

PROF. EXPLAINS PENSION PLAN FOR YOUNG

$200 Would Be Available For All Students From H. S. to College

COST IS ONLY PROBLEM

Professor William C. Jones of the economic department, recently revealed in his lecture to his western civilization class that he has a "Jones" pension plan which he states will distribute three times the amount of purchasing power provided by the Townsend plan.

The plan calls for a pension for all young people, after they have passed the eighth grade and during the time they are attending high school and college.

The comment on the plan is running high tide, and in defense of the attack Prof. Jones has pointed out the benefits that would be derived from such a plan.

Prof. Jones said that relief-rolls would be non-existent, because older people would live upon their children's pensions, more persons would be withdrawn from active work than under the Townsend plan, all worthy persons would have the chance to receive an education, and in turn would be able to pay back the pension through increased social usefulness.

It would cost between 40 and 60 billion dollars to launch the plan, providing each recipient $200 a month. Prof. Jones told his western civilization class that, "as long as the scheme is one to distribute purchasing power, an adequate method should be adopted, and pensions to the youth appear the most desirable from that basis."

'ELIJAH' CHORUS HAS 100 VOICES

"Elijah," the opera to be given this year by the Willamette School of Music, is generally regarded by the music school instructors as the biggest thing of its kind ever to have been produced on this campus.

One hundred voices will be heard in the chorus of "Elijah." Marshall reports that his material for solo voices this year is so exceptionally unusual that he will be able to supply all solo parts with campus singers.

At least one big musical performance is given each year by the music school, under the direction of Cameron Marshall. "The Pirates of Penzance," a Gilbert and Sullivan production, was the last opera to be given. Before that came the "Bohemian Girl," in which the majority of the cast was made up of the Philharmonic Choir of Chicago Exposition fame.

Definite announcement as to the time and place of this year's production will be made shortly.

SONG MEN ON DON LEE RADIO HOOKUP

The Willamette Song Men will be featured by the Sperry Flour Company Wednesday, January 23, at 8:15 p. m., over the Columbia Don Lee Broadcasting system. This program is one of a series of similar ones presented by the Sperry Flour Company featuring the outstanding male choruses of the coast, and is known as the Sperry Male Chorus Parade.

Under the direction of Cameron Marshall, the Song Men have performed twice a month during the last semester before the microphone of KOIN, a Portland radio station. These programs were judged by representatives in charge of the Sperry Chorus hour, and Cameron Marshall received the invitation to furnish the music for one of the programs of this series.

The Columbia Don Lee Network includes ten key broadcasting stations on the coast, extending as far west as Salt Lake City. These stations are located in Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Oakland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Salt Lake.

For this special occasion the songsters expect to appear in their new jackets and boiled fronts. Definite plans are virtually complete for a ten-day trip for the Song Men during spring vacation. It is probable that much the same territory will be covered this year as was included in the tour of last spring. Arrangements for an extension of the trip so that it will include Everett, Washington and points farther north are being made by Cameron Marshall. The newly acquired regalia has been prepared especially for this trip.

Leaving Salem Friday, March 20, the singers will make the trip north and return Sunday, March 29.

Wesleyans Send Deputation Teams

A deputation team from the Wesleyans will be sent to Turner on January 19. A different team will be used each month to various points in local communities.

At the next meeting, which will be held next Monday, there will be election of officers for the following semester. On the 31st of January an old-fashioned school party will be given by the old cabinet in honor of the new cabinet. Members are to come dressed as kids, and lunch will be served in paper sacks.

During the Christmas season a delightful dinner was given by the Wesleyans. A long dining table was interestingly decorated with a small Christmas tree and holly.

Dr. Shultz was toast-master with toasts given by Pearl Boothby on "Holly"; George Self on "The Manger"; Lawrence Burdette on "The Star"; and Jim Pyke on "The Christmas Tree."

Other members on the program were a vocal solo by Ruth Reaser and numbers by a quartet, consisting of Marguerite DuRette, Kusel Emoto, George Lewis and Waldo Hibbard.

The dinner, enjoyed by all, was pronounced a great success.

Feminine Resistance Breaks As Leap Year Progresses

"I have designs on Paul Sturges. Do you know a swift, sure method?"—(Note found in W. U. library.)

The sudden dash of wind and very wet, cold rain last Saturday night, and the persistent showers which followed might indicate to married people and other varieties of pessimists that spring will be late this year. But, like flowers that bloom in the snow, the writer of the note quoted above and others of the same frame of mind, have cast off winter handicaps, with their dread for rain and frost.

These pioneer souls, through mighty effort of the will, are beginning spring strolls through the rain and anurous cogitations in class room and library, although they're pretty much all wet in the latter function and it doesn't take long to get that way during the former.

Maybe it was the sight of the water all around that gave the idea that it would soon be time to swim. Anyway, two by two they came to school Monday after a torrid week-end! And what a swim!

Even though it is leap-year we can see no difference in the "getter"—since both co-eds and dapper collegiates are each doing their share of smiling and enticing.

Maybe we have forgotten since the days of yore when we were out in the elements seeking company, but anyway the attack seems to have changed since we were young and foolish.

When one girl asks another girl for advice as to how to advance a campaign, that shows that she is fast coming to the state of being desperate. In past times the correct thing to do was to find out from brother or head-chum where to step next—this is a new mark in history? A lightning bolt in the world of "seek and thou shalt find."

L. Ney is Awarded U. of O. Fellowship

Luman Ney, a graduate from Willamette last year, was recently notified that he had been awarded a two-year reserve fellowship at the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland.

Ney was affiliated with the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity during his undergraduate days here.

The fellowship is called the "Eli Elly Fellow," and is worth $600 per year to the medical student.

MARNETTA JONES IS ORATORICAL WINNER

Marnetta Jones, senior from Idaho, won the $15.00 prize offered by the Hon. Walter E. Keyes, at the annual Keyes' contest held in Waller Hall last Thursday, on her speech, "Intolerance."

