Freshmen Have Excellent Class Says Dr. Doney

Miss Dahl Also Enthusiastic About Their Cooperation

"You can tell the freshman class that I think it represents a high average." Thus says President Doney, who continues with, "I think their spirit is particularly fine as is evidenced by their attitude of cooperation with the faculty and the general excellence with which they handle their class affairs."

"But when there is room for improvement, we will be dead; therefore, the freshman class, by using their heads, can devise ways by which the school may be made more efficient. They will have served themselves in the institution well by making more use, more general use, of the professors."

FRATERNITY COUNCIL URGES NATIONALS

Introduction of national fraternities upon the Willamette campus was the subject of a petition recently received by the board of trustees of Willamette University. The fraternities wished the trustees to consider having national instead of the present local fraternities.

LUKE S. MAY TELLS CRIME CASE DETAILS

Speaking at one of the most interesting chapels of the year, Luke S. May, consulting criminologist of Seattle, gave many intensely interesting ideas from his wide experience. Mr. May, who is also president and director of the scientific detective laboratories at Seattle, Washington, is a thoroughly trained scientist of international fame.

Development of Species from One Cell to Man Is Traced Through University Classes

The freshmen entering W. U. might well be compared to an amoeba, which as every biology student knows, is one of the lowest forms of life—a one-celled animal. The mind during this period, needless to say, is extremely undeveloped, and but few indications of brain cells can be discovered even upon close examination.

Development of Species from One Cell to Man Is Traced Through University Classes

The freshmen entering W. U. bones and assuming fish-like characteristics and are able to paddle about in the mill stream. Looking ahead with all the aids of science and our own powers of observation and deduction, we can see that by the time these strange creatures will probably have reached the "ape" stage (i.e. they will be imitating juniors and seniors, professors, etc.).

AGAIN

Established by tradition, the annual advent of a Freshman issue of The Collegian has become as inevitable as the presence of the freshman class.

Since this issue was to bear the name of the freshman class, we have worked to put out a paper that is peculiarly our own. Herein will be found the results of freshman attempts at journalism, editing, criticism, essay and literature.

Without a doubt there will be found much to criticize in this issue, but remember, we have three years left in which to reach the peaks of perfection attained by present upper-classmen.

We all know that Willamette will become great with the years, perhaps not in size, but great in spirit, character and achievement. The builders of Willamette's past have done much; only the future may disclose the result of our own efforts toward a greater university.

Let us return, in our imagination, to Salem, say twenty years from now, and note some of the changes in the school. On the campus we see, with perhaps a pang of regret, a new Eaton hall and a large music building.

There are other changes. A new library stands near Eaton hall, the rambling old grandstand is gone, and a great concrete stadium shines in its place.

But all the changes are not material. There is a new fighting spirit in the school, a spirit of fierce loyalty and unyielding pride in Willamette and her traditions.

But what, then, remains of the old Willamette, school of Jason Lee and Sweetland field? It remains in tradition and song and in the spirit of reverence to religion and learning that pervades the student body.

WORK IN FRENCH COLLEGE IS HARD

Professor C. P. Camblaro has given some very interesting facts about college life in France.

A French college or Lyceum, as it is more properly called, is the equivalent of an American high school and under-graduate college. It consists of about nine years of strenuous work, after which the student is given a certificate that proves he has finished his college studies.

ination, but those who are not successful are given another opportunity the next year. Life in a French college is not a thing to be taken lightly. Students are kept under the most rigid control. Talking in the halls between classes is forbidden. A watchful official sees that the students waste no time in passing from one class to another. Even recesses are managed with the strictest discipline, the students being required to march in and out. Dormitory life is regulated with the same strict discipline. Students are not allowed to go out except under the care of a professor or with near relatives. Invitations may not be accepted unless those sending them are recognized as reliable and responsible persons, recommended by the parents. The schools do not sponsor social functions. No smoking is allowed. There are no student body organizations. Physical training classes are held regularly but officially no attention is paid to inter-collegiate athletic contests. Co-education does not exist in regular colleges. All in all, students are required to work hard and college life in France is a very serious matter indeed.

Along the Way

A couple of Sigs demonstrated that good old brotherly love out behind the Mill stream the other day. It was a jolly old brawl while it lasted, but before the panting multitudes could gather and witness, and applaud, it was all over and the two were wending their homeward way.

We hear it rumored that the Kappa Gamma soup is so thin that it doesn't spot ties. Some would say the boys are very fortunate, especially Bill Waring, over at the Alpha Psi, who wears a speckled tie to the grub board. "Our soup is plenty thick" explains Bill gravely over a bowl of hash.

Paul Ackerman has an excellent eye when it comes to daisies. After a liberal application of Sloan's Lintment, we'll agree that the whole business is rather smarting. Alex said to me, as he craned his neck up at one of the post-sitters, "That boy is going to make his mark on the world if he keeps hanging over the edge! (Watson, bring the stain remover!)"

Lois Wilkes gave a pretty imitation of a winger mercury for the first fifteen minutes, but when the wind came up, and the sun went down, she gave a better panorama of the honorable Cook selling oil stock to the Eskimos at the North Pole! Dandy characterization, Miss Wilkes!

Two of the Sig boys were looking for a tub recently. Seems they planned a trip down the turbulent rapids of the Mill stream. Little Alex will be there with bells on. Sez he, with a grin on his chubby face, "The tub will sink all right, and then those boys had better be like ivory soap, 99 44-100 per cent pure." From what we know of the Sigs, more than the tub will be missing at the end of the day!

Speaking of the Mill stream reminds us that the water was cold. No wonder if the freshies counted noses after the bath. Tough, if a couple of them are still under water. Oh well, probably the yearly soaking, and we know some of the boys need it!

