State Heads Speak About Departments

Speeches By Officials of State Governmental Bodies Increase

Econ - Political Science, New Public Ad Course Profits By Talks

Developing a practice began in the Willamette political science department several years ago, Dr. R. M. Gatke has this year increased the appearances of state officials before his classes to include representatives from virtually all of the major departments of state government.

An extensive schedule of outside speakers, under the direction of Bob Hart, senior political science major, was begun early this fall. The majority of the state representatives have appeared before an upper division class in state and county government, listed in the catalog as a public administration course.

Speeches Numerous

Speakers have also appeared before lower division political science and public ad classes and before the group taking administrative law under Dwight Lear.

George H. Flagg, deputy secretary of state, spoke before the state and county government class Monday, November 9, to inaugurate the year's speaking schedule.

Flagg outlined the duties of the secretary of state, stressing, especially, the relation of the department to the board of control. He also explained the method by which all the state departments are audited and how claims are handled.

Specialized Check

H. F. Phillippi, chief accountant under the secretary of state was the next speaker, appearing Friday, November 13. Phillippi heads the claims and auditing department and his talk was confined to specialized information relating to that field.

The state purchasing agent, Dan Fry, spoke on interesting phases of his work, November 16 and 18. The purchasing agent is also ex-officio secretary to the board of control and Fry told, also, of the various board of control functions. He included how business was carried on by this body and how appointments were made. The creating of new boards and agents made up one feature of his speech.

Carl Cover, assistant director of the budget who addressed an upper division class in political science last year, spoke November 20, 23, and 25. He discussed the work of the department and its supervision over the expenditures of the other departments. The relation of the budget and purchasing departments was particularly stressed.

Cover on Reorganization

Of special interest to the class was the section of Cover's comment which was devoted to the new state reorganization plan as set forth by the Interim Committee. This proposed revision is scheduled to come before the legislature at the next regular session.

Members of the class, studying state reorganization at that time, considered the reorganization plan from the class room standpoint and offered suggestions of their own.

Insurance Commissioner Hugh H. Earle spoke Monday, November 30. He described his related duties as real estate commissioner, state fire marshal, and chairman of the state association of automobile clubs. He showed the correlation between his work and that of the national association of insurance commissioners.

Executive Assistants

W. L. Gosselin, secretary to the governor was the next speaker. He talked concerning his duties in relation to the governor's office and as an ex-officio member of the parole board and his part in assisting various departments in the hiring of office and special help. His talk was made Wednesday, December 2.

Willis S. Moore, deputy attorney general, spoke, December 4, concerning the functions of his office and the advisory capacity which it fills in relation to other departments and to members of the legislature in drafting bills.

J. C. Joy was the last speaker

O. S. C. Students Give War Tests

Thurstone Tests Given To Willamette Sociology Students

Last Friday two representatives from Oregon State college visited on the Willamette campus for the purpose of giving the Thurstone test on student attitude toward war. The test was given to ninety-eight of Dr. Seeva B. Laughlin's sociology students.

The same test was given to one hundred Oregon State boys who are taking sociology and military training. The purpose of giving the Thurstone test to Willamette students was to compare our attitudes with those of Oregon State taking military training.

The two Oregon State students who gave the test were Patricio Mayo, a senior, and Francis Weber, a graduate student, and one of the delegates to the recent American-Japanese student conferences held in Japan.

Results which promise to be most interesting have not yet been tabulated but will appear in a later issue of the Collegian.

Baxter Featured On Radio Program

Address Questions Fact That Too Many People Attend College

Dr. Bruce R. Baxter addressed the KOAC radio audience last Wednesday night concerning the topic, "Are too many students going to college?" His address is a feature of the regular Willamette University radio program presented one Wednesday of each month from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock.

Dr. Baxter pointed out that some college students would really be better off to have stayed at home. Then too, there are some students who are forced to go to college by over-zealous parents when they would rather go to a professional school. College is wasted upon this type for their real interest is elsewhere.

President Baxter also stated that the students who go to schools of higher learning and do not take away something of value with them are a detriment to the student who is really making college worthwhile.

Miss Mary Schultz, instructor of violin in the school of music, also took part in the program. Accompanied by Miss Ruth Bedford, Miss Schultz played a selection by Wagner.

to date. He instructed the class December 7 and 9 in connection with his responsibility as chief of the commission on unemployment compensation and industrial accidents. Much of his talk was concerned with social security trends in Oregon. He commented on the fact that the Oregon statute under which his commission works is considered one of the best in the United States. The first step towards social security legislation in Oregon, he said, was the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1913.

