WILLAMETTE SONGS.

Through the medium of the annual Freshman Glee and the affiliated department of music, Willamette possesses as representative a collection of college songs as any institution of a similar size in the country. Every year sees from four to six songs written in praise of Willamette Mater and, without doubt, the standards of musical composition seem to be annually increasing. In the 1915 Glee the diversified nature of the respective songs was the occasion for favorable comment on every hand. With such a splendid inheritance we as Willamette students ought to learn these melodies, if not as a part of our college education, at least as a token of faith and loyalty toward our alma mater.

The custom of rising with bared heads when "An Old Historic Temple" is sung by any Willamette musical organization is a worthy step in the right direction. The singing of college songs was advocated last year, but apparently the movement died from lack of leadership. This year ought to and must see a change. Wednesday's program was highly commendable as a beginning, but the singing of what is possibly one of the two greatest Willamette songs, J. R. Bain's "To Willamette University," was pitifully feeble when compared with the resounding spirit with which it might have been sung. Of course, the excuse is offered that the freshmen were not familiar with the words. In a way they are not responsible for, in some unaccountable way the yells and songs were omitted from the "Y" handbook in which they ought to have been published. However, the responsibility for familiarizing the underclassmen with the songs is for the seniors and juniors to take the lead in the singing. Have the Song Queen and two or three live assistants mount the rostrum and inject some leadership and rhythm into the singing, so that the rather barren walls will resound the strains and melodies with a mighty resonance which may be heard for blocks. Make it a point to see that YOU are familiar with the song; to be sung on that Wednesday morning. And let the song be repeated so that every student will know every word. Let it be an organized movement, which is the only reliable movement for the greatest efficiency. "Give Willamette a chance!"

A COMMENDABLE STEP.

Last Saturday morning in the face of the blinding rainstorm a prominent Willamette student drove up in a wagon to the rear of Eaton Hall and loaded onto his vehicle and hauled it away. Such spirit is to be highly commended. It is but in keeping with the spirit of a greater Willamette, though it does seem to be a trifle dormant at times. One of the most encouraging signs of a general re-awakening has been the current discussion this week in regard to a re-organized Willamette Campus Improvement Association.

An opportunity for great service to Willamette is open to some live student who is willing to sacrifice a few hours a week for the execution of systematic plans to get every student to work. If three men who mean business and are capable of writing forceful English can be secured, ye editor would gladly take the matter up, but as they don't seem to exist on the campus, the hope is a forlorn one for ye editor. The first measure to be advocated is to scrub off that red S. H. S. between the massive entrance pillars to Eaton Hall. That streak of red has resided there entirely too long for any Willamette student with any spark of the old fighting spirit in him. Many schemes could be mentioned. Let's get busy and co-ordinate a clean campus with Willamette's unimpeachable standards of clean sportsmanship. It's a worthy undertaking. Why not back up words by actions?

THE COLLEGIAN.

Matters on the Collegian have been shifting from bad to worse on the Collegian staff the last few issues, but the students may be assured from now on there will be a marked improvement in the news situation. Any one on the inside knows the difficulty. The Rubicon has been crossed and the Collegian will not tolerate any half-baked writings any longer. A general shakeup is due at once and the sooner the leader knows it, the better. During the past few weeks the athletic situation has not been adequately covered. The Collegian knew it, and appreciated the criticism. Grover Gates will have full charge of sports from now on. He will be assisted by five men. Such a system will and must produce results. The removal of the load will enable other departments to be built up to the standards the Collegian must uphold. It is time for the hypochondriac support to be turned toward the benefiting of Old Willamette. The Collegian is the student's organ, not the editor's. Not more than a handful of students have offered suggestions, the knockers may be counted by the score. Why not boost and "Give Willamette a chance?"

The next issue of the Willamette Collegian will be published and ready for distribution on December 8.

A New Way of an Old Game.