Mrs. E. G. Vehrs, won the second prize of $10.00 on her presentation of "Whither Gallantry."

Third place went to Robert Smith, whose topic was, "War, the World's Greatest Racket."

Classical Club Elects Officers

Election of officers was held at the last meeting of the Classical Club, January 13. Officers elected to serve throughout the coming semester are as follows: President, Elva Sehon; vice-president, Lillian Graham; secretary-treasurer, Howard Campbell; and Charlotte Eyre was reelected as program chairman.

The new president will meet some time in the near future with her cabinet to discuss plans for an interesting spring program. The next meeting will be February 3.

Because of the Willamette-Monmouth basketball game the meeting was confined to business matters.

Gus Anderson, Ex-W. U., Speaker

Gus Anderson, a former Willamette student and well-known to all Willamette students, spoke here at the high school January 9.

He spoke about his new movies taken last summer in Germany and Russia.

Mr. Anderson, globe trotter Willamette grad, spent several hours on the campus seeing old friends.

He expects to visit the scenes of the Italian-Ethiopian conquest during the next year, and will present them here upon his arrival to the states.

Scenery Made by Art Classes

The art classes under the direction of Miss Fowler constructed and painted a complete new set of scenery for "Outward Bound."

The scenery was made in the basement of Lonsdale Hall, and during the recent flood of the basement, it was necessary to work two pumps to save the scenery from destruction.

Miss Fowler and her class have worked on the scenery as a project and the theatre group wish to extend their appreciation for the work.

Chapel Program is Popular Feature

During the past two weeks the Collegian has received nine letters from friends of Willamette, who are extremely pleased with the present radio chapel broadcast.

The letters state that it is one of the greatest advertisements that Willamette could ever have and they ask that the program be continued.

One graduate, whose only pleasure is his memories, says "The echo of the hymn in Waller recollects many pleasant memories."

Y. W. TO SPONSOR EUGENICS CLASSES

The Y. W. C. A. is planning to sponsor Eugenics classes next semester under the instruction of Professor Peck. There will be one class a week for about four weeks. These classes will probably be held on Monday evenings for all students who are interested.

The first week in February, Stella Scurlock, the Y. W. C. A. regional executive secretary, will be on our campus. Miss Scurlock is regional secretary for some of the mid-western states and for all states west of the Rockies. Her headquarters are at Kansas City, Mo. She came west for the Staback Conference, held January 10, 11, and 12, at which complete plans were made for the summer session at Seabeck. While she is West, Miss Scurlock plans to visit all of the colleges on whose campuses the Y. W. is organized. She is now at Oregon State College.

Delegates Home From Conference

The Willamette delegates to the student conference at Indianapolis returned to the campus last Sunday.

The student body will have a chance to hear about the events at the conference soon, when the delegates will be the featured chapel speakers.

W. U. Eligible to Send Grads East

The announcement was made Wednesday by President Baxter that Willamette had been placed on the select list of American colleges eligible to send graduates to Washington, D. C. for training courses offered by the national institute of public affairs.

The courses are designed to equip students to hold public offices.

H. Hoyt Is Named Pres. of "W" Club

The Willamette "W" club elected officers at their last meeting. Harold Hoyt, senior in Physical Education, was elected president. Other officers named were: Darrell Newhouse, vice president; Bill Stone, secretary; Bob Clark.

The club plans to sponsor a smoker at the beginning of next semester. The receipts from the smoker will be used for a party in the spring.

Genevieve Thayer Confined to Home

Miss Genevieve Thayer, who is assisting Prof. Rahe in the production of "Outward Bound," has been confined to her home during the past week with a severe cold.

Dolmer Kamelsh has been a patient at the Salem general hospital but expects to be able to return for exams.

REWARD

W. U. Law Library Receives Books

What Dean Lockenour describes as "the largest and most valuable" donation of law books, consisting of approximately 1000 volumes, was given to the Willamette law library by the firm of Teal, Winfree, McCulloch, Shuler, and Kelly on January 14.

The books consist of various state reports including Iowa, Vermont, Texas, Wisconsin, Indiana, and New York, and a large number of text books. These books do not duplicate any of the books already in the Willamette law library.

CARNEGIE FUND SENDS PAMPHLETS

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has established recently at Willamette a small but comprehensive library made up of books and current magazine and pamphlet material on the subject of international peace.

This library is maintained through the auspices of the International club and is to be kept separate from the other library material. It is at present to be found in the office of Dean D. H. Schulz where the reading matter is at the disposal of members of the International club and other students interested in the subject of international peace.

Two installments of books have already been received here, and more are promised by the Carnegie Endowment heads. Besides these books, ten pamphlets on the more current phases of this subject are ready for use.

The publication, "Fortnightly Summary of International Events" also arrives at the library every two weeks with a full discussion of the major issues in relation to international affairs for the two weeks' period preceding its reception here.

A series of pamphlets called "International Conciliation" series also is sent out periodically to all libraries similar to the one established here. These libraries are located throughout the United States.

One book received at the library some time ago is a good example of the promptness with which this service carries the news of international happenings to the students while these world events are still of pertinent value. This book is one published in October, 1935, upon the Italy-Ethiopian question.

A.S.W.U. President Linfield Speaker

Bronk Williams, president A. S. W. U. spoke to the Linfield College student body last Friday.

Mr. Williams' speech was in return for the good-will speech presented by the Linfield Prexy several weeks ago.

Hobson Concert Friday, Jan. 24

Emory Hobson, well known Salem musician, will present a piano concert in Waller Hall, Friday, January 24, at 8:30 p. m. Mr. Hobson will be assisted by Hubbard Hobson, baritone.

Admission prices will be 25c for students and 50c for adults.

W. U. Injured by Recent Storm

During the recent wind storm several large glass windows were broken in Eaton Hall.

Two of the large evergreen trees, in back of Kimball hall fell as a result of the heavy wind.

Genevieve Thayer Confined to Home

Miss Genevieve Thayer, who is assisting Prof. Rahe in the production of "Outward Bound," has been confined to her home during the past week with a severe cold.

