Honor Committee Makes Appeal To Students

Truth Desired; "One Who Cheats Harms Self; Life No Bowl of Cherries," Claim

Climaxing early this week a series of three meetings, the Honor Code committee consisting of Chariman Al Ferrin, Secretary Margaret Upjohn, and Leighton Blake, Margaret Moulton, John Horton, Dorothy Moore, John Laughlin, Marion Saunders and Richard Achor, composed an appeal to the integrity of the students to preserve the traditional honor that has distinguished Willamette in the past. The appeal as released by the committee this week:

"Once again the student council finds it necessary to appoint a student committee to ameliorate a dishonest practice known to all of us as 'cribbing.' The committee does not feel that we are faced with any irremedial situation or one that is as condemnable as some might have us believe; yet we all know there exists a condition that each and every one of us would like to see

Whip Whitman Banquet Held Last Night

The students of Willamette University made merry at the Salem Senior high school cafeteria Tuesday in honor of the coming football game with Whitman November 23.

The banquet was truly a success — if it could be judged by the spirit of gayety and fun that prevailed the atmosphere.

The toastmaster, Dayton Robertson introduced the main speaker, Mr. Walter Erickson who spoke for a few moments, followed by Professor Jones. And, of course, what would be a football banquet without a football coach, so our own Spec Keene gave a brief talk.

During the dinner and afterwards, the band played several numbers and accompanied the students in school songs and yells.

The table decorations were the inspiration of Betty Annunson, who was in charge of the decorations. The center of the table featured a brilliant display of cardinal and gold football helmets.

Pat Cray was in charge of the catering, and Elizabeth James and Nadine Orcutt publicized the event.

Lockinour to Write For Law Book

For the sixth consecutive year, Dean Roy M. Lockinour of the law school, has been asked to contribute an article to the "Yearbook of the School of Law" published jointly by Purdue University and the Carnegie Institute. The title of his article, Dean Lockinour explained, is "Tort Liability of Schools and School Districts."

Mu Phi Chief To Be Guest Speaker, Chapel

Mrs. Bertha King, national president of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary society, will be guest speaker at chapel Wednesday. Mrs. King, whose home is in Minneapolis, is on a biannual inspection tour of the chapters. While here she will conduct an initiation service for new members. She will be honored at a dinner Tuesday evening. From here, she will go to Portland, where she will be the guest of the Alumnae club.

Keys Contest Slated for December

Contest Sponsored By Tau Kappa Alpha To Stir Interest

The Hon. Walter E. Keyes again donates $25 to be given in prizes to the winning orators of the Keyes' Oratorical Contest to be held in chapel December 19.

This is an annual contest sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha for stimulating interest in oratory among both men and women. All students are eligible, except former winners. The orations may be on any subject not exceeding a six minute delivery.

In order that contestants may be publicized in advance of the contest it will be necessary to have the elimination contest December 8. At this time the orations must be given in final form so that the judges will be able to choose three contestants to be represented at the final contest.

Tau Kappa Alpha has extended an invitation to the donor, Hon. Walter E. Keyes, to be the honored guest at the occasion.

