Smith Back From Washington

Prexy Reports On Committee Of Education

Pres. G. Herbert Smith returned to the campus Monday following a three week's trip in the east on which he conferred with the U.S. House of Representatives committee on education.

Pres. G. Herbert Smith

on the problems facing colleges in wartime. Smith is a member of a 12-man committee picked throughout the nation to act as an advisory group to the House committee.

Questionnaires were sent earlier in the year to all the colleges in the country to gain information concerning the problems which they were facing. Approximately 1000 of the 1700 schools to whom questionnaires were sent responded.

From the budget estimates for the period ending June, 1945, it was found that an increasing number of colleges were having difficulties in making financial adjustments, especially men's institutions. These instances were believed to be of proportion to create national crisis demanding legislation.

Statements of education leaders indicate that the longer the war is in progress the larger the number of colleges facing critical situation would be and that in all probability by June 1946 if present condition prevail, there would be a condition in the country in higher education requiring federal assistance.

The committee discussed plans for giving the aid with two main methods agreed upon. Either outright grants based on formulae to be worked out would be given or contracts would be let for services which the colleges could render.

Smith also attended an interfraternity conference in Chicago and spoke in a panel discussion on "Fraternity Intangibles."

Harpist Appears on Concert Series Tuesday in Waller

Gertrude Hopkins, harpist, will appear in concert Tuesday evening in Waller hall. The concert will be the second in a series sponsored by the university. The program is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Hopkins is one of America's most distinguished harpists and has appeared on concert stages and with leading orchestras the country over. She is the daughter of an eminent musical family and has studied in New York and in Paris with Marcel Grandjany who is recognized as the world's leading harpist.

Final concert in the series is scheduled for January 16 when Avron Twerdowsky, cellist, and Georgia Graves, contralto, appear in a joint program. Twerdowsky was a student and close associate of the late Emmanuel Furrer, one of the world's greatest cellists, and is at present a member of the Columbia Symphony orchestra. A pupil of Madame Schumann-Heink on scholarship, Miss Graves has sung on concert stages throughout the east and midwest and has also appeared in Europe where she sang for the Finnish composer, Sibelius.

About This Tuesday Afternoon Business . .

"Everyone must be mith-taken" lisps Jenny Mack, "the matinee hops haven't been discontinued." Jenny follows this up with a snappy "4:00—Chresto," inferring that everyone is welcome and invited to attend the Tuesday afternoon get-togethers.

The hops are handled entirely by the students and for the students. It's the chance for the men to line up that date for Saturday night.

Speakers Set For Initial Try Tomorrow

Ten members of Willamette's forensic group will leave tomorrow for Pacific college of Newberg to participate in the semester's first intercollegiate speech meet. First event on the intramural forensics calendar will be an extemporaneous speaking contest to be held during a chapel period during the week of December 18. Anyone enticed by the prospects of a possible cash prize is asked to contact Matt Gruber.

Although the tournament tomorrow is only of the practice variety, the competition will provide valuable experience for those students who intend to enter future forensics activities. Beginning in January and continuing to the end of the school year, the Willamette group will participate in an intercollegiate program of various speech contests with colleges in and around Oregon. Although many tournaments have been cancelled for the duration, negotiations for a Pan-American tournament are being made with several interested colleges. Last year Darlene Dickson of Willamette won first place in the latter contest and the prize trip to New York and Mexico.

Since the intercollegiate contests are usually limited to only a few contestants from each school, an intramural program is being planned to provide ample opportunity for any students interested in oratory, debate, impromptu, extemporaneous or after-dinner speaking. Cash prizes will be awarded to first and second place winners in each contest. Students interested in entering any of the forensics activities or contests should contact Gruber or Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, forensics coach.

appear in a joint program. Twerdowsky was a student and close associate of the late Emmanuel Furrer, one of the world's greatest cellists, and is at present a member of the Columbia Symphony orchestra. A pupil of Madame Schumann-Heink on scholarship, Miss Graves has sung on concert stages throughout the east and midwest and has also appeared in Europe where she sang for the Finnish composer, Sibelius.

For her concert here Miss Hopkins has chosen an interesting and varied concert, ranging from early 18th century to modern compositions. The program as released from the office of Dean Melvin Geist:

Erickson New Vice President Of Registrars

Dean Walter E. Erickson, registrar, was elected vice president of the Northwest Association of Collegiate Registrars at the annual meeting of the organization held last weekend in Spokane, Wash. Recommendations adopted by the association will be considered today by the Willamette policy committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Helen Pearce.

Delegates to the conference recommended that non-graduates of high schools be admitted to colleges on the basis of examinations, remaining on special status until 45 quarter credits are earned. They also recommended that former students returning to college be granted advanced standing on the basis of military service by special advanced standing examinations.

Collegiate registrars from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana also discussed testing programs for military experience, cooperation of colleges and universities with secondary schools, and problems of registrars including transcripts and catalogs.

Bond Sales Soar But E-Series Lag

Although total student bond sales in conjunction with the Sixth War Loan drive had exceeded the $150,000 mark in the last available figure, only an estimated $17,000 of that amount has been credited on the $34,500 sum necessary for the purchase of the baby tank which has been set for Willamette's goal in the present campaign.

Chairman Pavlock in announcing the latest totals again emphasized the importance of sales in personal bonds rather than the treasury bonds which cannot be applied to the purchase of the tank or any material. The

Frosh Select Jack Stein To Head Glee Planning Event Slated for January 27 With 'Alma Mater' as Theme

Freshman Glee, elected Jack Stein manager of the annual event in a secret ballot conducted yesterday following chapel. Theme for the traditional interclass sing will be "Alma Mater," according to an announcement made earlier in the week by Royal Hart, chairman of the general Glee committee and manager of the '44 sing.

When the votes were counted, "X's" for Stein totaled more than those for his three opponents, George Frum, Jack Hazlett and "Pop" Gallagher. Stein will begin his duties Monday when he meets with the general Frosh, anticipating busy days ahead before January 27 and committee to formulate rules for the coming contest.

Other members of the general committee are Thyra Jean Currey and Jack Glaspe, both of whom have had experience in organizing Glee activities.

With the correction of the error in last week's Collegian scheduling the Glee for February rather than January 27, the song contest loomed nearer in the future today and class leaders began thinking seriously of plans for the successful copping of the coveted Glee banner. With the posting of rules expected next week, the actual work will be under way.

Possessors of the most recent Glee banner are the members of the present senior class who won first place in last year's "Serenade" Glee with their song, "Dream of You" written by Leroy Hale formerly with the V-12 unit.

Second ASB Session Today 1140, Waller

The second student body meeting of the present semester will be presented during chapel today at 11:40 in Waller hall, with ASWU President Rich Wicks presiding.

Minutes of the last meeting will be read and reports on the recent OFCL conference will be given by Wilma Froman, social activities chairman, and Con Pavlock, war bond head. In addition, President Jerry Wolfsehr of the block "W" will present an outline of future Friday chapel shows.

Because of the needed revision of some of the time-worn traditions about the campus and the reallocation of student body funds, Stan Boyd will explain the purpose and proposed ultimate results of the new student constitutional revision committee.

SAX President Royal Hart and last year's Freshman Glee manager, will announce the results of the election of the new Frosh Glee manager, and at the same time, present the manager to the student body.

Wind-up of the assembly will be held under the direction of the yell king, Jack Stein and his cohorts.

