VOL. XXXVI—No. 12. WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, SALEM, OREGON, DECEMBER 17, 1924 PRICE FIVE CENTS

EXCEPTIONAL SCHEDULES ARE WILLAMETTE'S

N. W. Conference Yields Wonderful Repetoire of Games to W. U.

LARGE GUARANTEES MADE

Basketball Season Includes U. of S. C., U. of O., Gonzaga, U. of I., U. of W., College of Pacific

As a turning point in the athletic relations of Willamette University, Coach Rathbun has brought back to us one of the most excellent of schedules both in basketball and football, a schedule that proved one of the features of a two day session of the Northwestern Athletic Conference which closed Saturday in Portland. The high lights of the schedule are basketball games here with the University of Southern California and the College of the Pacific of Stockton, California, and for next year, football games with the University of Washington at Seattle; O. A. C., at Corvallis; U. of Oregon at Salem; University of Southern California at Los Angeles; and on Thanksgiving day, the College of the Pacific at Stockton, California. These two southern schools are Methodist institutions and our good luck in arranging for athletic relations with them is a great step in the furthering intimate friendship from many standpoints. The coach and Willamette regards the entire schedule as the most promising ever assembled for the Bearcats.

Fourteen basket ball games have been definitely settled and several are yet tentative. The hoop season includes games with every school in the northwest conference in addition to schools to be played before the home season commences.

During the week of the 29th of December the squad will go on a barn-storming trip to get the benefit of hard practice before starting the stiff schedule. This tour will center around Portland and will include games with Town and Athletic Clubs. Among these will be the Multnomah Club, Columbia Club, Astoria, and two games with Westport Athletic Club. This journey is strictly a preliminary training trip. It is not a question of winning or losing, but primary for shaping the players into condition.

Although the dates of the U. S. C. and College of the Pacific contest are still tentative, it is practically certain that the former will meet Willamette here Feb. 27, while the latter school has yet to arrange a time. In addition to playing the Bearcats, Southern California, while up north, meets Oregon, O. A. C., and U. of Washington.

The northwest athletic conference dispersed Saturday afternoon with all representatives well satisfied. Among the most pleased was Coach Rathbun, and he should be with such a wonderful schedule in his hands. Rumors published by Portland papers to the effect that the representatives of the "little five" were to withdraw and formulate a new con-

HOWARD WINS RHODES SCHOLARSHIP HONOR

Clinton Newton Howard was chosen as Oregon's representative for the years 1925-'28 from the seven applicants for the Rhodes scholarship. He was selected by Professor Noble of Reed College; Dean Dyment of the University of Oregon chairman; Professor Barnes of the University of Oregon, and Professor Harrison of the University of Washington. Howard, who was formerly a Portland boy, is a senior at University of Oregon.

Literature and journalism are his chief pursuits. He has previously qualified himself in the journalistic line as editor of the Sunday Emerald and as a feature writer of Lemon Punch.

The scholarship committee selects the men on the basis of leadership, general manhood, scholastic excellence, and athletic prowess. The Rhodes award carries with it an annual stipend of $1750 which is to cover his expenses for the three years.

The two men representing Willamette were Leland Chapin, senior, and Sheldon Sackett, alumnus.

Mr. Howard will go to his Oxford residence in October, 1925.

CALLOW SPEAKS ON CHRISTIAN ATHLETICS

One of the best speeches of the series which is being given under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. was given last Wednesday evening in the chapel by Rusty Callow, the man who coached the University of Washington crew to two national championships during the past two seasons. In his address he emphasized the fact that the majority of the sport champions of today are Christian men.

FOURTEEN DELEGATES TO ATTEND ASILOMAR

The 15 Willamette students who will go to Asilomar to the Western American Student Convention are: Merle Bonney, Dwight Findley, Paul Johnson, Louis Oberson, Thomas Roe, Morrison Handsaker, Percy Hammond, Howard Mort, Cedric Chang, Morri Yamashita, Shingora Maramota, Wayne Crow, Jack Vinson, Clarence Philips, and Paul Buckley.

Other students also volunteered for the journey, but unfortunately Willamette's quota is limited.

College men from Vancouver, B. C., to Mexico City, and the Rockies to Hawaii will assemble in conference from Dec. 27, to Jan. 3, to discuss moral, civic and inter-racial problems, the responsibilities of Christian men in these matters, and the value of Christian service.

In the list of speakers at the conference will be some of the foremost Christian thinkers of the world today, and it will include Bishop Francis McConnell, Dr. James X. Francis, Harrison Elliot, Francis Miller, and Sherwood Eddy.

