

Father-Son Banquet Chamber Commerce Friday, Nov. 15, 6:30

Dr. Coleman to Be Speaker of Evening; President Baxter Will Act as Master of Ceremonies and Introduce Speaker

DELMAR RAMSDALE announced today that the Father and Son's banquet, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce 6:30 o'clock, Friday, November 15, will be attended by approximately 300 townsmen and students.

The committee was forced to change the scene of the banquet from the First Methodist church to the Chamber of Commerce after the tickets were printed because of a disagreement with church women concerning who would furnish the food.

Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, popular Willamette University president, will be master of ceremonies and will introduce the speaker of the evening, Dr. Coleman, past president of Reed college. He will speak for 45 minutes on some pertinent world problem.

Blue Key men are in charge of the ticket sales and the banquet price is 50 cents per plate.

John Ross has been placed in charge of the program upon which the Song Men are scheduled to appear.

During the course of the evening a member of the University will propose a toast to which Max Page, local attorney and president of the Breakfast club, or some member designated by him will reply.

The committee, at the suggestion of Mr. Page, has decided to omit group singing of all kinds from the program and to replace it, as much as possible, with musical numbers and other special entertainment.

Campus Vespers Plan Program

The program of the next Vespers' meeting to be held November 10, will be dedicated to Armistice Day. The leader of the services will be John Voss. Everyone is welcome and invited to attend.

The meeting of November 17 will be devoted to members of the cabinet, who will outline their work for the year so that members might decide on which committee they would like to serve. A plan is now being worked out whereby the cabinets of the two Willamette religious organizations, the University Sunday school class and the Campus Vespers, might cooperate in social and worship programs. If this plan is successful a stronger group of Willamette students will be created. In the near future a book review of Robert Russell Wick's "Reasons for Living" will be started.

Campus Vespers are actually only in the beginning of their year's activities, but various plans which will prove most interesting to all students, are rapidly taking shape under the capable leadership of Miss Bartholomew.

Wesley Foundation Leader Here To Study Student Religious Views

Since Willamette represented to him the highest type of independent university, J. Randolph Sannett, director of Wesley Foundation in Seattle, spent two days in Salem gaining information for a study about the religious beliefs of a college student. For four years Mr. Sannett has been interviewing students in an effort to determine the amount of change in their religious views. A long-time friend of President Baxter, he chose to visit Willamette as the first institution outside of Seattle.

From November third to November 5th, Mr. Sannett worked on the campus with the students and their classes. His plan was to give every class in the University a comprehensive examination about their personal beliefs. This would be entirely anonymous and, it was hoped, frank and honest. The juniors and seniors were dismissed from classes to meet with him at 11 o'clock Monday morning. The sophomore class followed at 1 o'clock that afternoon.

Y.M.-Y.W. Sponsor Student Delegates

The campus YM and YW are sponsoring a musical concert, which will be put on under the direction of the Willamette musical department, for the purpose of obtaining funds to send Willamette delegates to the Twelfth Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement which is to be held in Indianapolis December 28 through January 1.

On the present basis for delegations, Willamette will send five students from this university with one faculty adviser. Foreign students may be sent in addition to the regular delegation. Our exchange student from Hawaii, Miss Kaula Emoto, will make the sixth member to go from here.

Principal speakers for this Twelfth Quadrennial, which comes at a time when students are eager to put themselves into the currents of the world's life and to give themselves intelligently and passionately to some worthy cause will be Kagawa of Japan and the Archbishop of York from England.

It is planned that the YM and YW will pay half the delegates' expenses.

The definite date for the concert has not been set, but it will be in the first two weeks of December.

Robertson Speaks To Classical Club

Colonel Robertson spoke to the Classical club and interested friends the evening of Nov. 4, in Chiresto Cottage. His subject concerned "The Political Situation in Italy." Col. Robertson is a very popular and interesting speaker. He has been abroad a number of times and has seen the places about which he speaks.

On Oct. 28 the club held a special meeting to discuss the possibilities of a place in the Wallulah. Temporary plans were also made for a party on Nov. 16. The place and other particulars will be decided at the future meeting.

The first evening he was in Salem, November 3, he addressed the Campus Vespers at the First Methodist church. Here he was reunited with his old friends, Dr. Milligan, pastor of that church, and Miss Bartholomew, student director. These persons include only a small representation of his many friends in Salem.

According to Dr. Bruce Richard Baxter, the Wesley Foundation is an organization of the Methodist Episcopal church whose purpose is to aid students at state-supported universities, with special reference to the city of the United States.

"We endorse most highly the singing of the Ecclesia Choir with its interpretive excellence," wrote a Philadelphia newspaper. Dr. A. Verne Westlake, distinguished New York music critic wrote, "Having had the privilege of hearing the Capella Choirs of the world which were considered the greatest, we are compelled to say that the Ecclesia Choir takes its place among these few."

DR. SPAETH SPEAKS HERE ABOUT TUNES

Nationally Famous Sleuth of Melody Sources Will Lecture at Waller

CRITICS ENTHUSIASTIC

November 22 Date of Appearance Under Auspices Music Department

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, the nationally known "tune detective" from Westport, Connecticut, will speak at Waller Hall on the evening of Friday, November 22 under the auspices of the music department.

An account of Dr. Spaeth appears in the "American Magazine" for July in the section entitled "America's Interesting People." The short characterization appearing below his picture refers to him as "one of the biggest song-and-talk men in radio. Previously he has been a sports writer, ditch digger, army officer, columnist, concert manager, author, and professor German under Woodrow Wilson at Princeton."