Dolmer Kamelsh has been a patient at the Salem general hospital but expects to be able to return for exams.

KESTER-SMART IN ALBANY EXTEMPS

Two individual forensic contests are demanding the present attention of Prof. Herbert E. Rahe and the speech department: namely, the State Extempore Contest at Albany College and the State Peace Oratorical Contest at the University of Portland.

Willamette's representatives have been chosen for the extemporaneous contest on January 19. Randall Kester will enter the men's division, and Constance Smart will uphold the women's group. According to Prof. Rahe, this women's division is probably the first of its kind in the northwest.

Topics will be drawn from the general theme: "Government by Alphabet." After an hour's preparation, the contest, under the supervision of the Interscholastic Forensic Association of Oregon, will begin.

Another individual contest sponsored by the I. F. A. O. is scheduled for February 14 at the University of Portland. This is the State Peace Oratorical Contest. Prizes range from twenty to fifty dollars for the winners. However, a local try-out of not less than three contestants must precede the state contest. Prof. Rahe is now calling for all those interested in oratory to see him in the near future for further information and material.

Mr. Randall Kester, representing Willamette at Albany this week, is well-known as a speaker and debater. He is president of the Kappa Gamma Itho fraternity and a member of the Blue Key. Miss Smart is a member of the Willamette Women Debaters and has been prominent in speaking and dramatic affairs.

RICCI TO PLAY IN PORTLAND FEB. 3

Ruggiere Ricci, one of the world's greatest violinists, will be heard in concert Monday evening, February 3, at the Portland Auditorium, as soloist with the Portland Symphony orchestra.

Einstein, the great scientist, who can explain time and relativity, is unable to explain that remarkable musical wonder of our age.

Again and again the word "genius" creeps into the reviews of young Ricci's playing. But most amazing of all, critics find in his music the deeper understanding that is supposed to come only with the years. How often we hear that one must suffer to feel. But here is a happy child who has as yet known no great sorrow or disappointments. One is reduced to baffled silence before this evident mystery of genius.

Young Ricci has toured this country, Canada, and Cuba, and has had the honor of playing at the White House before President and Mrs. Roosevelt and their guests. An soloist with the N. Y. Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra at the Lewisohn Stadium last summer, he was applauded by an audience of 9,500, one of the largest of the season.

Prof. Monk Announces that the Missing Link is on W. U. Campus

The Biology department has recently received a series of models showing the evolution of the human skull; the famous Pithecanthropus (the real "missing link") of Java, and the equally famous Dawn Man of Sussex, England.

The models of these very important fossils are on display in the Biology showcase on the third floor of Eaton Hall, where they will remain until the first of February. Beside the skull of Pithecanthropus is shown, for comparison, the skull of the modern gorilla. The two show startling similarities, although Pithecanthropus is certainly human in tooth and brain, and has twice the cranial capacity of the gorilla.

On the other side of Pithecanthropus is a model of the reconstructed skull of the Piltdown or Dawn Man. Only fragments of the skull were ever found, and on the model these are colored black. The cranial capacity of this man is estimated as between 1100 and

Characters Are All Dead but Haven't Been Notified; Play Most Unusual

CAST FACES TOUGH JOB

"Outward Bound," Sutton Vane's popular three-act play, will be presented by an all-Willamette cast this Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Salem high auditorium. It is the most interesting and the longest play of its type that has ever been attempted on this campus. Directing are Professor H. E. Rahe and Miss Genevieve Thayer.

The plot of "Outward Bound" concerns eight persons, recently dead but unaware of it. The entire setting and the unusual idea behind it lends to the effectiveness which is intended. It is a story involving characterization of unusual but interesting people. It is similar to "Death Takes a Holiday," and yet, as Professor Rahe says, "decidedly different."

"Outward Bound" captures its audiences by the startling, simple vigor of its image—the dead, thinking themselves still alive, sail on a strange ship, outward bound for an unknown port. The play is written by someone familiar with the theatre and its laws of effectiveness. It has elements of suspense and surprise. Also, it deals with common human hopes, fears and affections.

The scenery for the production is new and has been made under the direction of Miss Fowler, art instructor.

The cast is as follows: Elizabeth Kells, as Ann. Lloyd Rich as Scrubby. Mal Walton, as Henry. Art Lamka, as Tom. Lois Webb, as Mrs. Clivedon Banks.

Dorothy Lipps, as Mrs. Midget. Warren Peters, as Mr. Lingly. Frank Pemberton, as Mr. Thompson.

Committees are as follows: General Manager, Dorothy Durkee. Art Director, Miss Fowler; assistants, Betty Lane, Kathryn Thompson, Catherine Faxon. Stage Manager, Guy Hiemsoth, assisted by Randall Kester. Property Manager, Marjorie Thorne. Tickets—Chairman, Doris Unruh; assistants, Bill McKinney, Waldo Mills and the Little Theatre Guild.

Costumes—Chairman, Loye Bogardus, assisted by Marion Minthorn. Makeup, Genevieve Thayer. Prompters, Elizabeth Boylan and Dorothy Durkee. PORTLAND WILLAMETTE CLUB OFFICERS ELECTED FOR 1936

The annual holiday meeting of the Portland Willamette Alumni association was held in the main dining room of the Norton hotel at 8:30 p. m., Friday evening, December 27, at which time officers for the new year were elected for the year: Victor Carlson, '22, president; Jean White, '29, vice-president; and Mrs. Charles Hedding (Phoebe Smith), '29, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Neal Zimmerman, '14, president of the association, introduced the toastmaster, C. L. Starr, '13. Honor guests at the banquet were Coach Roy S. Keene and the four senior football men: Johnny Oravec, Harold Hoyt, Manfred Olson, and Carl Rhoda. Among outstanding alumni present were B. F. Irvine, '77, editor of the Oregon Journal; and Robert A. Miller, '78; both of whom were speakers.