Most of the Willamette delegates are depending upon Fords to take them to Asilomar, but Jack Vinson and Clarence Philips will start out on foot, hoping to catch rides.

FRESHMAN MESSAGE

The Class of '28 in this issue, presented in accordance with tradition, has attempted to summarize the sentiment and attitude of the Class as a whole toward Willamette U. We have endeavored not only to put out a good news sheet, but also to convey to members of the Student-Body and faculty some of our impressions. And we hope that our formal bow will be as well received as our former manifestations.

We are glad to be at Willamette, for it has given us the vision of the possibilities ahead. And we entreat Dean Alden and the upper-classmen to bear with us in our numerous class meetings, and in our friendly arguments with the Sophs, because through these things we have come to find a loyalty for old Willamette.

—CHAS. W. SWAN.

DUBACH TO SPEAK TOMORROW NIGHT

A Christmas message by Dr. U. G. Dubach, dean of men at O. A. C., will be the main event at the regular annual joint Christmas meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the chapel. Dr. Dubach who is an ex-president of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association was a very popular speaker at the Y. M. C. A. conference at Seabeck in 1922 and 1923. He has traveled extensively in South America and is, all together, a man of very wide experience. He is the teacher of a men's Sunday school class of 125 members at one of the Corvallis churches. The membership of this class—one of the largest in the state attests to his popularity with young people.

Preceding his message there will be about 20 minutes devoted to the singing of Christmas carols. Other special music of a Christmas nature will be given.

All students are especially urged to attend this meeting as message given by Dr. Dubach is of direct benefit and value.

Matthews Again Receives Invitation to Teach at Stanford Summer School

Professor James T. Matthews has for the third time been invited to teach at Stanford University in the summer school. It has been the custom at Stanford to extend invitations to professors of exceptional ability on the coast. For Professor Matthews to receive an invitation three times in succession is indeed a tribute to his capabilities.

COED DEBATE SQUAD TO BE CHOSEN TODAY

Nadie Strayer and Caroline Tallman Will Meet Flora Beiber and Elizabeth Fairchild in Final Tryout

The woman's debate tryouts will be completed today when Nadie Strayer and Caroline Tallman meet Flora Belber and Elizabeth Fairchild.

The other contestants have already debated—Nadie Strayer and Caroline Tallman against Elaine Clower and Volena Jenks on Wednesday and Ella Hop Lee and Cynthia Pier against Rose Wetherell and Hazel Newhouse on Thursday.

Prof. Rahskopf will probably announce the personnel of the team sometime during the latter part of this week.

The question used for the tryouts is: Resolved, That Japanese should be allowed to enter the United States under the same conditions as those citizens of countries now allowed a quota.

ALPHA PSIS WILL BATTLE SIGS THURS.

MUS DEFEAT PHI KAPPS

Inter-Fraternity Hoopsters Vie For Supremacy

The inter-fraternity hoop games narrow down to the Alpha Psi Delta and Sigma Tau striving to win first place honors. At least it seems safe to so predict from the standpoint of the ability that has been so far displayed and also that of popular opinion. Because of the fact that Christmas vacation begins Friday afternoon the championship games will be played Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Alpha Psis have been showing good form and are doped to win the title, but it is also known that the Sigma Tau have not displayed their best brand of basketball yet, conserving it, no doubt for the final struggle. Another factor developing from the easy manner in which the Epsilon Delta Mu defeated the strong Phi Kappa Pi outfit Monday, may result in some sort of a tie which will necessitate an extra game to settle the dispute.

Monday the Alpha Psis, playing true to form and with a great increase in passing and team work, defeated the Kappa Gamma Rho 24-7. During the last quarter Steincipher substituted his second team and they made two points to the same number of tallies converted by the Kappa Gammas. A record crowd watched the game and rooters for both houses were plentiful.

Monday at 5 o'clock the Epsilon Delta Mu decisively defeated the Phi Kappas 12-6. The game was still more interesting than the one before, being more evenly matched. However, a diminutive little chap by the name of Roundtree played a flashy game and was responsible for their victory. He was here, there and everywhere and consequently makes his team a factor to be reckoned with in the finals.

The games to be played Wednesday afternoon are the Sigma Taus vs Epsilon Delta Mu, at 4 o'clock and the Phi Kappa Pi vs Kappa Gamma Rho at 5 o'clock

Thursday at 4 o'clock if all goes

MONMOUTH QUINTET TROUNCED BY W. U.