Further announcement concerning the remaining schedule of speakers will be made shortly, Hart said.

Feature Writers Created To Fill Up Empty Space; Decried By Fates To Thankless Labors

Did you ever write a feature? Did you ever try to write a feature? There is a difference, you know. The same difference that put Columbus in the history book and left some other poor soul out. But a feature-writer never was mentioned in a history book, and only on rare occasions does he get put in the paper.

The history of feature writing is long and bitter. It is the story of an institution that has been designed by Fate to come to no good. Yet society is content to drape this weight behind it in its march forward.

When the first newspaper was created everything went along smoothly. But as in all good inventions, something slipped in unasked—something entirely out of place, like a yell-leader in a fune-

Too Much for the Whistle

—By Betty Craney

Probably the plight of the sorority girl is not quite so discouraging as the artist's conception as shown in the picture. But there comes a time once a year, in the program of each sorority when a program, when formal preparations are necessary. And, for a school which supposedly does not specialize in social life, Willamette's formals are certainly based upon a high standard.

Inter-Fraternity Dance This Sem. Will Not Be Held

There will be no inter-fraternity dance this semester according to a vote taken at the last inter-fraternity council meeting. The business meeting followed a dinner at which Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Gatke entertained members of the council at the Gatke residence.

Action was taken concerning the dance as a result of Dean Erickson's chapel announcement regarding the decision of the administration to begin the Christmas recess December 18 instead of December 23. The dance was scheduled for December 19.

Council members agreed that it would not be feasible to postpone the dance to a date this semester because of the approach of semester exams.

The fraternities will cooperate with the Salem chamber of commerce and Salem service clubs that are sponsoring next Wednesday's dinner, at the Marion Hotel, in honor of Willamette's football champs, by selling tickets for the affair to members of the houses.

Because of the price, however, the three managers agreed that it would not be practical to discontinue dinner at the fraternities for that night.

Members Attend Play

Members of the Little Theatre Guild who attended the Oregon State play, "Taburnum Grove," last Friday, December 4, are Margaret Ayers, Margaret Gillette and Art Lamka.

Northwest Meet Planned for YM, YW Members

Something new in YM-YW confabs was announced on this campus this week when the House Part-Conference official program arrived at campus association headquarters. The conference is scheduled for Eagleton Hall, University of Washington, Seattle, December 27 through 30 for northwest Y. M. Y. W., and S. C. M. members.

As stated in the program the complete theme of the meeting is to be "Permanent values for an age of rapid change. Looking back over past hundred or thousand or more years, what have stood out as permanent values which we want to conserve in this ever-changing society?"

Speakers and discussion leaders scheduled to be present include foremost men on the coast. Among them are Dr. Allan A. Hunter, Mt. Hollywood Congregational church, Los Angeles; Dr. Clinton L. Utterback, Professor of physics at the University of Washington, and Dr. Robert Englund, Professor of economics at the University of British Columbia.

Willamette will send a representation to the conference, according to the present plan, although their names have not yet been made public.

Singers Featured In Coming Chapel

Both the men's and women's chorus groups will be presented in chapel next week in their first public appearances of the year. Each organization has doubled its practice schedule preparatory to the beginning of the '36-'37 concert program.

Although no definite schedule has been arranged for the Treble Clef club, Prof. Marshall, director, reports the ability of the group much improved. Beginning with appearances before local and campus groups Treble Clef heads plan to develop for this year the most impressive schedule reported in the last two seasons.

Band To Feature Novelty Attraction In First Concert of School Year

The Willamette University Band will present, under the leadership of Director Ralph Nohlgren, their first concert tonight at 8:15 p. m. in Waller hall.

As a featured attraction the band will play a composition by one of the most versatile of school band composers, Henry Fillmore. It is novelty based on the old hill-billy tune, "She'll Be Comin' Around the Mountain When She Comes."

Executives To Meet On Reed Campus

Nine Colleges To Send Delegates To Parley of Student Heads

Willamette Contingent To Consist of McLeod, Graham, Viken

Reed College, Portland, has announced the sponsorship of a Pacific Northwest Student Council Conference at which representatives of nine institutions of higher learning, including the College of British Columbia, will attend. Willamette is to send three delegates to the meeting which is set for December 11 and 1, inclusive.