Bliss Grants 2300 Liberty For SB Party

Setting a new precedent in Willamette wartime social activities, Lt. George C. Bliss yesterday granted men of the navy unit a 2300 liberty for the evening of Thursday, December 21, in order that the student body may greet the holiday season and a ten-day vacation at a special Christmas party to be sponsored by the members of the senior class. A similar late privilege was given university women by Dean Olive M. Dahl in accord with the surprise navy move.

In announcing the special liberty, the first of its kind to be granted to the V-12's, Mary Brown, senior class president, stated that the tentative outline of the evening's entertainment calls for a combination program and dance. The traditional Christmas party with its presentation of mock gifts will be an event of the program as outlined thus far.

Als pending was a definite decision whether the affair would be date or non-date. A specific announcement on the point and listing of committees was promised for next week's Collegian.

Civilian students will be permitted to leave the campus at noon Saturday, December 23, while navy men will not be at liberty until an hour later. Civilian students will be required to be in classes again the morning of January 2. V-12's must report to the ship by 2300 Monday, January 1. Men on the 3.0 list will be permitted to leave the campus after their last class of the week.

Christmas Shopping? Send the Collegian

This may not solve all Christmas problems but it certainly should help in at least one instance.

The publication's staff is offering a six-month subscription to the Collegian along with a Christmas card from the sender, for but one dollar. Ex-Willamette service men, parents or friends, would be happy to receive this gift.

Mary Nims, Don Beagle, Dottie Robinson, Corinne Engdahl and Mary Parker are selling subscriptions and anyone wishing to purchase one should contact them soon.

What's in a Grade . . . Are You Kidding?

Grades—that's Latin for "You thought you knew this stuff, but we fooled you, didn't we?"

Grades were invented by Sir Robert H. Grade in 1861, who discovered the following interesting inscription on an old stone near Hammon-Ri: F—Fooye! which he understood as indicating a certain resentment against society on the part of someone who had failed to do satisfactory work in one of the quaint early practices of that time, a scholastic test. Later this was found to be an attempt by a Neanderthal maiden to express her feelings at being jilted, but by the time Sir Grade's mistake was corrected, the system was well under way.

"A," naturally, is the goal of every student. A is for apple, and I don't have to tell you what to do with that, do I?

"B" is pretty good. You're OK if you get a B, but you're sort of on the fence. "B you is or B you aint?"

"C" is for corn and not too solid. If you get a C, you're average. This is the great middle class and also 2.0, and even P.K. beer does better than that.

"D" originated when a minister wished to swear and recollected himself in time. Some test papers make teachers want to swear . . . my history teacher said laughingly as he threw me out of class.

"F" is that grade which you get because the teacher doesn't like you and other people should get. It is hard to explain to parents. You get an F when you say that the Latin quarter is a foreign coin.

Incidentally, I've just heard about my grades on the five weeks exams. I didn't really care, though, I'll enjoy going in to talk to President Smith.

Introducing - -

Will wonders never cease! Marv Goodman was actually observed in the main room of the library with his magnificent profile buried in a large notebook. Not so much as an eyebrow crept over its frayed edge to survey the world in general, the cute red-head at the opposite table in particular. No, no, Lt. Bliss's fondest dreams have not come true. Marv had just heard that your most unpopular reporter was on his trail. Remembering pulverized Pavlov's gory fate of last week, Goodman cowered in his corner. Check that! Goodman cowered.

Marv qualifies for a spotlight this week not for those great big beautiful eyes, not for those shiny dentures, not for the face that sank a 1000 ships, but because this is Pearl Harbor day. On December 6, Marv was playing end against the University of Hawaii, upholding Willamette's honor, bolstering his fellow students' school spirit, and all that sort of thing. P.S. Willamette lost.

Sunday morning, Marv and his teammates awoke to a distant pounding roar from the harbor seven miles away. It was not until 9 a.m., however, that the news of the attack reached the city. Immediately, civilians were ordered to stay off the streets. The team took to pacing the floor.

Later on, when the fighting centered out from the harbor in open sea, the sportsmen were able to watch the maneuvers from Waikiki Beach.

Tied up in Hawaii for two weeks, the Wallerites were put to guard duty, protecting army supplies. On December 19, they returned home on the liner President Coolidge.

Again the profile popped beneath the blue page binder.

"Do you have any hobbies?" chirped your reporter, referring to "Thomas D. Twittle's Treatise on Touchy Interviews," page 72.

"Fishing," mumbled the notebook menacingly.

"Did any big one's get away?"

"Not for a long time"—this was punctuated by the appearance of one eyebrow.

"What do you fish for?" cooed the green reporter, warming to her job.

"That remains to be seen," replied two eyebrows this time.

After an exchange of eyebrow twitches, we continue.

Coquille, Oregon, claims this 20th century Apollo as "their boy." Of course, there's hardly room for him, the post office, the service station, and the saloon—but with some overlapping, they manage.

Aside from studying, Marv indulges in baseball, football and tripping.

Goodman has been in the navy two and one-half years. A large portion of that time was spent as sound man on a destroyer transport. He saw action in Guadalcanal, New Guinea and New Britain campaigns.

Marv here added that upon leaving the navy, he intends to retire to the hills and be a hermit. I can go along with a gag.

And so we bid adieu to gracious Goodman, and went our way through the library in search of a pink notebook to interview next week.

Three Years Is a Long Time . . .

Three years, to some, is a long, long time . . .

Time to forget, time to ignore the cries of those who can never forget. Time to ignore the screams of the wounded, the moans of the dying, the startling tragedy of proud ships humbled, smoking guns useless, crews lying dead.

To some, all this is but a story, to be heard a few times and promptly forgotten.

Three years, for some, is but a change in the tide.

For these the water is still as green as the Sunday when they ceased to be boys to become men, and martyrs, and white, lifeless things beneath the waves. Snatched from a life they had only just tasted, to die for a cause which was born on the day when Jefferson said ". . . we mutually pledge to each other our lives . . ." Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? Not for these . . . they didn't have time.

Three years, for some, is but a moment . . .

Long enough to increase their hate. No aggrandizement this, for these are the men who had once been boys, who emerged unscathed from a bloody hell to smell their comrades' burning flesh in the smoke that rose from the ravaged sea. Unscathed? Yes . . . except for their eyes, and the set of their mouths, and the bitterness inside. For these men, who had once laughed, share a grimness which to most can never be known, unless, perhaps, you too once were there . . . on Guadalcanal, on Bataan, or Tarawa, or Saipan, or a thousand little unknown islands where men have died, and comrades have cried.

For some three years isn't so very long . . .

Don't ever forget what they gave for us. Don't ever forget that, although we are strong, things can happen again as they did on that day, and again men may lie white in the green of the sea. No matter what happens, don't ever forget.

. . . Though to us who lie beneath the sea three years is but a change in the tide . . . three years, to some is a long, long time.

Gert's Dirt . . . Why Doctor Tschudy!

Dear Myrt, you old flirt:

No use saying I'm writing this note in Sherman's philosophy class 'cause that would type me as stark raving mad; only that's what I'm doing and it's all because of my stoic attitude. Ignore pleasures and pains—what a philosophy—hand-made for college students. And especially with five week grades coming out—phooey on grades—they don't mean a thing to an indifferent stoic like me—but my folks aren't stoics, it seems!

Course, being a stoic would mean indifference to pleasures like Dr. Tschudy's fireside. And you just can't disregard those things. Not when there was a public demonstration of the Fisher and Ashford techniques. This ran (alternate running by Mary and Tom) through the entire evening and was considered the educative highlight of the gathering, with the exception of Willie Morgan's methods for Winning Women and Influencing Pems . . . However, Alice Fay Daugherty turned the table on Willie and he had to crawl under it to get away. Then the chase was on for Duane Drake and Robert Reynolds, Duane being bashful and Bob being bold. Duane managed to get away, but Bob carefully saw to it he was caught by three gals. Supid Tschudy was wearing those two little horns on his head again.

