FURTHER EXPANSION

Rumor has it that there is a good possibility that Willamette will purchase the old Salem postoffice building to house the law and history departments of the university.

Though his literary efforts are put to use not only on the sport page, but on the remainder of the paper as well, Dan Moses, the subject of this week's closeup, finds time to engage in innumerable other campus activities.

Born in Winlock, Wn., on February 19, 1917, Dan has lived most of his life in Portland. At Franklin high school, Dan won seven scholarship awards, and yet, found time to serve as president of the Social Science club, secretary of the Scholarship club, to win a school editorial writing contest, to set a new record in published inches of copy in the Franklin High Post, and to represent the lieve the structure will not match the other campus buildings in style and color. These arguments are far too weak to influence the executive board of the university, if present negotiations are completed.

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . ?

We hear that the Beta Chi's milk drinking party was upset by a simple twist of the wrist Sunday night. We must admit that whoever performed the deed had it over on the girls that were watching the so-called youngsters out in the alley about that time. But, say, girls, you will have to admit that it was about time for the lights to be out anyway.

It's certainly swell that the olden days aren't completely gone. It seems that the Delta Phi's think it proper to scream when the lights are turned out by some young tyrant, but it was alright, girls, little Healdrick was there to protect you. And, besides, there weren't any boys around, or were there?

Hey Fellas—a few girls around here feel that they aren't getting the breaks. Why don't you young men co-operate a little? Now, take, for instance, Enid Winingham. She is a mighty fine little lady, but doesn't have either a ring or pin. She may have an outside admirer, but why let that stop you?

Chapel Romance Blossoms Out Into More 2 2 2 ? Hummmm. Seems funny, even though there weren't supposed to be any dates at the Freshman-Sophomore party, that Marie O'Conner and Warren Nunn came in together. And on top of that, just (we hope) because the orchestra took an intermission, Bud and Marie took a 15-minute intermission. Now you two had better watch out!

It is a good thing that Sunday night was Halloween and being as how we were entertained very nicely, along about 10 p. m. at the Beta Chi house. Next time Lenard Schmurr why not offer us a chair? Leona's the Burdick . . .

Kidnapping seems to be a National Vogue in the United States, but at Willamette it's "Cradle smatching". Public enemy No. 1—Bronk Williams. Running him a close second is an insuing criminal, one "H. K."

We hear that Dick McNees made the statement that if he could find a girl with her second semester tuition paid up, providing she could cook he would marry her. In running our finger down the list of those girls having their second semester tuition paid up we find the name of Della Willard. My, my, such a coincidence. Can you cook, Della?

It surely is unfair that two boys nice as Cecil Quesseth and Max Hauser should fall for one girl. Sarah Ford surely must have made a great hold on the boys? But whoever kept Dear Sarah out all night the last two nights had better keep out of the love sick boys' way . . .

My Stars—Have you heard the latest? Punchie Hall has decided to get in the general run of college society. Mildred Pederson is a fine gal Punchie. Good Luck and don't take no for an answer.

We were informed by a certain celebrity that Barbara Kurtz was really going to do her part in putting the Chapel doors back by donating her starter bolt for connecting the doors to the wall. If you had been around the chapel steps about 4:15 Monday afternoon you would have seen Chubby examining those things that hold the chapel doors in place. Was the bolt really up there, Chubby?

We can't figure out why several Lausanne hall girls are always late for their 8:40 classes. It couldn't be that the mailman arrives at the hall about 8:35, could it?

We think Frankie and Johnnie ought to serve the sentences for the two girls they purposely kept out late the other evening after the milk shake guzzle. If they think being week-ended is fun, they've got another guess comin'.

It's too bad the boys don't have to pay the fines when they keep the girls out so late. If isn't that they don't see them every day or anything like that, it just seems that the night air holds some deep dark secret. What is your trouble, Dorothy Baldwin, we find you are holding the record over at the hall this week. Doesn't Art have to keep in football training any more?

Introducing . . .

Professor Cameron Marshall, B. A., has been Dean of the School of Music since 1930, after having served eleven years as Dean at Howard Payne College in Texas. Previous to Howard Payne, he was connected with Drake University in Iowa, Nickerson College, and the Denver College of Music.