Student body officers attending the conference are George McLeod, president; Lillian Graham, first vice-president, and Mel Viken, second vice-president.

See English Movie

Although the bulk of the meeting will take place upon the Reed campus, visiting delegates will be entertained at the Orpheum theater Friday night when they will see "Nine Days a Queen," a British film shown under the direction of the Reed college film committee. The official program schedules the show to begin at 11:30.

Another high point in the social life of the conference will be the dinner dance at 7:30 Friday evening.

Friday's luncheon, at 1:00, will officially open proceedings. At 2:00 conference sessions are to begin. A student faculty tea, at 4:00, follows the session, and dinner is set for 6:15.

Saturday's schedule, beginning with breakfast at 9:00, dinner dance for Friday evening's features.

Breakfast, at 9:00 Sunday, marks the end of the week-end discussion.

Wilhelm Director

Rudie Wilhelm, Jr., Reed college student body president, is in general charge and has been active since the beginning of the school year making necessary arrangements.

Willamette's delegation voted to pay transportation costs to and from the conference, together with other incidental expenses. The $3.00 registration fee will be paid by the student body, according to a vote of the executive committee at a meeting last Friday.

Conference discussion will be divided into two sections, the first being on student government, and the second on extra-curricular activities.

Varied Discussion

Under the first group come sub-heads which include student council control, faculty supervision, student finance, student influence on the curriculum, and the honor system.

Under the extra-curricular section sub-head topic discussion includes the problem of the socially starved, athletics, and student provocation.

Songmen Enter Chorus Contest

Application Is Made Too Late for Present Series; Enter New One

Sperry Male Chorus competition will be open to the Willamette University Songmen when the new series begins shortly after January 1, according to a recent announcement by Leonard Ranton, president.

Application was made, several weeks ago, for entrance to the Sperry Male Chorus competition series now in progress. Program directors replied at first, that the application had been received too late.

Last week, however, Prof. Marshall received a communication stating that the Songmen would be eligible to enter the new series.

Standing in the way of the beginning of the new series, at present, is the expected reorganization of the Columbia Broadcasting system. It is expected that the Songmen will perform at the Portland radio station KOIN sometime during the first two months of next year.

Radio Drama By Campus Honorary

Date of First Play Is Set Tentatively for Week Before Christmas

Members of the local Theta Alpha Phi fraternity chapter will branch forth into radio drama shortly, according to tentative plans formulated at a meeting of the group held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Gatke last Monday.

Negotiations are under way which will make possible the broadcast of the initial attempt by organization members in radio play production sometime before Christmas. A vote was recorded calling, also, for a subsequent schedule of plays to be produced at fairly regular intervals throughout the remainder of the year.

Two plays were read and discussed. One, a morality play, "No Gift In Return," and another, a convent play, "Bury the Dead."

Refreshments were served late by Mrs. Gatke.

Those at the meeting were Bill McKinney, Martha Jane Hottel, Mary E. Kells, Lois Webb, Constance Smart, Art Lamka, Richard Van Pelt and Dr. and Mrs. Gatke.

Faculty Teas Resumed

The faculty teas which were so successfully sponsored last year by the Y. W. C. A. are to be a part of this year's social program.

The first tea of the year was given by Dr. Koehler and the next one will be this Sunday at the home of Mrs. Royer.

Eight freshmen are invited to attend each tea. This is a grand opportunity for the new students to get acquainted. So freshmen be sure to take advantage of this opportunity.

Four Willamette Graduates Get Together For Conflab In Middle - West Metropolis

How would you like to become a resident of Chicago? If your inclinations lean towards life in the big city perhaps the surest way to the ultimate realization of your goal is to major in music.

"We thought it funny," writes "Maurie" Dean, baritone deluxé of last year's graduating class, "that four of the 'hardest-up' people who ever went to Willamette would end up so soon in Chicago."

The letter was written to Prof. Cameron Marshall, music school head, soon after a quartet of ex-Willamette students composed of Bonnie Rickman, Helen Benner, Earl "Shrimp" Henry, and "Maurie" Dean met for dinner and a "re-hash" at Willamette campus group.

It is believed that the "hardest-up" phrase is an exaggeration and the hope has been expressed that Dean does not use it before his public speech classes. Out there is little doubt concerning the financial status of the four at the present time.

