Young Politicians to Convene

Stassen Here For Speech Today in Gym

Harold E. Stassen, aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, will speak to Willamette students, delegates, and townspeople at the mock convention at 3 p.m. today in the gymnasium.

Stassen will be the first prominent national figure scheduled to address the convention group. Unsuccessful bidder for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948, he is now among the three top contenders for the candidacy in number of delegate votes.

He will be honored at a reception at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house following his speech. An SAE from Minnesota, he is an ex-governor of that state and president of the University of Pennsylvania.

The SAE mothers' club will be in charge of refreshments at the affair, scheduled from 3:45 to 4:15 p.m. All Willamette students, townspeople, and college guests have been invited to attend.

National Figures On Hand for Willamette Mock Convention; Bands, Demonstrations to Furnish Color for Nominations

Harold Stassen will open the Willamette mock convention with a speech in the gym this afternoon, Bob Small, chairman, revealed. This will begin a two day series of meetings which will be open to the student body.

Climaxing the convention will be the nominating session in the University gym tomorrow night, which will feature bands and demonstrations for favorite candidates.

Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas will be the keynote speaker for the evening. Senator Wayne More of Oregon and Governor Douglas McKay will also address the group with Morse acting as presiding officer. President G. Herbert Smith will welcome delegates and guests, after being introduced by Small.

Color To Be Added

"After the roll call for nominations begins, the colorful demonstrations will start," Small said. "All students are invited to take part in the demonstrations." Campaign strategy will have been decided at caucuses earlier in the day.

Seconding speeches will follow and then roll call on balloting will begin. Each state delegation will follow voting instructions sent from its own state central committee. As many as 20 ballots may be necessary, Small state, before one candidate gets the required majority of 603 votes.

After a presidential candidate is finally selected, the battle for the seat of vice president will start. This candidate will be chosen in the same manner.

Students Admitted Free

General admission to the session will be 25 cents, but Willamette students and law students will be admitted free upon presentation of a student activity card, Small said. KOCO and KGW will broadcast much of the convention.

The nominating session will duplicate as much as possible an actual convention with corresponding shifts and regrouping of voting strength.

Small Predicts Success

"On the eve of the Willamette mock convention," Small stated, "It is my hope that the work of the Willamette students who have built the convention from beginning to end will be justified by a successful convention. If their interest is any indication of the interest which will be shown during the convention, I have no doubt but that it will be an overwhelming success."

Willamette AROTC Squadron Forms Honorary Air Society

Arnold Air Society, an honor society for advanced ROTC students, has recently been organized on the Willamette campus. Major Norman Campion will act as advisor for the group.

The society is limited to those advanced students that have good scholastic standing in the AROTC and in their academic work outside of the AROTC. Members must show a high degree of interest in AROTC and the military security of the United States.

Officers for the group are Major Robert I. Platenberg, Squadron Commander; Captain Paul E. Southworth, Jr., executive officer; 1st Lieut. Robert J. Dyer, operations officer; and 1st Lieut. Verne G. Shangle, adjutant recorder. All titles apply only to the men as members of the society.

Other charter members are Franklin Blank Jr., James C. Bradshaw, and Ronald Rentfrow. The local squadron is deciding on a name at the present time to distinguish them from other Arnold Air societies.

The local squadron, the drill team, and the rifle team are planning on putting on a "Little Colonel" military ball next year.

Draft Board Classifications

All men students who come under the jurisdiction of a draft board, are requested to turn in to Dean Hatfield's secretary their draft classification, and indicate the school they will attend next year, whether it be at Willamette or else where. The dean must have this list in order to fill out the proper forms for student deferment which go to the local draft boards.

Publications Manager and Editor Named

Top publications posts for the year 1952-53 went to Don Scarborough, who will edit the Collegian, Jane Notson, Wallulah editor, and Stan Nelson, who was named as publications manager. The publications board made the appointment Tuesday.

Other publications appointments named Marilyn Merz and Gloria Kainu as co-editors of the Fussers Guide and Marjorie Leonard to be in charge of Student Handbook revisions. All appointments were ratified Wednesday by the student council.

Scarborough has held former posts of campus editor and news editor of the Collegian. He has been studying in Washington D. C. during the present semester under the D. C. semester plan. A junior, Scarborough will return to the campus next fall to take over as Collegian editor.

Miss Notson, a sophomore, has worked on the Wallulah staff for the past two years. She was art editor of the annual in her freshman year and is now associate editor.

The new publications manager, Nelson, is a junior this year. He has been sports editor of the Collegian and is presently acting as news editor.

The trio is replacing Collegian Editor Mary Louise Lee, Cliff Gregg, Wallulah editor, and Publications Manager Bill MacDougall. Keith Lawrence was the editor of last year's Fusser's Guide and Kent Lawrence edited the handbook.

Wallace Gives Music Award To Honor Wife

A new four year music scholarship, the Helena Willete Wallace scholarship, has been established at Willamette by Paul B. Wallace, member of the board of trustees and long a civic leader in Salem.

The College of Music scholarship, to be awarded annually, will offer the recipient full tuition. First assignee of the scholarship will be named at the university's annual awards assembly on May 20.

Founded in honor of his late wife, Helena Willete Wallace, Paul Wallace also established the Nancy Black Wallace music scholarship in memory of his mother, in 1945. This fellowship honors full tuition for four years in the University music program.