CAMERON MARSHALL Willamette School of Music has been making rapid strides toward quality and success. It is indeed a joy to watch his psychological, scientific manner of handling the Bearcat musical neophytes; to view him at his work is to know him.

Head tilted, smiling eyes watching searchingly, intently through horn rimmed glasses; a soft southern drawl as of an oracle speaking, accompanied by a wink of one of those blue eyes and social difficulties of the enterprising student are no longer difficult.

Many a student on the campus has gone to him for advice on a perplexing problem to receive decided comfort and assistance.

To follow up, each year on Valentine's Day, Professor Dan Cupid Marshall presents a chapel program, dedicating that appropriate hour to the charming campus couples. May we quote one of his philosophical wisdoms: "Love is a Bubble. Love is Trouble. I've registred."

We understand that down in Texas Professor Marshall was known by one and all just plain "Cam." And he liked it. It is possible that it was those that he learned to cook his favorite morsels, broiled steak "Suthun Style, with all the fixin's."

To summarize Professor Marshall is impossible, but in our mind he is aesthetically, expeditiously human.

Music resembles poetry: in each are numerous gems which no methods teach, and which a master hand alone can reach.—Poet

OPINIONS

By CHESTER OPPEN

Some girls come to college to learn what they don't know; And there are some who seem to come to spend their pater's dough; Others want a sheepskin to be different than the mob.

"O, I came here to get went with and I ain't." That seems to be the heart of her complaint. "I want a man in campus cords to listen closely to my words, To hold my hand when I command and catch me if I faint;

Since Dr. Doney gave his chapel address upon this topic of being "went with," this old song which I wrote as a novelty number for Freshman Glee last year, may have some interest. Dr. Doney advocates going with someone worth while and suggests the Greek writer, Euripides, as a fit companion. I found at the library that Rip already had an engagement, so I read Life. But I did find from the index that Euripides wrote Medea, a girl who would be no safe date for any man.

Rollicking, frolicking, carefree youth, Unmindful alike of wrong and truth; Disdaining to count in the morning sun The petals of time which fall one by one.

O, heedless children, take thought while you play, Life is not endless, it burns but a day; And how can you tell when the blue sky is bright, That a time will not come of bitter, black night?

So learn all the ethics, regulations and rules, And all the dry knowledge that's taught in the schools; And if you keep at it someday you can be, A crabbed eccentric cynic like me.

Poems like this are something human, But only God can make a woman.

The one day of the year when Dad comes to college, too

Campus Quarterback

By DAN MOSES (Collegian Sports Editor)

The Willamette band with its new uniforms certainly has made a big bit about town, and most of the credit for the improvement in the band in the past two years must be given to Ralph Nohlgren, able director. Ralph has worked untiringly to make the Bearcat band worthy of such an institution as Willamette, and together with his many novel ideas has done a great deal towards imbuing a new spirit in the entire student body.

One of Nohlgren's most popular innovations is the creation of two feminine "twirlers," Barbara Chapler and June Brasted, and the student body is anxiously awaiting the appearance of Nohlgren, his band, and his feminine "twirlers" on home soil, which means, of course, the Pacific game next Friday night on Sweetland field. At last Willamette has a band of which the students are proud. More power to you, Ralph.

U. S. C. Trojans Remember Dr. Baxter.

The men of the University of Southern California football team were greatly impressed by the interest shown by Willamette students and Salem townpeople when more than 500 people turned out to see the Trojans work out on Sweetland field last Friday afternoon. Furthermore, the men of Troy were deeply pleased when they were greeted by the Willamette band in full uniform.

After a short workout, mainly for limbering up purposes, the Trojans returned to their special train and immediately departed for Pullman where they played the Washington State Cougars the following day to a hard-fought 0 to 0 tie.

Professor Frank Childs of the Willamette economics department and President Bruce Baxter are well known to the Southern California student body, according to information obtained from members of the team, and though most of the boys hail from sunny California, they were highly enthusiastic over the beauty of the state of Oregon and its many scenic wonders. Thus, Oregonians may truly be proud of their home state, for seldom it is that Californians will admit that anything in the United States (or even the world at large) can equal California.

Dope Bucket Remains Intact

The dope bucket was not kicked so hard this week, and as a result the writer picked seven winners and missed only the California victory over U. C. L. A. (California was a big favorite to win, but the writer's hunch that she would lose proved bad), the other games resulting in tie scores.

