fifteen or twenty students who will remain in Salem over the holiday was made, with the explanation that many of the men and women will be lodged in the YMCA and YWCA at a special rate.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon wing will remain open December 20, 21 and 22 to house the basketball players, and Sigma Chi will open its house to students from Taft high school and their coach who will be here on the 28, 29 and 30 of this month.

Paper's Worth 'Very Dubious' Says Law Frat

"The Willamette Collegian (is) an alleged campus organ of dubious worth and very questionable veracity," stated a public notice on the bulletin board of the Law school this week.

Signed only by "McNary Inn of Phi Delta Phi", and underlined with the initials "E.W.B.", the notice was addressed to the faculty and students of the Law school in regard to a story in the Collegian a week ago on grade requirement changes for the organization.

As reported in the Collegian story last week, a student "must have a standing within the upper two-thirds of the freshman law school class." According to Rex Hardy, president of Phi Delta Phi, the story should read, a student "must have a standing within the upper two-thirds of the freshman law students eligible for pledging."

According to a member of Phi Delta Phi, the difference in the two statements lies in the fact that "many of that class are on probation, and are thus ineligible for pledging."

Psychology Class Gives Group Tests To Grade School

Prof. Charles H. Derthick's clinical measurements class gave group mental ability tests to the first through the eighth grades at Brush College school last Monday.

The class, which receives practical experience in giving psychological tests, will score and interpret the tests. The results, which will be given to the principal of the school, will help determine which students need special aid.

The tests measure mental ability, but are not the standard I.Q. tests, although an I.Q. can be determined from the results, according to Derthick.

Student Carolers Cruise WU Living Quarters, Pack Grips

Carolers from all living organizations and town students at Willamette ended their last week of school for 1949 this week in singing both on the campus and in the city of Salem.

Monday night the members of Alpha Chi Omega and Beta Theta Phi combined to present the Christmas carols to other groups while Bishop house women and representatives of the town students sang for the benefit of residents of the vicinity.

A party for the underprivileged children was given by the men of Phi Delta Theta Tuesday night, as they entertained their guests at dinner at the house. Chi Omega and Sigma Chi were the carolers on that evening, as were the residents of Lausanne hall and Baxter hall, who also joined their talents.

Delta Gamma's singing with Phi Delta Theta and a Pi Beta Phi-Sigma Alpha Epsilon combination rounded out the last evening of caroling.

Students began packing their suitcases for the journey home early yesterday, and many students were accepting the responsibility of double cuts by leaving on Thursday.

Norma Lu Faaborg was one of the few Hawaiians to go home for the holidays, with an eventful schedule planned due to her wedding. Students will return to homes in Idaho, Montana, Washington and California, and at least one person was reported to be en route to Alaska for Christmas.

A Cappella Choir Has Active Week

Three Christmas engagements have been on the a cappella choir's list of activities for this week.

On Tuesday the choir took part in the annual Christmas musicale sponsored by the American Association of University Women which took place at the First Presbyterian church.

Wednesday, the choir made a tape recording as their contribution to the Christmas program to be broadcast to Honolulu by Hawaiian students at Willamette.

Yesterday the members of the singing group went caroling in the state house in the afternoon.

KOCO Schedules Band Broadcast

The Willamette university band will present a radio concert via transcription over station KOCO, December 26, at 9 p.m. The music will include "Rhapsody in Blue," featuring Prof. Ralph Dobbs at the piano, and most of the other numbers originally presented at the Tuesday chapel concert.

The band re-transcribed the concert Monday after the recording made at chapel had to be discarded due to mechanical difficulties.

Bearcat Tangle With Loggers, WWC Next

The Willamette Bearcats, with two wins and two close losses, will be fighting for a better than .500 average as they tangle with the College of Puget Sound Loggers and the Western Washington College of Education cagers in their yuletide games next week.

The young Jasons will be meeting the Loggers at Tacoma Monday night, December 19, and will return to the campus to play host to the WWCE crew in a two-game series starting the evening of December 21 and 22.

For the Bearcats the yuletide games will be the windup of the pre-season tilts.