Practice Game Gives Bearcats Much Needed Practice—Fasnacht High Point Man

All of the Willamette basketball candidates had an opportunity to play against the Oregon Normal five of Monmouth last Thursday evening when the two teams met at the W. U. gym for a practice game, Willamette winning 24-15.

Coach Rathbun ran in three full teams against Monmouth. With the exception of the regulars, which he was testing as a unit, his purpose was to observe the merits of the individual players under fire.

Whether or not the coach was pleased the writer is unimformed but it was evident from the demonstrations of the fans that they were.

Fasnacht and Mast, forwards, scored fourteen points together, Fozzy being a high point man with 8 tallies. Mudra, playing as center in the last quarter, scored two neat baskets in a short time. Bill was a giant among the others and was a hard man to get by, though he has not enough experience to solve all the intricacies of the game. Mann, Desart, Emmel and Johnson, though small, are flashy and fast on their feet and very much at home on the hardwood. Poling, Ericson and Hartley showed up as big leaguers, going strong all the time they were in the game. The regulars played half the game, the first and third quarters.

The Normal men have a good team this season and gave the Bearcats a run for their score although Rathbun made no effort to run up points on them. "Red" Ray and McDowel, forward and center for the teachers, each played a nice game, Ray scoring six points.

The teams lined up as follows:

Monmouth Normal—(15) Ray, f; Condit, f; McDowel, c; Baird, g; Eggleston, g; Arnold, Butler and Beck, subs.

Willamette University (24)—Mast, f; Fasnacht, f; Hartley, c; Ericson, g; Poling, g. Subs—Mann, Emmel, Mudra, Walsh, Stolzheise, Blatchford, Haines, Adams, Johnson, Desart.

Thursday night at 8 o'clock Willamette University plays Albany College in the gym. Albany is a college that has always played the Bearcats and ranks with the smaller schools and normal institutions. Those of you that witnessed Willamette vs. Monmouth teachers, know that it was an interesting game and Albany should display a similar fight.

The coach exceedingly desires to have out at the game a big crowd of rooters so as to cheer our team and let them know that we are praying for a championship.

CHORUS HERE UNDER AUSPICES OF W. U.

The premier musical event of the season is the concert to be given by the Rhonda male chorus. This glee club is not only famed as a group but has won individual recognition as well. Last spring they won the $1000 prize for first honors in the most widespread musical event of its kind ever held in this country. Seperately, four of ther members of Hinteddfod fame, two well known in opera, and one distinguished in oratorio.

They are offering an unusual repertoire of quartets, duets, and trios. They are coming under the auspices of the Willamette Glee club at the Armory, Wednesday night.

The Toronto Telegram says of them: "More finished male voices singing than theirs we have rarely heard, and never in Toronto."

CONTRACT GIVEN TO KOKE-TIFFANY

The Koke-Tiffany Co., of Eugene received the contract for the printing and binding of this year's Wallulah and copy work, will be sent in at once in order to get the work under way. Last year the Statesman Publishing company printed the book.

"Pictures may still be taken between January 5th and 18th; receipts may still be secured until those dates," says Loyal Warner manager of the annual. "We want at least 400 pictures taken but to date only 375 pictures have been taken."

Plans this year include the use of individual pictures for all fraternities, sororities and societies, and a blue Malloy cover of the bookbound type. Work is being rushed in order that the annual may be issued on May Day. The sale of the Wallulah tickets is slated to begin about the middle of February.

Two thousand dollars, proceeds of the sale of real estate presented to the University of Oregon, has been devoted to the purchase of books for the Pauline Potter Memorial collection.

GIRLS' GLEE ENTERTAIN TODAY'S CHAPEL

A concert was presented by the Willamette Ladies Glee club in chapel today. The program consisted of Nevin's, "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," and two of Dean Taylor's Scotch selections, "Whistle My Lad," and "Rantin' Rovin' Robin." These songs are representative of the varied repertoire which the girls are preparing for their tour.

This trip is planned for the spring vacation and will include towns along the Columbia Highway and in southern and central Washington.

DE MOLAYS PRESENT YANKEE FOURFLUSHER

Chemeketa Chapter of De Molay will present its third annual play, Dec. 16 and 17, at the Grand theatre.

The play, "The Yankee Fourflusher," is a three act comedy of American home life. It centers around the character of Archie Snyder, a perfectly consistent egotist, who has a very pronounced opinion of himself. Archie is such a consistent liar, that you cannot help but admire him. His humor and philosophy grow out of his relations to the people he meets. Archie is never discouraged, when he fails in some endeavor, he rebounds back to his old self again and is ready to try again. The part of Archie is interpreted by Harold Mero. Mero has proved himself capable of protraying humorous parts, since he has always been the outstanding character in the many plays in which he has participated.