Thomas M. McBerney, an associate of Prof. Marshall's and vocal instructor for Rickman, Benner, and Dean, estimated, in a recent letter to Prof. Marshall that Miss Rickman's earnings from radio, teaching, and choir, would reach $400 per month before next summer.

Miss Benner is working in a private home and is also doing special quartet work in one of the larger Chicago churches. Dean is teaching in a million dollar school system at Grand Rapids and also directing a choir there.

Henry, known widely in Salem for his artistic ability until his departure for Chicago three years ago is working in the commercial art establishment of Fred Blutsford, also an ex-Willamette student.

The mistaken re-union, was planned at a Thanksgiving dinner at which Miss Rickman, Miss Benner and "Maurie" Dean were guests of McBerney.

Football Team To Be Feted At Banquet

Chamber of Commerce Act As Hosts To Grid Champions

Gold Footballs To Be Given To Deserving W.U. Players

Willamette University's Northwest Conference Champion football team will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the Service clubs of Salem at a football banquet at the Hotel Marion Wednesday, December 15.

The banquet, which is open to all who are interested will begin at 6:30. Gold footballs will be presented to deserving players during the program.

Olson Chairman

Oscar D. Olson is general chairman of the banquet and assisting him will be the following committees: Tickets, O. S. Emmons, chairman, Phil Bell, Richard Stolz, Ben Ramseyer, Breyman Hoise, George Averett, and Edward Bissell; Finance, Lawrence N. Simon, chairman, Cliff Parker, M. D. Ohling, W. W. Chadwick, Clifford Harold, Bert Victor, P. C. Macdonald, and Dr. L. E. Barrick; House committee, including menus, decorations, and reception, Gardner Knapp, chairman, Ralph Allen, B. E. Sisson, Daniel H. Schulze, and W. M. Hamilton.

The committees are meeting today to make final arrangements for the banquet. All Willamette students and townspeople are urged to attend. Tickets at 75c a plate may be obtained through George McLeod or Dean Schulze.

Pictures from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios taken during the recent production of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" were on exhibition the past three days in the Registrar's office.

The display presented a pictorial story of the research which preceded Irving Thalberg's production of the famous play. To reproduce in detail the great masterpieces of the fifteenth century and to interpret the life in that age required the use of spacious workshops and the united efforts of designers, artists and literary critics.

The two pictures, probably most familiar to students were those of the famous "Balcony Scene" and of "Juliet's Chamber."

Science Classes Make Several Field Trips

The physical sciences classes, under the direction of Professor Herman T. Clark, have made several field trips, two on the campus, and one to the hills with the large telescope.

On the excursion to the hills the group was able to distinguish double stars, the rings around Saturn and the smaller satellites.

Next week the science classes will begin the study of the Crookes' tubes which were preliminary to the discovery of the X-Ray tube. An X-Ray tube and a fluoroscope will be demonstrated in the laboratory and simple Neon tubes will be set up.

Erickson Inaugurates New Faculty Lectures

Dean Erickson, head of the Education department, inaugurated a series of lectures by members of the Willamette faculty at a forum in Lonsdale Hall, Tuesday, December 2.

Dr. Erickson spoke on "The Function of the University in Social Reorganization," wherein he reviewed the origin of the modern university and its functional development.

The next lecture of the series will be given by Professor Oliver who will speak on Emerson. Following this lecture Dr. Lyman O. White will address the group.

The Willamette faculty is the host in this series and different groups will be invited to attend the lectures. At the last lecture the members of the trustees, the Altrusa, and Zonta clubs were guests.

Editorial Stimulation

The editor has been taking a beating. It suffices to say that a recent editorial was the cause. Whether the verbal chastisement is justified is problematical. With rights to the jaw has been mixed comment not altogether unfavorable. At any rate we hope that we are not entirely deserted.

There is little doubt but what criticism is stimulating—if not applied too caustically. We feel that this statement is true, not only when applied to college editors but also to other campus leaders among the students and faculty.

We feel, especially, the effect of criticism leveled at the policy of the campus publication, for its news content as well as its editorial matter.

First of all it becomes apparent that people do read what we write—some of them at least—and judging by the direction from which the comment comes, the readers include real campus leaders, both in the faculty and in the student body.

Spirited comment reveals that the writer has struck a responsive chord, even though the comment is not altogether in accord with views that were originally expressed.