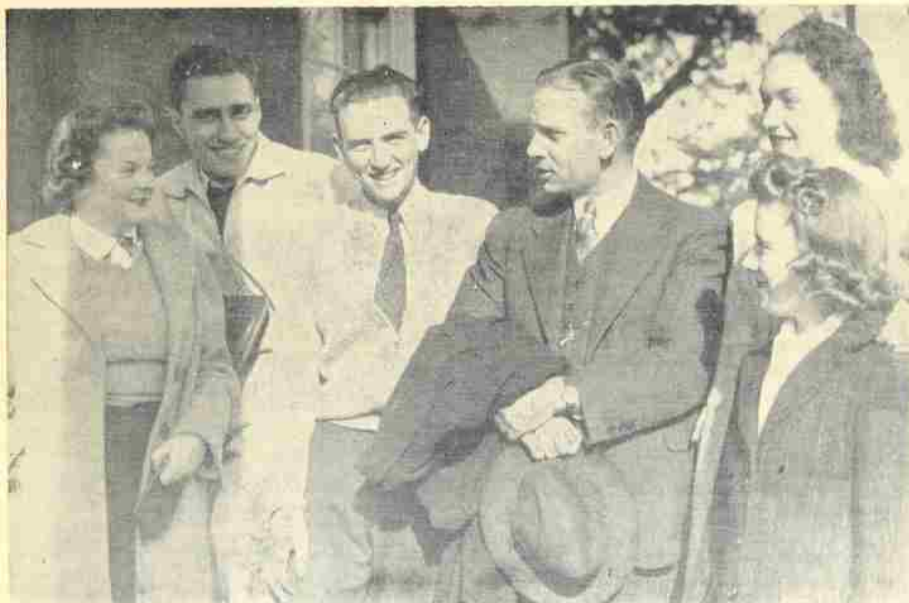

Photos Must Be Taken By Today

The seniors have until today to get their pictures taken, and the group and organization pictures that have not been taken, will be taken after Thanksgiving vacation. The organizations having pictures taken, and who have not as yet seen Jack Walker about finances, are urged to do so immediately.

The people who have snapshots that they would like to have printed in the Wallulah are urged to turn them in to Gilbert Heald, John Hathaway, or Dan Moses as soon as possible. The people working on the Wallulah will receive their assignments as soon as they are made out.

Indignant Sophomores Angry at Chapel Walkout Last Week

"If the freshman do not want to cooperate in this friendly initiation the sophomores are attempting to carry on, then we may have to resort to drastic measures to bring them around," said John Hathaway, president of the sophomore class late last week to an almost vacant chapel that was supposed to seat the nearly 200 members of the freshman class for a "kangaroo court." Approximately five freshmen attended, necessitating the dismissal of the meeting.

Modern Teaching Is Superficial Says Dr. Adler

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 22.—(ACP)—Modern education, with its great emphasis on the study of contemporary problems, is superficial in theory and confusing in practice.

That's the opinion of Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, professor of the philosophy of law at the University of Chicago, and here are his arguments to uphold his position:

"Progressivism has become so absorbed with the study of contemporary world that it forgets human culture has traditional root. It has substituted information for understanding, and science for wisdom. It has mistaken license for liberty, for that is what freedom is when unaccompanied by discipline.

"If the doctors of the nation spent as much time worrying about democracy as do the educa-

Debate Team to Complete Pacific Coast Contest Today in Stockton, Calif.

By Tom Terjeson

This week the Willamette university varsity debate team consisting of Bill Thomas and Al

Klassen and the women's team including Beverly McMillin, Marjorie Waters, and Helen Newland are participating in the largest Pacific Coast Speech tournament of the year which is held at Stockton, California.

The different members will participate also — besides debate — in impromptu, extempore, and after dinner speaking. At the tournament there will be four sections, the junior and the senior colleges for both men and women. Willamette's teams will participate in the senior college section for men and the junior section for women.

On Monday, Bill Thomas participated in the first round of extemp starting at 1:00 o'clock. At 2:00 p. m., the first round of debate began. On Tuesday the second round of extemp and debate took place. Al Klassen, in the meantime, took the rounds of impromptu. Helen Newland took part in the women's division of extemp. Today the semi-finals and finals are being held.

Results of the meet have not yet been received by the Collegian.

Today after the contest the entire squad will motor to San Francisco for a three day vacation while Dr. Rabe attends a teacher's speech meet.

ARE YOU A MORON?

This year, as in years past, the Executive Council has appointed a group of nine students and labeled it, also according to precedent, the Honor Code Committee—and a very lovely name it is.

The duty of this committee is to uphold and enforce the A. S. W. U. Honor Code—a document that sounds something like a Platonic pipe-dream. It speaks of the long cherished practice of honor at Willamette and also in a vague, indefinite way about the sacred traditions of the University. But it would seem to the logical thinking student that a school so saturated with such an abundance of good old shining honor, as the code implies, would not need a committee of "honor-bright" students to enforce it.

Let us look at the facts as they really are—look at humans as they actually exist—and not concern ourselves with high sounding, obscured phrases and ideals that have a pleasant ring for Legionnaires and Boy Scouts but which do not sway intelligent people.

G. Stanley Hall, one of the United States' outstanding psychologists, made a survey of a large number of college students in various schools throughout the country. He found that 27 per cent of those asked would use an answer if they incidentally saw it on another paper, and that 21 per cent would deliberately use notes and interliners in a test. According to this percentage, then, about 180 Willamette students will deliberately cheat in tests. Also the fact remains that one can still buy good used theses at reasonable prices. This, then, is a picture of people as they really are in college.

