Coronation Set for Capitol's Sunken Gardens

Queen Polly to Reign Over Land of May

By Bill MacDougall

Queen Polly Pollock will begin her reign Saturday afternoon over Willamette's annual May Weekend festivities at coronation ceremonies at the Capitol's sunken gardens.

From Thursday to Sunday, students and townspeople plus two hundred high school seniors from all over the Pacific coast will be participants in the activities which will range from a barbecue to a formal ball on Saturday evening.

Classes Stand Watch

On Thursday night, from 7 to 11 p.m., all four classes stood watch over the fire at the barbecue pit, and the class with the least representation was forced to attend to cleanup this morning en masse. In addition to class competition, members of each living organization on the campus will take part in the inter-fraternity and inter-sorority sings, scheduled for noon and 11 a.m. today, respectively.

Manager Dick Endsley said that all houses had prepared songs for the event, and that men from Baxter hall, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, and Beta Theta Pi will participate, along with women from Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, and Delta Gamma.

Barbecue This Afternoon

Trophies for first and second place will be awarded to the winners of this contest. An all-campus barbecue this afternoon will begin at 1:15 p.m., and entertainment for the occasion will be presented on Sweetland field.

Sophomores and freshmen will dig up their axes at 3 p.m. Friday, when they battle out a tug-of-war contest waged on both sides of the mill stream. Following this, the same classmen will move their battleground to the greased pole, where they will attempt to remove a flag from the top of the slick column.

Drama Department Gives Play

On Thursday night, residents of Salem saw the University production of "The Man Who Would Be Sick," by Moliere, and Willamette students will see the second performance of the comedy tonight.

At the coronation ceremonies on Saturday afternoon, the winning fraternity and sorority will sing again. Vari-colored lighting for the May Weekend dance will highlight the "Japanese Garden" theme, headed by Marion Sparks.

The sophomore honorary, Beta Alpha Gamma, will serve at the queen's tea Saturday afternoon, and church services Sunday morning will end the occasion.

Judges for the all-campus sing will be Johann Eschbach, professor of music at Linfield, L. Stanley Glarem, music instructor at Lewis and Clark, Robert Wall, of Oregon State college, and John Seitz, also from OSC.

No broadcast time has been made available for the events on Friday, but Ray Loter will make a tape recording of the proceedings in hopes that they may be aired at a later date. Plans are underway, however, for a broadcast of the coronation on Saturday.

1950 May Weekend Festivities Open With All Campus Sing

The 1950 May Weekend festivities will be officially opened this morning at 11 o'clock when the all-campus sing is held in the gym.

First and second place trophies will be awarded by Queen Polly I to the respective winners in the men and women's division, at the coronation ceremonies tomorrow afternoon in the Capitol's sunken gardens.

Alpha Chi Omega will be led by Bernice Isham in 'With a Song in My Heart,' 'Song of the Lyre,' and 'Alpha Chi House Blues'; Norveda Smedley will direct the Chi Omega's in 'My Own America,' 'In Life's Blithe Hay Day,' and 'Liberal Education.'

The Delta Gamma's will sing 'The Song Is You,' 'Dream Girl,' and 'The School for Me,' with Doris Walser as their leader. 'Annie Laurie,' 'Pi Phi Dreams,' and 'We've Got a Lovely Bunch of Faculty' will be sung by the Pi Beta Phi's, under the direction of Martha Benard.

John Kaemmer will direct the men of Baxter hall in 'The Friendship Song,' and 'Shenandoah.' 'Loving Cup,' and 'The Whiffenpoof Song' will be sung by Beta Theta Pi, led by Art Dimond.

Phi Delta Theta will sing 'Smoke Rings,' and 'Bluetailed

Fly,' with Bill Bissell as their leader and Gordon Pratt will lead Sigma Alpha Epsilon in 'Alma Mater,' 'The Open Road,' 'Our Fraternity' and 'The Ranger Song' will be presented by Sigma Chi, led by Bob O'Neill.

Chuck Martin is general chairman of the song contest, which will be tape recorded for future broadcasting.

Judging was based on rendition, 60%; interpretation, 30%; and general effect, 10%. The judges are music professors L. Stanley Glarem, from Lewis and Clark; Johann Eschbach, from Linfield; and R. B. Walls and John Seitz, representing Oregon State college.

Inter-sorority sing was originated in 1944, when Alpha Phi Alpha, now Alpha Chi Omega, was the winner; and inter-fraternity sing was first held in '48.

Dean OKs Late Pers

The senior class petition for late permissions has been granted by Dean Regina Ewalt, which permits senior women to have 12 o'clock for the remainder of the year.

All women are granted 2 o'clock late permissions for the Queen's Ball tomorrow night, according to Dean Ewalt.

Students will honor Princess Avis Roberts tomorrow night at the formal dance, as a part of the queen's royal court.

Tall and dark Betty Ferguson will assume her role as princess to Queen Polly in the annual spring festivities of May Weekend tomorrow.

Students to See Moliere Farce Tonight at Second Performance

By Margaret Kaufman

Last night the curtain went up on the first performance of a play which was probably unfamiliar to most students at Willamette. Tonight at 8:30 a second performance of "The Man Who Would Be Sick," by Moliere, will be given for Willamette students in Waller hall chapel.

Ray Loter as the hypochondriac lead is hilariously adept with just the right touch of comedy for this unmistakable farce. In this play he is a man who imagines himself to be so sick that he feels it necessary to have a doctor about him at all times, even to the point of marrying his eldest daughter to a doctor. His daughter, Angelique, ably portrayed by Sue Mellor, has already fallen in love with another man and does everything within her power to escape from the marriage and is aided and abetted by the maid, Toinette, Nickie Haynes, who appears to be running the household.

The daughter and the maid discover that his new young wife is interested only in his money and wants to get everyone else out of the way. The manner in which Angelique and Toinette accomplish their aims of convincing the father in the sincerity of Angelique's lover, and the way in which they foil the step-mother is followed with great amusement and interest.