Professor Rahskopf is coaching the play. His ability to produce a successful play is well known by Willamette students.

The cast for the play is as follows:

Archie Snyder.....Harold Mero
Mr. Hunter.....Keith Brown
Ben Hunter.....Willard Brown

DEBATE SQUAD TO MEET WEST VIRGINIA HERE

Contracts Include U. of Southern California and College of Idaho

U. OF B. C. IS PROSPECT

Debate Squad of Three to Be Selected After Holidays

Contracts have been signed with three colleges: University of Southern California, University of West Virginia and College of Idaho. Willamette university will debate University of West Virginia, which is considered one of the strongest debating universities in America, on the proposition, "Resolved, that congress be empowered by a two-thirds vote to re-enact laws declared unconstitutional by the supreme court." The debate will be held at Salem Saturday evening, February 7th. Willamette will uphold the negative side of the proposition. The other colleges which the Willamette debate squad will meet on its tour are: College of Puget Sound in a dual debate, Gooding College, University of Wyoming, University of Denver, Colorado College, Stanford university, University of Redlands, College of the Pacific.

The men who are to make the college team will not be selected until after the holidays. The number of the men turning out for debate has been narrowed down to six men, three of whom will make the debate squad which will make the southern tour. The men turning out are: Ward Southworth, Victor Carlson, Joel Berreman, James McClintock, Rawson Chapin and Charles Redding.

Negotiations are being made with University of British Columbia for an international debate and also with Washington State college. It is also possible that a debate will be held with Wheaton College of Wheaton, Illinois. Willamette university met the debate team of Wheaton college two years ago and defeated it.

Quartette To Make Concert Tour Thru Southern Oregon

Due to many calls of Willamette University entertainments, caused by the Glee club tour last year, the quartet will make a concert tour during the holidays. The quartet which is made up of Milton Gralapp, first tenor; Donald Heath, second tenor; Lloyd Thompson, baritone, and Joe Nee, second bass. Lloyd Waltz will be accompanist and reader. The trip, which begins Dec. 20th, includes the following towns: Wilbur, Sutherlin, Roseburg, Marshfield, Bandon, Myrtle Point, Rogue River, Grants Pass, and Medford.

ANNIE LAURIE COLUMN NECESSARY CO-ED NEEDS PROFESSIONAL ADVICE

There has been much sentiment lately about having an "Annie Laurie" column in the Collegian. The writer feels it is absolutely necessary. For instance, there is the young girl who had been reading about the germs in mustaches, and so she wrote this important and very personal letter to one Annie Laurie Dear A. L.:

Is it more sanitary to kiss a young man with a mustache, on his forehead?

Brokenhearted.

Now that is very important. Everyone comes to a place like that. Is it or not? One ought to know.

If Joe Long could have only written to the "Advice to the Lovelorn," he would not have made the fatal mistake of forgetting to part with Helen at the Gym door Thursday. Annie would have told him that he shouldn't stand in the dark balcony with his date.

There are plenty of others that could use the column, like Corry, Keith, and Phil.

Now the proposed editor of the column told me of some absolutely original advice she thought of about kissing. If any of the fellows or girls write in and ask if it's all right to have or receive a kiss once in a while they will receive this novel and light-spreading advice.

Dear Bobbed-head:

No, my dear, you should not allow a boy to kiss you. This privilege should be held for engagement.

Now where could you get first-hand information like that? I think we all ought to vote that Annie Laurie come to the Collegian.

"LEAP YEAR HAS CAME," SAY BOYS DAMSELS STEP TWO SHIEKS APIECE

More credit to the girls! May they end every leap year with as illustrous a record as the one "that has thus far been so nobly advanced." In the past not only has each fair damsel dutifully escorted a young man "out" for the evening, and incidentally wasted several hard earned shekels, but they have recently surpassed all our wildest hopes and expectations. For, it is rumored in certain select circles that a few girls each dated two men for the same party—same car, 'n everything. Courage? No, rather I should term it a glorious, foolhardy risk. Furthermore I am informed that one of the unfortunate couple of boys were wholly unaware of the disastrous fate confronting them, and each was complimenting himself on the wisdom and discrimination of the girl's choice—when (all states of bliss end some time or another) the aforementioned males chanced to swap the secret of who his date was with.

It is best that we leave them thus. They say that youth can survive everything. I have never realized the true worth of that statement before. So it was that after all the final blows were administered, each decided that one can go through anything once. One can. Incidently I wonder if they drew straws as to who was to conduct the final good-nite ceremonies? May the best man win! And the girl? Let us give three rousing cheers for the gallant creature. Yea, verily.