His work at present consists in tracing down the sources of new melodies which he finds in classical symphonies, drinking tunes, and church hymns. Glowing reports concerning his ability as a speaker can be found in nearly all the eastern publications, including the New York Sun, the New Yorker, and the New York Times.

Robert Erskine Ely of the League for Political Education, New York says: "On two occasions I have heard Mr. Sigmund Spaeth in the Town Hall. Both times he entertained large and delighted audiences. His originality, musical knowledge and dramatic gifts give him high rank in his field."

William K. Huff, famous Philadelphia forum director wrote: "Doctor Sigmund Spaeth's method is so pleasant, even hilarious, that one almost forgets how effective the method is from the standpoint of musical education. I have seen and heard him before 3,000 members of the Philadelphia Forum in the Academy of Music, and before a smaller group of men only in the University Club, as well as various times in various other places. No matter what the size, sex or kind of audience, he adapts his entertainment perfectly to the occasion and everyone has a grand time. He does one of the most interesting and delightful pieces of work on the American platform."

CLUB WELL RECEIVED THROUGHOUT TOUR

The Ecclesia Choir which appeared at chapel last Wednesday, twenty strong, including the director, Elton Menné Roth, is composed entirely of non-professional singers living in and near Los Angeles. The members of this group have been together for five years and each year since its organization the choir has made extensive tours, lasting on the average of three months.

Everywhere these singers have been favorably received, having inspired enthusiastic congratulations from veteran music critics. The Desert News of Salt Lake City said of them, "Voices fresh and well controlled, capable of delicate modulation, intricate tonal weaving and a wide scale of dynamics."

"We endorse most highly the singing of the Ecclesia Choir with its interpretive excellence," wrote a Philadelphia newspaper. Dr. A. Verne Westlake, distinguished New York music critic wrote, "Having had the privilege of hearing the Capella Choirs of the world which were considered the greatest, we are compelled to say that the Ecclesia Choir takes its place among these few."

These testimonials are typical of those written of this group in nearly every important city of the United States.

K.S.L.M. TO RELEASE W. U. BROADCAST

Radio station KSLM, of Salem, will release a fifteen minute Willamette program tonight at 7:45 o'clock. This program will be in charge of the Pep Staff and is for the purpose of creating interest in the Armistice day game and the Blue Key theater rally Friday night after the noise parade.

Included on the program will be talks by Dr. Bruce Baxter and Coach Keene. Each senior member of the football team, for whom the game with Pacific will be the last appearance before Salem supporters, will talk briefly. Johnnie Oravec, Manfred Olson, Harold Hoyt and Carl Rhoda are the seniors.

By Gillespie will make a Blue Key announcement concerning the rally during the course of the program which, it is rumored, will be of utmost importance to both the contestants and spectators.

The Delta Phi trio, composed of Barbara Crookham, Annette Jordan, and Wanda Landon are scheduled to furnish music between speeches. Helen Benner's winning Freshman Glee songs of '34 and '35 will be featured by the Willamette Boosters club at the beginning and end of the broadcast.

Bill Hansen, Yell King, will act as master of ceremonies.

"Cookie Jar" Idea Proves Successful

Sponsors of the Cookie Jar are most happy to announce that the opening day of this social get-together was a grand success. Many arrived for their chat and their cup of tea and at no time during the two hours was the inviting room empty of visitors. Miss Bartholomew would like to add that the guests did not quite consume the entire 16 dozen cookies, so there will be plenty for next Thursday.

Peace Day Feature Of Y.M.-Y.W. Prog.

One of the foremost philosophers has said: "The world can never make any progress as long as the people of today thoughtlessly imitate what generations before have done." Following out this theme, the campus YM and YW will sponsor a peace day assembly for the student body on Thursday, November 7.

National observance of Peace Day is Friday, November 8, but because this observance sometimes leads to demonstrations among the students, Willamette will lead the colleges by giving over the Thursday chapel period for a peace program.

Miller Merc. Co. to Present Silver Loving Cup to Winning Float

FINAL PLANS ARE MADE

Rally and Announcement of Winners to Be Made at the Grand Theatre

Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock is the time set for the beginning of the biggest, noisiest, and most ear-splitting rally to be staged here this year or for many years previously. Directly after the noise parade at approximately 8:30 will be the Blue Key theater rally at the Grand theater, in charge of the Pep staff.

Dr. Barrick, Mayor Kuhn, Mr. Sisson, Prof. Clarke, and Dean Schulze are the judges for the noise parade, for which there have already been applications for entrance by campus organizations. More entrants are expected.

A tentative program for the stage of the theater during the 45 minutes allotted to the Pep staff for this purpose calls for an appearance of Dr. Baxter, who will speak briefly, and "Spec" Ketene, who will introduce the members of the football team.

The famous Haywire orchestra is to perform in some of its unique arrangements of old time melodies with other music furnished by the Willamette Song Men. The Willamette band will be present in all its newly found pep and melody.

At the close of the program Mr. Sisson of Miller's department store will present the prizes to the winners of the noise parade. The first prize is a large revolving silver loving cup offered by Miller's store.

The customary songs and yells by the student members of the audience are to be included, and for that reason an attempt is being made to seat the students in a body.

Rally tickets will be on sale by members of the Blue Key all day today on the first floor of Eaton Hall. The feature picture is "Welcome Home."

BAXTER ENDORSES EC. ESSAY CONTEST

The hope that a Willamette university student will win the Economic Essay Contest being sponsored by The First National Bank of Portland, was expressed this week by Dr. Bruce Baxter, president of Willamette, who reminded prospective entrants that their manuscripts must be submitted before March 1, 1936.