Last Pre-Season Tilts

The CPS encounter stands out as the most important of the three, as the Bearcats will be out to stop a very strong Logger team for the second time in the current season. The first win being by a 54-48 count two weeks back.

6 Ft. 7 In. Center Paces CPS

Pacing the Logger attack will be their 6 ft. 7 in. center, Rod Gibbs, who is a transfer from Washington. Gibbs will be remembered by his whirling pivot shots from the key. The last time the Loggers encountered the locals he led the scoring parade with a respectable 16 point total. The CPS squad also boasts a formidable guard in Bobbie Angeline, a 5 ft. 5 in. speedster, who won an All-Conference selection in the Evergreen loop last season. Angeline sparked the Loggers in the last minutes of the initial scrap with Willamette and chalked up 11 points for the visitors.

The forward spots are taken by a pair of 6 ft. 3 in. lads, Brown and Rinker, both of whom are holdovers from last season's winning squad.

Home Next Week

Next Wednesday and Thursday nights the Bearcats will entertain the WWCE Vikings in the local gym. Coach Johnny Lewis hopes for a packed gym in the absence of the visiting team's supporters.

Spearheading the Viking attack will be little Stan Peterson, a hard driving guard who paced Coach Bill McDonald's casaba squad to a 58-36 win over the tough Seattle college Chieftons with a 17 point performance.

Other standouts for the visitors are Hal Norgaard and Ray Scoff.

Coach Lewis has been stressing more work on the foul shooting in preparation for the holiday games, since the Bearcat inability in this department was largely responsible for their losses to Chico State and OCE.

Click Team Wins Badminton Crown

Pat Click and Beverly Wadsworth took top honors in a badminton tournament final Monday, December 12, in the Willamette gymnasium. They won two out of three against Ruth Hagelstein and Pat Turner's team.

Plans are being made to furnish and paint a WAA club room as soon as the carpenters can put in a partition upstairs in the gym. A library for women PE majors will also be started.

Willamette Splits Chico Series Lose to OCE By 62-61 Count

By Dave Card

Willamette's sophomore-studded basketball team came out on the short end of the score in two of their last three games, defeating the visiting Chico State Wildcats Friday by a 64-47 count, losing to the same quintet Saturday in an 87-83 thriller, and then losing to OCE at Monmouth Tuesday 62-61.

The Willamette-Chico State series produced a number of thrills, most of them coming in Saturday's three-overtime tilt. Friday night the two teams battled neck and neck until with four minutes gone in the second half and the score standing 28-28, the Bearcats started rolling and built up a 42-31 margin in the next seven minutes.

Wildcats Rally

Chico State rallied to drive within four points with six minutes remaining, but the Bearcats, led by Dick Brouwer and Jack Evans pulled way out in front to win going away.

In the Saturday evening tilt, Willamette pulled out in front 23-14 with 13 minutes gone, and it looked as though it might be another runaway for the Bearcats. The Wildcats had other ideas, however, and went ahead 31-28 at halftime.

Loder Hot

With Ted Loder red hot, the Bearcats regained the lead in the second half, and midway through the period, held a slim 47-45 margin. From then on, it was anybody's ballgame, as the two teams stayed within four points of each other all the way. Chico, thanks to its control of the backboards, moved into a 60-58 lead with a minute left and went into a stall. With but ten seconds remaining, the Bearcats tied up the ball and on the ensuing jump, Lefty Nordhill took the tip and fired to Dan Montag who sank a perfect swisher from 30 feet out to tie the game at 60-60 with but a second to go, and send it into overtime.

In the first overtime, the Bearcats managed to hold a 65-63 margin with 18 seconds remaining, but the ever-present Butler hit a long one-hander from near the center line to tie the score and send the game into a second overtime.

Free Throw Ties

Chico scored two quick baskets in this period, but the Bearcats fought back with a pair of free throws and a field goal by Montag. Butler once more put the Wildcats ahead with a field goal but Ted Loder tied the game with two more gift tosses. Chuck Robinson broke loose under the basket and scored a two-pointer, giving the Bearcats a 73-71 margin, but Butler scored on a free toss, and Joe Rukavina tied the game with another free throw with 11 seconds left. This sent the game into the third and final overtime period.