Which reminds me, Doc Tschudy in an attempt to obtain charts on hereditary traits asked Mike Carlson if both of Mike's mother's fathers were bald and Mike replied, "I only have one mother!"

Nuff sed or I'll flunk genetics—

More dirt later, Myrt.

Hanker . . . Chief of the Klee Necks

The Indian, Hanker, hooked his elbow around the tender young sapling (her name was Bi Were Bonds) and held his scrawny hand up to his forehead. He was a stone-faced Indian, looking more like a dynamited rock quarry. His father, and big noise in the Dirty Feet Tribe, Hanker Chief, a big blow-hard, had come across the North sea in an open box-kite with only enough K rations for a three-month period. When his food gave out, he went off his rocker trying to catch the now extinct Kee bird with a fishing pole. (It got its name by sliding down icebergs on its posterior and shouting "Kee—Kee—Kee-riminy, it's cold.") Later, the chief and his whole tribe of Dirty Feet were wiped clean off the earth by the dreaded disease, Atheleticus Feetus.

But now, Hanker was out to get the bird, a turkey, for his Christmas dinner and his beloved. He was so much in love with Bi that he had given her the ring around his wash-tub for an engagement present. It was a lovely romance. She sat in the corner reading "Why There Are No Meat-balls in Ice-cream," by Crusty Cones, and he kept washing his feet in a new contrivance put out by O. U. T. House company. It was a deep basin and every time he pulled the handle, he got fresh water for the other foot. But I deviate!

The hunt was on—Hank pulled a four-inch cannon from his shoulder holster and minutely examined it. It had the lines of Big Bertha (name of the owner of the local Redskin Pawnshop) bulging in the wrong places. Hank was well acquainted with Bertha due to a misunderstanding he had with Bi's old man—Something about a shotgun!

A honker flew overhead—Beep! Beep! "Boing—g—g—g," resounded the gun. The goose dropped like the temperature in a January snowstorm. Hank immediately ran to the spot only to find that after being grounded permanently, the goose had eloped with a rabbit, unknown to the wiles and tricks of a goose.

Disappointed, the Indian started the trek homeward to his little domicile where Bi waited with open arms, open mouth (she had asthma) and a closed eye (she ran into the swinging door in "Joe's Place" while getting a short beer).

"Oh, well!" muttered the Redskin aloud. "We can do without—" and he thought of the wild horse-radish growing on the trees in back of his igloo. "Guess we'll have to fatten that darn canary after all."

The Male of the Species

by das Buch

After last week's dissertation on females, it has been requested that an equally engrossing study be made of the male animal. Presented herein, are the scientific results of this biological study.

Males are what women marry—in fact, statistics prove that at least half the married people in the United States and Idaho are males. To quote the majority of women, "All men are alike!" This definitely simplifies the matter of dividing males into genera for this study, because truly—young or old—men are alike, and there is no accepted larval stage. Men are all born with a one-track mind, and they exist all their lives hoping to die with a one-track mind. But in order to keep this article comparatively clean, male psychology will be omitted.

To return to the male in general, they all have two eyes, two hands, two feet, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one dollar or one idea at a time. The older males are usually in two general classes—the bachelor and the husband. The bachelor is a very obstinate form, looked upon with much skepticism and suspicion, but the husband, on the other hand, is the more desirable class.

Generally speaking, there are three kinds of husbands—the prizes, surprises and consolation prizes. Most women agree that to make a good husband is the highest form of plastic art known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope, and charity—but mostly charity. Universally women are in quest of the mechanism that makes men tick. The answers to their quake of queer quandries are the results of years of persistent observation and study.

When a man insists on making love to a woman under moonlit skies, he has an over-active thyroid; if he doesn't at least try, he needs some vitamin B. If he breaks his neck to look at every nice pair of gams that pass, he's a wolf; if he doesn't, he's blind. When he doesn't want to take his girl home by 12:30, he's fresh, and when he does, he needs some Benzidrene. If he constantly showers his girl with gifts, he's a squanderer; if he doesn't even buy her flowers, it's more than three days after pay-day. When a man constantly whispers sweet nothings to his mate, he has a "line"; and when he doesn't, he has poor technique. And finally, when a man chases a woman, he's an obvious cad; when he doesn't, she chases him, so he's a gigolo.

At last, after a life-time of homey domestication, drooling devotion and fights over the pay-check every Saturday night, science is still stumped with the psychological marvel that a sweet violet-scented woman should ever want to kiss a big awkward, stubby-chinned, tobacco and bay-rum scented thing like a man.

'Male Animal' May Be Staged In Leslie Junior Hi January 19

Tentative date and place for the forthcoming production of the comedy hit, "The Male Animal," is Friday, January 19, in the Leslie Junior high school auditorium, according to Carola Hays, production manager working under Dr. Herbert Rahe, drama coach. Virginia Muhle has been named stage manager with other appointments expected soon.

Leading roles for the outstanding Thurber-Nugent stage success are shared by Pat Otis as Ellen Turner and Charles Strong as her professor-husband, Tommy Turner. Both have had experience in other major productions, and tops in talent is anticipated.

Others cast include Stan Boyd, who portrays the part of a radical young college intellectual, Michael Barnes. Joe Sanford plays an ex-college football hero and former aspirant for Ellen's affections, who stirs up a little more trouble in the hilarious situations which occur, in the person of Joe Ferguson.

Dean Smith is Dean Damon and Virginia Hobbs is his haughty wife, Blanche. Frances Delaney is a natural in her characterization of Cleola, the Turner's maid. Jane Mathers, James Conway, Matt Gruber, Joyce Feiden and Nevitt Smith comprise the remainder of the cast.

As the story begins, Tommy Turner, who has been married for ten years to Ellen and is quietly settled in a comfortable teaching job at Mid-Western university, suddenly has his life disrupted by the appearance of Joe Ferguson, an old flame of Ellen's.

To add to this upset comes a controversy among faculty and students when a student, Michael Barnes, starts a conflagration by calling the board of trustees "fascist." Complications follow with "hellzapoppin'" by final curtain.

Portraits End As Wallulah Plans Grow

Wallulah workers this week recover from quizzes only to re-furrow brows with the task of creating division page and cover designs for the 1945 yearbook, according to the editor, Jean Fries.

Following a temporary cancellation of the Wallulah photography contract during December, Bishop studios will again be available for navy portrait sittings beginning the first of January. Meantime, it is expected that a definite printing contract in either Salem or Portland will be approved.

Present developments find individual page layouts which have been completed for the entire annual, awaiting prints and enlargements from the campus darkroom before being mailed for printing.

New staff members joining the scheduled Monday night meeting include Yvonne Mozee and Virginia Wiebe; photographers: Peggy Mortiz and Adriane Glass, artists, and Deloris Rodie.

'Up, Up, Up' Nickels Way to First Place

"Up, Up, Up" tops the Cavern hit parade this week as class-weary hepcats rather round the ol' juke box. The more abused members of the student body have nicked "You Forgot About Me" into a close second position. And third, prophetically enough, comes us as "It Could Happen to You."

'Who's Who' Students Receive Ballots in Nat'l Opinion Poll

Questionnaires were received this week by the 14 Willamette university upperclassmen whose names will appear in the 1945 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," national tabulation of college leaders.