Results of the Collegian sports-caster show the following: Willamette to dump College of Puget Sound, 13 to 0; they did, 7 to 0. . . . Washington to win from Idaho, 14 to 0; the Huskies won, 21 to 7. . . . Oregon State to edge out a tough victory from Stanford, 14 to 12; pretty close, for it was a 0 to 0 tie after a hard-fought game. . . . Santa Clara to down Marquette in an inter-sectional battle, 14 to 6; the Broncos swamped the Easterners, 38 to 0. . . . Stagg's College of Pacific to score a big upset over St. Mary's, 7 to 6; the Staggers did score upset by holding the favored Gaels to a thrilling 0 to 0 tie. . . . Southern California to win from Washington State, 13 to 7; it resulted in a 0 to 0 tie on a top-covered field. . . . Portland to defeat Linfield, 20 to 6; the Pilots smothered the boys from McMinnville, 40 to 0. . . . Pacific to wallops Albany, 20 to 0; Pacific came through as predicted, 19 to 0. . . . Oregon Normal to beat S. O. N. S., 19 to 6; they did win, 6 to 0. . . . Whitman to down College of Idaho, 13 to 0; and other close "call," for the Missionaries won, 20 to 0. . . . U. C. L. A. to hand California its first defeat of the season, 13 to 7; California ran true to form to remain the nation's number one team, winning, 27 to 14.

This week's advance dope brings the following—Willamette to play good ball against Oregon State, but not good enough to win; the Bearcats to lose, 26 to 3, but they will score against the Beavers. . . . University of Portland to win from C. P. S., 13 to 7; Albany to defeat Pacific College, 19 to 0; California to down Washington after a hard battle, 13 to 6; Oregon to upset Washington State in a thrilling game, 14 to 7; Santa Clara to edge out a close win over San Jose State, 14 to 12; St. Mary's to lose to San Francisco in an upset, 7 to 6; Stanford and U. S. C. to have a real battle with the brooks in favor of Stanford to gain a 13 to 12 win; and Montana to remain undefeated by downing Gonzaga, 19 to 7.

Sophs Tie Juniors, 0 to 0

After a thrilling 0 to 0 tie on Olinger field last Friday afternoon, Coach Andy vanOrten's Salem high sophomore team and Coach Verdel Ragsdale's Salem high junior team remained deadlocked in the top position of the city intramural football league, each team having two victories and one tie on its record.

Each team has defeated both Leslie and Parrish junior high, so that the tie game leaves both still undefeated.

Both coaches of the undefeated teams are seniors in the Willamette physical education department and are having "phenomenal" success in their first year of experimental coaching.

Varsity Hoopmen To Start Monday

Willamette Varsity basketball practice starts Monday at 8:00 p. m., according to information released by Coach Howard Mapie. Only lettermen, reserves, and other eligible upperclassmen are to turn out at this time, he stated, as the freshmen will be transferred to the varsity squad only when they have showed sufficient ability on the freshman team.

Last year's regulars returning to practice are Walt Weaver, all-conference guard; Bill Anton, who made the all-conference pivot position; Larry Nunenkamp, forward; and Jerry Gastineau, forward.

Reserves Return

Up from the reserves will be Oscar Specht, John Kelly, Bill Beard, and Jack Alton. Prospects from last year's yearling team are Dwight Catherwood, Buzz Hagedorn, Sam Kyle, and Cecil Quaseth. Bob White, center, transfer from E. O. N. S., and Irv Miller, guard, who hails from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., are other likely prospects.

The competition will be keener for the position left open by the graduation of Charley Versteeg, all-conference guard, Harry Mosher, speedy forward, and Don Brandon, center.

Bearcats Upset League-Leading Loggers, 7 to 0

W. U. Gets 21st Consecutive Conference Victory At Tacoma

By scoring a touchdown and conversion stopping the desperate rushes of the College of Puget Sound Loggers, the Willamette Bearcats climbed to the top of the Northwest conference standings in the first conference start of the year for the Bearcats, in last Friday night's hard-fought battle at Tacoma.