Most important of all such criticism usually results in a "check up." The writer begins to question whether his product is the result of his best effort. Certainly nothing less could be tolerated if readers are to take the trouble to make known what they really think. Is the editor doing justice to the campus and to himself?

According to one of the year's first editorials, "This is your paper, campus men and women. Your comment will be welcomed and appreciated." The policy is still held upmost by this publication. We wish here to reiterate our stand and show why it is to the advantage of Collegian readers to offer their views, written or otherwise.

TO BE SEEN ON THE SCREEN

It's usually the dollars from home which interest the college student, but Willamette men and women will find much in which to be interested in the picture now showing at the Grand, because it is "Pennies From Heaven," starring Bing Crosby, Edith Fellows, and Madge Evans.

Crosby gets out of jail without recourse to a job, but with the moral support of Edith, works his way up to the ownership of a roadside inn. This project falls through, and Bing is forced to accept a carnival job. His ups and downs are so humanly presented that the audience lives the part with Bing. His final achievement is as a singing gondolier and the winning of Madge Evan's heart. Louis Armstrong and his cornet playing play an important supporting part.

After the indefinite run of this picture, the Grand will present "Banjo on My Knee," one of the greatest pictures of the year.

STATE

Along with the popular vaudeville show this week-end, the state Theatre will present "The Dancing Pirate," a musical-technicolor picture, which has received much favorable publicity from eastern film critics, especially on Frank Morgan's acting.

Beginning with a Saturday midnight show, Lew Ayres and Mary Carlisle will be shown in "Lady, Be Careful," as uproarious and popular as a comedy as was ever shown on sailor life. Uncle Sam's Gobs give an accounting of themselves that would do credit to any Willamette's Own Book . . .

CHLOE DUSTS HER MANTEL

by Francis Gill

If any book deserves to be called "Willamette's Own Book," that volume certainly is this exquisite idyll of early Oregon—the story of Chloe Willson and her heroic work to save the Indians in the Jason Lee Mission. That, however, was but the beginning. She came, in time, to be one of the first instructors in what is now Willamette University. Words cannot do justice to the pleasing style in which this book is constructed. It is beautifully conceived and executed with rare delicate charm. No finer Christmas present for Willamette students to give and to receive can be imagined.

The serving table and receiving room were decorated with yellow and brown chrysanthemums of varying shades. Punch and cookies made up the refreshments. Mrs. Ernest Richards and Dr. and Mrs. Sherman acted as chaperones.

Guests were the Misses Marjorie Thorne, Frances Young, Marial Wassam, Irma Calvert, Mabel Lenz, Helen Rogers, Dorothy McGee, Ruth Tscharner, Billie Smith, Audrey Reid, Belle Brown, Helen Woodfin, Maravene Thompson, Dorothy Murphy, Evelyn Frazier, Melba Riopelle and Esther Nelson.

Kappa's who were hosts were Bob Clarke, Pat Crossland, Charles Bickner, Harry Mohr, Jimmy Barnett, Ralph Gustafson, John Lienhart, Ward Wienecke, Ted Ludden, Mervin Brink, Kendall Teisinger, Ellsworth Morley, Laurence Morley, Bill Fisher, Gilman Davis, Irvin Wedel and Randall Koster.

Miss Wanda Landon, a member of Delta Phi, and a senior in the Law School, was initiated last Sunday afternoon into Phi Delta Delta, the national honorary legal fraternity for women. Many of the nation's leading women barristers are members and its charter on Willamette's campus is an honor.

Dean Olive Dahl and the Misses Marlan Wakefield, Julia Philp, Helen Burdick, Helen Purvine, Mary Jeannette Sargent, and Dorothy Dingle spent an interesting week end in Newburg as guests of the Y. W. C. A. conference there, sponsored by the Pacific College group.

Two Sorority Formals To Be Given Saturday

Saturday night Alpha Phi and Beta Chi will give their annual formal dances, while Delta Phi will be hostesses for a similar affair a week later, the next Saturday night.

The Alpha Phi formal will be held at Hazel Green from 8:30 to 11:30. An orchestra from Corvallis will provide the music for the affair. There will be a white and gold decorative scheme both on the programs and about the hall. Punch and wafers will be served during the evening.

Patrons and patronesses will be Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yocom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Lestie Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harland, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. David Wright.

The guests of Beta Chi will be entertained at Castilian hall, from 8:30 to 11:30, to the music of Maurice Blinford's orchestra from Portland.