Answers to the questionnaires or survey sheets will make up a section in the book entitled, "Tomorrow's Leaders Speak." The queries which cover a varied range of biographical information, include such interrogation

Geist Names Five Soloists For 'Messiah'

Artists singing the solo parts in the forthcoming presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by the Salem Oratorio Society were announced yesterday by Dean Melvin H. Geist, director of the chorus. The program by the combined group of Willamette students and twonspeople will take place in the Salem high auditorium at 3:30 p. m., Sunday, December 17.

Those appearing as soloists will be Josephine Albert Spaulding, alto; Virginia Ward Elliot, soprano; Margaret Scruggs, soprano; Mark Daniels, bass, and John Schmidt, tenor.

Orchestral accompaniment will be provided by the university symphony under the direction of Lewis Pankaskie. Bennet Laiden will be at the piano while Maurice Brennen will accompany at the console of the organ.

Mrs. Spaulding is one of the outstanding concert artists of the northwest. She is a graduate of Willamette and was a soloist last year. Mrs. Elliot is the former director of the Linfield college chorus and is at present the director of the First Presbyterian church choir. Miss Scruggs joined the College of Music faculty this fall with a wide background in concert and academic work.

as "Why are you going to college? Why did you attend the particular college from which you plan to graduate? What recreation do you enjoy most?" The students are also asked their opinions of screen actors, composers, radio programs, post-war problems and are asked to name the three books which they would choose for a year alone on an uninhabited desert island.

The "Who's Who" is an annual publication which is both a national basis of recognition for students and a reference volume of authoritative information on America's leading college students. Students are selected on the basis of scholarship, student activities and promise of future service.

The Willamette students chosen for the honor this year are Emma Lou East, Wilma Froman, Jeanette Mack, Janice Patterson, Lois Robinson, Stan Boyd, Bill Cate, Ray Nygren, Charles Strong and Jerry Wolfsehr. Selected for the honor again this year are Rich Wicks, Jean Fries, Mary Bennett and Catharine Thomas.

Colleges of OFCL Meeting To Exchange Constitutions

The exchanging of student body constitutions by the colleges and universities of Oregon was underway today as a result of action taken at the meetings of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders held here last weekend. The move is being made in order to facilitate the rewriting of outmoded constitutions indicated by many of the 14 schools represented at the meet.

Conference discussions noted that although both state-supervised schools, OSC and U of O, differed greatly from the other schools represented, the problems of the smaller schools were extremely similar. Further comment by ASWU Prexy Rich Wicks was to the effect that Willamette has a fairly good system of student government which in comparison to other schools has a great deal of power.

Among the resolutions agreed upon in the final session was the suggestion that the social calendar should be under the control of the student in charge of the social program and advised by the faculty. It was also recommended that the editor of the paper not be a representative; but, nothing definite was decided other than a suggestion that if the paper were represented by the editor, he should not have a vote in the council. Organization of returning servicemen was discouraged on the grounds that they can be more effectively integrated into the school program with actual participation. It was agreed that living organizations should play an important part in the life of returning servicemen. The opinion was expressed that, although women are successful in student government at the present time, it is a matter for deliberation as to their status in the postwar world.

The University of Oregon was announced as host school for the seventh annual conference in 1945 with Warren Michael, Eastern Oregon College of Education, president, Jan Patterson, Willamette, vice president, and the future student body president of Oregon as secretary-treasurer.

Candidates For Mu Phi Take Exam

The local chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon has elected its new pledges who will take their examination for membership this week. Names of the new members will be withheld until the initiation ceremonies sometime after Christmas, according to Louise Wrisley, president.

Mu Phi Epsilon is a professional music sorority maintaining high scholastic standards but is not classed as an honorary. The 40-year-old organization has three main objectives, the advancement of scholarship among American women musicians, promotion of good fellowship and interchange of ideas and encouragement of composition among American women.

There are 48 active chapters in the United States at present. Membership is based upon musicianship, scholastic standings and personal character.

Moellering, Knight Hosts At Fireside

Two more faculty firesides will be held this Sunday afternoon at the homes of Professor John L. Knight, Route 4, Box 474, and Dr. William Moellering of 376 Gerth Avenue in West Salem. The hours of both of the affairs are from 4 to 6 p. m.

Those attending the Knight affair will be Marj Beadles, Dorothy Gage, Phyllis Crowder, Evelyn Chapman, Dorothy Glendenning, Billie Grimm, Verna Greenleey, Mary Nims, Mary Donfrio, Marian Chessman, Nancy Lee Trask, Dorothy Niles.

Those going to the Moellering home are Bonnie Benson, Anna Ruth Gooding, Margaret Forsythe, Dorothy Zerzan, Marian Carter, Dorothy Toomey, Alice Faye Daughterty, Delvon Long, Marian Erickson, Jean Stewart.

Banquet Honors SAX Pledges

Sigma Alpha Chi, sophomore men's honorary, have scheduled a banquet at Hull's cafe for Saturday, December 16, honoring their new pledges. Pledges will be submitted to a mild "hell week," and the banquet will be the climax of the week.

Lt. and Mrs. George C. Bliss will be honored guests for the evening. Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Tschudy, advisors of the SAX will also attend the dinner.

Women Students Meet With Dahl

Individual conferences with the women students are being conducted by Dean Olive M. Dahl. Students will be notified of the time of their conferences by a notice in the Eaton hall mail box two or three days before the appointment.

All students are asked to come in for a conference each year. At these conferences a record is filled out year by year for recommendations for scholarships or positions, said Dean Dahl.

Delta Phis Host to Navy

The Delta Phis have invited the men of Company A to be their guests at a fireside Sunday evening from 6:30 to 9:30.

The evening will be spent by the coeds and navy men trimming the Christmas tree for the coming holiday festivities. The rest of the evening will be spent singing Christmas carols and playing records. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Plans for future firesides to entertain the other two companies are also being made.

Easterner To Wed Clint Williams

The engagement of Ensign Clint Williams to a Washington girl was revealed to Dean C. F. Luther last week in a letter from Williams.

Williams has just been commissioned an ensign from midshipman's school at Columbia. He was in the V-12 unit on the Willamette campus last year. He also attended Willamette before joining V-12.

On the campus he was active in the choir and intramural sports. He served as yell king for a term. His fraternity affiliation was with Kappa Gamma Rho.

Williams' home is in Shelton, Wash.

Breakfast Fetes DTG Pledge Class

Pledge services were held Sunday for new pledges of Delta Tau Gamma, women's independent organization on the campus. President Lois Robinson was in charge of the ceremony.

The pledges were honored with a breakfast at the home of Alice Fay Daugherty, member of Delta Tau Gamma, after the pledging. The breakfast was sponsored by the Salem Mother's Club. Mrs. E. B. Daugherty, Mrs. E. C. Forsythe, Mrs. George Gabriel and Mrs. H. R. Robinson were in charge. Dean Olive M. Dahl was invited as honorary guest of the members and pledges.

New pledges are Virginia Brown, Virginia Davis, Dellora Doerfler, Phyllis Haberly, Patricia Johnston, Jean Jones, Jean Ludlow, Meryl Mathison, Vivian Miller, Helen Terry, Nancy Trask, Cloise Wallace, Helen Withers and Zella Zink.

Members attending the breakfast were Alice Faye Daugherty, Lois Robinson, Marian Erickson, Vella Felton, Laura Jane Curtis, Dorothy Zerzan, Marian Carter, Jean Stewart, Iola DeSart, Jane Hansen, Peggy Gabriel, Margaret Forsythe and Rosalie Hoover.