But can an honor code committee, or ten honor code committees, do anything to remedy the situation? It is doubtful. As officials at Harvard have said: "The so called honor system has never commended itself to either the faculty or the students of Harvard. . . . There is always a small number who cannot be trusted under any system." And they are right.

However, the Honor Code Committee is not entirely in vain. It does give nine students something with an impressive name to belong to—and perhaps if the boys keep clean-shaven and their spectacles polished, and the girls take it easy on cosmetics, and both develop a complacent look of angelic honesty, they will impress some straying cheater and put him on the right road. And the committee might help by telling the professors that when a student looks at another's test he is not examining the texture of the paper. (The committee has already taken steps to inform the faculty of the ways to prevent cheating.)

But the biggest consolation lies in realizing what an ignoramus the fellow who cheats is. When taking a test and some super-sap next you (which was the experience of this writer) copies off your paper and then turns up with a higher grade than yourself, just remember that the very fact that he copies indicates he knows nothing (i.e., a moron) or he wouldn't have to cheat. And then please pity these poor morons who must resort to cheating because they are too ignorant to pass a test on their own.

Men of Westminster Know Women

(ACP Special)—Whether they are interested or not, Westminster college men will have definite domestic information about the co-eds they date. The women's governing board has just passed a new set of rules which inflict dating restrictions on women who do not keep their rooms neat and orderly. But just to make the rules more enjoyable, those who are super-neat will receive extra date nights.
Now all that's needed is a taste-test to prove their culinary ability, and Westminster men will not have to worry about their future wives.

Modern Teaching

tors, I would greatly fear for the health of the nation. The progressive system, with its confusion of authority and its emphasis on political questions, has put a false responsibility on all teachers in attempting to solve social and economical problems.

"If our educators have the solution for these problems they ought to leave the education system and run for public office. In any event, they should stop using the education system to propagandize their own particular beliefs. If they would forget these theories and take care of education, then democracy would take care of itself."

"With but very few exceptions, we have had no truly great teachers in this century. It is up to us, as good teachers, not as great teachers, to teach our students to read, write and speak so that they will be able to read the teachings of the great teachers—the classicists—and learn their philosophy not for the past's sake but for the sake of the present and the future. If we do this, if we confine ourselves solely to education, then we will create men and women who will have a place in our society, and who will be better equipped to serve and preserve our democracy."

Thanksgiving Causes Poems, Gags, Indigestion Over United States

By Eve Shellito

Thanksgiving; oh Thanksgiving! (With apologies to Mary Livingston)

It comes but once a year!

Or does it

The decree issued sometime ago by our honorable President is really turning out to be something.

It has been the brunt of more gags than Eddie Cantor's five daughters. Why, if there hadn't been this sudden calendar change, what would Charlie McCarthy, the fugitive from a buzz-saw, do for his biggest gag of each broadcast? And Mary Livingston would have to fall back on "Labor day, oh Labor day" for her delightful poetry.

Two Thanksgivings this year are going to be bad for some people's indigestion, we fear. Take for instance, a clan scattered over various parts of the state. The first Thanksgiving, (the one that comes tomorrow) will see various and sundry relatives deposited around one family table gorging themselves to the ears, after which they'll no doubt vow "never again". But comes the second Thanksgiving feast of the season and the hungry mob will have descended upon another harried grandma's household for another day of stuffing and dying around. (And we do mean dying.)

One person we could mention—in fact, we might as well—who will no doubt do very little kicking because of the advent of two turkey days, is your local butcher. And why should he? Beginning tomorrow and extending on through New Year's, turkey will constitute a large part of the national diet. So what's he got to lose? Not a thing!

Probably the only kicks to be heard during this season of thanks and stuffing will be heard from us poor fannies who are wishing (but not doing very much about it) that we weren't quite so rotund, and the many turkeys likely to meet their doom within the next few weeks.

In the early days at the University of Arkansas, carrying concealed weapons was such a common practice that the faculty found it necessary to make a special ruling to force the students to leave their shootin' irons at home. The oldest state university building in North America is at the University of North Carolina.

While several American institutions have royal characters, William and Mary college is the only one in the country which has a royal coat of arms.

Barn Party Successful

Last Saturday evening members of the Y. M. C. A. entertained their guests with a hayride and barn dance, which was held at the Chemawa Grange hall. All had a "rip-roarin' good time" on two hay wagons, which conveyed them to their appointed destination. Besides the fun of singing and fiddling, the guests danced the famous "two step", and wound up the evening by dancing the "Virginia Reel." At an appropriate time refreshments were served.