Patrons and patronesses will include Mrs. Frank Elliott, Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Baxter, Professor and Mrs. Ernest Richards, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wallace. Miss Marlan Wakefield is in charge of the dance.

A motif of white and silver has been planned. There will be a large and a small Christmas tree, covered with silver, in the hall itself, and a similar one in the adjoining room. There will be old-fashioned candelabra holding blue and silver tapers in the windows and on either side of the orchestra, the doors, and the punch bowl. The wall lights will be covered with blue cellophane bows, and the entire decorative scheme will reflect this idea.

Internationals Hosts at Tea

The campus International Club entertained the students of Willamette at an Oriental tea last Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in Christo cottage. Miss Phyllis Bunnell introduced to the line, which consisted of James Pyke, Denn and Mrs. Schulte, the Misses Evelyn Welch, Martha Jane Hottel, and Tots Yada. The room was decorated with exhibits from foreign countries. Foreign students were dressed in their native costumes, while American students served and conducted guests.

The tea table carried out the Oriental idea with a centerpiece of tall candles and a large incense burner. The Misses Barbara and Muriel Jones, in the native costume of India, poured for the first hour, while the Misses Chiyo Saito and Martha Okuda poured during the second hour. Oriental cookies, nuts, and tea were refreshments.

Alpha Psi's Given Dinner

Delta Phi's were hostesses at dinner for the brotherhood on Chemekeka streets before fraternity open house Saturday evening. Delta Phi pledges, Olive Clemes, Virginia Willing, Vivian Noth, and Jean Bartlett, helped serve the buffet dinner, after which the rugs were rolled up, the radio turned on, and dancing began.

Some interesting personalities were noted during the confusion: G. Billings and M. Smith spending a quiet evening on the davenport, the Alpha Pals trying to in-

The table was centered with a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and decorated at either end with candelabra containing red tapers surrounded with pine cones and other fall decorations. Honored guests were Miss Jane Fisher, Miss Charlotte LaDue, Miss Alice Speck, and Miss Virginia Beaton; and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gatke, Dean and Mrs. Schulte, and Professor and Mrs. E. S. Oliver.

Among the Willamette students who attended the Roland Hayes concert in Portland Monday were Miss Gwenn Gallaher, Miss Mary Jeannette Sargent, Billy Utley and Charles Neville.

due to run the clock they presented to the Delta Pals many long years ago and which hasn't run since; Harry Mosher muttering (with what we hope was a twinkle in his eye) that he was bored to death; a trying game of bridge played by Brant Gard, Wanda Landon, Frank Guerin, and Rosemary Huffman; Bill Anton dancing on more than his share of the floor space; the last nine people in line for dinner having to eat with spoons (who borrowed the girls' silverware last?); Henry Frantz mistreating Barbara Crookham. The guests departed about 7:30 to return to their house, don their taxes and receive the sightseers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Well, the Misses Marlan Steigerwald, Martha Warren, Barbara Crookham, Anna May Unrath, Marguerite Smith, Loyo Bogardus, Wanda Landon, Kay Ringe, Esther Nelson, Ruth Tscharner, Evelyn Frazier, Martha Herman, Rosemary Huffman, Frances Faber, and Lois Burton.

Miss Savage To Be Married

A wedding which will interest many Willamette people will be that of Miss Brenda Savage, of Albany, and Gordon Hood, which will be solemnized December 19 at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Salem, with the Rev. James E. Milligan officiating. The ceremony will be held in the fireplace room at the church.

Miss Savage has named her sister, Miss Dolphine Savage of Salem as maid-of-honor and Miss Lois Wilkes of Albany as her bridesmaid. Arthur Hubbut of Portland will act as best man.

There will be a reception after the wedding.

Miss Savage will be well remembered as a former student of Willamette, where she was a member of Delta Phi and a charter member of Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary.

League Setup Revamped At Annual Meet

Linfield Withdrawal Big Surprise; All-Star Team Named

Round Robin Schedules For Six-Team Loop Announced

One of the most drastic shake-ups in the history of the Northwest Conference resulted from the annual meeting of the league officials held in Portland last week.

FIVE BEARCATS

The all-conference squad included five men from the champion Bearcat eleven—Chuck Versteeg, end, honored for the third time; Darryl Newhouse, tackle, selected for the second consecutive year; Elliott Becken, guard; Bill Beard, halfback; and Dick Weisgerber, fullback, also a three-year choice.

