TWO MORE SCALPS.

Albany Beaten on Home Ground --Chemawa Falls.

Friday night the first team defeated the Albany team by a score of 15 to 6. The game is the more to the credit of our boys because it was played on the Albany floor.

The room in which the Albany boys play is so small that a scientific game could not be played. This may be one reason the Albany boys play in such poor form.

Their is a tendency in their team to supplant skill with roughness. The game Friday was pretty rough, but none of the players were badly hurt.

The home team braced up in the last half and did some really good playing. The line-up follows:

W. U.—Forwards, Parsons, Judd; Albany College, Forwards, Coates, Shaw and Graves.

W. U.—Center, Pollard; Albany, Center, Bergman.

W. U.—Guards, Matthews and Winslow; Albany, Guards, Stalmacher and Morrison.

W. U. Subs.—Wilkins and Miller.

Coach, Miller; Mgr. Averill, and Morris as umpire.

Saturday evening on their own floor the W. U. boys practiced pitching baskets for a while with the Chemawa braves looking on and lending their encouragement. Pollard seemed to be the least embarrassed of Willamette's team, throwing fourteen baskets. The crowd seemed to "rattle" the others some. Judd got nine baskets and Parsons missed but three of his throws mostly taken on fouls.

The Indians insisted upon doing something, so were allowed four points.

Their basketball team is not so good as usual. Sanders did some good individual work, but team plays were nil. The score was 62 to 4.

The line-up was:
Forwards—Chemawa, Saund and Davis; W. U., Parsons and Judd.

Guards—Chemawa, Dyke and Iecker; W. U., Winslow and Matthews.

Center—Chemawa, Meekam; W. U., Pollard.

Fechter, referee; J. G. Miller, Prof. warfield, umpires.

Medicos Support Wallulah.
(Van Winkle and Hockett as editors.)

At a meeting of the student body of the College of Medicine, held Thursday afternoon under the presidency of Roy Byrd, it was decided to support the Willamette year book, the Wallulah, and towards this purpose two of the most prominent students of the college were chosen as editors. They are O. Van Winkle, '05, of Halsey, and C. T. Hockett, '04, of Salem. Both men are representative students. Mr. Hockett played on the Medico football eleven, and is well liked by all who know him.

Mr. Van Winkle was president of the 'Varsity Glee Club. He was a member of the Medical 1902 football team, and his friends are legion. While many other good men might have been selected from the doctors in embryo, the election has met with the unqualified approval of the annual board and the student body of the College of Liberal Arts.

This is the first time in the history of the University that the Medical College was given the power to select its own representatives on the board of a university publication. But this coming together of the different colleges means more than it appears at first sight. It signifies that a closer fellowship exists between the affiliated colleges than at any other time in the annals of the institution. It is only one of the signs that are pointing towards progress and towards the realization of those plans which will find their realization in the new and greater Willamette.

And again it is said that Patton Bros. are ready to sell you anything you want, as cheap as you want it.

EXECUTIVE COM. I. O. A. O.

Met at Albany, Saturday.
Changes in Officers.

Friday afternoon the Inter-collegiate Oratorical Association of Oregon held a meeting at Albany. The colleges were not fully represented, so the matter of choosing the judges was deferred until Friday, January 23, when a meeting will be held at Monmouth.

President Densmore has decided the contest, so will resign his position, as an officer of the Association cannot enter the contest. The University of Oregon will probably name his successor.

H. H. Hobbs, who was elected secretary at the business meeting last March, has changed his allegiance from McMinnville College to the U. of O., resigned his position Friday in order that a new secretary could be named by McMinnville. The secretary-elect is George E. McCutcheon, of McMinnville.

The delegates at Friday's meeting were T. B. Hosington, O. S. N. S.; L. Bronaugh, O. A. C.; E. K. Miller, W. U. H. B. Densmore, U. of O.; Jas. Thompson, A. C.; W. G. Hale, P. U., and H. H. Hobbs, delegate at large.

Entered at the postoffice at Salem as second class matter.

 HIS week we present the students with a slightly enlarged edition. The columns have been lengthened about two inches and the type has been made uniform. We hope that we will be able to maintain this size for the remainder of the year.

There is a matter of importance that should be brought to the notice of the students, faculty and trustees of the University. It is the museum. A few of the students know that we have such a thing as a museum. more do not. Nevertheless, the fact remains. True, it is not in a presentable condition and to a casual observer would appear to be insignificant. If time should be taken to look through the chaotic collection and to take an inventory of what may be valuable, it will amount to an excellent foundation, at least.

There has been a monstrous cry for better laboratory facilities and for collections of illustrative types in the departments of zoology, geology and mineralogy. These things are necessary to a proper understanding of the subjects mentioned. Were the specimens in the possession of the University, labeled and arranged so as to be accessible to the students, they would go far toward supplying the need. The classes in ethnology would find interesting many interesting and instructive things for their study, too.

This is something that should be looked to at once. Specimens are being taken, or gradually lost. A large number of Indian arrows with heads were in the collection a few years ago. There is not an arrow head left in the entire collection now, probably removed by some ambitious relic hunter. The ancient piano which is there has not been removed yet, but proper measures should be taken in time to prevent any such happening.

List of Books From Dr. Hoadley.

Philadorian.