Willamette went to work and went ahead 78-75 with two and a half minutes remaining, but Butler hit two quick field goals to give the Wildcats a 79-78 lead. Evans hit a lone one for the Bearcats, but Rukavina came back with a Wildcat field goal. Robinson tied the game at 81-81 with a gift toss, and Lou Scrivens put the Bearcats out in front 83-81 with a minute and a quarter to go. At this point, the visitors went all out and scored six quick points on two field goals and a pair of free throws, giving the final score of 87-83.

New Scoring Record

The 170-point two-team total represents a new record for the Willamette gym in over 20 years of hoop action.

Tuesday night's game was another thriller, with Willamette taking a 35-27 halftime lead, only to have the OCE Wolves forge ahead in the final seconds of the game on a shot by Marv Heibert, said shot meaning the game.

Need Frosh Manager

Frosh Coach Jim Johnson has issued a plea for a manager of the Freshman basketball team. Coaches Johnson and Johnny Lewis stated that the work is not hard and the manager has the opportunity to travel with the squad. The coaches added that being manager on the freshman team is excellent experience for anyone who might like to become a varsity manager the following season.

Anyone who is interested in becoming manager is asked to report to Coach Johnson as soon as possible. This job is not necessarily open only to freshmen, but to anyone who wishes to gain experience.

Stackhouse Goes To Eastern Meet

Coach Chester Stackhouse, after a series of speaking engagements in Willamette valley high schools, has left for New York to attend a national coaches' convention.

He will be gone about a month and will make a stop at Ann Arbor, Michigan, the home of the University of Michigan. The Bearcat football and track mentor was assistant track coach there from 1939 to 1945.

Upon his return Stackhouse will demonstrate to Willamette his own very successful brand of track tutoring. So far his cinder squads have gone through 64 dual and triangular meets without a defeat.

Booming Frosh Win Fourth Straight; Dropped By OCE

After winning four games in a row from high school teams, the Willamette Freshmen finally dropped one to the OCE Frosh 43-37 at Monmouth Tuesday night in overtime. They boosted their record to four straight Friday and Saturday nights by trimming Dallas 40-20 and Canby 58-19.

The next games for the booming Bearkats will be December 6 and 7 against the Linfield Freshmen. No games are scheduled over the Christmas holidays.

The Tuesday fray with the OCE juniors preceding the WU-OCE varsity contest was a tough one to lose. Leading 16 to 10 at halftime, they allowed the OCE squad to tie the game up at the end of regular play. With the score tied at 34 all, the Monmouth crew, still red hot, poured in nine points to Willamette's three in the overtime period for the 43-37 win. Joe Bonowitz topped the losers with 10 points. Slonecker and Dasch led the winners with 11 and 13 points.

In the preliminaries to the Willamette-Chico State games, Jim Johnson's crew took the measure of Dallas and Canby high schools last Friday and Saturday nights.

The Bearkats were never behind as they doubled the score on Dallas, 40-20, leading 18-5 at halftime. Wally Richards and Dale Green scored 9 and 7 points respectively and Ediger of Dallas ripped the net for 7.

Their fourth straight win with no defeats was dealt to Canby in a crushing 58-19 victory. The game started out close with the count knotted at 5 all after two minutes of play. Bob Smith's bucket put the local hoopsters ahead to stay at that point. Smith with 10 and Duane Denny with 9 led the Frosh victory over the hapless Cougars.

Team Elects Bowe 1950 Grid Captain

By Frank Winship

Guard Chuck Bowe has been chosen by the members of this year's varsity football team to represent them as captain of the 1950 edition. Hard hitting Chuck is a three-year letterman. This past season he stood out on both offense and defense, which is a variation from the majority of players under the two platoon system.

Chuck hails from Parkdale, Oregon, and took his prep schooling at Manlius (N.Y.) prep school. He is past president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and also represents the school in various other capacities. He will be a senior next year.

Coach Chester Stackhouse also announced that Charlie Nee, diminutive Hawaiian guard, had been chosen as the outstanding player on the '49 squad by another vote of the team.

In other action the Independents took three out of four from the Phi Delt No. 2 squad, the SAE No. 2 team took three out of four from the Baxter No. 2's, and the SAE No. 1's took all four points from the Baxter No. 3 squad.