As doctors who flock around the hero for his money, Keith and Kent Lawrence, Ray Pearson, Bob Witham, and Vern Atkinson had the audience roaring over their antics. As the sister who tried to make him see reason, Ella Lou Ball was quite believable and, as the younger daughter, Jill Larson did a very satisfactory job. The selfish wife is very nicely and nastily portrayed by Bernice Isham.

Twenty-One Past May Rulers Return to Honor Queen Polly

Pleasant memories will be recalled by former Willamette university May Weekend Queens this weekend when 21 former queens return to the campus to honor Queen Polly I.

May Weekend originated in 1909. The former queens planning to attend include: Mrs. G. C. Bellinger, Salem, 1910; Mrs. Carl Hollingsworth (Pearl Bradley), Portland, 1912; Mrs. Waldo Mills (Ada Mark), Salem, 1913; Mrs. J. W. Frewing (Betty Lewis), Vancouver, Washington, 1931; Mrs. Howard Bergman (Gertrude Oehler), Seattle, 1932; Mrs. George Shepperd (Suzanne Curtis), Gresham, 1939; Mrs. Robert Anderson (Betty Starr), Salem, 1940; Mrs. A. Each will be presented with a red rose and will be escorted in a group to Queen Polly's coronation and reception immediately following.

Welcome to May Weekend

Willamette extends a cordial welcome to alumni and visitors for the 41st May Weekend.

In observance of this traditional celebration we hope that prospective students will be able to see Willamette in a truly festive spirit. Since the early part of this century May Weekend has been one of the three major extracurricular events of the school year.

Alumni and friends return to the campus at this time of the year to enjoy and participate in the events that they remember. It is also a time when high school seniors, intending to choose a college, are guests of the various living organizations where they can enjoy the friendliness and hospitality that prevails at Willamette.

May Weekend is a time for play and festivity. Visitors will see Willamette in a holiday spirit but it is also an institution of higher learning with serious purpose.

Prospective students are asked to consider also the serious side of college life which will not be so much in evidence this weekend. Charles Paeth, Willamette's director of admissions, will be available to answer questions concerning college courses and activities. He will conduct two tours of the campus tomorrow morning at 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

We hope that all visitors enjoy their stay at Willamette and we look forward to the possibility that many of them will return next fall.

More Attendance Headache

For several months the faculty sub-committee on attendance has been in a stew trying to devise a new set of attendance regulations which would be acceptable to both students and faculty.

Their desire to improve the present system has been sincere. No one questions their good intentions. But few are in complete accord with the plan which they have suggested.

The trouble is not with the committee. The difficulty is the problem itself. A few years ago the faculty policy committee sent letters to numerous small colleges asking for their suggestions and advice. It was hoped that perhaps one of them had discovered the ideal system. Replies to the letters indicated that attendance regulations were a universal sore spot at most colleges. None seemed satisfied with the system it had and all were attempting to devise a better one.

The problem at Willamette is aggravated by a whispered consensus that "the administration insists upon centralized control of attendance."

Perhaps we are naive but it seems to us that if the administration has a stake in attendance regulations, it has not only a right but a duty to declare itself. Otherwise it seems logical that the faculty should formulate a system which they conscientiously feel best fitted to Willamette's needs. Whatever the final plan is, the faculty will have voted it into effect. To vaguely attribute it to unwritten, unspoken "administration wishes" should not relieve them of responsibility for the new plan.

Many professors have unofficially expressed interest in the minority opinion of the faculty sub-committee on attendance. Some have suggested that a minority report be submitted to the faculty.

As things now stand the proposed plan of the sub-committee is to be reported to the faculty policy committee which in turn will present it to the faculty for their vote. The plan has received much discussion since it was announced. There have been many criticisms and suggestions.

The policy committee can revise the plan to give consideration to these suggestions. It is hoped that the plan as now proposed will be altered in some respects before it is presented for a vote. Otherwise, at least from a student point of view, it may be better to retain the present system.

Regardless of the outcome, however, the faculty sub-committee on attendance, deserves a vote of thanks for an impossible job, done as best as it could be done.

Don't Worry Fellas, the Women Are Here to Stay

By Dave Beery

Throw away your worries, visitors. If the opinions of Willamette's male students are to be honored, Willamette university will long remain co-educational. Although there is no movement towards doing away with women, this Collegian poll is offered to safeguard the students' interests if such action is ever taken.

It appears that Willamette men prefer women in their classes. In fact, most of the persons asked would not consider any other situation. It must be the feminine intellect the men admire.

In a Collegian poll completed this week, it was discovered that nearly all those questioned seemed inclined to favor co-education. Since the alternative was to make Willamette a men's college, only the male half of the student body was interviewed. What the women's viewpoint would be is still uncertain.

After much comprehensive research, the Collegian presents the most daring question to be asked Willamette students this year: "What is your opinion of banning co-education at Willamette university in favor of making it a men's school?"

These are the answers received at the risk of the Collegian pollster. If the readers doubt that there is risk asking a question such as this, try it some time.

Joe Harvey answered, "Banning co-education? Oh, it will never sell."

Bill MacDougall replied, "Co-education? I think it's . . . I think . . . I . . ."

Rolly Cocking said, "It's not a bad idea. I feel that if it were a men's school, the curriculum could be more adapted to the men who have come to college to get an education. But on the other hand . . ."

Phil Shaw exclaimed, "I should say so. Thus, freedom of expression in the classroom would be more relaxed."

Kent Lawrence decided, "No comment."

Gene Peyton said nothing but, "Ha."

Norm Lawson philosophized, "Willamette would not be Willamette without girls."

George Porter's only comment was, "Gad."

Dale Nusom commented, "I'm agin it. Who would do my homework?"

Ernie Duvall observed, "I'm all for it."