The contest, in which $1600 cash and two scholarships will be awarded for the four best essays on the economic problems of the Pacific Northwest, is regarded by Dr. Baxter as a challenge to the best student and lay minds of this section. It is, he believes, an opportunity for students from Willamette university to demonstrate the unusually high calibre of constructive thought nurtured in the undergraduate schools.

"Today, even more than ever before, we have cause to be proud of the fact that our undergraduates are applying their knowledge to a search for a solution to the economic problems of this district," he said. "There is a marked tendency to regard studies, not as mental exercises, but as real opportunities for study of local economic conditions and to possibly discover means of improving them. A wealth of material has been uncovered here in such research, and it is my hope that many of our students will incorporate this data and their theories in manuscripts and submit them in this contest."

"I see no reason," he added, "why some of our students should not win some worthwhile prizes in competition with representatives from other schools."

Willamette-Pacific On Sweetland Field 2:30 Armistice Day

Game May Mean Willamette Winner of Northwest Conference Championship; Will Be Last Appearance of Scooter

By Roy Ferris
WHEN the strong heavy Willamette Bearcats and the tricky fast stepping Pacific Badgers meet on Sweetland Field it will mark the final appearance of one of the greatest backs to ever step on a Northwest gridiron, Johnny "Scooter" Oravec. The game which starts at 1:30 in the afternoon, marks the high-light of Salem's Armistice Day Celebration and is expected to draw the biggest crowd of the season when these two ancient grid-rivals meet for the 27th time. Salem and university fans will get their last home look at Coach Keene's championship-bound Bearcats who will be fighting to chalk up their twelfth straight conference victory. For the last time on Sweetland Field the "Scooter" will bring the fans to their feet in what is expected to be one of the greatest battles in the Northwest Conference this year. Pacific has proven to be one of the toughest grid teams for Willamette to hurdle in past years and have more than once thrown the monkey-wrench in the Bearcat championship hopes.

Anse Cornell, Pacific grid mentor, will bring to the Bearcat stronghold a well-coached, tricky and well-balanced eleven. The Badgers are out for a win against the Keenemen in an endeavor to break into the win column of the Northwest Conference. In their other conference starts they have been defeated but they are confident in up-setting the Bearcat pennant wagon.

Led by their star full-back, Corrigan, Pacific will probably take to the air in an endeavor to squeeze out a victory. Corrigan's passing ability is well-known to other grid teams in this section and if there is any scoring done against Willamette it will probably be by this route. Cornell has two sweet ends with plenty of experience and Olan, O'Neil, and Mason, veterans in the backfield, ready to catch Corrigan's tosses. The Pacific offense also features:

Numerous special attractions are being planned by the Pep staff for the entertainment of the spectators at the Armistice day game with Pacific on Sweetland field. The Rooters' club are occupied this week with plans which will make possible special color designs in the rooting section, and music at the game the snappy Portland National Guard band.

Coed sports fans taking part in the color display will all be seated in one section of the bleachers. Each is to be furnished with one red and one gold armband which extends from the wrist to the elbow. Some of the designated leaders will have been drilled previously to direct the group.

Bill Hansen, Yell King, says that the display will be something on the order of the card formations now in general use among Pacific Coast conference schools. Arrangements have been completed which provide for having the National Guard band here. They will alternate with the Willamette band during the game and the band manager has promised some special drill formations between halves. This band has the reputation of being one of the snappiest organizations in the northwest.

The state contest will be held in December just before the Christmas holidays. At that time the Willamette winner, and other schools' entries, will try for the state prizes.

After-Dinner Try- Outs Come Today

School tryouts for the state after-dinner speaking contest will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Little Theatre.

The general topic for discussion is "The Great American Filibuster," and each contestant will be given a sub-topic from it. Darwings will be at 1 o'clock, with one hour for preparation of the five minute speech.

The state contest will be held in December just before the Christmas holidays. At that time the Willamette winner, and other schools' entries, will try for the state prizes.

Julius the Janitor Plays Hero; Saves Lausanne for Posterity

Flash! Lausanne hall, our revered home of maidenly virtue and ten o'clock bells almost departed from this "salus of bitter tears." Or so your humble scribe has heard.

But the story ends not here. Oh, no, humble reader, it has hardly begun. In due course of events, the electric current resumed its natural function—not omitting the various apparatus for preparing above mention delicacies.

Need this poor historian say more? The hall became filled with smoke, and our worthy institution was in danger of losing its most popular building. Suddenly, Julius, the janitor, appeared upon the scene and heroically applied, hooks, ladders and slushing streams of aqua-not-so-pura.

The great catastrophe was averted. Lausanne was saved for future generations—or for the legislature!

Don't you think that it would have made a lovely fire?

MARRIAGES

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Edna Ledbetter of Alsea, Oregon, to Frank Paris of Port Orford. The ceremony took place week before last at La-Grande. After a wedding trip to Wallowa Lake, the couple went to Port Orford, where they will make their home. Mrs. Paris formerly taught in the Port Orford high school. She is a graduate of Willamette with the class of '27.

A recent wedding at the First Christian church of Salem was that of Miss Velma Wagner and Lawrence Reaser. The bride was a pledge of Alpha Phi Alpha at Willamette. Mr. Reaser attended school in Wenatchee. The couple will reside in Albany.