First half play was finished yesterday.

Cat Chats

By Dale Reynolds

The Bearcat hoop season is now under way and the band of Bearcats that Coach Johnny Lewis has produced has pleasantly surprised the Cat fans and probably just plain surprised the rest of the conference. According to Jack Clark, a Linfield Review sports columnist, "Willamette is not as strong as they were last year." The Cats have yet to tie for the loop crown as last year's team did but, this year's basketball team thus far has looked every bit as good as the Bearcat teams of the past couple of years.

Coach Johnny Lewis produces surprising quintet.

Last year's hoopsters had more experience but they didn't have the hustle that this year's crew has. Of course, the Cats lost the famed "Johnson Act" but in their place is a hustling band of youth that just don't like to be beaten. That was proved in the second Chico game when the game ran into three overtimes.

As far as the 62-61 defeat by OCE is concerned the Bearcat version of 1947 which featured the "Johnson Act" was almost similarly defeated by a 60-58 count. Last year the Jasons won over OCE but they did fall into the paths of defeat at the hands of several other foe. Last season's Cat fans will recall that the speedy Pasadena quintet put the stopper on "the Johnsons" by getting an early 11-1 edge which the '48 outfit was never able to head.

Whether the Jasons win the Conference crown again is a question we can't guess on yet but at any rate the Bearcats are in the running. They have, in our estimation, been playing a fine brand of early season basketball. The Cats do have a few things to improve on, however, and most of their improvement needs to be on free throws and rebounds.

Carrico-Barber Wedding Display of Holiday Color

Christmas greens set the scene at the First Congregational church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the marriage of Jean Carrico to William Barber of Salem. The Rev. John Schroeder, director of religion at Linfield college, officiated.

Lighting the tapers preceding the service were Diana Arpke and Nickie Haynes, both wearing gold faille gowns. For the music, Mrs. Howard Carrico and Joy Bushnell sang. Patty Jo Hammond was accompanist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white faille. The veil of Chantilly lace was brought from France recently by the groom. For her flowers the bride carried a round formal bouquet of white camellias.

Christmas colors were featured in the attendants' gowns. Mrs. Donald E. Clark of Seattle, sister of the bride, wore a Christmas red gown that was made similarly to the bride's dress and she carried a wreath of holly tied with red ribbons.

Mrs. E. McCargar, Joanne Blaxall, Norma Lu Faaborg and Margaret Atwood, bridesmaid were attired in forest green gowns and carried wreaths of holly. Martin Barber was best man for his brother. Ushering were Burrell Birch, Dick Johns, Stanley Jobe and Charles Johnson.

Following a trip to the coast, the couple will be at home in Salem. The bride is a senior at Willamette, and is active in YW activities. Barber was graduated in June from Willamette.

Law Students Attend Annual Fall Dance

The associated students of Willamette's College of Law held their annual fall dance last Friday night. The Glenwood ballroom was engaged exclusively and Glen Woodry's band supplied the music. An estimated crowd of 150 persons attended.

At intermission, the students were entertained by a contingent of freshmen law students who staged a satirical skit, showing the life of the average law student and his conduct in class and conduct in front of College of Law building. The men who acted out the drama were Colbert Nevins, Vern Sheldon and Grant Mumpower. Door prizes were awarded to those holding the lucky tickets.

Formal Held By Spinsters At Christmas

Salem Spinsters have issued an invitation through the Willamette Collegian to attend their annual Christmas Charity Ball, an event of Christmas night at the No-Name ballroom in the Capitol City.

A formal affair, it is one of the most highly anticipated affairs of the holiday season for the young married and college set.

Claude Bird's orchestra has been selected to play for the dance which will begin at 9:30 p.m.

Co-chairmen for the ball are Mrs. Roger M. Schnell and Miss Margaret Lovell.

Cost of the festivity is $3.00 per couple and the entire proceeds will go the group's year-long charity project, the YWCA.

Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Charles Barclay, 210 Superior St., Salem, Oregon, and Mrs. Robert Burrell, 940 E. St., Salem, Oregon.

Miss Fisher Tells Troth

A Christmas party at Lausanne Hall Saturday evening was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Margaret Fisher, Forest Grove, to Robert Robins of Salem.