Mark Cotton replied, "Banning it? Absolutely no, because your social life is needed as well

May Fete Descends From Ancient Rite of Spring

By Norman Stone

Marriages were considered unlucky by the Romans during the month of May. There were, however, other festivities that the Romans indulged in during the Springtime that were responsible for the long chain of events that led to May day as we now know it at Willamette.

As a matter of fact, the Romans got the idea started by worshipping their goddess Flora who happened to be the one they blamed for the popping out of flowers. It seems that the popping out of said flowers excited the masses to various forms of dance and other kinds of frolic.

The pagans paid kind of a homage to nature during the first part of May. They had the idea that everything was getting born again and they considered it a welcome sight after the hardships of winter.

The early Christians didn't think much of the idea at first and in Celtic times they moved the date forward to June 24. The edict didn't stick, however, and the festival moved back to May with the coming of the middle ages. It became customary for people of all classes to arise early on the first day of May and go "a-Maying." They gathered flowers, branches and anything else they could pull out of the ground, even trees, and started a long procession back to the local village. In the center of the procession was carried the May pole draped liberally with flowers and other ornaments. Usually, the May-pole was made of birch and stood for only one day. In large cities, however, it was permanently erected.

The Puritans came along and decided that May-day was irreligious and hinted of a little too much frolic and mirth. They tarred and feathered a few May-day merry makers and although some of the Puritans got the same treatment, they won out in 1644 when they got parliament to ban all May poles. The idea gained favor again though, and in 1661 the British navy erected a 134 foot May-pole that stood in London.

The "Queen of the May" entered the picture in the middle ages. She was chosen as the prettiest maid of the village and the idea seems to be a hangover from the Romans when the goddess Flora reigned annually.

Records show that the first May Queen at Willamette was a sophomore. The year was 1909. In 1911, it became an established custom that a senior would reign over the festivities and the practice has held ever since.

In 1913, the May-pole dance was added and in 1921, the program was essentially the same as it is today.

In 1935, Willamette's May day got a break when the Oregon State Capital burned down. A half a dozen pillars were requisitioned from the ashes and they served as a kind of a Greek background for the occasion.

The building of Baxter hall, interrupted this in 1947, however, and since then, the annual frolic has taken place on the lawn in front of Eaton hall, weather permitting. When the weather doesn't permit it takes place in the gymnasium.

Whoops!

That's Right, Coach Stackhouse Was Shy Once

Chester Ray Stackhouse, Willamette's football and track coach, was born on a farm in Ohio. He never liked farm life but did take great pride in his two pet pigs, Marguerite and Cherry Girl. He still claims they were the cleanest pigs in Ohio.

"Stack", as his friends call him, was once given a surprise birthday party. He walked in the front door, spotted the party merriment, and walked out the back door, not to return until night-fall. The coach claims to have been a very shy child.

When he was graduated from high school, "Stack" went to Central Michigan College of Education. Here, he played center on the football team and also acted as a forward on the basketball team. He was later made captain of the football team. During his college days, Stackhouse worked as a sports-caster in radio work, and also as a correspondent to the sports sections of nearby papers. One of his first coaching jobs was a girls' basketball team.

As far as preferences in dress go, "Stack" depends pretty much on his wife's shopping. He is never satisfied with clothes he picks out himself. He once bought a dozen pair of yellow socks for a dollar and has tried vainly to wear them out ever since. He wears a size thirteen sock.

Artistically, Stackhouse leans toward architectural drawing. He designs and builds houses as a hobby. For some odd reason, he also does a lot of drawing of football plays. He loves to sing, but is a definite monotone. This, however, doesn't stop him from singing.

"Stack" has turned inventor on occasion. He once invented a cure for athlete's foot which enjoyed great popularity in Michigan. Its chief ingredient was formaldehyde. He also submitted an idea to the government for the protection of battleships from submarines.

"Stack" feels that Willamette is the finest university in the country. He is hopeful of a fine athletic season next year with both this year's outstanding boys and those boys whom he has contacted with his extensive publicity system.

Collegian Again Wins All-American Award

The Collegian once again has been awarded an "All-American" standing among college newspapers as results of judging by the Associated Collegiate Press were received this week by Editor Ellen Montague.

With nearly consistent marks of "excellent" in all divisions of the ACP scorebook, the Collegian was able to maintain its long-standing honor rating in competition with newspapers of colleges and universities throughout the country.

The Collegian has held this rating for almost a decade with the exception of seven semesters when it received Pacemaker awards which are granted to a very small percentage of outstanding college newspapers.

The Willamette newspaper was judged in a category of universities of 1,000 to 2,499 enrollment with publication weekly. The Collegian entered the judging with 77 other college papers of the same category.

Pictures Planned

All students whose parent or parents attended or graduated from Willamette are asked to be at the director of information's office in the northwest corner of the gym Wednesday evening at 6:30 to have their pictures taken for the Alumni bulletin.

Benes, Famed Czech, to Teach Here for Summer Session

With Bohus A. Benes, former Czechoslovakian diplomat, highlighting the faculty, registration for the Willamette summer session will be held in the library from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Monday, June 19, 1950, according to Harold Jory, registrar. The sessions will end August 12.

Students may be registered for a total of eight semester hours for the session. Work in excess of this amount is possible only by permission of the scholarship committee which must be granted before registration.

For seven of eight semester hours of credit the tuition will be $100. Four, five or six semester hours of credit will cost $15. per credit hour. Three semester hours of credit or less will amount to $150.

The University will not furnish meals or housing on the campus unless the demand warrants it, said Jory.

The visiting faculty for the summer school will include the author and lecturer Bohus A. Benes, and Dr. Leland Jordan. Benes was at Willamette last summer, and is a nephew of the former president of Czechoslovakia. He attended the League of Nations, was in the diplomatic corps of his native country, and was correspondent for various Czech newspapers.

Gordon is head of the economic department at Denison university in Granville, Ohio, and has been a consultant for the government in consumer economics.