Hall Women Dance After Game Tomorrow Evening

First social function of the year for the women's housing units will be the informal dances to be held in the halls this weekend. Freshman women in taking charge of the dances are showing great enthusiasm for their first scheduled event. The dances will begin after the game with Oregon State tomorrow night.

Alpha Hall

The Christmas theme will be featured at the Alpha hall dance. Holly and fir bows used for decorations will give a holiday atmosphere. A poster of Santa Claus will be placed by the fireplace. The Christmas tree will be trimmed and the lights will add to the holiday spirit.

Mistletoe will welcome the guests as they enter the door.

Dr. and Mrs. William Moellerling and Prof. and Mrs. John L. Knight will be the chaperones.

Fredrickson Hall

"The Trolley Song" is to be the theme of the hop at Fredrickson hall. The dining room will be transformed into a gay panorama of trolleys, lampposts, moon and stars. Dorothy Deal is in charge of decorations.

Pat Anderson, assisted by Donna Chambers, is in charge of arrangements for the affair. Music from a record player will be provided by this committee. They are also in charge of securing patrons and patronesses.

Margaret Hathaway will take charge of refreshments to be served the group later in the evening.

Kappa Hall

Theme of the Kappa dance to be held in the upstairs recreation room will be "In the Blue of Evening." Decorations will be in that theme and blue spot lights will be used to create the atmosphere. Sara Lee Ferguson is general chairman for the affair.

Decorations will be handled by Elizabeth Zimmerman, chairman, assisted by Virginia Brown, Peggy Johnson, Jean Ludlow, Ellen Forslund, Virginia Davis, Jean Caldwell, Virginia Mears, Jane Hansen, Marian Erickson, Jean Stuart, and Lea Mau are in charge of refreshments.

The date committee is Marge Evanson and Janie Mathers. Music will be taken care of by Betsey Jean Holman, and Edith Irvine.

Margaret Ross will be chairman of the clean up committee and will be ably assisted by the freshman women in the hall.

The "Y"

"Gremlin Hop" will be the theme of festivities at the "Y" tomorrow night at 8:30 p. m. when "Y" women and their dates dance in the fireplace room. The motif, determined in a contest between house members, brought an $18.75 war bond to Toni Conner.

Wall sketches of gremlins at work, entertainment and food will all contribute to the selected theme, according to Terry Stuart, general chairman.

Assisting are Pat Miller and Pat Gillilan, co-chairmen for decorations and theme; Kay Dick and Pat Wetstein, entertainment; Jannie Fisher, Margie Grenfell and Marie Hildebrand, refreshments. Dates were arranged by a special committee made up of Barbara McDonald, Erna Roop and Gloria Harrington.

XO Selects Officers

Chi Omicron, petitioning Chi Omega, elected chapter officers at a recent house meeting. Officers elected were Barbara Korrell, president; Pat Waters, vice president; Juanita Moe, recording secretary; Pat Wetstein, corresponding secretary; Betty Staab, treasurer, Pat Miller, rush chairman, and Joan Newman, song leader.

Following the meeting the members tied "warsages" for the sixth War Loan drive. On next Friday, a Christmas party will be held at the country home of Edith Libby, patroness. Salem alumnae, patronesses, members and pledges will exchange gifts at the informal party.

Lamb-Doolittle Rites Will Be Read Tuesday Evening

Patricia Lamb will wed Warren Doolittle, seaman first class, US Coast Guard, Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. The ceremony will be solemnized at the First Congregational church by Rev. David Neilson. The church will be decked with flowers and matching tapers.

The bride has chosen white net for her gown. Her maid of honor, Dorothy Hoar, will wear a moss green gown trimmed in gold and will carry a floral bouquet trimmed with gold ribbon. Bridesmaids, Virginia Pope and Florence Duffy, will be gowned in chartruse and purple. They will carry floral bouquets placed on purple satin rings.

Mrs. Hugh W. McElhinny and Roberta Jean Yocum will light the tapers. Beth Siewert will be the soloist. She will sing "The Lords Prayer," and one other selection.

Miss Lamb's father, J. M. Lamb, will give the bride away. Best man for the groom will be Robert Shesness, seaman first class, US Coast Guard.

Bob East, Floyd McLelland, and Hobart Smith will usher. Miss Lamb attended Willamette last year as a sophomore and was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi. Doolittle is a graduate of Salem high school.

A wedding reception will be held in the fireplace room of the church immediately after the ceremony.

'CAT CAGERS

By WOLFSEHR

Gibbs Zauft, playing guard on the Bearcat squad this year, stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs in at 170 lbs. In his high school days Gibbs played on the basketball and baseball teams and ran the mile. At the end of a successful high school career he went to the University of Wisconsin. He became a member of Phi Delta Theta, a fraternity well known for many famous athletes. (Whoops! We almost forgot we're a Beta.) At the university he won his freshman numerals in basketball and came through in baseball and won his first major letter. He made a letter in baseball at Willamette too last summer.

He has been really banging the ball in the bucket from way out in the bushes with the kind of shots that brings the crowd to its feet, and keeps the team in the game no matter how hot it gets. Along with his shooting ability he is a real ball handler and passes the ball with the accuracy of a well-oiled machine. He is a good team man and sets the ball up nicely.

Before coming to Willamette for V-12 training, Gibbs was a Ph M 2/c with the fleet. He is following up that line which he had always wanted — pre-med. Along with his sports activities he has managed to stay right up with the best of them in grades.

Two Changes In Rules Seen

To clear up any possible question as to action taken in officiating at future basketball games, here are a couple of changes which have been made in rules this year.

First, a man may acquire five personal fouls during the course of any one game before being jerked. This is in place of the old "four and you're out" ruling. Secondly, a defensive man is not permitted to change the course of the ball if it is falling toward the basket, for example, a big man knocking 'em away above the basket.

Women's Sports

By Anyra Jean Curry

Do any of you ever visit the gym on Friday afternoons to watch the coeds in action? If you do, then you know that the basketball girls are shaping up (is that the word I want—don't think so) and are working into a good team although they can still use some more players.

The time has about arrived to see who is best at badminton. Miss Curry (not your author) is going to make a ladder for the women who have been turning out for practice and they will battle it out for top honors. From all reports there are some really good players who will enjoy the contest, so if you would like to see a good game of badminton, you might wander over to the gym some Friday afternoon.

Bearkittens Tip Pacific; Nixon High

Tony Fraiola's freshman basketball squad defeated a hastily thrown-together Pacific U. five, 35-29, in a see-saw game Wednesday night. But some Willamette men couldn't help but win as only three men came over from Forest Grove and two ex-Pacific V-12ers played for their old school. The gentlemen were Nolan and Nixon, who between them accounted for 16 points out of the 29 total, Nixon hitting 13 and Nolan 3.

With Jack Jensen and Ward Cummings leading the way, the baby Bearcats moved to a nine-seventh quarter time lead. But that second quarter the Pacific squad began to work together, holding the W-men to but a single free throw, while Nixon, Nolan, Kuluris and Finton all hit for the Forest Grove quint to bring the score at half time to 16-10, favoring the visitors. So back onto the maples went the kittens first team and the aforementioned flashes, Jensen and Cummings began to put them for the home team. Also helping out with the point-getting business were Tex DuHadway and little Bob Giron.

The baby 'Cats meet Pacific in a return game the 15th of this month at Forest Grove, as well as a preliminary feature of the varsity tussle Saturday night when they meet Linfield here.