During the more than 30 years that Mrs. Paul Wallace lived in Salem, she was prominent in many civic, social and church activities. She was president of Town and Gown, a member of the YWCA, the Study club, the Brush College Helpers and the Portland Town club.

Mrs. Wallace was also associated with many social and educational affairs at Willamette. She took an active interest in the establishment of the university chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority and became a member of that chapter.

Weekend Politicians

The Willamette Mock Convention has been dubbed as an "educational experiment." Other than that it is the sentiment of this editor that it furnishes a challenge to the students of Willamette university. The Mock Convention was conceived as an effort of 12 student body associations throughout the state. Other colleges have held elections to determine resolutions, delegates, and candidates the student body wished to support. University of Oregon delegates will bring with them the experience they gained at last week's school-wide convention which was held on their own campus.

The Associated Students of Willamette university are the hosts, originators, and individuals responsible for the success of the convention. Over 250 students from all over the state will be on the campus Friday afternoon through Saturday night. We should make these people welcome. Not only that but we should be able to make them go away with the feeling that the convention has been worthwhile.

It is certainly the biggest political event in the history of Willamette students. Just one week before the Oregon primaries, and we have several figures of national importance speaking to us.

Another aspect of the convention which should not go unnoticed is that it should be a lot of fun. The demonstrations particularly are an unusual opportunity for college humor and imagination to come into full play. Willamette students have been invited to take part in these demonstrations. So, from beginning to end we should participate in the convention in a way that it will be a credit to the student body and to the University.

Salem Movies

An informal poll on Salem theatres, taken among WU students, shows that Salem movies just don't have it. Most have remodeled, all have raised their prices, but there is still no improvement in quality.

Objections voiced include old cartoons and shorts, many made during World War II; B picture accompanying other B pictures; advertising sponsored by local merchants.

Willamette needs Salem, and vice versa. Many of our professors take an active interest in civic affairs, half of our students live with their families in Salem, many have part-time jobs here. All in all, we have a stake in Salem's future.

At least two theatres could run "first run" pictures. By first run we mean first rate, too. Some of these cowboy shows were made strictly for the easterners, not for those of us who know better. While we believe in advertising, after paying six-bits for entertainment, we are not enthused by the dull, canned, home-type movie ad with a merchant's label tacked on.

Most of Willamette's entertainment is created at school. However, a really good movie once in a while would be appreciated. All we ask is that some of the first rate pictures appear in Salem before Silverton and Independence. Maybe even two good pictures at once, to give us a choice.

With television not many years away, it would probably help the theater owners to establish themselves. Many theaters around the U. S. have closed down entirely. When TV comes to Salem, what will the movies do then, poor things? —M.L.L.

Mock Convention to Be First on Pacific Coast; Will Seek to Nominate Next President of U. S.

By Beverly Lytle

Willamette university students will have an opportunity to see history in the making this weekend when the Mock Republican convention takes form.

Reason number one is that this will mark the first time such a meeting has been held on the West Coast, titling it an experiment in education; and number two, the man nominated for Republican presidential candidate at the meeting may well be the next president of the United States.

Importance of the meeting is magnified by the number of dignitaries who will be present to take part in the conclave. Harold E. Stassen, candidate for Republican nomination for president, will speak this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the gymnasium. United States Senator Wayne Morse will act as honorary chairman at the nominating session. United States Senator Frank Carlson, Kansas, will be keynote speaker. He will be introduced by Governor Douglas McKay.

The Willamette Mock convention, which was voted into existence last October, is patterned after the conference held at Oberlin College in Ohio. The Oberlin convention was inaugurated 82 years ago, at which time Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president.

This year's Willamette meeting was voted Republican as next year will be a crucial period for the GOP party. Also, an "out" party convention offers the greatest latitude for interest. The convocation, however, has no affiliation with Republican groups within the state, but is the cooperative effort of the student body associations of the various participating universities and colleges.

An important feature of the convention is that the delegations, representing 48 states and five territories, will receive their voting instructions from the central committees of each state and territory. This means that if each of the committees send instructions as to how they actually plan to vote at the meeting in July, the result of the Willamette convention will be to nominate the Republican candidate for president.

Willamette will control 169 of the 1205 votes at the meeting.

All the sweat and tears that goes into the preparation of such a convention will be evident this weekend. Before the actual nominating can begin policies will have to be decided upon at meetings Friday evening and Saturday morning.

Many hot debates are likely to take place at the foreign and domestic policy resolutions committees, Friday, before anything definite is decided. Out of these two meetings will develop the platform for the convention. Issues will also be discussed at the national committee meeting and at the gathering of the state delegation chairmen and campaign managers.

The first plenary session of the convention will be held in the gymnasium Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Caucus meetings for the individual candidates will be held that afternoon at 1:30 at the capitol building as the last planning step to the big nominating session Saturday evening in the gymnasium.

As the Mock convention is a realistic replica of a political party's national presidential nominating convention, it will give, not only the delegates and alternates a chance to see how politics are played at a live convention, but will give the bystanders an insight as to what goes into such a proceeding.

Although the Willamette meeting has been dubbed a smokeless convention, plenty of fire is promised to be present in the meetings and nominating speeches.