Mills Grind Slow on Revising Cut Plan

By The Editor

The turnout was disappointing. Three members of the student council were scattered among about a dozen members of the faculty. Dr. Luther put off opening the meeting for fifteen minutes in the hope that more people would show up. Twenty minutes after the appointed time the editor of the Collegian strolled in. She couldn't find the place, she explained. A cub Collegian reporter tittered.

After Dr. Luther explained how the faculty sub-committee on class attendance had come into existence, Dr. Martin, who is chairman of the committee, opened the discussion on the recommended new attendance regulations.

He called the new plan, "an obvious compromise." After months of research and innumerable meetings, the committee

Princeton Professor To Teach Econ Here

The appointment of Willard S. Smith, a top teaching assistant at Princeton university, as assistant professor of economics at Willamette university was announced this week by President G. Herbert Smith.

A specialist in money and banking, labor and social insurance, Smith has served as president of the Princeton economics club. He graduated summa cum laude from University of Washington in 1941 before entering the army. He saw service in the North African, Sicily and Italian campaigns, and at discharge was a captain.

Willard S. Smith

Smith will report to the Salem campus in September. A member of the Industrial Relations Research association and a member of Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Washington, Smith's background and qualifications caused him to be described by Princeton authorities as one of the top young teachers of economics.

His teaching experience includes two years at the University of Washington and three years at Princeton. He is 31 and a past president of Beta Gamma Sigma. At University of Washington, he lettered in track and cross-country.

Students to Select 10 Award Finalists

Student vote for the Mary L. Collins scholarship candidates will be taken during chapel Tuesday. Scholarship winners will be announced at awards chapel, May 23.

The faculty will select the three men and three women who will receive the awards from five men and five women of the sophomore class who receive the most student votes.

The Collins award, which was increased this year from four to six scholarships, is for $200 for each recipient for his junior year and $200 for his senior year.

Students will be judged on the basis of character, leadership and scholarship.

Deadline Nears for Making Graduate Award Applications

Tomorrow is the deadline for filing Mary L. Collins graduate scholarship applications, according to word received from the president's office. The $500 grant is to be used by a Willamette male senior for first year work in an accredited graduate school.

Applicants for the scholarship which will be awarded for the first time this year must be male seniors who, upon graduation, have completed at least two years work at Willamette and have a cumulative g.p.a. of 3.30 or more for all their college work.

The registrar's office lists the following students eligible for the graduate award:

Joseph Brazie, Dale Broeder, John Brown, Dale Cleaver, Arthur Dow, Richard Drimon, Russell Gochnour, John Hakanson, Lyle Hamilton, Kenneth Holmes, Frank Lockman, Albert McMullen, Charles Patterson, Edward Primbs, Duane Radcliff and Wallace Southard.

Students, whose names have been omitted from this list, may check with the registrar's office.

had found little agreement either among students or faculty concerning what the "perfect system" should contain. There were those with a keen interest in setting aside the formal regulations and leaving attendance in the hands of the individual professor. Unmentioned was a common belief that "the administration" had set limits beyond which the present system could not be revised.

At a previous meeting last February, students and faculty passed a resolution in favor of leaving attendance regulations up to the individual professors. Since then Dr. Martin's committee had polled the seventy-odd members of the faculty to secure their further views. Twenty-five of the 47 who replied, indicated that they would prefer to handle individually the attendance-problem children.

Dr. Martin pointed out that although those members of the faculty and student body who were most articulate on the subject apparently favored the lifting of all central control, this did not mean that they represented the consensus. Even those who favored "leaving it up to the individual professor" were not agreed upon details.

The committee was aware that there was a segment of the faculty who felt that some centralized control should be in effect, at least for lower division students.

The "compromise" establishes a centralized control for lower division courses and allows individual professors to establish their own attendance requirements for upper division courses. The three legal cuts of the present regulations is carried over into the new system for lower division courses.

One professor voiced an ardent objection to a system which leads the student to believe that it was his "vested right to skip at least three classes."

The student body president condemned the provision that unexcused absences before and after holidays and vacations result in automatic probation. There did not seem to be any logic to a more severe penalty for absence one day than another. He said that there was little accomplished in many classes the day before vacations began.

Another professor pointed out that it was "poor psychology to hold the threat of probation over the head of the student."

Discussion revealed that there was a minority on the attendance sub-committee which had advocated a different set of regulations but had been voted down in committee. A faculty member of the audience suggested that this minority group be requested to prepare a minority report. No action was taken on the suggestion at the meeting.

May Celebrants Dance 'In a Japanese Garden'

By Jean Gilmer

Guests and Willamette students who celebrate the May at the Queen's Ball will dance this year "In a Japanese Garden." Queen Polly I and her court will be honored at the annual formal dance Saturday between the hours of 8 and 12 o'clock in the gymnasium.

The ballroom will be decorated in shades of blue, fuchsia, and rose with special lighting effects being featured. A panoramic view of oriental scenes will cover the walls with the lights and filmy drapes giving a hazy effect. The bandstand will be placed on the south end of the room and will be hung with gray drapes covered with Japanese figures.

Part of the decorations will include a papier mache Buddha with burning incense. A huge pagoda before which the garden will spread will dominate the west end of the ballroom.

Marion Sparks is general chairman of the affair with Janet Stark heading the decorations committee.

Wayne Meusey's eight-piece band has been secured for the affair. Alpha Chi Omega is in charge of checking coats, and the "W" club will sell refreshments.

Shirley Ambler has ordered dance programs of blue printed with a pagoda and the theme, "In a Japanese Garden" on the cover.

Sponsors are being invited by Alice Adams. They include Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Schulze, Dr. and Mrs. George Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Egbert Oliver, Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Lovell, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gatke. Special guests invited are members of the faculty, and the housemothers of all living organizations.

In honor of the festive occasion, the women have been granted 2 o'clock special permission by the dean of women. Flowers are not in order.

Pi Phi's Hear Of Betrothal

Dr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith recently announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Sara Louise, to George Wilson Gunn of Fulton, Missouri.