The main speaker of the evening was F. G. Leasure, who gave a travelogue on Africa with particular reference to Ethiopia. Mr. Leasure is an instructor in vocational education in the Portland schools, and has traveled a great deal.

Everett Craven, '22, ever popular singer, gave several selections.

Mrs. Robert Kutch (Helen Cochran), '22, former song queen, led the group in singing Willamette songs, accompanied by Fay Sparks, '25.

NECROLOGY

Funeral services were held January 2 in the First M. E. church in Salem for Miss Florence Adeline Young, ex-'26, aged 33, who died in San Francisco, December 28, following an operation which was performed after a two weeks' illness.

Miss Young had resided in Salem nearly all her life. Shortly after the death of her mother, prominent in Methodist church circles in Salem, Miss Young went to San Francisco to live, where she has resided with her brother and his family for the past year and a half. Services were also held in the latter city. Besides her brother, Ralph, Miss Young is survived by her father, W. C. Young, who was in San Francisco at the time of her death.

At Willamette, where Miss Young attended three and a half years but was unable to graduate on account of illness, she was affiliated with Beta Chi sorority; Adelante, of which she was president, and Beethoven, of which she was a charter member and president. Miss Young was prominent in musical circles on the campus, and was senior scholar in piano.

Orlando Howard Carson, '16, aged 64, Salem attorney, was instantly killed when he was struck by a car driven by Edward R. Barrett, 27, December 31. Barrett was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Mr. Carson was born August 15, 1870, in Tipton, Indiana. For 17 years he taught school, part of the time near Salem. He was a graduate of Willamette university school of law in the class of 1916 and was admitted to the bar in Oregon. He was editor of the Lewis River News at Woodland, Wash., at one time. He was later town clerk for several years there and also worked in the insurance business. He returned to Salem about a year ago in order to be with his son, Leslie J. Carson, who is a student at Willamette university.

He was a member of the Calvary Baptist church and was quartermaster for the Spanish-American War Veterans at the time of his death.

Besides his son, he is survived by his widow, Ellen Sundstrom Carson, and a sister, Mrs. Lillie Gaskill, of Bellingham, Wash.

Miss Lottie M. Dimick, former resident of Clackamas county near Canby, died December 21 at Tacoma, Wash. It is believed that she is Laura May Dimick who graduated from Willamette in 1889. Can anyone inform us of the certainty of this?

Dr. E. E. Goucher, for 54 years one of Yamhill county's leading surgeons, died at his home in McMinnville, December 28, just a week after he was stricken by an attack of indigestion and heart trouble.

Dr. Goucher had won recognition as one of the outstanding surgeons of the Willamette valley. Born March 14, 1858, in Sonoma county, California, he came to Oregon with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Goucher, in 1864. His early schooling was obtained at Dallas and Rickwood, and his medical degree was earned at Willamette university where he was graduated in 1882.

Dr. Goucher's first practice was in Montana where he was physician for the Northern Pacific railroad. A year later he came to McMinnville, where he practiced thereafter.

In 1923 physicians from Polk, Marion, and Yamhill counties gathered in McMinnville to pay tribute to the pioneer surgeon, who then was celebrating his 75th birthday.

Besides his wife, Hattie Sherman Goucher, whom he married on May 7, 1882, Dr. Goucher is survived by two daughters, Norma Porter of Santa Rosa, Cal., and Rua Goucher of Salem. He was a member of the Elks, Mason, I.O.O.F., and Artisans.

BIRTHS

From Utrecht, Holland comes the announcement of the birth December 8, of a daughter, Orletta Marianne, to Dr. and Mrs. Jan O. M. Broek (Ruth Heineck, '26).

A daughter, Lola Ann, was born January 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Ercel Mundinger (Neva Cooley, '25), of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Van Winkle (Anna Lanke), of Washington, D. C., are the parents of a son, Lewis Charles. Both Mr. and Mrs. Van Winkle are graduates of Willamette with the class of '36. Mr. Van Winkle is connected with the department of agriculture.

A New Year's eve baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Nolson (Adella White), '24 and '25, of Portland, Ore. The little Miss has been named Anne Carver, and she has an older sister.

Another New Year's eve baby was Marilyn Jean, born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harland (Benetta Edwards), of Salem. Both Mr. and Mrs. Harland are members of the class of '32.

A baby son, Douglas, arrived in Corvallis at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Clemens (Dorothy Bonshard), ex-W. U., and '31.

MARRIAGES

Word has reached Salem of the marriage of Miss Margaret Notson, '33, and David Moser, '35, on New Year's Day, in Riverside church, New York City, with Rev. Ralph Emerson Fosdick officiating.

Miss Marie Ledbetter, '24, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Carl Marcy (Mildred Kester, ex-W. U.), was matron of honor. Lowell Eddy, '35, served as best man. A wedding breakfast followed at the apartment of Miss Eva and Miss Marie Ledbetter, '24.

The bride was affiliated on the campus with Delta Phi, and the groom, with Sigma Tau.

Also present at the ceremony were Miss Elizabeth Clement, '33, Carl Marcy, '34, Mr. and Mrs. E. Russell White of Portland, Miss Gertrude Winslow of Salem, and Mr. and Mrs. Bagz of Portland.

Mrs. Moser has a secretarial position in the city, and Mr. Moser is a graduate student at Columbia university.

A pretty church wedding was solemnized before a large group at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Silverton in December when Miss Helga Gladys Jorgenson became the bride of Olaf Leque Ordal of Bellingham, Wash.

Mrs. Ordal is a graduate of Pacific Lutheran college at Parkland, Wash., and of Willamette university with the class of '31. She has done graduate work at the University of Washington and has taught in the state of Washington for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Ordal will be at home in South Bend, Wash., where the latter is teaching.

A Portland wedding was that of Mrs. Olive Marlow (Olive Jones) of Salem and Ted Lang, '35. They are living at Tillamook where Mr. Lang is teaching in the junior high school.

Miss Gladys Malbon of Minneapolis, Minn., and Fred Remington, ex-W. U., were recently married in Chicago, where they will be at home at 1824 North Park Avenue.