THE SUPREME GIFT

The Christmas season is approaching. Many are going home to have reunions with their loved ones, to have good times, and to receive gifts of value. All these things make us happy. They are desired by everybody. Yet there is one other gift which ranks higher on the list of desired objects. If it were possible for each one of us to receive a higher conception of truth, honesty, integrity of character, a love for fellowmen, and a tolerance for another's views—that would be the gift supreme.

TO THE FRESHMEN

Freshmen, you are the future hope of the school. You are looked upon today by the upperclassmen, the faculty, and your own parents, as tomorrow's leaders of Willamette. More than that, as you build your foundation now, so you will build your structure, your after life, tomorrow.

Do your best for yourselves, your class and your school. Go out for school activities—debate, newspaper work, oratory, managerial positions, and perfect your poise and capabilities. Dig in on your studies and learn to apply that rare art of perseverance. Live rightly, cleanly, and humanly, and you increase your finer perceptions of life. Do these things and you bring renown and glory to Old Willamette. Freshmen, with you rest for the next four years the hopes and prayers of your fathers and mothers and faculty. Merit their regard, and DO YOUR BEST.

WE CAN'T ALL THINK ALIKE

——"Unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one."

Once upon a time, some twenty years or more ago, a learned professor—of Willamette— said, "Some people can't think; you know a cat can't think, and some people are just like cats." And so it is today. There are some people who can't think.

Some people can think a little. To them has been given one talent. Some people can think a bit. To them have been given many talents.

To further complicate this thinking business, we may have observed that some people are raised one way, and some another. Some people have had one set of experiences in their lives, and some another. Some people have had one set of ancestors with their experiences, and some have had another set of ancestors with an entirely different category of experiences.

Therefore, how can it be expected that different people with different environments, different experiences, different antecedents, and with different temperaments should think out the same ideas along the same lines of thought, from the same viewpoints. IT CAN'T BE DONE.

MORE AND BETTER PLAYS

This year the public speaking classes have undertaken to present eight different plays. This in itself is an arduous undertaking. What is equally important will be the problem of interesting the students of Willamette University in their progress, welfare, and presentation.

Willamette needs more plays. It is an inherent trait in human nature to crave recreation, and it is far better that the school supply its own entertainment than to either prohibit certain forms of entertainment or to specify certain kinds at certain times.

Up to this year only the Junior Class play at the end of the year has been the outstanding, truly cultural entertainment offered.

Other colleges have long established the custom of presenting modern plays with student talent. This is a worthwhile custom that would merit the consideration and heartiest commendation of the students and the faculty.

PADDLING

Is it right or just that the freshmen be paddled with a four-foot paddle for not wearing their little green caps? Yes, of course it is. Traditions are made to be upheld, and the breaker of one of Willamette's oldest and longest traditions merits punishment. In childhood days we were all punished for breaking some command of our parents or for making a social blunder. It was and still is the custom of parents to chastize more or less drastically the outbreaks of their children. The freshmen are the children of Willamette University; and they have known for two-and-one-half months that they would receive five vigorous spats for not wearing the regulation green sky-pieces. At this late date more severe punishment has been meted out to the culprits. You can see that this is practically the only way by which proper respect will be stimulated for the time-honored tradition.

Wear your green caps this year, freshmen, and next year it will be your turn to sail into "those awfully green freshmen."

WEBS REVERT TO FORMS OF SUPPRESSED DESIRES

If that far famed Darwin had been at the Willamette chapel last Wednesday, he would have gone away with a satisfied feeling that all of his ideas had been completely verified. It is more or less remarkable that human beings could act the way the Websterian pledges did, but what causes us to wonder is how human minds could think of anything so far-reaching and precocious. We have no doubt that they originated it among themselves—no one else in the University could—but we wonder whether this involves the theory of suppressed desires or not.

What really happened was that 25 Web pledges came up on the chapel platform and dramatized a fairly accurate conception of historic days.

We were rather surprised that the pledges should think of anything so far back, but when, as casual observers, we chanced to look in on the Web initiation, we know that the pledges just inherited it.

SCHEDULE IS GOOD

ference were proved to be without foundation.

However, on order to work out a system of closer cooperation in athletic welfare between Willamette University, Pacific University, College of Puget Sound, Whitman College, and the College of Idaho, a committee composed of Professor F. M. Erickson, of Willamette, chairman; Professor Davies, of Whitman, and Dean Condon of the U. of Washington were so delegated.