News of the betrothal was revealed to the Pi Phi's Saturday night with the traditional box of chocolates. Miss Smith was a member during her two years at Willamette. She was also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Beta Alpha Gamma, sophomore women's honorary, at Willamette.

Miss Smith is now attending Randolph-Macon Woman's college at Lynchburg, Va.

Gunn, a member of Beta Theta Pi, graduated in 1947 from Davidson College at Davidson, N. C. He will graduate in June from Louisville Presbyterian seminary at Louisville, Kentucky and will be director of Presbyterian student work at the University of Georgia next year. Miss Smith plans to complete her university work at Georgia.

The wedding is planned for this summer.

SAEs Re-Paint In Preparation For Weekend

In preparation for their expected twenty guests for May Weekend, SAE's undertook the redecoration of rooms this week throughout the house.

With eighteen affirmative answers to letters sent to high school seniors in Oregon, Washington, and California, president Bob McMullen led a paint-brush brigade of a dozen men over the halls and downstairs rooms last weekend, while upstairs rooms were still in the process of being painted on Wednesday.

Tile flooring for the halls will be laid as soon as a factory shipment of the material reaches Salem, according to Hess.

AMEN CORNER

Prof. Kollman will be the guest speaker at Wesley fellowship this Sunday evening at 6:30. His topic will be "Christianity's Potential as a Social Ethic."

Phi Zeta Christo will hold their Sunday evening worship service from 6:15 to 7:15 at the First Christian church. A new and interesting discussion series is planned under the leadership of Dottie Caspell. Joan Fitts will lead the worship.

The carnival committee for Westminster fellowship will meet Sunday evening at 7. The carnival will be held May 12.

A social evening following a 6 o'clock supper is planned for members of the Canterbury club this Sunday.

AXO Tells Engagement

A large tissue-wrapped gift box delivered to Alpha Chi Omega president, Margy Powell, Tuesday evening, was the first clue to the announcement of the engagement of Barbara Langley and Gene Peyton.

When opened, the series of boxes, each one fitted inside the other, disclosed an engagement ring and a small card printed with the names, "Barbie and Gene." Miss Langley also passed the traditional box of chocolates to her sorority sisters.

The bride-elect is a sophomore major in liberal arts. Peyton, a junior, is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is a business administration major. No date has been set for the wedding.

Bearcat Hurlers . . .

Lewis Club Noses Pacific 6-5; Drop to Second as L-C Wins

"How much more exciting can a baseball game be?" was the question after Willamette sneaked past Pacific, 6-5, Friday afternoon. During the contest the lead changed five times. On Palatine Hill, however, Don Wright pitched Lewis and Clark to a 9-5 victory over the Bearcats Tuesday, putting the Pioneers in first place over the 'Cats, now tied for second with Linfield.

By winning their fourth league tilt in five starts against Pacific, the Bearcats remained in first and established themselves as prominent contenders for the pennant. Big Jim Hudson shackled the Lewis hitters effectively until the fifth when Gordy Lenz singled, made it to second on Hudson's error, and tallied on Dick Brouwer's single.

Scrivens Winner

Lou Scrivens, pitching all the way and posting his first conference win, allowed no hits until the fifth frame. His control slackened a bit in the seventh though, as Pacific put across two runs on a pair of walks, and errors by Scrivens and Dave Perlman. Willamette, undefeated this season on the tree-girdled McCulloch diamond, came back strong in the bottom of the period as left fielder Chuck Bowe hit a home run behind John Markoskie's solid single.

With the score now 3-2, in command of the 'Cats, the Badgers made another bid in the eighth and scored two runs on three walks, a sacrifice, and Kay Frizzell's single.

Matile Slows Homer

The large Willamette rooting section got in their cheers in the bottom half of the eighth when George Matile wafted the club's fourth home run in the two home games over the center field fence. Then Markoskie hit safely to first, was wild pitched to second, and scored on Brouwer's single. Lyle Carter replaced Hudson on the rubber and retired the side.

Pacific shoved across an anticlimatic fifth and tying run in the top of the final inning as Joe Moran's double sent Bob Morrison around the bases. Lou Scrivens anchored his own ball game, for in addition to only giving up three hits, he scored the winning run. He got on through Frank Buckiewicz's error. Roy Harrington's sacrifice pushed him to second and John Skimas was intentionally passed. Matile then banged a single to drive in the big counter.

Errors Hurt Bearcats

At Lewis and Clark the Bearcats got big-hearted and handed the Pioneers four unearned runs and a 9-5 upset that saw the Wagon Wheel rivals switch places as the number one and number two teams of the circuit.

Lewis got his men off to a quick start, with four runs registered in the second but a combination of errors at the wrong moments and the fact that the Pioneers were really belting the pill spelled the downfall. Lead-off man in the second was Gordy Lenz, who popped out but Dick Brouwer singled and went to second on a bobble. Next Chuck Bowe went the full count to draw a walk, and Frank Gatch-ell was safe on the third sacker's boot.

Take 4-0 Lead

As the power-laden top of the 'Cat batting order came up, Roy Harrington singled home Bowe after Brouwer had been thrown out at home. Perlman batted in Gatchell. Harrington tallied on an error and Irv Roth, for his twelfth RBI of the season, drove Perlman home with another one-baser. That gave the 'Cats a good margin of 4-0.

Freddie Wilson, nimble third baseman for L-C, opened the third with a double. The next man walked and after Bob Mislley's pop-up, Merrill Peterson hit a grounder that got away from Chuck Bowe in left field. On this error all three base runners ran in to make it 4-3. One more run in the inning tied the game up at 4-4.

Matile Hits Again

Willamette picked up a run in the fourth frame when Harrington strolled and Matile slammed a solid line drive to score him.

Clarence Fredericks, hitting a triple, a double, and a single in four times at bat, got his triple in the fifth and beat the throw at home plate after Hal Elder's single, to score for L-C.