Those enjoying the evening were: Jean Longley, Ralph May, Dorothy Tate, Richard Stacer, Doris Crabtree, Joe Van Winkle, Hermie Palmer, Bob Dean, Miriam Jensen, Leo Baldwin, Lois Baldwin, Margery Mack, Dick French, Emil Settlege, Louisa Black, William Laughlin, Frances Pickard, Robert Volgi, Grace Covert, Francis Rierson, Elison Lester, John Laughlin, Jane Sisson, Bill Borden, Dolores Netz, Bud Nunn, Merle Kyle, Bob Norris, Rowena Upjohn, Al Curry, Phyllis Fisher, Carl McLeod, Billie Jean Gillilan, Howard Eberly, Pauline Mestrazel, Tom Pickett, Marguerite Trommlitz, Charles Carey Pearl Bendiksen, Norman Ho, Mary Daniel, Irwin Wedell, Margaret Upjohn, Charles Cunningham, Virginia Hubbs, Jack Pollock, Pat Hutchinson, R. WAA Hayride Enjoyed at Meadowlawn

Some forty girls — WAA members and friends — spent what proved to be a highly enjoyable evening last Friday night at the Women's Athletic Association's first Hayride.

On a hayrack drawn by a stalwart team of stallions the girls drove out to the Meadowlawn dairy barn, near Four Corners. Basketball and volley ball courts conveniently contributed to the fun. A no-holds-barred basketball game floored quite a few of the participants, but no one was mortally injured.

Hobbie Kurtz contributed the use of her record-playing radio, furnishing music for dancing.

Refreshments consisting of cider, do-nuts, and apples were welcomed by the gamesters, after which the girls started on the homeward trek, singing and running beside the slightly slowly moving wagon to keep warm.

Maxine Crabtree was in charge of the affair, and was aided by Gwen Griffith, Eve Shellito, and Alice Stone.

"We want another one," was the general conclusion voiced by those attending.

In the inclusion of the Oregon roads in the proposed super-federal project which would be a network of highways known as interregional highways. They will direct effort toward congressional consideration of legislation to carry out this plan which would benefit US99 and US20 (the Columbia River highway and the Old Oregon Trail).

THANKSGIVING HYMN

All the blessings of the field,
All the stores the gardens yield;
All the fruits in full supply,
Ripened 'neath the summer sky;
All that spring with bounteous hand
Scatters o'er the smiling land;
All that liberal autumn pours
From her rich o'er-flowing stores;
These to thee, our God, we owe,
Source whence all our blessings flow;
And for these our souls shall raise
Grateful vows and-solemn praise.

Beta Chi Pledges Entertain, Dinner

A Thanksgiving theme was used as Beta Chi pledges entertained at a date dinner Sunday afternoon. A golden cornucopia and bright autumn leaves decorated the table, at which Mrs. Charles McCargar presided. Special guests were Dean and Mrs. Melvin Geist.

Mothers Honored By Alpha Psi Delta

Members of Alpha Psi Delta honored their mothers at an informal dinner at their house Sunday noon. The table was centered with yellow fall flowers.

Placecards with the Alpha Psi crest on them were set for Mrs. S. B. Laughlin, Mrs. R. W. Jones, Mrs. Arlie G. Walker, Mrs. R. G. Brady, Mrs. Tom Riches, John Laughlin, Dick Jones, Jack Walker, Bob Brady, Tom Riches, Dean Trumbo, Steve Anderson, Wayne Brainard, and Richard Jewett.

"We believe in the philosophy, well-known to all of you that you are only cheating yourself when you take advantage of unfair methods to pass in a test. Life is not a 'bowl of cherries.' Seldom will be wind when we are in a tight spot later on in life that we will be able to look over the other fellow's shoulder or use "ponies" in finding the correct answer to the problem. Only when we come to realize this all important fact will we be able to play fair with ourselves and with our fellow men.

"And this brings up another point. If we are unscrupulous with ourselves, are we not likewise unscrupulous with others? This would seem a very logical corollary from our first stipulation. Probably, also, this is one point on which the largest number of students would all agree; for after all are we not all interested in receiving the highest grade possible? But how can this be done under the class average system when we find certain practices that raise some grades and necessarily cause a lowering of others. Such unethical measures make it impossible to grade fairly. Our appeal, then, goes out to those of you who want to get the highest grade your ability will permit to be straightforward in all your dealings.