Not all the girls at Lausanne Hall are so fortunate as to have the opportunity to go automobiling and it was with something more than envy that the girls watched a Ford driven by Baird Findley recently stop in front of the dormitory. "Brick" Stuart hopped out and called for a certain young lady at the hall whom he installed in the back seat and jumped in beside the driver. Fresh etiquette is a peculiar animal, isn't it?

Have you heard anything more from those Missourians?

WILLAMETTE'S FORUM

Chill or Fever? Which?

"I'm beginning to get the college fever and think I want to go to Eugene," writes one of the most attractive Senior girls of Jefferson High School.

"I am quite sure my brother will go to O. A. C., because all through his high school course he has had a friend there who sent him the college papers and bulletins."

"I could have told you when I was three years old that I was going to Willamette."

SALEM HIGH NEWS

On Friday evening, November 19, a banquet was given by the student council in honor of the football squad. The affair was held for the purpose of showing a material expression of the gratitude of the students for the work of the team which represented Salem High on the football field and which won the Willamette Valley championship by defeating Albany on November 13. Principal Nelson presided, and spoke briefly on the value of football from the standpoint of sentiment and mental training. Short talks were given by Coach Clancy and members of the team, and brief toasts were called for from all who were present. The banquet was held in the domestic science rooms of the high school and was prepared by members of the domestic science classes.

At the first debate tryout which was held on Thursday, November 18, the following members were selected to compete in the final tryout: Frank Rosebraugh, Harold Emmel, Carlton Savage, Ira Mercer, Thomas McGilchrist, James Walker, Lloyd Case and Maynard Sawyer. From this number the negative and affirmative teams of three each will be chosen, to debate the question of military training in the schools. The first debate will be held early in January, when Salem will meet the Newberg and Jefferson teams.

On Friday, November 13, the sophomore class entertained the freshmen at a very clever party. Members of the sophomore class presented a little playlet, staged in a union depot. At the close of this "Uncle Josh and Aunt Sally" invited everyone to join in a grand march to the gymnasium, where all joined in old-fashioned songs and games. During the evening the orchestra played, and several other musical selections were enjoyed. Refreshments were served in the form of a picnic lunch, which included turkey sandwiches and cider.

A chemistry society was recently organized, for the purpose of increasing interest in the study of chemistry. Lectures will be given, and experiments will be performed at the regular meetings which are to be held every two weeks. The officers of the society are: Victor Ried, president; Franklin Miller, vice-president; Marjorie Kay, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Clark, the chemistry teacher, organized the society, which will be called "The Clark Chemical Society," in his honor.

than it is in the gymnasium. But now a new difficulty arose. While the class was busily engaged with the experiment, it had begun to rain and was simply pouring. Those who had considered umbrellas unnecessary, made a wild run across the campus, carefully avoiding the treacherous walks. Those with umbrellas, thinking themselves quite fortunate, started out more slowly. They soon found, however, that the wind contested their right of possession. Strenuous attempts were made to hold the prized means of protection, but one succeeded in turning wrong side out. The amazed owner stood still in the rain and looked at the useless shelter, until told that it was drier inside, when she seemed to regain her memory and followed the suggestion.

At last everyone arrived safe, though slightly wet; but the end was not yet. Forgetting that they were not the only ones in school, they gathered in a hilarious group about the register. This proved disturbing to those taking an examination in Professor Hall's classroom, thus necessitating dispersal.

The experiment had really been successful, though not as lengthy as was expected, so considering everything, the morning proved very much worth while.

Lloyd Shister is the only senior on the football team this year. His graduation will be felt in athletic circles.

ALUMNI PERSONALS

Rena Mickey, '14, is teaching foreign languages in the high school at Turner, Oregon.

Albert Minton, '12, is in Albany, where he put his knowledge of Blackstone into practical use.

Dr. Grover Bellinger, '12, has charge of Oregon State Tuberculosis hospital.