The bride is assistant manager of her department with Montgomery Ward & Co., in Chicago. Mr. Remington is employed in the government engineer's office.

BETHOTHSALS

Miss Gertrude Oehler, '32, gave out news at a Christmas party of her engagement to Howard Bergman, '31. Miss Oehler is teaching in the high school at Union, Ore.

The question, "What does leap year mean to you?" was asked of a number of W. U. co-eds last week, in an effort to determine whether or not the women are going to avail themselves of the opportunities leap year offers to enterprising young women. Some of them were bashful, others had the "oh boy!" idea, while others were inclined to consider the matter a minute and then say, "I have my ideas!" Three of the maids had vowed early on the first morning of the new year to be married ere the year was done. One fair co-ed stated that she intended to look over the entire freshmen class, while another confided that she would remain her own sweet self.

Girls are like final examinations—they keep a fellow up all night worrying about them, and then ask the most foolish questions.

We see where a New York paper changed the customary "Births, Marriages, and Deaths" heading to "Hatched, Matched, and Snatched." A Florida journal offered "Yells, Bells, and Knells" as a variation.

Princeton students may now cut as much as they like, so long as their "standing remains unimpaired."

Anyone would think it was spring the way the boys are going for the co-eds. Here's Ohio State's idea of love... "Love is when you brag about her wearing your pin—while she hides it thoroughly so she can go on dating everyone else."

BOOKS

By Margaret Doege

"The Folks" by Ruth Suckow, is another successful story by this author concerned with the middle-western life with which she is so familiar. The interest in her books is great because its scenes of the life of an ordinary American family have so much in common with the experiences of the majority of readers. This book, which is longer and more extensive in scope than some of her others, takes in young and old, with all the common concerns, the small things that assume importance as well as the larger things in the lives of the family. Her treatment of the younger generation is sympathetic and understanding. More than some writers, Ruth Suckow's characters evolve, and readers will follow with interest the incidents which carry this story through to a satisfactory conclusion.

The English translation of "Joseph and His Brothers" by the great German author, Thomas Mann, has been very widely read in America, despite the fact that the twice-told tales of Biblical stories in modern interpretation are usually not very popular. The success of this book may be ascribed to the fact that it incorporates the best features of the various methods of retelling Old Testament accounts, which, combined by the genius of its author, make it interesting reading for the ordinary reader. Thus, though it is an elaborated account of the story, it is not merely a more wordy version. It shows real study and knowledge of the subject without being tiresome. And it is not a theologian's attempt to force his version of a Biblical idea on his audience, though in Mann's interpretation lies much of the charm of the account. All these factors are combined, but it is first of all an interesting story of rather shadowy people made human and real. The book begins in the Prelude. "Very deep is not call it bottomless!" and the author proceeds to introduce his book by some pages on the difficulty of going back to the past in human history and making it live for us. This, however, he has quite successfully done in this book, and it is consequently readable and interesting.

"A Naturalist in Brazil" by Konrad Guenther has the subtitle, The Flora and Fauna and the People of Brazil—the last-named biological division showing an extensiveness in the interests of this naturalist, who does not confine himself entirely to going out alone in search of strange bugs and flowers. The book is large, and probably not interesting enough to any but a specialist

In the field to be read in its entirety by many busy students. It does, however, have some interesting comments on various subjects and a number of good illustrations, both photographs and sketches by the author. The opening chapter, on The Beauty of Brazil, is worth reading if one wishes to gain an idea of that country. Of the other chapters, on various phases, which contain much good description and experiences of the author, one of the most interesting is the fourteenth, The Symphony of Voices. Here are described the various sounds of insects, birds, and the elements which make up what appeals to the ear in Brazil. This chapter includes musical notation of some of the bird calls. And through The Termites and Snakes and Bloodsuckers we arrive at the final chapter, The Brazilian People, a description of the life, customs and character of a little-known people, whom the author, after considerable experience, obviously likes and admires.

"Did you kill all those animals yourself?" asked the visitor who was admiring the fine deer, elk and moose heads that were stuck up in the new mansion.

"Yes," proudly replied the host.

"By the way, why have you had that old cap fastened above the door?"

"That was worn by a man whom I mistook for a deer."

Sorority Open House Center of Interest Saturday Eve

SORORITY Open House was hailed a success Saturday evening in spite of the downpour. Collegians, faculty and townsfolk were warmly received by the three sororities Alpha Phi Alpha, Beta Chi and Delta Phi.

Delta Phi opened their doors first from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. Miss Betty Upjohn greeted the guests at the door. Miss Doris Unruh introduced to the line composed of Miss Lois Underwood, Mrs. F. A. Weil, Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Peck and Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sherman, Miss Katherine Ringe distributed the favors.

The attractive serving table was centered with a mirror reflecting iridescent bowls of poppies guarded by orange tapers. Mrs. Thukham Gilbert and Miss Jessie Wood poured assisted in the serving by Miss Helen Carlson, Miss Gwen Gallagher, Miss Martha Warren and Miss Rosemary Huffman.

From 8 to 9 o'clock Alpha Phi Alpha opened their house. Miss Anoka Coates was at the door and Miss Ruth Johnson introduced to the line made up of Miss Helen Knight, Mrs. C. H. Breck, Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Dean Olive M. Dahl and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keene.

Miss Beth DeLapp and Miss Olivia DeVries presided at the punch table decorated with early spring flowers carrying out a blue and gold color scheme with matching tapers. Serving were Miss Margaret Howerton, Miss Rachel Yocum, Miss Betty Taylor, Miss Betty Galloway, Miss Helen Peterson and Miss June Dahlgren.

Sophomores conducted the

Miss Notson and Mr. Moser Married in East

Of much interest to the University set is the recent marriage of Miss Margaret Notson and David Moser. The ceremony took place in the chapel of Dr. Fosdick's Riverside church, New York City, on New Year's Day at 8 A. M.