Thanksgiving will be the wedding day of Miss Daisy Varley and James Sehon. The ceremony will take place in the First Presbyterian church in Salem. After a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside in Salem. Mr. Sehon attended Willamette university and was a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

BIRTHS

A son, Frederick Spurlock, the first child, was born October 5, to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley B. Beckley of Kingwood Heights, Salem. Mr. Beckley graduated in 1911.

NECROLOGY

Dr. Orland W. Bean, 69, a resident of Salem for 49 years, died at his home recently. He had been in failing health for many years, and had not been able to follow his profession for 29 years.

Dr. Bean was born in Athens, O., October 12, 1866, the son of Amas and Carrie Chapman Bean. He came to Salem in 1889, and in 1902, was graduated from the Willamette Medical school.

April 18, 1906, he married Sarah A. Davis, who came from Johnston, Pa., in May, 1900. He is survived by his widow, Dr. Davis Bean; a brother, Frank, Pasadena, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. U. G. Boyer, Salem, and several nieces.

PERSONALS

Miss Beryl Holt, '16, head of the mathematics department of Salem high school, was elected state vice-president of the Oregon division of the American Association of University Women. Miss Holt had been serving as house mother at Beta Chi sorority.

Ray Miller, ex-W. U., who has been with Eoff's Electric Co., the past six months, has gone to Forest Grove, where he and another Salem man, Hugh Ward, will take over the Loomis hardware, which will be operated as the Forest Grove hardware. Miller was formerly with the Allen hardware store in Salem, and previous to that handled circulation for the Coos Bay Times. Mrs. Miller will be remembered as Norabelle Pratt, ex-W. U.

Ralph W. Skopij and Lawrence Brown, both graduates in law in 1935, have established offices in the Masonic temple.

Virginia Sprague, ex-'35, who transferred to Olive college, Olivet, Mich., in her junior year, is now teaching Freshman French and German, and studying for her master's degree. This is the same school which Miss Clara Enness, head of the piano department, at Willamette, attended, and in which she taught.

Rev. George L. Poor, '30, is pastor of the University Park church in Portland. Rev. and Mrs. Poor (Margaret Pro, '30) returned from the east early last summer. Rev. Poor secured his theological degree in 1932 at Boston university. For the past three years he had been pastor of the Federated church of Norfolk, Mass.

"Invite your Father to the Father and Son Banquet." If you have not yet invited your Dad, do so now.

A real night of entertainment has been planned to entertain our fathers. Delmer Ramsdell and his committee have been working diligently for the past weeks in an effort to offer entertainment which will make the dads proud to call Willamette, their campus.

If you want to make a good impression, and really put W. U. on the map, just show your dad the respect due him.

Our part is to make our Dad welcome, and to show them a gala evening. Boys, be sure an invite your Dad, to the Father and Son Banquet.

Making Friends

One of the most valuable assets a person can have is a loyal friend.

The University offers an excellent opportunity for making friends. In our struggle for an education, we are apt to neglect this opportunity.

School friendships are an indication of your future success; for a person who makes friends in school life will make many friends when he emerges into the business world, and these friends will help him to attain success.

The ability to make friends is the basis upon which the success of your future life will depend.

Let's Co-operate

Yell leader, Bill Hanzen, will present to the University a new rooting feature to be used Armistice Day. In order to make this show effective Bill will need the earnest support of all feminine members of the Booster club.

It will be necessary for all co-eds to sit in one section, and remain there throughout the game. Bill realizes this will separate you girls from your friends, but, please remember, the playing time of the game is only an hour, and in that hour you can do much to aid the spirit and pep of our school. This is the first attempt to put on a distinctive rooting section trick, and we ask you as individuals, to co-operate.

We give our approval to the professor who, previous to a six weeks exam saw a co-ed busily applying lipstick and powder. Not a little perturbed, the prof said: "Young lady, this isn't the make-up examination yet."

We read that the students of the University of California at Berkeley who receive "A's" in all their subjects are given a refund of $5 on their tuition fee.

tives from other Pacific Northwest institutions. Such an accomplishment would bring further distinction not only to the individuals but to Willamette as well.

The competition is being sponsored by The First National Bank of Portland in the hope of stimulating careful and persistent study of important economic and trade problems of the Pacific Northwest, and with a desire to increase the educational opportunities of students who give promise of making contributions to the solutions of these problems. Awards are: First prize, $400 scholarship; or $200 cash; second prize, $200 scholarship or $100 cash. Faculty members and others are invited to submit manuscripts without restrictions as to residence, age or education. Awards in this section will be: First prize, $750; second prize, $250.

Essays are to be presented in typewritten form and preference will be given papers limited to 50,000 words and excellent in careful and original study and analysis of the problem.

Topics suggested by the Economic Essay Committee are:

The Possibilities of Utilizing the Electric Power Being Developed in the Pacific Northwest in the Pulp and Paper Industry.

Trends in Production, Prices and Market Uses for Douglas Fir (or Pine, Spruce or Western Hemlock) in the Pacific Northwest.

The Future of Wheat Production in the Inland Empire.

The Problem of Seasonal Labor in the Pacific Northwest.

The Effect of the Federal Silver Purchase Program on Trade between the Pacific Northwest and the Orient.

The Situation and Outlook for Processing and Market Distribution of Various Fruits and Vegetables in the Pacific Northwest.

erence to Methodist pupils. The Wesley Foundation is very active at the University of Washington where it has been working for some time. Ever since J. Randolph Sassnett first became director of the Seattle branch eight years ago, the movement has grown immensely.