N. M. Newport, '95, who was the first manager of the Collegian, is now a journalist in Lebanon, Oregon.

Margaret Citlins, who received her master's degree from Willamette in 1912, is living in Tillamook, Oregon.

Edith Sherwood, '14, is teaching science in the high school at Mill City, Oregon.

The Misses Clara Schnasse and Mildred McBride of the 1915 class are teaching in the junior high schools in Salem.

Keith Van Winkle, '15, is teaching in the high school at Scotts Mills. Her mother also taught school in this same town many years ago.

Oliver Matthews, '14, is pursuing a course in pedagogy at the State Normal school at Monmouth in which he will be graduated in February.

That Harry Irvine, '15, is destined to be a famous football coach before long is shown by the fact that his Estacada proteges have amassed a total score of 366 points for the season against 32 for their opponents.

LAW NOTES

The bitterly fought case of Ezekiel Corntassel against Jim Hayseed in the moot court was decided in favor of the defendant on November 16. Much discussion pro and con was provoked on both sides on the amusing case which was centered around the ownership of some itinerant hogs.

The case of W. W. Lamb, plaintiff, against W. Y. Knott, defendant, in an action for the recovery of real property will be heard before Judge Van Winkle in the Willamette moot court next Monday evening, November 29. From the particulars in the case it is safe to predict an interesting discussion. Mr. McGilchrist, assisted by Miss Smith, will represent the plaintiff, while Messrs. Walker, Lampert and Roger will uphold the defendant.

Freshman laws have finished texts in Blackstone and have taken up the study of contracts.

The juniors will study corporations under Mr. Smith in the near future instead of partnership.

At a banquet in Missouri the local orator responded to a toast "The Ladies."

In unbroken eloquence he told how the roses, the lilies, the peaches, the cherries, and the stars had been robbed of their beauties to endow the women of Missouri.

A Kansan squirmed with envy, and when the orator sat down he arose and drawled out, "The women of Kansas are all that and then some."

Just so with the clothes we sell.

There is to be a Thanksgiving jolly-up in the gym Thursday evening to which all the university students are invited. Especially are those who will not go home for Thanksgiving urged to come and enjoy the culmination of one of the best Thanksgiving days in their lives.

The Sherwood home was the scene of a happy reunion Saturday evening when the members of the Snodgrass family gathered to celebrate Thanksgiving. Grandfather and Grandmother were at the door to welcome their children who traveled the last part of their journey in a big auto truck.

Who live in a nearby city, you know. There are stalwart boys both true and fine. And lassies galore who are superfine. Mingling with this family lot I have often sat me down and thought, And now I've busted into rhyme To say something at this special time.

And now for some words from this jolly crowd, Who know how to talk, some long and some loud."

The first toast took the form of a greeting "To My New Grandchildren." Here Grandmother Snodgrass, Miss Mildred Bartholomew, arose and in behalf of the old Philo girls gave the new Philos a warm and friendly greeting.

"Then grandfather old and gray, Whose heart is light and young and gay, Will speak from memories' dotted page."

MISS MARY CONE. Popular Graduates of the Class of 1915, Who Are Teaching in the Willamette Academy.

renown Their fame has spread from town to town, A goodly word to add to your store Of princely manners and makeshift lore."

Next the very elegant and fastidious Mrs. Julius Caesar Dramaticus, Miss Valeria Goldberger, proceeded to express herself freely upon the table manners of her country relatives.

"I never made a speech before." "I'm sure this one will be quite poor."

"The curtain falls. The embers of the fire burn low. The candles wasted by their own flame, sputter and go out. Anticipation has passed into reality—reality into dreamland and the Philodorian banquet of 1915 has slipped into memory, blessed, sweet, enduring memory!"

President Doney met with Governors Withycombe, Alexander and Lister and Captain Richard P. Hobson at the large prohibition luncheon held at Hotel Multnomah, Portland, last Wednesday. Addresses, made by Governor Alexander and Captain Hobson, before a large audience, assembled for the occasion, were inspiring and uplifting.