If Taft Wins deChaby Keeps Bees

Kampus Kaleidoscope

Warfield Signed for "Porgy"

Personally

I'm a registered Democrat (they carry Harry) but I have also taken enough of Dr. Kollmann's philosophy courses to be broad-minded about it. Batchelder takes Social and Political philosophy too, but he sleeps. Logically or otherwise, I cannot assume that all Republicans sleep during Social and Political philosophy class but, I find the fact that Batchelder sleeps during class very significant indeed.

Today opens a mock political convention here at Willamette and it's a great thing. I trust all Republicans will be awake. Soon the campus will wring with the battle shouts of Republicans who fervently hope that when it is all over, including the shouting, the country will have a Republican president. As one who is neither fashionable nor expediently Republican I predict that they will have their wish under certain circumstances.

There will be a Republican president unless Taft wins the nomination, which hardly seems likely. In fact, if Taft wins the nomination, I shall retire to Sussex and keep bees. So Ike will probably cop the nomination and be elected. Incidentally, no one doubts Eisenhower's many qualifications as a man but some of us would sure like to know where (and if) he stands politically. But I do not think the current Democratic majority in the House and Senate will be reversed by the coming election, so the new Republican president (EISENHOWER) will find himself in the same stinking mess that Truman did with a Republican House and Senate. All of which reminds me of a real pithy line from the stage play, "State of the Union," where a Republican politician was asked to define the difference between Democrats and Republicans. "The only difference, quoth he, is that they are in and WE are OUT."

Meanwhile the convention here on campus will be a good deal for those who can participate in it. A good time will be had by all, some may get a chance to meet that enlightened Republican, Senator Morse, (who occasionally prefers his own blooded horses to the Republican Elephant even when they, like his party, kick him in the teeth) and many will become familiar with the rough-and-tumble, wisecracking, jostling, joking jumble and juxtaposition of a political convention.

fans will be interested to know that he has signed to do the role of "Porgy" in George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and is now in rehearsal in New York. Mr. Warfield writes me from Chicago, where he gave his last recital for the season Saturday night, that rehearsals for "Porgy and Bess" were scheduled to begin Monday. The company will sing at the Dallas Summer Opera in June, Los Angeles in July, Washington, D. C., in August, and New York's Metropolitan Opera Co. in September, after which it will sail for England and the continent for further performances. Warfield will take a leave of absence from "Porgy and Bess" in December to return to this country for recital appearances.

William Warfield is a "natural" for "Porgy." His magnificent voice and histronic ability will give the difficult role more than it demands in the way of singing and acting. "Porgy and Bess" is probably the first really American opera. It has the vitality and musical worth to become a permanent part of our musical heritage. Salem caught the star of William Warfield as it was rising and it has continued to rise. We hope that "Porgy and Bess" STARRING WILLIAM WARFIELD will one day get around to the provinces or perhaps that it will be filmed in its entirety.

Students of Willamette University:

To say that I was happy that May Weekend was a success would be, of course, an understatement, but to say that I was proud of the cooperation given me by the entire student body would be an even greater one. It isn't often that the student manager of such an affair has the whole - hearted support of the students as I was given not only by the members of the general committee, Marilyn Enns, Jim Jackson, Don Boudon and Bill Jessup, their committee heads, the Collegian, and Queen Betty Jean and her princesses, but by the entire student body as well.

It would be impossible in this short space to thank each individual who aided in making this May Weekend the success that it was, but I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all those who so generously donated their time and energy. I know that if this fine spirit of coperation carries on through the years, May Weekend will continue to be the great event that it is.

Sincerely,
Bob Stone

Out of the Horses' Mouths

Bill Covert

My platform for the office of first vice-president is based on a continuation and some slight alteration of the plan set up by the Little Hoover commission last year.

My primary purpose is to better co-ordinate the events of the various departments in the University to work for more unification in the school. This would include the following considerations:

1. The placement of a bulletin board only for social use with a large calendar of all the social events on it; this would not replace the calendars sent to the living organizations.

2. Regular meetings of the Activities board and the publication of the actions sent to all the organizations after each meeting;

3. Having no firesides in the second semester and the firesides in the first semester equally spaced instead of grouping them into a short period of time;

4. Have the town students represented on the Activities board.

This office is a big job that I feel I can fulfill efficiently because of my background both in the College of Liberal Arts and in the Music school. I have also served on the Activities board for my house. With these qualifications in mind I hope you will give me your suport at the polls today.

Jim Hitchman

The first vice president is the social chairman of the student body and the coordinator of the Activities board. He is a member of the student council and is responsible for the coordination of all student activity groups.

The following six problems are imminent in the responsibilities of the first vice president as he takes office this spring:

1. The continuing need for review of Activities board rules and Activities board-student council relations.

2. The integration of the Activities board and the student body so that activity groups are aware of what is going on in student government and are cooperating with the board.

3. The maintainance of present activities and stress upon the purpose of each.

4. The scheduling of each activity in such a way as to facilitate its purpose. For instance: having all honoring teas on one Sunday afternoon, more equitable appropriation of funds, more purposeful firesides primarily in the fall, the shifting of a spring formal dance to the fall.