When Mr. May, the noted criminologist made his remarks about black marks on the records, Little Alex noted a couple of the Sunset brotherhood squirring in their seats, "Too much philosophy," observes the little thinker, Alex, quite sagely.

It has come gently to our ears that several of the fair freshman Co-eds are busy cleaning out a basement. Too much loafing throughout the year, we'd say. And if it's anything like a basement Little Alex and I cleaned out, we sure pity 'em.

Now that all's said and done, We had lots of fun!

Oh yeh?

board. This was quite a surprise as the sagebrush school had been a sure bet for the big chance. The Columbia river school is noted for tricks like that, however, and may figure in the tournament.

The cowboys from Pendleton are entering the tournament after a very successful season. The round-up boys cleaned their own district pretty thoroughly and are looking for new worlds to conquer. They'll get an opportunity.

Baker is also here after a successful season, and the Blue Mountain boys are in for blood. With good size and speed, and a better team than last year, Baker is all set for the battle.

Benson Tech is the other Portland team. Hobson's boys come with a good record behind them, and will undoubtedly stir things up in the tournament. They lost to Jefferson twice, but trounced the rest of Portland.

Tillamook comes from the coast, boasting a good record. The cheese-makers are good and scrappy and won't leave the floor without a battle.

Last Friday Monmouth defeated Molalla to get a chance at the state tournament. The Teachers boast an exceptional season's record, are fast and rangy, and may be in on the battle before play is over.

Brick-Bats or Bouquets

Dear Editor: We wouldn't want to give anyone the impression that we're down on Willamette. Nothing like that! In fact we're all for Willamette, and the class of '34 in particular.

But there are some things that we would like to know. Could some benevolent upper classman enlighten a poor, dumb rook on a few things? Is it a tradition that the fountain by Waller Hall should be always waterless? If somebody would only remedy its state of perennial dryness it would be much more convenient to shave in. Something ought to be done about that back chapel door, too. Nobody can open it but Baldwin.

And why doesn't the janitor, Mr. Clark, limber up the old put-put and mow the lawn? The grass is getting so long one can hardly walk in it. We're afraid Mr. Clark has been getting too much to eat over at Lausanne every morning at 9:30. We don't like to mention it, but he seems to have been putting on a little weight lately.

While we're worrying about buildings and grounds, there's something else that puzzles us. What became of the nozzle belonging to the fire hose on the second floor of Eaton? And who stole Ted's ball and chain from outside the library door? Do you suppose it was Dr. Franklin? We think it high time that Mr. Luke May be called in. We don't want our victory bell spirited away.

We could ask an indefinite number of questions, but we've already displayed a regrettably large amount of ignorance, even for a freshman. But in spite of all the things we don't understand, there are a lot of things we like about Willamette.

We're strong for the faculty. We appreciate the crease in Dr. Winn's trousers, and we like the way Dr. Schultz parts his hair. We were incredulous when we heard that we had such a thrilling personage as a confession writer on the campus. Bet that boy has a past!

Willamette's traditions are all right, wit some exceptions. Of course, we can't begin to appreciate them all for a couple of years yet. We got a big kick out of Freshman Glee, even if we were the cellar champs. But let it be said right now, in the interests of veracity and righteousness, that the fearsome character of the mill stream is a deliberately and maliciously constructed myth. It's really not half bad.

It would take too much space if we were to enumerate all of what we consider Willamette's good points. You'd probably just argue with us, anyway. We're not a bit sorry we came to W. U. and the class of '34 will do its level best to add more honor to her already glorious name.

A FROSH.

Dear Editor: This may be a brickbat but we feel like it today. What's the matter with the Collegian humorists? Several of the comic columns could be labelled "Dead Sea Breezes" for all the laughs we get out of them. And the paper as a whole is a little too conservative.

As long as Willamette does not print a humor book, and the only chance for a laugh that we bored seekers-after-knowledge get out of the Jason Lee publications is in the vital statistics section of the Statesman, it seems to us that the Collegian ages could be just a trifle bit more lively. How about a good wise-crack section and some jokes, instead of the everlasting fills which nobody reads?

BORED STUDENT.

Dear Editor: I thought we left such things behind, and yet, we find them creeping out here also. They lend a flavor of childishness which should not characterize college life or college activities.

We realize that the bulletin board system is not the best system—we yet should make the best of it while we have it. Should the announcements be so marred that their appearance is ragged and their meaning misconstrued? Why don't we've grown beyond that. Such activities not only fail to appeal to the students, but also Willamette visitors look on them with wonder—so let's watch it closely in the future.

ANOTHER FROSH.

lege of Liberal Arts, and an artistic musician, will appear in concert. May 25 is the date of a concert by Miss Helene Price, who is a post-graduate in the School of Music this year. Miss Price has been successful in her teaching this year, as well as her own performances.

June 1 Miss Doris Corbin, who is Miss Melton's senior scholar, will give her senior recital. Miss Corbin has charge of the Piano Technique class this year, and played in chapel several times.

The Whispering Campaign

In Pace Requiescat Here lies the body Of Julius O'Shane; He called a professor By his first name.

"They Shall Not Pass" seems to be the motto not only of General Gomed. Judging from the recent exams, the faculty, on mass, have appropriated the phrase as their own.

Exams are "tremendous trifles". Trifles to professors and tremendous to students.

"The saddest words Of tongue or pen: Tomorrow we'll have An exam again."

You know the shiny do-dad on top of Eaton Hall? Well, Art Erickson asked us what the big oil can is for.

Imagine: Amelia Schrack with a permanent.

Lawrence Brown without his laugh.

E. Denning in golf regalia.

Fred Edmundson with black locks.

Paul Ellis without his ready arguments.