Miss Mildred Bartholomew, '15, was the guest of Miss Perkins last week-end. She was a chapel visitor Monday.

The Misses Edith and Ione Lewis, ex-'17, spent the week-end at the Hall the guests of Miss Ruth Tasker.

As the Christmas season draws near the average student is becoming greatly perplexed as to how he or she will write all the back themes and book reports and at the same time plan all the necessary Christmas presents. There is one solution so close at hand that many of the students have overlooked the splendid opportunity which is offered in Miss Gill's art studio in the Science building.

Rev. J. S. Green, of Brownsville, was the guest of his daughter, Miss Ruth Green, on Thursday. He was also a chapel visitor.

Misses Helen and Clarice Haines have decided that college life is too strenuous when home and university are three miles apart, so they have settled on Cottage and Ferry streets for the remaining months of school.

Glen J. MacCaddam, '15, was a business visitor in Portland last Saturday. He is a frequent and welcome campus visitor.

One of the best programs of the year delighted a large attendance of Websterians on last Wednesday evening. Some interesting topics were treated in a very able manner by several of the new men. Mr. Hall discussed "American Munitions as a Decisive Factor in the Present European War." "Free Speech in American Colleges," was treated by Mr. Minton. Mr. Stamm described the "Wireless Telephone and Its Meaning to Man." "The Worker's Share in the War," was presented by Mr. Randall. Installation of officers, a feature of the evening, was followed by Web Enta, including some of Gus Anderson's invigorating cider.

Miss Anna Swanson, of Spokane, was a chapel visitor Monday morning and later spoke to the European History class on Scandinavia. Sunday she lectured in the Scandinavian language at the Swedish church, where Rev. Ovall is pastor. Mrs. Swanson is at present writing a book, "The Scandinavians of the Northwest." She was the guest over Sunday of Dean and Mrs. Geo. H. Alden.

Among the many Salem people who attended the Oregon-O. A. C. game at Eugene were several Willamette football enthusiasts, Prof. Wallace MacMurray, Coach Mathews and Mr. Laban Steeves. It is rumored that Mr. Harry Bowers and Mr. Paul Miller took the train the evening before in order to avoid the rush and to be in town to welcome the excursionists.

An invitation is extended to all university students to attend a party next Friday night given by the Epworth League of the First M. E.

church at the home of Miss Laura Cummings, 1420 State street. An entertainment which will afford everyone a fine time has been provided and those who remain here for Thanksgiving vacation are assured of a certain cure for homesickness.

"Hard times" were experienced in a very realistic manner at the sophomore party which was held in the Science building Saturday night. All of the hungry members of the class assembled at 6 o'clock and enjoyed a sumptuous supper which did not, however, show the effects of hard times. The peace of the scene was interrupted by some freshmen in search of excitement. The situation was becoming very tense but Prof. MacMurray was able to rise to the occasion and in a few dramatic sentences quieted the angry freshman mob.

Mr. Frank Barton, '13, visited the university for a few hours last Wednesday. As a result of his early training on the Collegian staff, he is now reporting for the Oregonian.

The young ladies at the Dew-Drop Inn were presented with lovely chrysanthemums last Thursday. The Rev. Mr. Jeffrey was the guest of his daughter, Miss Dorothy, and won the hearts of the Dew-Drops by his attention to the development of the aesthetic senses.

MR. WALDO MILLS Whom the Collegian Congratulates on the Birth of a Eleven-Pound Son.

All of the old students were glad to greet Mr. Warren Booth again, when he appeared on the campus last Monday. He was one of the most popular and able members of the class of '17 and his absence from school this year has caused keen regret among his many friends.

program consisting of the following numbers, a bass-horn solo, "Go Tell Aunt Rody," by Mr. Ray Metcalf; a humorous vocal solo by Miss Evelyn Cathey, and a reading by Mr. Lloyd Lee and a debate, "Resolved, That all bachelors should give thirty cents per annum toward the support of spinsters." The affirmative, upheld by Miss Gertrude Cunningham and Mr. Roger Lyons, won over the negative supported by Miss Fannie McKennon and Mr. Errol Proctor.