It is thought by sport critics that this action may result in the development of a separate group or a sub- division of the present northwest conference. Last year, before this same committee, the College of Puget Sound made its petition for admission to membership in the northwest conference. Although the committee reported favorably on the petitioning school this year, it was voted to hold action in abeyance until the new plan of closer cooperation develops. Consequently C. P. S. will receive another report next year.

With everyone at Willamette as well as town supporters well pleased with Rathbun's report, it is simply up to the school to make good. In basketball, this year's aggregation looks especially fine and with this practice during Christmas vacation they should be rounded into shape for the conference games. As for football it is useless to predict but it is certain that in order to put out a team that will be able to stand up in front of the severe buffeting that they will naturally receive in the four big games, it is imperative that the coach develop all football ability available.

The home schedule of basketball games is:

January 24, U. of Oregon; Jan. 28, Whitman College; Jan. 29, U. of Washington; Feb. 10, U. of Idaho; Feb. 12, W. S. C.; Feb. 14, Gonzaga; Feb. 19, College of Puget Sound; February 23, O. A. C.; Feb. 26, Pacific U.; Feb. 27, U. of Southern California. Dates with the College of the Pacific, Linfield and Montana have not been definitely set as yet, but will probably appear later. Away from home the quintet meets Whitman College, U. of Washington, C. P. S., Pacific U., Feb. 16 and others.

The 1925 gridiron program is as follows:

Sept. 26, U. of Washington, at Seattle; Oct. 3, O. A. C., at Corvallis; Oct. 10, U. of Southern California at Los Angeles; Oct. 24, C. of Puget Sound at Tacoma; Oct. 31, Whitman College at Salem; Nov. 7, U. of Oregon at Salem; Thanksgiving day, College of the Pacific at Stockton. Suitable contests will be arranged later to fill the open dates.

CALLOW SPEAKS

"It takes more than muscle to win athletic contests today," he said. "It takes religion and morals. Any man who is skeptical in religious matters is a doubtful asset to a team since this is sure to react on his moral nature and so directly upon his athletic ability. The ideal college life has four phases: Physical exercise of some kind, association with fellow students, studies, and a firm stand for God and country. Of these the fellowship and association with fellow students is most important."

Mr. Callow is a member of that new school of coaching which emphasizes the necessity of a strong moral and religious life as good physical conditions for winning contests. Furthermore, the results he has attained certainly speak well for his system.

Mr. Callow was brought here through the efforts of Hugh Bell, vice-president of the University Y. M. C. A. This organization also paid all the expenses connected with his trip.

The main point in Mr. Callow's talk at the meeting of the Willamette Discussion club on Wednesday evening, was that the moral standards of the coaches of inter-collegiate sports are on the upgrade and that the intense commercialism of former days is gradually being abolished.

CHARMING CO-ED INNOCENT CAUSE OF DISASTER

Now there were in Salem two couples who unanimously decided to go for a delightfully fine car ride. No one can blame them for that wise judgment, so we must pass on and tell the story. It seemed that the Frosh party was over and there were many minutes to spend before 11 o'clock. The car was impatient to travel so it started and jumped. That would be natural for a Ford, but the thing dashed into the ditch. The scene was terrible; the ride was spoiled; but why must the driver run into that particular night nobody knows, but it is hinted that the driver became intoxicated on the beauties of his pard's girl. We don't say so out loud, but, Flegel, tell him to watch the road the next time.

"The Pill Bottle," to be presented by the Tri-C Class of First Presbyterian church.

On Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian church a clever missionary play of India is to be given by the Tri-C Class under the direction of Mrs. Hester. The Tri-C Class which is composed of Willamette students, is well pleased with its offering and a special invitation is hereby extended to you. If you can arrange it, bring a friend and come and enjoy a good evening's entertainment.

Some of the leading characters are:

Dad Lane ..... Charles BoDine
Mother Lane .... Mildred McKillican
Barbara Lane ..... Louise Nunn
Frances Tuttle ..... Genevieve Thompson
Helen ..... "Ducky" Kelso
Jane ..... Genevieve Junk
Hindu Husband I ..... Don Grant

The proceeds from the play are to be given to the new church Bldg. Fund; therefore an admission charge of 25 cents is asked of Willamette students. The regular admission for adults is 35 cents.

Don't forget—tonight at 8 o'clock.