"Many of you will recognize Dr. Baxter's story on this subject but it is one that is certainly well worth repeating. He related that the student who goes through his college career and who has continually "cribbed" in order to pass courses will have his reckoning day the night of graduation. On his diploma are written the letters P R A U D invisible to everyone except himself. Surely we don't want that feeling to happen to us when we are fortunate enough to receive a "sheep's skin."

"We hope that his will stimulate thought in the minds of all, and that you will feel free to make any suggestions that you might have. Remember, few of the best things in life are come by easily; most take years of self discipline and application."

Rip Raps & Roots

By JOE VAN WINKLE

The Dark Horse in this year's conference football is the College of Idaho. The Bearcats affirm after eking out a close 13-7 victory that they were one of the toughest teams which they play this season. Their showing Saturday proved this.

Fullback Hinman

Press reports stated that Walden and Fullback Hinman played outstandingly for Willamette. Bob ripped off more of his sizeable gains on the end around play, and press men thought that he played fullback. As a matter of fact he might make a good fullback but plays end.

Stewart returns to form

Gene Stewart who led the second touchdown drive against the Coyotes saw his first noticeable bit of service in the Idaho game and passed and ran for the largest share of the touchdowns drive. For the past two seasons Gene has been injured off and on and has not seen much service; however, we feel that next season he will be one of the outstanding performers on the Bearcat team.

McGlenn Out

George McGlenn suffered a broken collar bone in the Idaho game and will be out for the remainder of the season. He sustained the injury while blocking not while running. McGlenn played some very fine ball this season and according to some sports writers who saw him play is worthy of Little All-American recognition.

Borleske Spectator

Nig Borleske, coach of the Whitman eleven which Willamette plays Thanksgiving, was present at Caldwell Saturday watching the Bearcats strut their stuff. Whitman has failed to defeat Willamette for several seasons, and in spite of a weak season evidently Borleske is planning a warm welcome for Willamette tomorrow in Walla Walla.

League Schedules Are Established

With five teams entered in ping-pong and eight in volleyball schedules for three weeks participation in the two activities was released this week by intramural manager Pete Williams. Surprise has been expressed by the campus league authorities concerning the unusual number of entries in the volleyball program.

All games are set for noon.

Conference Rivals Mix in Walla Walla Thanksgiving Clash

Striving for the victory that will garner them the 1939 Northwest conference crown, the Willamette University Bearcats mix with the Whitman Missionaries tomorrow afternoon at Walla Walla in the traditional Turkey Day classic.

The fray will wind-up conference play for Willamette.

Mathematically the 'Cats now lead the league but need the win to insure a clean-cut margin over the Pacific Badgers who are tied with the Willamettes at three victories. A deadlock with the Missionaries would mean only a cotitle for the Methodists and a win for Whitman would place the Badgers on the throne.

While the Bearcats are entertaining these thoughts the Nig Borleski cohorts have it in their minds to avenge the stinging 19-0 blow that occasioned the 1938 Thanksgiving tilt. And, although the Washingtonians will miss the opportunity to wreak their revenge on George McGlenn, they will have at least one thing in their favor; for, the dynamic 'Cat halfback who sparkplugged the Willamette club to victory last season is shelved for the fray because of injuries received in the College of Idaho mix-up. Fans will recall that McGlenn broke away for an 83 yard touchdown dash during one stage of the game last year.

Just who will replace the "glycerine kid" in the Spec Keene line-up is questionable. The choice, however, probably lies between veterans Justin Weakley and Gene Stewart, both of whom have been hampered in the matter of showing their best forms from early fall injuries. Stewart came to his own last Saturday, though, and with Bob Hinman proved to be the lift that the Bearcat needed to get its slumping offense again on the roll.

Either one of these backs should pair well with Walden to mend the Keenemen touchdown combination and if Larry McKeel continues the pace he hit in the Coyote tilt the new pairing should be excellently supported.

So far as the title is concerned the Whitman aggregation is entirely out of the running. The Borleskemen have chalked-up only one conference win this fall and have been defeated twice. They won from Linfield, 25-13, and lost to Puget Sound, 26-7, and to Pacific, 14-0. In other battles during a rather poor season the Missionaries shellacked Whitworth, 14-0 and were set-back, 19-7 by Colorado college. On their slate only College of Idaho remains after the Willamette meeting.