Mr. Arthur Bagley, a nurseryman at Canby, Oregon, was a Sunday guest of his brother and sister, Mr. Frank and Miss Mildred Bagley, at 291 N. Summer.

Miss Mildred Bagley and her brother, Mr. Frank Bagley, have taken housekeeping rooms at 291 N. Summer. Mr. Bagley announces that he will continue to keep his "pressing" engagements.

A charmingly appointed dinner party was given Tuesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves at their home on Church and Chemeketa streets. The table decorations of Papa Gontler roses and gypsophelia were especially tasteful. The guests for this occasion were Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Dr. and Mrs. Richard N. Avison and Dr. and Mrs. Mark C. Findley.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Nace, of Tacoma, Washington, are being entertained in Salem. They are welcomed by many of their old Willamette friends who remember Mrs. Nace as Miss Loretta Young, one of the most popular members of the class of 1908. Dr. Nace was at one time all-Northwest half-back and was prominent in university affairs. Master Morris Nace, has accompanied his parents on their visit to this city.

True to the proverbial feminine curiosity the Adelantes went to their meeting Friday to discover the surprise which the unique poster announced was to be a feature of the afternoon's program. After the girls arrived each one obtained by a clever device a topic upon which she was to talk extemporaneously. Many interesting and original thoughts were given on such topics as "What the End of Football Has Meant to Me," "Cooking Thanksgiving Dinner," and "Making the Pie Go Round." Miss Evelyn Reigelman delighted her listeners with a piano solo. An enjoyable as well as profitable time was spent with Xmas sewing.

Miss Elmore Ruby is in the city, the guest of Miss Lucile Kuntz.

The Y. M.-Y. W. vesper services held Sunday at 3 o'clock in the Philo halls, were attended by a large number of the students. Mr. Walter Giesler, president of Y. M., presided and Miss Beryl Holt, president of Y. W., read the Scripture lesson. Miss Mary Schultz played a beautiful violin solo and Miss Evelyn Cathey sang in her usual pleasing manner. Dr. John O. Hall then gave the address of the afternoon, which was a splendid presentation of thoughts based on Winston Churchill's "The Inside of the Cup."

Miss Ruth Hodge, ex-'16, is frequently seen on the campus and at chapel exercises. Her health is much improved and she expects to register in the university for the second semester.

Captain Richmond P. Hobson and Dr. Edwin Stearns were the guests of President and Mrs. Doney at dinner Thursday evening.

Mr. Frank Barton, '13, visited the university for a few hours last Wednesday. As a result of his early training on the Collegian staff, he is now reporting for the Oregonian.

The young ladies at the Dew-Drop Inn were presented with lovely chrysanthemums last Thursday. The Rev. Mr. Jeffrey was the guest of his daughter, Miss Dorothy, and won the hearts of the Dew-Drops by his attention to the development of the aesthetic senses.

Miss Ruth Young, ex-'15, who attended Willamette during her freshman and sophomore years, is remembered by many of the students as one of the finest and most enthusiastic of the famous boosters which the university has known. She took an active part in all student affairs and during her presidency the Girls' Willamette Club became an organization whose influence was felt in all affairs which were of vital interest to the students. She is now a senior at the University of California and her many friends wish her success in her work there.

All of the old students were glad to greet Mr. Warren Booth again, when he appeared on the campus last Monday. He was one of the most popular and able members of the class of '17 and his absence from school this year has caused keen regret among his many friends. Mr. Booth was the famous quarterback of last year's football team and also gained his baseball numeral as a member of the base ball nine. He has been spending the summer and fall in northern Washington and is now on his way to the exposition at San Francisco.

Mrs. Merwyn E. Paget, nee Aileen Ambrose, was the week-end guest of Miss Lucile McCully.

