Ted Totorica is the chairman of the music department at Borah High School in Boise, Idaho. He received his bachelors degree from Boise State University and his masters degree in Choral Conducting from University of Utah. Under his direction the Borah Choirs have been invited to perform in state, regional and national music conventions. He is currently the ethnic and multicultural northwest chairman for ACDA and is the Idaho State Choral representative for MENC.

The non mixed choirs at Borah High are auditioned. Their primary goal is to provide students an arena for excellence that is separate from members of the opposite sex. Within the classroom, the choirs strive for a unity of purpose and understanding that is brought about by an open, yet serious intellectual environment. Special consideration is given to the emotional undertones of each musical piece and the beauty that can be experienced through communal achievement of a unified interpretation.