There are many ways of feeling small, but the most effective one we know is to meet Emerson Baldwin.

Today's definition: Preparedness:

Preparedness is composing a parody for your glee song before the evening of Freshman Glee.

Since having received a too-decisive final grade from our chemistry prof., we no longer sing the third line of "I Love Willamette U."

We have heard that George Orkney is so scotch that he runs ten miles before breakfast so he'll be too tired to eat.

Helpful hints for freshmen: If you have trouble in finding enough to say when writing your term theme, you might introduce a character that stutters.

When you have to write a familiar essay, copy one of Emerson's. If it isn't familiar to you, it should be to your professor.

In the spring a freshman's fancy turns to thoughts of the senior bench. It's still rather chilly, seniors, so we shall appreciate any proholstering you may see fit to provide.

Quotation from the Portland News:

"Portland's opera season began with a flare of color Friday night. Among those at the opera were Mrs. Euphemia Snuzzle in a gorgeous green chiffon with diamonds; Miss Delliah Pilkington in black velvet and ermine; Frank Haley with a three days' growth of whiskers and his well-known plaid sweater remnant.

All students who write poetry are urged to communicate with this publishing house, so that they may be sent full details. The anthology will be edited by Mr. Harrison himself and illustrated by Charles Cullen.

Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be awarded to the authors of the three best poems in this anthology, to be selected by a distinguished board of judges.

Henry Harrison is the author of "Myself Limited," a book of poems that has earned wide critical praise. His work has appeared in over 100 publications in the U. S., Canada, England, France.

He has been a poet critic for years, and is the editor of the annual "Grub Street Book of Verse" as well as several other anthologies. He is the publisher of Poetry World, the monthly magazine; and has published books of verse by Mary Carolyn Davies, Clement Wood, Ralph Cheyne, Lucia Trent, Benjamin Musser and innumerable other distinguished poets.

Charles Cullen has illustrated Countee Cullen's books, and Mr. Harrison's Grub Street annual. His art has been acclaimed by many nation-wide journals, including the American Mercury, Pasadena Star-News, the Toledo Times, Newark News, Spokane Review, Syracuse Post-Standard, etc.

In writing for information, students should mention the name of their college. Address Henry Harrison, publisher, 27 East 7th Street, New York.

George Poor, '30 Writes of Boston Church Sermon

Note: This letter was written to Dr. Kohler by George Poor, '30. Mr. Poor is a Willamette graduate, and is now attending Boston Theological Seminary.

December 28, 1930 "Two things," said Kant, fill me with breathless awe, The starry heaven and the moral law."

At Copley church this morning I heard Dr. Stidger preach on "The Vulgar Rich and the Plundered Poor." It was a powerful sermon preached to probably one of the richest congregations in Boston. A few of those who listened couldn't stand the "gaff," so they got up and left in the midst of the sermon.

The heart of the sermon is told by the two following illustrations: (1) A little girl in one of our New England schools recently fainted at her desk in school. When she had been revived, her teacher asked her what was the matter that she should faint; and her reply was: "It was sister's turn to eat breakfast." (2) About two weeks later here in Boston just a block away from Copley, there was staged a debutante party which cost $125,000. $100,000 was spent for orchids for decorations; the other $25,000 was spent mainly in giving less than 100 people three sumptuous meals between dusk and dawn.

"But I know a thing more awful and obscure: The long, long patience of the plundered poor."

And as I sat in my comfortable pew, the thoughts of the past few weeks which have been bearing down upon my mind were brought home with force. I saw all about me people clad in expensive fur coats, not one of them costing any less than $350, I am sure, and most of them more than $500. And I thought that the same money that went into one fur coat would have warmly and neatly overcoated ten or twelve people; while as it is, one person is wearing enough coat for ten and not for warmth, but mainly for show. And every time I see a fur coat nowadays, I say to myself, "There goes a pig wearing ten men's coats." Does anyone have the density to call that "liberty and justice for all?" And, believe me, people with fur coats are not the only offenders of their fellow men either!

Sherwood Eddy says that our democracy sees lots of individual liberty, but that there is very little social justice; and everywhere I turn today, I find things that support his statement. The other night there appeared in headlines the fact that the U. S. government has appropriated $116,000,000 for relief of the poor and needy in our country. On the same page was a picture of an heiress whose single estate was valued at $120,000,000. Think of it: A single person with four million dollars more than our own nation was giving to help the needy in this time of desperation. I won't mention Henry Ford. His estate is in terms of figures too great for my small mind to comprehend. Is this social justice?

I am not offering any solution to the problem, although I do have one that would work if people really had the spirit of Jesus and could catch the vision of its real significance. But I do think that there is no sin any greater than that of one person having more than he can ever use and others having not enough for their primary needs of life. I don't propose that all people who are rich shall give all their money away; but I do say that if every person who was able would give to those who were in want, everyone would have more than enough. And the thing to give is what the poor people need. Clothes, food and houses are gifts that they need, and if given in that form, the unwise will not be able to squander as they would be tempted to do if they were given money.

Just one more instance of some of the injustices that are burning within me at this very moment. In one of the mills of our country, a girl of seventeen who was working for $6 a week voiced too loudly what she thought of employers who would pay so little when people needed more so badly. She was fired as a result; and when she couldn't find other work and had no means of support other than herself, she was forced by hunger to go back and beg for her old job. Her manager finally re-hired her and stated that he did so because she cried so much. But he docked her a dollar a week so that now she is working for $5.00 instead of $6.00. "The patience of the poor!"