It seems that, like many other people, Mr. Sassnett heard tales about the effect of college life upon religion. He heard rumors that many college students lost all their sense of religious values. He felt that this was false, and has begun to make a comprehensive study of this phase of university life. He told that in the last four years he had interviewed approximately 3500 University of Washington students. Now he has begun his active examination of students in other colleges. At the invitation of Dr. Baxter, he came to Willamette as the first college outside of the University of Washington.

For some years Mr. Sassnett has been a friend of Willamette University. Some ten or 12 years ago, when he was then at the First Methodist Church in Medford, he greatly aided the Willamette Endowment drive. He moved every effort to gain friends for that institution. Many students came from Medford and nearby vicinity as a result of his influence. Ever since he has been a constant and warm friend of Willamette University.

During his short stay of two days, he was the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Richard Baxter.

Don't forget the Portland Symphony concert November 24, with Mary Schultz playing two of Bach's concertos.

BOOKS

"Life with Father," a group of familiar essays of reminiscence by Clarence Day, is highly entertaining without exaggeration or distortion because the reader finds in it so many points of agreement with his own experience. It is a well-drawn picture of family life of a few decades ago as seen by a boy in the household, and so may hold its strongest appeal for those who were children at that time. But however much one may talk about the very different modern family, no one can fail to find very familiar attitudes and poses, if not in one's immediate family, at least among friends and relatives, of that awe-inspiring figure, the head of the house. It is humor of the most appealing sort—simple, good-natured, yet pointed. It is not mere straining for laughs, it is a picture that amuses because it is as true to everyday life. In the various brief chapters: Father is Firm with His Allments, Father Sews on a Button, Father Tries to Make Mother Like Figures, Father Teaches Me to Be Prompt, and the rest—we find a picture refreshingly different from the problem novels and tales of grand passion that make up so much of our literature. "Life with Father" is simple, real and very human. In that lies its charm.

In "The Discovery of Europe" the author defends the idea that Europe, in order to be freed of her present dilemma, does not need Americanization or any other innovation, but must rediscover herself. The first part sketches the background. In the pre-war period there are the headings of Grandeur, Decadence, Dissolution and Suicide, showing the trends from the time when Europe considered herself pre-eminent to the time when she was left by the war "spiritually and morally as well as economically bankrupt." The author makes here the important point that pre-war Europe was not a different sort of period, a golden age, but that the war was merely the culmination of forces that had been at work some time. Under the heading of Post-War, the author treats the situation as found in various countries after the war had left its mark—a comprehensive picture of various attempts at adjustment to difficult conditions. The third section is entitled "My Europe." Here the author indulges in delightful reminiscences of the Europe he knew, of which he believes much of the

Sororities Hostesses for Buffet Dinners

The outstanding events of last week were the buffet dinners given by the sororities on the campus concluding the informal rushing.

The Beta Chi sorority was transformed into the S. S. Beta Chi ship Friday evening for their buffet dinner.

The blue and white color scheme was carried out in the floral decorations on the lower deck where also nautical scenes, fish nets, oars, and life preservers were used.

The Alpha Phi Alpha sorority house was changed into a Top Hat Cafe, or in other words a nightclub Monday evening.

The program consisted of Leonard Ranton, who played the piano during dinner.

Mr. Sassnett Honored Guest

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Richard Baxter were dinner hosts Monday evening in their Fairmount Hill home honoring J. Randolph Sassnett, a recent guest on the campus.

New Members Honored by Alpha Psi Delta

Thursday evening Alpha Psi Delta fraternity honored their new initiated members at a charming informal dinner.

Following the dinner the guests and girls adjourned to the drawing room where ghost stories were told by Dr. Baxter, Miss Elizabeth Sears, Miss Myrtle Westlauffer and Miss Margaret Faxon.

Formal Rush Dinners Highlight of Week On Campus

Formal dinners are climaxing the rush season for sorority women this week. Preferences will be handed in by the girls Friday night and at that time the bids will be distributed.

Delta Phi sorority opened the formal rush week Tuesday, with Alpha Phi Alpha Wednesday, and Beta Chi Thursday.

Formal in its appointments was the crystal and silver color scheme used at the Delta Phi formal dinner Tuesday evening at the chapter house.

The moonlight idea was carried out by the Alpha Phi Alpha formal dinner.

The Alpha Phi Alpha sorority house was changed into a Top Hat Cafe, or in other words a nightclub Monday evening.

The program consisted of Leonard Ranton, who played the piano during dinner.

Cap and Gown Sponsor Benefit For Chresto

Chresto Cottage will be the scene of a benefit social next Tuesday afternoon to be sponsored by the Cap and Gown Society.

Hallowe'en Dinner At Lausanne

Girls at Lausanne Hall were honored at a clever Hallowe'en dinner last Wednesday evening.

Miss Flavia Downs Honored

Mrs. C. A. Downs and Mrs. Jessie Bush honored Miss Flavia Downs at a turkey dinner Sunday evening at the home of the former.

To Be Seen On the Screen

HOLLYWOOD
Rogers Tops Comedy Film.

The rich humanity and shrewd native humor which made Will Rogers America's favorite comedian and one of the country's leading film stars are again abundantly in evidence in his new starring Fox picture, "Steamboat Round the Bend," coming Sunday to the Hollywood for an indefinite run.

This colorful romantic Mississippi of the 1850's with its romances, adventures and comedy is the scene of the new picture, adapted from Ben Lucien Barman's novel, which ran serially in the Pictorial Review.

The plot of "Steamboat Round the Bend" revolves about the love story of Anne Shirley and John McGuire, a swamp girl and a river pilot, and about the comedy feud between Rogers and Irvin S. Cobb who play a pair of rival boat captains.