Miss Marie Ledbetter was maid of honor and Mrs. Carl Marcy was matron of honor. Lowell Eddy served as best man for Mr. Moser.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the apartment of Miss Marie and Eva Ledbetter in Bronxville.

Both are graduates of Willamette University. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Notson of Hapner and was a member of Delta Phi sorority and Alpha Kappa Nu scholastic honorary.

Mr. Moser is the son of Mrs. Lela V. Moser of Tenino, Wash., and a grandson of Mrs. E. J. Swafford of Salem. He was exceptionally active in campus affairs, being a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, Phi Gamma Mu and Sigma Tau fraternity. The couple will make their home in New York while Mr. Moser is attending Columbia.

Willamette alumni witnessing the ceremony were Lowell Eddy, Miss Marie and Miss Eva Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marcy and Miss Elizabeth Clement.

Delta Phi Mother's Club At Hauser Home

The home of Mrs. Paul H. Hauser was the scene of the meeting of the Delta Phi Mother's Club Monday afternoon. Mrs. E. E. Gilbert was the principal speaker relating of her oriental tour last summer.

Mrs. A. Oehler was joint hostess with Mrs. Hauser. At the tea hour Mrs. Rose Babcock and Miss Margaret Hauser assisted in the serving.

Those present were Mrs. Rose Babcock, Mrs. B. Burton, Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, Mrs. W. Pemberton, Mrs. F. A. Weil, Mrs. A. M. Chapman, Mrs. W. R. Speck, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. David Pugh, Mrs. Gordon Black, Mrs. James McGlechrist and the hostesses Mrs. Paul Hauser and Mrs. A. Oehler.

Skiing Party Enjoyed At Mt. Hood

A group of the Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity men entertained with a jolly skiing party at Mount Hood during the Christmas holidays.

Those making up the party were the Misses Dorothy Murphy, Lois Bogardus, Helen Woodfin, Julia Philip, Phyllis Bunell, Marjorie Thorne, Betty Boylan, Marian Wakefield, Hortense Taylor, James Barnett, Bob Nelson, Harry Mohr, Dan Baptist, Ralph Gustafson, Verdell Ragsdale, Laurence Morley, Randall Kester, Don Marcy, Eh Morley, Ty Gillespie, Bob Anderson, Leonard Olson and Ward Woencke.

Miss Yocom Given Party At Fuller Home

During the Christmas vacation a birthday party was given for Rachel Yocom at the home of Norma Fuller in Portland. Dinner was served; later on a large birthday cake was discovered. After dinner the group attended a downtown theater.

Those present were the Misses Rachel Yocom, Dorothy McDunald, Margaret Howerton, Luanelle Chapin, Sydney Hannaford, Betty Galloway, Winifred Putnam, Hilda Crawford and Norma Fuller.

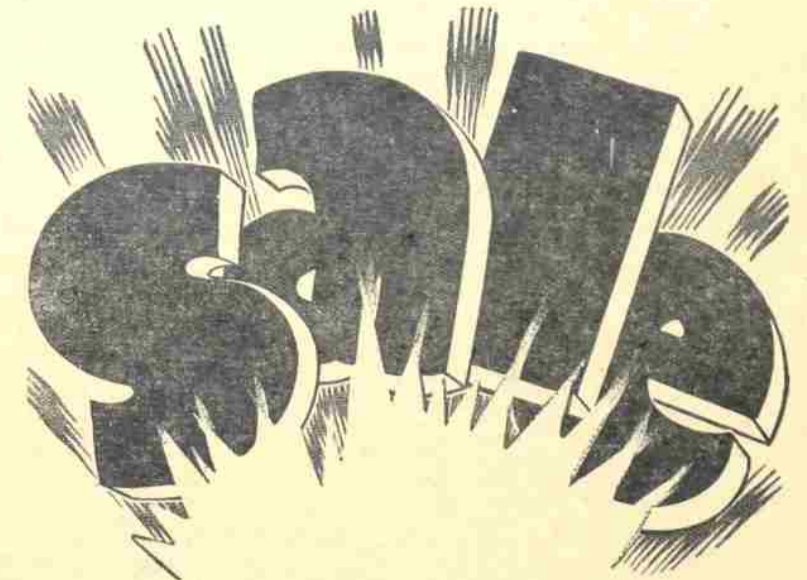

The Alpha Phi Alpha Mother's Club met at the sorority house on Tuesday afternoon, January 7. A social meeting was enjoyed by the group and later in the afternoon refreshments were served.

RAMBLING SHOPPER BY UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, all ye wise and otherwise folks! Ain't it a grand feeling to be back sleeping in your classes, or hasn't the feeling come back yet? This little column today is dedicated to anyone who wants it.

The first thing today is a little grammar lesson. Take the word "craps," for example. That folks is the present tense. The past tense is "crapped," the future is "Craps." You see, the future "craps," even in words. Now, by "Craps," we mean—well, you've heard George Sell exclaim "This Craps me!" especially that day when he found out how much better work Kennedy Cleaners could do, than the place he had been patronizing.

SAVE! SAVE! SAVE!

Our January Clearance Begins Saturday Morning!

Come on Down!

Craps, Uncle has been told, is something the Sig boys shoot, but Uncle has not yet learned whether it is bird, beast, or fowl. (No doubt it's foul.) But if you were to mention Kraps, Uncle would know right away that you meant Kraps and Long, Salem's premier printers.

Now let's take the word Creeps. Unless you're careful with your tongue placement, and tonal tonals, you are likely to say Creech; which wouldn't be a bad mistake, because Creech stands for Drug Store, and Creech's Drug Store stands for no carelessness in medical or fountain prescriptions. (Now, where the heck does Uncle stand?)

Breathes there a prof with soul so dead Who never to himself hath said As he stubbed his toe against the bed, "Oh, Fudge!"

At the rehearsal of "Outward Bound" the other night, Art Lamka was so realistic in his portrayal of the drunk that Dean Schulze had to stop the show and smell Art's breath. (And that almost stopped the show.) In all his long and varied career, Uncle can honestly say he has never been in so powerful, so human, so dramatic a play as the one to be presented Saturday night. Willamette has never seen one like it before.