Fredericks produced the winning run in the seventh when he doubled and scooted home on Chris Christianson's single. Mike Glenn relieved Gatchell in the eighth only to have the Pioneers tap him for three off two hits and an error and sew up the game tighter than grandma's nightcap.

Phi Delt's Cop Bowling Lead From Baxter; Sigs Move Up

The Phi Delt No. 1 bowling team, winners in the first half of intramural league play, captured the lead in the second half with a 4-0 win over the previous leaders, Baxter No. 1. The four-point loss pushed the Baxterites into second, only two points ahead of the Sig No. 2 squad that took three out of four from Baxter No. 3.

In the loop's other action, the Beta's took three out of four from Phi Delt No. 2, the Independents took three out of four from SAE No. 2, and Sigma Chi No. 1 captured all four from the Baxter No. 2 squad.

The Phi Delt-Baxter mix was a thriller, with the Phi's winning the first game by 29 pins, but eking out a single-pin win in the second game. Rog Adams, the Phi's fifth bowler, needed 27 pins in the final frame to win the game—and that's just what he got.

Three new records were set, with Adams scoring a new high individual series of 577, putting together games of 152, 202, and 223 for the mark. Rog Halliday, bowling against the Phi Delt's, bowled the year's high individual game by putting together five strikes in a row and coming through with a 229 game. The third record set saw the fast-advancing Sigma Chi No. 2 team bowl a 974 team game. Bill Ross led the record-breakers with a 205 game.

Out On A Limb

By David Card

Surprise! For a change, we're not raving about the outstanding pitching and "improving" hitting. This time it's rather poor pitching and solid hitting. Willamette's last two games have shown a few weaknesses in the mound staff, but nothing to send Coach Johnny Lewis to an early burial as the hurlers still look like the best in the Conference. It's the hitting that really deserves mention, with these last two games showing that there isn't a really weak hitter on the starting lineup, despite some rather poor averages.

Matile Continues Hitting

Boy, can that guy George Matile hit. He's boosted his average to a solid .400 besides owning a .580 slugging mark. He tops the squad in at bats, hits, average, and stolen bases, besides tying for first in homers, and holding second in runs, doubles and triples, and third in RBIs.

From the looks of things, Willamette should play all of its games at home. The Bearcats have won both home encounters, and blasted out two home runs in each, their only four of the season. . . . Those errors and walks can mean more games than the over-all hitting and pitching as shown in Willamette's last two games. Pacific gave Willamette the game with errors, although Willamette almost threw the game away on errors and walks. While the Bearcats outthit the Badgers, it was those all important errors and walks that figured in almost all of the scoring. The Lewis and Clark game was another example, with the Bearcats giving the Pioneers four unearned runs, just the margin of victory.

Hall Comes Through

Bob Hall came through with plenty of good publicity for Willamette at the Drake Relays last weekend, just exactly what Track Coach Chester Stackhouse was looking for. Hall did very well to take fourth, with the conditions as they were and the type of competition that he was up against. Let's hope that several more Bearcats can follow in Hall's footsteps in the future dates.

There's at least 150 potential softball players that are getting madder by the day at the weather. Oh! Man Weather has kept the mural softballers under wraps most of the time lately and those games that have been played were none the better for a slippery field. . . . "Terrible" Ted Mertz sure does score those points in the track meets! Mertz has scored 68 5/6 with Vern Shangle in second with 20 3/4, Rod Beals third with 17, Bob Hall and Babe Maudlin fourth with 15, Al Fedje sixth with 11 7/12, George Porter, Bob Miller, and Newt Kekahio seventh with 10, and Scott Thompson tenth with 9 1/2.

Here and There . . .

Surprise of the week—when Lewis and Clark track coach Eldon Fix allowed Bob Hall's javelin heave at the Drake Relays to count in the Lewis and Clark-Willamette meet. That WU coach, Chester Stackhouse, sure has that gift of gab. . . . We're wondering what has happened to Larry O'Dell and "Shoes" Olson. Both have fine pitching records up to date. Both were lettermen last year, but haven't seen hardly any action so far this year. Coach Johnny Lewis has a very large and competent hurling staff, but whether or not it is strong enough to eliminate these two is a matter of debate.

Baxter hall and the Sweat Sox captured the only intramural softball tilts played this week. The full schedule of play was broken up by wet grounds but no rain before game-time on Tuesday, May 2, permitted the teams to vie at the scheduled 4 o'clock hour.

The Baxter men met the Phi Delt and came out on top by a 14-9 margin, collecting 14 hits off Phi pitcher Steve Faminow. Baxter pitcher Doug Logue gave up 10 blows to the Phi's, mostly in the first three innings.

The Sweat Sox led off with a 15-run onslaught against the Law School in the first inning and led 15-1 at the end of the second frame. Then Darrell Lewis blanked the Lawyers and the Sweat Sox picked up eight more tallies to come out with a 23-1 victory. The batteries were Daldimar Myhre and George Gross for the Law nine and Lewis and Ray Myers for the S-Sox.

Baxter Hall led 8-5 after the second inning in the Phi Delt-Baxter tilt after trailing 5-4 at the end of the first. The Phis tied up the score at eight all to mark the end of the third. From then on the Phis couldn't put a run across until a last inning rally produced a singleton with two away.