Among the gifts under the tree was a package wrapped in gold and green. In the package was a picture of the couple with a note explaining, "Dear World—We are Engaged." A box of candy was attached to the picture and individual green and gold announcement cards saying, "Engaged, Bob and Jeffie" were given to friends of the bride-elect. Fifteen women shared the surprise, including some former Willamette students from out of town.

Both are seniors and members of a cappella choir. Miss Fisher is an art major. Robins is majoring in public school music and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The wedding is planned for July.

Polling Reveals Students Favor Variety Type Chapel Program

By Keith and Kent Lawrence,
Dave Beery

That the majority of Willamette students favor having outside variety entertainment in Tuesday chapel programs, the questionnaire asked (1) if more student talent should be featured, (2) if more outside speakers should be presented, or (3) if outside variety entertainment should be obtained. The latter possibility was requested by 75 per cent of those polled.

Second in popularity was the first suggestion which was preferred by 45.5 per cent. Thirty per cent of those who cooperated with the poll favored a combination of suggestions one and three which could be interpreted to mean that variety shows featuring student talent would be popular. This opinion was expressed verbally on two of the blanks.

The second possibility polled only 6 per cent. One person (.25 per cent) wanted a combination of the first and second possibilities, 1.25 per cent favored numbers two and three, .75 per cent wanted all of the possibilities, 3.25 per cent favored the abolition of Tuesday chapel and the same per cent suggested it but also marked other preferences.

Blanks Collected

A number of blanks were collected on which suggestions had been written. These included a comment to the effect that the programs "would be more valuable if held once a month with a really outstanding program."

Others believed the chapels to be all right as they are, but some complained that "outside speakers get awfully dry at times." One student commented that having student talent would put too much of a load on some students and that good outside entertainers would "cost too much."

Exactly 400 student opinions were expressed in the poll.

Midwestern Young Republican Visits Willamette U

A visitor on campus Monday was Joseph Taylor, chairman of the Midwest Federation of Young Republican clubs and a student at William Jewell college, Liberty, Missouri.

Taylor toured the Willamette campus with Clay Myers, newly elected chairman of the Oregon Young Republicans league, lunched at the Phi Delta Theta wing, and then visited Governor Douglas McKay, Lawson McCall, news commentator, and Charles Sprague, editor of the Statesman, before returning to Portland Monday afternoon.

Taylor was a speaker at the state convention of Young Republicans at West Linn last Saturday.

Nine WU Teams Enter Bridge Contest, Deadline Noon Today

Students entering the national bridge tournament must fill out entry blanks in the student body office before noon today, according to Harley Hoppe, campus tournament director.

Nine teams have entered the contest so far, and the elimination tournament will start the first or second week in January.

After the elimination tournament on campus the four best local teams will compete in the preliminary round in February which will be played by mail.

Sixteen preliminary winners will be chosen to take part in the face-to-face finals at the Blackstone hotel in Chicago on April 21 and 22, with expenses paid by the national tournament committee.

The following teams have entered the tournament: Team 1, Larry Stocks and Dave Card; Team 2, Gordon Cline and Jeff McDougall; Team 3, Larry O'Dell and Jim Gay; Team 4, Chuck Patterson and Roger Adams; Team 5, Bob Skirvin and Harry Summers; Team 6, Russell Day and Norton Younglove; Team 7, Ted Mertz and Herb Carlson; Team 8, Jim Aniker and Paul Southworth; Team 9, Gordon Ferrell and Sherm Bliss.

The teams listed above will retain the same team number throughout the entire tournament.

Feet Emerge From Stairs

Three pairs of feet emerged Monday afternoon from the third floor landing of Eaton hall, as students looked up to see the cause of the awful noise that preceded the spectacle.

When arms and legs had been untangled long enough to find that there were no injuries, Prof. Murco Ringnald, C. E. Wallace, and freshman Ken Erickson got up from their unusual posterior positions.

An explanation of the phenomenon was that Erickson had slipped while going down the stairs, and had literally brought down the house with Ringnald and Wallace who were unable to escape the tumbling freshman.