At first Rogers objects to the boy and girl romance, but when the youngsters get into a heap of trouble and the boy is sentenced to hang for killing a man, the wise old river captain comes through with flying colors.

The battle between the captains and the dramatic story reach their climax in the thrilling river race which brings "Steamboat Round the Bend" to a happy conclusion.

Eugene Pallette, Berton Churchill and Stepin Fetchit play the chief supporting character roles in the picture which was directed by John Ford.

Frankenstein, the Fantastic—Gregor, the Gruesome... Boris Karloff, who has created both roles in motion pictures, with "Frankenstein" in the picture of the same name, and "Gregor" in Columbia's "The Black Room."

A new horror-thriller coming Saturday to the Grand theatre, was questioned while on the set of "The Black Room" as to which role he liked better.

Karloff, however, could not draw a definite line between the two roles—not enough of a line to have him favor one or the other.

He did, while answering the questioner, seem to lean a bit towards "Gregor"—not, understand, because "Gregor" is a sweeter, a finer character. To the contrary, for "Gregor" of "The Black Room" is a human, a human with a brain, yet his deeds are more horrible, more fantastic than anything in which Karloff has ever indulged on the screen.

Sigma Tau's Hold Formal Initiation Sunday

Formal initiation was held at Sigma Tau fraternity last Sunday morning at the chapter house.

Mr. Edwin Thomas, president of the Salem Ad Club, and an alumnus of Sigma Tau, spoke.

The newly initiates were Al Heuman, Bruce Carlin, Frank Shephard, Herman Estes, Paul Silke, and Lloyd Reihl.

Kappa Gamma Hosts for Dinner

Another dinner consisting mainly of Rooks was held at the Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity house last Sunday afternoon.

The hosts were Jack Simpson, presiding, Harlie Cornett, Vernon Forbes, Don Marcy, Bob Clarke, Kenneth Beauchamp, Ward Wienske, Bob Vagt and Verdel Ragsdale.

Karloff, however, could not draw a definite line between the two roles—not enough of a line to have him favor one or the other.

He did, while answering the questioner, seem to lean a bit towards "Gregor"—not, understand, because "Gregor" is a sweeter, a finer character. To the contrary, for "Gregor" of "The Black Room" is a human, a human with a brain, yet his deeds are more horrible, more fantastic than anything in which Karloff has ever indulged on the screen.

But, as "Gregor" Karloff uses only ordinary make-up, for the horror of the character is in what he does rather than how he looks.

He is not required to wear padding, putty or other make-up to distort his features. Nor is he weighted down with 75 to 100 pounds of padded clothing and clay to build his size to Frankensteinian proportions.

Performing as his natural self, Karloff is given excellent opportunity to really act, for which he is thoroughly appreciative.

Then again, applying the necessary disguise for "Frankenstein" took almost four hours. For "Gregor," Karloff needed little more than a half-hour.

Featured with Karloff in "The Black Room" are Marian Marsh, Robert Allen, Thurston Hall and Katherine DeMille. Roy William Neill directed.

STATE

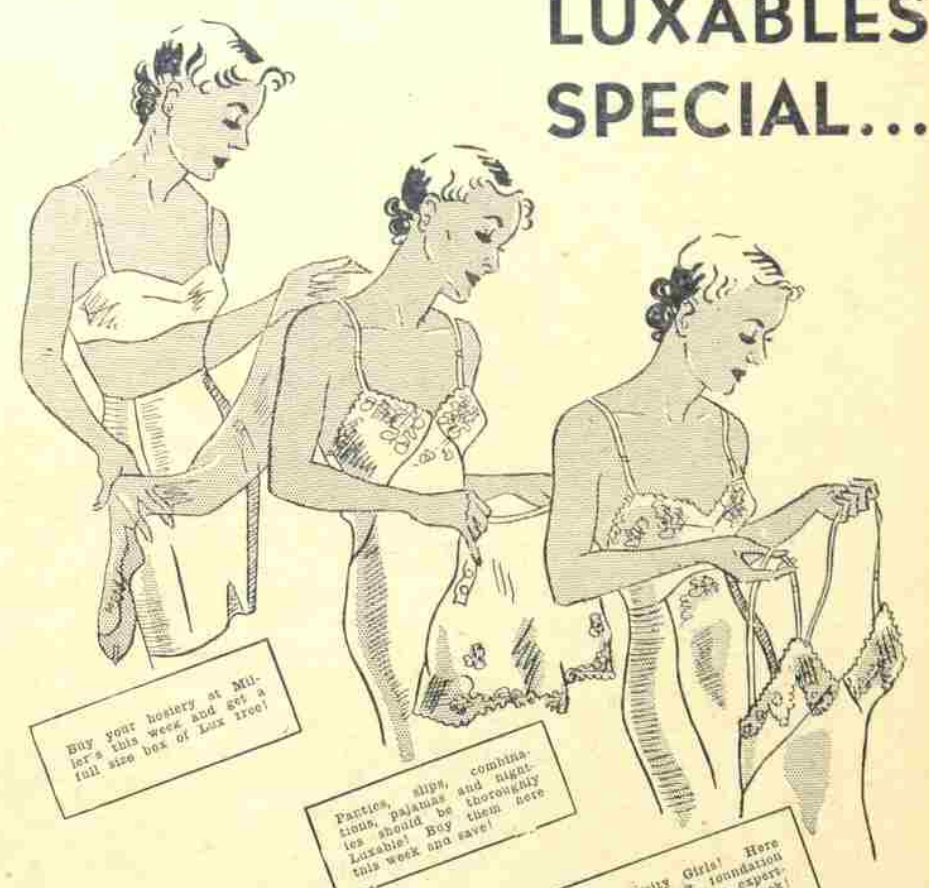

Starting Saturday night at the State theatre is the start of March of Time. It is excellently done. The photography and the buildup material is of the highest order.