NEW LIB. BOOKS DESCRIBE VOYAGES

The University library has recently received some unusual new books. There are three travel books: "I Discovered Greece" by Harry A. Franck, which the author described "Wherein an Incurable Nomad Sets Forth What Befell Him and an Artist Friend During a Labyrinthine Summer Journey Through Modern Hellas; the Prince of Vagabonds in the Land of Ulysses." The second book is "Blue Glamor" by Webb Waldron, illustrated by Marion Patton Waldron, both of whom have autographed it. It is a description of ports and people of the Mediterranean. The third travel book is "Tawny Spain", written by H. C. Chatfield-Taylor and perhaps described by Shakespeare in his little verse

This child of fancy, that Armado might, For interim to our studies, shall relate, In high-born words, the worth of many a knight From tawny Spain, lost in the world's debate.

Another particularly interesting book is "Cyrano, Swordsman, Libertin, Man of Letters" by Cameron Rogers. It is another story of "the man with the big nose" who was such a well-known character in Edmund Rostand's play, "Sir Cyrano de Bergerac" and who has been written about so much that he has practically become a real character. He is a vivid personality.

Other books are two on medieval poetry and prose, "Middle English Metrical Romances" by Walter Hoyt French and Charles Brockway Hale, and "Medieval Narrative," a book of translations by Margaret Schlaugh; a new volume of the "Dictionary of American Biography, from Echols to Fraser" which is edited by Allen Johnson and Dumas Malone under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies. It is published book by book and the library receives each one as soon as it is published. Others received are "Plays and Players" Leaves from a Critic's Scrapbook by Walter Pritchard Eaton; "A History of South America" by Akers; "Dominion," a story of Napoleon, by Marjorie Johnston; "Flights from Chaos," a survey of material systems from atoms to galaxies, by Harlow Shapley; "Race Psychology" by Thomas Russell Garth; and "Race Mixture" by Reuter.

The University library would be glad to receive folios of the "Overland Monthly" or of the "Sunset Magazine" from anyone who might have such and would care to give them to the library.

It might be of interest to university students from Portland that the library now receives copies of the "Spectator," a magazine which tells of all important events in Portland, social, theatrical, and current events.

able to squander as they would be tempted to do if they were given money.

Y.M. CONFERENCE AT SEABECK IN JUNE

The annual university men's conference will be held at Seabeck, Washington, the week of June 6 to 13. This conference is open to students of the northwest universities who are interested in the problems of modern life.

Some of the topics around which the program is being built are unemployment, fraternities, and communism. Several of the main speakers have already been secured. These are Bishop Cross, of the Episcopal church, Spokane; Dr. H. L. Bowman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Portland; Dr. Nelson S. Bossing, of University of Oregon; Dr. E. W. Warrington, of Oregon State; and Dr. Raymond B. Culver, secretary of the northwest student Y. M. C. A. There is also a possibility that the chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation will be present.

Frosh Frolic at Hard Times Party

Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Clement's home was the scene of a very jolly Freshman party Saturday night, March fourteenth.

A hard-times idea was carried out in the costumes of those present. A color scheme of blue and gold was used in the decorations.

Following the very unique program, with Mr. Frank Haley acting as master of ceremonies, refreshments were served.

Committees in charge of the party were: Entertainment, Frank Haley, Betty Boylan and Edith Clement; refreshments, Faith Sherburne and Charles Gianoli; decorations, Mildred Kester, Betty Boylan, Percy Sweet, Carroll Shank and Carl Marcy; chairs, William Gahlsdorf.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair were Mrs. Ellen Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. Clement, and Professor Oliver.

Those present were the Misses Frances Albee, Barbara Barham, Mildred Bowman, Elizabeth Boylan, Billie Byers, Anna Calab, Elizabeth Cheshire, Helen Childs, Edith Clement, Catherine Compton, Eleanor Cortell, Dorothy Dalk, Marjorie Drorbaugh, Barbara Elliott, Jeanne Forrest, Ruth Gillette, Edythe Gaisyer, Lida Hanna, Olga Janik, Virginia Kaiser, Mildred Kester, Arline Keys, Marjorie Law, Pauline Lockhart, Florence Long, Gertrude Mehl, Isobel Morhouse, Margaret Morris, Evelyn Odell, Pauline Paul, Jean Peterson, Sue Pringle, Blanche Reese, Barbara Richmond, Carolyn Schneider, Amelia Shrack, Ruth Shrieber, Faith Sherburne, Audrey Tillman, Wanda Veatch, Manet Weil, and Marjorie Wunder.

Y.M.C.A. SPONSORS CALIFORNIA SPEAKER

Under the auspices of the campus Y.M.C.A., the Honorable J. Stitt Wilson will spend the day (Thursday, April 2) on the Willamette campus. He will speak in chapel and will give addresses at banquets both noon and evening.

Mr. Wilson is a resident of Berkeley, California. A great deal of his time has been spent in lecturing on social and industrial problems before all kinds of meetings of men and women in this country and England. For three years he was socialist mayor of Berkeley, and there is no man in California better respected or more esteemed. He is without question one of the greatest orators of the state. October 5, 1919, Mr. Wilson addressed a great mass meeting in Los Angeles from which thousands were turned away unable to get in.

Mr. Wilson worked for many years with the labor movement in Great Britain, and could probably have had a seat in parliament had he so chosen. He has recently returned from another visit to Great Britain where he helped the labor party in their last and successful campaign efforts. He is a practical idealist and has always stood for the conviction that the solution of the social problem will be found only through the application of the principles and spirit of Christ to these problems. His message to students relates itself to present personal responsibilities. Mr. Wilson has spoken in the largest universities of the country. On his trip east he will be at Yale university for three days, delivering a series of lectures. He has influenced faculty and students more profoundly than any man who has visited the colleges in recent years. Because of his extensive study of the problems which he discusses, he is considered a real prophete of the hour.