It is a radical departure from the plays heretofore given. If you miss this one, you will have missed a good thing. And what could be better than "crais" after the play at Tokio Sukiyaki?

Uncle dropped into the H. L. Stiff Furniture store the other afternoon, and was pleasantly surprised to notice the absence of stiffness. Mr. Stiff, himself, may look big, but Uncle found him to be genial and unbending. Even the furniture seems to disprove the name, and invites you to "unlax." If any of Uncle's little pals and gals are thinking of getting some little knick-knack to make the study room a little more luxurious, let Mr. Stiff and his staff show you their stuff. (There comes that grammar bug again.)

Exams are only ten days away, but cheer up, pals, we'll have a new chapel song in two weeks! "With which terse remarks I shuts up," as Dorothy Lipps says in "Outward Bound." In other words, no more of your Lipps.

Cagers Go South To Play SONS Friday

BEARCATS MEET HOBSON'S FIVE IN DOUBLE BILL

Bill Anton, Rook Center, Unable to Make the Trip; Mullen Takes Place

TO LEAVE FRIDAY, A. M.

Ten Players to Make the Trip South; Chances Are Good for Bearcats

Minus the services of towering Bill Anton, ace rook center, the Bearcat cagers leave for Ashland Friday morning for a two game series with Southern Oregon Normal school.

Anton has a troublesome boil on his left arm, and according to Dr. Powers, it would be dangerous for him to play. Mullen, another newcomer to Cardinal and Gold ranks is the probable selection to fill the center post, although it is possible that Keene may shift one of his rangy guards to that position in a pinch.

Ten men will take the trip to Southern Oregon, and although the list is not definite as yet, Manning, Mosher, Gastineau, Weaver, Mullen, Versteeg and Erickson are cinches to make the journey.

Keene has been working his men overtime the last couple of practice sessions, trying to pull them out of the slump they have suffered since returning from the holidays. Previous to that time they were taking all-comers, and displaying a brand of ball that looked like the peak of the season instead of the very start of it.

Southern Oregon Normal will undoubtedly be a tough nut to crack, in spite of the fact that they lost a lot of their stars to the University of Oregon this year. Hobson, SONS mentor is noted for his ability to piece together a team out of practically nothing, and always gives the bigger schools a tough battle.

The squad will return sometime Sunday afternoon.

VOLLEY BALL ACES BATTLE AT Y.M.C.A.

Although there aren't very many people who know it, the Salem Y.W.C.A. is the scene of terrific volley ball battles a couple mornings of the week at 6 a. m., which is practically in the middle of the night.

Prof. W. C. Jones (of the W. U. Jones) is one of the ace performers, in fact is captain of the winning team in yesterday morning's struggle.

Others who participate that are well known to Willamette students are Phil Bell, Dr. Ken Waters, Wallace Bonesteel, Pinkham Gilbert, and Stan Satchwell.

Hello Willamette! We've studied for two years under the delectives of Scotland Yard, now... We've ears, eyes and BRAINS. Therefore, watch your activity!

The Conn Piano Co., N. Y. and Toronto, Ltd., has nothing on the music of Conn-Conoyer—"Our cooling love birds." But, we vote an all time medal to that charming combination of whistle and son—"Dave and Margaret."

Picture the Wallulah office with an inch of standing water. In walks Swish, "Alley, you've been crying again."

We've heard rumors that Prof. Oliver has had to have his hat stretched four times within the past month.

Hank may be only a Bughouse worker but, he lives a mad-husband's life.

Just because we love you so much we haven't mentioned you, Esther Black. You'd better be good to us!

Ring the bell. Time out for Doege.

FRESHMAN SQUAD CONTINUE WINS

In spite of the fact that three of their stars have graduated to the varsity squad, the freshmen are still going on to win basketball games, topping Valley Motor last night by a 25 to 10 margin.

Their next game will be Tuesday night with Falls City high here at Salem. Wednesday night they resume warfare in the city Major League against the much defeated Safeway outfit. Their third game of the week will be here Friday night when they cross with the West Linn high Lions. West Linn is now leading the Willamette Valley league, having walked through four straight conference games.

"On the Bearcat Front" ROY FERRIS

Johnnie Oravec, the most outstanding griddler ever to appear in the Northwest conference, has a chance to play professional football next fall. Will he take this chance? No doubt that he will, to my thinking, and then return to Willamette to complete his studies after a debut in the big time. But just the same the "Scooter" isn't jumping at the chance and signing on the dotted line right away. He likes to have time to think the matter over and will probably give his decision in the next two or three weeks. Recently, I asked him if he had made his decision yet and he said: "I haven't decided yet but I can make up my mind in five minutes."

Assistant Coach Howard Maple has recently accepted a job with the State which means that the popular former All-American may not be Coach Keene's assistant next fall.

Maple Finds Gastineau

"Jerry" Gastineau is another Maple find. Flinder Maple was afraid to come home after his last year's baseball season in the East without someone who could keep the gray hairs in check for "Spec", especially after having discovered such stars as Oravec, Mills, Weisgerber, Harriman and others. This time Maple cast his chance further west and picked Gastineau at the expense of the state of Missouri. The former donkey driver proved himself from the start and he is sure to have a fine career at Willamette. He was one of the finest high school centers in the Middle-west and brings along a baseball reputation that would make any coach sit up and take notice.

Dick Gets Offer

Dick Weisgerber should feel pretty fine about getting a professional offer so soon in his collegiate football career. Dick has the ability and if he continues to develop he should have a cinch at the professional game in another two years. Nothing should be done to offend the club that gave Dick this offer because after all it was a mistake, a mistake that should be overlooked because it proved that they are keeping posted on the careers of the Willamette players and willing to give them a chance. Undoubtedly they couldn't figure out anything but a Senior for Weisgerber especially after the carloads of publicity that have been going out all over the country about this fine griddler with his excellent goal-kicking ability.