In three episodes, all of current news interest, it shows first the United States Army in time of mobilization, engaged in war maneuvers, this month at Pine Camp, N. Y., the largest operation since the world war. The second episode presents Father Coughlin in various stages of his career from the time when, as a young priest, he was starting a new parish at Royal Oak, Mich. through his rise to radio fame and millions of followers to the present point of his career, the forerunner of the National Union for Social Justice. In France, the third episode indicates the turbulent political situation that has culminated in the creation of a new force, the Croix de Feu (Crosses of Fire), which is pledged to combat communism and corrupt politics, and which is said to be 100,000 strong—Running time, 20 minutes.

Also a new Walt Disney silly symphony in color—"Who Killed Cock Robin?" And "Born for Glory," first run feature, based on the first naval battle of the world war. An Armistice day picture that will make you think.

the oval across. He will be greatly missed next year and his graduation will leave a great problem for Coach Keene to solve. Olson has been injured most of the season this year but he is expected to make Pacific suffer when he makes his final appearance on Sweetland field.

Last but not least, Carl Rhoda; a great ball player, who has experienced plenty of competition, yet has never become discouraged. Finally, he got his big chance this year and has played hard driving ball in the quarter back position. If there is a player on the field after the other players have quit for the day, one may be sure it's Carl. He has perseverance and this is what makes him valuable to his team and coach. Most of this year his work in the important quarterback position rates him along with the Ed Frantz type of player, not so spectacular but a hard driving player, consistent and always reliable.

LEGIONNAIRES PLAN ARMISTICE PROG.

The most outstanding Armistice Day program of many years is planned by Capital Post No. 9 of Salem, for November 11.

The big parade will start at Marion Square at 10 a. m., under the direction of Colonel Carl Abram, Grand Marshal. Services will follow at the monument on the courthouse lawn. Mr. Blenkinsop will be the speaker of the day.

In the afternoon the Legion is sponsoring the W. U.-Pacific football game.

All day the Legion tickets, which may be bought from the Legionnaires downtown this week, will serve as admittance to any theatre in town or any of the varied programs planned by the Legion for that day.

People Nominated For "Who's Who"

Six Willamette students have been chosen by a committee under Dean Erickson for students to be listed in the "Who's who" among students in American universities and colleges.

"On the Bearcat Front" ROY FERRIS

So-long to "Scooter" Oravec, Harold Hoyt, Ole Olson and Carl Rhoda as far as Sweetland field is concerned. It's their final appearance before home fans and it makes yours truly burn to think about their brief stay at home this year. In only two conference games do these stars get to prove their worth on the local grid. From the game this Monday with Pacific the Bearcats rest clear up till the 28th day of November when they meet Whitman in the turkey day classic at Walla Walla. In other words this great bunch of gridders is idle for another three weeks. I would suggest a better schedule for Willamette next year and give the fans a break. A poor schedule plays a big part in the lack of interest not only from the fans, but from the players themselves who have spent three or four fall weekend vacations. Great interest should be taken to be sure this doesn't happen again next year. Everywhere people are beginning to criticize this mistake. Trying to arrange games after all the other schools have forgot about their schedules will probably, and as it should, prove in vain.

"Bronk" Williams wants a cure for boils. Bronk has had unusual hard luck this year. Every time he gets a bruise on his leg, out comes Mr. Boil, and this isn't at all funny. The fighting prey says he's tried everything from axle grease to buckshot in his glass, of milk and is still trying to defeat the boil problem. Anyone who has a cure for boils in mind be sure to see Bronk before the Pacific game or our first string center may have to confine his snorting to the center of the bench instead of the line.

This new Willamette band under the directorship of Wes Roeder is certainly making a big difference at the Bearcat home games. If there's anything that peeps up a team and rooting section, it's a band. Mr. Roeder has surely given it to Willamette this year. The boys and girls who blow the horns for cardinal and gold made a big impression at the College of Idaho game.

Everytime the Bearcats started a march for a touchdown, the band started playing some popular fight song and the Bearcats rolled along till they carried the pigskin over the goal line. A good band is an important thing at a football game. It supplies that necessary color and atmosphere which is essential to fill up even the standing capacity around the field.

One of the greatest of all football coaches believes that a good band and a good team go together. When Howard Jones first took over the coaching duties at Southern California he told them to organize a good band and he would give them a great football team. For many years Southern California ruled the grid-world and the many teams who invaded the Los Angeles stronghold said that they not only played against a great team but were trying to beat a great band and many thousand rooters.

Let's everyone back the band to the limit; it certainly needs our greatest cooperation now. If it is possible, something should be done about the problem of uniforms and if it isn't possible to get them now it would be a great idea to start making arrangements in order to have them next year. A band without uniforms is about like a soldier marching in an Armistice Day parade without leggings.