RARE BIRDS FOUND AROUND SALEM

Three birds, very rare on the Pacific coast, have been reported found near Salem to Professor Peck.

The birds are Peale's Falcon, Hutchins' Vireo and the Black-crowned Night Heron.

Peale's Falcon is a form of the falcon that used to be trained as a hunting bird when falconry, a sport of the nobles, was in fashion. A Peale's Falcon is rarely found in the United States. This is the first Falcon ever to be reported in this vicinity.

This spring is the first time that a Hutchins' Vireo was reported seen near Salem. The Black-crowned Night Heron was reported one other season.

Two species of swallow, the first birds of the season that have migrated from the south, have been reported.

OCCUPATIONS ARE LISTED BY STUDENTS

As a result of a recent experiment performed by Dr. L. Laughlin, a list of ten occupations which are considered choice by students, was composed. Forty-seven sociology students were asked to name ten occupations which they thought most honorable, respectable, and useful. Each occupation was given points according to its position on each student's list, the one appearing first on the list receiving ten points, the second nine, third eight, etc.

The result was as follows:

Position	No. Students	Points
1. Teaching	42	218
2. Medicine	39	213
3. Ministry	39	192
4. Farming	30	121
5. Law	26	96
6. Merchant	25	75
7. Banker	22	62
8. Public Service	19	49
9. Scientist	18	38
10. Engineer	16	26

Twelve students listed physical first, twelve ministry, eight farming, seven teaching, and three banking.

DR. DONEY SPEAKS ON CHRISTIAN WORK

Last Thursday noon the Wesleyans held their meeting in Chresto Cottage. Following lunch, Dr. Doney spoke on, "How to Carry on the Christian Work Efficiently." He stressed that it is necessary to have convictions and a good method of delivery, along with a neat general appearance.

He said that the Wesleyans must strive to add Christianity to the people, adding that they should be as efficient as salesmen of other commodities.

There were about 30 Wesleyans present at this meeting.

Today, Dr. William H. Robins, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the speaker at the meeting in Chresto Cottage.

The present officers of the Wesleyans are: Jennie Lilly, president; Ross Knotts, vice president; Charles Gianoli, secretary and reporter; John Rudin, treasurer; Helen Commack, devotional chairman.

FORENSIC CONTEST TO BE IN SEATTLE

April 6, 7 and 8 the Pacific Coast Forensic League contest will be held in Seattle, sponsored by the U. of Washington. Those attending from Willamette will be Prof. Rahe, Lars Nelson, manager, and Ray Lafky, who will represent Willamette in extemporaneous speaking, and Ralph McCullough in oratory.

FROSH PICNIC PLANS

Tentative plans are being discussed by members of the freshman class concerning a class picnic and hike. Charles Gianoli, president, has named Fred Blatchford as chairman of the picnic committee and Bill Gahlsdorf as chairman for the hike. A whole day is being planned for each of these events.

FROSH CENSUS HAS BEEN CONDUCTED

Professor Laughlin seems to have started something when he began his census taking. It seems to be the case right now so the Freshman Collegian staff has conducted a census among the members of the Freshman class, and they have found the following statistics about the activities of the freshmen.

There are ten on the debate squads, five women and five men. Pauline Paul, Kathleen Skinner, and Barbara Elliott have taken part in women's university debates. Lida Hanna and Florence Long are alternates, Fred Blatchford, Charles Gianoli, Ross Knotts, Kenneth Oliver, and Willis Schuler are the men debaters and all of them have taken part in debates.

On the Collegian staff, Ted Parker is assistant sports editor and there are also nineteen reporters and two ad solicitors on the staff.

In the oratorical division John Rudin, Eugene Smith and Ross Knotts are the leaders. Rudin won the State Extemporaneous contest and Smith won the local Keyes oratorical contest.

Amelia May Schrack, Ted Parker, Catherine Compton, Florence Long and Mildred Kester are helping on the Wallulah staff.

Stars in the stage firmament are Fred Harris, Lawrence Brown, Stanley King, Carl Marcy and Fred Blatchford. All these men have been in recent plays.

Charles Gianoli, Wesley Janke, and Melvin Zahrlly are very active in the Y. M. C. A. of the University.

The glee clubs have several of the class of '34 in the ranks. The Women's Treble Clef club has in its number, Naomi Hewitt, Audrey Tillman, Ruth Schrieber, Mildred Bowman, Marjorie Law, Pauline Paul, and Isabel Teare. In the men's glee club there are Eugene Smith, Thomas Goyne, Robert Culbertson, Luther Chapin, Vernon Bushnell, and Arthur Boesch.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CANCELS JUBILEE

The much looked forward to but much postponed Post Exam Jubilee, which was scheduled for April 4, was definitely cancelled by the executive committee at the meeting Monday night. This was done so as to curtail expenses.

The budget for the spring, as submitted by Leslie Frewing, chairman of the budget committee, had to be revised before it was passed.

Track and baseball both received advances in their appropriation. Track, the sum of $50 and baseball, $50. One hundred dollars was the proposed advance above last year, but $50 was all that was allowed. The baseball team has scheduled seven more games than last year and was given $50 more to cover this added expense.

JOE SILVER '30 HAS A SCHOLARSHIP

Joe Silver, '30, who is receiving his M. A. degree from Haverford this June, has been awarded a scholarship to some European university of his own choosing, with all expenses paid. This is one of two such scholarships awarded in the United States.

While at Willamette, Silver majored in sociology. He has spent this year at Haverford on a scholarship.

Faculty Quint Wins Do-Nut League Title in Play-Off

Sigma Tau Bows in Defeat to Faculty in Final Game of Do-Nut League Play-off

The Faculty, by winning its two tournament games, has annexed the Do-Nut League crown for the 1931 season. The playing in the tournament was particularly close, with each team putting up a good fight before being eliminated. The season has been one of the most successful the Do-Nut League has had. Although the teams are now looking forward to indoor baseball, next year's basketball season is also in view.