5. The development of interest and benefits of those activities designed to increase our knowledge, such as the Faculty Forum, International Weekend, recitals, concerts, spring firesides between any two organizations which would include "bull sessions" on a given topic by two faculty members.

6. The further inclusion of Willamette Independent Town Students in all activities.

Paul Jewell

My plan for this administration of elections is this: first: it is essential that the second vice-president outline the whole semester election program at the beginning of the semester so that there will be no unnecessary conflicts.

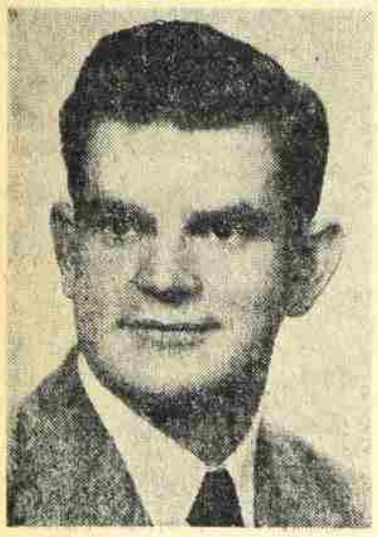
Second: the ballot boxes would be placed in the Law school, the Music school, naturally in Eaton hall, and lastly in the Cat Cavern. You can see the advantages in having ballot boxes in these various places. I am sure it would give more law, music and town students a better opportunity to vote.

With continued emphasis on publicity and an emphasis on the promotion of stronger campaigns by the candidates, our elections would be much more spirited with the result being more students voting.

The second basic challenge of this office lies in the opportunities one has in the student council. I'm convinced that our student council needs to realize that as a representative of the student body, it is representing the tuition which its members pay to support the school.

I believe it is imperative that we as students realize our obligation to all of society in this era and be in contact with the influences which will elevate our intellectual, moral and spiritual life to a plane of true leadership.

With these proposals and principles in mind, I wish you to equate the name Paul Jewell with this office.



Bob Stone

The primary duty of this office is supervising efficient and orderly elections with a maximum number of the student body participating.

Besides continuing the policies ably conceived by Louis Prediletto and Larry Smith, the two second vice presidents this year, I have several concrete ideas towards increasing efficiency and participation in ASWU elections. Some of these are:

(1) Advance notice of last date for filing to all living organizations and town students.

(2) Easier access to ballot boxes by having boxes in Eaton hall, Law school, Music school and the Cat Cavern.

(3) Elimination of congestion around poll in Eaton hall.

(4) Publicize elections by signs urging students to vote, placed in prominent places on campus, including buildings which do not contain polls.

(5) Contact officers in charge of elections on other campuses and pool information on election techniques to provide an ever-increasing standard of elections on our campus, from a dual standpoint of greater efficiency and building student interest.

(6) By assuming the seat on the student council, I will strive toward maintaining the harmony needed to insure a sound governing body to formulate student policy.

Rollin Cocking

This has been a good year at Willamette, but by no means a great one. Next year we can do better, and here's how I think we can do it.

Point One

There is a definite need for an energetic executive group made up of the president, the two vice presidents, secretary, and treasurer. This group would meet each week prior to all council meetings and it's purpose would be to plan and coordinate all future student activity.

Point Two

This school needs four classes which are actively interested in school government. Let's make them a part of our student government by having the presidents of the classes work closely with the student body president to promote an interest in school government that has been lying dormant for many years.

Point Three

We need an ASWU advisor for the freshman class. This person, an upperclassman chosen by the student council, would be in much the same capacity as a faculty advisor to a club.

Point Four

Next year let's have a student council filled with spirit and unity. We need this more than ever with the increased size of the council.

Point Five

This point is the continuation of the successful programs of this year.

Point Six

"The Student Union Building." The president of the student body should appoint an aid who would in turn head a committee to work with the administration toward the realization of this fine goal.

Tom Scheidel

What are the qualities a student body president must possess? I believe he must be an efficient administrator and a capable representative. It is not the duty of a president to dictate policy, but rather to administer the policy that the students desire established.

What are some of the programs that would aid our student government?

Greater Coordination in Council

We should establish certain goals we desire to accomplish during the coming year. Periodic reports and continual work toward these goals will bring about a more coherent and unified student council program.

Continuous Frosh Orientation

Orientation should not be dropped at the beginning of the year. Student leaders and past managers should meet with the freshman class immediately preceding each major campus event and give them specific orientation to the event at that time.

Review Progress of Little Hoover Commission Proposals

We have instituted an entirely new system of student government during this last year. Now that we have seen the plan in operation, I believe we should review the progress and perhaps we can make these proposals even more effective.

Unity Among Oregon Colleges

The leadership training program, exchange assemblies, etc., have come about by cooperation with other schools. We can gain much if we continue to build this cooperation.

Continue concert series.

Appoint one man to handle the progress for student union.

Further development of the leadership training program.

Mock Convention Registration Begins Today
Delegates to Represent States, Not Schools

By Margie Leonard

Registration of 241 mock convention delegates from 11 Oregon colleges and universities begins at 4 this afternoon in Baxter lounge.

Upon arrival, delegates will lose identity with their respective schools, placing emphasis on proximating the stand and strategy of the states they represent so that the outcome will duplicate as nearly as possible that of this summer's national convention, according to Marilyn Merz, state delegations chairman.