Even though this poor showing has marked the Whitmans they may give the 'Cat its money's worth of fight, since Borleske is known for his clever way of producing surprises with the teams he has mentored at the Walla Walla institution and while the Missionary season has not been entirely successful the Bearcat may find the going tougher than records have portrayed.

Willamette pep for the encounter was displayed last night when the students gathered at the Salem high school cafeteria for the annual "Whip Whitman" banquet.

Edmen Winners In Kappa Fracas

Continuing their domination of intramural fall play, the Physical Education Staff overwhelmed the Kappas, 21 to 0, to initiate the passball play-off season Friday noon.

An exhibition of broken field running and long passes spurred the attack for the P. E's and accounted for their scores. And the contest was not without its breaks as Moe and Joyce each pulled down a partially blocked pass to tally touchdowns for the winners.

The battle marked the second contest this year in which the victors have scored three touchdowns and made the entire trio of conversions. Victory also gave the Physical Edsters the right to play the winner of the second play-off tussle occurring last Monday.

The only other game scheduled for last week-end was chalked up as a victory for the Alpha Psi club via forfeiture of the Sigma Tau of a speedball match.

There were no speedball tiffs this week but they will be carried along with passball competition following the return to the campus next Monday.

INTRAMURAL PLAY-OFF SCHEDULE—(4:00 P.M.)

Keenemen Rally Led By Walden, Stewart After Idaho Scores

Unfolding her devastating offensive and coming back after her opponent had hit first pay dirt, the Bearcat copped a 13-7 Northwest conference win from the College of Idaho Coyotes at Caldwell Saturday.

After permitting Coyote "Rabbit" Bennett to break loose for a 73 jaunt and the Idaho score, the Willamette crew came to life to tally two touchdowns of her own in the initial half for the decisive margin. Al Walden went over first for the invaders when his teammates shook him loose through the center of the Coyote line and into a broken field for a 50 stripe dash.

Gene Stewart accounted for the six points of victory by going over from the three yard line. Stewart, himself set the stage for his touchdown plunge. Passes, Stewart to Justin Weakley and to Larry McKeel placed the ball in position for the cruncher.

Standing out for Willamette were the performances of end Bob Hinman, fullback Larry McKeel and halfback Al Walden. Hinman ripped off large gains down-field in touchdown drives. McKeel realized hidden abilities in pass reception and defense by making uncanny catches and interceptions and Walden proved to be the most elusive man on the Caldwell gridiron despite the much felt loss of McGlenn.

Although the Willamettes made numerous threatening pushes into enemy territory during the final periods the stiff Coyote defense kept the second half scoreless.

The Keenemen encountered, as expected, a team which was regarded as their toughest conference rival. This fact could be displayed by the Idahoans accomplishment of drawing the initial tally which forced the Keene machine to its utmost possibilities to overcome the Coyote lead.

Alpha Psi Defeats P.E.

By a pass, Jack Walker to Bob French, after French had reversed the ball to Walker the Alpha Psi Delta passballers rang up a second period touchdown to hand the P.E. Staff its first defeat in 1939 intramural, 7-0.

The win boosted the Alpha Psi "P's" into top spot in passball play-off running.

French drop-kicked the conversion.

Alpha Psi fought its way to nomination in the conflict after Edster drives had characterized the opening half of the fracas. Advancing the ball by clever laterals and passes the fraternity team drove deep into enemy territory several times during the final period.

Alpha Psi Victor In Pass Tussle

All departments clicked successfully for the Alpha Psi "B's" Monday as they passed and played the breaks to 14-0 decision over the Independents in a first-round passball contest.

The decision placed the fraternal eleven in the winner division in the second round of play.

Insurance of a win came in the latter part of the opening canto when big Bill Anton of the fraternity boys grabbed a pass that he had blocked in the Independent backfield area and, out-distancing the rival clubsters, scampered across the goal. Brainard made a freak recovery of Bob French's partially blocked placement for the extra point.

A 30-yard pass, French to Dick Jones, was responsible for the only other tally in the game.

As losers the Independents play this noon in opposition to the Kappas. The victor in today's battle yet has a mathematical opportunity to obtain the title since a team must be defeated twice to be eliminated.