In the first game of the tournament the freshmen five forfeited their game to the Alpha Psi team. The rooks failed to appear, and the frat five entered the semi-finals.

The Kappa Gamma Rho backboard slappers defeated the sophomore aggregation by a score of 29 to 8. Gould and Houck starred for the fraternity five, scoring 20 points between themselves. Blatchford and Armstrong played an outstanding game for the sophomores. The second year boys were checked very closely and played a defensive game throughout, while the Kappas played a fast offensive game.

In the third game of the tournament the Sigma Tau cagers defeated the Kappa Gamma Rho five with a score of 18 to 14. The entire Sigma Tau team played a very consistent game and showed excellent team work. The Kappas were unable to connect with the basket while the Sigs had their shooting eye with them. Campbell and Beall led the Sigma Tau attack.

The faculty, playing their first game of the tournament, took the Alpha Psi hoopers into camp by a score of 14 to 8. Sparks, who has been playing a great offensive game all season for the faculty, was checked very closely—being held to 2 points. Spec Keene led the Profs, with six tallies to his credit. The Alpha Psi five made a desperate attempt to stop the faculty but the profs. were not to be denied a victory.

In the final game of the season the undefeated faculty five defeated their strongest competitors, the Sigma Tau quintet. The score was 18 to 13. The game was featured by close checking on the part of both teams. Again Sparks was closely guarded while French led the faculty with 8 counters. Waddell led the Sigma Tau cagers, scoring 7 tallies. The boys played a steady game, and very few fouls were committed. The game was one of the cleanest played this year, and the offensive shown by both teams indicated clever team work.

Scores for the following games are as follows:

Alpha Psi 1, Freshmen 0 (forfeit)
Kappa Gamma 29, Sophs 8
Houck 8, R.F., White 1

PLAY TO BEGIN SOON IN INDOOR BASEBALL

Now that the Do-Nut league is about over, the various organizations are looking forward to the indoor baseball season. Competition is expected to be particularly keen this season because the teams are carrying over the spirit which was developed during the basketball season.

The Freshmen have been the first to take any definite action concerning indoor kiten-ball. Herbert Hardy has been elected Freshman baseball manager and the first turnout has been called for. The Frosh expect to have both a first and second team in the playing.

W. A. A. SPONSORS 12 MILE GROUP JAUNT

On Saturday, March 14, the W. A. A. sponsored a hike to Mosquit Bar and back. Esther Arnold led the group on its 12 mile jaunt. Those going on the trip were: Arlene Keyes, Mildred Miller, Cecile Adams, Mary White, Janet Weil, and Esther Arnold.

Sportorials

Batting for John Nelson, fans. He is not responsible for the following and we are only freshmen, so let's go! If we can write it, you can read it. After all it's only half a column.

Right here we want to thank Percy Sweet for his courtesy in letting us use his summary of the Rook season. It was the result of a lot of hard work—on Percy's part.

The small schools were right up there in the district tournaments this year. Nothing surprising in that. Schools from country districts have always shone at the hardwork game, and in the big tournament at Chicago, little "bick" schools have constantly ridden to the finals; and for several years past a small school from Texas has held the crown. This year Rainier and Talent made things pretty hot in their districts, and Pleasant Hill is coming to the tournament. The team should get a hand for its prowess whether it wins or not.

Right now the scrap seems to be between Jefferson and Benson of Portland and Salem, but any pre-tournament dope will go flying by the boards when the backboard slappers get down to work, and these favorites may never see the finals. Personally, we wouldn't mind seeing a little school have a look-in on the affair.

Dandy basketball, these high school boys play. Though not as clever as their college brethren, they shoot with a wicked eye and pace the polished boards with the best of them. The boys play with a lot of pep and enthusiasm that one sometimes misses in college play. If the rest of the teams are as good as Salem in scrap, speed, and shooting, we wouldn't miss the games for a lot of cold cash.

The wrestling boys make a big show with their new outfits. The red trunks, tights, flash like a house on fire, and ought to give the Bearcat grapplers a lot of confidence. By the way, some of the basketball team worked out the other night on the mat. Did pretty well, too. Mink says Joe Blanchard is a good prospect.

And now the Spring sports are rolling round the turn. Let's hope the Bearcat sprints and bats as well as he boots the pig skin and rolls the basketball around.

"Auf wiedersehen!" That's German for "Till we meet again." Enough said.

WILLAMETTE LASSIES PREPARE FOR INDOOR

After spending the greater part of their gym work thus far in playing basketball and volley ball, the girls in the gym classes under Miss Baldere are preparing for indoor baseball.

The games are usually played early in the morning, so that the playing will not interfere with the regular classes. Interest in indoor baseball has been keen in the past, and the girls are now looking forward to a very active indoor season.

SUMMER SESSION

According to information given out by the registrar, the Willamette University summer school session will open on June 15 and close July 24. Students attending the summer session will be able to earn as many as six credits. Most of the courses will be given in the forenoons leaving the afternoons vacant for many of the students. The following is a list of the courses given in the 1931 session: biology, economics, education, english, german, history, physics, and political science.

After prayers for rain had been offered in Southwest African churches, a 45-hour down-pour raged in the district, causing damage estimated in the thousands of dollars.

FROSH PLAN FOR NET TOURNAY

The freshmen are to have a big tennis tournament about the first of May, according to plans made public recently by the class president, Charles Gianoli. A committee consisting of Tom Goyno, chairman, Isabel Morehouse, Janet Weil has been appointed to have charge of the affair.