First team: Ends—Versteeg, Willamette, and Cummins, Whitman; tackles—Newhouse, Willamette, and Barstad, Pacific; guards—Becken, Willamette, and Dawkins, College of Puget Sound; center—Perkins, College of Puget Sound; quarterback—Harrington, Linfield; halfbacks—Beard, Willamette, and Schwetz, College of Puget Sound, and Partch, Whitman (latter two tied); fullback—Weisgerber, Willamette.

The second team: Ends—Giesecke, Pacific, and McFadden, College of Puget Sound; tackles—Sulenes, College of Puget Sound, and Gray, Whitman, Essen, College of Idaho (latter two tied); guards—Sawyer, Whitman; Hogenson, Willamette, and Martin, Linfield (latter two tied); center—Chapman,

Basketball Again King of Sportdom

Once again basketball season is in full swing. Teams of the Northwest already are engaging in numerous warmup games for conference schedules later.

This week will see several other outstanding quintettes, including Oregon State and Washington—the two top ranking outfits of the northwest—swing into action. U. C. L. A.'s barnstorming Bruins will afford some classy opposition for the coast conference fives, while the smaller teams will take on some of the prominent independents.

Pacific; quarterback—Hayman, College of Idaho; halfbacks—Elliott, Pacific, and Brandon, Willamette; fullback—Rensen, College of Puget Sound.

Honorable mention: Ends—Davis, Albany, Bartlett, College of Idaho, and Holten, Linfield; tackles—Selders, College of Idaho; guards—D'Alfonso, Albany, Grenfell, Linfield, and McManimie, College of Idaho; fullbacks—Cook, Linfield, and Dahl, Pacific.

SIX TEAMS REMAIN

Linfield's withdrawal, based on the argument that the Wildcat institution could not afford to play College of Idaho and should be excused from playing a full round of games, left the circuit a six-team affair, and schedules were drawn up for such a league. In both football and basketball, each team will play every other team, while the baseball setup remains unchanged with the two divisions playing separately.

TRACK AT WALLA WALLA

Conference meets in tennis and track were set for May 22 and 28, respectively, at Walla Walla and Portland.

Willamette's conference basketball schedule includes ten games, six of which will be played in Salem. Both Whitman and College of Idaho will play two-game series here and Albany and Pacific one engagement apiece.

TWO DIVISIONS

The baseball race again will be divided, Albany, Willamette, Pacific and C. P. S. comprising one group and Whitman and Idaho another. The former division will play a round-robin schedule while the latter two teams will engage in their usual 12-game series to decide the Eastern title.

Next year's football schedule for the Keenemen is as follows: Sept. 24—Albany at Salem. Oct. 15—College of Idaho at Salem. Oct. 29—C. P. S. at Tacoma. Nov. 15—Pacific at Salem. Nov. 25—Whitman at Walla Walla.

MAYBE SAN JOSE AGAIN

Along with these five conference games, Willamette will play both Fresno State and Whitman in Salem and Journey to Reno, Nevada, for a return engagement with the University of Nevada Wolves. To complete the schedule Oregon State, and one of three other squads—Montana, Portland, or San Jose State—will probably be added.

Collegian Pats Self on Back

PAPER'S ALL-STAR TEAM COMES NEAREST TO DUPLICATING OFFICIAL SELECTIONS

Blow your own trumpet, no one else will. And that is just what the Collegian Sports Staff intends to do in this article. Last week, after considering and weighing the merits of the many star gridders in the Northwest conference, the Collegian announced its 1936 all-star team.

KOLUMN KOMMENT By BOB KEUSCHER (Collegian Sports Editor)

INTRAMURAL SPORTS By DAN MOSES

Names of ex-high school luminaries who have starred in past tournaments on the Willamette maplecourt have begun to bob up around northwest hoop circles.

Although the winner of the playoff for the passball championship of the school has not yet been determined, due to the rainy weather, the passball season as a whole has been one of the most successful seasons in years.

One of the highlights was the selection of the first Collegian passball league all-star team which included the following men: John Kelly and Basil Anton, ends, both of Alpha Psi; Hal Moe, P. E. staff, tackle; Harry Mohr, Kappa's, tackle; Larry Nunenkamp, Kappa's, guard; "Lee" Canessa, P. E. staff, guard; Frank Guerin, Alpha Psi, center; Bill Dick, P. E. staff, captain and quarterback; Dwight Alden, halfback, Alpha Psi; Joe Harvey, halfback, Sigma Tau; and Ralph Gustafson, fullback, Kappa's.