The Philadorian Society reports an increase in attendance and interest since the holidays. The members spend more time in preparation than formerly and better work is the result. The following program was given Friday evening:

Recitation, Alice Hales.

Paper on Japan, Ruth Gabrielson.

Talk on Japan, Miss Durfee.

Minute speeches by all members not on the program, on the subject, "The Oregon Legislature."

Local Oratorical Society Meets.

Thursday a meeting of the Oratorical Society was called by Vice President Meresse. The attendance was larger than usual, still it was not large. Our representative, Mr. K. E. Miller, '05, was duly authorized to represent the interests of Willamette at the meeting of the Executive committee of the State Oratorical League. A vote was also taken to ascertain whether the local contest would be dispensed with. It was unanimously decided to hold the local contest and to present special inducement to those who wish to compete. Willamette is not after the medal, at least she has no hopes of bringing it to Salem. She will, however, be represented at the state contest and try conclusions with her rivals.

Harvard Camera Club has sent a challenge to Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Columbia for an inter-university photographic contest. Yale has accepted the challenge. About 50 pictures will be sent by each of these schools and will be judged by a competent set of judges.

Whitman College defeated the University of Oregon in debate Friday night.

Mr. James, a Baker county official, was among the chapel visitors last week.

Dr. Waters, presiding elder of the Salem district, led devotional services Friday morning.

The Monmouth basket ball players seem to be determined to sustain their unenviable reputation as "raggers."

Miss Kidder, of Oregon City, who attended the University the first semester last year, has entered school.

Some one wants to know whether the "W" on the caps stands for Winslow, Warfield, or Willamette.

The boys basket ball team will play the O. A. C. team, at Corvallis, next Friday, and the girls will play the O. A. C. girls on our floor.

Mr. Z. T. Keys, of Fossil, Ore., a staunch friend of the University, was introduced to the students by Pres. Coleman, Friday morning.

At last some definite steps have been taken toward the construction of the new athletic field.

Birds in their little nests agree
And 'tis a sorry sight

Fall out and quarrel and fight.

E. K. Miller attended the meeting of the executive committee of the State Oratorical Association in Albany, Friday.

Let everybody come out and cheer the girls on to victory Friday night. We hope to see the score reversed this time.

The boys basket ball team received the best of treatment at the hands of the Albany players while in Albany. Manager Marks, of the Albany team, did all in his power to make things pleasant for us.

Mrs. Fleck, of Utica, New York, a former student now the wife of Prof. Fleck, who was at one time principal of the piano department of Willamette's College of Music, was a chapel visitor Friday.

WHITMAN V. INS-

Defeats U. of O. on Labor Arbitration Question.

Whitman College holds the debating championship of the inland empire tonight. She defeated the University of Oregon, the champion west of the mountains. It was a battle royal, although Whitman clearly had the better of it. The decision stood 2 to 1 in favor of the negative. Whitman had the negative of the question, "Resolved, That tribunals should be established with power to settle all difficulties between capital and labor affecting public interests." A large audience greeted the disputants, the Federated Trades Council attending in a body.

The boys from Oregon put up a fine debate, and every one expressed admiration for the brainy young trio from the Varsity.

Rev. Austin Riar, head coach of Whitman's team, a Yale debater of '96, said: "One of the strongest and closest debates I ever heard." The judges were Judge Eakin, of Union; Prof. H. T. Condon, of Idaho, and H. S. Blandford, of Walla Walla. Most of the speeches delivered had been prepared; there was very little extemporaneous work on either side.

The affirmative was unable to meet the objection of the negative that the court of arbitration, to be effective, must have power to enforce their decisions, that this means slavery to labor and confiscation to capital; also the affirmative was unable to prove that compulsory arbitration had worked successfully. — The Oregonian.

Archie Camp, one of the Dormitory boys, left for his home at Pampa, Wash., Thursday morning. Urgent business at home made his departure imperative. Archie is well liked by the boys and his departure causes them regret. We hope he may return next year, for he is a loyal friend of Old Willamette. He will be missed in the Y. M. C. A. work, where he took an especially active part. Before leaving he subscribed for a little ginger from the can.

LOVE SONNETS OF AN OFFICE BOY.

It's over now; the blow has fell at last,
It seems as though the sun can't shine no more,
And nothing looks the way it did before.
The glad thoughts that I used to think are past!
Her desk's shut up today; the lid's locked fast;
The keys where she typewrote are still; her chair
Looks sad and lonesome stand in empty there—
I'd let the tears come if I dast.

This mornin' when the boss came in he found
A letter that he'd got from her, and so
He read it over twice and turned around
And said: "The little fool's got married!" Oh!
It seemed as if I'd sink down through the ground,
And never peep no more—I didn't though.

The chap's a beau we did'n't know she had,
He come from out of town somewhere, they say;
I hope he's awful homely and that they
Will fight like cats and dogs and both be sad!
But still there's one thing makes me kind of glad:
The long-legged clerk must stay and work away,
And though he keeps pretendin' to be gay,
It's plain enough he's feelin' bad.

I wish when I'm a man and rich and proud
She'd see me tall and handsome then, and be Blamed sorry she did'n't wait for me.
And that she'd hear the people cheerin' loud
When I went past, and down there in the crowd
I'd see her lookin' at me sorrowfully.