It was learned today that the committee is making arrangements for the contests to include men's singles, women's singles and mixed doubles. Winners of first and second places in each group will constitute a freshman tennis squad of eight players. After the tournament the freshmen expect to challenge the other classes to contests.

Inasmuch as the rooks have already demonstrated considerable interest in tennis, keen competition is expected for the tournament. With many excellent players, including a number of former high school tennis stars, the frosh expect to develop teams which will instill fear in the hearts and trembling in the knees of upper-class devotees of the "sport of kings."

Leland Gould High Point Man in Tournament

In spite of the fact that the teams participating in the Do-Nut league have been playing a strong defensive game, there has also been a considerable amount of scoring on the part of the individual players. The leading scorer of the tournament is Leland Gould, who tallied 18 points or an average of 9 tallies per game. Gould did not shine to any extent in the regular season playing but was outstanding in the tournament play-off.

Following Gould came his team mate, Bob Houck, who scored 14 points. Waddell, French and Keene trail in close order. Leading scorers of the tournament were:

Gould 18
Houck 14
Waddell 10
French 10
Keene 10

ANTHOLOGY PLANNED
The members of Coffee House are planning to compile and edit an anthology before the end of this school year. It will include the best selections of poetry and prose that they have written.

Freshman Basketball Squad Emerges Victorious With Over Half of Games Won

The freshman team played through a long hard season of 17 full games. Jimmy Burdette, the tall, fighting center, was high point man with 158, and usually flipped the ball on the tip off. His experience, height, and fighting spirit made him a valuable man. Messenger ranked second in scoring with 91 points, out-distancing Griffith in third place with 50 points. Brassfield and Sweet followed the three leaders with 40 points and 26 respectively. Other men who played well were Crawford, Art Erickson, and Marcy.

The team scored 468 points to 371 for the opposition, an average of 26 points for to 30 against in 17 contests. This is a very good record for the young Bearcats and the individual players will be watched with interest as they try to improve for the season. The only regret of the season is that the Kittens did not get to play Salem. It is to be hoped that this game will be resumed next year.

The season's record follows:

Visiting Coaches and Players Royally Entertained With All Desires Met by Willamette Men

The eight players and coach of each visiting team are being entertained at local hotels. At the Senator are the visitors from Baker, Tillamook, Astoria and Jefferson, Portland's "A" team. The athletes from Pendleton, Ashland and Pleasant Hill have been assigned shelter in the Marion. The Argo hotel is the temporary abode of those from the Dallas and Benson, Portland's "B" team, while the Bligh is favored with the presence of the Myrtle Pointers and the Monmouthites.

"Spec" Keene has assigned to each team two Willamette men, who are expected to satisfy every longing of the guest. Quoth "Spec" Keene, "anything from an automobile to a wet towel filled with cracked ice will be supplied but we hope few of the latter will be needed."

The Bakerites are growing over-er-tan on the tender ministrations of Bob Kutch and Harry Craig. The cow-punchers from Pendleton are thriving, since their valets, Frank Van Dyke and Ed Tweed, await their every beck and call. Don Faber and Jerry Carpenter are serving The Dallas athletes nobly. Gus Moore and Andy Peterson are playing chamber-mats to Ashland. When Myrtle Pointers make known their wants, Charles Gill and Rupert Philpott gladly obey. Pleasant Hill is being gently shepherded by Cecil Harmon and Lloyd Girod. Curtis Woolley and Marvin Crawford are at the command of the Monmouthites. The cheese makers from Tillamook are being escorted by Donnell Sanders and Fred Paul. The Astoria fishermen, last year's champions, are being shown the wonders of Salem by Bob Houck and George Hartley, while the Jeffersonians are over-worked Eugene Ferguson and Miles Woodworth. Benson loopers are chaperoned by Julian Smith and Keith Jones, Salem HI, the home team, is being assisted in their duties by Dwight Adams and Lowell Gribble. "Spec" Keene, upon whose shoulders falls most of the responsibility, is using "Bud" Fisher and Frank H. Haley as understudies.

Besides the teams mentioned many other well known figures are seen on the campus. Among these are Ralph Coleman of Oregon State, French of Portland and Rein Jackson, a Willamette grad of the vintage of '21. These men are acting in the capacity of officials.

Wednesday noon the Salem Rotarians feted the visitors at the Marion hotel. Saturday noon Mrs. Roy Keene will entertain about 46 guests, among them being the newspapermen and the coaches.

WRITERS OVER 40 PRODUCE BEST BOOK

Cleveland, O (IP)—"Few good novels are produced by writers under the age of 40," Prof. John Erskine, author and president of the Juillard Music Foundation in New York, said in an interview here. "I don't want to discourage young writers, but too often they are sucked dry by their first success. They then go into retreat in a closet with books and we hear no more of them."

Erskine advises that every author have a lot to go besides writing. Other work would furnish the writer material to write about," he said. In writing a novel, Erskine rarely writes more than an hour a day. Usually he puts down only 100 words, which is about a page of print, he said. This is his program in constructing a novel; a first draft with no revisions, after six

HUNTINGTON MAKES RECORD AT SALEM

Coach Holly Huntington, who has coached the Salem high teams to three consecutive state championships, taken his team into the finals six times, and brought them to the tournament nine times, is entering the tournament this year as coach of the host team, Salem is more than host, however, as the Red and Black have defeated leaders from other districts in the state.

With the exception of 1929 and 1929 when Anderson took over the team, Huntington has coached the Salem team since the days of the first tournament. During that time he won the championship in 1930, 1925 and 1926. In 1926 he took the team to the national basketball tournament in Chicago.

All of Salem's first string men with the exception of Bone, received their basketball fundamentals from Frank Brown, Parish high coach. This was not the beginning though, as most of them have tossed at the hoop since old enough to handle a ball.