The victory was the 21st consecutive win for the Bearcats in conference competition and gave them a flying start towards winning their fourth consecutive championship, in addition to the maintenance of the record of an unbroken goal line by conference opponents in two seasons.

The Timbermen from Tacoma took the ball on the opening kickoff, and started a drive down the field which ended just short of the Bearcat goal line. Two other touchdown drives by the Loggers were stopped short on the Bearcat four and three-yard stripes, respectively, as the sturdy line of the locals braced to take the ball over on downs.

In the closing moments of the first half the Bearcats started a drive of their own, reaching the C. P. S. 30-yard line from which point a field goal try by Dick Weisgerber went wide as the Loggers took possession of the ball on their own 20-yard marker.

With the beginning of the third quarter the Bearcats showed a marked difference in spirit, and with Beard, Stone, and Weisgerber, carrying the ball advanced to the Loggers 4-yard line.

The Puget Sound defense here stiffened for three downs, but on the next play, Beard crossed up the Loggers by hurling a short, flat pass to Weisgerber who ambled over the goal line untouched for the touchdown. The "Jersey Juggernaut" then booted the ball squarely between the uprights for the extra point.

The fourth quarter was played with the Bearcats successfully defending their lead by breaking up a desperate Logger passing attack.

Remson and Schwetz were the big guns in the Logger attack, while the whole Bearcat team played good ball.

men are wanted as well as those who have starred at the game," urges Coach Sparks.

At present, Sparks said, his greatest problem is to develop teamwork among the frosh, since so many styles of play are used in the prep schools from which these boys came.

New additions to those already working out are Art Eaton, Jerry Foley, George Gutekunst, Frank Hedger, Ross Jenkins, Warren Lessig, Ed Maerz, Bob Reeves, John Vickers, Bud Watts, and Ed White.

Dick Weisgerber, All-Conference and Little All-American fullback of 1936, who is out to repeat last year's honors, is captain of the 1937 Bearcats.

Bill Beard, another outstanding backfield performer of last year's Bearcats, is again leading his teammates with his inspirational all-around ability. Though hampered by a shoulder injury, which he recovered in practice just before the Portland game, Beard was the one shining light in the dismal showing made by the Bearcats in the recent 13 to 7 Homecoming victory over Whittier.

Elliott (better known to his teammates as "Tootie") Becken, star guard from last year, is again a strong bulwark in the Willamette line.

Becken, though only five feet, nine inches, in height, is powerfully built and weighs 192 pounds. This fighting "never-says-die" Norwegian is truly a Bearcat, both on offense and defense.

W. A. A. Reporter by CORNELIA HULST

Hikes have been scheduled several times and then regularly called off because of weather conditions. But there is a long list of girls who have indicated that they're ready to go whenever the hiking season can really begin.

Don't be alarmed then, if an army of girls is seen marching down the highway—it will only be these W. A. A. hikers: Loya Bergardus, Jean Lauderback, Margaret Wright, Betty Ojden, Shirley Thomas, and Margaret Gillette.

Others are Charlotte McKee, Margaret Taylor, Martha Okuda, M. Hall, Mabel Lenz, Cornelia Hulst, Mary Downey, Jessie Ruland, Nancy Faust, Jean Bartlett, Margaret Engdahl, Marjorie Herr, Dorothy Moore, Margaret Magee, Hazel Magee, Betty Williams, Barbara Finney, Frances Pickard, Ruth Vocum, Rose Ann Gibson, and Margaret Ann Kells.

Basketball practice is in full swing now. Tuesday the gym classes began working on the plays and techniques; and the four o'clock practices have been progressing for a couple of weeks now.

3 Unbeaten O.H.S. Teams Coached By Ex-bearcats

Four Oregon high schools are at present undefeated in state competition and three of them are coached by Willamette alumni, while the fourth, Johnny Londahl, coach of the Bend Lava Bears, is the one exception. He is a University of Oregon graduate.

The Willamette graduate-coaches who are still carrying on the winning Bearcat spirit are Harold Dimick, Oregon City; Harold Hank, Salem; and Russ Boney, at Tillamook. These three ex-Bearcats are compiling a marvelous record in Oregon high school competition and are hoping for a bid to a state championship game with the winner of the Portland high school league.