DR. HALL TO LECTURE

Popular Professor Is Much in Demand in Metropolitan Cities.

Dr. John O. Hall will speak in Canby, Oregon, on Thanksgiving day. His subject probably will be "The Economic Progress of the Last Century in the United States." His lectures in Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle will possibly be postponed from the Christmas holidays to Easter vacation because of his limited time. Meanwhile he is negotiating other lectures in Portland with various clubs. His engagements would be more numerous if he felt that he would not injure the work of his Monday classes by late arrivals on trains.

JEFFREY VISITS PORTLAND.

W. R. Jeffrey, manager of the Willamette Collegian, was in Portland on business Wednesday and Thursday. He reports a highly successful trip, financially and socially. A number of representative Portland firms appreciate the value of the Collegian as an advertising medium that brings results and are more than glad to advertise. "Jeff" intends to raise the circulation to 2200 copies this issue which will be a bigger boost than ever for old Willamette.

BAILEY SELECTS ALL STAR TEAM

Gives Four Willamette Men Places on Paper Eleven.

Albany Coach Also Mentions Five Other W. C. Men Favorably—Is Capable of Choosing for He Has Watched Teams During Season.

Coach Bailey, of Albany College, after seeing the non-conference teams in at least two games this season has picked an all-star eleven. He has followed the work of the teams closely and is an authority on the ability of the different men.

Four of the men on his all-star team are from Willamette and five others receive prominent consideration. Rexford was chosen right end, Tobie right tackle, R. Archibald center, and C. Archibald quarterback. Shisler, Small, Hendricks and Irvine were considered for backfield berths on the mythical eleven and Mann was mentioned for tackle. The men picked for the paper eleven, their position, and the school they represent are as follows:

Varsity Women Bid Fair to Have Championship Team

Under the efficient coaching of R. L. Mathews, the varsity women bid fair to develop into some first-class basketball material before many weeks. At the Thursday evening practice fifteen women were out for work and the fair athletes played two strenuous games in double quick time. As many of the young ladies have starred on high school teams and seem likely to continue their records, Coach Mathews will undoubtedly be able to develop a creditable team. In due time it is more than possible that games with the high school and intercollegiate quintets will be staged.

As finances will not permit an intercollegiate schedule, Oregon basketballers will frolic on their own floor this season.

Exit of Football Shows Basketball Outlook Promising.

Five Letter Men Back in Harness—Campus Organizations to Play One Another—New Material Is High Class—Schedule Tentative as Yet.

With the football season just closed, basketball is again the stellar attraction of "athletedom." Every night sees an increase in the number of men out for practice on the gym floor, and without doubt the competition for places on the first squad will be very keen.

Crawford, the whirlwind guard, is the only man missing from the six who earned their letter last year. Thus with five letter men for a nucleus and a wealth of new material lining up, prospects are bright for a fast team.

The old men who are again turning out for practice are Captain Shisler and Jewett, forwards of last year; Wallace Adams, the big center; Flegel and Dagley, as guards. Proctor subbed last season and with the experience gained will crowd some one for a job on the quintet.

Of the new men out, Jackson, a player of high school fame, is showing up well at center. Irvine and Brooks are displaying form at the forward positions while Raymond Archibald, Hendrix, and Harris are working hard for guard tryouts. With all this crew working for places on the team, the personnel of the first squad may change at any time.

To get a line on first squad material and to give every man an opportunity to make good Coach Mathews has made a schedule of games between all the organizations on the campus. It is planned to finish this schedule before the Christmas holidays so that the work of rounding the first team into shape may begin immediately after school resumes.

No definite schedule has as yet been arranged, but it is probable that games will be played with the alumni, O. A. C., and the non-conference colleges. A northern trip, taking in the Washington schools is contemplated. The students may rest assured that Manager Bain will arrange a schedule that will be thoroughly representative and worthy the fast team which is certain to be developed.