Kappa Gamma Rho Open House

At the Kappa Gamma Rho Open House, Cornelius Bateson introduced the visitors to the members of the receiving line, who were: Lee chapin, president, Professor and Mrs. Sherman, Dr. and Mrs. McCormick, Professor Matthews, and Clarence Oliver. The visitors then inspected the house, being served in the dining room just before leaving. A five piece orchestra furnished music during the visiting hours. The girls who served were: Adelia White, Mary Spaulding, Lucile Wylie, Hollis Vick and Marie Rostein. Harold Fearing bid the guests a pleasant goodbye as they departed.

Sororities Have Open House

The sororities—Delta Phi, Beta Chi, and Alpha Phi Alpha—observed their annual "Open House" on Saturday at one of the most attractive events of the social season.

Between the hours of 7:30 to 9 o'clock, Delta Phi received the callers who were greeted at the door by Jeannie Corskie, Ruth Ross and Zelda Mulkey. Eloise Reed introduced to the receiving line which included: Lucia Card, Professor and Mrs. E. T. Brown, Professor and Mrs. Gustav Ebsen, Mary Findley, Hulda Hagman, Adelia White and Mrs. John Reed. A color scheme of gold and blue was effectually carried out throughout the rooms by the use of yellow chrysanthemums, blue and gold tulle and yellow tapers in a silver candelabra. Marjorie Minton and Mrs. Charles L. Sherman presided at the punch bowls. Musical numbers were presented during the evening by Mary and Fay Spaulding, Kathryn Kirk, Jeannie Corskie, Mildred Tomlinson and Helene Story. Delta Phi favors of the sorority emblems and blossoms were given by Elaine Sherman.

From 8 to 9:30 o'clock, guests at the Beta Chi house were hospitably received by Eva Tawere hospitably received by Eva Tacheron and Verna McKeehan who introduced to the receiving line composed of Dorothy Owen, Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Miss Frances M. Richards and Paul Wallace. Margaret Legge and Frances Hodge presided at the punch bowls, assisted by Margaret Raught, Kathryn Rossman, Lois Taylor and Cleo Weddle. Blue and gold predominated in the first living room while autumnal colorings prevailed in the second living room. Little Josephine and Beatrice Evans presented the guests with favors of fresh violets.

Formal introduction of guests at the Alpha Phi Alpha house during the hours of 9 to 10:30 o'clock was made by Ann Silver. The receiving line included Edna Schreiber, Mrs. Hattie Durkheimer, Dean and Mrs. George H. Alden, Professor and Mrs. E. C. Richards, Juanita Henry, Elaine Clower, Volena Jenks and Esther Moyer. Yellow chrysanthemums charmingly decorated the rooms. Assisted by the juniors of the sorority, Hazel Malmmsten and Nora Pehrsson presided at the punch bowls. Eugenia Savage and Ethel Marks presented delightful musical numbers during the evening. As the guests left, they were favored by small tokens of mistletoe combined with house emblems.

Friday evening, Jan. 9th, at Waler Hall, the second Eastern Breeze given by the various groups of the foreign students will be presented. The acts will portray some phases of the life of the Orient. The American boys of the club will also take part. Last year a similar program was given which was very successful.

Adelantes Step Websterians

The members of the Adelante Literary Society seized upon their last opportunity to enjoy Leap Year privileges Friday evening when they escorted members of the Websterian Literary Society to a Christmas party in the society halls. Clever little programs were distributed and dates were made by the girls for the different features.

The first part of the evening was devoted to games and music, special numbers being given by Kenneth McCormick, Manley Strayer, a quartet composed of LeRoy Hiatt, Charles Anderson, Willis Hathaway, Joe Lane, and an orchestral trio composed of Fred Arpke, Quenton Cox and Charles Swan. In the latter part of the evening Santa Claus in the person of Cornelius Bateson made the youngsters happy with the toys and candy which he found on the big Christmas tree. Refreshments consisting of sherbet and fruit cake were served at the conclusion of the evening's entertainment.

Chrestos Honor Pledges With Party

Chresto cottage was uniquely decorated with Christmas suggestions on Friday evening for their annual informal party in honor of the pledges of the two societies. The tree fairly groaned with presents which Santa Claus Ebson distributed to all. Festivities and games of every variety composed the evening's entertainment. At the conclusion of the party refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Betrothal Announced at Birthday Dinner

A formal birthday dinner at the Colonial Dame Tea Shoppe in honor of Fay Spaulding was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Olive Tomlinson to Paul Poling. The attractive table was centered with a small Christmas tree on which hung tiny red bells inclosing the picture of the young couple, telling of their betrothal. Following the announcement Fay Spaulding sang "Oh Promise Me." Covers were placed for Fay Spaulding, Olive Tomlinson, Mary Spaulding, Ruth Ross, Lucia Card, Kathryn Rossman, Helene Gregg, Elsie Hop Lee, Myrtle Jensen, Helen Arpke, Louise Findley, and the hostess, Mildred Tomlinson.