Lineups:

Cummings	10 Finton
Jensen	11 Kuluris
DuHadway	6 Nixon

Giron	5 McDonald

'Cat Schedule Extended; Astoria Next

The Willamette hoopsters have filled out their schedule to a little more completeness, since the definite date for Freshman Glee has been set. The Bearcats tangle only once next week-end, and that is with the Astoria naval air base quint at Astoria Saturday night. The following week, the Flyers play in the local arena, this time on Friday night.

The first Saturday after Christmas leave, January 6, the 'Cats clash with the Klamath Falls marines on the home maples. The return game will be played the following Saturday at Klamath Falls.

There are several open dates in January, pending final selection of student body function times, but the season wind-up will come on Saturday evening, February 3, with a double header on the home court against the Whitman Missionaries.

B-1 Ties Up Top Spot In Drill Competition

Company B, Platoon one, took the marching and conduct awards this week which puts B-1 in a three-way tie for first place. A-1 and C-1 also having won the awards six times. C-2 is in second place with 4 ribbons, B-2 in third with 3, and A-2 strongly bringing up the rear with 1 ribbon won last semester.

Standings at the end of last semester were A-1 and B-1 five time winners tied for first. Company C in second place with 4 ribbons for each platoon, B-2 in third with 2 ribbons and A-2 last as usual with the one ribbon already mentioned.

Trottermen Out for Beaver Hide

Oregon Takes Second Series; Tate and Goodman Pace 'Cats

Though dropping two games to the Oregon Ducks last weekend, the improvement shown by the Bearcats made the pill a little easier to swallow. Oregon outraced the Trottermen in Eugene Friday night to walk off on the long end of a 70-51 score, but had to hustle Saturday night to stem a Bearcat rally, finally emerging with their second victory, 48-37.

In looking their best of the season so far over the best visiting club to play the Ducks at Eugene, Oregon jumped to a lead in the first 30 seconds, but were immediately tied up by forward Bob Ward, with one from the corner. From there on in it was pretty much Oregon, though the 'Cats came back with a rush at the start of the second period on quick ones by Stofft, Sanderson and Tate.

But the Oregon height proved too much for the Willamette squad, and with Dick Wilkins canning 23 points in the one evening, that pretty well cinched it.

Marv Goodman hit 13 for the Bearcats to tie with Oregon's Hamilton. Other impressive 'Cats were Bob Tate and Vic Odegard, forwards, who made 11 and 10 points, respectively, during the evening.

Opening Tiffs Next Week For Paddlers

Despite the fact that a slightly bitter athletic department requires that all participants furnish their own ping pong balls, first round playoffs of the winter semester intramural table tennis matches will begin next week according to Ken Mantle, who is in charge of the tournament.

Added interest in the tournament will be warranted by the challenge of Mary Acheson and Anna Ruth Gooding to meet any and all comers in women's singles or doubles. The two feminine paddle wielders have also offered to team up with ASWU President Rich Wicks, singles champ and runner-up respectively in the past two winter meets, to give competition to any mixed doubles entries.

The matches, which will be held in the gym during any afternoon, will be under the supervision of Athletic Director Les Sparks, who asks that scores be posted on the gym bulletin board after each round of play.

Though there have been no doubles entries as yet, any interested players are urged by tournament director Mantle to enter their names this week.

Men's singles entries so far include J. E. Ayres, Pavlock, McDonald, George, Wardrop, Poorman, Ford, Wright, Shum, Garrison, Jones, Gothe, Tate, Borough, Schappacher, Zauft, R. (n) Olson, Mantle, Tyndall, Jensen, Gilpin, Nicolai, Johnson, Goodman, Utter and Boyd.

'Mural Schedule

Tuesday A-2 vs. C-1.
Wednesday B-1 vs. C-2.
Thursday A-1 vs. A-2.

Acklin's Bootery

105 N. High St., Salem, Ore.

Oregon's Webfeet notched their fourth straight victory over Willamette's hoopsters Saturday night, but had to hold off a spirited 'Cat rally midway in the second period before emerging with a 48-37 victory. The hoop clash was a rough and ready tussle practically throughout.

After trailing at 26-20 at half-time, Coach Duke Thotter's speedsters, improving with every game, roared forth with the rally which slashed the Duck margin to a mere three points with nine minutes left to play. But at this point Captain Bob Hamilton started pouring in most of his dozen points for the evening and the John Warren men pulled away.

Ken Hays, 6-foot 7-incher for Oregon, was high for the game with 16 markers, nearly all made from tip-ins and lay-ups. Bob Tate, Willamette's speed burning forward, canned 13 to lead the 'Cat scoring.

KOAC to Broadcast Beaver-'Cat Tussle

Tonight's game between Willamette University Bearcats and the Oregon State Beavers will be broadcast from Corvallis over station KOAC, "your state-owned station." The game is slated for 8:00 and the broadcast should begin at that time. KOAC is about five hundred kilocycles. Sportscaster Jimmy Morris will be bringing you the play-by-play progress of the Eager-Beaver, Win-Thirsty 'Cat battle.

Saturday's Game Follows Frosh Tussle

The Willamette Bearcats, in the midst of a six-game losing streak, will encounter the high-riding Oregon State Beavers this weekend. The first game will be played tonight at Corvallis and will be broadcast over KOAC. Tomorrow evening the Beavers will journey to Salem for their final game against the 'Cats. The home game will commence immediately following a freshman tussle with Linfield which gets under way at about 7:15 p. m.

Despite the fact that the Trottermen have lost some tough games they still have lots of spirit and confidence. With the improvement they have shown in the last few games, the Beavers can look forward to a tough series. The Orangemen in their last appearance here had to come from behind in the final quarter to edge the 'Cats, 36-30.

The Bearcats at the present time only average about 5 feet 10 inches which isn't very tall for a college team. In all of their games Willamette had had to depend on small, ball-hawking hoopmen such as Tate and Goodman, as they have always been dwarfed by much taller opponents. With this advantage the opposing clubs have had possession of the ball most of the time and more shots.

The starting five for WU will probably be Bob Tate and Bob Ward, forwards, Paul Stofft, center, and Marv Goodman and Gibbs Zauft, guards.

Two Willamette Coeds All-American

Zimmerman, Merki Tops In Swimming

By Con Pavlock

To you former students who read of them again, and to you new students who have not yet heard the full details, we present Willamette university's claim to All-American notice in the aquatic world, Nancy Merki and Suzanne Zimmerman. Although their careers have been recorded in past issues of the Collegian, local and nationwide papers and the leading popular magazines, we of Willamette are yet proud to introduce them once again.

Both intelligent and sociable, Nancy and Sue are well known on the campus and active in collegiate circles, and their popularity is not due to, but rather heightened, by their highly commendable performance in the pool.

Our purpose here is not to glamorize or publicize the famous pair—that has already been done to a greater extent than we could hope to do. However, we merely wish to proclaim to all of you who have not realized it, the fact that we have in our student body, two nationally famous All-American swimmers and in any language All-American is strictly "big-time."

The number of records that they have held and still hold is a good indication of the activity of our two stars. Both of them were off to an early start, Nancy winning her first national championship at the age of 13, while Sue came within two-tenths of a second of the American 100-yard record during her freshman year in high school. Since then, they have been winning in countless meets, breaking and re-breaking records, until they now hold the present impressive record.