The schools, their number of delegates, and the states they represent include the University of Portland with 22 delegates representing Washington, Oregon, and California; Linfield college, 14 delegates representing Utah, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma; Eastern Oregon College of Education, 14 delegates for Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Lewis and Clark will send 21 delegates to represent North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, and Iowa; University of Oregon, 27 delegates for Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois; Vanport college, 21 delegates for Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky; Southern Oregon College of Education, 15 delegates for Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

From Reed college will come 16 delegates representing Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Florida; Marylhurst college, 15 delegates for West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware; Willamette university, 34 delegates for New Jersey, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Conneticut and the territories; Oregon State college, 33 delegates for New York and Pennsylvania.

AAUP Schedules Falls Hike; Clark to Explain Geology

The Willamette chapter of the AAUP, national professors organization on the campus, has scheduled a hike at Silver Creek falls on May 24 to study geological formations, Prof. Murco Ringnalda, program chairman, announced this week.

The expedition is to be led by Prof Herman Clark, who explained some geological formation conditions in Oregon to a recent Faculty Forum audience. The tour is primarily for the faculty members, but student attendance is also encouraged, according to Prof. Ringnalda.

The event will start at 1:30 p.m., at Silver Creek falls and will last three hours. Ringnalda requests that anyone interested should leave his name in Eaton 28 so that definite plans can be formulated. However, this is not necessary for attendance.

WUP's to Hold Award Dinner

Willamette University Players will hold their formal awards banquet next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Capitol room of the Senator hotel. All students are invited to attend.

Decorations for the banquet are in a spring mode, the theme being "The Act of May."

Ten awards will be given, in this manner: in major productions; best actor, best actress, best supporting actor and best supporting actress: in drama lab (one-act plays); best actor, best actress, best setting and best direction: in radio, an award for the most outstanding work; a plaque, the "Meritorious Theatre Award," honoring the best behind-the-scenes workers, one man and one woman.

Tickets are now available in the drama office or can be obtaained from Barbara Remelmeyer, Dorothea Anderson or Jean Thomas.

General chairman for the banquet is Barbara Ramelmyer.

Conner Chosen Round-up Queen

Leah Conner, a sophomore from Pendleton has been chosen queen of the 1952 Pendleton round-up. The round-up will be held in the fall.

Miss Conner is a physical education major with a great enthusiasm for tennis. She is active in many sports.

An off-campus resident, the queen elect works at the Oregon State School for the Blind where she assists in the teaching of the children.

Miss Conner is a direct descendant of the famous Nez Perce Indian leader, Chief Joseph.

Bearcats Face Linfield As Season Nears End

The Willamette Bearcats face the Linfield Wildcats tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at McMinnville and the Bearcats have a chance to move into a second place tie with the Wildcats.

Coach John Lewis' squad has only one league game remaining after tomorrow's game and that is with the Lewis and Clark Pioneers which will be played at Oregon City next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. The Bearcats must win both games to stay in the running for the Northwest conference baseball championship.

Northwest Conference Standings

	W	L	Pct.
Whitman	4	2	.666
Linfield	5	3	.625
Willamette	4	4	.500
College of Idaho	3	3	.500
Lewis and Clark	2	2	.500
Pacific	0	4	.000

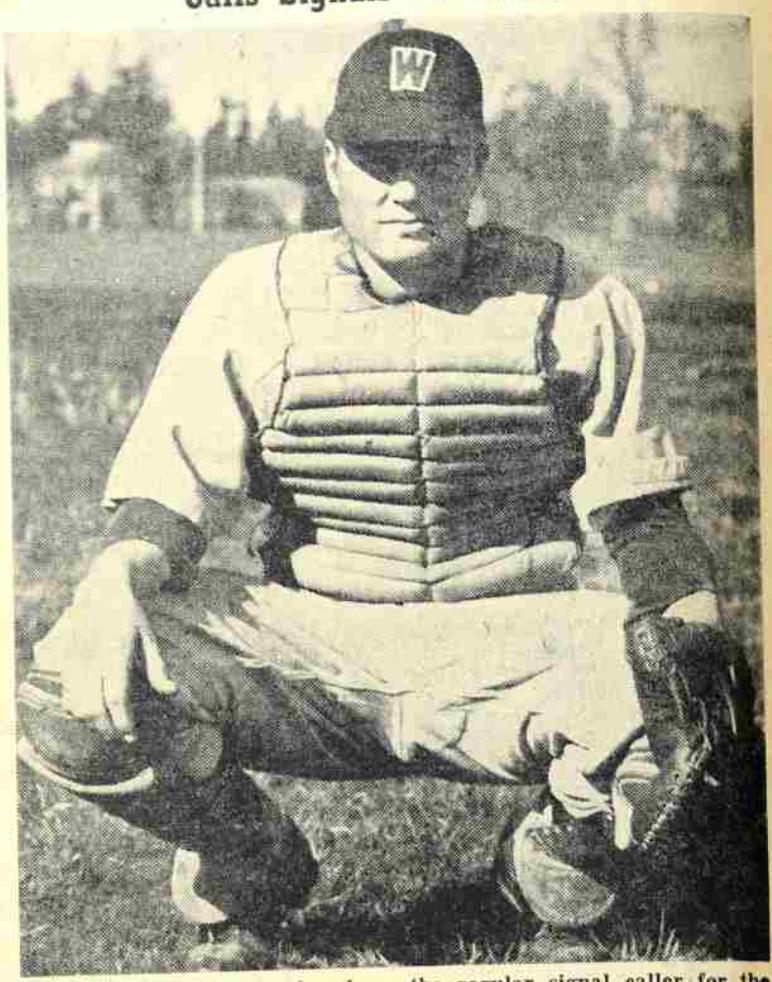
Roy Helser, coach for the Wildcats, will pitch his ace lefthander, Stan Blank against the Bearcats while Coach Lewis will send his ace, Andy George to the mound. In the first meeting of the clubs, these same two pitchers went the route and George bested Blank for a 7-3 win.