Salem has the same team this year except for Graber, center, with which Holly surprised the tournament crowds last year by taking his five into the finals. Sanford and Kitcher were rated as all state stars and will be back this year in an attempt to hold their well earned positions on the all-star five.

Bone, Kitcher, Sigmund and Graber will graduate this year, but the bench is filled with capable subs who will have their chance in the 1932 tournament.

According to Coach Huntington, Jefferson, Benson, Pendleton and Ashland are sending the strongest aggregations to the tournament this year. However, Astoria, 1930 champs, who were defeated earlier in the season by Salem high, are not to be overlooked. Upsets and surprises by any of the smaller teams may be expected and the tournament promises to be exciting from the first to the last.

FROSH GLEE BETS
Freshman Glee bets are over but some of the memories still linger on. For example—the wheelbarrow parade. There were only two wheelbarrows—nevertheless there was a parade. I could hardly believe my eyes when I saw Betty Boylan riding her one horse shay pushed by Charles Gianoli. But to see Betty push the Frosh class president was even worse. Did they get there? Not without a few thumps—fire hydrants and what not! The other members of the party were Mildred Kester and guys who—well—no one but Gene Smith. The ride was all right until the wheelbarrow assumed a position on top of the passenger.

BIOLOGY COAST TRIP
Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23, are the dates set for the spring biology trip, according to Professor Cecil R. Monk. The students will go to Newport and study the life of the creatures on the rocks.

Last year approximately sixty-five students went on the trip, and it is expected that about the same number will turn out this year. It is planned to have the geology expedition on the same two days. It has not yet been decided where they will go.

CLASSICAL PROGRAM
Saturday evening, April 18, the Classical club will present a program consisting of selections from Ovid's "Metamorphoses" and several groups entitled "Statues." Frances Wesley is in charge of the program, with John Radin assisting.

TAPPERS PERFORM AT TOURNAMENT
The girls in Miss Baldere's gym class will give several tap dance numbers during the halves of some of the tournament games. Both the beginning and advanced classes will present several numbers. The officials of the tournament are very fortunate in securing the cooperation of the Willamette girls.

SELECTION OF ALL STARS ANNOUNCED

The following players have been selected as the all-star team of Do-Nut league players. Leslie Sparks, R. forward; Charles Campbell, L. forward; "Spec" Keene, center; Herbert Hardy, R. guard; Curtis French, L. guard.

The freshman sports staff has selected the 1931 Do-Nut league all-star team.

Leslie Sparks was selected for right forward. Sparks has been playing a steady brand of ball all season and ranked second in the scoring column. The playing of the faculty has been featured by the fast playing of the short forward, who was very adept in making difficult side-arm shots.

Charles Campbell, who was the league leading scorer, was selected as left forward. Campbell, who averaged approximately 16 points to the game, scored 76 points throughout the season. In spite of the fact that Campbell was the leading individual scorer, he was very valuable to his team in carrying the brunt of their offensive attack.

"Spec" Keene, because of his extraordinary reach, was chosen for center. "Spec" has also been a dependable scorer. His work around the basket was particularly fine.

At right guard, the sports staff selected Herbert Hardy, freshman. Hardy, aside from scoring consistently, also played a fine defensive game.

Curt French was selected as left guard on the all-star team. Curt led the faculty cagers to several victories. Not only did he play well himself but he was also a guide to his team mates.

WOMEN DEBATERS TO MEET WHITMAN
Again facing old rivals, the Willamette women's debate team will meet Whitman in the Willamette chapel Wednesday night. Doris Corbin and Kathleen Skinner will uphold the affirmative side of the question. Great interest is centered in this debate, since Whitman pulled the football championship and Willamette is flaunting the basketball championship. After this debate interest will be centered on the debate with Mills College which is coming up in the near future. Barbara Elliott and Doris Corbin will doubtless represent Willamette at this contest.

Large Number in Frosh Class Show Abilities and Interest in Various Varsity Sports

The Bearcats have always been famous for their skill in defeating their opponents and adding another trophy to their cache. However, the reserves also have often been responsible for these victories. Although these often consist of representatives from every class, the freshmen claim their share in the varsity sports.

Among the freshmen who were outstanding and who remained out for practice during the entire football season were: Baldwin, Carpenter, Chipley, Drager, Fantz, Haley, Keyser, McEneny, Mills, Orkeny, Fred Smith, Buck Smith, and Woolley. From this group of husky freshmen many competent players will be developed.

In varsity basketball the freshman class was not highly represented in quantity, but there were two men who saw and were in plenty of action. Kaiser and Kloostra were reliable players throughout the entire season. Kloostra has received special mention in the manner in which he helped the Cardinal and Gold clinch the second consecutive basketball championship.

Wrestling, a new sport in Willamette activities, is also growing in prominence, and in this activity the freshmen are outstanding. Representing the freshmen are: Joseph Hershberger, Joe Blanchard, Eugene Smith, and Harry Craig. According to Coach Roy Mink these men are showing up well and will be valuable to the school in the future.

Some of the outstanding prospects from the freshman class for baseball are: Louis and Paul Girod, Messenger, Gribble, and Willis. Although there are probably many more who will turn out, it is impossible to predetermine who these aspirants will be. However, the more who turn out the more experienced men Willamette will have for the future.

One man from the freshman class who deserves mention for his aquatic performances is Lowell Gribble. This young neptune defeated the representatives of the upper classes at a swimming meet held at the Y. M. C. A. tank last January.

Track and tennis also have their aspirants. At present those casting a hopeful eye at these sports are Goyno and Gianoli, representing the class in tennis and Sweet and Pemberton in track.