Sue Zimmerman

In the national relays, Perk and Sue teamed with swimming mate Brenda Helsel of Portland to hold the ribbons for the 300-yard and 200-meter medley relays, and the three of them together with a fourth team-mate, Mary Anne Hansen, now hold the record for the 400-yard and 400-meter free style relays. In this last, the team is but eight-tenths of a second from the world's record.

For individual laurels, Sue is credited with the national titles for the 110-yard backstroke won in 1942, the 150-yard individual medley in 1943, and the 100-yard indoor backstroke won this year in Oakland, Calif. Since 1941, the 19-year-old Pi Phi has also held the record for the 440-yard junior national freestyle.

However, Nancy is not to be shadowed, holding at present four American and one world's record. The American records are in the 220-yard freestyle, and the 200, 400, and 1500-meter freestyle. Perk's climb to world recognition came with her record-breaking swim in the 200-meter freestyle. The pride of the Delta Phi has not been idle either for the past summer, distinguishing herself with wins in the 200-meter and 220-yard breast stroke and in the 300-yard individual medley indoors.

Both women have been named on the official All-American swimming teams for the past several years, and in 1941, Perk was chosen as the outstanding woman swimmer. This honor was duplicated the following year by Suzanne, who became Oregon's outstanding woman athlete.

Although the two have been narrowly missing out on foreign competition, their future plans call for a rest this winter, to be followed by a resumption of activity in the spring, with an eye towards well-deserved Pan-American and Olympic berths. Good luck to a pair of swell coeds and super swimmers.

STAN-DOFFS

By BOYD

Well, it's another big series with Oregon State this week-end, and the Bearcats are really gunning for a Beaver hide. After the way OSC pulled one out of the fire two weeks ago and the way the 'Cats gave Oregon a scare last week, the games should be hard fought from beginning to end. Friday's game will be played at Corvallis, but will be broadcast over KOAC by Jimmy Morris, KOAC sportscaster. That "state-owned station" is down around the five hundreds on your radio dial.

Then on Saturday night, the last game of the year with Oregon State will be sweat out on the home maples. Although all advance publicity (?) has come only through the Collegian, the rafters should be crowded for space, no conflicting university or civic function (unless the Rialto is now considered to be a civic recreation spot) and a good, close game to look forward to, all add up to a good way to spend the early part of a rainy Saturday night.

Bob Tate is maintaining his lead as the top scorer on the Bearcat squad, boosting his total by 13 points last week-end. This also lifted his average to better than eight points a game, which is consistent shooting. Marv Goodman and Paul Stofft are still in second and third place, respectively.

Ex-Cats Here and There . . .

A few more ex-Willamette men have been seen around the campus during the past week. Likeable Norm Willard, now an ensign, is on his way to amphib training at San Francisco. Norm was an off-and-on member of the 'Cat casaba squad last year as well as being active in all intramural competition. Norm went straight from Willamette to Northwestern where he took his midshipman training.

Another ex-Willamette, ex-Northwestern ensign back on the campus is Gordon Kunk. Kunk came back in September just in time to miss Homecoming and to see the Bearcat eleven in action. However, he will be able to see the hoop squad in action this weekend. Gordy was a member of the '43 basketball squad and an ardent intramural star.

Also back was Athletic Specialist 2/c Clint Cameron, baseball flash at Willamette before the navy invaded. Clint also whacked the horse-hide for the Salem Senators and had his eye on the Brooklyn Dodgers when the war came along.

News of other ex-WU men: B. B. Carson has entered Northwestern midshipman school in the same class as Jim Frank and Fred Farrior. Don Plath and Ed Schaum are attending classes at the US naval hospital, Portsmouth, Va. Chief Specialist Ted Cottingham is attending rehabilitation school at Samson, N.Y. According to Ted's letters, the school isn't too terrific but the duty that will follow should be good.

The Doff . . .

A doff is in order to the freshman class for their good spirit and hard work last Friday morning. The W-men had the situation well in hand (when we finally rolled out of the sack at 0603), having very efficient platoons lined up doing calisthenics. Some of the freshman girls complained later of the aches and stiffness that resulted, but all took it in good spirit. (We can speak with no bitterness of all this, as the 0400 serenade failed to break into a complete night's sleep.) Cocoa and doughnuts afterward soothed any feelings of maltreatment on the part of the lettermen, and warmed the iciest of hearts. Nice going, frosh.

Simmons, Levenhagen Honorable Mention . . .

Some news should be breaking soon concerning selection of a team to represent the West in the Shrine game New Year's day. Though Chief Trotter hasn't heard anything definite as yet about whether any or all of the four Willamette men recommended will be accepted on the team, one of these men, Floyd Simmons, has received honorable mention on the all-Coast team. Another Willamette man, transfer from Washington, Bob Levenhagen, also was listed in that category. Don Rochon, Jerry Wolfsehr and Mary Goodman were the other WU men recommended. If any of these men deserve it, it is Floyd—particularly for his good showing against Washington.

Jensen Tops Mural Scoring . . .

Now that enough games have been played in the inter-platoon basketball league, some idea of the leading scorers is obtainable. Leading the field is lanky Jack Jensen of C-1, piling up 31 tallies in three games, or one better than ten each time he has stepped onto the maple court. In addition to that, "Swede" hit the highest number of points in any one game against A-1 the other night, potting seven field goals and gift shot for 15 big ones.

Next in line is little Sol Menashe of B-1, who has 29 counters in four games. Next best to Jensen in the average line, is "Dad" Bartholomew of C-2 with 15 points in two games, or 7.5 points per engagement.

Inter-Platoon Basketball Results

B-1 Takes B-2

Platoon B-1 trounced B-2 to the tune of 41-9 in Tuesday night's game. It was definitely a walkaway for the marauding, victory-flushed B-1 quint. B-2 played a good losing game but was no match for the big guns on the B-1 squad. High pointers were Hawley for B-1 with six buckets and one free throw for 13 counters, while Poorman, Bannecker, Lane and McIver each hit two points for B-2. Half time score was 26-4.

A-2 Over A-1

A-1 lost all prestige when cellar-dwelling A-2 beat them 25-19. The football-hero-laden team from the first platoon of A just couldn't start clicking on either the offense or defense, while the A-2 club refused to do anything wrong. It was a clean, well-played, exciting game although a number of fouls were called. The tip went to A-2 for the most fouls committed during the 45 minute interbal but Jim Conway of A-1 earned the most marks for any one individual.

The half-time score stood at 16-13 and the game was that close until the last couple of minutes, with A-2 leading. Bill Work of A-1 took the scoring honors for the game, with ten points to his credit while Dick Olson of A-2 accounted for nine of the winner's total.

C-1 Over B-1

C-1 and B-1 met this week in a close one which ended in C-1's victory with 25 points and B-1 with but 22. Jensen was again the high point man both for his platoon and for the game, counting up ten more points on the credit side of his ledger. Levenhagen was high for B-1 with six points. The half time score was all tied up at 12 apiece. The lead changed hands many times but the shooting in the clutch really counted in the last few minutes.

B-2 Over A-2

The boys from B-2 won out in a hard fought battle with A-2 Thursday night, 22-21. It was closely fought all the way, the halftime score being 12 up. It was anybody's ball game until just the final whistle when Tex DuHarway slipped in with one under the bucket to cinch the victory.

High man for the game was Dead-eye Chuck Larkin who tossed ten counters through the hoop for the unfortunate boys from A-2. High man for the winners was lanky Lyle Shum who added seven points to his scoring list. It was the third loss for A-2 while B-2 was racking up its second victory.