Engagement was announced at dinne rat Sigma Tau fraternity and similar Christmas decorations disclosed the news to the Delta Phi girls.

Olive Tomlinson is a member of the Delta Phi sorority and the Philodosian Literary Society. Paul Poling is a member of the Sigma Tau fraternity and the "W" club.

CONNELLY SPEAKS TO WESLEYANS

Mr. Joe Connelly, Student Volunteer Secretary, spoke to the Willamette Wesleyans last Wednesday on the need of continuing foreign missions. He pointed out that the application of the principles of Christ would easily involve our racial, industrial and international problems. He cited many stories of those who had sacrificed home and business advantages to work in the foreign fields.

More leaders, he said, are essential in the foreign work until another generation of native Christians may be raised and the Christian faith firmly grounded. A great chance for good or bad influence, he said lies in our attitude to foreign students.

He ended with a stirring story of the sacrifice of Paul Harrison, who, when the child of a foreign man in the foundry where he was working, refused to give a vein from his arm in order to save his own child's life, gave one himself. The spirit which prompts men to do this, he said, is the spirit which is winning men and women to Christ in the foreign countries and that spirit, which, when applied, will settle all the world's problems.

ALPHA PSI S TO BATTLE

as doped the Alpha Psis meet the Sigma Tau for the finals and the Kappa Gamma Rhos vs Epsilon Delta Mus will scrap it out.

The games have been well attended and enthusiastically cheered, the student body responding to the spirit of the contests. It is urged that all turn out for the final game and do their amount of rooting.

Last Friday afternoon two more of the series of inter-fraternity games were played in the W. U. gym. In the first game the Alpha Psis defeated the Epsilon Deltas 26 to 10 and in the second game the Sigma Tau won a close game from the Phi Kappas 11 to 10.

In the first period, the Mus held the Psis down to 2-2, but after Steincipher and Schweining got into action the game became fast and exciting, the Psi's running away with the game because of their superior passing and teamwork. The half ended 12 to 3.

The interest lent to the game by stellar players was not one-sided though the score was. Art Roundtree was a high light throughout the game, continually taking the ball from the Alpha Psis an, eluding the whole defense by passing between legs and under flailing arms, he carried the ball down the floor with his clever dribbling. Not having his glasses on, Art could not find the basket.

Friday's triumph was the second that the Alpha Psi's have enjoyed this season; the Phi Kappas having lost to them in a close game the week before. As the Sigma Taus also have won two games, the champion of the fraternities will probably be one of the two. The Alpha Psi's ran in a whole new team in the last few minutes. The lineup was:

Alpha Psi (26)—Ellis, F.; Steincipher, F.; Schweining, C.; Kalahan, G.; Schreiber, G.; Anderson, Moede, Hathaway, Booth and Hoskins, subs.

Epsilon Delta Mu (10)—Roundtree, F.; Giles, F.; Silke, C.; Wilkenson, G.; Bailey, G.; Iliff, sub.

Referee, Nakano.

The last game between the Sigs and the Phi Kappas, though slow and full of ball holding, and numerous other technical fouls, was very closely contested from start to finish. Two extra periods had to be tacked on to decide the winner.

The first half ended 3 to 3, while the game itself was made a 7-7 tie by Nunn.

In the first period Mann broke the tie and Nunn again tied the score 8-8. The second canto had the fans on their toes as each one side after another missed opportunities to score. Finally Blatchford distinguished himself with a lucky field shot and maintained the two point lead of the Sigs by adding a free throw to the score after Haines of the Phi Kaps had scored. The game ended 11 to 9. The teams lined up as follows:

Phi Kappa Pi (9)—Desart, F.; Nunn, F.; McKinney, C.; Sherwood, G.; Haines, G.; Beer, Sub.

Sigma Tau (11)—Blatchford, G.; BoDine, G.; Mudra, C.; Mann, F.; White, F.; Rhodes and Carter, subs.

The play was a great success Tuesday evening. It was enjoyed by a capacity audience and will be remembered as one of the best plays of the year.

Several special attractions delighted the audience. A vaudeville was staged between acts and a solo was sung by Gerald Mero.

A large five pound box of candy was given away free to the lucky person and another equal size will be given away tonight.

Tickets and reservations for reserved seats for tonight, the last night of the play, may be obtained at the box office of the Grand theatre.