The starting lineup for Linfield will have Norman Welch on first base, Ernest White on second base, Milt Krueger on third base and Bob Zuleger at the shortstop position. Chuck Bafaro will be behind the plate. In the outfield it will be Bob Martin in left, Ad Rutschman in center and Jerry LeBlanc in right.

Coach Lewis will probably stick with his regulars against Linfield. Alva Brown starting at first base, Cliff Girod at second base, Dave Perlman at third base and Elmer Haugen at shortstop. Harve Koepf will do the catching for the Bearcats. Leftfielder Dick Brouwer, and Centerfielder Denny Elsasser will start and Duane Shield or John Markoskie will fill in the other outfield position.

Brouwer still leads the hitting for the regulars with a .413 average. Brouwer also leads in home runs with four. Brown leads in extra base blows with a total of nine. He has collected the most doubles and triples with four and two respectively. George leads the pitchers in strikeouts with 40 and Benny Holt has issued the most walks with 25.

Calls Signals for Pitches



Harve Koepf, who has been the regular signal caller for the Bearcat pitchers, will again be behind the plate when the Willamette baseballers tangle with the Linfield Wildcats tomorrow afternoon at Linfield. (Statesman cut).

Unbeaten Willamette Set for Pioneers With High School Contests Preceding

Track will hold the major sports interest at McCulloch Stadium tomorrow when the activity on the Willamette oval will make the arena resemble the Saturday a few weeks back when the Willamette relays were run off.

It will not be as big as the relays, but there will be plenty of action, what with the District 7, Class "A" and "B" high school runoffs in the morning and early afternoon, and the Bearcat-Lewis and Clark meet at 4 o'clock.

In the college meet, undefeated Willamette will be evenly rated with the Pioneers from Lewis and Clark. Last week both squads won their meets, the 'Cats trouncing Whitman 79½-59½ in what should have been a close meet, and the Pioneers whipping Portland university 74-57.

The main reason for Lewis and Clark's strength lies in Caley Cook, one of the fastest men in the Northwest conference. Against Portland, he won four events and breaking meet records in both hurdles events. Cook ran the highs in 16 and two-tenths second sand the lows in 25 and four-tenths seconds, as well as covering 100 yards in nine and nine-tenths seconds and broad-jumped 21 feet and five inches.

On the other side, the Bearcats have shown their strength in dual meets this season, having won by quite decisive margins, in all contest. Against Whitman, two records were shattered and a third one tied, to give Willamette its best meet of the season. Bill Van Horn tied the ten-second 100-yard dash mark again. Ralph Adams ran the mile in four minutes and 30 and one-tenth seconds to break the old mile record. In field events, Ray Fretheim went 12 feet and six and five-eighths inches into the air to break the pole vault record.

In the high school competition, the athletes will be bidding for berths in the state meets which will be held at Oregon State next week.

OSC Netters Triumph; Snap Long Win Streak

The Oregon State Jayvees broke the six-game winning streak of the Willamette tennis squad last Saturday morning on the local courts with a 4-3 win, but the Bearcats came right back to take win number seven as they defeated Lewis and Clark 4-3 last Tuesday afternoon on the Pioneers' court.

Coach Les Sparks' team played Pacific yesterday afternoon on the Forest Grove courts, but the score was not received in time for publication.

The SAE's are still in the running for a tourney berth in the "A" circuit. They defeated the Baxter squad 24-0 and need only a double win to place them in a second place tie with the loser of the Sig-Phi Delt clash.

The Phi Delts climbed into the top position along with the Sigs with two wins this past week. John Kent gave up one hit as he shut the Betas 7-0 Wednesday. Monday the Faculty forfeited to the Phi Delts.

The Sigs kept their slate clean with a 6-0 victory over Baxter Wednesday. Dan Montag gave the losers only two hits.

Bearcat Thinclads Walk Over Whitman As Adams, Fretheim Set New Records

What was supposed to be a close meet turned out to be a walk away as the Willamette Bearcats dropped the Whitman thinclads 79½ to 59½ last Friday afternoon on the McCulloch oval.

The win was number three in conference competition and four for the season. The Bearcats are defending conference champions in dual meets and in the conference meet. The meet with Lewis and Clark tomorrow will decide who will be the conference dual meet champion this year.

The freshmen tracksters traveled to Roseburg last Tuesday and captured all the events except the 440-yard run and tied for first in the high jump.