L-C Thinclads Spike Jasons

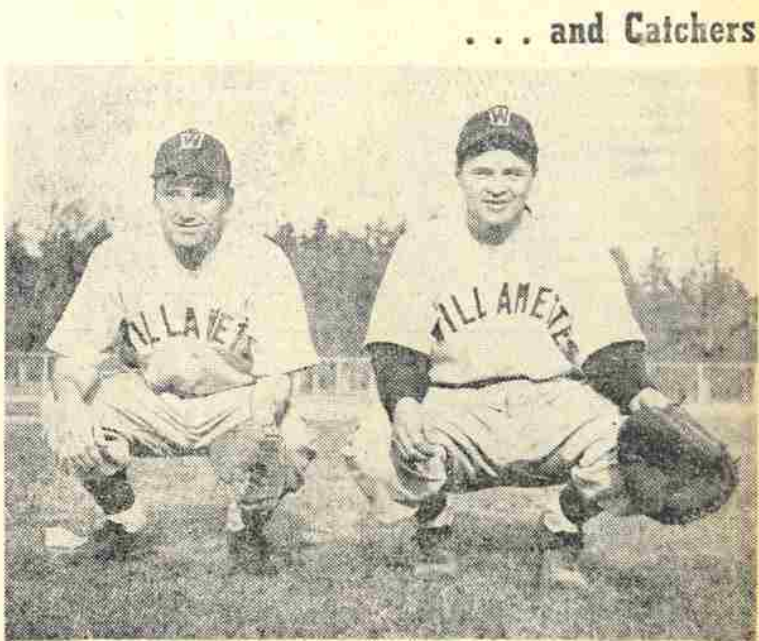

The Bearcats thinclads succumbed at the hands of the Lewis and Clark Pioneers, 91 1/2 to 39 1/2, at Bush's pasture Friday afternoon. This was the Bearcats' first dual defeat of the season and the Pioneer's fifth straight win.

The Lewis and Clark trackers scored 11 out of possible 15 first places, but it was up to Willamette's Ted Mertz to bring in high point honors with 13 1/2 counters. Mertz won both hurdle races, took second in the hundred and a tie for third in the high jump.

The Pioneers were paced by Deane Moore, who copped the mile and half-mile plus a lap on the winning relay team to total 11 1/2 points. LC also had two others who scored double wins, Bud White in the century and furlong, and Ray Cromer in the shot and discus.

The Willamette team missed Bob Hill, star javelin tosser, who was in Des Moines, Iowa, competing in the Drake Relays. But it was mutually agreed by both coaches, Eldon Fix of Lewis and Clark and Chester Stackhouse, that Hall's throw in the Relays would be included in the summaries of Friday's meet.

Jason, PU Net Squads to Play

Losers to OSC and victors for the second time over Linfield college, the Willamette tennis squad will travel to Pacific university today to face the Badger netters. Tomorrow will see them back in action on the Willamette courts when they tangle with the University of Montana.

The Bearcat netmen journeyed to Corvallis last Friday and took it on the chin as Oregon State college scored an 8 to 0 clean sweep over Les Sparks' crew. The local netters found the going easier here Tuesday when they scored their second 4-3 triumph over Linfield.

Willamette vs. Linfield: singles: Conners (W), defeated Gassaway (L), 6-4, 2-6, 6-3; McCoy (W), defeated Stephens (L), 6-4, 6-3; Lorenz (W), defeated Grundhauser (L), 6-4, 8-6; Miles (W), defeated Winterstein (L), 6-4, 2-6, 6-1; Lapp (L), defeated Unruh (W), 6-4, 6-4. Doubles: Gassaway-Stephens (L), defeated McCoy-Miles (W), 7-5, 6-2.

Hall Fourth at Drake Relays

Willamette's ace javelin hurler, Bob Hall, came through with a fourth place in the annual Drake relays held at Des Moines last Friday and Saturday. Tobin Rote of Rice Institute won the event with a toss of 195 feet 5½ inches, while Hall threw the spear 183 feet 7¾ inches.

The weather all through the meet was poor and the field was virtually a quagmire by the time Hall, who was in the second heat, had a chance to throw. The field was quite a disadvantage to all of the competitors, some of whom—including Hall—have flirted with, or surpassed, the 200-foot mark.

Hall was Willamette's first track entry in a meet which collected some of the country's best competition, and he plans to follow up this outstanding example by entering the district AAU meet which will be held in Portland June 3.

Others to place in the javelin were Ray Marek, Texas, with a throw of 194 feet 7 inches, good for second, and Delfs Pickarts, Santa Barbara, third with a 188 foot 3¾ inch throw.

Track Meet With Whitman Feature Of May Weekend

By Frank Winship

This Saturday afternoon, Willamette's thinclads will run against the Whitman Missionaries in one of the outstanding events of May Weekend. This dual meet will be held at Bush's pasture and the field events are slated to start at 2:15, with the running events to begin 30 minutes later.

Saturday's meet will be the last home appearance for the Bearcats, as their next outing will be in the Conference meet at Walla Walla, which is scheduled for May 20.

The Whit's are rated very strong in the sprints, but are reported to be quite weak in the distance and the weights. Although exact reports on their strength are not available, they have been rated about even with the Bearcats as a team. Coach Chester Stackhouse said, "Saturday's meet should be about the best spectator meet of any so far seen this season, as both teams are rated very evenly and there should be many close races."

Home Game Thursday

The next Willamette home baseball game will be with Portland U. Thursday, May 11.

Bearcat Divotmen Tackle PU Today

Jim Johnson's Willamette golf team, sporting a record of two wins, two losses, and one tie, will travel to Forest Grove today where they will face the Pacific university Badgers.

Last Friday, the local divotmen were soundly whacked by a superior Portland university crew, 15½ to 1½.

Bearcats got back into winning form Tuesday when they leveled Linfield college, 13½ to 4½. Wittenberg was low for both sides with a 74 round.

Imre Kovacs Attacks Fascist and Communist Education in Chapel State, U.N. Internships Open To Qualified Local Students

Labeling fascist and communist educational systems "education for death," Imre Kovacs declares that our American educational system is "education for life."

Speaking in Tuesday chapel, Kovacs, a member of the Knife and Fork Club International and a native of Hungary, contrasted vividly the two educational systems.

"Education for death" includes always looking into the past to discover the nation's past glory, he said. Its students are trained to remember what they are told and not to think for themselves, explained Kovacs. Adding to his list of characteristics of education for death, Kovacs also stated that it teaches people to fear and to be good subjects rather than good citizens.