CLINTON ARCHIBALD All Star Non-Conference Half Back. Who Was Injured in the Pacific Game.

ARCHIBALD SHOWS GRIT

Speedy Halfback Returns to Campus in Record Time.

Everyone is glad to see "Clint" Archibald back in school so soon. His injured ankle proved to be a sprain and not a break as it was first reported. The Drs. Wallace, of Albany made an X-ray examination of the injured member and pronounced it a bad sprain.

"Clint" is showing his characteristic grit by hobbling to classes. Professor Matthews said, "It is wonderful. He has missed but one trigonometry class since the game with Pacific."

Much Credit Is Due 'Scrubs' for Success of Season Closed

No small amount of credit for the showing which the first team made this season is due the scrubs, for it is a well known fact that, without a strong string of second team men, it is impossible to develop a formidable first team.

The second string men fought through the season this year without getting to play a single game. They turned out night after night and took the knocks and bruises in scrimmages against the first squad without any thought of recognition for themselves but only in the hopes of doing what they could for the good of old Willamette. They showed the spirit of sacrifice that is at the root of all of Willamette's athletic successes. Otto, Steeves, H. Miller, Sherwood, Spiess, Stamm, Sparks, Gleiser, Bain and Sandifer deserve high commendation for their consistent, and unselfish work throughout the season.

Jackson Retains Cup

The cross country cup given by Hauser Brothers was presented to Rene Jackson last Friday. He led the winning freshmen team in the annual cross country race and the cup will rest in the possession of the class for one year; two successive wins being necessary to retain permanent possession.

FROSH-SOPHS TO LINE UP DEC. 1

Annual Challenge Is Read at Tuesday's Chapel Hour.

C. Archibald to Coach Sophs, While Captain Flegel Will Direct the Verdant Class Warriors—Grandstand Numerals of 1919 Are at Stake.

In calling the game at Eugene last Saturday the "football classic of the year," somebody blundered. There is yet in store for the fans a game of great moment, one that is sure to be hotly contested by the contending organizations. The real "classic" is to be staged on Sweetland field December the first when the class of '15 meets the class of '19 as per challenge.

The sophomores, smarting under the drubbing received in the bag rush and tiring of the bedeviled nature of their class numerals, are making diligent preparations for the coming event. Manager Austin, knowing the necessity of a well-coached team, has succeeded in obtaining All-Star Quarterback Clinton Archibald for head coach.

Able Assistants Working.

Associated with Head Coach C. Archibald will be two assistant coaches in the persons of "Demon" Tobie and "Bap" Miller, both of varsity fame. They will take particular care of the line.

With the experience gained in last year's tussle and the array of hard working coaches, the eighteeners can be depended upon to put up a hard fight.

Frosh Are Confident.

The frosh are very confident of walking away with the big end of the score. They have a wealth of material to pick from and will undoubtedly have two teams ready for the fray. They have not decided yet whether to start the game with their first or second team. Both teams will in all probability have a chance to play. The crafty football captain, Earl C. Flegel, early in the season signed a contract with Manager Irvine to coach the nineteeners. The consideration necessary to secure such talent was not mentioned in the contract, but it was undoubtedly the largest yet offered. Flegel is full of the "old fight" and it is certain he will instill much of it into his inexperienced men.

Coach Flegel knows the game from every position and has a shipload of new and surprising plays to foist on the public when the two teams start scrapping.

By comparing the past record of the two teams they are seen to be very evenly matched and a battle royal is assured.

Wind Invades Laboratory

The vengeance of the wind is not confined to whistling around the corner of the Y. W. rest room, as it burst into the biology laboratory through a south window Sunday evening. The janitor was forced to protect the students temporarily from the cold blasts by shutting the opening with gunny sacks.

Fred Teall, the Sensational Sprinter and Halfback, who left Willamette early this fall, is prominently mentioned as a possibility for a regular position on the famous Olympic Club basketball team of San Francisco.