In the conference meet against the Missionaries, two school marks were broken and another was tied. Ralph Adams ran the mile in four minutes and 30 and one-tenth seconds to break the old mark which was held by Claude Cook. Ray Fretheim made a 12-foot and six and five-eights inch pole vault jump to break the old record held by Rex Putnam and Jack and Bill Vincent. Bill Van Horn ran another ten-second 100-yard dash to tie his record which is also held by Ted Mertz, Brazier Small and Putnam.

There were two double winners for the day and both of them were Bearcats. Van Horn besides taking a first in the 100-yard dash captured a win in the 220-yard dash. Darrell Corkery won both hurdle events. In the lows, Willamette swept all three places as Rollin Cocking and Don Bennet finished right behind Corkery. The only other sweep of the day was the javelin with Bob Hall and Layton Gilson finishing behind winner Stan Neperud.

In the only other track event won by Willamette was the two mile run. Wally Boe finished first in this event. Besides winning the mile relay, the Whitman team won only two field events. Jerry Wheeler came in first in the 440-yard run and John Ranaley won the 880-yard run. Terry Bratton, Ramaley, Bob Brandes and Wheeler were on the winning relay team.

In the field events besides the javelin, the Bearcats won only the discus and tied for the high jump. Layton Gilson came within two inches of the school mark with 127-foot toss as he finished first in the discus. Jim Hitchman finished in a first-place tie with Dick Englehart in the high jump.

The Washingtonians won two firsts in the field events. They were the broad jump and the shot put. Bud Robinett was the winner in the broad jump and Jim Flexer placed first in the shot put.

In the meet with Roseburg, eight Willamette freshmen took part. Corkery was the top man he has won 18¼ points. No team score was kept. Corkery finished first in his specialities, the high and low hurdles, and also captured first place in the broad jump. He finished third in the high jump and the 100-yard dash. Corkery was also on the winning relay team.

Football Meeting

All those who are planning to turn out for football next fall are urged to attend a very short meeting next Tuesday morning during convocation. Ted Ogdahl, new football coach for Willamette, will be at the meeting.

Willamette Baseballers Whip Pacific; Defeat OCE in May Weekend Battle

Coach John Lewis' baseballers climbed up into a third place tie with Lewis and Clark and College of Idaho in the Northwest conference standings as the Bearcats dropped the Pacific Badgers 10-2 last Tuesday afternoon on the McCulloch diamond.

The Bearcats stepped out of league last Saturday as they edged the Oregon College of Education Wolves 4-2 in the May Weekend encounter on the home field.

In the Pacific game, Mike Glenn went all the way for the Bearcats and struck out seven Pacific batters while giving up four hits. Ed Ball, the losing pitcher, was touched for five hits and seven runs as he lasted only four-plus innings.

Pacific got its only two runs of the game in the first inning when Kay Frizzell walked and Walt Buckiewicz tripled to left. He scored a minute later when his brother, Frank, drove him in with a long fly out to left.

Willamette tied the game up in the second inning with Cliff Girod's walk and Alva Brown's long single to left. Brown was called out as he missed second base when he was trying to make the hit into a triple. Dave Perlman then doubled and Denny Elsasser singled him for the second run of the inning.

The Bearcats scored five runs in the fifth on two hits, four errors, a walk, a passed ball and a double steal. Two more runs came in the sixth when Dick Brouwer homered with Harve Koepf on base. The final run of the game came when Ralph Onzuka walked, went to third on Mike Glenn's single and scored on Elmer Haugen's infield out.

In the OCE game, Dave Gray was the winner for Willamette and the loss went to Bob Funk.

Golfers Await Pacific; Edge Lewis and Clark

With eight victories in nine starts, the Willamette golfers will go after number nine when they travel to Pacific this afternoon to meet the Badgers in the last dual match of the season. The conference matches will be played next Friday at Whitman college.

The Bearcats edged the Lewis and Clark Pioneers 9½ to 8½ on the Top O'Scott course in Portland last Tuesday afternoon.

The match was won on the last hole as Ward Sligh sunk a putt to defeat his opponent, Roger Boynton three to nothing. Dan Callaghan was medalist with a 74 as he whitewashed Jack Phipps three to nothing. Ellis Von Eschen downed his rival, Don Dodson two to one. Jim Kraus was the only Pioneer to shut out his man. Kent Myers was his victim. Other scores were Ken Stephens over Dick Church two to one and Dick Andrews over Ken Baines two and one-half to one-half.

Salem, Tillamook Next For Bearkitten Squad

It will be Salem high today at 3:30 p.m. on the McCulloch diamond and Tillamook high tomorrow morning at 10:00 a.m. on the home field for the Willamette junior baseballers.

The Jayvees won their third game in four starts and their third straight game last Wednesday night when they dropped the Mollala town team 5-1 on the loser's home field.

Verne Vannice was the winning pitcher of the game which went only five and one-half innings as the tilt was called on account of rain. Don Laftis was the losing pitcher.

WU Choir Ends Busy Season

By Jane Fooshee

The Willamette university a capella choir will present its annual Salem concert on Monday, May 11, at 8 p.m. in the First Christian church. For the 53-voice choir, this concert will climax an extremely busy year. In addition to numerous appearances in and around Salem at various clubs and organizations, the a capella choir also completed a very successful spring tour. The 13-day trip saw them singing in southern Oregon and in many northern California cities.