"Education for life," on the other hand, Kovacs believes, teaches a number of useful things. It teaches equality and sharing, rather than superiority and grabbing, he said, and it praises rather than condemns. Kovacs stated that America is too busy making history to look back at past times and events.

Kovacs informed his attentive audience that he is against the developing of new and powerful weapons to maintain the peace. As he sees it, the solution lies in prayer and the belief in ideas and ideals as contrasted to weapons.

Kovacs suggested that citizens write to the President, the secretary of state, or even Joe Stalin to offer their suggestions for peace, whether these suggestions be for a United Nations police force, a United States of Europe, or other ideas.

In one of several evidences of his good sense of humor, Kovacs declared that he himself has written 11 letters to Stalin and that, "The son of a gun hasn't answered any of them yet!"

Competition for Jobs Stiffens As College Seniors Graduate

Stiffest competition for jobs among college graduates in Oregon for this year in a decade was predicted by the Oregon State unemployment commission this week.

With thousands of seniors from Oregon institutions of higher learning expected to complicate the job situation in June, that commission began the task of readying its offices for the rush of employment demands. At least half of the students will be seeking active employment, says the Multnomah county veterans committee, which recently conducted a poll on the subject.

Twenty-nine local employment offices in the state will be responsible for much of the hiring, though a fair-sized portion of the graduates will have positions before graduating. The percentage of the jobs gained prior to graduation, however, was reported to be diminishing as an over supply of prospective employees became more and more evident.

"As a clearing house for employers adding to their forces and for thousands of workers just entering the labor market, the employment service hopes to broaden its area of usefulness," commented Earl Lovell, state director for the group.

At several offices, the pre-registration of graduates is already being taken, and the information will be available to employers for easier hiring purposes. Special attention will be awarded to veterans, who will be almost two-thirds of the number.

Speech Tourney Winners to Divide Paul Doney Prize

The Paul H. Doney speech contest will be held in the gymnasium on May 18 at 10 o'clock and is open to all students on the campus who are interested. Students who wish to compete should register with Prof. Ruane Hill of the speech department by May 11.

The income from $1000 is awarded annually to the students whose orations, given each spring in public, are deemed first and second in excellence of thought, composition and delivery, by judges selected by the president of the university. The winner of first place shall receive two-thirds and the winner of second place shall receive one-third of the net income.

Last year the prize money was won by Frank Lockman and Robert Sayre.

The Paul H. Doney Prize was presented to the University by Doctor and Mrs. Carl G. Doney. Doctor Doney was President of Willamette from 1915 to 1934.

Dorm Reservations

Students wishing to live in one of the dormitories next year are requested by Dean Raymond A. Withey to file application forms in the office of the dean of students before May 15, in order to reserve rooms.

After that date all remaining rooms will be assigned to incoming students, said Withey.

Seniors to Register For Future Jobs

A representative of the Oregon State Employment service will be in Eaton, room 21, at 3 p. m. Wednesday, May 10, to register graduating seniors who are still in need of employment of any kind.

Out of state students may register at this time for work in their home state, since registration forms signed here, can be sent to any office in the United States.

With employment being as difficult to obtain as it is at the present time, Registrar Harold Jory urges students to take advantage of this opportunity.

Ward's Manager To See Seniors

K. A. Brooks, district manager for Montgomery, Ward, will be in the registrar's office Friday, May 12, at 9 a. m., to interview students interested in securing employment with the company, said Harold Jory, registrar.

Preliminary application forms are available in the registrar's office and should be completed before the interview with Brooks, said Jory.

The interviews will be individual and students must make appointments in the registrar's office prior to the talks.

Jean Farquharson, pianist, and Willis Gates, violinist, will be presented in a 30-minute broadcast over station KOAC Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Miss Farquharson and Gates will perform two sonatas for violin and piano during the program, one in a series of programs being sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

A sonata by Schubert and one by Hindesmith will comprise the program for the broadcast. Gates and Miss Farquharson recently included these two sonatas in a recital they presented in Waller hall auditorium.

This broadcast will mark the fifteenth in the series of 16 varied programs being presented over KOAC by the AAUW under the title, "The World Is Our Affair."

Early Registration To Start May 22 According to Jory

Advanced registration for the 1950-51 school year will begin May 22 and continue until May 27, according to Registrar Harold Jory.

Students must obtain the signatures of the professors whose classes they will be attending next year on the trial study cards. These cards must also be signed by the advisors and the Dean of Students or the Dean of Women.

Those who want to take Classical Epic and Drama during the fall semester and Romance and Fiction the second semester, with Dr. Pearce, in order to fill their language requirement, are especially asked to sign up during registration. First preference will be given to Juniors and Seniors.

The new catalogues are now available in the Registrar's office.

The topic of the conference was "The Near East." Don Cote was the main speaker on the subject of "The Importance of the Near East in World Affairs." Nine schools participated: Reed, Multnomah, Vanport, Lewis and

Humor Magazine To Appear Here By First of June

The latest issue of the "Puritan," the campus humor magazine, will be published and on the stands by June 1st, according to John Piper, editor.

"It is to be compact, about 20 pages in size and will be packed with punch," commented Piper, "and this issue will be new and completely different than the earlier issue, with stories by Bob Hearn, Bob DeBord and Nancy Lawson." There will be many stories with a take-off on the Willamette student of 1960 and a poet's corner, he said.

Piper further stated that it is hope that it will be possible to publish more than two issues next year.

Of special interest will be the fourth group of songs which includes three numbers from "South Pacific." These songs are "Some Enchanted Evening," "Bali Ha'i," and "Younger than Springtime." The final number in this group will be the title song from the hit musical, "Oklahoma."

Between choir groups Betty Jean Mullin and Bob Gwinn will sing light opera duets. Ralph Dobbs will perform four numbers one the piano.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets to the concert will go toward Rotary club scholarships for Willamette university students. Last year six scholarships covering full tuition were awarded students by the Rotary club.