Sparks Gets P. E. Master's Degree

Prof. Leslie J. Sparks, graduate manager and physical education instructor, returns to the campus this year after attending the summer session at Stanford university where he obtained his Master's degree in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He was awarded the degree on his thesis titled "Procedures Used for Admission to Professional Education in Health and Physical Education."

Mr. Sparks received the appointment to represent Willamette university at the conference of the Pacific coast section of the American Student Health association which deals with the problems of student health at colleges and universities. The meeting will be held at Mills college in Oakland on November 27.

He will be a representative in the private school committee, which is a discussion group.

The Willamette P. E. professor was appointed by Dr. Storey, chairman of the committee on Integration and Adjustment for student health problems, such as tuberculosis and typhoid fever.

Interclass Basketball To Be Nov. 17, 18, 19

With November 17, 18, and 19 set as the dates for the interclass basketball tournament, junior and sophomore squads are practicing daily to defeat the freshman babes whose regular practice started several weeks ago.

The juniors have several holdovers from last year's basketball squad, who are still eligible for this tournament, while the sophomores sport all of last year's freshman team. The youngsters have many ex-high school stars, but their power as a team is unknown.

Since in the last 15 years the freshman have taken top honors only twice, this year's rocks are pointing toward the interclass tournament.

The winning team will be determined in a round robin tournament, according to Leslie Sparks, manager.

During the past week the Sigma Tau's moved into an undisputed first place position in the Speedball league by virtue of an 8 to 5 win over the P.E.'s.

Hardman, Wagner, and Denbar scored two points apiece for the winners, while Donaldson and Leung were making their contribution of one tally each.

Keneher with three points to his credit carried the lion's share of the scoring for the losers. Brandon and Dale Crabtree broke into the scoring column with one point each.

Kappa's Win

Those hard-working Kappa's scored a 14 to 0 win over the P. E.'s in the passball league to run their total of wins up to two.

Their first score came on a pass from Larry Nunenkamp to P. E. Henson. The other two members of the Henson family, not to be outdone set up a scoring play for their own. Irv flipped a pass into the hungry arms of Verne, who scampered across for a touchdown. Ralph Gustafson kicked both conversions.

A passball game between the Kappa's and Alpha Psi's was postponed until Nov. 16.

The revised intramural schedule drawn up by Don Brandon, intramural manager, is as appears below.

Nov. 9	Sigma Tau vs. P. E. (passball)
Nov. 9	Alpha Psi-Kappa (speedball)
Nov. 16	P. E.-Kappa (speedball)

Ruth Tachner, Margaret Taylor, Reynar Smith, Al Vosper, Ralph Woodall, John McNees, and Dan Moses aided in preparations for the dinner.

The Cap and Gown social, held at Chresto last Wednesday evening, was also a marked success. Cap and Gown members who participated in the serving and arrangements are: Ina Bennett, Barbara Bennett, Barbara Crookham, Lillian Hart, Irma Oehler, and Betty Taylor. Y. M. C. A. members, Taches, and students from the freshman class assisted.

The first of the weekly Chresto open houses, held last Friday night from 7:30 to 10:30, was a marked success, according to Ruth Tachner, Y. M. C. A. hostess in charge of Chresto. "We are having another Chresto open house tonight, and the student body is again invited to share in the fun. Freshmen and sophomores are especially welcome," stated Miss Tachner.

Dolly Dingle and Helen Woodfin assisted the Y. W. hostess with the refreshments. Eleanor Johnson is to be tonight's hostess, representing the Y. W. C. A. while John McNees will represent the Y. M. C. A.

A Y. M. C. A. Y. W. C. A. fun night is tentatively being arranged by Ruth Tachner and John Voss for student body members.

"The Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. drive is exceeding all expectations," enthusiastically declared John Voss, Y. M. president.

"With the fulfillment of the Chresto refurbishing program, I anticipate a Chresto of which everyone can be very proud," commented Mary Jeannette Sargent, Y. W. C. A. president.

Students working in the tag sale under Jean Bartlett and Reynar Smith were Thelma Phillips, Marie O'Sullivan, Margaret Ternebeck, Iels Barklow, Dorothy Curney, Mildred Williams, Jessie May Hubbard, Edith Smart, John Langhain, Dayton Robertson, John McNees, John Voss, Tam Oye, Dick McNees, Dan Moses.