Red Cross Unit Gets Charter, Prepares Christmas Boxes

Charter for Willamette's Red Cross unit was presented to Chairman Jeannette Mack and Co-Chairman Virginia Barber Wednesday at a special meeting held in Eaton hall. Meanwhile the preparation of Christmas boxes headlined the activity of the newly installed organization.

The charter will be publicly presented at a student body meeting on some future date, according to Miss Mack. Present at the Wednesday meeting were Dr. Robert E. Lantz, Justice J. T. Brand, Mrs. G. E. Bynon, Pres. G. Herbert Smith, Carol Hays and Ann Strother.

Each of the four sororities and three living groups are filling Christmas boxes to be turned over to Red Cross headquarters before Sunday. The boxes will go overseas to prisoners of war. Items wrapped in attractive Christmas paper included in the boxes are writing pad and pencil, soap, cigarettes, handkerchiefs, camphor ice, combs, mirrors, water-proof pouch, snapshot case, pocket book editions and small games.

With Lois Robinson as general chairman, the four sororities have for chairman Pat Ann Sly, Delta Phi, Emma Lou East, Pi Beta Phi, Maxine Wagner, Alpha Chi Omega, and Pat Waters, Chi Omicron. The independent groups are under the leadership of Pat Gillilan, YMCA, Mary Carson, Fredrickson and Lois Robinson, Delta Tau Gamma.

Cavern Adds Malt Shakes, Short, Thicks

Santa Claus has come to town for Cavern fans this week. Decked in red and green streamers and gay designs, the Bearcat fairly jingles with Christmas cheer.

Manager Geneva Brown has done her Christmas snooping early this season and has a pretty good idea that a fountain will be found in Willamette's Christmas stocking. Of course, no definite promise can be made, since fountains are no longer manufactured. "Second - hand fountains with the proper elements and dimensions are few and far between," explains the manager, "but we are doing all we can to obtain one."

The menu too has some Christmas surprises. Malted milk shakes, short 'n thick, and chocolate cake top the list for quick snacks, and soup will soon be simmering in the pot.

The floor is aglow, thanks to wax and elbow grease—all set for a holiday twirl or two.

Additional evidence of the approaching season is to be seen in the bookstore where Mrs. Delsia Larson has brightened her establishment with holly-filled vases, evergreens, candles and streamers.

Issue of Alumni Paper Off Press

The third quarterly alumni paper came off the press yesterday and will be mailed to all the alumni of Willamette university this week. "The Alumnus" will carry a story concerning the Willamette Loyalty Fund and also the names of two persons who have won scholarships. Prof. Murco Ringnald of the journalism department and Sybil Spears alumni secretary, are the editors of the four-page publication.

Interview Due In Screening For 45 V-12's

Fourty-five men of the Willamette V-12 unit will be interviewed by Capt. George W. Shepard and Lt. George C. Bliss and M. E. Woodell as the second step in the process screening those qualified for upper level specialties such as engineering and NROTC. Bases for qualification are the navy aptitude test, officer-like characteristics, recommendation of the professors, dean and president of the college and the desires of the men. These are integrated with the results of the interviews and sent to BuPers for final action.

Twenty men have been approved for flight training and the findings of their mental and physical exams have been sent to the naval officer procurement board where they will be acted on and then forwarded to BuPers for final selections. The drop from the 80 men originally requesting this training to the 20 now recommended is a result of transferring to other schools, to deck training and some because of low flight aptitudes.

Tuition, Board, Room Due Next Friday

All tuition and student body ticket fees must be paid by next Friday Robert W. Fenix, business manager, announced today. The second payment on board and room for all university living organizations is also due on that date.

Band to Play Thursday

Freshman roll call chapel Monday will feature Gale Curry, head of the women's physical education department, and Mrs. Minnie Mortimer, university nurse. Their topic will be the health privileges offered by the university.

Navy movies will be presented on Tuesday's all-student chapel.

Dr. Edgar Purdy is to be guest speaker on the Wednesday religious chapel. Purdy is district superintendent of the Salem district of the Methodist church and a trustee of Willamette.

All those who enjoy foot-tapping to four-four time will be interested in the Thursday program.

MODERN DESIGN

Stan Skillicorn stopped in Salem last week en route to Tulane Medical School in New Orleans, La. He spent a brief liberty with his parents in Long Beach, Calif., before reporting for duty.

Skillicorn was composer of last year's senior glee song and, with his sax playing partner, Larry Kells, composed "Slow Down Baby" last fall.

Marine Captain Grover R. Betzer, former student here, who logged 1100 hours in three central Pacific campaigns as a pilot with a transport air group, has returned to the United States.

Betzer, who spent 13 months overseas with the transport group, operated from bases in the Gilberts, Marshalls and Marianas, flying supplies and personnel to more than 20 Allied-held islands in the Pacific.

His transport plane often was used to evacuate wounded to rear base hospitals.

He is now stationed at the Leatherneck air depot, Miramar, Calif. He received his wings in 1941.

Corporal Elbert McKinlay of the class of '43 is awaiting orders at the Camp Hunt replacement center in Georgia. He is a waist gunner on a B-17. While at Willamette he was affiliated with Kappa Gamma Rho. His sister, Evangeline, is attending Willamette.

Gilbert Caulsman, pharmacist's mate, a former student at Willamette, is home on extended furlough. He participated in the attacks upon Bougainville and Guam. Caulsman was a member of the class of '43 and was an active member of the campus cappella choir.

Bob Schlegel Held Prisoner In Germany

Pvt. Robert Schlegel was this week reported a prisoner of war in Germany. Schlegel, a former Willamette student, has been listed as missing in action since September 2.

An army reserve, Schlegel was called to active duty in March, 1943, and after training in Texas was sent overseas in January of this year. He first landed in North Africa and then went to Sicily. Later he was on the Anzio beachhead and participated in the drive north to Rome. On August 15 he took part in the invasions of southern France.

While at Willamette, Schlegel was affiliated with Sigma Tau, fraternity. He is a resident of Salem and attended Salem schools.

Religion On and About the Campus

Interfaith Council

Dorothy Toomey was elected president and Delvon Long, secretary of the campus Interfaith council at its meeting in Eaton hall Tuesday afternoon. Also running for president was Alice Rose and the other nominee for secretary was Caroline Cooper.

Miss Toomey is an independent and a sophomore from Portland. Miss Long, YW president, is a junior formerly of Salem high.

The group decided to present a Christmas chapel program on Wednesday, December 20. Committee members chosen are Conrad Pavlock, Alice Rose, Lois Messing, Gloria Wunsch and Melvin Gilson.

The council is an organization composed of two elected representatives of each major religious groups in which Willamette students are interested. Regular meetings will be held the first Monday of every month during chapel period in the northwest history room of the library.

Vespers

Jean Fries, past president, will lead the discussion at university interdenominational Vespers Sunday night at 6 in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church.

Vespers is a traditional discussion group which deals with religious problems that are raised in society today. Bill Cate, junior, is president for the present semester and Jan Patterson serves as vice president.

Catholic Club

Speaker last night at the regular meeting of the Catholic club was Father MacDonald of Salem. An informal discussion was held and approximately 20 people were present. Conrad Pavlock is president of this group which meets every two weeks in Christ.

Evelyn Chapman and Melvin Gilson were elected secretary and vice president respectively of the Oregon Methodist Student Movement at the Methodist conference held in Corvallis last weekend. Prof. John L. Knight is advisor of this group.

Thirty-five students from Willamette attended the conference this year as compared with 17 last year.

Cleo Belle Wakefield, Oregon State, was elected president and Harriet Odgers, Linfield, was elected treasurer.