Professors Brand as "Joke" Relics of Pre-Historic Tribe

Willamette students who spent hours trying to uncover more evidence of a lost race near Lebanon, found this week that their labors were in vain.

Dr. John Rademaker, chief of the sociology department, and Prof. Herman Clark, head of the physical science department, who examined the artifacts discovered six weeks ago, found that they were a "joke."

Originally it had been thought that the tools were from 200 to 300 years old and were relics of a lost race of early northwest days.

The two Willamette professors, working with three professors from the University of Oregon, found that the implements had been cut and polished by modern equipment and not by any primitive man.

Rademaker told the owner of the tools, W. C. Hunt of Lebanon, and Victor Wilkins, who found them near Roaring River, that "someone has been playing a joke on you."

Wallulah Deadline Set for January 5

The Wallulah is scheduled to meet its first deadline January 5, according to LuDene Hargrave, editor. By that time all pictures and copy for the faculty and administration pages must be in.

Editor Hargrave says that help in pasting pictures, reading copy and writing copy is needed. Although there will not be much time for students to help meet this first deadline, she stressed that there will be many more deadlines. Those wishing to help should come to the Wallulah office any day between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Mu Phi Epsilon Dramatizes Toy Shop Christmas Story

The Christmas story was unfolded through a toy shop window when Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary, presented their annual Christmas program at Tuesday chapel.

Doris Valser acted as narrator and Jeanne Rice and Jodelle Parker sat before the toy shop window and watched the toys come to life.

The program opened with numbers by a piano quartet composed of Betty Kuhlman, violin; Doris McCain, viola; Lucy Bellinger, cello, and Gladys Blue, piano. They played "Joy to the World" and "O, Come All Ye Faithful."

The first toy in the window to come to life was the singing doll, Gloria Stone, who sang "Jesu Bambino" and "I Wonder as I Wander". The three singing dolls who sang together, Grace Ashford, Glennis Allen and Bernice Isham, harmonized on "Winter Wonderland", "Santa Claus is Coming to Town", "Silent Night" and "No Candle Was There and No Fire."

Marion Sparks read the Christmas story, "The Journey to Egypt", by Thornton Wilder.

Jory Will Attend Fraternity Meet

Registrar Harold B. Jory plans to leave December 25 for Chicago to attend the bi-annual meeting of the National Council of Phi Delta Kappa, national professional educational fraternity.

This council is composed of the National District officers and one delegate from each campus or field chapter.

Jory is secretary-treasurer of the Alpha Tau field chapter, which he is representing.

Dr. George Martin, professor of education, is president of the local field chapter which includes faculties of Oregon State college, Oregon College of Education, Linfield, Willamette and the State Department of Education.

Membership in a field chapter is limited to those who have been elected to membership in the fraternity by a campus chapter during their senior or graduate years in the departments of education.

Meeting the gang to discuss a quiz—a date with the campus queen—or just killing time between classes—Owen's Sandwich Shop at the University of Colorado in Boulder is one of the favorite places for a rendezvous. At the Owen's Sandwich Shop, as in college off-campus haunts everywhere, a frosty bottle of Coca-Cola is always on hand for the pause that refreshes—Coke belongs.

1893 Collegian Lauds Spa, Pure Drugs, Rising School

"Mr. Fred Legg, the popular druggist, was for some time a student at the University. We are pleased to see that by honest dealing, with pure drugs, he has worked up a large trade."

With this intriguing beginning, the Willamette Collegian, volume 5, number 1, of September, 1893, opened its local news columns. The first early issue seen in many years by Collegian staff members, this copy was presented to the Willamette library today from the collection of the late Mr. A. N. Bush.

Among the tidbits from the local and personal news columns of the magazine-like paper, are these gems: "The Spa" is the place for fresh soda water" and "Mr. Burt Barker has been cultivating garden vegetables."

Other notes of interest to all students of "The Pioneer Institution of the Pacific Coast!" included "Miss Ethel Frizell enjoyed a pleasant outing at Nestucca" and "Pres. Whitaker and Prof. Parvin, assisted by Miss Nellie Carpenter and Mr. H. Cruse have been giving entertainment to appreciative audiences throughout the valley."