An error in printing was made in last week's Collegian all-star team when Hal Moe of the P. E. staff was listed as a Kappa player and Harry Mohr of the Kappa's was entirely left off the team. Mohr was the third highest scorer in the league and was the league's second highest scorer and an excellent all-around player.

The championship playoff standings in the passball league is headed by the unbeaten Alpha Psi Delta fraternity team. The P. E. staff and Kappa Gamma Rho have each lost to the Alpha Psi's. As a result the P. E.'s meet the Kappa's and the winner plays

Prominent among the stars of last year's tournament flashes, still in high school, are Jack Kennitzer, Bob McKeown and Tommy Hansen at Franklin; Otto Skoppl, Salem; "Jiggs" Flisk and Jerry Rinker, McLoughlin; Elmo Crockett and Bill Blackledge, Corvallis; Wallace, Kessler, and the Buckingham brothers, Bell-fountain, and Sandness and Juola, Astoria.

Incidentally, this year the tournament will be played on March 17, 18, 19, 20, the earliest date in history.

All of which brings us down to the fact that old King Basketball is with us again promising his usual quota of hair-raising and spine-tingling for the four months' period beginning December first. Already, the freshman quintet has begun its schedule and the varsity is due to follow suit in the very near future. Both teams promise to rank among the highest in the school's history, providing, of course, that they get the right encouragement from the student body. Come on, students, let's get behind them right from the beginning!

ODDS AND ENDS The longest run of the 1936 football season was made by Milton Popovich, University of Montana halfback, who ran 195 yards for a touchdown against Oregon State. University of Idaho will have a $50,000 stadium and a new turf football field next year.

Rooks Entertain St. Helens Quint

Woodburn Drops 29-14 Decision To Frosh In Opener

After opening the 1936 season with an easy 29-14 win over the Woodburn high Bulldogs, Coach "Les" Sparks freshman hoop outfit runs up against competition of a bit tougher nature Friday evening when it mixes with Coach Eddie Franz' strong St. Helens high school quintet.

The St. Helens five, with practically the same lineup that almost upset the Astoria Fishermen in the district playoff last season, has been barnstorming in the Willamette valley this week, defeating Dallas and Falls City by large scores in the opening games, and should prove a strong hurdle for the rook toppers.

Paced by two dimitive ball-hawks, Cecil Quesseth and Buzz Hagedorn, the frosh won a ragged encounter from Elden Cone's Woodburnites Monday evening to open their schedule. Quesseth proved himself to be an adept ball handler and "feeder" while Hagedorn tossed in the points. The starting lineup of Quesseth, Hagedorn, Wagner, Kyle, and McKibben played the entire game.

Alpha Psi. If Alpha Psi wins this game, they will be champions; if they lose, another game will be required to determine the title winners.

A speed ball schedule will be drawn up soon by George Erickson, intra-mural sports manager. It is hoped that league play will start next week.

After speed ball, basketball, will head the intra-mural sports calendar with the 1935 champion Kappa's ready to defend their title.

CO-ED SPORT PARADE By MARGARET GARY

Curtains for the girls' basketball season were dropped last Friday upon completion of the annual tournament for the school championship.

One team from each of the four classes engaged in a tournament from which the Juniors emerged champions with the Freshmen behind them in second.

From talent shown in the games, the school all-star team was picked. Also a second team was chosen. First team: Forwards, Frances Faber and Ruth Yocum; centers, Jean Annunson and Anna Mae Urub; guards, Dolly Dingle and Irma Oehler. Second team: Forwards, Barbara Kariz and Rae Yocum; centers, Marguerite DuRotta and Jimmy Tompkins; guards, Ruth Corning and Martha Warren.

Prowess of W.U. Gridders Given Wide Acclaim From every available source comes recognition of the prowess of this year's Willamette football squad. All-conference, all-opponent, all-coast, and even all-American ranking has been given to several members of the 1936 Cardinal and Gold crew.

Others who received honors were Elliott "Tootie" Becken, declared by the Capital Journal sports editor to be one of the best guards on the coast; Norm Hogenson, named on the Oregonian's "Forgotten Men" all-star team; Charlie Versteeg, named for the third time to the all-conference eleven; and Bill Beard, also an all-conference choice.