The greater part of the tour was spent in San Francisco and adjacent communities, which gave the choir many enthusiastic audiences.

The choir is directed by Melvin H. Geist, who has been Dean of the College of Music since 1939. He has been assisted in the less artistic phases of his choir work by Dick Cole, the choir president; Arlene Deakins, vice-president; Gloria Nandie, secretary; Don Brand, treasurer; Wes Hedeen, business manager; and Don Irwin, publicity director. Don Brand and Wes Hedeen are to be especially commended for their work in arranging the spring tour, as is Arlene Deakins, who planned all of the housing for it.

A special soloist who went on tour with the choir and has appeared with them in several of their programs is Doris McCain Loder, violinist. Mrs. Loder has been the recipient of the Nancy Black Wallace Music Scholarship for her four years of college, and has just recently appeared in senior recital. Edna Marie Hill is the accompanist for Mrs. Loder as well as for the choir.

The program presented by the choir is representative of a wide variety of choral literature and consists of three groups of selections. The first of these contains some of the finest music from the pre-classic period of Bach and his predecessors, and will open with "O All Ye Nations" by Schutz. This will be followed by the Spanish composer Vittoria's "O Quam Gloriosam" and the very beautiful "Prayer to Jesus" by Oldroyd.

The first group will be concluded with Bach's motet for double choir, "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us." This latter composition is an extremely interesting one; it is written in eight voice parts, which sometimes are contrasted and sometimes all moving at once, each a completely independent musical line.

The second group, of modern vein, presents the very dramatic "Jesus and the Traders" by the Hungarian composer Kodaly, and also Randall Thomson's "Peaceable Kingdom." Sections of this sung by the choir include "Say Ye to the Righteous," "The Paper Reeds by the Brooks," and "Ye Shall Have a Song." The "Peaceable Kingdom" has been very popular with both the choir and its audiences for a number of years, because of the drama so effectively depicted in the various sections of the work, as well as for the beauty of the music itself.

The final group consists of folk music and Negro spirituals. The first number will be "Creep Along, Moses," arranged by Gail Kubik, a recent Pulitzer Prize winner. This will be followed by "Birds' Courting Song," which features incidental solos by various members of the choir. By way of contract, the next number will be Harl MacDonald's "Come Quickly, Lord, and Take My Soul to Rest," followed by the lilting "Jig for Voices."

The concert will conclude with the "Entrance Scene; Lord Hosanna" from the "Advent Motet" by Gustav Schreet. This number, another favorite of the choir's, is a very stirring composition, beginning softly, building in volume, and adding masses of vocal color, until at its climax it resembles a trumpet fanfare, a very effective conclusion for the program.

Bob Small

Small to Chair Political Event

Bob Small, chairman of the Willamette mock convention, transfered here as a junior last year from Sacramento JC. His record since then has been active and unusual.

In the spring semester of 1951 Small was one of the first two WU students to participate in the Washington semester plan. After returning from Washington D.C., he was named as political science senior scholar for Mark Hatfield. It was then that Small was awarded the championship.

Delegates to Meet Tonight Until Wee Hours Deciding on Platform for Mock Convention

Delegates from 11 schools will meet in two rooms of the Senator hotel reeking wit hthe atmosphere of national politics tonight to decide the platform of the first Willamette sponsered mock convention.

According to Burke Samuelson, chairman of the campus resolution committee, the two meetings are expected to last into the small hours of tomorrow morning as 22 delegates in separate foreign and domestic affairs groups debate general topic resolutions with the goal in sight of forming the platform planks of the convention. All those interested are invited to attend the meetings.

The Willamette student body determined early this spring the resolutions it would favor as convention planks and it was recommended by Bob Small, convo chairman, that a similiar procedure be followed by the student bodies of the other schools in the convention circuit. Thus, by the time the delegates meet at 7:30 tonight, each school will be ready to present resolutions that the individual student bodies favor as the convention platform. These will be presented to the meeting by two delegates from each school under foreign and domestic groups and will be voted on by the committees to eventually evolve a platform.

Bob Seamster and Lowell Maudlin will represent Willamette at the foreign ploicy meeting and Jim Wood and Bob Schaefer will attend the domestic proposals group. They are scheduled to present the general resolutions approved by the WU students as will delegations from other schools. They are allowed to use personal preference in voting minor wording changes and amendments to the resolutions s long as they are not a complete "about face" on the original idea.

Opposition on some measures from outside delegations were predicted by Samuelson after considering the platform lists that were submitted by other schools. A battle is expected by the home delegation to secure the passage of the Taft-Hartley act as Linfield went on record as favoring amendments in definite opposition of Willamette policy.

There is also opposition against the plan for "foreign and economic aid to friendly nations." One faction maintains that it should be "aid to friendly and democratic nations" in order to exclude Portugal and Spain. Willamette will veto government control of tidelands as a "socialistic tendency" and will favor farm subsidies as "a good political move."

The resolutions which are passed by a majority vote at tonight's assemblies will be stenciled immediately and be ready for issuance to each delegate tomorrow morning. The chairman of each meeting will read the resolutions at the convention meeting tomorrow as the planks of the convention platform. The minority planks will not be presented at the assembly.

The resolutions to be presented by Willamette were originally approved in a chapel poll and later amended by the resolutions committee of seven and again approved by a special student meeting.