Jokes which the Collegian featured were typified by this: Miss Pretty—"Oh I wish I could have gone to college." Sophomore cousin (bowing again)—"Why?" Miss Pretty—"It must be nice to know so many men!" Oooh, those risque pioneers on this campus!

Dr. J. C. Griffith, dentist, advertised that "anesthetics are administered if desired," and the Patton Brothers bookstore boasted that Willamette university students should take advantage of the fact that "a saving of at least ten per cent can be saved by buying your books from us," which certainly offered an incentive to do business there.

The issue was urging that students consider going to college, and since Willamette was practically the largest on the West coast at that time, it was promoted and praised to the fullest, with no mention of any other competing institutions of higher learning.

A memorial to Anna Maria Pittman, the wife of Jason Lee, and her infant son was mentioned in the paper. About her, it said, "She sailed from New York, July, 1836, landed in Oregon June, 1837, and died July 26, 1838."

Merriam, Howard Win Posts At Young Republican Meeting

Two WU students were elected to Young Republican posts last week end. Bill Merriam became new college representative to the ninth region which includes Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho of the Young Republican Federation. Pat Howard was named secretary of the newly formed college league within the Federation.

At the convention held in West Linn, Oregon, December 9-11, the Willamette delegation, under the leadership of Tom Osborne, was reported to be the second largest in attendance.

Jim Ragland, college organization chairman, presided over the

There are 125 copies of the 1949 Wallulah available for those having their names on the reserve list. Last year students still owing a balance on their book may pay it now and receive a Wallulah. In addition to the books reserved, there are a limited number of copies for sale at $7.

Ibsen's 'Ghosts' to Be Next Play by Drama Department

"Ghosts" by Henrik Ibsen has been selected to be presented by the Willamette drama department on February 15 and 16 as a high point in Religious Emphasis week.

Five roles complete the cast of characters for the three-act play. According to Prof. Ruane B. Hill, who will direct the production,

Faculty to Vote on Change For Dead Week Provisions

A proposal to change dead week from the week before a major student weekend to Wednesday preceding an event to the following Wednesday, was issued by the student council this week. Stemming from a student complaint that the one week schedule being followed at present spoiled the week following a major affair, the student association addressed its proposal for change to the student affairs committee for consideration.

Dead week which the administration strictly forced rebellious faculty members to adhere to before Homecoming this fall, was set up as an agreement between professors and students not to give tests during the prescribed period.

The proposal will now go to the faculty whose approval is necessary before it can go into effect.

The proposal was made during the regular business meeting of the student council, and was passed by an overwhelming majority.

Art Exhibit to Change

Today is the last day for students and faculty members to see Dale Cleaver's Art exhibit on display in the Art building, according to Dr. C. S. J. Paulin, art professor.

Works of other student artists will be placed on display following vacation. The works are hung in the front wing of the building.

Art students are now working on criticisms of the Cleaver exhibit.

Gunn and Marks Place in Speech Meet at Linfield

Jack Gunn placed second in the Oregon Inter-Collegiate Forensic association's extemporaneous speech contest held at Linfield last week. Nancy Marks, a freshman in her first competitive attempt also placed in the event.

Gunn's topic was "The Crises in Labor Relations." Marks spoke on, "Industrial Development of the Pacific Northwest."

Willamette received a unique honor last year when Bob Sayre and Betty Ferguson won top place in both divisions over all Oregon colleges.

The first debate following the holidays will be held at the College of Puget Sound February 10 and 11. This contest will be followed by another Linfield debate March 3, 4 and 5. The topics for all debates this year will be the "Nationalization of Basic Industries", according to Frank Lockman, forensic manager.

Four-man teams will represent Willamette at the Linfield tournament, said Dr. James Kirkwood, head of the speech department. He also commented on the successful trip last week of four freshmen to the Vanport speech meet.

Dorms Will Reopen Monday, January 2

School will reopen officially on Tuesday, January 3, 1950, according to Dean Raymond A. Withey. Dormitories, however, will begin the year on Monday for the convenience of returning students.

The Collegian office, as well as the Cavern and the Bookstore, will not be open until Tuesday, January 3. The first issue of the Collegian will appear on January 6, and will contain four pages in place of the usual eight.