While the subject of color at the football games is up it might be well to mention that this boy, Bill Hansen, has certainly got the Bearcat rooters yelling. His untiring efforts are making the Willamette rooting section more and more colorful at every game. Yell King Bill puts in a lot of time and hard work on this pep business and he certainly deserves the backing of all. The Bearcat Front suggests we give him our heartfelt cooperation at all times, and above all this refers to the pep rally this Friday night and at the game Monday. The rumor has been going around to the effect that Hansen is offering a ten-dollar prize for a broken vocal chord. Let's all enter the contest.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Billy Sutton, director of Intramural sports, again gazes skyward trying to figure out just when the weather will permit his idle baseball teams to again get under way. Snow on Sweetland field hampers the playing at the present and if it doesn't go away pretty soon Sutton believes he will have to get up a cross country snowshoe race. The only game played last week was the Sigma Tau-P. E., in which the staff ran over a well earned 11 to 0 victory.

McAdams Injured; Is Out for Season

Bill McAdams, ace left-end for several years, received a back injury in the C. P. S. game which will keep him out of at least the Pacific game, and perhaps the rest of the season.

RAMBLING SHOPPER By UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, palse-waisies, et al. Now that the cold snap is snapping and the blood flow in Bill Thome's cerebral cortex is back to normal, Uncle promises he'll leave out all fish stories from now on. Bill couldn't see why "Veep" had to eat halibut, when salmon is so cheap. When asked by Bill if he went into a trance while writing this column, Uncle replied no, there wasn't a dugout near Salem, let alone a trench. (This Ethiopian war is getting me, yowser!)

Folks, even Mussolini himself would take time out and his hat off to Miller's, if he were a student at Willamette. Uncle unqualifiedly nominates Miller's as one of the best friends and boosters Willamette has. Not only does Mr. Keith help out all our publications with ads, but also he sees to the little things that go unnoticed and yet mean much to the university. The latest "gift" is the silver loving cup, to be awarded at the pep rally. In return for all these, Mr. Keith does not demand patronage. However if you wish to buy some article which Miller's carry, he invites you to see their goods. Frankly, now, isn't that the least you can do?

If there were a Capital Drug Store in the wilds of Ethiopia, folks, and if it had a sale on manicure sets this week like Mr. Willett is having, Uncle bets every Italian doughboy would forego his "Wino", and purchase one of these sets as a Christmas gift for his sweetheart. For only one pa-sooka, ppis, you get the latest rage in the finger nail preservative line, and do the gals like 'em! All's fair in love and war gals, so keep those nails fair.

Selassie was a wise old bird. At Meadow Brook he'd dally. To guggle down a milkshake while His men would growl, O Halle!

Uncle passed past Bishop's Tuesday afternoon and could not refrain from going inside to compliment the boys on their excellent window display, especially the one with the life-sized robot in it. "Gosh," said Uncle, "this robot moves a little slower than the one at the fair did, but it can twist itself into more different contortions than that one did. When did you get him?" "Oh," answered Kenny Manning, "he's been around quite some time. Say, boys, tell Mr. Cooley to come out of the window a minute, will ya?" So Uncle, like the Arabs, folded his tent, and silently snuk away.

One Christmas story Uncle remembers is the one that Kona like this: "Good things come in small packages." The State theatre may not be the largest "package" in Salem, but believe you or, some mighty fine things are to be found there. Note some of the coming attractions: "The March of Time," George Arliss in "Mr. Hobbs," and "Trans-Atlantic Tunnel." The most sophisticated gal would appreciate the dime that payed her admittance to the State. Ah'm tellin' ya!

Uncle found Bronc Williams studying his law lesson in the (game) law library at Cliff Parker's Tuesday afternoon, and Uncle was reminded of the tale at Reed College that Bronc turned up at school on a cold day, reputedly using his P. J.'s as underwear. He had dressed in bed, and had forgotten (or didn't want) to remove said P. J.'s. Now if he had owned at that time one of Parker's Parkas, he could have saved himself that embarrassment. The Parkas, dear readers, is a hooded rain-cape. Drop in and let Phil show it to you while he tells you who's going to win the war between O. S. C. and U. of O. Saturday.

Uncle is a peace-loving man, but just this once he allows himself to be over-ruled by propaganda, and yelps, "Bayonet the Badgers!" The best way we nonfootball warriors can do that is to help keep the rally spirit high at the Grand Theatre Friday night. The Independent men are giving up their social date to help out. The Schmidt boys at the Grand are helping out. How's about you?

Well, Uncle must quit now, sagely advising you not to believe all you read in the papers about the revival of business. Prosperity may come back, but the funeral business will always be dead. So help me!

Willamette-Pacific

plenty of tricky plays, lots of ball handling in the backfield, reverses, plenty of speed and lots of laterals. Whether this type of offense will work against the heavy, aggressive Willamette forward wall remains to be seen. Pacific uses the typical 6-2-3-1 type of defense. This is marked as the most effective in stopping Willamette's power drives to the goal line.

Coach Keene will probably open the game featuring the twisting whirlwind, "Scooter" Oravec, who is making his final appearance before local grid fans. Around him and his touchdown twin, Dick Weisgerber, will center Willamette's hope for victory. Stone and Olson will probably start at the other positions. Olson has been smashing through the reserves for long gains this week and he is expected to get the starting call for the first time since the Oregon State game. Since this game Olson has been on the sidelines with a badly bruised knee. This backfield quartet features plenty of power plus the dazzling speed of Captain Oravec and is looked to as the main source in registering their third straight conference victory this year.

The greatest backfield in Willamette's grid history gives her an advantage as far as the pall packing department is concerned over an above average Pacific. The Bearcats will enjoy a slight weight advantage if Olson gets the starting call at fullback, otherwise the two teams will be about even.

The hard-charging Bearcat forward wall will be outweighed at center and the two guard positions. Pacific will have an advantage of twenty pounds over Willamette's peppery Williams. In the guard positions Pacific will outweigh the Bearcat's Hoyt and