Oravec's Number 11

"Scooter" Oravec's famous number 11 should be put in Willamette's trophy case along with the other cherished things. This is a suggestion that I've heard several times in the last few weeks, and a very good one. And why not? Why not let Oravec's name live on and on? Let his famous sweater be the first of the great stars of Willamette to rest in a place that is worthy of its attainment and as an inspiration to the players that come and go to this historic institution.

BEARCAT GRIDDERS GET PRO OFFERS

Dick Weisgerber, Johnny Oravec, and Jack Connors, all Bearcat presents or ex-stars, have received offers from pro teams in the eastern professional circuits.

Weisgerber received a letter from the manager of the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League, asking if he would consider a professional contract, but the youthful star has all but definitely decided against such action. He will finish his collegiate career, which is only half through, and at that time may consider turning to the pro ranks.

Oravec who is probably Willamette's greatest halfback of all times received a similar letter from the Brooklyn Dodgers, a team tutored by Paul Schlessler, ex-O. S. C. mentor. Johnny is still undecided as to whether to finish his college academic work next year, or play a year of football.

Jack Connors, who was an all-conference center a year ago, was sent a like offer from the Dodgers.

KEENE SEES ROSE BOWL CONTEST

Coach Roy S. Keene spent the holidays travelling to and from the "sunny" state of California where he saw the Stanford Indians scalp Southern Methodist in the annual Rose Bowl contest on New Year's day.

From Pasadena he headed for Los Angeles where he watched the Oregon State and Southern California tangle in a two game series which ended in a deadlock. The Oregon team won the first game but the California quint turned the tables in the second game to even the count.

Keene stated that he had a very enjoyable trip, and that he got a big kick out of both the football and basketball exhibitions.

10 TEAMS ENTER DONUT HOOP LEAGUE

Intramural basketball games started in earnest last week, with ten teams in the running for the Donut cup. Games are played every day at the noon hour, with two games coming every Monday in the absence of chapel.

The series will continue on through January, February and into March until the State high school basketball tournament. Several teams have already established their reputation, in one way or another, one of which is the "Fish Chokers," who either win, or scare their opponents half to death with such a name.

After the basketball series is hashed over, Intramural Manager Sutton announces that the regular soft ball league will be organized.

YE BIOLOGIST'S LOVE SONG

My chromosomes are all a-tingle;
My genes are wildly all a-jingle;
Because in all the world there ain't no single Person like you.

Androsterone fills all my veins;
My sympathetic system so ordains;
And turgid are my vestigial remains
Because of you.

My cardiac muscle fibers quiver
My enzymes have all left my liver
My lachrymal glands have formed a river
O woe is me.

My chromosomes are torn a-sunder;
Maturation's greatest wonder
Urges me toward a serious blunder;
What shall I do?

Blunder? No, 'tis Nature's call;
Pray don't class it as a fall.
Some day you'll say: "Hi, one and all."

Bearcats Loom as Possible Contenders Due to Early Showing

Whitman opened the 1935 Northwest Conference hoop parade this week with twin victories over Pacific University, taking them down the line to the decisive tunes of 45 to 25, and 52 to 24.

These two victories, plus a formidable pre-season record give the defending champions the upper hand in this season's race. They have practically the identical team that copped the title last year, plus a bunch of dangerous new material.

Willamette started out like a house afire, in fact like a couple of houses afire when they bombarded the towering University of Oregon five off the court by a 29 to 21 count, and almost turned the trick again the following night against Oregon State, losing by a single point. These two in addition to a close game with Drake University pushed W. U. stock to the skies in the pre-holiday ratings, and sounded warning to conference rivals that the Bearcats would be very much among those present in the title race.

Too much Christmas, or something of that nature has bothered the Bearcats in their campaign since the re-opening of hostilities at the first of the new year. Last Friday evening they dropped a ragged encounter with Multnomah club of Portland 38 to 29, and Monday night they fell victim of the Oregon Normal forces by an equally large margin of 32 to 21.

It makes the third straight loss to the Oregon Normal squad since the Bearcats took two in the shin from the same team last year. The Teachers have an all-veteran squad this year composed of every regular from last year, and should give the Bearcats another tough evening when they tangle in Salem again on January 20.

Pre-game dope was spilled all over the place when the Multnomah five conquered the Willamette quintet, since the Clubbers had been downed earlier by the University of Oregon who had been topped by Willamette. In spite of the fact that it was early in the season, the Bearcats' victory over the Lemon and Gold Eugene team will be something to remember with pride, since from all indications, it would seem that Oregon will take all comers in the Northwest division of the Pacific Coast league.

Not until the third of February do the Bearcats open the conference schedule, playing Albany College on that date in Albany. Two games with C.P.S. on February 7 and 8 in Salem come next on the list that follows in quick succession on through February 22, and includes another game with Albany, and a couple with both Pacific and Whitman.

Jan McDonald, who was unable to enter school this year because of illness, plans to enter here next fall as a senior in the biology department.

TEACHERS UPSET BEARCAT HOOPERS

Boasting a team of veterans who twice conquered the Bearcats last year, the Oregon Normal basketball forces arrived in Salem Monday, and again won out over the Willamette team in a rough and ready contest 32 to 21.

After the very first few minutes in which both teams were fairly even, the Teachers unleashed a flashy offensive that shot them into a lead which they stretched to 15 to 9 by halftime. After that both settled down to good old-fashioned rough and tumble tactics that accounted for fouls on the average of more than one a minute.

Shortly before the end of the game, Ken Manning and Osbornes forgot to untangle when the whistle blew, and as a result were forced to leave the floor for the evening.

Jack Butterworth, ONS center, was the big scorer of the evening, leading all others with a total of 14 tallies, in addition to being the big gun in the Teachers defense. Jerry Gastineau, rook sharpshooter who leads the scoring for the season, provided the losers with the greatest number of points, dropping in five counters.

In the preliminary game, the Willamette reserves fared better than the varsity, winning from O. N. S. reserves 33 to 18.
